Banaiah the sonne of Jehoiada ꝑ sone of a stronge man ꝑ had done great dedes & was of Cabzeel: he slue two strog lions of Moab, & went downe and slue a Lyon in a pit in time of snow. And he slue an Egipcian whyche was a man of a size, euen fyue cubytes longe, and in his hãde had a speare lyke a weuers beame. And the other went to hym with a waster and plucked the speare out of the Egipcians hãd, & slue hym withe his speare. Soche thynges dyd Banaiah the sonne of Jehoiada, and had a name with the thre mightiest, & was the glozyousest of thyrtye: but attained not vnto the thre. And Dauid made hym of hys secret councell.

nota a spere lyke a weuers beame

And these were the best men of warre of the hoste: Asahel the brother of Joab and Elhanã the sonne of Dodo out of Bethlehem. Samoth the Harozite, Helez ꝑ Pharonite: Ira the sonne of Akes ꝑ Thekuite, Abieser ꝑ Anathothite: Sobacai the Husathite, Ilai the Ahohite: Maharai ꝑ Nethophathite & Heled the sonne of Baanah the Nethophathite: Ithai ꝑ sõne of Rebai of Gabaah that pertaineth to the chyldrẽ of Beniamin: Banaiah the Pharathonite: Haurai of the ryuer of Gaas, & Abiell the Arbathite: Azmoth the Baharumite, Elhaba the Saalbonite. The sõnes of Hasem the Gezonite, Jonathan the sonne of Sagah, an Hararite: Ahiam the sonne of Sacar the Hararite, Eliphal the sonne of Ur. Hepher the Mecharathite, Ahiah the Pholonite: Hezro the Carmelite and Naarai ꝑ sõne of Azbai: Joel the brother of Nathã: Mibahar the sõne of Gari: Zelec an Ammonite & Naharai a Berothite ꝑ bearer of the harneste of Joab ꝑ sõne of Zaruiah: Ira the Iethrite & Gareb a Iethrite Uriah the Hethite, zabad ꝑ sonne of Ohelai: Adina the sonne of Siza a Rubenite & an heed amonge the Rubenites and .xxx. aboute him: Hanan the sonne of Maacah and Josaphat a Mathanite: Ozeah an Atharothite: Sama and Jaiel the sonnes of Hothan an Aroerite: Jediael the sonne of zamri and Joha his brother Thozites: Eliel a Mahumite. And Jeribai and Josaiah the sõnes of Elnaam and Jethmah a Moabite. Eliel and Obed and Jasiell of Masobaiah.

¶ What they were that went with Dauid whe he fledde from Saul.

The .xii. Chapter.

AND these folowenge came to Dauid to Zikelag, whyle he yet *kepte hym selfe close for feare of Saul the sonne of Cis: and they were of the mẽ that socoured the battell, wepened wythe boowes, & couilde handle stones, arowes & bow as well wyth the lefte hand as wythe the ryghte, and were of Sauls brethrẽ, euen of the trybe of Beniamin. The chefeste were Ahiezer and Joas the sonnes of Samaah a Gibaonite, & Jaziel a Phalite, the sonnes of Azmoth. Baracah and Jehu of Anathoth. And Ismaiah a Gabaonite as myghty as any of thyrtie and moare myghtye to. And Jeremiah, Jehaziel, Johanan & Josabad of Gedor. Eleusai, Jerimoth Baaliah Samariah and Saphatiah: Haraphites Elcanah, Jesiah, Azrael, Joczer, Joseboã of Karchim. And Joelah and zabadiah the sonnes of Jeroham of Gedor.

* that is: hild him selfe

And of the Gadites there separated thẽ selues vnto Dauid whe he kept an holde in ꝑ wyldernes, mẽ of myght & men apte for warre & could hãdle shilde and speare, whose faces were lyke the faces of Lyõs, & they were therto as swyft as the Roes of the mountaynes: Ezer the fyrst, Obdiah the second, Eliab ꝑ thyrd, Masmãnah the fourthe Jeremiah the fyfte, Ethi the syxt, Eliel the seuẽth, Johanã the eyghte, Elsabad ꝑ .ix. Jeremiah the tenth, & Machbanai the .xi. These were of the sonnes of Gad & were captaynes ouer the men of warre, thee small ouer an. C, & the greate ouer a thousand. These ar they that went ouer Jordã in the fyrst monethe, when he had fylled ouer al hys bancke. And they put to flyght the of the valey both of the eastsyde and also the West.

B

And ther came of the chyldren of Beniamin & Juda to ꝑ holde of Dauid. And Dauid went out to them & answered and sayde to thẽ: If ye be come peasably vnto me, to helpe me, myne hert shalbe to gether wyth you. But and ꝑ you come to begyle me and to be mine aduersary, seyng there is no wyckednes in mine hãdes, the God of oure fathers loke thereon & rebuke it.

C

And

And the spirite came vpon Amasai a captayne ouer.xxx. and he sayde, thyne are we Dauid, & on thy side thou sonne of Jesai: *peace be with ỹ, & peace be with thine helpers, for thy God helpeth the. Then Dauid receaued the & made thẽ heedes of companyes of the men of warre.

Tho.xii.d

D And there fell of Manasseh to Dauid whẽ he went with the Philistines agaynst Saul to battel, *but holpe them not. For the lordes of the Philistines toke counsel and sent him away saying: he wyll fall to his master Saul to the Jeopardye of our heedes. And as he went to Zikelag ther fel to hym of Manasseh: Ednah Jozabad, Jediell, Michael, of Jozabad, Elihu and Zalthai, heedes of the thousandes of Manasseh. And they holpe Dauid agaynste those rouers. For they were al mighty mẽ and Captaynes in warre. And there came one or other to Dauid daye by daye to helpe him: vntyll it was a great Hoste, lyke ỹ Hoste of God.

1.Re.xix.a

And this is the nũbre of the heedes prepared to battell, ỹ came to Dauid to Hebron, to turne ỹ kingdõ of Saul to hym, accordynge to the mouthe of the Lorde.

The chyldren of Juda that bare shyld & speare were syxe thousande and eyghte hundred trymmed to warre. Of the chyldren of Simeon, men of mighte to warre, E seuẽ thousande and one hundred. And of the chyldren of Leui were foure thousand and syxe hundred. And Jehoiada was the cheke of thẽ of Aaron & with hym thre thousande and seuen hundred. And Zadock a yõg mã of great power had hys fathers household wyth Captaynes. xxii. And of ỹ childrẽ of Beniamin the brethren of Saul, were thre thousãd. And a great part of thẽ dyd yet folow the house of Saul.

And of the childrẽ of Ephraim, were. xx. thousand and eight hũdred, mẽ of myghte and named men in the housholdes of their fathers. And of ỹ halfe trybe of Manasseh. xviii. thousande which were appoynted by name to go to make Dauid kyng.

F And of ỹ childrẽ of Jssacar which were mẽ that had vnderstanding in ỹ right time to know what Jsrael ought to do: The heades of thẽ were two hũdred, and all their brethrẽ at their wil. And of Zabulon ỹ wẽt out wyth the Hoste and prouided in the araye to battell withe all maner of wepons of warre, fyftye thousande that kept in ordre wythe one accorde. And of Nephthali a thousande Captaynes, and wythe them with shylde & speare. xxxvii. thousãd. And of Dan prepared to battell, were. xxviii. thousande and. vi. hundred. And of Asser ỹ wẽt out vẽ the host to make battel, fourtye thousand. And of ỹ otherside Jordã, of the Rubenites, Gaddites & of the halfe trybe of Manasseh wyth all maner of instrumentes of warre an hundred and twẽtye thousande.

G All these beynge men of warre able to ordre the arate, came to Hebron with pure herte, to make Dauid kynge vpon al Jsrael. And therto al ỹ rest of Jsrael was of one accorde to make Dauid kynge. And there they were with Dauid thre dayes eatyng & drynckyng: for their brethren prepared for them. Moreouer they that were nie to the, as Jssacar, Zabulõ and Nephthali brought bread on asses, Camels, mules & oxen, & meate: flourre, figges, reasynges, wyne, oyle, oxen, & shepe aboũdãtlye. For there was myrthe in Jsrael.

¶ The arcke is brought agaĩne frõ Kariath Jarim to Jerusalem. Ozas dyeth.

The. xiii. Chapter.

A And Dauid counceled with ỹ Captaynes of thousandes & hũdredes, and with al the lordes, and sayde vnto all the cõgregacyon of Jsrael: Jf it seme you good and also to be of the Lord our God: Let vs take & sende vnto the rẽnaunt of oure brethren thorow out al the lãd of Jsrael, & to the preastes and Leuites with thẽ in their cytyes and suburbes, & geather thẽ to geather to vs. And let vs bringe agayne the Arcke of the Lorde to vs: for we regarded it not in the dayes of Saul. And all the congregacyon was cõsent so to do, for the thyng semed good in the eyes of al the people.

B And Dauid geathered all Jsrael together frõ *Sihor in Egypt vnto Hemath, to bring the arcke of the lord frõ Kariath Jarim. And Dauid wẽt vp & al Jsrael to Baalah, & so to Kariath Jarim ỹ is in Juda, to fet thẽce the arcke of the God & lord that sitteth on the Cherubes. Wobere hys name is called on. And they caryed ỹ arck

* That is Nilus.

C

of God in a new cart out of ỹ house of Aminadab. And Oza & his brother draue ỹ carte. And Dauid & all Israel played before god with al their myght, with syngin ge, harpes, psalteries, tymbrelles and trõpettes. And whẽ they came on ỹ threshyng flowre of Chidon, Oza put forth hys hãde to holde the arcke, for ỹ oxen stombled. And the lord was wroth wt Oza & smote hym, because he put hys hãde to the Arck. Wnp ther he dyed before god. And Dauid was displeased, becãuse ỹ Lord had rẽt a rẽt in Oza, and called the sayd place* Perez Oza vntõ this daye. And Dauid was so afraied of God that day, that he sayde, how shal I bringe the Arck of god whoim to me. And so Dauid brought not ỹ Arck home to him to ỹ cytie of Dauid: But turned it into the house of Obed Edom a Gethite. And ỹ Arck of God was with Obed Edom in his house, thre monethes. And ỹ Lord blessed the house of Obed Edõ & al that he had.

D that is, twee deuision of Oza.

¶ Hyram sendeth wodde & workemẽ to Dauid. Dauid begetteth chyldrẽ after he had taken him wiues He hath. vi. victoryes of the Philistines.

The. xiiii. Chapter.

After that Hirã kyng of Tire sent messengers to Dauid & tymbre of Cedar trees wythe masõs & Carpenters, to buyld hym an house. Wherby Dauid perceaued that the Lorde had prepared hym to be kyng vpõ Israel, in ỹ his kingdome was lifte vp an hye, because of hys people Israell. And Dauid toke yet moo wyues at Jerusalem & begat mo sõnes & daughters. And these at the names of his children which he had borne him at Jerusalem: Samua, Sobab, Nathan, & Salomon: Jebhar, Elisua & Eliphalett, Noga, Nepheg & Japhiah. Elisama, Baliada and Eliphelet.

A 2. Reg. v. b.

B And whẽ it was knowne among the philistines that Dauid was anoynted kynge vpon all Israel, all the Philistines wente vp to seke Dauid. And Dauid hearde of it & went out agaynst them. And the Philistities came & praunced in the valeye of Raphaim. And Dauid asked god saying: shall I go agaynst the Philistines & wylt ỹ deliuer them in to mine hãdes? And the Lord sayd to hym: go, for I wyll delyuer C thẽ into thyne hand. And when they were come as ferre as* Baall Pharazim, Dauid bett them ther. And Dauid sayd: god hath deuided myne enemies with mine hãde as a mã wolde deuyde water. And therfore they called the name of the sayde place Baall Pharazim. And they lefte theyr Gods there, whyche Dauid badde to be burnt with fyre.

Some rede the playne or valey

And the Philistines came agayne & rãne abroade in the valeye. Then Dauid asked God: And God sayde to hym: go not after thẽ, but turne away frõ them, & come vpõ them straight frõ the peeretrees. And when thou hearest a sounde go in the toppes of the peerettees, thẽ go out to battell for God wyll go out before the to smyte ỹ hoste of the Philistines. And Dauid dyd as God commaũded him. And they smote the hoste of the Philistines al the way frõ Gabaon to Gazer. And ỹ fame of Dauid went out into all landes, and the lord made all nacyons feare hym.

D

¶ The Leuites bring agayne the Arck of the couenaunt of the Lord. Dauid daunsing before it is despysed of hys wyfe Michol, the daughter of Saul.

The. xv. Chapter.

And Dauid made hi houses in ỹ citie of Dauid, & prepared a place for ỹ arck of god, & pytched for it a tente. And then Dauid sayd, ỹ arcke of god ought not to be caried but of the leuites. For thẽ hath the lord chosẽ to beare ỹ Arcke of the Lord and to minystre to him for euer. And therfore Dauid gethered al Israel to Jerusalem, to fetche the arcke of ỹ Lord vnto ỹ place which he had ordeyned for it. And Dauid brought togeather ỹ chyldrẽ of Aaron & the Leuites. Of the sonnes of Cahath: Vriell the chefe, and of hys brethren an hundred and. xx. And of the chyldrẽ of Merari: Asaiah the chefe, & of his brethrẽ. ii. hundred and. xx. And of the sõnes of Gerson Joel the chefe, & of hys brethren an hundred and thirtie. And of the chyldrẽ of Elizaphan: Semeiah the chefe & of hys brethren two hundred. And of the sonnes of Hebron Eliel the chefe, & of his brethrẽ. lxxx. And of the sonnes of Oziell, Aminadab the chefe, & of hys brethren an hundred and .xii.

A

Wnd Dauid called to Zadock and Abiathar ỹ prestes, & to the Leuites Vriel, Asaiah Joel, Semeiah, Eliel & Aminadabi and & sayde vnto thē: ye are ỹ principall heedes of the Leuites, sanctefye therefore youre selues & your brethren, and bryng the Arcke of the Lord God of Israel vnto ỹ place ỹ I haue prepared for it. For because ye were not there at the fyrst tyme, the Lorde oure God made a rent among vs, for that we sought hym not as the fassiō ought to be. And the preastes and the Leuites sanctefied them selues, to fett the Arcke of the Lorde God of Israel. And ỹ chyldrē of the Leuites bare ỹ Arcke of God vpon theyr shoulders wythe staues theron as Moses commaunded accordynge to the worde of the Lorde.

B

And Dauid spake to the cheke heedes of the Leuites, that they shulde appointe of their brethren to synge wt instrumentes of musycke psalteries, harpes & cymbales that sounded, and to synge on hye wt Joyfulnesse. And the Leuites appointed Hemā the sōne of Joell: and of hys brethren, Asaph the sonne of Barachiah. And of the sōnes of Merari their brethrē: Ethā the sōne of Cusaiahu. And wt thē their brethren of the secōd degree: Zachariah, Ben, Jaaziel, Semiramoth, Jahiel, Uni, Eliab, Banatah, Maasiah, Mathathiah, Eliphelehu, Makaniah, Obed Edō and Jaiel, porters. Heman, Asah and Ethan sange wyth cymbales of brasse to make a sounde. And Zachariah, Oziel, Semiramoth, Jehiell, Ani, Eliab, Maasiah & Banatah sange wt psalteries on an * Almoth. And Mathathiah, Eliphelehu, Makeniah, Obed Edō, Jeiel, & Ozaziah sang wt harpes an eyght aboue to courage wt all. And Conaniah ỹ cheke of the Leuites was master of ỹ song and taught to syng, for he was a mā of vnderstandynge.

And Barachiah and Elcanah kept ỹ doore of the Arck. And Sacaniah, Jehosaphat, Nathanael, Amasai, Zachariah. Banatah and Eliezer Preastes were blowers wyth trompettes before the Arcke of God. And Obed Edō and Jahiah were kepers of the doore of the Arcke.

* And Dauid and the elders of Israel & the Captaynes ouer thousādes wēt to fett the Arcke of the appoyntement of the lord out of the house of Obed Edō with gladnesse. And when God had holpe the Leutes that bare the Arcke of the appointmen te of the Lorde, they offered. vii. oxen & vii rammes. And Dauid had on hym a nalbe of bisse, and so had the Leuites that bare ỹ Arck, and so had the syngers, and Conaniah ỹ ruler of the sōg & of ỹ singers. And Dauid had moreouer vpō him an Ephod of lynen. And all Israel brought the Arcke of the Lordes couenaunt wt showtyng & blowynge of hornes, & wyth trompettes and symbales that sounded, and with psalteries and harpes.

And as the Arcke of the appoyntmente of the Lord came into the cytie of Dauid, Michol the daughter of Saull loked out at a wyndowe: and when she sawe kynge Dauid daunsyng and playinge, she despised hym in her hert.

After the Arcke was brought with great solempnytie and melodie, Dauid ordeyneth mynstres, that is to wete, Asaph and his brethren to minister before the Lord. He hym selfe loueth and praysethe the Lorde God of Israel.

The. xvi. Chapter.

When they had brought in the Arcke of God they set it in the tente that Dauid had pitched for it. And they broughte burnte sacrefyce and peaceofferynges before god. And whē Dauid had made an ende of offerynges of burntoffe-rynges and of peaceofferynges, he blessed the people with the name of the lorde. And he dealt all Israel borhe man and woman a cracknell of bredde, a pece of flesh and a messe of soppes.

And he appoynted certen of the Leuites to mynystre before the Lord, and to repete, and to thanke and prayse the Lord god of Israel: euē Asaph the cheke, & next to hym zachariah then Jeiell, Semiramoth, Jehiel, Mathathiah, Eliab, Banatah, Obed-Edō, and Jeiel with Psalteries & harpes. But Asaph wyth soundynge cymbales & Banatah & Jahaziel preastes with trompettes contynually before the Arck of the couenaunt of God.

And that same tyme Dauid dyd apointe chefelye to thanke the Lorde by Asah & hys brethren. * Thanke the Lord, calle on hys name, make hys Actes knowen among the people.

Synge vnto hym and play vnto hym: and recorde al hys wonderful dedes Prayse hys holy name, and lett the hertes of the that

Of. alamuth it is the name of an instrumēte of musyck.

1. Re. vi. c.

Ps. cxlv. a Isaie. xii. b that seke the Lorde reioyse. Seke the Lorde and hys strengthe: Seke hys presence alwaye.

Remembre hys maruelles whyche he dyd, and his wonders, & the iudgementes of his mouth: The seed of Israell are hys seruaũtes: the chyldren of Jacob are hys chosen. He is the Lord our God: & in al ãdes are his iudgemẽtes. Thynk on his appoyntmẽt euer, & on the worde he cõmaunded to a thousand generacõs. Of his couenaũt to Abrahã, & of his othe to Isaac: which he set before Jacob for a decree, & to Israel for an euerlastyng couenaũt, saying: to ỹ I wyl gyue the lãd of Canaã, to be ỹ porciõ of yourenheritaũce. Whẽ you were a smalle companye in numbre, euen but a few, and thereto straungers therein. And they wẽt frõ people to people, & from one kyngdom to another nacion. He suffered no mã to do thẽ wronge: But rebuked kinges for their sakes. Touch not myne anoynted, nor do my prophetes any harme.

Psa.xcv.a * Synge vnto the Lorde all the erth: and shew from daye to daye his victories.

Tel amonge the hethen of his glorye: & amõg al nacyons of his wõderful dedes.

For great is the Lord and to be praised exceedingly: & terrible is he aboue al gods.

For al the gods of the hethẽ are Idoles: But the Lorde made heauen.

Prayse & honoure are in hys presence: strength and gladnes are in his place.

Asscribe to ỹ lord ye kinredes of people, Asscribe to the lord Glorye and strength.

Geue honoure vnto the Lordes name: bringe presẽtes and come before hym, and dowe to the Lorde in holy apparell.

* Al the erth feare him, he stablyched ỹ erth that it cannot moue. The heauen reioyse and the erthe be glade, and lette men tel amonge the nacions that the Lord is a kynge.

Al the erthe for all the dwellers in the earth

Let the see thunder and his fulnesse, & let the feldes reioyse and al that is therin.

Moreouer let ỹ trees of ỹ wood synge at the presence of the lord: for he cometh to iudge the erthe.

Thanke the Lorde for he is Good, and hys mercye lasteth euer: and saye: saue vs o God oure sauyoure & geather vs to gether & delyuer vs from amonge the hethẽ, to thanke thy holy name, & to praise the prayse that becometh the. Blessed be the Lorde God of Israell for euer and euer, and all nacyons saye * Amen, so prayse the Lorde.

Or Amẽ, ye haue, nu, vc

And he lefte ther before the arck of the Lordes couenaũt, Asaph and his brethrẽ. to ministre before the arcke euermore day by daye. And Obed Edom wyth hys brethren thre score and eyght, and Obed Edom the sonne of Iduthun & Osah to be porters. And Zadock the preast wyth hys brethrẽ ỹ preastes set he before the tabernacle of the Lord at the hylaulter of Gabaõ, to offer burntofferinges vnto ỹ Lord vpon the burntofferynge aultare perpetually at morynyng & euenynge, accordynge to al that is writen in the lawe of the Lorde whych he commaunded Israel. And wythe Heman and Iduthun, & other ỹ were chosen & named by name, to thanke the Lord ỹ hys mercye lasteth euer. And wt the sayde Heman and Iduthun were trompettes & soundyng symbales, & instrumentes of the melodye of God. And ỹ sonnes of Iduthũ were porters. And then, al ỹ people departed, euery mã to his house: and Dauid returned to salute hys houshold.

¶ Dauid is forbyddẽ to bylde an house vnto ỹ lorde, because of the bloudeshedinge that he had shed. Christ is promesed vnder the figure of Salomon.

The.xvii. Chapter.

And as Dauid dwelte in hys house he said to Nathã ỹ prophete: loo, I dwell in an house of Cedar tree: and the arck of the Lordes couenaũt dwelleth vnder curtaynes. And Nathã said to Dauid: do all that is in thyne herte, for God is wyth the.

2.reg.vii.a

But the same nyght ỹ worde of God came to Nathã saying: go and tel Dauid my seruaunt, thus sayth the Lord, ỹ shalt not bylde me an house to dwel in. For I haue dwelt in no house sẽce I brought oute ỹ chyldren of Israell vnto this daye: But haue gone frõ tent to tẽt & frõ one tabernacle to a nother. Nether in anye place whersoeuer I haue walked thorow out al Israel, spake I euer one worde to any of the iudges of Israel which I cõmaũded to fede my people, saying: why byld ye me not an house of cedar tree? Now therfore thus saye vnto my seruaũt Dauid: thus sayth the Lord of Hostes I toke the oute of

of the pasture frō after thepe, ꝯ thou shuldest be captayne ouer my people Israell. And I haue ben with the in al thou tokest in hand, & haue weded out al thyne enemyes out of thy syght, & haue made ꝯ a name lyke the name of ꝯ greatest mē of the erth. And I wyl ordayne a place for my people Israel & wil make it fast, & they shal dwel vnder it & shal moue nomore. Nether shal the chyldrē of wickednesse vexe them any more as at the beginning, and sence the tyme I commaunded iudges to be ouer my people Israel, & wyl bringe vnder al thyne enemyes (for I tolde the that the Lorde wolde buylde the an house.)

But whē thy dayes be expired, ꝯ thou must go after thy fathers, I wil set vp thi sede after the, whiche shalbe of thy sonnes & wyl settle his kingdō. He shal buyld me an house, & I wyll stablyche hys seate for euer. I wylbe hys father & he shall be my sonne, & I wyll not put my mercye awaye frō him as I dyd frō him that was before the. But I wyll sett hym in myne house & in my kyngdom for euer, & hys seate shalbe sure for euer.

C

Whē Nathā had told Dauid accordig to al these wordes, & to al this vision, king Dauid wēt & sate him before ꝯ Lord and sayd: what am I O Lord God & what is myne household, ꝯ thou hast promoted me thus ferre. And yet this semed lyttle in thyne eyes O God. But ꝯ thou shuldest speake of thy Seruauntes house for a greate whyle to come: & hast loked vpō me as vpon a mā of hye degree O lord god. What cā Dauid desyre more of the, wherin thou shuldest make thy seruāt more glorious? Thou knowest thy seruaūt: And lord for thy seruaunt sake, euē according to thyne owne hert thou hast done al this magnificēce, to shew al bounteousnesse Lord, ther is none like the, nor any God saue thou, according to al that we haue heard with our eares. Moreouer what nacyon on the erth is lyke thy people Israel, which God wēt and redemed to be hys owne people, & too make the a name of excellentie & terriblenesse, wyth castynge out nacyons from before thy people, for euer, and thou Lorde art become theyr God.

D

And now Lord the thing ꝯ hast spoken cōcerninge thy seruaunt and hys house be true for euer, and do as thou hast sayde. And thy name contynue & ware great for euer, that it be sayde: the Lord of hoostes, the god of Israel is God in Israel, and ꝯ house of Dauid thy seruaunt be stable before the. For thou Lord hast told thy seruaūt, that thou wilt buyld hym an house. And therfore thy seruaūt hath foūd in his hert to praye before the. And now lorde ꝯ art the verye God, and hast promised this goodnesse vnto thy seruaūte. Nowe therfore go to and blesse ꝯ house of thy seruaūte, that it maye contynue before the for euer. For what ꝯ blessest O Lorde that is blessed for euer.

¶ The Battelles of Dauid agaynst ꝯ Philistines

The. xviii. Chapter.

And after ꝯ Dauid bet ꝯ Philistines & subdewed them, & toke Geth & the townes ꝯ lōged therto, out of ꝯ hādes of ꝯ Philistines. And he bet the Moabites, and ꝯ Moabites became Dauids seruauntes and payde hym trybute. And Dauid bet Hadadezer kynge of Zobah vnto Hemah, as he wēt to bringe his dominion vnto the riuer Euphrates. And Dauid toke frō hym a thousād charettes & seuen thousand horsemen & twētie thousande fotemen, and brake all ꝯ charettes, saue that he reserued of them an hundred. Thē came the Stries of Damasco to helpe Hadadezer king of Zobah. And Dauid slue of the Striens. xxii. thousād, and put garisōs in Siria Damasco: And the Stries became Dauids seruaūtes & brought hym trybute. For the Lorde helpe Dauid in all that he went to.

A

And Dauid toke ꝯ shyldes of gould ꝯ were on the seruauntes of Hadadezer and brought thē to Jerusalē. And frō Theba hath & Chū, cytes of Hadadezer, brought Dauid exceadinge moch brasse. Wher vō Salomon made the brasen see and the pillers and the vesselles of brasse.

A

And whē * Thou king of Hemath, hearde how Dauid had betē al the host of Hadadezer kynge of Zobah, he sente Hadurā hys sonne to king Dauid, to salute hym and to blesse him, because he had foughte vō Hadadezer & bratē him (for Thou had warre vō Hadadadezer) and sent al maner of Iewelles of goulde, syluer & brasse vō hym.

C

Otherwyse Thoi. 1. Reg. xviii. c.

him. And kinge Dauid dedicated thē also vnto the Lord wt the syluer & goulde yt he brought frō al nacīōs, frō the Edomites, frō the Moabites, frō the chyldrē of Ammō, frō the philistines, & frō the Amalecht
D tes. And Abisai ỹ sonne of Zaruiah slue of the Edomites in the salt valey .xviii. thousand, & put Soudiares in Edō, & al Edō became Dauids seruaūtes: for the Lorde kept Dauid in al that he toke in hād. And Dauid raigned ouer al Israel & did right & equite vnto al his people. And Joab the sonne of Zaruiah was ouer the host, & Jehosaphat thee sonne of Ahilud recorder, & Zadock the sonne of Ahitob & Abimelech the sonne of Abiathar were the prestes, & Susa was scribe, & Banaiah the sonne of Jehoiada was ouer thee Cerethites & the Phelethites, and the eldest sonnes of Dauid wayted at the kynges hande.

Hanon kyng of the sonnes of Ammō doth great iniurye to the seruauntes of Dauid.

The .xix. Chapter.

A
K. Regū. 1, 8

After this it chaūced that Nahas king of ỹ chyldrē of Ammon dyed, & hys sonne made kyng in his steade, Thē sayd Dauid, I wyl shew kindnes vnto Hanon the sonne of Nahas, because his father dealt kyndly with me: And ther vpō Dauid sente messengers to comforte him ouer the death of his father. And whē the seruauntes of Dauid were come into the land of the chyldren of Ammon to Hanon to comfort him, the Lordes of the childrē of Ammon sayde to Hanon: thynkeste thou that Dauid doth honoure thy father in thy sight, that he hath sent cōforters vnto the? Naye, but it is to searche and ouerthrow & to spye out the land, that hys seruauntes be come vnto the.

Wherupō Hanō toke Dauids seruātes
B & shaued thē, & cutte of theyr cootes harde by theyr bottockes & sente thē awaye. And ther wēt ỹ tolde Dauid howe the mē were serued. And the king sente to mete thē (for the men were exceadingly a shamed) and sayd: tarye at Jericho vntil your beardes be growen, and then returne.

And when the chyldrē of Ammō sawe ỹ they stāke in the nose of Dauid, Hanon, & the chyldrē of Ammō sent a thousand talentes of syluer to hyre thē charettes and horsemē out of *Mesopotamia & out Syria Maacah and out of Zobah. And they hyred .xxxii. thousande charettes, & the kinge of Maacah & his people, which came & pytched before Medba. And the chyldren of Ammon geathered thē selues together frō their cyties & went out to battell. And
C as sone as Dauid hearde of it, he sent Joab wyth al the hoste of strong men. And ỹ chyldrē of Ammō came out & putte thē in araye to battel before the gate of the cytie. And the kynges that were come kepte thē by them selues in the felde.

*Ebre. aram Naharim

When Joab saw that the front of the battel was before hym & after, he chose out of al the youth of Israel & put thē in aray agaynst the Syrias. And the rest of ỹ people he delyuered vnto Abisai hys brother, that they shuld put them selues in aray agaynst the childrē of Ammon & sayd: Yf ỹ Syrians be to strong for me, succour me, and yf the chyldren of Ammon be to good for the, I wyl helpe the. Plucke vp thyne herte & lett vs playe the men for our peoples sake and for the cyties of our God, & the Lorde do what semeth hym beste. And D Joab and the people that were wyth hym drue nye to the Syrians, to fyghte, & they fled before hym. And when the chyldren of Ammō saw that the Syrians were fled, they ranne awaye lykewyse frome Abisai his brother & gat them into the cytie. And Joab came to Jerusalem.

And when the Syriens sawe that they were put to the worse of Israell, they sent messengers and fet out the Syriens that are beyonde the ryuer wyth Sophach the Captayne of thee Hoste of Hadadezer before them. Whych when it was tolde Dauid, he geathered al Israell, and wēt ouer Jordan & went & set vpon them. And Dauid put him selfe in araye against the Syriens, and they fought wyth hym. But the Syriens fledde before Israel, and Dauid destroyed of the Syryens .vii. thousande charettes, and sluc fourtie thousand fotemen, and kylled Sophach the Captayne of the Hooste. And when thee Seruaūtes of Hadadezer saw that they were putte to the worse of Israel, they made peace with Dauid and serued hym. Neyther wolde the Syryans helpe thee chyldren of Ammon any more.

¶ The thre most victorious battels of Dauid.

The.xx.Chapter.

A ii. Reg. fi. a

AND the yere folowing about the tyme that kinges go oute a warrefare, Joab caried out ỹ armye of ỹ host & destroyed the coũtrey of the chyldren of Ammõ, & wẽt & beseged Rabah & destroyed it: But Dauid boade at Jerusalẽ whyle Joab smote Rabah and destroyed it: * And Dauid toke the crowne of theyr king of his head, & found therin the wayght of a talẽt of gould, & ther were precious stones in it, & it was set on dauids head. And he brought out also the spoyle of the cytye which was exceding moche. And he brought out the people that were in it & tamed thẽ with sawes & harowes of yron & with brakes, & so dealt Dauid with al ỹ cytyes ¶ of the childrẽ of Ammõ. And then Dauid and al the people came agayne to Jerusalẽ. * After that there arose warre at Gazer with the Philistines. At which tyme Sobocai ỹ Husathite slue Saphai that was of the chyldren of * Raphaim, & they were subdewed. And ther was battel agayn wt the Philistines, and Elhanan the sonne of Jair slue Lahemi the brother of Goliah ỹ Gethite, whose speare was lyke the beame of a weuer. And there chaunced yet agayn warre at Geth, where was a man of a syze D wyth. xxiiii. fyngers and toes. vi. on euery hande, and. vi. on euery foote, and was the sonne of Haraphah and defyed Jsraell. And Jehonathã the sõne of Samaa Dauids brother slue hym. These were borne of Haraphah at Geth and were ouerthrowen by thee hande of Dauid and of hys seruauntes.

1. Re. xii. g.

Gen. xiiii.a

¶ The people are punished with pestilence, because Dauid caused thẽ to be nombred: so that ther dyed lxx. thousand men.

The.xxi.Chapter.

A AND Satan stode vp against Jsraell, & persuaded Dauid to numbre Jsraell. And Dauid sayd to Joab & the rulers of the people, go ye & numbre Jsraell frõ Berseabe to Dan, and bringe it to me that I maye knowe thee numbre of them. And Joab answered: the Lorde make thy people an hundred tymes so many mo as they be be. But my Lord kynge are they not al my Lordes seruaũtes? why then doth my Lorde require this thynge? why shulde my Lorde be a cause of trespace to Jsraell?

Neuertheles the kinges wordes preuayled agaynst Joab. And Joab toke his way & went thorowoute al Jsrael, & came to Jerusalẽ & gaue the nũbre of the count of the people vnto Dauid. And al Jsrael were in nũbre a thousand thousande & an hũdred thousand men that drue swerde: & Juda was. cccc. lxx. thousand men ỹ drue swerde. But the Leuites & Benjamin he coũted not amõg thẽ. For the kinges dede semed abominable to Joab. And the Lord was displeased wyth thys thinge, & smote Jsrael. Then sayd Dauid to God: I haue synned exceedingly in doyng this thing Neuertheless yet do away the wickednes of thy seruaunte, for I haue done aboue measure foolyshlye.

And ỹ Lord spake vnto Gad Dauids seer of visyõs saying: go & tel Dauid saying. Thus sayth the Lord: I geue the the choyse of thre thinges: chose the one of thẽ that I may do vnto the. And Gad came to Dauid & sayd vnto him: Thus sayth the Lord. Chose the ether thre yeres famishement, or thre monethes to be consumed of thyne aduersaries, ỹ swerde of thine enemies ouertaking the: or else the swerde of the Lord thre dayes & pestilẽce in the land, the Angel of the Lord destroying thorowout all the costes of Jsrael. And nowe aduyse thy selfe what word I shal bring agayne to him that sent me. And Dauid sayde to Gad, I am in an exceding straite. But let me fal into the hãdes of the Lord, for passing great is his mercy, & let me not fal into the handes of men.

And the Lord sent pestilẽce vpõ all Jsrael, so ỹ ther were ouerthrowen of Jsrael lxx. thousand mẽ. And god sent the Angel to Jerusalẽ to destroye it. And as he was about to destroy, the Lord beheld and had cõpassion on the wretchednesse, and sayde to the Angel that destroyed, it is ynough, now cease thyne hãd. And the angel of the Lord stode by the threshing floure of Ornan the Jebusite. And Dauid lyft vp his eyes & sawe the Angel of the Lord stãd betwene the erth & heauẽ with a drawẽ swerde in his hand stretched oute towarde Jerusalem. Then fell Dauid and the elders of Israel clothed in sacke vpō theyr kates And Dauid sayde vnto God: Is it not I that cōmaunded to nūber the people? And I am he that haue synned & done euell in dede. But what haue these shepe done? let thyne hande therfore O Lorde God, be on me and on my fathers house, & not on thy people to destroye them.

¶ of

And the angel cōmaunded Gad to say to Dauid, that Dauid shuld go & rere vp an aulter vnto the Lorde, in the threshinge floure of Oznan thee Jebusite. And Dauid went at the sayinge of Gad which spake in the name of the Lorde. And Oznan turned about and sawe the Angel, and his foure sonnes wyth hym, & hyd thē selues: for Oznan was threshing whete. And Dauid came to Oznan. And whē Oznan loked & saw Dauid, he wēt out of the threshing floure & bowed hym selfe to Dauid with his face to the grounde.

And Dauid sayde to Oznan: geue me the place of thee threshinge flowre, that I may buyld an aulter therin vnto the Lord Let me haue it for as moche moneye as it is worthe, that the plage may cease frō the D people. And Oznan sayde to Dauid: take it to the, and let my Lord kyng do that semeth good in his eyes. Se, I geue the oxen for a burntsacrifice, & the threshing sleades for wood, & wheate for meate offring: I geue it all. But kynge Dauid sayde to Oznā: not so, but I wil bye it for as moch money as it is worth. I wyl not take that whyche is thyne, for thee Lorde, and offer burntoffringes wythout coste.

And so Dauid gaue to Oznan for the place sicles of goulde. vi. C. by wayghte. And Dauid buylt ther an aulter vnto the Lord & offred burntoffringes & peaceoffringes. & called vnto the Lord & he heard him frō heauē in fyre vpō the aultar of burntoffringe. And the Lord cōmaunded the Angel to put vp his swerde agayne in to the shethe of it. At that tyme whē dauid saw, ỹ the Lord had heard him in the threshing flowre of Oznan the Jebusite: he vsed to offer ther. For ỹ tabernacle of ỹ Lorde which Moses made in the wildernesse, & the aulter of burntoffring were at ỹ season in the hyl at Gabaō. And Dauid could de not go before it to seke God, because he was afeerde of the swerde of the Angell of the Lord. And Dauid sayd: this is ỹ house of the Lord God, & this is the burntcofringe aulter for Israel.

¶ Dauid wylleth hys sonne Salomon to bylde the temple of the Lord: whych thynge he hym selfe was forbidden to do.

The. xxii. Chapter.

A
And Dauid cōmaūded to gether the straūgers ỹ were in ỹ land of Israell, & sett hewers to hew stone, to build the house of God. And Dauid prepared plentie of yron for nayles to the dores of the gates & to ioyne wyth al, & aboū dance of brasse without waighte, & of Cedar trees without nūbre. For the Zidons and they of Tire brought moche Cedar wood to dauid. For Dauid thus thought Salomon my sonne is younge & tender, B and thee house that is to be buylte for the Lorde, muste excede in greatnesse, that it maye be spoken of and praysed in all landes. I wyll therfore make ordinaunce for it. And so Dauid prepared aboundaunce before hys death.

And he called Salomō his sōne & charged him to buyld an house for ỹ Lord god of Israel: And Dauid sayd to Salomō: *my sonne, I had in myne hert to buylde 11. Reg. 5. an house vnto ỹ name of the lord my god. 1. Reg. 8. But the word of the Lord came to me saynge: thou hast shed moche bloude, & haste made many battels. Thou shalt not bylde an house for my name, for thou haste shed moche bloud to the erth in my sight. Behold a sōne shalbe borne the which shall be a mā of rest, for I wyl geue him reste frō al hys enemyes round about. And his name shalbe * Salomō: for I wil sende rest and Salomō is as moch to say by interpretacīō as peaceable peace vpō Israel in his daies, He shal bylde an house for my name, & he shall be my sonne, & I wylbe his father, & wyl stablish the seat of his kingdō vpon Israell for euer. Now my sonne, the Lord be with the, ỹ thou mayste prosper & buylde the house of the Lord thy God, as he hath sayd of ỹ And the Lord geue the wisdō & vnderstāding, & make ỹ gouernour of Israell, & to kepe the law of the Lord thy god. For thē thou shalt prosper: If ỹ shalt be diligēt to do the ordinaūces & lawes whych the lord charged Moses with, to deliuer to Israel. Plucke vp thyne hert & be stronge, dread not nor be discouraged. Beholde in myne aduersite I haue prepared for thee house of the Lord an hūdred thousand talentes of gould & a thousand thousād talētes of syluer, & as for brasse & yrō it cānot be nū-bred, it is so moche. And I haue prepared timber & stone, & ÿ shalt prouide more ther to. Moreouer ÿ hast workemen ynough & masōs & carpeters to worke in stone & timber, & al maner of wise mē for whatsoeuer worke it be. And of gould, syluer, brasse & yron ther is no number. Up therfore & set vpō it, & the Lorde shalbe with the.

D And Dauid cōmaūded al the Lordes of Israel, to helpe Salomō his sōne saying: Is not ÿ Lord your god with you? & hath he not geuē you reste on euery syde? for he hath geuē the enhabitours of th' lād into myne hand, and the land is subdued before the Lord & before his people. Now therfore set your hertes & youre soules, to seke the Lord your god. And vp & buylde ye ÿ tēple of the Lord God, to bringe the arcke of the couenaunt of the Lorde, & the holye vesselles of God into thee house so buylte for the name of the Lorde.

¶ Dauid being old, ordeyneth Salomō kinge he causeth the Leuites to be nūbred, and assigned them to theyr offices.

The.xxiii. Chapter.

A Kl. Reg. i. c

AND whē Dauid was olde & stryken in yeres, he made Salomō his sonne king ouer Israell. And thē he gathered together all ÿ lordes of Israell with the Prestes & the Leuites. And ÿ Leuites were nūbred frō. xxx. yere & aboue, & the tale of them in men polle by polle was xxxviii. thousand. Of whiche xxiiii. thousand were set to further the worcke of the house of the Lord. And. vi. thousand were officers & Judges. Foure thousand were porters & foure thousand praysed the lord with soch instrumētes as Dauid had made to prayse wyth all.

And Dauid put an order amōg the chil dren of Leui: Gerson, Cahath & Merari: Of the Gersonites was Laadā & Semei The sonnes of Laadā: ÿ cheke was Jehiel & thē Zethā and Joel, thre. The sonnes of Semei, Salomith, Haziel, and Harā, thre These were the aunciēt heades of Laadā And the sonnes of Semei were also Jahath, Zinah, Jaus & Bariah: these foure were the sonnes of Semei. And Jahath was the cheke, Zinah the seconde. But Jaus and Bariah had not many sonnes, and therfore they were rekened for one auncient housholde.

The sonnes of Cahath: Amram, Izahar, Hebrō & Uziel, foure. * The sōnes of Amram: Aaron & Moses. And Aarō was appoynted to cōsecrate in the place moost holy, with hys sonnes for euer: & to burne the offringes before the Lord, and to minister, & to blesse in hys name for euer. And as for Moses the man of God, hys children were named wyth thee trybe of Leui. The sonnes of Moses: Gerson & Eliezer. And of the sōnes of Gerson: Sabael was the cheke. The sonnes of Eliezer: Rohabiah the cheke. And Eliezer had no nother sōnes: But the sōnes of Rohabiah were verye manye. And of the sonnes of Izahar: Salomi, the cheke. The sonnes of Hebron Jeriahu the fyrst, Amariah the second, Jahaziel the thyrde & Jecmaam the fourthe. The sonnes of Uziel: Micah the first and Jesiah the seconde. The sonnes of Merari: Mahali & Musi, the sonnes of Mahali: Eleazar & Cis. And Eleazer dyed & had no sonnes, but daughters only, which theyr brethrē the sonnes of Cis toke. The sonnes of Musi: Mahali, Eder, & Jerimuth, thre. These ar the childrē of Leui in the housholdes of their fathers the aūciēs heades, vewed & nūbred by name & polle by polle frō. xx. yere. & aboue, to worcke in the seruice of the house of the Lorde. For Dauid sayd: the Lord god of Israel hath geuen reste vnto his people, and they shal dwell in Jerusalem for euer.

Moreouer the Leuites shuld nowe no more beare the tabernacle & al the vessels ÿ pertayned to the seruice therof. But at ÿ last cōmaūdemēte of Dauid, the Leuites were numbred frō. xx. yeare & aboue, & to wayte at the handes of the sonnes of Aaron in the seruice of the house of the Lord and to haue the ouersight of the courtes & of the store houses, & of the purifying of al holy thinges, and of the worke of the thinges that serued for thee house of God, as the shewe bread the fyne flowre, the incate offringes, the flawnes of swete bread, and of the thinges baken in the fryinge panne or broyled on the grydyron, and on al maner measures and cise, and to wayte euery moreuery morynge to thanke and prayse the Lorde, and lykewyse at euen. And to wayte on euery offeryng of burntesacrifyces vnto the Lord, the Sabbothes and fyxte dayes of the monethes, and other festfull dayes by numbre and custome, was theyr office euer before ỹ Lorde. And that they shuld waite on the tabernacle of wytnesse & on the holy place, & on the sonnes of Aaron their brethren, in the seruice of ỹ house of the Lorde.

The Notes.

a‡ To wayte at the handes of the sonnes of Aarō is, to do after their cōmaūdement, as beneth in the xxv. b.

¶ Dauid assigneth their office to ỹ sōnes of Aarō:

The.xxiiii.Chapter.

THe deuysion of the sonnes of Aarō: Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar & Ithamar. * But nadab & Abihu dyed before their father & had no chyldren. And Eleazar and Ithamar were the Prestes. And Dauid ordered them on this maner: Zadock of the sōnes of Eleazar & Ahimelek of the sonnes of Ithamar to be in office by course. And there were no mightye heedes founde of thee sonnes of Eleazar then of the sonnes of Ithamar. And they deuyded them into.xvi. heedes of aūcient housholdes of ỹ sōnes of Eleazar, & eight of ỹ sonnes of Ithamar. And they put thē in order by lot, one with a nother that ther shulde be rulers in the sanctuarye & Lordes before god as wel of the sonnes of Ithamar as of the sonnes of Eleazar. And Semeiah the sonne of Nathaneel the scribe of the Leuites wrote them before the kyng & the Lordes, & before Zadock the Preaste and Ahimelek the sonne of Abiathar, & before the auncient heedes of ỹ prestes & of ỹ Leuites: one principall houshold for Eleazar & one for Ithamar.

And ỹ first lot fel to Iehoiarib. The secōd to Iedaiah. The third to Harim. The fourth to Seorī. The fifte to Melchiah. The sixt to Miamī. The seuēth to Hakes. The eight to Abiah. The ninth to Iesua. The tenth to Secaniah. The leuēth to Eliasib. The twelueth to Iakim. The thyrteen to Huphah. The.xiiii to Ibaab. Thee ften to Huphah. The fiftene to Belgah. The syxtene to Emer. The.xvii. to Hezir. The eightene to Haphzez. The nynetene to Pathahaiah. The twentie to Iehezekiel. The twentie & one to Iaci. The.xxii. to Gamul. The.xxiii. to Delaiahu. The.xxiiii. to Maaziahu.

This is the order of thē in their offices, to come into ỹ house of ỹ Lord accordyng to their maner vnder Aarō their father, as the Lord God of Israel commaunded.

The rest of the sōnes of Leui: of the sōnes of Amram, Subael. Of the sonnes of Subael Iehedtahu. Of the sonnes of Rohabtah the fyrst Iesiah. Of the Izaharites, Salemoth. Of the sonnes of Salemoth, Iahath. And the sonnes of Hebron were Ieriahu the fyrst, Amariah ỹ secōd, Iahaziel ỹ thirde, Iekameam ỹ fourthe. Of ỹ sonnes of Usiel, Micah. Of the sōnes of Micah Samir. The brother of Micah was Iesiah. Of the sonnes of Iesiah zachariah. The sonnes of Merari were Mahali & Musi. The sōnes of Iaaziahu, Beno. The sōnes of Merari by Iahaziahu, Beno, Sohem, zacur & Ebri.

Mahali had Eleazar which had no sōnes. The sonnes of Kis: Ierahemel. The sonnes of Musi: Mahali, Eder and Iermoth: These are of the chyldren of Leui in the housholdes of their fathers. And these cast lottes next to their brethren the sōnes of Aaron, before Dauid the king and Zadoc & Ahimelec & the aūciēt heedes & prestes of the Leuites: as well the youngeste brother as an auncient heed.

¶ The singers ar appointed with their places, and lottes.

The.xxv. Chapter.

AND Dauid & the captaynes of ỹ host apoynted out to do seruyce the sonnes of Asaph of Hemā & Iduthun, whych dyd prophesie wt harpes psalteries & cymbales. And ỹ multitude of thē were men to do seruice in theyr offyces. The sonnes of Asaph: zaur, Ioseph, Nathaniah Asercalah, to wayte on Asaph which prophesied by the kynge.

The sonnes of Iduthū: Godoliah, zuri, Iesaiah, Hasabiah & Mathathiah, Semei syxe, at ỹ hādes of their fathers Iduthun, wt harpes: whiche Iduthū prophesied for to thanke & praise the Lorde. The sonnes of Heman: Boktahu, Mathaniah, Uzziel, zubuell, Ierimoth, Hananiah, Hanani, Eliathah, Gedaltht, Romanthi Ezer, Iesbokasah, Malothi, hothir & Mahazioth.

All

ALl these were the sonnes of Heman ỹ kinges Sear of vysions wythe the worde of god, to lift vp the horne. God gaue to Heman. xiiii sõnes & thre daughters. Al these were at the hande of their father to sing in ỹ house of the lord with symbales, psaltetics & harpes in ỹ scrupce of the house of god. And* at the hand of the king was Asaph, Idithũ & Hemã: But the multitude of them were with their brethrẽ ỹ were cõnynge in the songe of the Lorde. And the nũbre of al that taught, were two hũdred foure skore & eyght. And they cast Lottes indyfferentlye howe they shulde wayte as well the smalle as the greate, the scoler as wel as the skole master.

nota cymbales gazped to gether this is the meaning of

That is, at the kinges cõmãdemẽt as aboue in the. xvi. d

And ỹ fyrst lot of Asaph fel to Joseph. C The seconde to Godoliah with his brethrẽ and sonnes, twelue personnes. The thyrde fel to Zacur with his sonnes & brethren beynge twelue personnes. The fourthe to Izari with his sonnes and brethrẽ twelue personnes.

The fyfte to Nathaniah with his sonnes & brethren twelue personnes. The sixt to Bokiahu with hys sonnes and brethrẽ twelue personnes. The seuenth to Isarelath with his sonnes & brethrẽ twelue personnes. The eyght to Isaiah with his sonnes and brethren twelue Personnes The ninthe to Mathaniah withe his sonnes and brethren twelue personnes. The tẽth to Semei wt his sõnes & brethrẽ twelue personnes. The leuẽth to Azarael wt his sõnes & brethrẽ twelue personnes. The. xii. to Hasabiah withe hys sonnes & brethren twelue personnes. The thirtene to Subuel with his sonnes & brethren twelue personnes. The fourtene to Mathathiah wt his sonnes & brethren twelue personnes. The fyftene to Jeruioth with his sonnes & brethren twelue personnes. The sixtene to hananiah with his sonnes & brethren twelue personnes The seuentene to Jesbokasah wt his sonnes & brethrẽ twelue personnes. The eyghtene to Hanani with his sonnes & brethrẽ twelue personnes. The nineteene to Maloth wyth hys sonnes and brethrẽ twelue personnes. The twentye to Eliathah wt hys sonnes & brethren twelue personnes. The. xxi. to Hothir wt hys sonnes & brethren. xii. personnes: The. xxii. to Gedaliah with his sonnes & brethren. xii. personnes. All these were the sonnes of Heman ỹ kinges Sear of vysions wythe the worde of god, to lift vp the horne. God gaue to Heman. xiiii sõnes & thre daughters. Al these were at the hande of their father to sing in ỹ house of the lord with symbales, psaltetics & harpes in ỹ scrupce of the house of god. And* at the hand of the king was Asaph, Idithũ & Hemã: But the multitude of them were with their brethrẽ ỹ were cõnynge in the songe of the Lorde. And the nũbre of al that taught, were two hũdred foure skore & eyght. And they cast Lottes indyfferentlye howe they shulde wayte as well the smalle as the greate, the scoler as wel as the skole master.

And ỹ fyrst lot of Asaph fel to Joseph. C The seconde to Godoliah with his brethrẽ and sonnes, twelue personnes. The thyrde fel to Zacur with his sonnes & brethren beynge twelue personnes. The fourthe to Izari with his sonnes and brethrẽ twelue personnes.

The fyfte to Nathaniah with his sonnes & brethren twelue personnes. The sixt to Bokiahu with hys sonnes and brethrẽ twelue personnes. The seuenth to Isarelath with his sonnes & brethrẽ twelue personnes. The eyght to Isaiah with his sonnes and brethren twelue Personnes The ninthe to Mathaniah withe his sonnes and brethren twelue personnes. The tẽth to Semei wt his sõnes & brethrẽ twelue personnes. The leuẽth to Azarael wt his sõnes & brethrẽ twelue personnes. The. xii. to Hasabiah withe hys sonnes & brethren twelue personnes. The thirtene to Subuel with his sonnes & brethren twelue personnes. The fourtene to Mathathiah wt his sonnes & brethren twelue personnes. The fyftene to Jeruioth with his sonnes & brethren twelue personnes. The sixtene to hananiah with his sonnes & brethren twelue personnes The seuentene to Jesbokasah wt his sonnes & brethrẽ twelue personnes. The eyghtene to Hanani with his sonnes & brethrẽ twelue personnes. The nineteene to Maloth wyth hys sonnes and brethrẽ twelue personnes. The twentye to Eliathah wt hys sonnes & brethren twelue personnes. The. xxi. to Hothir wt hys sonnes & brethren. xii. personnes: The. xxii. to Gedaliah with his sonnes & brethren. xii. personnes, Wahazioth wythe hys sonnes and brethren. xii. personnes, The. xxiiii. to Lomãthi Ezer wt his sonnes and brethren. xii personnes,

C The porters of temple are ordeined euery man to the gate which he shulde kepe.

The. xxvi. Chapter.

THe deuysyon of the porters a mõg ỹ Corehites: Meseleemiah ỹ sonne of Kore of ỹ chyldren of Asaph. A

And the sonnes of Meselemiah were these: Zachariah the eldeste, Jadiel the seconde, Zabadiah the third, Jathaniel the fourth, Elam the fyfte, Jehohanan the syxt. Eliocnai ỹ seuẽth. And Obed Edom had sõnes: Semeiah ỹ eldeste, Jehosabad ỹ second, Joah the third, Sacar ỹ fourth, Nathanael ỹ fyfte, Amiell ỹ the sixte, Issacar the seuẽth and Polathai the. viii. for god had blessed him.

And vnto Semeiah his sonne were sonnes borne that ruled in the house of their father, for they were men of myghte. The sonnes of Semeiah: Othni, Raphael, Obed and Elzabad & hys brethren men of actiuite, Elihu and Samachiah. All these were of the chyldren of Obed Edom, whiche with their brethren & their chyldrẽ, actiue mẽ & of strength to do seruice, were. lxii of Obed Edom. And Meseleniah had sõ B nes & brethren, actyue men, xviii. And Hosah of the chyldrẽ of Merari, had sonnes: Simri the chefe, yet he was not ỹ eldest, but hys father made him the chefeste. Helkiah the second, Thabeliah ỹ thyrd & Zacariah the fourth: so that all the sonnes & brethren of Hosah were. xiii.

Vnto these was deuyded the offyce of ỹ portershepe as vnto heedes ouer the men ỹ wayted wyth their brethren and mynystred in the house of the Lorde. And they cast lottes the smalle as wel as the greate in ỹ housholdes of their fathers, frõ gate to gate. And the east lot fell to Seleniah. And for Zachariah hys sonne a wyse counceler, they cast lottes, and his lot came out towarde the Northe. And Obed Edoms lot fel to the south, And to hys sonnes fell *the councel houses. And to Suphim & Hosah fel the weste wyth the gate Salechcth, wher the waye assendeth vpward, ỹ one way beynge fast by the other.

* Some reade ỹ house of Asuphim.

In

In the Eeste kepte syxe Leuites: in the Northe. iiii. a daye, & in the Southe. iiii. a day, and in euery councel house two, & * in the watchhouses, on the hie way west wat de foure: two in a house. These are the deuisions of ỹ porters among the sonnes of Korah & the sonnes of Merari. And of ỹ Leuites Ahiah had ỹ ouersyght of ỹ treasure of the house of god, and of ỹ treasure of the dedycat thynges.

Some rede in Parbar C

As cõcerninge ỹ sõnes of Laadã which were Gersonites. Laadã had auncient fathers. Laadan the Gersonite had Jehieli. The sonne of Jehieli: Zethan & Joel hys brother, which were ouer ỹ treasures of ỹ house of the Lord. Amonge the Amtamites, Jzaharites, Hebronites & Ozielites, was Subuel the sonne of Gerson the sonne of Moses a ruler ouer ỹ treasure. And of his brethren the sonnes of Eliezer, was Rahabiah, whose sõne was Jsaiah, & hys sonne was Joram, & his sonne Zechri, & his sõne was Selomith, which Selomith & hys brethren were ouer al the treasures of the dedicate giftes which Dauid ỹ kinge, & the auncíẽt heedes, of ỹ captaines ouer thousandes & hundredes, & ỹ captaynes of ỹ hoste had dedicated of the spoyle wõne in battel, to maynteyne ỹ house of ỹ D Lorde: & ouer all ỹ Samuel the sear and Saul the sõne of Cis, and Abner ỹ sonne of Ner, & Joab ỹ sõne of Zaruiah had dedicated. Al ỹ was dedicated, was vnder ỹ hãd of Selomith and of hys brethren.

Of the Jzaharites Conaniah and his sonnes were in businesses wythoute forth made officers & iudges ouer Jsraell. And of the Hebronites Hasabiah & his brethrẽ men of actiuite a thousande & vii. hũdred were officers in Jsrael on this side Jordã westward, in al busynesses of ỹ lord & seruice of ỹ kyng. And Jedlah was the chefest among the kynredes & fathers of the Hebronites. And in the. xl. yere of ỹ kinge dõ of Dauid they were soughte for. And ther were foũd of thẽ mẽ of actyuite at Jezer in Galaad. And his brethrẽ were in mẽ of actiuite, two thousãd & seuẽ hũdred aũciẽt heedes, which kyng Dauid made rulers ouer the Rubenites, Gaddites & the halfe trybe of Manasseh in al maters pertaynyng to God & busynesses of ỹ kyng,

¶ Of ỹ princes & rulers ỹ ministred vnto the kyng.

The. xxvii. Chapter.

TO speake of the childrẽ of Jsrael: in the nũbre of thẽ were aũciẽt heedes & captaines of thousãdes & hundredes, & officers ỹ serued the king in al thyng accordyng to the cõpanyes that came in or wẽt oute, moneth by moneth thorow oute al the monethes of the yere. And euery cõpanie had. xxiiii. thousand. Ouer the fyrst cõpanye in the fyrst moneth, was Jasoboã the sonne of Zabdiel. And in hys nũbre were. xxviii. thousãd: And the chefest of al the captaynes in the host of the fyrst moneth was of the childrẽ of Pharez. Ouer the cõpanye of the second moneth Dodai an Ahohite, & in hys host was Maketloth a ruler. And in his cõpany were. xxiiii. thousãd. The chefe captayne of the thyrd host in ỹ third moneth, was Banaiah the sonne of Jehoiada ỹ prest. And in his host xxxii. thousand. This is ỹ Banaiah mighty amõg thirtie & aboue thirtie. And in his parte was Amizabad hys sonne.

The fourth captayne in ỹ fourthe moneth was Asael the brother of Joab, & Zabadiah hys sonne after hym. And in hys host. xxiiii. thousande. The fyfte captayne in the fyfte moneth was Samahut ỹ Jezrahite: & in hys host. xxiiii. thousand. The syxt captayne in the sixt moneth was Ira the sonne of Akes a Thekuite: and in hys hoste. xxiiii. thousande.

The seuenth captayne in the seuẽth monethe, was Helei the Phalonite, of the childrẽ of Ephraim: & in his host. xxiiii. thousand. The eyght captayne in the. viii. monethe, was Sobocai an Husathite of the kynne of Sarah: & in hys host. xxiiii. thousand. The nynthe Captayne in the. ix. monethe, was Abiezer an Anathothite of ỹ sõnes of Jemini: and in hys host. xxiiii. thousand. The tenth captayne in the tenthe monethe, was Maharai the Netophathite of the Zarahites: & in his host. xxiiii. thousãd. The leuenthe monethe, was Banaiah the Pharathonite of the childrẽ of Ephraim: & in his host. xxiiii. thousãd. The twelueth Capytayne in the twelueth monethe, was Heldai the Netophathite of Othoniel, & in hys hoste. xxiiii. thousande. And the rulers ouer the tribes of Jsrael were these. Amõge the Rubenites, was Eliezer the sonne

of

of Zechri. Amonge the Symeonites, was Saphattah the sonne of Maacah. Amōg the Leuites: Hasabiah the sonne of Kamuel. Amōg the Haronites: Zadock. In Iuda: Eliu of the brethrē of Dauid: In Issachar: Amri the sonne of Michael. In Zabulō: Iesmaiah the sonne of Abdiah. In Nephthalie: Ierimoth the sonne of Azriel. Amōg the childrē of Ephraim: Hosea ꝑ sonne of Ozaiah In the halfe tribe Manasseh: Joel ꝑ sonne of Phadaiah. Of the halfe trybe of Manasseh in Galaad: Iado ꝑ sōne of Zacharias. In Bēiamin: Iaasiel the sōne of Abner. In Dā: Azarel ꝑ sonne of Ieroham. These are the Lordes in the trybes of Israel.

But Dauid toke not the nūbre of them vnder. xx. yere: for the Lord said he wolde encrease Israel like vnto ꝑ starres of the skye. And Ioab ꝑ sōne of Zaruiah begāne to numbre. And though he kintshed it not, yet there fell wrath for ꝑ vpō Israel. And therfore the nūbre was not put in ꝑ chronycles of kynge Dauid.

Ouer the kinges treasure was Azmoth
D the sōne of Adiel. And ouer the treasure of the feldes in the cytyes, vyllages & castelles, was Ionathan, the sonne of Oziah. And ouer the workmen in the feldes ꝑ tilled the grounde, was Ezri ꝑ sonne of Chelub. And the ouersight of the vineyardes had Semeiah the Ramathite. Ouer the wynecellers & treasure of wine was Sabdi the Saphonite. And ouer ꝑ olyuetrees and mulberitrees that were in the valeies was Baal Hanā the Gadarite. And ouer ꝑ treasure of oile was Ioas. And ouer the oxen ꝑ fed in Sarō was Setari the Saronite. And ouer the oxē in ꝑ valeyes was Saphat the sonne of Adlai. And ouer the camelles Obil the Ismaelite. And ouer the Asses was Iehadiah the Merothite. And ouer the shepe was Iazis the Hagarite. All these were the rulers of ꝑ substāce of kynge Dauid. And Ionathā Dauids brothers sonne, a mā of coūcel, a mā ꝑ taught wisdom, & a writer he & Iehiel the sōne of Hachamoni waited on the kinges sonnes. And Ahitophel was of the kinges coūcel. And Husai ꝑ Arathite was ꝑ kinges cōpaniā. And next to Ahitophel was Iehoiada the sonne of Banaiah, & Abiathar. And ꝑ captaine of the kinges watre was Ioab.

Because Dauid was forbidde to build the tēple: he exorteth Salomon & the people to performe it.

The. xxviii. Chapter.

AND Dauid geathered to gether al the lordes of Israel: ꝑ Lordes of the tribes, the Lordes of ꝑ companies that ministred to the king by course, the lordes ouer the thousandes & ouer the hūdredes, & the lordes ouer al the goodes and catell of the kinge and of his sonnes, wt the chamberlaynes warryours and al actiue men vnto Ierusalē. And kyng Dauid stode vpon his fete and sayde.

Heare me my brethren & my people: I had in myne hert to buyld an house of rest for the Arck of the couenaūt of the lord, & a ‡ fotestole for oure God, and had made redye to buylde. But God sayde to me: ꝑ shalt not buylde an house for my name, because thou art a mā of warre & hast shed bloude. Moreouer the lord god of Israel chose me of al the house of my father, to be kyng ouer Israel for euer, for he chose Iuda to be a captaine: & in ꝑ house of Iuda ꝑ house of my father, & of the sonnes of my father he had a lust to me, to make me kynge ouer al Israel. And of al my sōnes) for the Lord hath geuen me many sonnes) he hath chosen Salomon my sonne, to syt in the seate of the kyngedome of the lorde ouer Israel. And he said vnto me: Salomō thy sonne, he shal build my house and my courtes, * for I haue chosen him to be my sonne, & I wilbe his father, & wil stablysh his kigdom for euer, if he wil hardē him selfe to do my cōmaundementes, and my lawes, ae it goeth thys daye.

And now I say vnto you before al Israel the cōgregacion of ꝑ lord, & in the audience of our god: kepe & seke for al ꝑ cōmādemētes of the lord youre God, ꝑ ye maye enioye a good lād & enheret youre childrē after you for euer. And ꝑ Salomon my sonne: know God thy father & serue hym wt a pure hert and lust of soule. * For the lord sercheth al hertes & vnderstandeth al the Imagynacyons of thoughtes. If ꝑ shalt seke him, he wilbe found of the. But & yf ꝑ forsake hym, he wyll cast the of for euer. Take hede now, for the Lorde hathe chosē the, to build an house of thy sāctuarye. Be stronge and do it.

‡ not Amā of warre
ꝑ shalt not build my house
1. Paralip.
Psa. xxxiii. C Or
nota thys lorde hathe chosen thys to And build an house of thys sanctuary

And Dauid gaue Salomon his sone ye paterne of the porch & of ye houses ye loged therto, and of the store houses, vpper chābres, ynner pareloures & of the house of ye mercieseate: & the example of all that was in his mind, both of the courtes of ye house of ye Lord & of the treasure houses round about, for ye treasures of ye house of God & for the treasure of the dedycate gyftes, & of the companyes of the preastes & Leuites that wayted by course, & of al worke māshype, that shuld serue for the house of the lord & for al vesselles that shulde serue in the house of ye lord. And appointed him what waygħte of goulde shulde serue for thynges of gould thorow out all vessels for what soeuer vse it serued: and what waygħt of syluer shulde suffice for al maner of vesselles of syluer, for whatsoeuer purpose they serued.

And the waygħte of the goulden candel stickes and of their lampes of goulde, the waygħte for euery candelsticke & for their lāpes. And for the candelstickes of syluer by waygħt, bothe for the cādelstyck & also for her lampes accordinge to the offyce of euery cādelstick. And ye waygħt of gould for ye tables of shewbreede, table by table: & lykewyse syluer for the tables of syluer. And for fleshehokes, basens & dryncking pottes of pure goulde. And for cuppes of gould by waight, cuppe by cupp. And for cuppes of siluer by waight, cupp by cupp: And for the aulter of incēse of tried gould by waight. And the symilitude of the seat of the Cherubes that stretched oute theyr wynges and couered the arcke of the coue naunt of the Lorde. Al was geuen me by wrytyng of the hande of the Lord, whych made me vnderstād al the worckmāshipp of the paterne.

And Dauid saide to Salomō his son ne: hardē thy selfe and be strōg and do it, feare not nor let thyne hert dyscourage ye. For the Lord God my God is wythe the, and shal not leaue the nor forsake the, vntyll thou hast fynysshed al the worke that muste serue for the house of the Lord. Beholde the prestes and Leuites deuyded in companyes, for to do al maner of seruyce that pertayneth to the house of God, and besyde that, thou hast with the for all maner of worckmanshyppe, all that are wyllyng and wyse for any maner of seruyce. And the lordes & al the people ar at thy cō maundemente in all thynges.

The Notes

a‡ The kotestole &c. was ye mercye seat at whych & on whiche God had promesed the Hebrues to hear the and speake vnto the: which was vpon ye Arcke, as it appeareth Exodi. xxv.b.

¶ The offeringes of Dauid and of the princes for ye byldyng of the temple. Dauid dyeth and Salomō his sonne raygneth in his steade.

The.xxix.Chapter.

And Dauid the king said vnto al the congregacion: God hath specyally chosen Salomō my sone which is yet yōge & tender, & the worcke is greate, for thee house is not for man, but for the Lorde God. Moreouer I haue prepared wythe al my myght for the house of God: golde for thynges of gould, & syluer for thinges of siluer, brasse for thiges of brasse, yron for thinges of yron & wood for thynges of wood: & onykes stones, * set stones, and of other gay stones, and al maner of precious stones, and of marble great aboundaunce. And yet because I haue lust to the house of my God: I haue seuerall goulde and syluer whych I geue to the house of my God aboue al I haue prepared for the holy house: euē thre thousand talentes of goulde of Ophir, and seuen thousande talentes of syluer tryed: to syle thee walles of thee house wt goulde wher it becometh, and with siluer wher syluer is mete, and for all maner of worcke by the handes of Artyficers. And let me se who is wyllyng also, to fyl hys hād for the Lorde this daye.

A

B

And the aūcient lordes & the Lordes of the trybes of Israell, & the Captaynes of thousandes & hūdredes & the lordes ouer the substāce of the kyng, were wyllyng & gaue for ye seruyce of ye house of god, fyue thousande talentes of gould and tē thousande peces of gould coynes, and tē thousande talentes of siluer, & .xbtii. thousand talētes of brasse, & an hundred thousande talentes of yron. And they ye had precious stones gaue thē for the treasure of ye house of the Lorde, vnto the hande of Jehiel the Gersonite.

C

And the people reioysed ye they were so willynge: for with a pure herte they were wylling vnto the lord. And therto Dauid the

And Dauid gaue Salomon his sone ye paterne of the porch & of ye houses ye loged therto, and of the store houses, vpper chābres, ynner pareloures & of the house of ye mercieseate: & the example of all that was in his mind, both of the courtes of ye house of ye Lord & of the treasure houses round about, for ye treasures of ye house of God & for the treasure of the dedycate gyftes, & of the companyes of the preastes & Leuites that wayted by course, & of al worke māshype, that shuld serue for the house of the lord & for al vesselles that shulde serue in the house of ye lord. And appointed him what waygħte of goulde shulde serue for thynges of gould thorow out all vessels for what soeuer vse it serued: and what waygħt of syluer shulde suffice for al maner of vesselles of syluer, for whatsoeuer purpose they serued.

And the waygħte of the goulden candel stickes and of their lampes of goulde, the waygħte for euery candelsticke & for their lāpes. And for the candelstickes of syluer by waygħt, bothe for the cādelstyck & also for her lampes accordinge to the offyce of euery cādelstick. And ye waygħt of gould for ye tables of shewbreede, table by table: & lykewyse syluer for the tables of syluer. And for fleshehokes, basens & dryncking pottes of pure goulde. And for cuppes of gould by waight, cuppe by cupp. And for cuppes of siluer by waight, cupp by cupp: And for the aulter of incēse of tried gould by waight. And the symilitude of the seat of the Cherubes that stretched oute theyr wynges and couered the arcke of the coue naunt of the Lorde. Al was geuen me by wrytyng of the hande of the Lord, whych made me vnderstād al the worckmāshipp of the paterne.

And Dauid saide to Salomō his son ne: hardē thy selfe and be strōg and do it, feare not nor let thyne hert dyscourage ye. For the Lord God my God is wythe the, and shal not leaue the nor forsake the, vntyll thou hast fynysshed al the worke that muste serue for the house of the Lord. Beholde the prestes and Leuites deuyded in companyes, for to do al maner of seruyce that pertayneth to the house of God, and besyde that, thou hast with the for all maner of worckmanshyppe, all that are wyllyng and wyse for any maner of seruyce. And the lordes & al the people ar at thy cō maundemente in all thynges.

The Notes

a‡ The kotestole &c. was ye mercye seat at whych & on whiche God had promesed the Hebrues to hear the and speake vnto the: which was vpon ye Arcke, as it appeareth Exodi. xxv.b.

¶ The offeringes of Dauid and of the princes for ye byldyng of the temple. Dauid dyeth and Salomō his sonne raygneth in his steade.

The.xxix.Chapter.

And Dauid the king said vnto al the congregacion: God hath specyally chosen Salomō my sone which is yet yōge & tender, & the worcke is greate, for thee house is not for man, but for the Lorde God. Moreouer I haue prepared wythe al my myght for the house of God: golde for thynges of gould, & syluer for thinges of siluer, brasse for thiges of brasse, yron for thinges of yron & wood for thynges of wood: & onykes stones, * set stones, and of other gay stones, and al maner of precious stones, and of marble great aboundaunce. And yet because I haue lust to the house of my God: I haue seuerall goulde and syluer whych I geue to the house of my God aboue al I haue prepared for the holy house: euē thre thousand talentes of goulde of Ophir, and seuen thousande talentes of syluer tryed: to syle thee walles of thee house wt goulde wher it becometh, and with siluer wher syluer is mete, and for all maner of worcke by the handes of Artyficers. And let me se who is wyllyng also, to fyl hys hād for the Lorde this daye.

A

B

And the aūcient lordes & the Lordes of the trybes of Israell, & the Captaynes of thousandes & hūdredes & the lordes ouer the substāce of the kyng, were wyllyng & gaue for ye seruyce of ye house of god, fyue thousande talentes of gould and tē thousande peces of gould coynes, and tē thousande talentes of siluer, & .xbtii. thousand talētes of brasse, & an hundred thousande talentes of yron. And they ye had precious stones gaue thē for the treasure of ye house of the Lorde, vnto the hande of Jehiel the Gersonite.

C

And the people reioysed ye they were so willynge: for with a pure herte they were wylling vnto the lord. And therto Dauid the

the kynge reioysed wyth greate gladnesse And Dauid blessed thee Lorde before all the congregation and sayde: Blessed arte thou Lorde God of Israell oure Father, from euer and for euer. Thyne (O Lord) is greatenesse, power glorye, victorye and prayse: for all that is in heaue and in earth is thyne, & thyne is the kingdom (O Lord and thou art lyfte vp an head aboue all.

And riches and honoure come of the, & thou raygne st ouer al, and in thyne hande is power and strength, and in thyne hande it is to make greate and to geue strengthe vnto all.

And now our God, we thanke thee, and prayse thy glorious name. For what am I? & what is my people? that we shuld obtayne strength to be so willing? But all is of the, & of that we receaued of thyne hand we haue geue the. For we be but strangers before the & tenauntes, as were al oure fathers. Our dayes on the erth is but a shadowe, and ther is none abyding. O Lorde oure God, all this heape y we haue prepared to buyld the an house for thy holy name, cometh of thyne hand, and is al thyne. I wote my god, that thou prouest the hert & hast pleasure in playnesse. And in playnesse of myne herte I haue wyllinglye geuen all thys. And now I se thy people whi che are here in gladnesse, to offer willingly to the. O Lorde God of Abraham, Isaac and of Israell oure fathers, kepe thys for euer in the ymaginacion of the thoughtes of the herte of thy people, & prepare theyr hertes vnto the. And geue vnto Salomō my sonne, a pure hert to kepe thy cōmaundemētes, thy testymonies and thyne ordynaunces, and to doo all, and to buylde the house whych I entended.

And Dauid sayd to all the cōgregatiō blesse the Lord your God. And al the congregation blessed the Lorde God of theyr fathers, & stowped & bowed thē selues vnto the Lord & to the kyng. And they offred offeringes vnto the Lord. And on the morowe after thee sayde daye, they offered in burntoffringes vnto the lord a thousand oxen, a thousande rammes & a thousande lambes wyth theyr drinckeoffringes. And they slue plenteously thorowout al Israel and dyd eate & drinke before the Lord the same daye with great gladnesse. And they made Salomō the sonne of Dauid kyng the second tyme, & anoynted hym vnto the Lord, to be ruler, & Zadock to be the preest. *And so Salomon sate on the seat of the Lord, & was kyng for Dauid hys father, & prospered, & al Israel obeyed hym. And all the Lordes & men of power, & therto al the sonnes of kyng Dauid submitted thē selues vnder kynge Salomon. And the Lord magnified Salomon on hye, in the syght of all Israel, and gaue hym so glorious a kyngdom as none of al that were kynges before in Israell had.

Now Dauid the sonne of Isai was kyng ouer al Israel. And the space he raygned ouer Israel was fourtie yere: vii. yere in Hebron & .xxxiii. yere in Jerusalē. And he dyed in a good age: olde, ryche & glorious: And Salomō his sonne raygned in hys steade. The actes of Dauid the kyng both fyrst & laste, are wrytten in the bokes of Samuel the sear & in the boke of Nathan the prophete, & in the boke of Gad the sear of bystons, with al his kingdom and power and tymes that went ouer hym and ouer all Israell, and ouer all the kyngdomes of the earthe.

The ende of the fyrst Boke of the Chronicles of the Kynges of Juda.

The Chronicles of thee Kynges of Juda.

The second Boke.

The offring of Salomō in the hilaulter at Gabaon. whir he receaueth an answere of god what wisdom shoulde be geuen hym, wyth the numbers of hys charettes and horsemen

The. j. Chapter.

AND Salomon thee sonne of Dauid waxed stronge in his kyngdom, and the Lorde his God was with hym & magnified hym on hye. And Salomon communed wyth all Israell, the captaynes ouer thousandes & hundredes, the iudges and al other Lordes and auncient heades thorowout all Israell. And so Salomon and all the congregation with hym went to the hylaulter of Gabaon: for there was the tabernacle of the wytnes of God which the kynge reioysed wyth greate gladnesse And Dauid blessed thee Lorde before all the congregation and sayde: Blessed arte thou Lorde God of Israell oure Father, from euer and for euer. Thyne (O Lord) is greatenesse, power glorye, victorye and prayse: for all that is in heaue and in earth is thyne, & thyne is the kingdom (O Lord and thou art lyfte vp an head aboue all.

And riches and honoure come of the, & thou raygne st ouer al, and in thyne hande is power and strength, and in thyne hande it is to make greate and to geue strengthe vnto all.

And now our God, we thanke thee, and prayse thy glorious name. For what am I? & what is my people? that we shuld obtayne strength to be so willing? But all is of the, & of that we receaued of thyne hand we haue geue the. For we be but strangers before the & tenauntes, as were al oure fathers. Our dayes on the erth is but a shadowe, and ther is none abyding. O Lorde oure God, all this heape y we haue prepared to buyld the an house for thy holy name, cometh of thyne hand, and is al thyne. I wote my god, that thou prouest the hert & hast pleasure in playnesse. And in playnesse of myne herte I haue wyllinglye geuen all thys. And now I se thy people whi che are here in gladnesse, to offer willingly to the. O Lorde God of Abraham, Isaac and of Israell oure fathers, kepe thys for euer in the ymaginacion of the thoughtes of the herte of thy people, & prepare theyr hertes vnto the. And geue vnto Salomō my sonne, a pure hert to kepe thy cōmaundemētes, thy testymonies and thyne ordynaunces, and to doo all, and to buylde the house whych I entended.

And Dauid sayd to all the cōgregatiō blesse the Lord your God. And al the congregation blessed the Lorde God of theyr fathers, & stowped & bowed thē selues vnto the Lord & to the kyng. And they offred offeringes vnto the Lord. And on the morowe after thee sayde daye, they offered in burntoffringes vnto the lord a thousand oxen, a thousande rammes & a thousande lambes wyth theyr drinckeoffringes. And they slue plenteously thorowout al Israel and dyd eate & drinke before the Lord the same daye with great gladnesse. And they made Salomō the sonne of Dauid kyng the second tyme, & anoynted hym vnto the Lord, to be ruler, & Zadock to be the preest. *And so Salomon sate on the seat of the Lord, & was kyng for Dauid hys father, & prospered, & al Israel obeyed hym. And all the Lordes & men of power, & therto al the sonnes of kyng Dauid submitted thē selues vnder kynge Salomon. And the Lord magnified Salomon on hye, in the syght of all Israel, and gaue hym so glorious a kyngdom as none of al that were kynges before in Israell had.

Now Dauid the sonne of Isai was kyng ouer al Israel. And the space he raygned ouer Israel was fourtie yere: vii. yere in Hebron & .xxxiii. yere in Jerusalē. And he dyed in a good age: olde, ryche & glorious: And Salomō his sonne raygned in hys steade. The actes of Dauid the kyng both fyrst & laste, are wrytten in the bokes of Samuel the sear & in the boke of Nathan the prophete, & in the boke of Gad the sear of bystons, with al his kingdom and power and tymes that went ouer hym and ouer all Israell, and ouer all the kyngdomes of the earthe.

The ende of the fyrst Boke of the Chronicles of the Kynges of Juda.

The Chronicles of thee Kynges of Juda.

The second Boke.

The offring of Salomō in the hilaulter at Gabaon. whir he receaueth an answere of god what wisdom shoulde be geuen hym, wyth the numbers of hys charettes and horsemen

The. j. Chapter.

AND Salomon thee sonne of Dauid waxed stronge in his kyngdom, and the Lorde his God was with hym & magnified hym on hye. And Salomon communed wyth all Israell, the captaynes ouer thousandes & hundredes, the iudges and al other Lordes and auncient heades thorowout all Israell. And so Salomon and all the congregation with hym went to the hylaulter of Gabaon: for there was the tabernacle of the wytnes of God which

Exod, xxxvi. & xxxvii. & xxxviii

*whych Moses the seruaunt of the Lord made in the wylderneſſe. But the Arck of God had Dauid brought frō Kariath Jarim, into ỹ place he had prepared therfore. For he had pytched a tent for it at Jerusalē. Moreouer ỹ brasen aulter ỹ Bezeleel ỹ sone of Uri, ỹ sone of Or had made was at Gabaō also, before ỹ tabernacle of the lord. And Salomō & ỹ cōgregacion went to visit it. And Salomon offered there before the Lord vpon the brasen aulter that was by the tabernacle of wytnesse, a thousand burntsacrefices. And the same night God appered vnto Salomō and sayd to him: aske what I shal geue the. And Salomon sayde vnto God: thou hast shewed great mercye vnto Dauid my father, and hast made me kyng in his stead. *And now Lord God, lett thy promyse vnto Dauid my father be true. For thou hast made me kyng ouer a people like the dust of ỹ erth in multytude. Wherfore geue me wysdome and knowledge how to be haue my selfe vnto thys people: for who is able to iudge this people that is so great?

ii. Reg. iii. a

Then God sayd to Salomon, because thou haddest thys in thyne herte, & diddest not aske treasure & richesse, honoure & the lyues of thyne enemyes, nether yet longe life: But hast asked wisdom & knowledg, to iudge my people, ouer whyche I haue made ỹ kyng: wisdome & knowledge shal be geuē the, and I wyll geue ỹ treasure, ryches, & glorye also, that amonge the kynges before the or after ỹ, none was or shal be like ỹ. And so Salomō came frō ỹ hil aulter ỹ was at gabaō to Jerusalē frō ỹ tabernacle of witnes & raigned at Jerusalē.

And Salomō gethered charettes & horsemē: ỹ he had a thousand & foure hundred charettes, & xii. thousand horsemen, which he bestowed in ỹ charett cities & about the kyng at Jerusalē. And ỹ kinge made syluer & goulde at Jerusalem as plentcous as stones & Cedar trees as plentye as the mulbery trees that grow in ỹ valeies. And ỹ horses which Salomō had, were brought him out of Egipt frō Keua. The kinges marchaūtes fet thē out at Keua at a price. They came & brought out of Egipt a charet for syxe hundrd sycles, & an horse for an hūdred and fyftie. And so brought they to all the kinges of the Hethites and to the kynges of Siria thorow the hādes of the sayde marchauntes.

ii. Reg. v. a

Salomon sendeth to Hiram the king of Tire for wood and workemen.

The. ii. Chapter.

AND Salomō determined to build an house for ỹ name of the Lorde, & an house for his kingdō: & told out thre score and tē thousand men to beare burdens and foure score thousande to hewe in the mountayne, & thre thousande and syxe hundred to ouer se them.

*And Salomō sent to Hiram king of Tire saying: As thou dydest deale wt Dauid my father & didest sēd hi Cedar wod, to bylde him an house to dwell in, euen so deale with me now: that I may bylde an house for the name of the lorde my god, to cōsecrat it to him to burne swete odoures & to set shewbred before him perpetually, & for burntsacrifice morning & euening and on the Saboth dayes, & the first day of euery new mone, and in the solempne festes of ỹ lord our God, so to cōtinew euer in Israel. And ỹ house which I buylde is great: for great is our god aboue al gods: So that who can be able to build him an house: whē that heuē: nether heauen aboue all heauēs is able to receaue him, what am I then that I shuld buyld him an house: nay, but to burne sacrefice before him: send me now therfore a conning mā to worke in goulde siluer, brasse, yron, scarlet, crimosyn & Jacincte colour, & ỹ can skyl to graue, to be wt the conning men that are wt me in Juda and Jerusalem, which Dauid my father dyd prepare. And sende me also Cedar trees, firre trees and *Algume trees out of Libanon. For I wote wel thy seruaūtes cā skyll to hewe timbre in Libanō. And se, my mē shalbe with thine, ỹ thei maye prepare me tymbre ynough. For the house which I build is great & wōderful. And behold, I sent for thy seruauntes the cutters & hewers of tymbre. xx. thousande quarters of beaten whete, & xx. thousande quarters of barley, & xx. thousād bathes of wyne, & xx. thousand bathes of oyle.

ii. Reg. v. b

*Some rede Coral or Brasyl.

And Hirā kynge of Tire answered in wrytyng & sent to Salomon: because the Lorde loueth his people, therfore he hath made the king ouer thē. And Hiram saide moreouer: blessed be the Lord God of Israell which hathe made bothe heauen and erthe, that he hath geuen Dauid the kyng a wyse sonne ꝑ hath discrecio & vnderstā-dyng, to buylde an house for the Lord, & another for his kyngdom. And now I haue sent a wyse man & a man of vnderstandynge called Hirā Abi, & is the sonne of a woman of the daughters of Dan (how be it hys father was a Tirian) & he can skyll to worcke in goulde, syluer, brasse, yron, stone, tymbre, scarlett, Jacinct, bysse & cremosin: & graue al maner of grauinges, & to find out al maner sotle worcke ꝑ shalbe sett before hym, wt thy connyng men, and with the conning men of my lord Dauid thy father. And now the whete, barley, oyle & wine which my lord hath sayd, let him sende his seruauntes. And we wyll cutte wood oute of Libane, as moche as thou shalt nede, & wyll bringe it to ꝑ in sheppes by see to porte Japo: & thence thou mayst carye them to Jerusalem. And Salomon numbred all the straungers that were in the lande of Israel, after the tyme hys father Dauid had numbred them. And they were found an hundred & .liii. thousāde & syxe hundred. And he set .lxx. thousād of thē to beare burthēs, and .lxxx. thousād to hewe in ꝑ mountayne, and thre thousande and sixe hundred to courage and to set the people a worcke.

¶ The temple of the Lord and the porche are builded, with other thynges ther to belongyng.

The .iii. Chapter.

A iii. Re. vi. a

And Salomō begāne to build ꝑ house of the Lord at Jerusalē in moūt Moriah, why che was shewed Dauid hys father whē he prepared a place in the threshyng flourc of Ornan the Jebusite. And he began to builde the second day of the second moneth ꝑ fourth yere of his raigne. And this is the foundacion of Salomō in buyldyng the house of God. The length was .vi. skore cubites after ꝑ olde cubyt, & the bredeth .xx. And the porch at the ende was as large as the house bredeth .xx. cubytes: & the height was an hundred & .xx. cubytes. And he ouerlaide it on the ynner syde with pure goulde.

B And the great house he siled with firre tree, & ouerlayde it wt good goulde, & graued therto paulmetrees & cheynes. And he paued the house wt precious stone goodly. And it was gould of Pharuaim. And he ouerlaide the house: bothe beames, postes, walles & dores wt gould, and graued Cherubes vpon the walles.

And he made ꝑ house most holy, whose lenghth was .xx. cubites like to ꝑ bredeth of ꝑ house, & the bredeth therof was also xx. cubytes. And he ouerlayd it wt the best gould, ꝑ drue to the summe of .vi. hūdred talētes. And ꝑ waight of ꝑ nailes of gould de was therto fiftie sicles. And he ouerlaid the vpper chambres with gould.

And he made in the house most holy .ii. *Cherubes of Jmage worke, & ouerlayd thē wt gould. And ꝑ winges of ꝑ Cherubes were .xx. cubytes lōg. The one wynge was fiue cubites & touched the wal of the house, & the other wyng was likewise fiue cubytes and touched ꝑ wing of the other Cherub. And the one wing of ꝑ other Cherub was .v. cubites, and touched the walle of the house, and ꝑ other winge was fyue cubytes also, and raught to ꝑ wing of the other Cherub. So that ꝑ winges of ꝑ sayde Cherubes raught .xx. cubites. And thei stode on their fete & loked inwardes. And he made a fore hāging of Jacinct coloure, of scarlet, cremosine & bisse, and caused cherubes to be bourdered therō: And he made before ꝑ house two pillers of .xxxv. cubytes lōg. And ꝑ heed ꝑ was aboue on ꝑ top of one of thē was fiue cubites. And he made soch chaynes as was in the quere, & put thē on ꝑ heedes of ꝑ pyllers, & made an hūdred pomegranets & put thē on ꝑ chaines. And he rered vp the pillers before ꝑ tēple: one on the right hād & another on the left, & called the ryght Jachin & the left Boaz.

¶ The aulter of brasse, the see, the vesselles to wash with, the candelstyckes, &c.

The .iiii. Chapter.

A iii. Re. vii. b

And he made an alter of brasse .xx. cubites longe & .xx. cubytes broade and .x. cubites hie.

*And he caste a brasen see of .x. cubites frō brim to brim, & roūd in cōpase & fyue cubites hye: and a lyne of .xxx. cubites myghte haue cōpased it rounde aboute. And the facyon of oxen did compase it round about vnder it: that is to wete, two rowes of oxen cast when it was caste dyd cōpase the see whiche was ten ten cubites wyde, rounde aboute. And it stode also vpon twelue oxen: of which thre loked North, thre Weste, thre South and thre East, and the see vpon them aboue an hye, and the hynder partes of them inwar

B de. And the thickest of it was an hādbrede and the brim lyke the brim of a cupp, with floures of lylies. And it receaued and held the thousande bathes.

And he made ten lauers: & put fyue on the right hand & fyue on the left, to washe withal. And in thē they thrust the flesche of the burntoffrynges. But the see was for the Prestes to washe in. And he made ten candelsticks of goulde in their facyōs, & put them in the temple: fyue on the ryghte hand & fyue on he lefte. And he made also ten tables & put them in the temple: fiue on the right syde and fyue on the left. And
C he made an hūdred basens of goulde. And he made the courte of the prestes, and the great courte & dores to it: & ouerlayde thee dores of them with brasse. And he sett the see in the ryght syde of ꝑ East ende, towarde the Southe. And Hiram made pottes, shouelles and basens.

And Hiram finished the worke he made for king Salomō vnto the tēple of God: The two pilers with their scalpes of the two heades ꝑ were on the toppes of ꝑ pyllers: & the two wrethes to couer ꝑ two scalpes of the heades ꝑ were on the toppes of the pyllers: & foure hundred pomegranates for the two wrethes, two rowes of pomegranates for euery wrethe, to couer the two scalpes of the heades that were on the pyllers. And he made bottomes, & lauers vpon the bottomes: & the see withe twelue
D ore vnder it. And therto pottes, shouelles flesche hokes, & al their vessels dyd Hiram Abi make for kyng Salomō for the house of the lord of bright brasse. In the playne of Jordā dyd the kyng cast them, in the thicke erth, betwene Socoth & Zaredatha And made of al these vesselles so mightye great aboūdāce, that the weyght of brasse could not be rekened.

And Salomō made al the vessels that pertayned to thee house of God: the goulden aultar & the tables with the shew bred vpon thē, the candelsticks with their lampes to burne after ꝑ maner before the quere, and that of pure gould, and the floures and the lampes, & the snoffers were gould and that perfect gould: & the dressing knyues, basens, spoones and censers of pure goulde. And the ynner dores of the place moost holy, and the dores of the temple to, were gould. And so was al the worck that Salomon made for the house of the Lorde fynished.

And whē the worke ꝑ Salomon made in the house of the lord was fynesshed: thē Salomō brought in the giftes dedicat by Dauid his father, the syluer & the goulde and all the Jewelles, & put them amonge the treasure of the house of God.

¶ After the stone houses & the arcke were put in the temple, the glorye of the Lord fylled the temple.

The. v. Chapter.

THen Salomō gathered the el- A ders of Israel together & all ꝑ i.ti,xe.vii. & heades of the trybes and aun- ana.viii.aa cient Lordes among the chyldren of Israel, vnto Jerusalē: to bring the arke of the couenaunte of the Lord out of the cytie of Dauid whiche is Zion. And all the men of Israell resorted vnto the kinge in the feast of the seuenthe moneth. And whē al the elders of Israell B were come, the Leuites toke vp the Arcke And the prestes and the Leuites brought awaye the Arke and the tabernacle of witnesse, and all thee holye vesselles that were in the tabernacle. And kynge Salomon and all thee congregation of Israell that were assembled vnto him before the arcke offered shepe and oxen, so many that they coulde not be tolde or numbred for multitude.

And the Priestes brought the arke of ꝑ appoyntmēt of the Lord vnto his place in the quere of the tēple & place most holy: euē vnder the winges of ꝑ Cherubes, that the Cherubes stretched oute their winges ouer the place of the arke & couered ꝑ arke and her staues aboue on hye. And the staues of the arke, were so longe, ꝑ they were sene a little before the quere, but not farre without. And ther it remayneth vnto thys daye. Moreouer there was nothing in the arke saue the two tables whiche Moyses put therin at Horeb, whē the Lord made a couenaūt with the childrē of Israell, after they were come out of Egipte. And whē ꝑ C prestes were come oute of the holye place

(for al the prestes ꝑ were foūde sanctified thē selues & dyd not wayte by course) But the Leuites euery one of thē that were vn der Asaph, Heman & Iduthun, & amonge their childrē & brethrē, were arated in bisse & sange with Symbales, Psalteries & harpes stāding Eastwarde thē the aulter, & with thē an hundred .xx. prestes blowing trōpettes And the trompet blowers & the singers so agreed, that it semed but one voice in prayse singe and thanking the Lord. And as the voyce of the trōpettes, cymbales & instrumentes of melodye arose, * & as they praysed the Lord, how that he was good & that hys mercy lasteth euer, the house of ꝑ Lorde was fylled with a cloud: so that the prestes could not endure to mynister by ꝑ reason of the cloude. For the glorie of the Lorde had fylled the house of God.

¶ The wordes of Salomō to the people, & the prayer he made to God.

The .vi. Chapter.

THen Salomō sayd: the Lord hathe spoken it, howe that he wyl dwell in darkenesse. And I haue built an habitatiō for the & a place to dwel in for euer. And ꝑ kinge turned his face & blessed the hole cōgregation of Israel & al the cōgregation of Israell stode. And he sayde: blessed be the Lord God of Israel whych spake wyth hys mouth to my father Dauid & hathe fulfylled it wyth hys handes, for God sayde: sence the tyme I brought my people oute of the lande of Egipte, I chose no cytte among all the trybes of Israell to buylde an house in, that my name myght be ther, neyther chose I any mā to be a rueler ouer my people Israell. But now I haue chosen Ierusalem to haue my name there, and haue chosen Dauid to be ouer my people Israell.

And it was in the hert of Dauid my father to buyld an house for the name of the Lord God of Israel: But the Lord sayde to dauid my father: for asmoch as it was in thyne herte, to buylde an house for my name, thou diddest wel that thou haddest it in thyne hert. Notwithstādinge ꝑ shalte not buyld the house, but thy sonne whiche shal Issue out of thy loynes, he shal build an house for my name. And the Lord hath made good his sayinge ꝑ he hath spoken. for I arose in thee rowme of Dauid my father, & sate on the seate of Israel, as the Lord promised, & haue buylt an house for the name of the Lord God of Israel. And therin I haue put the arcke wherin the couenaūt of the Lord made with the childrē of Israel, is. And he stept forth before the aulter of the Lord in the presence of al the cōgregatiō of Israel, & stretched oute hys handes, now Salomō had made a brasen pulpyt of fyue cubytes long & fiue cubytes broade, & thre of heyght, & had set it in the middes of the great court, vpō that he stept & kneled down vpō his knees before al the cōgregatiō of Israel & stretched out his hādes to heauē & sayde: Lord God of Israel ther is no god like the ether in heuē or in erth, which kepest couenāte & shewest mercye vnto thy seruaūtes that walke before the with all theyr hertes. Which hast kepte wythe Dauid my father that thou promysedest hym: thou saydest it with thy mouthe and haste fulfylled it wyth thyne hande, as it is to se thys daye.

Now Lord God of Israel kepe vō thy seruaūt Dauid my father, ꝑ thou promisedest hym saying: * thou shalt not be wout one or other in my syght ꝑ shal sytt vpō ꝑ seate of Israel. Of this cōditiō yet, yf thy childrē wyll take heade to theyr wayes to walcke in my lawe, as thou haste walcked before me. Now Lord God of Israel lett thy saying be true, which thou saidest vnto thy seruaūt Dauid. Howbeit in very dede, can god dwel with mā on erth? Behold nether heauē or heauē aboue al heauēs is able to cōtayne the: howe shulde the house thē which I haue built for the doo it? But turne to the prayer of thy seruaūt & to hys supplicatiō (O Lord my god) to herkē vnto the voyce & prayer which thy seruaunt maketh before the. That thine eies be opē ouer this house day & night, & ouer ꝑ place of which thou hast sayd, that thou wolde put thy name ther: to herkē vnto ꝑ prayer which thy seruaunt prayeth at thys place: herkē therfore vnto the prayers of thy seruaūt and of thy people Israel, which they praye in this place. But heare thou it oute of thy dwelling place heauē: & whē ꝑ hearest it be mercyful. * If a mā sinne against his neyboure, and an adiuratiō be layd to his charge, to adiure hym Wal, & ꝑ adiuration ratiõ come before thine aulter in this house: thẽ heare thou frõ heauẽ, & worke & iudge thy seruaunts, that thou reward the euel and bringe his waye vpon his head, & iustefye the righteous & geue hym accordinge to hys ryghtwesnesse.

Lykewise yf thy people Israel be put to the worsse before theyr enemyes, because they haue synned agaynst the: Yet yf they turne & cõfesse thy name, & make intercessiõ & pray before ỹ in this house: thẽ heare thou frõ heauẽ & be mercyful vnto ỹ sinne of thy people Israel, & bringe thẽ agayne vnto the land whych thou gauest to them and to theyr fathers.

Yf heauen be shut vp, that ther be noo rayne, because thet haue sinned against ỹ: yet yf they praye at thys place and cõfesse thy name & turne from their synnes at thy scorginge, thẽ heare thou from heauẽ and be mercyful vnto the synne of thy seruaũtes & of thy people Israel, that thou shew thẽ a good way to walke in, & sende rayne vpõ thy land which thou hast geuen vnto thy people, for an enheritaunce.

Yf ther chaũce dearth in the lande, pestilẽce, burning or smiting of corne, grashoppers or caterpillers, or that theyr enemies besege thẽ in the cities of theyr owne lãde or whatsoeuer plage or sickenes it be. Thẽ al the supplications & prayers that shalbe made of al men among al thy people Israel, whych shal knowe euery man his owne sore and his owne greffe, and shal stretche out theyr hãdes towarde thys house: thou shalte heare frome heauen thy dwellynge place, and shalte be mercyfull, and geue euery man accordinge vnto all hys waye, euen as thou shalte knowe euery mannes herte: for thou onelye knoweste the hertes of thee chyldren of Adam: that they maye feare the and walke in thy wayes as long as they lyue vpon the earth, whyche thou gauest to our fathers.

Therto a straũger whiche is not of thy people Israel, yf he come frõ a farre land for thy greate names sake & thy myghtye hand and stretched out arme, and therfore come & pray at this house: thou shalt heare hym frõ heauẽ thy dwellinge place, & shalt do accordinge to al that ỹ straũger calleth to the for. That al the nacõs of the earthe may knowe thy name, & feare the, as doth thy people Israel: & that it may be knowẽ how that this house which I haue buylte, is called after thy name.

Whẽ thy people shal goo out to warre, agaynst their enemyes the waye that thou shalt send thẽ. Yf they pray to the, ỹ waye toward this cytie whych thou hast chosen, & house which I haue buylt for thy name thẽ heare frõ heauẽ, theyr supplicatiõ and prayer, & helpe them in theyr ryght.

Yf they shal synne agaynst the (as ther is no mã but that he shal synne) & thou be angrie with thẽ & delyuer thẽ to theyr enemies, & they leade thẽ awaye captyue vnto a land ferre or neare yet yf theyr hertes come to them agayne in the land where they be in captiuite, & turne and praye vnto the in the land where they be in captiuite, sayinge: we haue sinned & haue done euel and wekedly and turne agayne to the, wyth al their hertes & al theyr soules, in the lãde of theyr captiuite wher they be kept in bondage, and so praye toward theyr land whych thou gauest vnto their fathers, & citie whiche thou hast chosen, & to this house which I haue buylte for thy name. Then heare frõ heauen thy dwellinge place, theyr supplication & prayers & iudge theyr cause, & be mercyful vnto thy people, though they haue synned agaynst the.

So now my God let thyne eyes be opẽ & thyne eares attẽt vnto the prayers made in this place. And now vp lord God in thy resting place: both thou & the arcke of thy strength, & let thy priestes putt on victory and thy saynctes reioyse in goodnes. And Lord God turne not away the face of thyne anoynted: But remẽbre the mercies promysed to Dauid thy seruaunt.

¶ The fyre cõsumeth the sacrifyce. The Lorde appeareth to Salomon the seconde tyme.

The. vii. Chapter.

And when Salomon had made an ende of prayenge, there came downe fyre from heauẽ and consumed the burntofferinge and the sacrifices. And the glorye of the Lord fylled ỹ house: that the priestes coulde not goo in to the house of the Lorde, because the glorye of the Lorde hadde fulfylled thee house of thee Lorde. And al the chyldren of Israel sawe howe the fyre came downe and the glorye of the Lorde vpon the house, and stouped with theyr faces to the earth vpon the pauement & bowed them selues and cõfessed vnto the Lord, that he was good and that hys mercye lasted euer.

B And the kynge & all the people offered offringes before the Lord. So that kinge Salomon offred. xxii. thousand oxen, and an hundred and twentie thousande shepe. And so the kynge and all the people halowed the house of God. And the Pryestes wayted on theyr offyces, and the Leuytes wyth instrumentes of musyck of the Lorde whyche kynge Dauid made to confesse vnto the Lord that hys mercy lasteth euer when Dauid gaue prayse thorowe theyr hãdes. And the prestes blewe trompettes fast by them: & al Israel stode. Moreouer Salomõ halowed the middle of the court that was before the Lord: for ther he offered burntoffringes & the fatt of the peace offringes, because the brasen aulter which Salomon had made, was not able to receaue the burntoffringes and the meatoffertinges and the fatte.

And Salomõ kept a feast the same ceason of. vii. dayes & al Israel wyth him, an exceadinge great congregation, euẽ from Hemath vnto the ryuer of Egipt. And the eyght daye they made a geatheringe. For they kept the halowenge of the aulter. vii. dayes & the feast seuẽ dayes. And the. xxiii. daye of the seuenth moneth, he let the people departed into theyr tẽtes, glad & merie in hert for the goodnes that the Lord had shewed to Dauid, to Salomon & to Israell bis people. * And so Salomon kynysshed the house of the Lord and the kinges house and al that came in his hert to make in the house of the Lord and in hys owne house, and that prosperously.

And the Lord apeared to Salomon by night & said to him: I haue heard thy petició & haue chosen thys place for my self to be an house of sacrifyce. Moreouer yf I shut vp heauẽ that ther be no rayne, or yf I cõmaũde the locustes to deuoure ỹ land or yf I send pestilẽce amonge my people: yet yf my people that are named after my name, shall hũble thẽ selues & make intercessiõ & seke my presence, & turne frõ theyr wicked wayes, then wyl I heare frõ heauẽ and be mercyfull to theirsynnes, and wyl D heale theyr lande. Thereto myne eyes shal be opẽ & myne eares attent vnto ỹ prayers made in thys place. And finallye I haue chosen & sanctified this house, that my name be ther for euer, & myne eyes and myne hert shalbe there perpetually.

And yf ỹ shalt walke before me as Dauid thy father walked, to do accordinge to al that I haue cõmaũded the, & shalt obserue myne ordinaũces & my lawes, thẽ I wil stablysche the seat of thy kyngdome, accordinge to the couenaunt I made wyth Dauid thy father, saying: *thou shalt haue euer one or other that shall rule in Israell. But & yf ye turne awaye & forsake myne ordinaunces & my cõmaundemẽtes which I haue set before you, and shal go & serue other Gods and bowe your selues to thẽ: then wyl I plucke thẽ vp by the rotes out of my lande whych I haue geuen thẽ, & wyl cast this house which I haue sanctifyed for my name out of my syght, & wil make a prouerbe & a tale of it amõgal naciõs And this house that is so hye, shalbe a wõder to al that passeth therby that they shal saye: why hath the Lord dealt on this fassyon with this lãd & with this house? And it shalbe answered thẽ, because they forsoke the Lord God of theyr fathers whyche brought thẽ out of the land of Egipt, and caughte holde on other Gods, & bowed to them & serued thẽ: euen therfore brought he on them all thys euell.

*. ii. Reg. ix. a

*. ii. Par. vii. c

The Notes:

a ¶ The glorye of God filling the house, was as a visible cloude prefiguring that God ought to be preached, prayed and magnified thorow the whole world in ỹ congregation of the faithful, as he sayth Numeri. xiiii. d b ¶ Those ar cast out of the sight of god, which by the swertie of the flesche feare not to be cast oute. Math. vii. c. and Luke. xiii. f

¶ The cytyes that Salomõ bylded after the house of god was kynysshed

The. viii. Chapter.

AND after. xx. yere whẽ Salomon had buylte the house of the Lorde & his owne house: he buylte the cyties that Hirã gaue him, & put of the childrẽ of Israel in thẽ. And Salomõ wẽt to Hemath Zobah & strengthed it. And he built Thadmor in the wildernesse & al the store cyties whych he buylte in Hemath. And he buylt Bethhoron the vpper & Bethhoron the neyther, and made them strong cytyes wythe with walles gates & barres. And Baalath & al the stoare cities that Salomon had, & all ỹ charet cities & the cytyes of horsemē, B & all that Salomon had lust to buylde in Jerusalē and Libanon, & thorowout all ỹ lande of his dominion.

*. ii. Reg. xx. d

And al the people that were lefte of the Hethites, Amorites, Pherezites, Heuites & Jebusites, which were not of the childrē of Israel: euen the childzen of thē, whyche were lefte after them in the lande, & were not cōsumed of the chyldzen of Israel, thē did Salomō make tributaries vnto this day. But of ỹ chyldzē of Israel dyd Salomō make no bondemē in his worke: but they were mē of warre & rulers & great lordes w̄ him, & captaynes ouer his charetes and horsemen. And king Salomōs officers that ouersaw & ruled the people, were two hundzed and fyftie.

C And Salomō brought the daughter of Pharao out of ỹ citie of Dauid into ỹ house ỹ he had made for her. For he sayde: my wife shal not dwel in the house of Dauid king of Israel, for it is holye, because the Arcke of the Lord came into it.

And from thencefoorthe Salomon offered burntofferinges vnto the Lorde on ỹ aulter of the Lord which he had builte before the porche to offer daye by daye accordyng to the commaundement of Moses, in the sabbotes & newmones, and ỹ thre solempne feastes of the yere, the feaste of swete bread, the fest of wekes and ỹ feaste of bothes.

And Salomon put the sortes of preastes in companyes as Dauid hys father had ordered thē, vnto ỹ offyces, & the leuites vnto their wayte, for to prayse & minister before the preestes day by day, & ỹ porters by course at euerye gate. For so had D Dauid ỹ man of God cōmaunded. And ỹ cōmaundement of the kyng vnto the preestes & ỹ Leuites cōcernynge what soeuer cause it was, & concernynge the treasures, was not disobeyed.

And al the worke of Salomon wente lustely forwarde euē vnto the daye of the foundacion of the house of the Lord was leyde: & from thence till he had fynyshed it, that the house of the Lord was perfect. And then went kynge Salomon to Asiō Gaber and to Eloth and to the sees side in the lande of Edō. And Hiram sent him by the hande of his seruaūtes, shippes & seruaūtes that could skyl of the see: Whiche went with the seruauntes of Salomō to Ophir, & brought thence foure hundzed & fyftye talentes of gould, and brought it to kynge Salomon.

¶ The cōmunicacion of Salomon wythe the quene of Saba, & the giftes that the one gaue ỹother. The deeth of Salomō: after whom succeadeth Rehoboā

The.ix. Chapter.

AND ỹ quene of Saba hearde of the fame of Salomō & came to proue him wyth ryddels at Jerusalē, with a very great companie, and with camelles ỹ bare swete odoures and plentie of gould and precious stone. And when she was come too Salomon, she communed withe hym of all that was in her herte. And Salomon soyled her all her questyons, that there was nothynge hyd from Salomon, which he tolde her not. A i. regum. x. & Mat. xii. d. Luke. xi. d

And when the quene of Saba had sene the wysdome of Salomon and the house that he had built, and the meate of hys table and the sitting of his seruauntes & the standynge of hys waiters, and theyr apparell, and hys battelars with theyr apparel, and hys parloure out of which he wēte in to the house of ỹ Lord, ther was no moare herte in her.

B And thē she sayd to ỹ kyng: the sayinge which I heard in mine owne lād, of thyne actes and of thy wisdom, is trueth. But I beleued not ỹ wordes of thē, vntil I came & mine eies had sene it. And se, ỹ one halfe of thy wysdom was not told me: thou exceadest the fame that I heard, happye are thy mē, & happye are these thy seruauntes which stād before ỹ all way and heare thy wysdom. Blessed be ỹ lord thy god whych had lust to the, to make the kynge on hys seat, vnto the Lord thy God. Because thy god loued Israel, to make them continew euer, therfore made he the kyng ouer them to do right and equyte.

And she gaue ỹ king an hūdzed and.xx talētes of gould, and of swete odoures exceadyng great aboūdaunce w̄ precyouse stones, ỹ ther was no soche swete odoures as the quene of Saba, gaue kynge Salomō. And therto the seruaūtes of Hirā and the seruaūtes of Salomō which brought C gould

goulde from Ophir, brought also* Algu or, Almug. of whych iii. Reg. x. b ine wood and precious stones. And ỹ kin ge made of the Algume wood steyares in ỹ house of the lord and in the kinges palace, and harpes & psalteryes for syngers.
And there was no soche wood sene before
P in the land of Juda. And kinge Salomō gaue to ỹ quene of Saba all her desyre ỹ she asked aboue ỹ she brought vnto ỹ kin ge. And so she turned & wēt awaye to her owne land with her seruauntes.

The summe of gould ỹ came to Salo mō in one yere, was syxe hundred. lxvi. ta-lentes of goulde, besydes that which chap men and marchauntes brought, and all ỹ kynges of Arabia and dukes of countrey es brought goulde & syluer to Salomon.
And kyng Salomon made two hundred bokelars of goulde, vi. hundred sycles of Bete gould to a bokelar: & iii. hūdred shil des of Bete gould, thre hundred sicles of gould to a shilde, & he put thē in the house of the forest of Libanon.

And ỹ kyng made a great seate of Iuo E rie and ouerlaide it with pure gould. And ther were syxe steppes to the seate w a fote stole of goulde fastened to ỹ seat: and pomelles on eche syde of ỹ syttinge place, & two lyōs standynge by the pomelles. And
xii. lyons stode on the one syde & on the other, vpon syxe steppes, ỹ ther was no soch in any kyngedome.

And al the drynckyng vesselles of kin-ge Salomon were gould, & al the vessels of the house of ỹ forest of Libanon, were pure gould. And as for syluer, it was coū ted nothyng worthe in ỹ dayes of Salomon. For ỹ kinges shippes wēt * to Thar sis w the seruauntes of Hiram euery thre yere once. And the shippes of Tharsis brought gould, siluer, ỹ tethe of elephantes, apes and pecockes.

Some rede to the see The Chald into Aphri ca. nota Apes and

And kyng Salomon passed all ỹ kyn-
F ges of the erthe in rychesse and wysdome.
And all the kinges of the erthe soughte ỹ presence of Salomon, to heare the wisdō that god had put in hys herte. And they brought euery man his present in vessels of syluer & vesselles of goulde, and raymē te, harnes, swete odoures, horses & mules yere by yere.

And Salomō had foure thousand maū gers of horsses & charettes for them, & xii.
thousand horsemē. And he bestowed thēin
ỹ charet cities & with ỹ kinge at Jerusalē.
And he raygned ouer al the kinges from Euphrates vnto the land of the Philistīnes & so to ỹ borders of Egipte. * And the kyng made siluer in Jerusalē as plēteous as stones, & Cedar trees as plētyouse as ỹ mulbery trees that growe in the valeyes.
And Salomō had horses brought hym out of Egypte and out of al landes.

G
iii. regū. x. d
ii. Para. i. d

* And the rest of ỹ actes of king Sa- i. iii. Re. xi. g lomō both fyrst and last ar writtē in ỹ boke of Nathan the Prophete and in the pro phesye of Ahiah the Silonite and in ỹ visyons of Jadi the sear of vysyōs against Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat. And whē Salomon had raygned in Jerusalē vpō al Israell fourtye yeres, he layed hym to rest with his father, & was buried in ỹ citie of Dauid his father, & Rehoboā his sōne raygned in his steade.

¶ The folishnes of Rehoboam, and the deuision of hys realme.

The x. Chapter.

A
iii. reg. xii. a

AND Rehoboam went to Si-chē: for to Sichē were al Israel come to make hym king.
And when Jeroboam the sō-ne of Nabat, beyng in Egipt harde it (for he was fled for feare of Sa lomon the kynge) he returned oute of Egypt. And they sēt and called hym. And so Jeroboā and al Israell came & comuned with Rehoboam & said. Thy father made vs a greuouse youcke: but remytte thou somewhat of the greuouse seruyce of thy father & of hys heuye youcke that he put vpō vs, & we wyll serue ỹ. And he sayd to them: come agayne after thre dates to me.
And the people departed.

And kynge Rehoboam counceled with B
ỹ elders that stode before Salomō his fa ther, while he lyued, & sayde: what councel geue ye me, to answere this people again.
And they tolde him sayinge: If ỹ shalt be kinde to this people & please them & shalt speake louynge wordes to them, they wyl be thy seruauntes for euer. But he left the councell whyche the elders gaue hym, and tooke councell wythe the youngemen that were nurced vp w hym & had stande in hys presence, & sayde to them: what ad uise geue ye ỹ I may answere this people whych

nota Rehoboam comuchyd
w the elders / & for soke their counsell / & toke youngemens

Abiah. which haue cõmuned wyth me saying: Abate somewhat of ỹ youcke which thy father dyd put vpon vs.

C And the yoũg men that were nurced vp with him talked vñto hym saytnge: thus answere the people that spake to the saying. Thy father made our youcke heuye: But make thou our youcke somewhat lighter. Thus wyse answere them: my litle fynger shalbe heuier thẽ my fathers loines. * For wher my father put a heuie yock vpõ you I wil put more therto, & where my father chastised you wñ whippes, I wyl chastyce you with scorpions.

And whẽ Jeroboam and al Israel were come ỹ thyrde day, as ỹ king bade saying: come againe to me ỹ thyrde day. The king answered thẽ cruelly, for kynge Rehoboã left the councel of the aged mẽ, & answered thẽ after ỹ aduise of the yoũg men saying. If my father made your youck greuouse, I wil adde therto, & wher my father chastised you with whippes, I wil chastyce you with scorpions. And so the kyng herkened not vnto the people, for the turnyng away was of God, ỹ ỹ Lorde might make good hys saying which he spake by the hand of Ahiah the Silonite to Jeroboam the sõne of Nabat.

D And when al Israel saw that the king wold not heare them, the people answered the kynge, sayinge: what parte haue we with Dauid or enheritaunce wñ the sonne of Isai? let euery man of Israel go to his tent. * And now Dauid se to thyne owne house. And therupon al Israell get them to their tentes, so that Rehoboam raigned ouer no moo of the chyldren of Israel thẽ dwelt in the cytyes of Juda. Then kynge Rehoboã sent to thẽ Haduram that was ouer ỹ tribute, & ỹ chyldrẽ of Israel stoned him with stones that he died. But kynge Rehoboam made spede and gat hym vp to hys charet to flye to Jerusalem. And so Israel departed from the house of Dauid vnto thys daye.

¶ Rehoboam is forbidde to fight against Jeroboã. He hathe xviii wyues and thre score cõcubines: & by them. xxviii. sonnes. and. lx. score daughters.

The. xi. Chapter.

A Nd whẽ Rehoboã was come to Jerusalẽ, he gethered of ỹ house of Dauid & Beniamin to ỹ nũbre of. iv. score thousãde chosse mẽ of warre to fight with Israel, for to bryng the kyngedome againe to Rehoboam. But ỹ word of the Lord came to Semeiah the man of god saying: speake vnto Rehoboã the sonne of Salomon king of Juda & to al Israel ỹ ar in Juda, and to Beniamin and say: thus saith ỹ lorde. Go not nor fight wñ your brethrẽ: But returne euerye man to hys house, for thys thyng is done of me. And they obeyed the wordes of the Lord & turned from goyng agaynst Jeroboam.

And Rehoboam dwelt in Jerusalem, & buylt stronge cytyes in Juda: as Bethlehem, Etam & Thekua: Bethzur, Socho & Odollam: Geth, Mareshah & Ziph: Aduraim, Lachis and Azecah: Zarah Aialon and Hebron. Which were the strõg cities of Juda and Ben Jamin. And when he had repayred soche stronge cytyes he put captaynes in thẽ and store of vitaile, & oyle & of wyne. And he ordened in all cytyes shildes & speares, & made them exceadynge stronge. And so Juda and Ben Jamin were vnder him.

And the preastes & the Leuites ỹ were in all Israell resorted to hym, oute of all their costes. In so moch that ỹ Leuites left their Suburbes & possessyons & came to Juda and Jerusalem: for Jeroboam & hys sonnes had cast them oute from mynistrynge vnto the Lord. * And he ordeined him prestes of hilaulters both to feldedeuelles and also to the calues which he had made. And after them ther came of al ỹ tribes of Israel (soch as their hertes moued thẽ to seke the Lord God of Israel) to Jerusalẽ to offer vnto the lord god of theyr fathers. And so they strẽgthened the kingdom of Juda and made Rehoboam the sõne of Salomõ myghtye thre yere longe, for thre yere they walked in the waye of Dauid and Salomon.

And Rehoboam toke hym Mahalath the daughter of Jerimoth the sõne of Dauid to wyfe, and Abihail the daughter of Eliab the sonne of Jsai, whych bare hym chyldrẽ: Jeus, Samariah & Zahã. And after her he tooke Maacah ỹ daughter of Absalom whyche bare him Abiah, Ethai, ziza & Salumith. But Rehoboam loued Maacah the daughter of Absalõ aboue al his other wyues and concubynes for he toke toke.xviii.wiues & thre score concubines. and begat thre score daughters & .xxviii. sones. And Reboboā made Abiah the sonne of Maacah the cheke ruler among hys brethren, for to make hym kynge. And he plated wisely & skatered of al hys chyldrē thorow out all the countreys of Juda & Beniamin in euery stronge cytye. And he gaue them aboundaūce of vitaile, and asked manye wyues.

¶ Sesak kyng of Egipt robeth the tēple of ꝑ lord Reboboam dieth & Abiah his sonne succedeth hym.

The.xii. Chapter.

AND when Reboboā had stablished the kyngdom, & made it strong he forsoke ꝑ law of the Lord, & all Israel with hym, * wherefore ꝑ fyfte yere of kynge Reboboam, Sesac the kynge of Egypte came vp agaynst Jerusalem because thei had trāsgressed against ꝑ Lord with twelue hundred charetes & thre score thousande horsemen. And the people were wythoute numbre that came wythe hym out of Egypt, with them of Libia, & the* Succhites and the blacke Moores. And they toke the strōg cities that were in Juda and came to Jerusalem.

A ii.ee,vii.b

* Some rede troglodites

Then came Semeiah the Prophet to Reboboam & to the Lordes of Juda that were geathered to Jerusalem for feare of Sesac, & sayde to thē: thus sayth the Lorde, ye haue lefte me, & therfore will I leue you also in ꝑ handes of Sesac. Wherupon the Lordes of Israel and the kyng hūbled them selues & sayd: the Lord is rygh teous. And when the Lord saw that they submitted thē selues, ꝑ worde of ꝑ Lorde came to Semeiah saying: they meke them selues, and therefore I wyll not destroye them. But I wyl delyuer them somwhat, and my wrath shall not fal vpō Jerusalē. Neuerthelater they shall be hys seruauntes, to knowe what dyfference is betwene my seruyce and the seruyce of the kyngedomes of other landes.

B

C And Sesac kynge of Egipte came to Jerusalem and toke awaye the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the treasures of the kinges house, & shortly he toke all. And he toke also ꝑ shildes of gould which Salomō made. In stead of which kynge Reboboam made shildes of brasse, & put thē in the keping of the captaynes of his gard which waited in the gate of the kinges house. And as ofte as ꝑ kyng wēt to ꝑ house of the lord, ꝑ garde wēt & fet them, & brought thē agayne vnto ꝑ garde chābre. And so because he humbled hym selfe, the wrath of ꝑ lord turned frō him, & destroyed not al together. And thereto there were many good thynges yet in Juda.

And kyng Reboboā waxed myghty in Jerusalē & raigned. And Reboboā was. xli. yere olde whē he was made kyng, & he raygned. xvii. yeres in Jerusalem the citie which the lord had chosē out of al ꝑ tribes of Israel to put hys name there. And hys mothers name was Naamah an Ammonite. * And he dyd euel: for he prepard not his hert to seke the Lorde.

D

ii.ee,viii.c

The actes of Reboboam fyrst and last are writtē in the sayinges of Semeiah ꝑ Prophete & of Ado the sear of visions, so moche as his genealogye and the perpetu all warre that was betwene Reboboam & Jeroboam during their lyfe. And Reboboā layd hī to slepe w hys fathers & was buried in ꝑ citie of Dauid, & Abiah his sōne raygned in hys steade.

¶ The vyctorye of Abiah agaynst Jeroboam.

The.xiii. Chapter.

IN the.xviii. yere of kyng Jeroboam begā Abiah to raygne ouer Juda, & he raigned thre yere i Jerusalē. His mothers name was Michaiah ꝑ daughter of Uziel of Gabaah. And ther was warre betwene Abiah and Jeroboā. And Abiah made a battel wyth an host of fyghtyng men of foure hundred thousand chosen men. And Jeroboam put in araye to fyght agaynst him, w. viii. hundred thousand pycte men and stronge.

A iii.ee,xv.a

And Abiah stode vp vpō Zemaraim an hil in moūt Ephraim & said: heare me ꝑ Jeroboā and al Israel. Becomethe it not you to know how that the lord god of Israel gaue ꝑ kingdom of Israel to Dauid for euer, euē to hym & to his sonnes, wyth a *salted couenaunt. But Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat the seruaunt of Salomō the sonne of Dauid, rebelled agaynst the Lord. And there geathered to hym lewde men and vnthryftes, and preuayled agaynst Reboboā ꝑ sōne of Salomon: for Reho=

B

* Of thys Num. xviii

Reboboam was younge and tender harted & not stronge ynough for them.

And now ye thinke to preuayle agaynst the kyngdō of the Lord in the hand of the sonnes of Dauid, because ye be a greate multitude & haue wyth you the golden calues which Jeroboam made you for Gods And haue ye not cast out the prestes of the Lorde the sonnes of Aaron, and the Leuites, & haue made you Prestes lyke the nacyons of other landes: euen whosoeuer cometh and fylleth hys hande wyth an ox & seuē rammes, the same is made Priest to them that are no Gods.

C But with vs is the Lord our God whō we haue not forsaken, & the prestes of the sonnes of Aarō ministring vnto the Lord & the Leuites in offyce, burninge vnto the Lord euery morning & euery euē burntofferinges & swete cense: & the shew bred put in order vpō a pure table: & the candelsticke of gould wyth the lampes of the same, to be lyght euery euē. For we kepe the watche of the Lord our God: but ye haue forsaken hym. Moreouer se, God is with vs in the forewarde, and hys prestes, and the rorīng trompettes to crye alarum against you. Ye chyldren of Israel fyght not with the Lorde God of your fathers: for it wyl not prosper wyth you.

But for al that Jeroboam sent mē pryuely about to come behinde vpon thē: & so they were before Juda, and thee layers in wayte were behind thē. And whē Juda turned & sawe the battel behind & before, they cryed vnto the Lord, & the Prestes blewe the trōpettes and the men of Juda gaue a showte. And as the men of Juda showted
D god smote Jeroboā & al Israel before Abiah & Juda. And ỹ children of Israel fled before Juda, & the lord deliuered thē into the handes of Juda. And Abiah & his people slue a great slaughter of thē: so ỹ ther were strikē downe dead of Israel. v. C. M. chosen menē. And so the children of Israel were brought vnder at ỹ tyme, & the chyldrē of Juda preuayled: because they leaned vnto the Lord god of their fathers. And Abiah folowed after Jeroboā & wāne certaine cities frō him: Bethel with the townes belōging therto, & Jesanah with the townes that longed therto, & Ephrō with her townes. And Jeroboam recouered not strēgth agayne in the dayes of Abiah. And at the last the Lord plaged hym, that he dyed.

And Abiah waxed mightie, & toke hym xiiii. wyues, & begat. xxii. sonnes and. xvi. daughters. The rest of the actes of Abiah and hys wayes & hys doynges are writtē in the storie of thee Prophete Ado. And when Abiah was layde to slepe wyth hys fathers, they buryed hym in thee cytye of Dauid, and Asa his sonne raygned in his steade. In whose dayes the lande was quyet ten yeare.

Abiah dieth after whom succedeth Asa

The. xiiii. Chapter.

A Nd Asa dyd that was good & ryght in the eyes of the Lorde A hys God, and toke awaye the iii. reg. xv. b aultars of straungers and the hyaulters, & brake the Images and cutte downe the groues, and commaunded Juda to seke the Lorde God of theyr fathers and to do accordīng to the law & commaūdement. And he put away out of al the cytties of Juda, the hiaulters & the ydolles: for the kingdome was quyet before hym. And he buylte stronge cytyes in Juda: because the lande was in reste, and he hadde no warre in those yeres. For the Lord had geuen hym reste.

And therfore he sayd to Juda: lette vs B
buyld these cyties and compasse thē wyth walles & towres, gates & barres, while we haue the land quyet. For we haue soughte the Lord oure God: and because we haue sought hym, he hath geuen vs rest on euery side. And so they built & prospered. And Asa had an Armye that bare shyld & spere oute of Juda thre hundred thousand, and out of Ben Jamin that bare shylde & drue bowes two hundred and. lxxx. thousand, & were al stronge men.

And ther came out against thē Zarah the C
Morian with an Host of. x. hūdred thousand, & thre hundred charettes, & came as ferre of Maresa. And Asa wēt out to him & they put in araye to battell in the valeye of Zephatah beside Maresa. And Asa cryed vnto the Lord his God & sayd: Lorde it is all one wyth the to helpe them that haue no power, wyth fewe or with manye helpe vs O Lorde oure God, for we trust to the, and in thyne name be come agaynst thys multitude. Thou arte the Lorde oure

God.

Jehosa-
phat.

God, let not man preuayle agaynst the.

And the Lord smote the blacke Moores before Asa & Juda, that they fled. And Asa & ỹ people that was with him, folowed after thẽ as ferre as Gerar. And ỹ blacke Moores were ouerthrowen, that there bode none a lyue of thẽ, but were destroyed of ỹ Lorde & of his Hoste. And they caryed awaye a myghtye greate praye. And they smote al the cities roũd about Gerar. For the feare of the Lord came vpon thẽ. And they robbed al the cities for ther was exceding moch to be robbed in them. And ther to they smote the tẽtes of cattel and caried awaye plentie of shepe and camelles, & returned to Jerusalem.

¶ King Asa by the monition of the Prophet Azariah after he had put downe the Idolles, sacrificeth to the Lord. He deposeth his mother of her dominion.

The.xv. Chapter.

A And the spyryte of God came on Azariah the sõne of Obed And he wẽt out agaynst Asa & sayd to him: heare me Asa & al Juda & Ben Jamin. The Lord is wyth you, whyle ye be wyth hym, and yf ye shal seke him, he wylbe found of you: but & yf ye shall forsake hym he wyll forsake you. Ther wyll come many dayes in Israel, in which ther shalbe no true god nor Priest that teacheth, nor any law. And in theyr tribulation they shall turne vnto the Lord God of Israel & shall seke hym, and he shalbe found of them. And in those dayes ther shalbe no peace to thẽ that goo out and in. But great veration vpõ the enhabiters of al landes. For one nacion shal destroye another, & one cytye another: for God wyl trowbce them wyth al aduersyte

B But plucke you vppe your hertes and lett not your handes faynte, for youre workes shalbe rewarded.

When Asa hearde those wordes & thee Prophesye of Azariah the sonne of Obed the Prophete, he toke courage & put away the abhominations oute of al the lande of Juda and Ben Jamin, & out of the cyttes whych he wãne in mounte Ephraim, & renued the aulter of the Lorde that was before the porche of the Lord. And he gathered al Juda & Ben Jamin, and the straungers with them out of Ephraim, Manasseh & Simeon. For ther fel many to hym out of Israel, whẽ they saw that god was wyth hym. And they assembled at Jerusalem the thyrde moneth of the fyftene yeare of the raygne of Asa. And they offred vnto the Lorde that same tyme of the spoyle whych they had brought. vii. hũdred oxen and. vii. thousand shepe.

C And they made a couenaunt to seke the Lord God of theyr fathers, wyth all theyr hertes and all theyr soules: so that all that sought not the Lorde God of Israel, shulde die for it, whether he were smal or great man or woman. And they sware vnto ỹ Lorde wyth a loude voyce and showtinge and wyth trompettes and hornes. And all Juda reioysed in thee othe, for they hadde sworne wyth all theyr hartes, and sought hym wyth al theyr luste, and he was foũd of them. And the Lorde gaue them reste rounde aboute.

D And therto kynge Asa putte Maacah hys mother oute of auctorite, because she had made an ydole in a groue: and brake downe her ydole & stampte it & burnt it by the broke Cedrõ. But they put not the hyl aulters oute of Israell: neuertheless thee herte of Asa was pure al hys lyfe. And he brought into the house of God the dedicat gyftes which he & his father had dedicate in gould, syluer and other Jewelles. And there was nomore warre vnto thee. xxxv. yeare of the raygne of Asa.

The Notes

& To sweare vnto the Lord. is to geue thy self wholly to hym wyth a pure herte: which thyng true worshyppers do, as is sayde of Dauid. Psa. cxxxi. a But to sweare by thee Lorde. is to call on the name of the Lorde as a wytnesse and Judge, as it is sayd Josue. ii, c ¶ Asa, for feare of Baasa king of Israel: maketh a couenaunt wyth Benhadad king of Syria.

The.xvi. Chapter.

A In the. xxxvi. yere of the raygne of Asa, came Baasa kinge of Israel agaynst Juda and buylt Ramah, to the entent ỹ he wolde let none that pertayned to Asa king of Juda, haue passage in and out. Wher vpon Asa fet out syluer & gould out of the treasures of the house of the Lorde and of the kinges house, & sent it to Benhadad king of Syria, that dwelt at Damasco, and sayde. There is a confederation betwene me and the, & so was betwene my father and thyne, wherfore I haue sent the syluer and gould, that thou go and breake thyne apoyntmẽt with Baasa king

nota good kyng Asa & yet offred to the house

B kinge of Israell, ꝙ he may depart frō me. And Bēhadad graūted vnto king Asa, & sent the captaynes of his armie agaynst ꝙ cytics of Israel. And they bet Aion, Dan, Abelmaim & al the stoze cities of Nephtha li. And whē Baasa heard that, he left buil ding of Ramah & let his wozke ceasc. And then Asa the kyng toke all Juda & caryed awaye & stones & tymber of Ramah wher wyth Baasa was a buyloyng: & he buylte therwyth Gabaa and Mazphah.

C At that same tyme Hanani ꝙ seat, came to Asa king of Juda & said to him: becau se ꝙ trustest in ꝙ king of Syria, & trustest not in the Lozd thy god, therfoze is ꝙ hoste of the king of Syria escaped out of thine hand. Were not the blacke mozes & thet of Libia a great hoste with exceding manye charettes and hozsemen? And yet because thou trustedest in the Lozde, he delyuered thē into thyne hādes. Foz ꝙ eyes of ꝙ Lozd behold al the erth, to strengthe the hertes of thē that ar hole wyth him. Herin thou hast done folyshly, & therfoze from henceforth ꝙ shalte haue warre. Wherupon Asa was D wroth w the sear & put him in the conuer ting house, foz he was displesed wyth hym because of that. Moreouer Asa oppzessed certayne of the people the same season.

The dedes of Asa both fyzst & last, are wzittē in the boke of the kinges of Juda and Israel. And the. xxxix. yere of his raig ne Asa fel sicke of his fete, & that his disea se exceaded. And therto in hys sickneste he asked no councel of the Lozd, but of Phi sycions. And at the last Asa fel on slepe w hys fathers and dyed when he had raygned. xli. yeare. And they buryed hym in his owne sepulchze whyche he had made in the cytie of Dauid, and layed hym in the bed whych he had fylled wythe swete odoures of diuerse kindes, made by the craft of the potecaryes. And they dyd exceding greate coste aboute burienge of hym. noto great cost

nota

¶ Iehosaphat succedeth after Asa, whyche causeth the feare of the Lozd to be renued amōg the people.

The. xvii. Chapter.

A ND Iehosaphat his sōne raigned in his stede & was mighttier thē Israell. And he putte souldioures in al the stronge cities of Juda, & sette rulers both in the land of Juda & also in the cy ties of Ephzaim which Asa his father had wonne. And the Lozde was with Iehosa phat, because he walked in the olde wayes of his father Dauid, & sought not Baals But sought the Lozd god of hys father & walked in his cōmaundementes & not af ter the doyinges of Israell. Therfoze the Lozd stablished the kingdō in his hand, & al Juda bzought him pzesentes, that he be came exceading riche & glozious. And his B herte was cozageous in thee wayes of the Lozd, & he put downe yet moze of the hyl aulters and groues out of Juda.

And the thyzde yeare of hys raygne he sent of his Lozdes: Benhail, Abdiah, Za chariah, Nathanael & Michaah to teache in the cities of Juda: & with thē Semeiah Nathaniah, Zabadiah, Asahel, Semira moth, Ichonathan, Adoniah, Thobiah & Thobodoniah Leuites: & wyth them Eli sama & Iozam Priestes. And they taught in Juda, & had the boke of the lawe wyth thē, & wēt about thozowoute al the cytyes of Juda and taught the people.

And the feare of the Lozd fel vpō al the C kingdōs of ꝙ lādes that were roūde about Juda, that thet durst not warre with Jeho saphat. And ꝙ Philistines bzought Icho saphat giftes & tribute siluer. And therto the Arabiens bzought him of shepe, seuen thousand & .vii. C. rāmes, & seuē thousand and .vii. C. he gootes. And so Iehosaphat pzospered & grue vp on hye. And he builte in Juda, castels & stoze cyties. And he had great substāce in ꝙ cities of Juda, & fighttinge men & men of mightte in Jerusalem.

And thys is thee ozder in the houses of D theyr fathers, of the captaynes ouer thou sandes in Juda: Ednah the captayne and with him of fighting men. iii. hūdzed thou sand. And next to him Iehohanan a capi tayne and with him. ii. hūdzed & .lxxx. thou sand. And by his syde Amaziah the sonne of Zechzi willinge vnto the Lozd, & wyth him. ii. hūdzed thousand mightte mē. And of the childzen of Bē Jamin, Eliada was a man of myght, and had with him armed with bowes and shildes. ii. hundzed thou sande. And by hys syde Iehosabad wyth whō were an hundzed and .lxxx. M. trym med foz warre. These wayted on the king besydes those which the kyng had putt in stronge cyties thozowout al Juda.

After Ahab had asked counsel of the foure hundred Prophetes, he putt Michaiah in prison. He dieth with the shot of an Arrowe.

The .xviii. Chapter.

A 2 Chr. 22. a

AND Iehosaphat became very ryche and glorious, & joyned affinite wyth Ahab. And after certayne yeares he went downe to Ahab to Samaria. And Ahab slue shepe & oxen plenteously for hym & for the people that came wyth him, and entreated him to go vp vnto Ramoth in Galaad. And Ahab kynge of Israell sayd to Iehosaphat kyng of Iuda: wylte thou go wyth me to Ramoth in Galaad? And he answered hym, I wylbe as thou, and my people shalbe as thine and we wil be with the in the warre.

But Iehosaphat sayd vnto the king of Israell: aske I praye the, the worde of the B Lord. And the kinge of Israel geathered together of the Prophetes foure hundred men, & said vnto them: shal we go to Ramoth in Galaad to fyghte, or shal I cease? And they sayd, go: the Lord shal deliuer it into the kinges hande. And Iehosaphat sayd, is ther yet here neuer a Prophete more of the Lordes, that we mighte aske of hym? And the kyng of Israell sayde to Iehosaphat, there is yet one, to aske the Lord by hym: But I hate hym, for he neuer prophesieth me good, but alwaye euel, one Michaiah the sonne of Iemla. And Iehosaphat said: let let not the kyng saye so.

Then the kinge of Israel called one of hys chamberlaynes & sayd: fetch hether quickely Michaiah the sonne of Iemla. And the kinge of Israell & Iehosaphat kynge of Iuda sate ether of them on his seate in their C apparell, in a threshinge flowre besyde the gate of Samaria, & al the Prophetes prophesienge before them. And one Zedekiah the sonne of Chananah made him hornes of yron and sayde, thus sayeth the Lorde: wyth these thou shalt wynowe Syria vntyll thou hast brought them to nought. And all the Prophetes prophesyed euen so sayinge: Go vp to Ramoth in Galaad & prosper, for the Lord shall delyuer it into the hande of the kynge.

And the messenger that went to call Michaiah, spake to him saying: behold, the wordes of the Prophetes are pleasaunt to the kynge wyth one assent, lette thy wordes I praye the, be lyke one of theyrs, & speake y which is pleasaunt. And Michaiah sayde: as truly as the Lord lyueth, euen what my God sayth, that wyl I speake. And when he was come to the kynge, the kinge sayde to him: Michaiah, shal we goo to Ramoth in Galaad to fyght, or shal I be in rest? And he answered: go ye & prosper, for the Lord shal deliuer it into youre handes. But the king sayd to him: how often tymes shal I D adiure the that thou saye nothing but truth to me, in the name of the Lorde.

Then he sayd: I se al Israel skattered in the mountaines, as shepe that haue no shepherde And the Lord sayd: these haue no mayster lett them returne euery man to hys house in peace. Then sayd the king of Israel to Iehosaphat, did I not tel the, that he woulde not prophecye good vnto me, but euel?

And he answered: therfore heare ye the worde of the Lord. I saw the Lord syt vpon his seat, & all the companye of heauen standing on his right hand & on his left. And the lord sayd: who shal deceaue Ahab kynge of Israel, that he may go & be ouerthrowen at Ramoth in Galaad. And whyle one E sayd thus & another that, there came out a spirite & stode before the Lord & sayde: I wyl deceaue him. And the Lord said to him, how? And he said: I wil go out & wylbe a lyinge spirite in the mouthes of al his prophetes. And the Lord sayd, thou shalt deceaue him & shalt preuayle, go out & do euen so And now behold the Lord hath put a lying spirite in the mouthes of all these thy prophetes, & yet the lord hath spoken euel against F the. And Zedekiah the sonne of Chananah, went to & smote Michaiah vpon the cheke, & sayd: by what way went the spirite of the lord from me, to speake in the? And Michaiah sayd thou shalt se the day when thou shalt runne from chambre to chambre, for to hyde thy selfe. Then sayd the king of Israel, take ye Michaiah & deliuer hym to Amon the gouernour of the citie, & to Joas the kinges sonne & say, thus sayth the king: put this felow in prison, & fede him with bread & water of tribulation vntyl I come agayne in peace. And Michaiah sayd: yf thou come agayne in peace, the hath not the Lord spoken in me. And Michaiah said moreouer, herken to ye people euery one of you. And so the king of Israel & Iehosaphat the king of Iuda went vp to

Ramoth

to Ramoth in Galaad. The̅ said the king of Israel to Jehosaphat: chaũge the & get the to battel, but sey̆ thou haue thine owne
G apparel vpon the. And the king of Israel chaũged him self, & thei wẽt to battel. But the kinge of Siria cõmaunded the cappytaynes of hys charettes saynge: se that ye fyght not agaynst small or great, saue agaynst the kyng of Israel onely.

And whẽ the captaynes of the charettes saw Jehosaphat, they had wẽt he had ben y̆ king of Israel, & therfore cõpased about him, to fight. But Jehosaphat cryed out, & the Lord holpe him, & God tyred them away frõ him. For whẽ the captaynes of y̆ charettes perceaued y̆ it was not the king of Israel, they turned backe agayne from him. And a certẽ mã drew hys bowe ignoraũtly & smote the king of Israel betwene the toyntes of his habergyne. And he said to the charet mã, turne thine hand & carye me out of the hoste, for I am hurt. And the battel arose that day. Howbeit the king of Israel cõtinued standing in hys charet agaynst the Syriens vntyl euẽ. And about the sunne goinge downe he dyed.

The Notes.

a‡ Thys speaketh the Prophete by an Ironye, that is, inderision or mockage: and therby tawnteth as it were the false Prophetes whych hadde falsely Prophecyed vnto thee kynge, as ye se here and iii. Regum. xxii. c

¶ After Jehosaphat was rebuked by the prophete Jehu, he called agayne the people to the honorynge of the Lorde God.

The. xix. Chapter.

AND Jehosaphat king of Juda returned to his house safe & sound to Jerusalẽ. And Jehu the sõne of Hanani y̆ sear wẽt out agaynst him & sayde to king Jehosaphat: oughtest thou to help the wicked, & to loue thẽ that hate the Lord In this verely is the wrath of y̆ Lord vpõ the. Neuerthelater there are good thinges found in the, in y̆ thou hast put away groues out of the land, & hast prepared thyne
B hert to seke god. And as Jehosaphat dwelte at Jerusalẽ, he wẽt to agayne & went amõge the people frõ Berlabe to mouñte Ephraim, & brought thẽ agayne vnto y̆ Lord God of theyr fathers. And he sett iudges in the land, thorowout al the stroñge cyties of Juda, citie by citie, & said to the iudges take hede what ye do for ye be not iudges ☞ in the lawe of mã, but of god, which is with you in the wordes of the lawe. Wherfore let the feare of the Lord be with you, & take hede & do it. For ther is no vnrightwisnesse in the Lord our God * nor regarding of persones, nor taking of rewardes. C ☞ Roma. ii. b. actuũ. x. e Eph. vi. b Coloss. iii. 9

Moreouer in Jerusalẽ did Jehosaphat set of the Leuites & of the prestes & of the aũciẽt heades of Israel, ouer the customes of the lord & causes of strife. And thẽ they returned agayne to Jerusalẽ. And he charged thẽ sayng: do euẽ so in the feare of the lord w̃ truth & pure hert. And whatsoeuer D come to you of your brethrẽ y̆ dwel in their cities, betwene bloud & bloud, law, cõmaũdemẽt, ordinaũces & customes: se y̆ ye warne thẽ, y̆ they trespace not against the lord lest wrath come vpon you & on youre brethrẽ. Thus do & ye shal not offend. And se here Amariah the preste whiche is head ouer you in al matters of the Lord, & Zabadiah the sõne of Ismael a ruler in y̆ house of Juda, he is ouer al causes concerninge the kyng, wyth officers of the Leuites before you. Take courage to you & go vpon it, and the Lord shalbe wyth the good.

¶ The meruelouse victorye y̆ the Lord gaue Jehosaphat kinge of Juda agaynste the Moabites, & the chyldren of Ammon, and them of Seir.

The. xx. Chapter.

AFter that came the chyldrẽ of Moab & the chyldren of Ammõ & w̃ them of the Ammonites agaynst Jehosaphat to battel. And ther came y̆ tolde Jehosaphat saynge: ther cometh a greate multitude against the frõ the other syde y̆ see out of Siria. And se they be in Hasasõ Thamar which is Engadi. And Jehosaphat feared & set him self to seke the lord, & proclayned fasting thorowout al Juda And Juda geathered thẽ selues together for to aske coũcel of the Lord. And therto ther came oute of al the cyties of Juda to seke the lord. And Jehosaphat stode in the cõgregatiõ of Juda & Jerusalẽ in y̆ house of the Lord before the new court & sayde: A Lord god of our fathers, art not y̆ god in heauen, & raygnest not y̆ on al y̆ kingdõs of the hethen? And in thine hand is power & might, y̆ nomã cã stand before y̆. Art not thou our god which didest cast out the enhabiters of this lãd before thy people Israel, & gauest it to the sede of Abrahã thy louer for eyer. And thei dwelt therin & ha-
B

nota
holy apparell

built ỹ a tẽple therin vnto thi name, & said whẽ euel cometh vpõ vs, as the swerde of iudgemẽt, pestilẽce or hõgre: thẽ yf we stãd before this house & before ỹ (for thy name is in this house) & shal crye vnto the in our tribulation, thou shalt heare and helpe.

And now behold, the childrẽ of Ammõ & Moab & moũte Seir, by which thou woldest not let Israel go: whẽ thei came out of Egipt: but thei departed frõ thẽ & destroyed thẽ not. And se, how they reward vs, to come for to caste vs oute of thy possession which ỹ hast possessed vs withall. O oure god, wilt thou not iudge thẽ? for we haue no might agaynst this great cõpanye that cometh agaynst vs. Nether wot we what to do: but our eyes be vnto the.

And as al Juda stode before the lord wt their yoũge ones, their wyues & their childrẽ: the spirite of the lord came vpõ Jahasiel the sonne of Zacharias ỹ sonne of Banatah ỹ sonne of Jeiel the sõne of Mathaniah a Leuite of ỹ sõnes of Asaph, euẽ as he was in ỹ middes of ỹ cõgregatiõ. And he sayd, herkẽ al Juda & the enhabiters of Jerusalẽ, & also king Iehosaphat. Thus sayth the Lorde vnto you be not aferde or faynt herted by reason of this great multitude. For ỹ warre is not youres, but gods And to morow ye shal go downe to thẽ: se they come vp at Ziz, & ye shall mete thẽ in the flagges of ỹ broke before ỹ wildernes of Jeruel. Moreouer it belongeth not to you for to fight ī this quarel: but step forthe & stand & behold ỹ help of ỹ lord whtch is wt you: feare not, nor let your hertz faile you, O ye of Juda & of Jerusalẽ. To morow go out to thẽ: for the Lord is wt you.

And Iehosaphat bowed him selfe wyth his face to the citte, & al Juda & the enhabiters of Jerusalem fel before the Lorde, to bowe them selues vnto the lord. And ỹ Leuites & the childrẽ of the Cahathites & of the Corahites stode vp, to prayse the lorde god of Israel wt a loude voice on hie. And so thei arose erly in ỹ morning & get them out vnto the wildernesse of Thekua. And as they wẽt out Iehosaphat stode & saide heare me Juda & ye enhabiters of Jerusalẽ. Beleue in the lord your god & so shal ye cõtinue: & beleue his Prophetz & so shal ye prospere. And he gaue the people coũcel, & set the singers of the lord & them ỹ praised in holy apparel, to go out before the armie & to sate: prayse the Lord for hys mercy lasteth euer. And what time thei begã to laude & prayse, then the lord set layers awayt agaynst the childrẽ of Ammõ & Moab & mount Seir, to destroye them vtterly and to wype them out. And when they had made an ende of the enhabiters of Seir, then they holpe to destroye eche other.

And when Juda came to Maspha in the wilderness, thei loked vnto the multitude. And beholde, they were dead carcases fallen to the erth, & none escaped. And Iehosaphat & his people went to robbe away the spoyle of them & foũd amõg thẽ aboũdaũce of goodes & rayment & of pleasaũt Jewelles, & raught frõ thẽ moze then they could cary away: so ỹ they were thze dates in gathering of the spoyle, it was so moch And the fourth day they assembled in the valeye of blessing, for ther they blessed the Lorde. And therfore they called the name of the sayd place the valey of blessing vnto this daye. And so al the men of Juda & Jerusalem returned & Iehosaphat amõg the thickeste of them, for to goo agayne to Jerusalem with gladnes: for the lord had made thẽ to reioyse of theyr enemies. And they came to Jerusalẽ wt psalteries & harpes and trõpettes, euen vnto the house of the Lord. And the feare of God fell in the kingdõs of al lãdes, when they had heard that the Lord fought against the enemies of Israel. And so the reaulme of Iehosaphat was in tranquilite: for hys god had geuen hym rest on euery syde.

nota tropos

And Iehosaphat raygned vpõ Juda, & was .xxv. yere olde when he begã to raygne & raygned .xxv. yere in Jerusalem. And his mothers name was Asuba the daughter of Silhi. And he walked in the way of Asa hys father & bowed not therfrõ, to do that was pleasaũt in the syght of the lord. Howbeit they putt not downe the hylaulters, nether dyd ỹ people yet prepare theyr hertes vnto the god of theyr fathers. The rest of the actes of Iehosaphat fyrst & last are writtẽ in the workes of Jehu the sonne of Hanani, whych noted them in the boke of the kynges of Israel.

After this Iehosaphat king of Juda ioyned hym selfe with Ohoziah kyng of Israel whyche was a wicked doar. And he coupled Ohoziah coupled him selfe with him, to make shippes to goo to Tharsis. And they made the shyppes in Azion Gaber. And Elieser the sõne of Dodanah of Maresa prophesyed against Jehosaphat: saying: because thou hast ioyned thy self w Ohoziah the Lord hath broken thi worke. And ỹ shippe were brokẽ ỹ thei were not able to go to tharsis.

¶ Jehosaphat dieth & Jehozã succeadeth him which putteth to death his brethrẽ, and is oppressed of the Philistines, and dyeth of the flyre.

The. xxi. Chapter.

Jehosaphat layd hi to rest w his fathers, & was buried w his fathers in ỹ cytte of Dauid & Jehozã his sõne raygned in his rowme: which Jehozãhad other brethrẽ, sõne of Jehosaphat Asariah Jehiel Zachariah Asariah Michael & Sephatiah. Al these were ỹ sõne of Jehosaphat king of Juda. And their father gaue thẽ many great giftes in siluer, gould & other precious thinge w stronge cyttes in Juda: but the kingdõ he gaue to Jehozã, because he was ỹ eldest: And whẽ Jehozã was vp vpõ the kingdõ of his father & sethe he slue al his other brethrẽ w ỹ swerde, & diuerse of the lordes of Israel therto* Jehozã was. xxxii. yere old whẽ he begã to raigne, & he raigned. viii. yere i Jerusalẽ. And he walked in ỹ wayes of ỹ kinges of Israel, like as did ỹ house of Ahab (for a daughter of Ahab was hys wife) & he wrought euel in ỹ eyes of ỹ Lord. Howbeit ỹ Lord wold not destroy the house of Dauid, because of the couenaũt ỹ he had made w Dauid, & as he promised to geue a light to him & to his sonnes for euer.

In his dayes ỹ Edomites departed frõ vnder ỹ hãd of Juda & made thẽ a kinge. And Jehozã wẽt forth w his Lordes & all his charets w him & rose by night & layde on ỹ Edomites. Which cõpased hym in & ỹ captaines of his charets. And so Edõ departed frõ vnder ỹ hãd of Juda vnto this day. That same tyme also dyd Iobnah depart frõ vnder his power, because he lefte the lord god of his fathers. Moreouer he made hilaulters in ỹ moũtains of Juda, & caused ỹ enhabiters of Jerusalẽ to comit adultrie, & he * thrust Juda out of ỹ way.

And ther came a writing to him frõ Eliah ỹ prophet of this tenour. Thus saith the Lord god of Dauid thy father: because thou walkedest not in the wayes of Iehosaphat thy father & in the wayes of Asa king of Juda, but walkedst in the wayes of the kings of Israel & hast made Juda & the dwellers of Jerusalẽ go a whorig, like to the whorig of the house of Ahab, & hast therto slaine thi brethrẽ ỹ were thy fathers house, which were better thẽ thou: Therfore beholde the Lorde wil smyte the wyth a mightie plage in thy folke, in thy childrẽ, in thy wyues & in thy goodes. And ỹ shalt haue moche disease thorowe infirmitie in thy bowelles, vntyll thy bowelles fall out by reasõn of thy sickenesse, daye by daye.

And the Lord stered vp agaynst Jehorã the spirite of the Philistines & the Arabias ỹ border on the blacke mores. Who hych came agaynst Juda & al to tare the lande, & caried away al the substaũce ỹ was foũd in the kinges house, & therto hys sonnes, & his wiues: so ỹ ther was neuer a sõne lefte him saue Jehoahaz his yoũgest sõne. And after al ỹ, the Lorde smote him in hys bowelles w an incurable disease. And in processe of tyme, euẽ about the ende of. ii. yere his guttes fel out by reason of his sickenes and so he dyed of euell diseases. But they made him no bonefyre, lyke the bonefyres of hys fathers. Whẽ he began to raygne, he was. xxxii. yere olde, & raygned in Jerusalẽ. viii. yeare. And* he walked not pleasaũtly, & thei buried him in the citie of Dauid: but not in the sepulchre of the kinges ¶ Ohoziah raigneth in the rowme of Jehozã, Jehu king of Israel killeth Ohoziah. Athaliah putteth to death al the kynges Linage. onely Joas escapeth.

The. xxii. Chapter.

And the enhabiters of Jerusalẽ made Ohoziah hys yõgest sonne king in his stede. For ỹ mẽ of warre ỹ came w the Arabias in the host, had slayne all hys elder sonnes. And so Ohoziah thee sõne of Jehozã kyng of Juda, was made king. Two & fourtie yere old was he whẽ he began to raygne, & raygned one yere in Jerusalẽ. His mothers name was Athaliah the daughter of Amri. And he walcked also in the wayes of ỹ house of Ahab, for his mother was his coũceler for to do euel Wherfore he did ỹ displesed ỹ lord like to the house of Ahab for they were his coũcelers after the death of hys fathers, to hys destructiõ. And he also walked after their

1. Reg. xxii. d

* Or, pronosticed Juda to synne.

* Hebr. he walcked w oute despyte to do well.

councel. And Jehozã sonne of Ahab king of Israel went to fyght with Hazael king of Siria at Ramoth in Galaad: & they of Ramoth woũded him. Wherfoze he returned to be healed in Jezrael of the wouũdes which were geuẽ him at Ramoth, when he fought with Hazael kinge of Siria. And C Ohoziah the sonne of Jehozã king of Juda wẽt downe to se Jehozã the sonne of Ahab at Jezracll, because he was diseased.
For it was thrust &c. of god vnderstãd, to him sent that he comynge to Jehozam myght be ouerthrowẽ of Jehu
*Foz it was thrust into Ohoziah of God to go to Jehozã, & that whẽ he was come, he shuld goout with Jehozã against Jehu the sonne of Nauist whõ the Lozd had anoynted to destroye the house of Ahab.

And as Jehu was executing iustice põ the house of Ahab. He found the Lozdes of Juda & the sonnes of the brethrẽ of Ohoziah that wayted on Ohoziah, and he slue them. And he sought Ohoziah, & they caught him wher he was hid in Samaria and broughte him to Jehu. And whẽ they had slayne hym they buried hym: because (sayd they) he was ỹ sonne of Jehosaphat which sought the Lozde wyth al his herte.
D And ther was none of the house of Ohoziah, that could obtayne to be kinge.
iiii. reg. xi. a
*Foz Athaliah the mother of Ohoziah, whẽ she sawe her sonne was dead, arose & spake with al the sede of the kingdõ of the house of Juda. But Jehosabeath ỹ daughter of the kinge toke *Jehoas the sõne of Ohoziah and stale him frõ among the kinges sonnes that were slayne, & put him & his nource in a slepyng chambze. And so Jehosabeath ỹ daughter of king Jehozã & wife of Jehoiada the preste (because she was the sister of Ohoziah) hid him frõ Athaliah ỹ he slue hym not. And he was wt them hyd in the house of God syxe yeare. And Athaliah raygned ouer the lande.
Or Joas.

C Jehoas the sonne of Ohoziah is made king Athaliah is put to death.

The. xxiii. Chapter.

A
iiii. Re. xi. a
AND in the. vii. yere Jehoiada toke hert, & made a bond with thee captaynes of hundzedes Azariah the sonne of Jerohã Ismael the sonne of Johanã Azariah the sonne of Obed, Maasiah the sonne of Adaiah and Elisaphat the sonne of Zechzi. And they wente aboute in Juda and geathered thee Leuites oute of all the cities of Juda & the auncient heades of Israel: & they came to Jerusalem. And al the congregatiõ made a bonde wyth the kyng in the house of God. And Jehoiada sayde to them: beholde, thee kynges sonne must raygne ouer the chyldzen of Dauid, as the Lozd hath sayd.

This it is therfoze that ye shal do. The third part of you prestes & Leuites which B come in the Saboth day, shal kepe the dores & another thyzd part shalbe in the kinges house & another third part shalbe in ỹ gate of the foundatiõ, & al the people shal be in the *courtes of the house of the lozd. And ther shal none come into the house of the Lozd, saue the prestes & the Leuites ỹ ministre. They shal go in, foz they ar holy and al the people shal kepe the watch of ỹ Lozd. And the Leuites shall compasse the kyng round about, & euery man his wepõ in his hand: & whatsoeuer other man come into the house of the Lozd, he shall dye foz it: & they shalbe with ỹ king, as he cometh in and as he goeth out.

nota preste
exo. xxviii. a Stall in
nota

And the Leuites and al Juda dyd in al thinges as Jehoiada the prest cõmaũded, C and toke euery man his men: both thẽ that came in & thẽ that wẽt out the saboth day: foz Jehoiada the prest dyd let none of the cõpanies depart. And Jehoiada the priest deliuered to thee captaynes of hundzedes speares & shildes & boukelars ỹ pertained to king Dauid & were in the house of god And he set al the people & euery mã his wepõ in his hand, frõ ỹ right cozner of ỹ house to ỹ lefte cozner of the house, alonge by the aultet and the house rounde about the kynge. And they bzought out the kynges sonne and put vpon hym the crowne & the *testimonie, and made him king. And Jehoiada and his sonnes anoynted him and sayde: God sãue the kynge.
That is. ỹ laws of god deu. xvii. d

When Athaliah hearde the noyse of the people rũninge & prayinge the kinge: she wẽt amõgethe people into the house of the Lozd. And when she sawe the kinge stand at hys pyler in the enterynge, and the Lozdes and trompettes about the kynge, and all the people of the lande reioysynge and blowing with trompettes, and the singers wyth instrumentes of musycke teachynge to prayse. Then she rente her clothes and cryed: treason, treason. And Jehoiada

the

nota instrumentes of musycke

amaziah the prest went out wyth the captaynes of hundredes that were apointed to gouerne the hoste and sayde to them: haue her oute without the arayes and whosoeuer folowyth her, let him be slayne with the swerd. For the prest said: sley her not in the house of the Lorde. And they layde handes on her, and when she was come oute to the entringe of the horsgate in the kynges house, they slue her there.

D

iiii.Re.xi,d

*And Jehoiada made a bond betwene hi and al the people and the kynge, to be the Lordes people. And al the people went to ỹ house of Baal and destroyed it, & brake hys aulters and hys ymages, & slue Mathan the prest of Baal before the aulters. And Jehoiada put ỹ offices of ỹ house of the Lorde in the handes of the prestes the leuites, which Dauid had deuyded in cõpanyes for the house of the Lord, to offer burntofferynges vnto the Lorde, as it is wrytten in the law of Moses, wyth reioysyng and syngyng, as it was ordeyned by Dauid. And he set porters vnto the gates of ỹ house of the lorde, that none that was vncleane in any poynte shuld entre in.

And he toke the captaynes of hundredes and thee nobles, and the gouernours of the people & all the folke of the lande, & brought the king downe out of the house of the Lord, and they went thorow the hyé gate in the kynges house, and set the king vpon the seate of the kyngedome. And all the people of the lande reioysed, & the cytie was in tranquilite: but they slue Athaliah wyth the swerde.

¶ Jehoas duryng ỹ life of Jehoiada kepeth ỹ law, but after hys deeth he regardeth it not. He killeth Zacharias the Prophete. Jehoas is killed of his owne seruauntes, and after hym raygneth Amazias.

The.xxiiii.Chapter.

A iiii,Re.xi,d

JEhoas was seuen yere olde whẽ he beganne to raygne, & he raigned fourtie yere i Jerusalẽ. His mothers name was Zebiah of Bersabe. And Jehoas did ỹ pleased the Lorde al the dayes of Jehoiada the preaste. And Jehoiada gaue hym two wyues, and he begatte sõnes and daughters.

It chaũched after that, that Jehoas was mynded to mende the house of the Lorde. And vpon that he geathered to gether the prestes and the Leuites and said to them: *go out thorowe the cytyes of Juda and geather of all Israel syluer, to strength ỹ house of youre God, yere by yere, & se that ye haste the thynge: howe be it the Leuites were slacke. Then the kynge called Jehoiada that was the chefest, and said to him: Why requyreste thou not of the Leuytes to bryng in, out of Juda and Jerusalem thee summe appoynted by Moses the seruaũte of the Lorde, and by the congregatiõ of Israel, for the tabernacle of witnes. For wycked Athaliah & her chyldren had brokẽ the house of god, & had therto bestowed al the dedicat giftes of the house of ỹ Lorde, aboute Baals.

iiii,re.xii,d

B

Wherfore at the kynges cõmaũdement, they made a cofer, & set it at the gate of the house of the Lorde: & made proclamacion thorow Juda & Jerusalem to bryng in to ỹ Lord *the taxatiõ of Moses the seruaũt of god, which he set vpõ Israel in the wyldernesse. And the Lordes and al the people reioysed & brought in and cast into the cofer vntil it was ful. And whẽ ỹ time came that the chest shulde be brought in by the hãdes of the Leuites at the apoyntmẽt of the king, whẽ they saw ỹ there was moche money: then came the kinges scribe & one apointed by the hye prest, and powred out that was in ỹ cofer, & thé toke it & caryed it to his place againe, & thus they did day by daye, and geathered moche moneye.

Exo.xxx.b

C

And the kynge & Jehoiada gaue it to workmẽ that wrought vpõ the house of the Lorde, & hyred Masons & carpenters to redresse the house of the Lorde, & so did they artyficers in yron & brasse, to repayre the house of the Lord. And the workmen wrought & ỹ worke mended thorowe their hãdes: and they made the house of god as it ought to be, and strengthed it. And whẽ they had finished it, they brought the rest of the money to the kynge and Jehoiada, & therwyth were made vessels for ỹ house of the Lorde: euen vessels to ministre with al and to serue for burntofferynges as ladelles and vessels of goulde & siluer. And they offered burntofferynges in ỹ house of the lord contynually all the dayes of Jehoiada. And Jehoiada waxed olde & full of yeres & died. a And hũdred & .xxx. yere olde was he whẽ he died. And they buried him in the citie of Dauid amõg ỹ kynges because he had done good i Israel, and on god & on his house. And after the deeth of Iehoiada, came ỹ lordes of Juda & made obeysaũce to the kynge. And then he herkened vnto thẽ. And so they lefte the house of the lord god of their fathers, and serued groues and Images. And then came ther wrath vpõ Juda & Jerusalẽ, for this their trespaces sake. Not wtstandyng yet God sẽt Prophetes to thẽ, to bring thẽ agayne vnto the lord. And they testified vnto thẽ. But they wolde not heare.

D

E

And ỹ spirite of God came vpõ Zacharias the sonne of Iehoiada the preste, & he stept vp aboue the people & sayde to them. ✠ Thus saith god: why trãsgresse ye the cõmaũdemẽtes of ỹ Lorde? ye shal therfore not prospere, but as ye haue forsakẽ hi, so shal he forsake you. * Wherupõ they cõspired against hym & stoned hi w stones, at the cõmaundemẽt of the kynge: euen in the court of ỹ house of the lord. And so Ieboas the king remẽbred not the kyndenes which Iehoiada his father had done to hi, but slue his sõne. And whẽ he died, he sayde: the Lord se and requite a reconynge.

And whẽ the yere was out, the hoste of ỹ Syriens came agaynste hym: & they came to Juda & Jerusalem, and destroied al the lordes of the people frõ amõg the people and sent al the spoile of them vnto ỹ king to Damasco. And though ỹ armie of Syria came with a small cõpanye of men, yet the lord deliuered a very greate hoste into their handes, because they had forsakẽ the lord god of their fathers. And therto they serued Ieboas accordynge.

And as sone as they were departed frõ hi, though they left him in great diseases: yet his owne seruaũtes cõspyred agaynst him for ỹ bloud of ỹ childrẽ of Iehoiada the prest, & slue him on his beed. And whẽ he was dead, they buried him in the citie of Dauid: but not in ỹ sepulchres of ỹ kiges And these ar they ỹ cõspired against him: Zabad ỹ sõne of Samaath an Ammonite & Iehosabad ỹ sonne of Simrith a Moabite. And his sõnes and the summe of the taxe that came to him, and the foũdaciõ of the house of God, are written in the storye of the booke of kinges. And Amaziah his sonne raygned in his steade.

The Notes

of Note this agaynst them whyche say that God sayde to Noe, Gen. vi, a that mẽ shuld lyue no more but an hundred and .xx. yeres.

¶ Amaziah ouercometh ỹ Edomites. And Joas king of Israel ouercometh and kylleth Amaziah.

The .xxv. Chapter.

AMaziah was .xxv. yere olde whẽ he begãne to rayne, & he raigned .xxix. yere in Jerusalẽ. His mothers name was Iehoiadã of Jerusalẽ. And he dyd ỹ pleased the Lorde: but not w the hoale herte. And as sone as he was seteled in the kingdom, he slue thẽ ỹ killed ỹ king hys father. But he slue not their childrẽ as it is wrytten in the law, euen in the boke of Moses to whom the Lord commaũded sayinge: * the fathers shal not dye for the chyldrens cauſes, nor the chyldren for the fathers, but euerye man shall dye for hys owne synne. And Amaziah geathered Juda together and made captaynes ouer thousandes & ouer hundredes in the houses of their fathers thorowout all Juda & Beniamin. And he numbred them frõ .xx. yere and aboue, & found them thre hũdred thousãd lustie men abel to go to battell, & that coulde handle speare and shild. And he hyred thereto an hũdred thousand fightynge men oute of Israell, for an hũdred talentes of syluer.

But ther came a man of God to hym & sayde: kynge, let not the armye of Israell go wyth the: for the Lorde is not with Israel nether w any of the house of Ephraim Or elles yf thou neades wylt, then go & do it, & make thy selfe stronge to battell: & thou shalt se, ỹ God shall make the fall before thine enemies. For god hath power to help or to cast downe. And Amaziah sayde againe to ỹ mã of god, what shal we do thẽ, for ỹ hundred talẽtes which I hauege uen vnto ỹ host of Israel? And the mã of God sayde: the Lorde is able to geue the moche more then that.

And then Amaziah seuered the armey ỹ was come to hym out of Ephraim, to go whom againe. Wherfore they were exceadyng wrothe w Juda, & returned to their owne whoime in great angre.

And Amaziah toke herte & carped oute his host & wẽt to saltdale. * Wher he slue of the childrẽ of Seir .x. thousãd. And other ten thousãd ỹ childrẽ of Juda toke alyue, & caried them vnto the topp of a rock and

A
A
B
C
C

[nota] he caused the to ye toppe of a rock & cast the downe

& cast thē downe frō the toppe of the rock that they al to burst: but ye men of ye armye which Amaziah had turned backe & wold
D not let go with his people to battell, ranne vpō ye cities of Juda from Samaria vnto Bethhoron & slue thre thousande of thē and wanne moche spoyle.

And it chaunced, after ye Amaziah was come from the slaughter of ye Edomites, & had brought ye gods of the childre of Seir, he set thē vp to be his Gods, and bowed him self before thē & burned cēse vnto thē. Wherfore ye Lorde was wroth wt Amaziah & sent to him a prophete, & said to hym: why sekest thou ye Gods of ye people whiche were not able to deliuer their owne peo
E ple out of thine hādes? And as ye prophete spake to him, he said to ye prophet: haue me made the of the kynges councel? cease, lest thou be beaten. And the prophete ceased & sayde I am sure that God hath take coūcel to destroy ye, because ye haste done thys, and obeyest not my councell.

Then Amaziah king of Juda toke aduise & sent to Joas the sonne of Jehoahaz ye sōne of Jehu kyng of Israel & sayd: come, & let vs se ether other. And Joas king of Israel sent againe to Amaziah king of Juda saying: a thistell in Libanon sēt to a Cedar tree of Libanō saying: *geue thy xiii.re.xiiii.c daughter to my sonne to wyfe. But there came ye wilde beastes of Libanō & troade F downe ye thistell. Thou thinkest: se, I haue beate ye Edomites, therfore thine hert ariseth to glorifie thy self. Now bide at home: what neadeth ye to prouoke to euell, ye thou perisshe and Juda with the.

But Amaziah rested not: for it came of god, euen to deliuer them into ye hādes of their enemies: and that because they had sought the Gods of the Edomites, And Joas king of Israel came vp: & they saw ether other, both he & Amaziah king of Juda at Bethsames i Juda. And Juda was put to the worse before Israel, & fled euery mā to hys tent. And Joas king of Israel toke Amaziah kyng of Juda the sonne of Jehoas ye sōne of *Ohoziah at Bethsames: & brought hym to Jerusalem, & tare the wal of Jerusalē frō the gate of Ephraim vnto the corner gate, foure hūdred cubites lōg. And he toke al ye goulde & siluer and all the Jewelles that were foūd in the house of God wyth Obed Edom and the treasure of the kynges house & hostages, and returned to Samaria.

And Amaziah the sōne of Jehoas kig of Juda lyued after the deethe of Joas sōne of Jehoahaz king of Israel. xv. yere. The rest of the actes of Amaziah fyrst & last are wrytte in the boke of the kinges of Juda & Israel. And after ye tyme that Amaziah did turne away frō the lord, they cōspired treason agaynst him in Jerusalem: and he fled to Lachis. Whether they sēt after him & slue him there, & brought hym vp wythe horsses and buryed hym with hys fathers in the cytye of Juda.

After ye deeth of Amaziah raigneth Oziah which is stryken with the lepre, and Joatham raigneth in hys rowme.

The. xxvi. Chapter.

Then al the people of Juda toke Oziah which was. xvi. yere olde, & made hi king in the rowme of his father Amaziah. And he builte Eloth and brought it againe to Juda after the kyng was layde to rest wt his fathers. xvi. yere olde was Oziah whē he began to raygne, & he raigned. lii. yere in Jerusalē. Hys mothers name was Jecaliah of Jerusalē. And he dyd that pleased the Lorde, in all poyntes as dyd hys father Amaziah. And he sought god while zachariah the teacher to se God lyued: & as longe as he soughte the Lorde, God made him prospere.

A iiii.re.xiiii.c

And he went to battel against the Philistines & brake downe the walles of Geth, & the walles of Jabneh & the walles of Asdod, & built cities about Asdod & among the philistines. And god holpe him agaist the philistines & againste the Arabiens ye dwelt in Gurbaal, & againste the Meunites. And the Ammonites gaue trybute to Oziah, and his name spredde abroade euen to Egipte for he played the man & exceaded. Moreouer Oziah buylt towres in Jerusalem ouer the corner gate, and ouer the valeye gate, and ouer other corners, and made them strong. And he built towres in the wildernes & digged many welles. For he had moch catell, both in the valeye and also in the playne: and plowmen and vine dressers in the mountaynes and in Charmel, for he loued husbandrye.

B

And Oziah had an host of fightig men that went out to warre in the armye & were

G after ye grec wythe cōcor dāce of the viii. of ye kinges. xiiii. d. Some rede Jehoahaz

tolde

Joatham told & numbred by Jeiel the scrybe & Maasiah an officer, vnder the hande of Hananiah one of ꝑ kinges Lordes. And ꝑ hoale nũbre of the auncyent heedes of the mẽ of myght were. ii. thousande & fyre hũdred and vnder the handes of thẽ was ꝑ armie of the hoste, thre hundred & seuẽ thousande, & fiue hundred that made warre wythe myght & strẽgth, to helpe the king against hys enemyes. And Oziah prouided them thorow out all ꝑ hoste shildes, speares, helmetes, habergynnes, bowes & slynges for stones. And he made engynes in Jerusalem by the crafte of artificers to be on the towres & corners, to shote arowes & great stones wt al. And hys name spreade farre abroade, for he was wonderfully holpe, vntyl he was become myghtye.

And in hys greatnesse hys hert arose, ꝑ he was marred: & transgressed agaynst ꝑ Lorde hys God. For he wente into the tẽple of the Lorde to burne cense vpon the aulter of incense. But Asariah the preaste went in after him withe foure skore preastes of the lord ꝑ were bolde mẽ. And they stepte to Oziah ꝑ kynge & sayde to him: it pertayneth not to the Oziah to burne cẽse vnto the Lord, but to the prestes ꝑ childrẽ of Aaron that ar cõsecrate for to burne incense. Come out of the sãctuarye, for thou hast trespaced, and it shalbe no worshepe to the before the Lord God.

And Oziah was wroth & had cẽse in his hand to offer, & in his indignacyõ against the preast, * ꝑ leprosye sprãge in hys fore heed before the prestes in the house of the Lorde, euen beside the incense aulter. And Asariah the chefe preste wal the other prestes loked vpõ hi: & behold he was a leper in hys forehed, & they vered hym thence. And therto he was fayne to go out, because the Lord had plaged hym. And Oziah the kyng contynued a lepre vnto the daye of his deeth & dwelt in an house at libertie howbe it, he was cast out of the house of the Lorde. And Joatham his sonne had ꝑ gouernaũce of the kynges house and iudged the people of the lande.

The rest of the actes of Oziah both first and last, did Isaiah the prophete the sõne of Amos wryte. And whẽ Oziah was layde to rest with his fathers, they buried him with his fathers in ꝑ feld of ꝑ buriall of ꝑ kinges. For they sayde: he is a leper. And Joatham hie sonne raigned in hys stead.

¶ Joatham raigneth & ouer cometh the Ammonites. Ahaz hys sonne raygneth after hym.

The. xxvii. Chapter.

IOatham was. xxv. yere olde whẽ he begãne to raigne, and raigned. xvi. yere i Jerusalẽ. His mothers name was Jerusah ꝑ daughter of Zadoc. And he did ꝑ pleased ꝑ Lord in al pointes as dyd his father Oziah: saue, that he came not to the temple of the Lord, and that the people did yet corrupt them selues. He built the hye gate of the tẽple of ꝑ Lord, & on the wall Ophel he buylt moch. Moreouer he built cytyes in the mountaines of Juda, & in the wood coũtre he built castels and towres.

And he fought with the kinge of ꝑ children of Ammon, and preuayled agaynste thẽ. And the children of Ammõ gaue hym the same yere an hundred talẽtes of siluer, & ten thousand quarters of whete and as moche barleye. So moche also did ꝑ children of Ammõ geue him the seconde yere and the thyrde too. And Joatham became mighty, because he directed hys way before the Lorde hys God.

The rest of the actes of Joatham & all hys warres and hys wayes are writen in the boke of the kynges of Israel and Juda. He was. xxv yere olde when he begãne to raygne, and raygned. xvi. yere in Jerusalẽ. And when Joathã was layde to rest with hys fathers, they buryed hym in the cytye of Dauid: and Ahaz his sonne raygned in his steade.

¶ The wyckednesse of Ahaz kynge of Juda. After hym raygneth Hezekiah.

The. xxviii. Chapter.

AHaz was. xx. yere olde whẽ he beganne to raigne, & raigned xvi. yere in Jerusalem. And he did not ꝑ pleased the lorde, as did his father Dauid: but walked in the wayes of the kynges of Israell, and made thereto Baals of metall. And he offered cense in the valey of ꝑ children of Hennon, and burnt his children in fyre after the abhomynacion of the nacyõs which the lord cast out before the children of of Israell. And he offered burnte cense in hilaulters and on mountaines and vnder euery grene tre.

Wherfore the Lorde hys God delyuered him into the hād of the king of the Syriēs: whych bet hym & caryed away a greate multitude of hys captiue into Damascon. And thereto he was delyuered into ỹ hande of the kyng of Israel which slue of his a mighty slaughter. For Phakeh ỹ sōne of Romeliah slue in Juda an hūdred & twētye thousand in one daye, & al fightinge mē: & that because they had forsaken ỹ Lorde God of theyr fathers. And zechri a mighte mā in moūt Ephraim slue Maasiah ỹ kinges sōne, & Azricā the lord stuarde of housholde, and Elcanah ỹ was nexte to ỹ kyng. And the chyldrē of Israel toke presoners of theyr brethren two hundred thousād wiues, sōnes & daughters, & ther to caried away moche spoyle of them, and brought it to Samaria.

But ther was a prophete of the lordes named Obed which went out to the Host that came to Samaria & sayde to thē: se, because ỹ Lord god of your fathers was wroth vp Juda, he deliuered thē into your handes. And ye haue slayne thē with cruelnesse ỹ reacheth vp to heauen. And now ye purpose to kepe vnder the chyldren of Juda and Jerusalem & to make them bondmē & bondwemen. What other thyng do ye (ye vnhappye) then offende ỹ lord your God. But now heare me, and delyuer the captyues agayne whiche ye haue takē of youre brethren: for the great wrath of the Lorde is vpon you.

And certayne of the heedes of ỹ chyldrē of Ephraim, as Asariah ỹ sōne of Johanā Barachiah ỹ sonne of Meshillemoth, Jehezekiah the sonne of Sellum & Amasa ỹ sōne of Hadalai stode vp against them that came from warre, and sayde vnto them: ¶ ye shal not bringe in the captyues hyther. For where we haue offended the Lorde al readye, ye attend to adde more to oure synnes & trespace. For oure trespace is greate all readye, & there is fearce wrath vpō Israel. And vpō ỹ vmē of armes left ỹ captyues & the spoyle before the Lordes & all the congregacyon.

And there arose certayne apoynted ther to by name, & toke the presoners & clothed al ỹ were naked among them, of the spoyle, & arayed thē & shoed them & gaue them to eate & to drynke & anoynted thē, & caried al that were feble of them vpon asses and brought thē to Jericho ỹ citye of Paulme trees fast by their brethrē: and then returned to Samaria agayne.

And at ỹ same tyme kyng Ahaz sent vnto the kinges of Assur to haue help. and ỹ Edomites came yet agayne & slue of Juda & caried away some captyues. And the Philistines inuaded ỹ cities in ỹ low cōtrey & the south of Juda: and toke Bethsames, Aialon, Gaderoth & Socoh with the townes longyng therto, & Thimna wt ỹ townes of the same & Gisso wher townes, & dwelt therin. For the Lord brought Juda lowe, because of Ahaz kynge of Juda which made Juda naked & trāsgressed against ỹ lord. And Thiglah palneser kinge of Assur came vpō him & besieged him, but preuailed not against him. For Ahaz toke away out of ỹ house of ỹ lord & out of the kinges house & out of the lordes houses, & gaue vnto ỹ kīg of Assur, though it holpe him not. And therto in ỹ verye tyme of his tribulaciō did kinge Ahaz trespace yet more against the lorde. For he offered vnto the gods of thē of Damasco which bet him & said, because the gods of ỹ Syrrens help thē, therfore wil I offer to them, ỹ they may helpe me also. But they were his destructiō & the destructiō of al Israel. And Ahaz gathered together ỹ vessels of the house of god & brake thē, & shut vp the dores of the house of ỹ lord, & made hī aulters in all corners of Jerusalē. And in al ỹ cities of Juda citie by citie he made hil aulters to burne incense vnto other gods, & angred the lord god of his fathers. The rest of his actes & al his waies both first & last ar writtē in ỹ boke of the kiges of Juda & Israel. And whe Ahaz was layde to rest wt his fathers, they buried hī in the cytie of Jerusalē: but brought him not vnto the sepulchres of the kinges of Juda. And *Hezekiah his sonne raigned in his stead ¶ Hezekiah restoreth vnto the temple of the lord all the thynges ỹ had not bene regarded of hys predecessoures.

The.xxix. Chapter.

Hezekiah began to raigne whe he was.xxv. yere olde, & raigned.xxix. yere i Jerusalē. And his

Or. Ioskome woll. Jehezekiah.

Vid. Regum xviii.

his mothers name was Abiah the daughter of Zacharias. And he dyd that was right in the sight of the Lorde in all pointes as did Dauid his father. He opened ꝑ doores of ꝑ house of the Lorde in the fyrste yere & first moneth of his raygne, & he repaired thē. And he brought in ꝑ prestes & ꝑ Leuites & gethered thē together into the eestrete: & sayde vnto thē.

Heare me ye Leuites: purifye your selues & halow the house of the Lorde God of your fathers, & bringe out ꝑ filthinesse
B out of the holy place. For oure fathers haue trespaced & done euelfauoredly in ꝑ eyes of ꝑlord our God: & haue forsakē him, and turned away their faces frō ꝑ habitatiō of ꝑ lord & turned to their backes. And beside ꝑ they haue shutt vp ꝑ doores of the porch & quēched ꝑlāpes & haue nether burned cēse nor offered burntoffringes in the holy place vnto the god of Israel.

Wherfore the wrath of ꝑ lord fel on Juda & Jerusalē: & he skatered them & made thē so thynne that men hisse at it, euē as ye se withe youre eyes. For se, oure fathers were ouerthrowen with the swerde & oure sonnes, oure daughters & our wiues were caryed awaye captyue for the same cause. Now haue I in myhert to strike a couenaūte w the Lord God of Israel: ꝑ his wrath maye cease. Nowe therfore my sonnes be not necligent: for the lorde had chosen you to stand before him, and for to mynystre & burne offeryinges to him.

C Thē the Leuites arose: Mahath ꝑ sōne of Amasai & Joel the sōne of Asariah beyng of the childrē of the Cahathites: & the sōnes of Merari, Kis the sōne of Abdi & Asariah the sōne of Jehaleleel: & of ꝑ Gersonites, Joah the sōne of Simma & Edē ꝑ sōne of Joah: & of ꝑ sōnes of Elizaphā, Simri & Jeiel: & of the sōnes of Asaph, Zacharias and Mathanias: & of the sonnes of Heman, Jehiel & Semei: & of the sonnes of Jeduthū, Semaias & Oziell. And they gethered their brethrē & purified thē selues, & then wēt at ꝑ cōmaūdement of the kinge by the word of the lord, for to clence the house of the lord. And the prestes went ī to the house of the lorde to clense it, and brought out al the vnclennesse ꝑ they fouūde in ꝑ tēple of the lorde, & in the courte of the house of the lord. And the Leuites toke it and carted it out in to the broke Cedrō. D They begāne the fyrste daye of the fyrste moneth to purify, and came the eight day to the porche of the lord so ꝑ they had purged the house of the lord in eyght dayes & the .xvi. daye of the fyrste moneth they made an ende.

And then they wēt into Hezekiah ꝑ kig & said: we haue clensed all the house of the lord, & the aulter of burntoffringes w all his aparel: and therto al the vessels which king Ahaz did cast a side when he raigned & trāsgressed, them we haue repaired & sāctyfied: & se, they are before the aulter of the Lorde. And *Hezekiah the kyng rose erlie E *Or, Iehezekiah.
and geathered the Lordes of the cytye & went vp to the house of the lord. And ther were broughte seuen oxen, seuen rammes, seuē lambes & seuen kydds to be a synne offerynge for the kyngdom, for the sāctuarye & for Juda: And he cōmaūded the prestes the sōnes of Aaron to offer them on the aulter of the Lorde.

And they slue the orē: & the prestes receaued the bloud & sprinkled it on the aulter: and they slue the rāmes and sprinkled the bloud vpō the aulter: and they slue the lābes and sprynkled the bloud vpō the aulter. And thē they brought forth the kidds of the synneoffering before the king & the cōgregacion which put their hādes vpon thē. And the prestes slue them and offered the bloud of them vpō the aulter, to make sattisfactiō for al Israel: for the kyng sayde: ꝑ the burntoffring and ꝑ synneoffryng shuld serue for al Israel. And they sett the Leuites in the house of the lord w cimbales, psalteries and harpes accordynge to the cōmaūdemētes of Dauid and of gad the kinges sear of visiōs and of Nathā ꝑ prophet. For so was the cōmaundemēt of the lord thorow the hād of his prophetes. And so the Leuites stode w the instrumentes of Dauid, and the prestes w trōpets. And Hezekiah cōmaūded to offer ꝑ burnt offeringe vpon the aulter. And when the burntoffering begāne, the sōg of the lord beganne, & the trompetes with the instrumentes of Dauid king of Israel. And al the cōgregacion bowed them selues, & the singers sāg, & the trōpets blew, and contynued vntil the burntoffering was finished

And

nota) trompets

And whē they had made an ende of the burntoffring, the king & al that were with him kneled downe & bowed them selues & gaue praise & thankes. And Hezekiah the kyng and the Lordes bade the Leuites to prayse the lord wt the wordes of Dauid & of Asaph the sear of visiōs. And the Leutes praised that thei retoysed agayne, & the other stowped & bowed their selues.

G And Hezekiah answered & sayd: nowe ye haue fylled your hādes to the Lord, go to & bring in the sacrifices & thankeoffrinｇes into the house of the Lord. And the cō gregatiō brought in the sacrifices & thāke offringes, & al that were willing broughte burntoffringes. And ye nūbre of ye burntoffringes which the cōgregatiō broughte in was. lxx. oxē & an hūdred rāmes & two hūdred lābes: & al for burntofferinges to the Lord. And beside that they dedicated sixe hundred oxē & thre thousande shepe.

But the prestes were to few, & were not able to slaye al the burntoffringes. Wherfore their brethrē the Leuites holpe them tyl the worke was ended, & vntyll the prestes were sanctified. For the Leuites were purer herted to sanctifie thē selues thē the prestes. And therto ye burntoffringes were many with the fatte of the peaceoffringes & the drinkeoffringes that belōgeth to the burntoffringes. And so the seruice pertayning to the house of the Lorde went forward. And Hezekiah retoysed & al the people, that god had made the folke so ready: for the thyng was sodenlye done.

¶ Hezekiah renueth the feast of passeouer.

The. xxx. Chapter.

A And Hezekiah sent to al Israel & Juda: & therto wrote letters to Ephraim & Manasseh that they shoulde come to the house of the Lord at Jerusalem, to offer passeouer vnto the Lord god of Israell. And the kynge helde a councel wyth hys Lordes and all the congregatyon at Jerusalem to kepe the feast of passeouer in the seconde moneth. For they coulde not kepe it at that tyme: for there were not Prestes ynoughe sanctified, neyther was the people geathered together to Jerusalem. And the thynge pleased the king and all the congregatiō. And they decreed that it shulde be proclayned thorowe out all Israell frō Bersabe to Dan, that they shulde come and holde the feast of passeouer vnto the Lord God of Israel at Jerusalē: for they had not often done it, as it is written how they shulde.

And the messengers wēt wyth letters of the hand of the king & of his Lordes thorow out al Israel & Juda, at the cōmaundemēt of the king which sayd: chyldren of Israel, turne agayne vnto the Lord God of Abrahā, Isaac & Israel, and so wyll he turne to the remnaūt of you that are escaped out of the hādes of the king of Assur. And be ye not like your fathers & your bre thrē which trespased agaynst the Lord of your fathers, whych therfore gaue thē vp that they ar wasted as ye se. Wherfore be B not stifnecked like vnto your fathers, but yelde your selues vnto the lord, & come to his holy place which he hath sanctified for euer, & serue the Lord your God, that hys wrath may turne frō you. For yf ye turne vnto the Lorde, then your brethren & your children shal fynd cōpassiō in the presence of thē that holde them captyue, that they maye come agayne vnto this land: for the Lord your God is full of mercy and compassiō, & wyl not turne his face from you, yf ye turne agayne to hym.

And the postes went from cytie to cytie thorow out the land of Ephraim and Manasseh & cue vnto Zabulō. But they laughed them to skorne & mocked thē. Neuertheles yet dyuerse of Asser, Manasseh & of Zabulon meakened thē selues & came to Jerusalem. And therto the hand of god was in Juda, to make thē of one accorde to do the cōmaundement of the king & the captaynes, which was according to ye worde of the Lord. And so there assembled to Jerusalē moch people & a mighty greate congregation, to holde the feaste of swete bread in the seconde monethe.

And they arose & put awaye the aulters C ye were in Jerusalē. And therto all the incense thei dyd away & cast thē into ye broke Cedron. And they slue passeouer the. xiiii. day of the second moneth. And the prestes and Leuites sanctified thē selues for shame, & brought in the burntoffringes into the house of the Lorde. And they stode in their stāding after their maner according to the lawe of Moses the mā of god. And the prestes sprinkled the bloud receauinge it of the handes of the Leuites. And because there were many in the cõgregatiõ that were not sanctified: and therfore dyd thee Leuites sley passeouer for al that were not cleane to sanctifye thẽ to the Lorde.

There was very moche people oute of Ephraim, Manasseh, Issakar and Zabulon that were not cleane, and therfore dyd eate Passeouer otherwyse then wrytynge specyfieth. But Hezekiah prayed for them and sayde: the good Lorde be mercyefull to all that sett theyr hertes to seke the God that is thee Lorde God of theyr fathers, thoughe they doo it not accordinge to thee clennesse of the holye place. And the Lord hearde Hezekiah & healed the people. And so the chyldren of Israel that were found at Jerusalem, helde thee feaste of swete bread seuen dayes wyth greate gladnesse, and thee Leuites and the Prestes praysed the Lord daye by daye wyth lowde instrumentes.

And Hezekiah spake hertelye vnto thee Leuites that hadde good vnderstandinge of the Lorde. And they dyd eate that feast seuen dayes longe and offered peaceofferinges & thanked the Lorde God of theyr fathers. And the hoale assemble toke counsell to kepe seuen dayes mo: and they held those seuen dayes wyth gladnesse. For Hezekiah Kyng of Juda gaue for heaueoffe rynges to the congregatiõ a thousand oxẽ and seuẽ thousande shepe. And the lordes gaue to the congregation for heaueoffringes a thousand oxen & ten thousand shepe And the prestes sanctified thẽ selues, that they were ynoughe.

And al the congregation of Juda with the prestes & Leuites, & al the congregatiõ that came out of Israel & the straungers, both that came out of the land of Israel & that dwelte in Juda, reioysed: & there was great ioye in Jerusalẽ. For sence the tyme of Salomon the sonne of Dauid Kynge of Israel it happened not so in Jerusalem And the prestes & the Leuites arose & blessed the people, and theyr voyce was heard and theyr prayer went vp vnto hys holye dwelling place heauen.

¶ After Hezekiah had called agayne the people vnto the way of the Lord, he ordeyneth the prestes, vnto whom he cõmaunded to geue tythes:

The. xxxi. Chapter.

AND when they had fynished al this: thẽ al Israel that were founde in the cyties of Juda, wẽt out & brake the Images & cut downe the grones, & all to brake the hiaulters & the other aulters thorowout al Juda & Bẽ Jamin, Ephraim and Manasseh, vntyll they had made an ende of thẽ. And afterwarde all the chyldren of Israel returned euerye man to his possession in theyr owne cyties.

And Hezekiah set the prestes & the Leuites in theyr order to wayte by course, euery man accordinge to his office whither preste or Leuite: for the burntoffringes & peaceoffringes, & to minister & to thãcke & to pray in the gates of the lodge of ỹ lord. And the king gaue a portiõ of his substãce for burntoffringes at morning & euẽ, & for burntoffringes on the Saboth dayes and new mones & other solempne feastes, accordyng *as it is writtẽ in the law of the Lord. And he bade the people that dwelte in Jerusalẽ to geue the parte of ỹ prestes & Leuites, that they myght be mayntened in the lawe of the Lorde. And as sone as ỹ worde came abroade the chyldrẽ of Israel brought aboũdance of first frutes of corne, wyne, oyle & hony, & of al maner of frutes of the felde: & the tithes of al maner of thinges brought they in plẽteously. And ỹ chyldrẽ of Israel & Juda that dwelte in ỹ cyties of Juda, they also brought in the tythes of oxẽ & shepe, and tythes of dedicate thinges which were dedicated to the Lord theyr God, & put thẽ on heapes. In ỹ thyrde moneth they begãne to laye the heapes and fynished them the seuenth.

And whẽ Hezekiah & the Lordes came & saw the heapes, they blessed the Lorde & his people Israel. And Hezekiah questioned wt the prestes & the Leuites cõcerning the heapes. And Azariah ỹ chefe preste of the house of Zadock answered him & said sense they began to bryng the heaueoffringes into the house of thee Lorde, we haue eatẽ & had ynough, and yet lefte aboundãce, for the Lorde hathe blessed hys people & therof is this heape lefte. And Hezekiah bade dresse vp ỹ store houses about ỹ house of the Lord. And so they dyd, & caried in the heaueoffringes and the tythes and the dedycate gyftes euen of fydelyte.

*Deut. xxvii. b.

Ouer

Ouer which Chonaniah ℣ Leuite had the rule wyth Semei hys brother nexte to him. And Jehiel, Asariah, Nahath, Asael, Jerimoth Josabad, Eliell, Jesmachiah, mahath ℟ Banaiah were ouerseers ordeined by Chonaniah ℟ Semei hys brother, at the appoyntmēt of Hezekiah the king ℟ Asariah the ruler of the house of god. And Chore the sonne of Jemna ℣ Leuite porter of the East dore had the ouersyghte of the frewilloffringes of god, to geue heaue offringes vnto the Lord, ℟ was ouer thynges moost holye. And vnder hym were Eden, Myniamin, Jesua, Semeiah, Amariah ℟ Sechemiah in the cyties of the priestes of theyr kydelyte, to geue to theyr brethren theyr portions, as wel to the smal as to the greate.

And to the males also that were rekened from thre yere and aboue amonge all that wēt into the house of the Lord day by day to do seruyce ℟ to wayte by course. And to the priestes that were rekened in the housholdes of theyr fathers frō twentie yere ℟ aboue, to wayte when theyr courses came. And to thē that were rekened thorowe out al their babes, wiues, sonnes and daughters thorow out al the congregation. For to the kydelite of them dyd men commytte theyr sanctified gyftes. And therto amōg the chyldren of Aaron the prestes were mē named by name in the feldes of the suburbes of all theyr cyties, cytie by cytie, for to geue portyons to al the males of the prystes, and to all that were rekened amonge the Leuites.

And of thys maner dyd Hezekiah thorowe oute all Juda, ℟ dyd that was good ryghte and truthe, before thee Lorde hys God. And in all the workes that he began in the seruyce of the house of God, to seke hys God after the Lawe and commaundemente, that dyd he wythe all hys herte, and prospered.

¶ Sennaherib, which shuld haue beseged Jerusalē, is strikē of the Aungell Hezekiah dyeth after whom succedeth Manasseh.

The.xxxii. Chapter.

AFter these dedes and truthe, Sennaherib kynge of Assur came ℟ entred into Juda and pytched agaynst the stronge cyties ℟ thought to draw thē to hym. And whē Hezekiah saw that Sennaherib was come and that he was purposed to fyght agaynst Jerusalē: he toke coūcell wyth hys captaynes and mē of myght to stoppe the water of the foūtaynes that were wythout the cytie: and they were content to helpe hym. And so there geathered moche people to geather and stopte all the welles and the broke that ranne thorowe the myddes of the lande, entendynge that the kynges of Assur shuld not fynd moch water when they came. And he went to lustely and buylt vp the walle where it was broken, and made towres aboue vppon, ℟ yet another walle wythoute, and repayred Melo the citie of Dauid, and made many dartes and shyldes.

And he sette ¶ aptaynes of warre ouer the people ℟ geathered them together into the large strete of the gate of the cytie and spake tentlye to them, sayinge. Plucke vp youre hertes ℟ be stronge: Be not afrayde or in any wyse discouraged for drede of ℣ King of Assur, ℟ of the great multitude ℣ is with him: * for ther is one greater wyth vs thē with him. With hym is an arme of flesche: But with vs is the Lorde our God for to helpe vs ℟ to fyghte oure batayles. And the people were well couraged wythe the wordes of Hezekiah King of Juda. * Heb. Vel

After that Sennaherib kinge of Assur sent of his seruaūtes to Jerusalē (he hymselfe lyinge before Lachis ℟ al his kingdō with him, vnto Hezekiah kyng of Juda, ℟ vnto al Juda ℣ were at Jerusalē saying. ¶ Thus sayth Sēnaherib king of Assur: * wherin do ye trust, O ye ℣t beseged in Jerusalē ? Hezekiah deceaueth you, to delyuer you to death, hōgre, ℟ thrust, saying: ℣ Lorde oure God shal tydde vs out of the hand of the king of Assur. Is not ℣ Hezekiah ℣ put downe his hyaulters ℟ his other aulters, ℟ cōmaūded Juda and Jerusalē saying: before one aulter ye shal bowe your selues ℟ vpon that offer also. * Heb. were the.xxiii. e.

Moreouer haue ye not hearde what I ℟ my fathers haue done vnto thee people of al landes? were the Gods of the people of other landes able to saue theyr landes out of my hande? which of al the Gods of those naciōs ℣ my fathers destroyed was it, ℣ could delyuer his people out of myne hād, ℣ your God shulde be able to delyuer you out of mine hand? Wherfore now let not Hezekiah deceaue you ether perſwade you of thys facyō, noꝛ yet beleue him. Foꝛ as no God among ſo many nacyons and kyngdoms, was able to rydde hys people out of myne hande and the handes of my fathers: euen ſo moch leſſe ſhal your God kepe you out of myne hand. And yet moꝛe dyd his ſeruaūtes ſpeake agaynſt the Loꝛde God & agaynſt his ſeruaūte Hezekiah. And therto he wꝛote a letter to rayle on the Loꝛd God of Iſrael & ſpake therin ſayīg as the Gods of the nacīōs of other landes haue not deliuered their people out of myne hand, nomoꝛe ſhal the god of Hezekiah delyuer his people out of myne hand. And they cryed wyth a lowde voyce in the Iewes ſpeache vnto the people of Ieruſalē that were on the walles, to feare them and to diſmaye them, that they myght haue taken the cytie. And they ſpake agaynſte the God of Ieruſalem, as agaynſt the Gods of the nacyons of the earth, whych are the woꝛcke of the handes of men.

But Hezekiah the kyng & the pꝛophete Iſaiah ſonne of Amoz pꝛayed concernīg the thing and cryed vp to heauen. And the Loꝛd ſent an angel & deſtroyed al the men of warre & the Loꝛdes & captaynes of the hoſte of the kinge of Aſſur, that he turned his face with ſhame towarde his owne lād And when he was cōme into thee houſe of his God, he was thet ouerthꝛowē with the ſwerde euē by thē that iſſued out of his bowelles. And ſo the Loꝛde ſaued Hezekiah & the enhabiters at Ieruſalē out of the hāndes of Sennaherib king of Aſſur & of all other, & mayntened thē on al ſydes. In ſo moch that many bꝛoughte pꝛeſentes vnto the Loꝛd to Ieruſalem & pꝛecious gyftes to Hezekiah king of Iuda: ſo that he was magnified in the ſyghte of all nacions cꝛō thencefoꝛth.

F * In thoſe dayes Hezekiah was ſycke vnto the death & beſought the Loꝛd: whyche anſwered him & ſhewed him a wonderful myꝛacle: But Hezekiah dyd not accoꝛdinge to the curteſye ſhewed hym, foꝛ hys herte aroſe: and therfoꝛe came there wꝛath vpon hym & vpon Iuda and Ieruſalem. Notwithſtādīng Hezekiah mekened hym ſelfe foꝛ the aryſynge of his herte, both he and the enhabiters of Ieruſalem. Wherfoꝛe the wꝛath of the Loꝛde fell not vpon them in the dayes of Hezekiah.

And Hezekiah had exceading moch ryches & honour. And he geathered hym treaſure of ſyluer, gould, pꝛecious ſtones ſpices, ſhildes & of al maner pleaſaūt Iewelles: & made ſtoꝛe houſes foꝛ the frutes of coꝛne, wyne & oyle: & ſtables foꝛ all maner of beaſtes, & folds foꝛ ſhepe. And he made hym townes becauſe he had cattell of ſhepe & oxē great aboūdance. Foꝛ God had geuen him ſubſtaūce exceading moch And the ſayd Hezekiah ſtopped the vpper water ſpꝛinges of Gihon & bꝛought them downe to the Weſtſyde of the cytie of Dauid. And Hezekiah pꝛoſpeꝛed in al his woꝛkes. But when the Imbaſſadours of the Loꝛdes of Babylon were ſente to hym to enquyꝛe of the wondꝛe that chaūced in the land, God left him: to tempte hym that all that was in his hert myght be knowen.

The reſt of the dedes of Hezekiah & his goodneſſe ar wꝛittē in the viſiō of Iſaiah the pꝛophete the ſonne of Amoz in the boke of the kinges of Iuda and Iſrael. And then Hezekiah layde him to reſte wyth his fathers, & they burted him in the hyeſte ſepulchꝛe of the ſōnes of Dauid: and Iuda and thee enhabiters of Ieruſalē dyd hym woꝛſhyp at his death. And Manaſſeh his ſonne raigned in hys ſteade.

¶ Manaſſeh is takē pꝛiſoner, and after he cometh out he deſtroyeth the Idolles. He dieth, & after hym ſucceadeth Amō. After Amō was killed of his owne people, Joſiah his ſonne raygneth foꝛ hym.

The.xxxiii. Chapter.

Manaſſeh was. xii. yeare olde whē he was made kinge, and rayigned. lv. yere in Ieruſalē And he dyd wyckedlye in the ſyght of the Loꝛd, lyke vnto the abhominatiōs of the hethen which the Loꝛd caſt out beꝛoꝛe the childꝛen of Iſraell. Foꝛ he went to & buylt agayne the hyl aulters which Hezekiah his father hadde bꝛokē downe. And he ꝛered vp aulters vnto Baas & made groues & bowed him ſelfe vnto al the hoſt of heauē & ſerued them And he buylte aulters in thee houſe of the Loꝛd: Of whych the Loꝛde had ſayde * in Ieruſalē ſhall my name be foꝛ euer. And he made aulters vnto all the hoſte of heuē in the two courtes of the houſe of the loꝛd. And he burnte his chyldꝛen in fyꝛe in thee valeye of the ſonnes of Hennō. And he obſerued

ii. reg. xxi. a.

Iſa. xxxviii. a.

ii. reg. xxi. b.

serued dismall dayes, & occuppyed wytchecrafte & sorsery, and mayntened worckers wyth spyrites & sears of fortunes: & wrought moch euel in the syghte of the Lorde, to angre hym wyth all.

B And he put ỹ kerued Image of an Idol whyche he had made, in the house of God. Of which house God sayd to Dauid & to Salomon his sonne, in this house here in Jerusalē which I haue chosen oute of all the trybes, * I wyl put my name for euer, and no more bring the seat of Israel from of the lād which I haue ordeined for your fathers. Yf so be they shall be diligente to do al I haue cōmaunded by Moses in all the lawe ordinaūces & maners. But Manasseh made Juda and the enhabiters of Jerusalem to erre and to do worse thē the heathen whiche the Lorde destroyed before the chyldren of Israel. And when the Lorde spake to Manasseh & to his people, they attended not to hym.

ii. reg. vii. b

Wherfore the Lord brought vpon thē the captaynes of the hoste of the kynge of Assur, which take Manasseh in an holde & bound him wt chaynes & carried him to Babilon. And when he was in tribulation he besought the Lord his god, & hūbled hym selfe exceedingly before the God of his fathers, & made intercessiō to hym: & he was entreated of him and hearde hys prayer & brought hym agayne to Jerusalē into his kingdō. And then Manasseh knew how ỹ the Lord was the very God.

C

After that he buylt a wall without the cytie of Dauid on the west syde of Gihon in the broke & so forth to fysh gate & roūd about Ophel & broughte it vp of a verye great heyght, & put captaynes of warre in al the strong cyties of Juda. And he toke away straunge Gods & the Idole oute of the house of God, & all the aulters that he had buylt in the moūt of the house of god and in Jerusalē, & cast thē out of the cytie And he made an aulter vnto the Lord & sacrefyced theron peaceoffringes & thankeoffringes, & charged Juda to serue ỹ lord God of Israell. Neuertheles the people dyd offer styll in the hyaulters, howbeit vnto the Lord theyr God onelye.

The rest of the actes of Manasseh and D his prayer vnto his God, & the wordes of the sears of visiōs that spake to him in the name of the Lord God of Israel, are written among the dedes of the kinges of Israel. And his prayer & how ỹ he was heard, & al his synne & trespace, and the places where he made hilaulters & set vp groues and kerued Images before he was mekened, are writtē amōg the dedes of the sears of visions. And whē Manasseh was layd to rest with his fathers, they buried him in hys owne house: & Amon his sonne raygned in hys rowme. Amon was. xxii. yeare olde, when he began to raygne, & raygned two yere in Jerusalē. And he dyd that displeased the Lord like vnto Manasseh his father, for Amō sacrificed to al the kerued ymages which Manasseh his father made & serued thē, & mekened not him selfe before the Lordes as Manasseh hys father had mekened hym selfe: But Amon trespaced greatly. Wherfore his owne seruaūtes cōspired agaynst him & slue him in his owne house. And the people of the land slue al ỹ had conspired agaynst kyng Amon. And therto the people of the land made Josiah hys sonne kynge in hys rowme.

¶ Josiah destroyeth the Idoles & reformeth the tēple in which is found the boke of the lawe. He sendeth to Holdah the prophetesse for counsel.

The. xxxiiii. Chapter.

JOsiah was made king when he was. viii. yere olde, and he raigned in Jerusalē. xxxi. yere And he dyd ỹ pleased the lord & walked in the wates of Dauid his father bowing nether to the righte hande or to the lefte. In so moche that the eyght yere of his raygne, when he was yet a lad, he begā to seke after the god of Dauid his father. And in the twelueth yere he began to pourge Juda & Jerusalē of hyl aulters, groues, kerued Images, & Images of metal: so that they brake downe the aulters of Baals eus in his presence, & the Idoles that were vpō thē, he caused to be destroyed. And the groues, kerued Images, & Images of metall he brake & made dust of thē, & strawed it vpō the graues of thē that had offred to thē. And he burnte ỹ bones of the prestes vpō the aulters, & cleansed Juda & Jerusalē. And euen so dyd he in the cyties of Manasseh, Ephraim, Simeon & of Nephthali therto. And in ỹ wildernesses of thē roūde about he plucked a sonder the aulters & the groues & did beat them & stape them to powdre, & bete down the ydols throwout al the lande of Israell: & then returned to Jerusalem agayne.

A

B

And in the .xviii. yere of his raygne whe he had purged the land and the temple, he sent Saphan the sonne of Azaliah, & Maasiah the gouernour of thee cytie, & Joah the sonne of Joahaz the recorder, to repayre the house of the Lord his god. And whe they came to Helkiah the hie preste, men delyuered them the money that was brought te into the house of God, whych the Leuites that kepte the enteries had geathered of the handes of Manasseh and Ephraim and of all that yet remayned in Israel and of all Juda and Ben Jamin and of the enhabiters of Jerusalem. And they put it in thee handes of the worckemen that hadde ȳ ouer sycht of ȳ houle of ȳ Lorde, whych gaue it to the labourers that wroughte on the house of the Lord, to repayre and dimende it, and to masons and carpenters to bie hewed stone and tymber for to make couples and beames for the houses which the kinges of Juda hadde destroyed: And the men wrought in the worke of fidelite.

And the ouersears of thē to courage thē forward, were Jahath & Obadiah Leuituites of the childrē of Merari: & Secharia & Mesulam of the childrē of the Cahathites, & as manye other of the Leuites as could skylle of instrumentes of Musyck. And ouer the bearers of burthens & ouer al that wrought, in whatsoeuer workemā shipp it were, were there scribes, officers & porters of the Leuites.

And as they brought out the moneye ȳ was broughte into the house, Helkiah the preste fond the boke of the law of the lord geuē by Moyses. And Helkiah answered and sayd to Saphan the Scribe: I haue found the boke of the lawe in the house of the Lorde, and gaue the boke to Saphan. And Sayhā caried the boke to the kyng, & brought the kyng worde agayn, saying: al that was cōmitted to thy seruātes, that do they. And they haue powred out ȳ moneye that was found in the house of the Lorde and haue delyuered into the handes of the ouersears of the worckemen. And then Saphan the scribe shewed the kyng, sayinge: Helkiah the preste hath geuen me a Boke, and he redde it before the kyng.

And whē the kyng had heard ȳ wordes of the lawe, he tare his clothes, & cōmāded Helkiah & Ahikam the sonne of Saphan & Abadon the sonne of Micah & the sayde Saphā the scribe & Asaia a seruaūt of the kinges, saying: go & enquire of ȳ lord for me & for thē that are left in Israel & Juda cōcerning ȳ wordes of the boke ȳ is foūde For great is the wrath of the Lord that is fallē vpō vs, because our fathers kept not the word of the Lord, to do after al that is written in this boke.

And Helkiah with them ȳ pertayned to the kyng wēt to Holdah a prophetisse wife of Selū the sonne of Thekohath ȳ sonne of Nasarah keper of the wardrope (whych prophetisse dwelt in Jerusalē in the secōd warde) & they communed so with her. And she sayd vnto thē: thus sayth the lord god of Israel, tel ye the mā that sent you to me Euen thus saith the Lord: se, I wyl bring euel vpō this place & vpon the enhabiters therof, euē al the cursses ȳ are writtē in the boke which they haue rede before the kyng of Juda, because they haue forsakē me & haue offered vnto other gods to angre me wythe all maner workes of theyr handes, therfore is my wrath set on fyre agaynste thys place & shal not be quenched.

And as for ȳ kyng of Juda which sent you to enquire of the Lord, so shal ye saye vnto him: thus saith ȳ lord god of Israell cōcerning the wordes which ȳ hast harde Because thine hert dyd melt & thou dydest meke thy selfe before god, whē ȳ hardeste his wordes agaynst this place & agaynste the enhabiters therof: & hūbledest thy selfe before me, & tarest thy clothes and wepest before me, that haue I heard also saith the Lord. Behold I wyl take ȳ to thy fathers & thou shalt be putt in thy graue in peace, & thine eyes shal not se al the mischeue ȳ I wyl bring vpō this place & vpō the enhabiters of the same. * And they brought the king word agayne. Thē the king sent and gathered together all the elders of Juda & Jerusalē. And the kinge wēt vp into the house of the Lord, & al the men of Juda & the enhabiters of Jerusalē & the Priestes and Leuites & al the people great & small: and reade al the wordes of the boke of the couenaunt that was found in the house of the Lorde. And the kynge stode at hys standing

.iiii. ee. xxiii. a

nota of the kynges covenaut

standynge and made a couenaũt before ỹ Lorde, to folow the Lord and to kepe his cõmaundementes, his wytnesses and hys statutes with all his herte and w all hys soule & to fulfil the wordes of ỹ apointinẽ te wrytten in the sayde boke.

And he made to come forth al that were found in Jerusalem and Beniamin, & the enhabyters of Jerusalẽ promeised to kepe the couenaunt of ỹ God which was ỹ god of theyr fathers. And Josiah put awaye al maner of abhominacyons out of al lãdes that pertayned to the childzen of Israel, and brought all ỹ were soũde in Israel to serue the lord theyr god. And they turned not a side frõ after ỹ lord god of their fathers as long as he lyued.

¶ Josiah holdeth passeouer. He fyghteth agaīst ỹ king of Egipt, and deeth. The peeple bewayle him

The.xxxv. Chapter.

A All.xxxiii. c. iiii.xxxi.i.a

And Josiah held the feaste of passeouer vnto the lord in Jerusalẽ, & they slue passeouer in the.xiiii. daye of the fyrste moneth. And he sett the preastes in their offyces & ayded them in ỹ seruice of the house of the Lorde. And he sayde to the Leuites that taught thorow out all Israell and were sanctified vnto ỹ lorde: put the holy arcke in the house whyche Salomon ỹ sonne of Dauid kyng of Israel did builde, ye nede not to beare it vpõ youre shoulders. Wherefore now serue ỹ Lord your God & his people Israel. And prepare youre selues by youre auncyente housholdes & companyes, accordyng to ỹ wrytynge of Dauid kynge of Israell, & the wrytynge of Salomon hys sõne. And stande in the holy place accordynge to the deuysions of the auncient housholdes of your brethrẽ the chyldren of the people, & after the deuysyon of the auncyente housholdes of the Leuites, & kil passeouer, sãctifie & prepare your brethrẽ that they may do accordynge to the worde of the lord by the hande of Moses.

And Josiah gaue to the comen people in lambes & kiddes, for passeouer offerinnges only, vnto al ỹ were present. xxx. thousande by tale, & thre thousande oxen, euen of ỹ kinges substaunce. And hys Lordes
B gaue willingly both vnto ỹ people & also vnto ỹ preestes & vnto ỹ Leuites. Helkiah, Zachariah & Jehiel, rulers of the house of god, gaue vnto the preastes for passeouer offerinnges. ii. thousand & syxe hundred lãbes & kiddes, & thre hũdred oxen. And Conaniah withe Semeiah & Nathaneell his brethren, and Hasabiah and Jaiel and Josabad Lordes of the Leuites, gaue vnto ỹ Leuites fyue thousand passeouer offerinnges, and fyue hundred oxen.

And so the seruice went forwarde: and the preestes stode in theyr places, & the Leuites in theyr cõpanyes at the kynges commaundement. And they slewe passeouer: & the preestes sprynckled the bloude receauinge it of the Leuites, and the Leuites strypt the beastes. And they kett away the burnt offerynge, to geue them vnto the comẽ people as they were deuyded by auncient houses, for to offer vnto the lorde, lyke as it is wrytten in the boke of Moses. And so dyd they w the oxen to. And they dressed the passeouer with fyre as ỹ maner was. But the other halowed dedycate beastes they sodde in pottes, cauldrons & pãnes & deuided them quickly amonge al the comẽ people. And afterwarde they made readye for them selues & for the preastes and for the chyldren of Aaron, whiche were busied in offerynge of burntoffrynges & the fatte vntyll nyghte. And therfore the Leuites prepared for thẽ selues and for ỹ preestes the sonnes of Aaron. And the syngers the childzen of Asaph stode in their standyng accordyng to the cõmaundement of Dauid & Asaph, Heman & Jduthun the kynges sear of visions: & ỹ porters waited at euery gate, & might not depart from theyr seruice: But their brethrẽ the Leuites prepared for thẽ. And so al ỹ seruice of ỹ lorde wẽt forward the saide daye, in offerynge passeouer of burntoffrynges vpõ the aulter of the Lorde, accordyng to the cõmaundement of kynge Josiah.

nota for kynge not prepared for

And so the chyldren of Israel ỹ coulde be founde, offered passeouer the same time and kepte the feaste of swete bredde seuen daies. And ther was no passeouer like to ỹ kept i Israel frõ ỹ tyme of Samuel ỹ prophete: nether dyd anye of the kynges of Israel holde soche a passeouer feaste as dyd Josiah and the preestes & Leuites and all Juda, and al inoche of Israel as could be had had, & ỹ enhabiters of Jerusalē. And this passeouer was holden in the .xviii. yere of the raygne of Josiah.

Eliakim Jehoaci. Zedekiah

D xxxv. xxxvi. E

* After all this, whē Josiah had finisshed the temple, Necho kyng of Egypt came vp to fight agaynste Carcamis vpon Euphrates, & Josiah wēt out agaynst hi. And the other sent messengers to him saynge: what haue I to do with the thou kynge of Juda? I came not agaynste ỹ nowe at this tyme, but against an house wt whō I haue warre, and god bademe hast. Leaue of therfore and medle not wt god which is wt me, least he destroy the. Neuertheles Josiah turned not his face frō hi, but made hym readye to fyght wyth him, & herkened not vnto the wordes of Necho out of the mouthe of god. And whē he was come to fyght in the valeye of Magedo, the shooters shot agaynst the king Josiah. And ỹ kyng sayde to hys seruauntes: carie me away, for I am sore hurte. And his seruaūtes had him out of ỹ charet and put him in another, & brought him to Jerusalē wher he dyed & was buryed in the sepulchre of his fathers. * And all Juda & Jerusalem mourned for Josiah. And Jeremiah lamēted Josiah, and al syngyng men & syngynge wemen speake of Josiah to this day, & made it an ordinaunce in Israel: & they be wrytte in the lamentacyons. The rest of ỹ actes of Josiah & his goodnes in folowinge the writyng of the lawe, & hys deades fyrst & last ar wrytten in the boke of ỹ kinges of Israel and Juda.

nota nota Josiah was slayn at Barzy & ouer gone was slayn but at Jerusalem

Sacha. xli. d

¶ After Josiah raigneth Jehoahaz, after Jehoahaz Jehoakim, after Jehoakim Jehoiachin, after Jehoiachin Zedekiah, in whose tyme all the people were caryed away to Babilō and were brought agayne. xl. yere after, by kyng Cyrus.

The .xxxvi. Chapter.

A

xxiii. xxv. xxvii. E

AND the people of the land toke Jehoahaz ỹ sonne of Josiah & made him kyng for his father in Jerusalem. And Jehoahaz was .xxiii. yere olde whē he begānne to raigne, and he raigned thre monethes in Jerusalē. For the kyng of Egypte put hym downe at Jerusalē & mulcted the lande in an hundred talentes of syluer & a talent of goulde. And ỹ kyng of Egipt made Eliakim hys brother kyng vpō Juda & Jerusalē, & turned his name vnto Jehoaki, but Jehoahaz his brother Necho toke & caryed him to Egipt. And Jehoakim was .xxv. yere olde when he begānne to raigne, & he raigned a .xi. yere in Jerusalē: & he dyd ỹ displeased ỹ lord his god. Against him came Nabuchodonozor king of Babilon & bounde hym in fetters to carye him to Babilon. Therto the king Nabuchodonozor caryed of the vessels of B the house of the Lord to Babilon and put them in his temple at Babilon. The reste of the actes of Jehoakim, & hys Abhomynacyons, and that was laid to his charge, are wrytte in the boke of the Kinges of Israell: and Jehoacin hys sonne raygned in his stead. Jehoacin was .viii. yere old whē he begānne to raygne, and he raigned thre monethes and tē dayes in Jerusalē: & did ỹ displeased ỹ Lord. And whē ỹ yere was out, king Nabuchodonozor sent & fet him to Babilon wt ỹ goodlye vessels of ỹ house of the lord, & made Zedekiah is * brother kyng ouer Juda and Jerusalem.

* here brother is take for vncle, by a maner of speache of ỹ Hebrue

And Zedekiah was .xxi. yere old when he begānne to raigne, & raygned a .xi. yere in Jerusalem. And he dyd that displeased the Lord his god, & humbled not him selfe before Jeremiah the prophete at ỹ mouth of the Lord. And therto he rebelled against Nabuchodonozor which had receaued oth of him by god, & was to styfe necked & to harde herted to turne vnto the Lorde god of Israel. Therto al the rulers of the prestes wt ỹ people trespaced a pace after al maner of abhomynacyons of the hethē & poluted ỹ house of ỹ lorde which he had halowed in Jerusalem.

C

nota ỹ he polluted ỹ house of god

And ỹ Lord God of their fathers sent to thē by his messengers, sendynge thē betymes: for he had compassyon on hys people and on hys dwellyng place. But they mocked the messengers of God and despised their wordes & mysse vsed his prophetes, vntyll ỹ wrath of the Lord so arose against hys people that it was past remedie. And so he brought vpō them the king of Caldeye & slue their young men wt the swerd in their holy temple, & nether spared younge man or mayden, nether olde man, nether so moch as him ỹ stowped for age: But gaue all into his hande.

nota ỹ plage of god

And al ỹ vessels of ỹ house of god both great and smalle, and the treasures of the house of God, & the treasures of the kyng and

and hys Lordes he carted to Babilon euery whit. And they burnt the house of God & brake downe the walles of Jerusalem, & burnt al the palaces therof with fyre with al thegoodly stooffe therof, and marred it. And he caryed awaye them that had escaped the swerde, to Babilō, wher they were seruauntes to hym & his chyldren, vntill ỹ kyngdom of Persia begāne to rule, to fulfyll the worde of the Lorde by the mouthe of Jeremiah, vntyl the lande had her pleasure of her Sabothes: for as long as she laye desolate, she kepte Saboth vntyl she had fullfylled. lxx. yeres.

*And the fyrst yere of Cyrus kynge of Persia to fyntsche the worde of the lord by ỹ mouth of Jeremiah, the Lorde stered vp the spirite of Cyrus kyng of Persia, ỹ he made a proclamacion thorow oute all his kingdom, & therto set it vp in writing, saytinge: Thus sayth Cyrus king of Persia, all the kingdomes of the erthe hath ỹ lord god of heuē geuē me, which hath charged me to buylde hym an house in Jerusalem that is in the lād of Juda. Wherfore whosoeuer is amonge you of all hys people, the Lorde his God be wythe him, and let hym go vp.

¶ The ende of the second boke of the Chronycles of the Kynges of Juda.

¶ The. i. boke of Esdras the Prophete.

¶ Cyrus ſedeth againe the people that was in captiuitie, and restored them their holy vessels: And cōmaundeth them to buylde agayne the temple.

The. I. Chapter.

IN the fyrste yere of Cyrus kynge of Persia (ỹ the worde of the Lorde spoken by the mouth of Jeremie might be fullfylled) the lorde stered vp ỹ spyrete of Cyrus king of Persia, ỹ he caused it be proclamed thorowe out al his empire, yee & by wryting also, sayeng: Thus saith Cyrus ỹ king of Persia: The Lord god of heauē hath geuen me all the kingdomes in the lande * and hathe commaunded me to buylde him an house at Jerusalem in Juda. Wherfore whosoeuer now amōg you is of his people, the Lord his god be with hym, & let him go vp to Jerusalem in Juda, & buylde the house of the Lorde God of Israell. He is the God that is at Jerusalem. And whosoeuer remaynethe yet in eny maner of place (where he is a straunger) let the mē of hys place helpe him with siluer & goulde, with good & catel beside ỹ whiche they wyllyngelye offer, for the house of God at Jerusalem.

Then gatt vp ỹ pryncypall fathers of Juda and Ben Jamin, & the preastes and Leuites, & all they whose spryte God had rayſed to go vp, and to buylde the house of ỹ Lord at Jerusalem. And al they that were about them, strengthed their hand wt vessels of syluer and golde, withe good & catel, and Jewels, beside that whych they gaue of theyr owen frewyl. And king Cyrus broughte forth of the vesselles of the house of the lorde, which Nabuchodonozor had takē oute of Jerusalē, & put in the house of his god. But Cirus the kinge of Persia brought thē forth by Mithridates ỹ treasurer, & nūbred thē vnto Sesbazar ỹ prince of Juda. And this is ỹ nūbre of thē: thirtie basens of gould, and a thousād basens of syluer, & nine and twentie knyues, xxx. cuppes of gould, & of other siluer cuppes foure hundred and ten, & of other vessels a thousād. So that all ỹ vessels both of goulde & syluer, were fyue thousand & foure hūdred. Sesbazar brought them al vp, wyth thē that came vp out of ỹ captiuite of Babilon vnto Jerusalem.

¶ The nombre of thē that returned frō captiuytie.

The. ii. Chapter.

THese are the chyldren of the land that wēt vp oute of the captyuyte (whō Nabuchodonozor ỹ kyng of Babilō had caryed away vnto Babilon) and came againe vnto Jerusalē and in to Juda, euery one vnto hys citye, and came with Zorobabel: Jesua, Nehemiah, Saraiah, Raclatah, Mardochai, Belsā, Melphar, Begauai, Rehum & Baanah. This is nowe the numbre of the men of the people of Israell: The chyldren of Pharos, two thousande, an hūdred, & two and seuētye: the chyldren of Saphatiah thre hundred and two & seuētē: the chyldren of Arath, seuē hundred & fyue and seuētye: the chyldren and hys Lordes he carted to Babilon euery whit. And they burnt the house of God & brake downe the walles of Jerusalem, & burnt al the palaces therof with fyre with al thegoodly stooffe therof, and marred it. And he caryed awaye them that had escaped the swerde, to Babilō, wher they were seruauntes to hym & his chyldren, vntill ỹ kyngdom of Persia begāne to rule, to fulfyll the worde of the Lorde by the mouthe of Jeremiah, vntyl the lande had her pleasure of her Sabothes: for as long as she laye desolate, she kepte Saboth vntyl she had fullfylled. lxx. yeres.

*And the fyrst yere of Cyrus kynge of Persia to fyntsche the worde of the lord by ỹ mouth of Jeremiah, the Lorde stered vp the spirite of Cyrus kyng of Persia, ỹ he made a proclamacion thorow oute all his kingdom, & therto set it vp in writing, saytinge: Thus sayth Cyrus king of Persia, all the kingdomes of the erthe hath ỹ lord god of heuē geuē me, which hath charged me to buylde hym an house in Jerusalem that is in the lād of Juda. Wherfore whosoeuer is amonge you of all hys people, the Lorde his God be wythe him, and let hym go vp.

¶ The ende of the second boke of the Chronycles of the Kynges of Juda.

¶ The. i. boke of Esdras the Prophete.

¶ Cyrus ſedeth againe the people that was in captiuitie, and restored them their holy vessels: And cōmaundeth them to buylde agayne the temple.

The. I. Chapter.

IN the fyrste yere of Cyrus kynge of Persia (ỹ the worde of the Lorde spoken by the mouth of Jeremie might be fullfylled) the lorde stered vp ỹ spyrete of Cyrus king of Persia, ỹ he caused it be proclamed thorowe out al his empire, yee & by wryting also, sayeng: Thus saith Cyrus ỹ king of Persia: The Lord god of heauē hath geuen me all the kingdomes in the lande * and hathe commaunded me to buylde him an house at Jerusalem in Juda. Wherfore whosoeuer now amōg you is of his people, the Lord his god be with hym, & let him go vp to Jerusalem in Juda, & buylde the house of the Lorde God of Israell. He is the God that is at Jerusalem. And whosoeuer remaynethe yet in eny maner of place (where he is a straunger) let the mē of hys place helpe him with siluer & goulde, with good & catel beside ỹ whiche they wyllyngelye offer, for the house of God at Jerusalem.

Then gatt vp ỹ pryncypall fathers of Juda and Ben Jamin, & the preastes and Leuites, & all they whose spryte God had rayſed to go vp, and to buylde the house of ỹ Lord at Jerusalem. And al they that were about them, strengthed their hand wt vessels of syluer and golde, withe good & catel, and Jewels, beside that whych they gaue of theyr owen frewyl. And king Cyrus broughte forth of the vesselles of the house of the lorde, which Nabuchodonozor had takē oute of Jerusalē, & put in the house of his god. But Cirus the kinge of Persia brought thē forth by Mithridates ỹ treasurer, & nūbred thē vnto Sesbazar ỹ prince of Juda. And this is ỹ nūbre of thē: thirtie basens of gould, and a thousād basens of syluer, & nine and twentie knyues, xxx. cuppes of gould, & of other siluer cuppes foure hundred and ten, & of other vessels a thousād. So that all ỹ vessels both of goulde & syluer, were fyue thousand & foure hūdred. Sesbazar brought them al vp, wyth thē that came vp out of ỹ captiuite of Babilon vnto Jerusalem.

¶ The nombre of thē that returned frō captiuytie.

The. ii. Chapter.

THese are the chyldren of the land that wēt vp oute of the captyuyte (whō Nabuchodonozor ỹ kyng of Babilō had caryed away vnto Babilon) and came againe vnto Jerusalē and in to Juda, euery one vnto hys citye, and came with Zorobabel: Jesua, Nehemiah, Saraiah, Raclatah, Mardochai, Belsā, Melphar, Begauai, Rehum & Baanah. This is nowe the numbre of the men of the people of Israell: The chyldren of Pharos, two thousande, an hūdred, & two and seuētye: the chyldren of Saphatiah thre hundred and two & seuētē: the chyldren of Arath, seuē hundred & fyue and seuētye: the chyldren

Nomber of ye captayne of Moab

childrē of *Pahath Moab amōg ȳ childrē of Jesua Joab, two. M. eight hundred & twelue: the childre of Elam, a thousande, two hundred & toure & fyftye: the childrē of Zethua, nyne hūdred, & fiue & fourtie: ȳ childrē of Sakai, seuē hūdred & .xl. score: the childrē of Bani, sixe hūdred & two and fourtie: the children of Bebai, sixe hūdred and thre & twentye, the childrē of Asgad, a thousande two hundred and two & twentye: the children of Adonicā, sixe hūdred & syxe & syxtie: the children of Beguai, two thousand & syxe and fyftye: the childrē of Adin, foure hundred & foure and fyftie: ȳ chyldren of Ater of Hezekiah, eight & nine tye: the childrē of Bezai, thre hundred & thre and twentye: the chyldren of Jozath, an hūdred & twelue: the children of Hasū, two hundred and thre & twentye: the chyldren of Gebar, fyue and nynetye: the children of Bethlehem, an hundred and thre & twentye: the men of Netopha syxe and fyftye: the men of Anathoth, an hundred and eyght and twentye: the chyldren of Asmaueth, two & fourtye: the chrldren of Kartath Jarim, Ciphirah and Beeroth seuen hūdred and thre and fourtye: the chyldren of Ramah and Gabaah, syxe hūdred .x. & twentye: the men of Machmas, an hundred and two and twentye: the men of Bethell and Ai, two hundred and thre and twentye: the chyldren of Nebo, two & fyftye: the chyldren of Magbis, an hūdred & syxe and fyftye: the chyldren of the other Elam a thousande, two hūdred and foure and fyftye: the children of Harim, thre hūdred and twentye: the chyldren of Lodhadid and Ono, seuen hundred and .v. & twē tye: the children of Jericho, thre hūdred & fyue & fourtye: the chyldren of Senaah, thre thousande, syxe hundred and thirtye.

The prestes. The childrē of Jedaiah of the house of Jesua, nyne hundred & thre & seuentie: the children of Emer, a thousand and two & fiftie: the children of Phashur: a thousand & two hundred, and seuen and fourtie: the children of Harim, a thousād and seuentene.

The Leuites. The childrē of Jesua & Cadmiel of the childrē of Hodauiah, foure and seuentye. The syngers, the chyldren of Asaph, an hundred and eight and twentye. The chyldren of the dorekepers. The chyldren of Selum, the chyldren of Ater, the chyldren of Talmon, the childrē Akub, the chyldren of Hatita, and the children of Sobai: all to geather an hundred and nyne and thyrtye.

The Nethinims, the children of Ziha, the childrē of Hasupha, ȳ childrē of Thabaoth, the chyldren of Ceros, the chyldren of Sieha, the chyldren of Phadō, the children of Lebanah, the chyldren of Hagabah, the children of Acub, the chyldren of Hagab, the childrē of Samlai, the childrē of Hanan, the chyldren of Gadel, the chyldrē of Gahar, ȳ childrē of Reaiah, the children of Razin, the chyldren of Necuba, ȳ chyldren of Gazan, ȳ chyldren of Usa, the childrē of Phasseah, ȳ childrē of Bessai, ȳ chyldren of Asena, the childrē of Meuni, the chyldren of Nephussim, the children of Bacbuc, the chyldren of Hacupha, the children of Harhur, ȳ children of Bazeluth, ȳ childrē of Mahira, ȳ childrē of Harsa, the childrē of Barcos, the childrē of Sisara, the childrē of Thamah, ȳ chyldren of Neziah, the children of Hatipha.

The chyldren of Salomōs seruaūtes, The children of Sotai, ȳ children of Sopheteth, the children of Pharuda, ȳ children of Jaalah, ȳ children of Darcon, the childrē of Gedel, the chyldren of Saphatiah, the chyldren of Hattil, the children of Pochereth of Zebaim, ȳ children of Ami. All the Nethinims & the chyldren of Salomōs seruaūtes were all to geather, thre hundred and two and nynetye.

And these wente vp also, Thelmelah, Thell Harsa, Cherub, Addon and Emer. But they coulde not shewe their fathers house nor their seede, whether they were of Israel. The chyldren of Dalaiah, the children of Tobiah, the chyldren of Necoda, syxe hundred and two & fiftye. And of the D childrē of the prestes. The childrē of Hobaiah, ȳ childrē of Hakoz, ȳ childrē of Berzilai, whyche toke one of the daughters of Berzilai ȳ Galaadite to wyfe, & was coūted amonge the same names: these sought the regyster of their byrthe, and found none, therfore were they put frō ȳ preesthode. And Hathirsatha sayde vnto them, that they shulde not eate of the most holye, tyl there rose vp a preest with the *lyght and perfectnesse. *exo. xxviii. c

The

The whole congregacion as one man, was two and fourtye thouſand, thre hundred and thre ſcore: beſide their ſeruaūtes and maydens, of whome there were ſeuen thouſande, thre hundred and ſeuē and thirtye. And they had two hundred ſyngynge men and wemen, ſeuen hundred and ſixe & thyrtye horſes, two hundred and fyue and fourtye Mules, foure hundred and fyue and thirtye Camels, and ſyxe thouſand, ſeuen hundred and twentye Aſſes. And certaine of ỹ chefe fathers, whē they came to the houſe of the Lorde at Jeruſalem, they offered wyllingly vnto the houſe of God, ỹ it ſhulde be ſet in his place, and gaue after their abilite vntoỹ treaſure of ỹ worck, one and thre ſcore thouſand drāmes, & .v. thouſande pounde of ſyluer, and an hundred preſtes garmentes. So the preſtes & the Leuites, and certayne of ỹ people and the ſyngers, and the porters, and the Nethinims dwelte in their cytyes, and all Iſraell in theyr cytyes.

¶ After the foundacō of ỹ temple once renued they ſacrifyce vnto the Lorde.

The.iii. Chapter.

And when the ſeuenth moneth came & the chyldren of Iſrael were now in theyr cities, the people came together cuē as one man, vnto Jeruſalē. And there ſtode vp Jeſua the ſonne of Joſedec and his brethren the preſtes, and Zorobabel the ſōne of Salathiel & hys brethren, and buylded the aultare of the God of Iſrael, to offer burntofferynges theron, as it is wrytten in the lawe of Moſes the man of God, & the aultar ſet they vpon hys ſockettes (for there was a fearfulnes among them because of the nacions and landes) & offered burntofferynges theron vnto the Lord* in the mornyng & at euē. And held the feaſt of Tabernacles as it is written, and offered burntſacrifices daylye in order, accordynge to the cuſtome, daye by daye. Afterwarde the daylye burntoffe rynges alſo, and of the new Mones & of all the feaſt dayes of the Lorde that were halowed, and all maner of frewill offerynges, which they dyd of their owne fre wyll vnto the Lorde.

Upon the fyrſte daye of the ſeuēth moneth begāne they to offer burntſacrifices vnto the Lorde. But the foundacion of ỹ temple of the Lorde was not yet layd. Neuertheles they gaue money vnto thee maſons and carpenters, and meate and drinke and oyle vnto them of Zidō & of Tire, to brynge them Cedre tymbre from Libanus by See vnto* Joppa, accordynge to the commaundement of Cyrus the kyng of Perſia. Otherwyſe Japhe.

¶

In the ſeconde yere of their commynge vnto the houſe of God at Jeruſalem in ỹ ſecond monethe, begānne Zorobabel the ſonne of Salathiell, and Jeſua thee ſonne of Joſedec, & the remnaūt of their brethrē the preaſtes and Leuites, and al they that were come out of the captyuite vnto Jeruſalem, & appoynted the Leuites from twēty yere olde and aboue, to ſe that the worcke of the houſe of the Lorde went forwarde. And Jeſua ſtode wyth his ſonnes, and brethren, & Cadmiel wyth his ſonnes, and the chyldren of Juda, to forther the worckmen of the houſe of God, namely the chyldren of Henadad wyth their chyldren and their brethren the Leuites.

And when the buylders layde the foundacion of the temple of the Lord, the preaſtes rode in their araye, wyth trompettes. And the Leuites the chyldren of Aſaph wt cymbales, to prayſe the Lorde* after the maner of Dauid kynge of Iſrael. And they ſange together, geuynge prayſe & thankes vnto the Lorde, becauſe he is gracious, and becauſe his mercy endureth forever vpon Iſrael. And all ỹ people ſhouted loude in prayſinge the Lorde, becauſe the foundacion of ỹ houſe of the lord was layde. Manye alſo of the olde preſtes and Leuites and auncīēt fathers, whiche had ſene ỹ firſt houſe: whē the foūdaciō of this houſe was laied before their eyes, wept wt a loude voyce. And manye ſhouted wythe ioye, ſo that the noyſe gaue a great ſound, in ſo moch ỹ the people coulde not knowe the ioyfull ſounde for the noyſe of the weepynge amonge the people: for the people ſhouted with a loude crye, ſo that the noyſe was herde farre of.

¶ The buylding of the temple is hyndered, and diet.

The.iiii. Chapter.

But when the aduerſaryes of Juda and Bē Jamin heard, & ỹ chyldrē of the captyuite buylde buylde the temple vnto the Lorde God of Israel, they came to Zorobabell and to the pryncypall fathers, and sayde vnto them: We wyll buylde wyth you: for we seke ꝑ Lorde youre God lyke as ye do. And we haue done sacrifyce vnto him, sence the tyme that Asor Hadon the kynge of Assur brought vs vp hyther. But Zorobabel and Jesua and the other auncient fathers of Israell answered them: It belongethe not to you, but to vs to buyld ꝑ house vnto oure God: for we oure selues wyl buyld alone vnto the Lord our God of Israel, *as Cyrus the kynge of Persia hathe commaunded vs.

Eldr.4a

B Then the folcke of the lande hyndered the people of Juda, and made them afrayde to builde, and hyred counceilers against them and hyndered theyr deuyce, as longe as Cyrus the kynge of Persia lyued, vntyl the raygne of Darius king of Persia. But when Ahasuerus was kynge, in the begynnynge of hys raygne wrott they vnto hym a complaynte agaynst them of Juda and Jerusalem.

And in the tyme of Artharerses, wrote Bisellam, Mithridates, Thabeel and the other of their councell vnto Artharerses the kynge of Persia. But the scripture of the letter was wrytten in the Syrias speache, and was interpretated in the langage of the Syrians. Rehum the chaunceler, and Samsat the scrybe, wrote thys letter agaynste Jerusalem to Artharerses the kynge.

or, as some will pretende of the cõcel.

We Rehum the *chaunceler, and Sãsat the scrybe, and other of the councell of Dina, of Arphasath, of Tarplat, of Persia, of Arach, of Babilon, of Susan, of Deha, and of Elam, and other of the people, whome greate and nooble Asenaphar brought ouer, and set in the cyties of Samaria, and other on thys syde the water, & in Ceneeth. And thys is the summe of the letter that they sente vnto kynge Artharerses.

& or, peace or health.

C Thy seruaũtes the mẽ on this syde the water & in Ceneeth. Be it knowne vnto ꝑ kyng, that the Jewes are come vp from ꝑ to vs vnto Jerusalem a cyte seduclous & frowarde, and buylde the same, and lay ꝑ foundacion of the walles therof, & repaire them. Be it knowne now therfore vnto the king, that yf this cyte be buylded and the walles made vp agayne, thẽ shal not they gyue tribute, tolle, and yearly custome, * & euẽ vnto ꝑ kynges shal this hurt redownde. But nowe what we all are therby why che destroyed thee temple, we wolde no lõger se the kynges dyshonoure. Therefore sent we out, & caused the kynge to be certyfyed therof: That it maye be soughte in ꝑ Chronycles of thy progenitoures, and so shalt thou fynde in the same Chronicles, & perceaue, that this citie is seditious & noysome vnto kynges & landes, & ꝑ they cause other also to rebel of olde, & for ꝑ same cause was thys citie destroyed. Therefore do we certifye ꝑ kyng, that yf thys citie be buylded, and the walles therof made vp, thou shalt kepe nothyng on this side ꝑ water by the reason of it.

Some rede and ꝑ kinges tribute may incure damage

D Thẽ sẽt the kynge an ãswere vnto Rehum the chaunceler, & Samsat the Scribe, & to ꝑ other of their councel ꝑ dwelt in Samaria, & vnto ꝑ other beyond the water. Peace & salutacõ. The letter which ye sẽt vnto vs, hath bene opẽly red before me, and I haue cõmaũded to make searche: & it is foũd, ꝑ this citie of olde hath made insurrectiõ agaīst kinges, & how ꝑ vprore & rebelliõ hath bene cõmitted therī. There haue bene mighte kinges also at Jerusalẽ which haue raigned ouer all that is beyonde the water, & tolle, trybute & yearlye custome was geuẽ vnto them. Do ye now after thys commaundemẽt, forbid the same men, that the citie be not builded, til I haue geuẽ cõmaũdemẽt. Take hede nowe that ye be not negligent here in, lest the kinge haue harme there thorowe.

Nowe when kinge Artharerses letter was red before Rehum the chaũceler and Samsat the Scrybe and their councell, they wẽt vp in all the haste to Jerusalem vnto the Jewes, & forbad them with violence and power. Then ceassed the worck of the house of God at Jerusalẽ, & contynued so vnto the seconde yere of Darius kynge of Persia.

¶ By the exhortacyon of Aggeus and zacharī is the temple buylde agayne.

The.v. Chapter.

THe Prophetes, Aggeus and Zachary ꝑ sõne of Ado, prophecied vnto ꝑ Jewes ꝑ were in

V titi. eld. vi. a in Juda & Jerusalē, in the name of ỹ God of Israel. Thē gat vp Zorobabel the sonne of Salachiel, & Jesua the sonne of Josedec, & began to buylde the house of God at Jerusalem, and wyth them the Prophetes of God whiche helped thē. At the same tyme came to thē Thathanai the captaine on thys syde the watet, & Stārbuzanai, & their coūcelers, & said thus vnto thē. Who hath cōmaunded you to builde this house and to make vp thee walles therof? Then tolde we thē the names of the men, ỹ made thys buylding. But the eye of theyr God came vpon the Eldets of the Jewes, that they coulde not cause them to ceasse, tyl the matter was brought before Darius, & tyl they had answered by letters ther vnto.

B

Thys is the copte of the letter that Thathanai the captayne on this side the water and Starbuzanai, and theyr councellers of Apharsach (which were on this syde the water) sent vnto kinge Darius. And thys is the entent of the wordes that they sente vnto him: Unto Darius the king, All peace. Be it knowē vnto the king, that we came into Jewry to the house of ỹ great god which is buylded with *roughe stone, and beames ar layed in the walles, & ỹ worcke goeth fast forth, & prospereth in their handes. Wherfore we asked therfore the elders & saydē vnto them: Who hath cōmaunded you to buyld this house, & to make vp the walles thereof? We asked theyr names also, ỹ we might certyfie the, & haue written the names of the men that were theyr rulers.

*Vg. Malo Ut Marble

C

But they answered vs wyth these wordes, & sayd: We are the seruauntes of the God of heauen & earth, & buyld the house that was buylded many yeres a go *whych a great kyng of Israel buylded & sett vp And after oure fathers had prouoked the God of heauē vnto wrath, *he gaue them ouer in the hande of Nabuchodonor thee kyng of Babilon the Caldee, which brake downe thys house, and caryed thee people awaye vnto Babilon.

*3. Reg. vi. a. 1. Par. xxii. a

*4. Reg. xxiiii and xxv

*But in ỹ fyrst yere of Cyrus the king of Babilō, the same kynge Cirus cōmaūded to buylde thys house of God, for thee vesselles of gould & syluer in the house of God, whyche Nabuchodonozor toke oute of the temple at Jerusalem, and broughte them into the temple at Babilō, those dyd

1. Esdr. i. a

D

Cyrus the king take oute of the temple at Babilon, *& delyuered thē vnto Sasbazar by name, whō he made captaine, & said vnto him. Take these vessels, go thy way and bringe them vnto the tēple at Jerusalem, & lett the house of God be buylded in hys place. Then came the same Sasbazar and layde thee foundation of the house of God at Jerusalē. Sence that tyme hath it bene in buylding, & yet is it not fynished. Yf it please the kyng now, let ther be serch made in the kynges treasure house which is at Babilon, whether it haue bene kyng Cyrus commaundemente, that the house of God at Jerusalem shulde be buylded: and sende vs thee kynges mynde concernyng the same.

1. Esdr. i. b

Cap. i. The cōmaundemēt of Darius king of Persia after the tēple was buylded and dedycat, the childrē of Israel kepe the feast of vnleuended bread.

The. vi. Chapter.

Then cōmaunded king Darius, ỹ serch shuld be made in the library of the kinges treasure house, which laye at Babilon. *‡So at Egbathanis in a castel that lyeth in the lād of the Medes, thet was foūd a boke, & in it was ther an acte writtē after this maner: In ỹ first yere of king Cirus, commaūded the same king Cirus to buylde the house of God at Jerusalē, in the place whete the sacrifices is made, & to laye the foundation to beare thre score cubites heyght, & thre score cubites bredth, & thre walles of rough stones, and one walle of timber, and the expences shalbe geuē of the kinges house. And thee gould & siluer vessell of the house of God (which Nabuchodonozor toke out of ỹ tēple at Jerusalē, & brought vnto Babilō) shalbe restored agayne, that they maye be brought vnto the temple at Jerusalem to theyr place into the house of God.

A

1. Esdr. vi. b

Get you farre frō thē therfore, ỹ Thathanai captaine beyoūd ỹ water, & Sthar buzanai, & your councelers which are beyond the water, get ye away frō them. Let thē worke in ỹ house of God, that the captayne of the Jewes and theyr elders maye buyld the house of god in his place. I haue cōmaunded also what shalbe done to ỹ elders of Juda for the buylding of ỹ house of God, that ther shall diligently be taken of ỹ kinges goodes, euen of the rentes beyond the water, & geuen vnto the men, & that they be not hindred. And yf they haue neade of calues, lambes, or goates, for the burntoffring vnto the god of heauē, wheate, salt, wine & oyle, after the customeof the priestes at Jerusalē, ther shalbe geuen thē dayly as is according: and se that thys be done wyth out faute, that they maye offre swete sauoures vnto the God of heauē, & praye for the kinges lyfe, & for his childrē This cōmaundement haue I geuen. And what mā soeuer he be ỹ altereth these wordes, ther shal a beame be takē frō his house, & set vp, & he shalbe hanged theron, and his house shalbe prayed for the dede.

B

But the God that dwelleth in heauē, destroye al kinges & people, that put to their hand to alter & to breake downe the house of God at Jerusalem. I Darius haue cōmaunded, that this be diligently done.

Thē Thathanai the captayne beyond ỹ water, & Stharbuzanai with their counceilers (to whom king Darius had sent) dyd theyr diligence. And the Elders of the Jewes buylded, & they prospered thorow the Prophecienge of Aggeus the prophet and Zacharye the sonne of Addo: & they bylded and set vp the worke, according to the commaundemēt of the God of Jsrael, & after the cōmaundemēt of Cyrus, Darius and Artharerses kynges of Persia. And they perfourmed the house vnto the thyrd day of the moneth Adar, that was in the syxte yere of the raygne of king Darius.

*And the childrē of Jsrael, the priestes, ỹ Leuites, & the other childrē of the captiuyte helde the dedication of the house of god wyth ioye, & offred at the dedication of the house of God, an hundred calues, two hundred lambes foure hundred goates: & for the synneoffringe for all Jsrael twelue he goates, according to the nombre of the tribes of Jsrael, & set the priestes in their courses, & the Leuites in theyr offices to mynister vnto God whyche is at Jerusalem as it is wrytten in the Boke of Moyses.

And the childrē of the captiuite helde Passeouer vpō the fourteth daye of thee first moneth: for the priestes & Leuites had purified them selues, so that they were all cleane as one man, & kylled Passeouer for al the childrē of the captyuite, & for their brethren the Priestes, and for them selues.

And the chyldren of Jsrael which were come agayne out of captiuite, and al soch as had separated thē selues vnto them from the fylthynesse of the Hethen in the lande, to seke the Lord God of Jsrael, ate & held the feast of vnleuended bred seuen dayes with ioye: for the Lord had made thē glad and turned the hert of the kynge of Assur vnto them, so that theyr hādes were strēgthed in the worke of the house of God, whyche is the God of Jsraell.

The Notes.

*& Some reade. And ther was founde in a cofre (that was in the palace in the lād of Medes) a volume: and therin was wrytten soche a memorial, &c.

¶ By the commaundement of Artharerses. Esdras taketh his cōpanyons the chyldrē of Jsrael, and returneth to Jerusalem.

The. vii. Chapter.

AFter these actes in the raygne of Artharerses king of Persia, ther went vp frō Babilon Esdras the sōne of Saraiah the sonne of Asariah, the sōne of Helkiah, the sonne of Selum, the sonne of Zadoc, the sonne of Ahitob, thee sonne of Amariah, the sonne of Asariah, the sōne of Maraioth, thee sonne of Zaraiah, thee sonne of Ozi, the sōne of Boki, the sōne of Abisua, the sonne of Phinehes, the sonne of Eleazar, the sonne of Aaron thee chefe preste. This Esdras was a quicke scrybe in the lawe of Moyses, *which the Lorde god of Jsrael dyd geue. And the king gaue him al that he requyred, according to ỹ hāde of the Lord his God vppō him. And ther wēt vp certayne of the childrē of Jsrael, & of the priestes, & of the Leuites, of thee singers, of ỹ porters, & of thee Nethinims vnto Jerusalē, in the seuenth yere of King Artharerses. And they came to Jerusalem in ỹ fyfth moneth, that is the seuenth yere of the king. For vpon the first daye of the fyrst moneth, decreed he to go vp frō Babilon: & on the fyrst daye of the fyfth moneth came he to Jerusalem, according to the good hand of God vpō him. For Esdras prepared his hert to seke the lawe of the Lorde, and to do it, & do teache the precepte and iudgemente in Jsraell.

And thys is the coppye of the letter, thee kyng Artharerses gaue vnto Esdras the Prieste, the scrybe, which was a teacher in the wordes of the Lorde and of hys statutes ouer Jsracll. Vnto Esdras the Priest

and

and Scrybe in the lawe of the God of hea uē, peace & salutaciō. I haue cōmaūded, ỹ al they of the people of Israel, & of the pry stes & Leuites in my realme, whyche are mynded of theyr owne good wil to go vp to Jerusalē, that they go with the, beynge sent of the kinge & of the seuen Lordes of the coūcel, to vyset Juda & Jerusalem, ac cordyng to the law of God, which is in thy hand: And that thou shuldest take with ỹ, siluer & gould, which the king & the lordes of his coūcel geue of their owne good wyl vnto the God of Israell (whose habitaciō is at Jerusalem) & al the syluer and gould that thou canst fynd in al the coūtre of Ba bilon: wyth it that the people & prystes ge= uc of theyr owne good wyl vnto the house of God at Jerusalem.

¶ Take thou the same, & bye dyligentely with the same moneye, calues, lābes, goa= tes, & meatoffrynges & drynkeoffrynges: to be offered vppon the aultare of the house of your God at Jerusalē. And loke what it lyketh the and thy brethrē to do with the remnaunt of the moneye, that do after the wyll of youre God. And the vesselles that are geuē the for the ministratiō in the hou se of thy God, those delyuer thou before God at Jerusalem.

And whatsoeuer thyng more shal be ne deful for the house of thy God, which is ne cessary for the to spende, let thē same be ge uē out of the kinges chamber. I king Ar= thaxerses haue cōmaūded al the treasures beyonde thee water, that loke whatsoeuer Esdras the prieste and scrybe in the law of the God of heauen, requyreth of you, that ye fulfyl the same diligently, vntil an hun dred Talentes of syluer, vntyll an hun= dred Quarters of wheate, and tyll an hundred Batthes of wyne, and tyll an hū= dred* Batthes of oyle, and salte without measure. Whatsoeuer belōgeth to the law of the God of heauen, let the same be done with diligence for the house of the God of heauē, that there come no wrath vpon the kynges realme and his chyldren.

And knowē be it vnto you, that ye shal haue no auctorite to requyre tarynge & cu= stome, & yearly rentes vpō any of the prie stes, Leuites, singers, porters, Nethinims and mynisters in thee house of thys God.
But thou Esdras (after the wysdō of the God that is in thy hand) set thou iudges & arbiters, to iudge al the people that is be= yonde Jordan, euē all soche as knowe the lawe of thy God: and thē that know it not those se that ye teache. And whosoeuer wil not diligently fulfyll the lawe of thy God and the Kinges lawe, shal haue hys iudge mēt for the dead whether it be vnto death or to be banisshed, or too be condemned in goodes, or to be put in prison.

*Praysed be the Lord God of oure fa= iii.esdr.viii.c.
thers, which so hath inspired the Kynges hert to garnish the house of God at Jeru salē: & hath enclyned his mercy vnto me in the presence of the king, & his councelers, and before all the kinges hye estates. And I was comforted (according to the hāde of the Lord my God ouer me) & so geathered I the heades of Israel to gether, that they myght go vp with me.

¶ The nomber of thē that returned to Jerusalem wyth Esdras

The. viii. Chapter.

These are thee heades of theyr A iii.esdr.viii.c. fathers that were named, whi che went vp with me frō Ba= bilō, what tyme as kinge Ar= thaxerses raigned. Of ỹ chil= dren of Phinehes, Gersom: of the chyldrē of Ithamar, Daniel: of the childrē of Da uid, Hatus: of the childrē of Zecaniah, of the chyldrē of Pharos, Zachary, & wythe hym were nōbred an hundred & fyftie mē.
Of the children of Pahath Moab, Elioe nai the sonne of Zarahiah and wyth hym two hundred men. Of the chyldren of Ze chaniah the sonne of Jahasiel, & with hym thre hūdred men. Of the chyldren of Adin Abed the sonne of Jonathan, & with hym fyftie men. Of the chyldren of Elam, Je= saiah the sonne of Athaliah, & with hym se uentie men. Of the children of Saphatia Zabadiah the sonne of Michael, & wythe hym foure score men.

Of ỹ childrē of Joab, Obadiah ỹ sōne B of Jehiel, & wyth hym twoo hundred and xviii. men. Of the chyldren of Selomith.
the sonne of Josphiah, & with him an hun dred and thre men.

Of the chyldrē of Bebai, Zachary the sonne of Bebai, & with him eyght & twen tie mē. Of the childrē of Asgad, Johanā, the sonne of Hakatan, & wyth him an hun

dzed & ten men. Of the last childzē of Adonicam, & these were theyr names: Eliphelet, Jehiell & Samaiah, and with thē thre score men. Of the childzē of Begui, Uthai and Zabud & with thē seuentie men. And I geathered thē to geather by the water that renneth towarde Ahaua, & there abode we thre dayes. And whē I loked amonge the people and the prestes, I founde no Leuites there. Then sent I Elieser, Ariel, Semeiah, Elnathan, Jarib, Elnathā, Nathā Zachary & Mosolam the rulers, & Joarib and Elnathan the teachers, & those sent I vnto Edo the chefeste at Casphia, that thei shuld fetch vs ministers foz the house of oure God, & I told thē what they shuld saye vnto Edo and to his bzethzē the Nethinims at Casphia.

And (according to the good hand of our God vpō vs) they bzought vs a wyse mā from among the chyldzen of Moholi the sonne of Leui the sōne of Israell, euē Sarabia with his sonnes & bzethzē, eyghtene And Hasabia, & with him Isaiah of ỹ childzen of Merari, wyth his bzethzen & theyr sonnes, xx. And of the Nethinims, whome Dauid & ỹ Pzinces gaue to ministet vnto the Leuites, two hundzed and twentye, all named by name.

And cuē ther at the water beside Ahaua, caused I a a fasting to be pzoclamed, that we might hūble our selues before our God, to seke of him a right waye foz vs, & oure childzen and al oure substaunce. Foz I was ashamed to requyze of ỹ king, soudiers and hozsemē, to helpe vs against the enemye in the way. Foz we had sayd vnto the king: The hand of our God is vpō all thē that seke him in goodnes, and his vtosence and wzath vpō all them that forsake him. So we fasted, & sought thys at our God, and he hearde vs.

And I toke out twelue of the chefe prestes, Sarabia & Hasabia, and ten of theyr bzethzen wyth them, and weyed them there the syluer & gould & vesseles foz the heueoffring vnto the house of our God, whych the king and the Lozdes of his councell & pzinces, and al Israel that were at hande, had geuē to the heueoffringe: & ther weyed I them vnder theyr hand syxe hūdzed and fyftie talentes of syluer, & in syluer vessell an hundzed talentes, and in gould an hundzed talentes, twentie cuppes of gouide of a thousande dzammes, and two costely ornamētes of good bzasse, as cleare as gould, & sayd vnto them: Ye ar holy vnto the Lozde, therfoze are the vesselles holy also, and so is the syluer & gould that is geuen of a good wyl vnto the Lozd God of your fathers: Watch ye therfoze and kepe it, tyll ye wepe it downe befoze the chefe pzestes and Leuites, and auncient fathers of Israel at Jerusalem in the chestes of thee house of the Lozde. Then toke the prestes and Leuites that weyed syluer & gould & vessell, to bzinge it to Jerusalem vnto the house of our God. So we bzake vp, from the water of Ahaua on thee twelueth daye of the fyzst moneth, to go vnto Jerusalē: and the hand of our God was vpon vs, & delyuered vs from thee hande of thee enemies and pzeuye waytinges by the waye. And we came to Jerusalem, & abode there thze dayes. But on the fourth daye was ỹ syluer and gouide, and vessell weyed in ỹ house of our God vnder the hand of Meremoth the sonne of Uzias the pzieste, and wyth hym Eleazar the sonne of Phinehes and wyth them Iosabad the sonne of Iesua, and Noadiah the sonne of Benoi the Leuites, according to the nombze & weigh te of euerye one. And the weyghte was all wzytten vp at the same tyme.

And the childzen of the captiuite, which were come out of pzeson, offred burntoffe ringes vnto thee God of Israell: xii. bullockes foz all Israell, syxe and nyntye rāmes, seuen and seuentie lambes, & twelue goates foz a synneoffring, all to the burnt offringe of the Lozd. And they delyuered the kynges commyssion vnto thee kinges offycers, & to the captaynes on thys syde ỹ water. And they pzomoted the people and the house of God.

The Notes.

a Fastinges, as the scripture maketh mēcion, haue ben commen humiliations & supplicatyons done befoze God: other foz some great tribulation suffred oz cōminge at hande, oz foz a singular repentaunce & ernest foz thinckyng of theyr synnes, as it is wzytten 1. Regum. vii. b and. xxi. d. ii. Esdras. i. a and. c ¶ Esdras cōplayneth on ỹ people that had turned thē selues from God, & maryed with the gentyles.

The. ix. Chapter.

When al this was perfourmed I the rulers came to me, & sayd: The people of Israell, & thee prestes prestes, & Leuites are not separated from the naciõs in the landes as touching theyr abhominatiõs, namely of the Cananites, Hethites, Pheresites, Jebusites, Ammonites, Moabites, Egiptiãs, and Amorites.

Deut.vii.a and.xxi.d Jos.xxiii.c Judic.ii.a

* For they haue take the daughters of the same, & theyr sonnes, and haue myxte thee holy sede wyth the natiõs in the lãdes: and the hand of the princes & rulers hath bene principal in this trespace.

iii.esdr.viii.c

* Whẽ I heard this, I rent my clothes and my rayment, and plucte of thee heare of my head and of my beard, & sate mourning. And ther resorted vnto me al soch as feared the word of the Lord God of Israel because of the great transgressiõ. And I sate mourninge vntyl the eueninge sacrifice.

B And aboute the eueninge sacrifice I rose vp frõ my heuynes, & rẽte my clothes and my raymẽt, and fell vpon my knees, & spred oute my handes vnto the Lorde my God, and sayde.

I dare not lyfte vp my eyes to my God

My God, I am a shamed, & darre not lyfte vp myne eyes vnto the my God: for oure wyckednesses are growne ouer oure head, & our trespaces are waxen great vnto the heauen. Sence the tyme of oure fathers haue we bene in great trespace vnto this daye,

Deu.xxviii.b

* & because of out wickednesses haue we & our kinges bene delyuered into the hande of the kinges of the naciõs, into the swerde, into captiuite, into spoyle, and into confusiõ of face, as it is come to passe thys daye.

But now is ther a lyttle & sodayne gracious nes come frõ the Lorde oute God, so ℭ that some of vs are escaped, that he maye geue vs a nayle in his holy place, that out God maye lyghte our eyes, and geue vs a lytle lyfe in our bondage. For we ar bondmen, & our god hath not forsakẽ vs in our bondage, & hath enclined mercy vnto vs in the sighte of the kinges of Persia, that he shulde geue vs lyfe, & promote the house of oure God, & to sett vp the desolatiõ thereof, & to geue vs an hedge in Juda and Jerusalẽ.

And now O our God, what shal we say after this: for we haue forsakẽ thy cõmaũdemẽtes, whych thou hast cõmãded by thy seruaũtes the Prophetes, and sayde: The lãd vnto which ye go to possesse it, is an vncleane lãd thorow ye filthines of the people of the lãdes, in their abhominaciõs wherwith they haue made it ful of vnclenes on euery side. Therfore shal ye not geue your D daughters vnto their sonnes, and theyr daughters shal ye not take vnto your sonnes & seke not their peace & welth for euer, that ye may be stronge, and enioye ye good in the land, & that ye & youre children may haue the inheritaũce of it for euermore.

And after all this that is come vpon vs (because of oure euell dedes, & greate trespace) thou our god hast spared oure wyckednesses, and hast geuẽ vs a deliueraũce as it is come to passe thys daye.

As for vs, we haue turned backe, & haue let go thy cõmaundementes, to make contracte wyth the people of these abhominations. Wylt thou then be wroth at vs, tyll we be vtterly consumed, so that nothing remayne, and tyll there be no delyuerance? O Lord God of Israell, thou arte righteouse, for we remayne yet escaped, as it is thys daye. Beholde in thy presence are we in oure trespace, for because of it is ther no standing before the.

ℭ The people repent them and turne, & putt awaye theyr straunge wyues.

The.x. Chapter.

And whẽ Esdras prayed after this maner, & knowleged, wepte, & lay before ye house of god ther resorted vnto him oute of Israel a very great cõgregatiõ of mẽ & wemen, & childrẽ: for the people wepte very sore. And Sechanias thee sonne of Jehiel one of the childrẽ of Elam answered, & sayd vnto Esdras: We haue trespaced agaynst the Lord our God, in ye we haue taken straunge wyues of all the people of the land. Now there is hope yet in Israel cõcerninge this therfore lette vs make a couenaũt now with oure god, that we shal put away al the wyues (and sothe as are borne of them) according to the cõsell of the Lord, and of them that feare the commaundemente of oure God, that we maye doo accordinge to the lawe. Gett the vp therfore, for the matter belongeth vnto the. We wyll be wyth the, be of good comforte, and do it.

A iii.esdr.viii.a

* Thẽ arose Esdras, & toke an othe of ye tulers, prestes and Leuites, & of al Israel that they shuld do according to this word and they swore. And Esdras stode vp be- B fore the house of God, & wẽte into the chãber of Johanã ỹ sõne of Eliasib. And whẽ he came thither, he ate no bred, nor dranke water: for he mourned because of the trãsgression of thẽ that had ben in captiuite.

And thei caused a proclamatiõ be made thorow out Juda & Jerusalem, vnto al ỹ childrẽ which hadde benẽ in captiuite, that they shuld geather thẽ selues together vnto Jerusalẽ: And that whosoeuer came not within thre dayes according to the deuyce of the rulers and elders, al his substaunce shuld be forfet, & be put out from the congregation of the captiue.

Then al the men of Juda & Bẽjamin geathered thẽ selues to geather vnto Jerusalem in thre dayes, that is on the twentye daye of the nyneth moneth: & al the people sate in the strete before the house of god, & trembled because of thee matter, and for ỹ rayne. And Eſdras the prest stode vp, and sayd vnto thẽ: * Ye haue trãsgressed, that ye haue taken straũge wiues, to make the trespace of Israel yet more: confesse nowe therfore vnto the Lorde God of youre fathers, & do hys pleasure, & separate youre selues, from the people of the land, & from the straũge wyues. Then answered al the congregatiõn, & sayd with a loude voyce: Let it be done as thou hast sayde, But the people are manye, & it is a raynie wether, & they cannot stand here without, neyther is this a worke of one daye or two, for we are many that haue offended in this trãsgression. Let vs appoynte our rulers therfore in al the cõgregation, ỹ al they which haue taken straunge wyues in out cyties, maye come at that tyme appoynted, & the elders of euery cytie & theyr Judges wyth them, tyll the wrath of our God be turned away from vs for thys offence.

Deut. vij. a Judic. xi. a

¶ Then were appoynted Jonathã ỹ sonne of Asahel & Jahasia the sõne of Thekuah ouer thys matter: And Mosolã & Sabathai ỹ Leuites holpe them. And ỹ children of the captiuite did euen so. And Eſdras ỹ prest, & the aũcient heades thorow ỹ house of theyr fathers, & al that were nowe rehearsed by name, separated them selues, & sate thẽ downe on the first daye of ỹ tenth moneth to exãmẽ this matter. And of ỹ. i. day of ỹ fyrst moneth they * made an ende of al the men ỹ had takẽ straunge wyues.

That is, fynished their businesse in nõbring al them that had so

And amonge the children of the Priestes ther were men found ỹ had take straunge wyues, namely amõg the children of Jesua the sõne of Josedec & of his brethrẽ, Maasiah, Eliezer, Jarib & Godoliah. And they gaue theyr hãdes ther vpõ, that they wold put away theyr wyues: & for theyr trespace offringe to geue a ramme for theyr trespace. Among the children of Emer, Hanani and Zabadiah. Among the children of Hatim, Maasiah, Eliah, Semeiah, Jehiel, & Osiah. Among the children of Phashur, Elioenai, Maasiah, Ismael Nathanael, Jozabed & Elcasah. Among the Leuites, Jozabed, Semei and Kelaiah, which same is Kalithah, Pathahiah, Juda & Eleazar. Among the singers, Eliasib. Amõg the porters, Sehum, Telem and Uzi.

Of Israel. Among the children of Phoros, Remiah, Jesiah, Melchiah, Miamin, Eleazar, Melchiah, & Baniah. Amonge the children of Elam, Mathaniah, Zacharyy, Jehiel, Abdi, Jerimoth & Eliah. Amõg the children of Zethua, Elioenai, Eliasib, Mathaniah, Jerimoth, Zabad & Aziza. Among the chyldrẽ of Bebai, Johohanã, Hananiah, Zabai & Athalai. Among the chyldren of Beoni, Mosolã, Maluch, Adaiah, Jasub, Saal & Jerimoth. Among ỹ children of * Pahath Moab, Edna, Calal, Banaiah, Maasia, Mathaniah, Bezaleel, Betui, & Manasseh. Among the chyldren of Harim, Eliezer, Jesiah, Melchiah Semeiah, Simeõ, Ben Jamin, Malluch and Samariah. Amõg the chyldrẽ of Hasem, Mathnai, Mathathah, Zabed, Eliphelet, Jeremi, Manasseh & Semei. Amõg ỹ children of Bani, Madai, Amrã, Huelbancah, Chelubi, Badaiah, Uziah, Maremoth, Eliasib, Mathaniah, Mathanai, Jaasan, Bani, Benui, Seinetah, Salamiah, Nathan, Adaiah. Mathnadabai, Salai, Satai. Asarael, Selemiahu, Samariah, Selũ, Amatiah & Joseph. Amõg the children of Nebo, Jatell, Mathathiah, Zabed, Zabina, Jedai. Joel & Banaiah

Some rede ỹ captayne of Moab

All these had taken straunge wyues. And amõg ỹ same wyues ther were some, that had borne children.

¶ The ende of the fyrste boke of Eſdras.

The secõde boke of Eldras / otherwyse called the boke of Nehemiah.

¶ Nehemiah buttelar to kyng Artharerles prayeth to God for the people.

The. J. Chapter.

Otherwise Helchiah

THese are the actes of Nehemiah the sõne of *Hachalia. It fortuned in the moneth *Casleu in the twentie yere, that I was in the castell at Susan: and Hanani one of my brethrẽ came wyth certayne men of Juda, and I asked them how ỹ Jewes dyd that were delyuered & escaped from the captyuite, and how it wẽte at Jerusalem: And they sayde vnto me: The remnaunt of the captyuyte are there in the lande in greate myshortune and rebuke. *The walles of Jerusalem ar brõken downe, and the gates therof are brent wythe fyre.

Ill. re. fyre b

nota

B Whẽ I hearde these wordes, I satt me downe and wepte, & mourned two dayes, & fasted and prayed before the god of heauen & said: O Lorde God of heauen, thou greate & terryble God, *thou that kepeste couenaunt and mercye for thẽ that lotie ỹ and obserue thy commaundementes: lett thyne eares herken, & thyne eyes be open, ỹ thou maiest heare the prayer of thy seruaũte, which I praye now before the day and nyghte for the chyldren of Israel thy seruauntes, and knowledg the sinnes of the chyldren of Israel, whych we haue cõmitted agaynst the.

Exod. xx. a
2. xxxiii. a Deut. viii. b

nota Nehemias prayeth to God for the people

C And I & my fathers house haue sinned also. We haue bene corrupte vnto ỹ, in that we haue not kept the cõmaũdemẽtes, statutes & lawes, whych ỹ commaũdedst thy seruaũt Moses. Yet call to remembraũce the worde ỹ thou cõmaundest thy seruaũt Moses, & saydeste: Yf ye transgresse, then wyl I scatter you abrode amõg ỹ naciõs. But yf ye turne vnto me, & kepe my commaũdemẽtes and do thẽ: thoughe ye were cast out vnto the vttermost part of heaue yet wil I geather you from thence, & wyll bring you from thẽce, cue vnto the place, ỹ I haue chosẽ for my name to dwel there

nota

yf ye turne vnto me

D They are thy seruaũtes, & thy people whõ ỹ hast deliuered thorow thy great power and mightye hande. O Lorde, lette thyne eares herken to the prayer of thy seruaunte, and the prayer of thy seruaũtes, whose desyre is to feare thy name, and let thy seruaunt prosper thys daye, & graunte hym mercy in the syght of this man: for I was the kynges butelar.

¶ After Nehemiah had obtained letters of Artharles he cometh to Jerusalem, & buyldethe the walles.

The. ij. Chapter.

IN ỹ moneth Nisan in ỹ twẽtyeth yeare of kyng Artharles, when the wyne stode before hym, I toke vp ỹ wyne, & gaue it vnto ỹ kinge and I was heuy in hys presẽce. Thẽ sayd ỹ king vnto me: why lokest thou so sadly? Thou art not sicke, that is not the matter, but ỹ arte heuy herted. Neuertheles I was sore afrated & sayde vnto the kyng: god saue ỹ kynges lyfe for euer, shuld I not loke sadly: the citie of my fathers burial lieth waste & the gates therof are consumed wt fyre. Then sayde ỹ kyng vnto me: what is then thy requeste: then made I my prayer to the god of heaue, & sayd vnto the kynge: yf it please the king, & yf thy seruaũt be fauoured in thy sighte. I be seke ỹ send me into Juda vnto the citie of my fathers burial, that I maye buylde it.

A

nota

yt I may buylde yt my fatyrs Buryall

B And the kynge sayde vnto me, & so dyd the quene that sat by hym: how longe shall thy tourney cõtinue, & whẽ wilt thou come agayne? And it pleased ỹ king to send me, and I set him a tyme, & sayd vnto the kinge: yf it please the king, let him geue me letters to the captaynes beyonde the water, ỹ they maye conueye me ouer, tyl I come into Juda: & letters vnto Asaph the lord of the kinges wood, ỹ he may geue me wood for beames to ỹ gates of the palace, which ar hard on the house & harde on the walles of the cytye, and for the house that I shal entre into. And the kynge gaue me accordyng to the good hande of God vpõ me. And when I came to the captaynes beyõde the water, I gaue them the kynges letters. And the kynge sent captaynes and horsmen wyth me.

But whẽ Sanabalat the Horonite & Tobiah ỹ seruaũt of ỹ Ammonites heard that, it greued them sore, that ther was come a man which soughte the welthe of the

chyldren

The secõde boke of Eldras / otherwyse called the boke of Nehemiah.

¶ Nehemiah buttelar to kyng Artharerles prayeth to God for the people.

The. J. Chapter.

Otherwise Helchiah

THese are the actes of Nehemiah the sõne of *Hachalia. It fortuned in the moneth *Casleu in the twentie yere, that I was in the castell at Susan: and Hanani one of my brethrẽ came wyth certayne men of Juda, and I asked them how ỹ Jewes dyd that were delyuered & escaped from the captyuite, and how it wẽte at Jerusalem: And they sayde vnto me: The remnaunt of the captyuyte are there in the lande in greate myshortune and rebuke. *The walles of Jerusalem ar brõken downe, and the gates therof are brent wythe fyre.

Ill. re. fyre b

nota

B Whẽ I hearde these wordes, I satt me downe and wepte, & mourned two dayes, & fasted and prayed before the god of heauen & said: O Lorde God of heauen, thou greate & terryble God, *thou that kepeste couenaunt and mercye for thẽ that lotie ỹ and obserue thy commaundementes: lett thyne eares herken, & thyne eyes be open, ỹ thou maiest heare the prayer of thy seruaũte, which I praye now before the day and nyghte for the chyldren of Israel thy seruauntes, and knowledg the sinnes of the chyldren of Israel, whych we haue cõmitted agaynst the.

Exod. xx. a
2. xxxiii. a Deut. viii. b

nota Nehemias prayeth to God for the people

C And I & my fathers house haue sinned also. We haue bene corrupte vnto ỹ, in that we haue not kept the cõmaũdemẽtes, statutes & lawes, whych ỹ commaũdedst thy seruaũt Moses. Yet call to remembraũce the worde ỹ thou cõmaundest thy seruaũt Moses, & saydeste: Yf ye transgresse, then wyl I scatter you abrode amõg ỹ naciõs. But yf ye turne vnto me, & kepe my commaũdemẽtes and do thẽ: thoughe ye were cast out vnto the vttermost part of heaue yet wil I geather you from thence, & wyll bring you from thẽce, cue vnto the place, ỹ I haue chosẽ for my name to dwel there

nota

yf ye turne vnto me

D They are thy seruaũtes, & thy people whõ ỹ hast deliuered thorow thy great power and mightye hande. O Lorde, lette thyne eares herken to the prayer of thy seruaunte, and the prayer of thy seruaũtes, whose desyre is to feare thy name, and let thy seruaunt prosper thys daye, & graunte hym mercy in the syght of this man: for I was the kynges butelar.

¶ After Nehemiah had obtained letters of Artharles he cometh to Jerusalem, & buyldethe the walles.

The. ij. Chapter.

IN ỹ moneth Nisan in ỹ twẽtyeth yeare of kyng Artharles, when the wyne stode before hym, I toke vp ỹ wyne, & gaue it vnto ỹ kinge and I was heuy in hys presẽce. Thẽ sayd ỹ king vnto me: why lokest thou so sadly? Thou art not sicke, that is not the matter, but ỹ arte heuy herted. Neuertheles I was sore afrated & sayde vnto the kyng: god saue ỹ kynges lyfe for euer, shuld I not loke sadly: the citie of my fathers burial lieth waste & the gates therof are consumed wt fyre. Then sayde ỹ kyng vnto me: what is then thy requeste: then made I my prayer to the god of heaue, & sayd vnto the kynge: yf it please the king, & yf thy seruaũt be fauoured in thy sighte. I be seke ỹ send me into Juda vnto the citie of my fathers burial, that I maye buylde it.

A

nota

yt I may buylde yt my fatyrs Buryall

B And the kynge sayde vnto me, & so dyd the quene that sat by hym: how longe shall thy tourney cõtinue, & whẽ wilt thou come agayne? And it pleased ỹ king to send me, and I set him a tyme, & sayd vnto the kinge: yf it please the king, let him geue me letters to the captaynes beyonde the water, ỹ they maye conueye me ouer, tyl I come into Juda: & letters vnto Asaph the lord of the kinges wood, ỹ he may geue me wood for beames to ỹ gates of the palace, which ar hard on the house & harde on the walles of the cytye, and for the house that I shal entre into. And the kynge gaue me accordyng to the good hande of God vpõ me. And when I came to the captaynes beyõde the water, I gaue them the kynges letters. And the kynge sent captaynes and horsmen wyth me.

But whẽ Sanabalat the Horonite & Tobiah ỹ seruaũt of ỹ Ammonites heard that, it greued them sore, that ther was come a man which soughte the welthe of the

chyldren

childre of Israel. And when I came to Jerusalē, & had bene there thre dayes, I gat me vp in ỹ night seasō, & a fewe mē wt me for I told no man what god had geuē me in my hert to do at Jerusalem: & ther was not one beast wt me, saue it that I rode vp on. And I rode by nyght vnto the valley porte before the Dragon well, and to the Dongepost, and consydered the walles of Jerusalē that were brokē downe, & ỹ porters therof cōsumed wyth the fire. And I wēt ouer vnto ỹ well porte, and to the kinges condyte, & ther was no rowme for my beast that it could go vnder me. Thē wēt I on in the nighte by ỹ broke syde, & consydered the wall, and turned back & came home agayne to the valley porte.

And the rulers knew not whither I wēte or what I dyd: for hyther to had I not told ỹ Jewes & the prestes, the councelers & ỹ rulers, & ỹ other ỹ laboured in ỹ worke. And I sayd vnto them: ye se the mysery ỹ we ar in, how Jerusalē lyeth waste, & how ỹ gates therof are brēt with fyre, come let vs buylde vp the walles of Jerusalē, ỹ we be no more a rebuke. And I told thē of the good hād of my god whych was vpon me: and the kynges wordes that he had spokē vnto me. And they sayde: then let vs gett vp, & buylde: and their handes were strengthed to good.

But when Sanabalat ỹ Horonite, & Tobiah the seruaunt of the Ammonites, and Gesē the Arabiā herd it, they laughed vs to skorne, & dyspysed vs, & sayde: what is thys that ye do? Wyll ye fall awaye agayne from the kyng? Then answered I them, and sayde: the God of heauen he it is that causeth vs to prospere: & we be his seruauntes. Let vs get vp and build. As for you, ye haue no portiō nor right, nor remembraunce in Jerusalem.

¶ The nombre of them that buylded the walles:

The.iii. Chapter.

AND Eliasib ỹ hie prest gat hī vp wt his brethrē ỹ prestes, & builded ỹ Shepegate. They repared it, & set vp ỹ dores of it: euē vnto the tower Meah repared they it, namely vnto the *tower of Hananeel. Nexte vnto him buylded ỹ mē of Jericho. And beside hym buylded Sachur the sonne of Amri. But the fishporte dyd the chyldren of Asanah buylde, they couered it, and sett on the dores, lōckes & barres of it. Nexte vnto him builded Marimoth the sonne of Vrtah thee sonne of Hakoz. Nexte vnto hym buylded Mosollam the sonne of Barachiah the sonne of Meselsabeel. Nexte vnto hym builded Zadoc the sonne of Baana. Nexte vnto hym buylded they of Thekua. But theyr greate men put not theyr neckes to the seruyce of theyr Lorde.

The Oldegate buylded Jehoiadah ỹ sōne of Paseah, & Mosolā ỹ sōne of Besodiah they couered it, & set on the dores, lockes & barres of it. Nexte vnto thē builded Malatiah of Gabaon, & Jadon of Meronotho mē of Gabaon & of Mazphah for the seat of the captaine on this side the water. Nexte vnto him buylded Vsiell ỹ sōne of Harhaiah ỹ goldsmith. Next vnto hī builded Hananiah the *Apotecaryes sonne, & they repayred Jerusalē vnto ỹ brode wal. Next vnto him builded Raphaiah the sōne of Hur, ỹ ruler of ỹ halfe quarter of Jerusalem. Nexte vnto him buylded Jedaiah the sōne of Haremaph ouer against his house. Nexte vnto hym buylded Hatus ỹ sonne of Hasabonias. But Melchia the sonne of Harim, and Hasub the sonne of Pahah Moab builded the otherpece, and the tower besyde the fornace. Next vnto hym buylded Selum the sonne of Halohes the ruler of the halfe quarter of Jerusalem, and hys daughters.

The valleye gate builded Hanun, & the citesins of Zanoah. They buylded it, and set on the dores, lockes & barres therof, & a thousand cubytes on the wall, vnto the Dongeporte. But the Dongeporte buylded Melchiah the sōne of Rechab, the ruler of the fourth part of *the vyneyardes: he builded it, & set on the dores, lockes and barres therof. But the Woelgate builded Selū the sōne of Cholhosah, the ruler of the fourth parte of Masphah. He builded it, & couered it, & set on ỹ dores, lockes and barres therof, & the wall vnto the pole of Siloah by the kinges gardē, vnto ỹ stepes that go downe frō the citie of Dauid. After hī builded Nehemiah the sonne of Azbok, the ruler of ỹ half quarter of Bethzur, vntyll the other side ouer against the sepulchres of Dauid, & to the pole Asuia and

Jere. xxxi. a Zach. xiiii. c

Some rede the sōne of Hacaliah

Some rede Bethhacharam.

and vnto the house of the myghtye.

After hym buylded the Leuites, Rehū the sonne of Bani. Nexte vnto hym buylded Hasabiah the ruler of ꝑ halfe quarter at Keilah in his quarter. After hī buylded their brethrē, Bauai ꝑ sonne of Henadad, thee ruler of the halfe quarter of Keilah. After hym builded Ezer the sonne of Josua ꝑ ruler of Maspha the other pece bar de ouer agaynst ꝑ harnesse cozner. After hī buylded Baruch the sōne of Zabai ꝑ other pece wozshypfully & costly, frō the cozner vnto ꝑ doze of the house of Eliasib the hie prest. After him buylded Meremuth ꝑ sō ne of Uziah the sonne of Hacos the other pece, frō the doze of ꝑ house of Eliasib euē as lōg as the house of Eliasib extēded. After hi builded ꝑ prestes, ꝑsonē of ꝑ countre. After him builded Bēiamin & Hasub o= uer against their house. After thē Asariah ꝑ sonne of Maasiah the sonne of Ananiah nexte vnto hys house. After hym buylded Benui the sonne of Henadad ꝑ other pece frō the house of Asariah vnto the turnyn ge, and vnto the cozner.

After him builded Phalel the sonne of Usai ouer agaynst the cozner and the hye tower, which lieth oute ouer from the kyn= ges house, beside the courte of the prison. After him Phadaiah the sōne of Pharos (as foꝛ ꝑ Nethinims they dwelt i Ophel, vnto the Watergate, towarde the Easte wher ꝑ tower lyeth out). After hi buylded they of Thekua the other pece ouer against the great tower, that lyeth outward, & vn= to the wall of *Ophel.

*ii. Par. xxvii. c

But from the Hozsgate foꝛthe buylded the preastes, euery one ouer agavnste hys house. After thē buylded Zadok the sonne of Emer ouer agaynst his house. After hi buylded Semeiah the sonne of Sechani= ah the keper of the eastgate. After hi buyl ded Hananiah the sōne of Selemiah, and Hanun the sonne of Zalaph the fyxt, the o= ther peace. After him builded Mosolā the sōne of Barachiah ouer against his cheft. After hym buylded Melchiah the golde= smithes sonne, vntill the house of the Ne= thinims, & of the merchaūtes ouer against the coūcel gate, & to the parler i the cozner. And betwene the parlour of the cozner vn to the Shepegate buylded ꝑ goldsmithes and the merchauntes.

¶ The buyloing of Jerusalem is hyndred & let, but the Jewes buylde it beyng readye harneysed: lest their enemyes shuld inuade them.

The.iiii. Chapter.

BUt when Sanaballat heard ꝑ we builded the wal, he was wzoth & toke greate indigna nacio & mocked the Jewes & sayd before his brethrē & the host of Samaria: what do ꝑ impotēt Je= wes? shal they be thus suffred? shall thei of fre? shall they perfourme it i one day? shal they make the stones whole agayne ꝑ are brought to dust, & brēt? And Tobiah ꝑ Am monite beside him said: let thē build on, yt a fore go vp, he shall breake downe theyr stonie wal. Heare O ꝑ our God, howe we ar despised, turne their shame vpon theyr owne head, that ꝑ mayest geue thē ouer in to despising in the lād of theyr captyuyte. Couer not their wickednes, & put not out their sine frō thy presēce: foꝛ they haue pzo uoked the builders. Yet builded we ꝑ wal, and ioined it whole together, vnto the halfe heyght. And the people were wel myn= ded to laboure.

But whē Sanabalat, & Tobiah, & the Arabiās, & Ammonites, & Asdodites hear de ꝑ ꝑ walles of Jerusalē were made vp, & that they had begōne to stop vp the gap pes they were very wzoth, & cōspired al to gether to come & fight against Jerusalē, & to make an hinderaūce theri. Neuertheles we made our prayer vnto our god, and set watchmē vpō the wall day & night ouer a gaynst them. And Juda sayd: the strēgth of the bearers is to feble, & ther is to moch dust, we are not able to buylde on the wal. And our aduersaryes thought: they shal not know nether se, tyl we come in the mid des among them, & slate them, & hinder the wozck. But whē the Jewes that dwelt be side thē came out of al ꝑ places wher they dwelt aboute vs, and told vs as good as ten times, then set I the people after theyr kindredes wt their swerdes, speares & bowes beneth in the low places behynd the wal, & loked, & gatine vp, and said vnto the chefe men & rulers, and to the other people: be not ye afraied of thē *think vpō the grea te lozd which ought to be feared & fyghte foꝛ youre brethrē, sōnes, daughters, wy= ues, and houses. Neuertheleſſe when our enemies hearde that we had gotten wozde

*ii. Esdre. v. and. ix.

of

of it, God brought their coũcel to nought, and we turned all againe to the wall, euery one vnto his laboure. And frõ that tyme forth it came to passe, ỹ the halfe parte of the yonge men dyd the laboure, & the other halfe parte helde the speares, shyldes, bowes, and brestplates: and the rulers stode behynde all the house of Juda, whyche buylded on the wall, & bare burthens, frõ those that laded them. Wyth one hãd dyd they the worke, & with the other helde they
D they*r weapẽ. And euery one that buylded, had hys swerde guyrde by hys syde, and so buylded they. And the trompetters stode beside me.

And I sayde vnto the prynceppall men, & rules, and to the other people: ỹ worcke is greate & large, & we are separated vpon the wall one farre from another. Loke in what place now ye heare the noise of ỹ trõ pett, resort ye thyther vnto vs* Our god exo.xiiii. shal fight for vs, & we will be labourynge in ỹ worcke. And the halfe parte of thẽ helde ỹ speares frõ ỹ mornyng spryngе, tyll ỹ starres came forthe. And at the same tyme sayd I vnto the people: euerye one abyde with hys seruaunte at Jerusalem, that in the night seasõ we may gene attendaunce to the watch, & to laboure on the day time. As for me and my brethren, & my seruaun tes, and the men of the watch behynd me, we putt neuer of oure clothes, so moche as to washe oure selues.

¶ The people are vexed with hõgre. Nehemiah forbydd eth Usurye He requyreth not the lyuynge of a captayne.

The. v. Chapter.

AND ther arose a greate com-
A plaint of ỹ peple, & of their wy ues against their brethrẽ ỹ Je wes. And ther were somethat said: our sonnes & daughters are to many, let vs take corne for thẽ & eate, ỹ we may lyue. Some sayde: let vs sett our lãdes, vineyardes and houses to pledge, & take vp corne i ỹ derth. Ẽ ut some sayde: let vs borow we money of the kinges tribute for oure landes & vyneyardes. Now are our brethrens bodyes as our owne bodies and their childrẽ as our childrẽ: els shulde we subdue our sonnes and daughters vnto bõdage, and some of our daughters are subdued already, * and no strẽgth is there in oure handes, & other men shall haue oure landes and vyneyardes.

But when I hearde their complaynte and soche wordes, it displeased me sore, & I aduysed so in my mynde, that I rebuked the coũcelers, and the rulers, and sayd vnto them: * wyll ye requyre vsury one of B Deut. xxiii. another? And I brought a greate congre- a gacion againſt thẽ and sayde vnto thẽ: we (after oure abilyte) haue brought our brethren, thẽ the Jewes, whych were solde vnto the Heythen. And wyll ye sell youre brethren, whõ we haue boughte vnto vs? Then held they their peace, and could fynd nothinge to answere.

And I said: It is not good that ye do, Ought ye not to walke in ỹ feare of god, because of the rebuke of the Heythen oure
A enemyes? I and my brethrẽ, & my seruaũtes haue lent thẽ money and corne: but as for vsury, let vs leaue it. Therfore this
G same daye se that ye restore them their lãdes agayne, their vyneyardes, oyle gardens and houses, and the hundred part of the money of the corne, wyne and oile that ye haue wonne of them. Then sayde they: we wil restore thẽ againe and wil requyre nothyng of them, and wil do as thou hast spokẽ. And I called ỹ prestes, and toke an oothe of them, that they shulde do so. And I shoke my lappe, and sayde: God shake out euery mã after ỹ same maner frõ hys house and labour, that mayntaynethe not thys worde: euen thus be he shaken out, and voyde. And all the congregaciõ sayde: Amen, and prayſed the Lorde. And the people dyd so.

And from the time forth that it was cõmitted vnto me to be a captayne in the lãde of Juda, namelye from the twentythe yeare vnto the two and thyrtyeth yeare of kynge Artharerses (that is twelue yeare) I and my brethrẽ lyued not of soch sustenaũce as was geuẽ to a captaine. For the olde captaines ỹ were before me, had bene
D chargeable vnto the people, and had takẽ of thẽ bred and wyne, and forty sycles of syluer: yce and their seruaũtes had oppressed ỹ people. But so dyd not I, and ỹ because of ỹ feare of god. I laboured also in the worck vpõ ỹ wall, and bought no lande. And al my seruaũtes came thither together vnto ỹ worcke. Moreouer there were at my table an hundred and fyftye of the

Jewes

Jewes & rulers, whiche came vnto me, frō amonge the Heythen, that are aboute vs. And there was prepared me dayly an oxe, and syxe chosen shepe, and byrdes, & euer once in ten dayes a greate summe of wine. Yet requyred not I the lyuynge of a captayne for the bondage was greuous vnto the people. * Thyncke vpō me my God vnto the best, accordyng to all that I haue done for thys people.

ij. Esd. vi, d. and xiii, b

¶ The buyldyng is yet agayne hyndred and let.

The. vi. Chapter.

AND whē Sanabalat, Tobiah & Gesem the Arabiā, and ỹ other of our enemies heard ỹ I had buylded ỹ wall, & that there were no mo gappes ther in (howbeit at ỹ same time had I not hanged the dores vpon the gates) Sanabalat & Gesē sent vnto me, sayinge come and let vs mete together * in ỹ villages vpō ỹ playne of the citie Ono. Neuertheles they thought to do me euell. Notwythstandynge I sent messengers vnto them, sayinge: I haue a great busines to do, I cānot come downe. The worck should stand styll, yf I were necligēt, & came downe to you. Howbeit they sēt vnto me as good as .iiii. times after the same maner. And I gaue ỹ same answere. Thē sēt Sanabalat his seruaūt vnto me the fifth time, with an open letter in hys hād, wherin was writtē: it is tolde the Heythen, & Gesem hathe sayd it, that ỹ & the Jewes thynke to rebel: for the which cause thou buyldest ỹ wall, & wyll be their kyng in these matters, & hast ordeyned the Prophetes to preache of the at Jerusalē, and to saye: He is kynge of Juda.

Now shall this come to the kinges eares: come nowe therfore, & let vs take oure coūcel together. Neuertheles I sēt vnto hī sayinge ther is no soch thyng done as thou sayist: ỹ haste fayned it out of thine owne hert. For they were all minded to make vs afrayed & thoughte: they shall withdrawe their handes frō ỹ worke, ỹ they shall not laboure. Howbeit I strengthed my hande ỹ more. And I came vnto the house of Semaiah thee sonne of Delaiah the sonne of Mehetabeel, and he had shut him selfe wtin, & said: let vs come together into ỹ house of god, euē vnto ỹ middes of the tēple, & shutt the dores of the temple: for they wyll come to slaye the, yee euē in the nyght wyll they come to putt ỹ to death. But I sayde: shuld any soche mā as I flye? Who is ỹ, being as I am, that wil go in to the tēple, to saue his life? I wyl not go in.

For I perceaued, ỹ God had sente him: Yet spake he prophetie vpō me, neuertheless Tobiah & Sanabalat had hired him for money. Therfore toke he the money, that through feare I shuld so do: & synne: that thei might haue an euel report of me, to blaspheme me. My God thynk thou vpon Tobiah & Sanabalat accordynge vnto these their workes, & of the prophet Noadiah & of the other Prophetes, that wolde haue put me in feare.

And the wal was finished on the fitue & twentye daye of the moneth * Elul, in two and fyftye dayes. And when all oure enemyes hearde therof, all the Heythē ỹ were aboute vs, were afrayed, & their courage fayled them: for they perceaued, that thys worke came of God. And at the same time were ther many of ỹ chefe of Juda, whose letters wente vnto Tobiah, & from Tobiah vnto thē (for ther were many in Juda ỹ were swore vnto hym: for he was the sōne in law of Sechaniah ỹ sōne of Arath, and his sonne Jehohanan had the daughter of Mosolam the sonne of Barachiah & they spake good of hym before me, and tolde hym my wordes) and Tobiah sēt letters, to put me in feare.

* Elul, is cōpared to our Juli wt part of Augustus joyned therto, it was theyr sixte mone in order.

¶ After the wall ones buylded is the watch appoynted. They that returned from the captyuyte are nombred.

The. vii. Chapter

NOw when he had buylded ỹ walle I hanged on the dores, & the porters syngers & Leuites were appoynted. And I cōmaunded my brother Hanani, & Hananiah the ruler of the palace at Jerusalē: for he was a faithfull mā, & feared God more then did many other) and I sayd vnto them: let not the gates of Jerusalem be opened vntyll the sōne be whote. And whyle they are yet standynge in the watch, ỹ dores shal be shut & barred. And ther were certayne cityzens of Jerusalē appoynted to be watchmen euery one in hys watche, & aboute hys house. As for the cytie, it was large of rowme, and greate, but the people were fewe therin, and the houses were not buylded.

And

And my God gaue me in my hert, ꝓ I geathered to gether the princypall men & the people to nōbre them & I foūd*a regi ster of the nōbre of them, which caine vp a fore out of the captiuite: & founde written therin: *these are the sōnes of the lande ꝓ went vp frō the captyuitie of the carying away (whō Nabuchodonosor the king of Babilon had brought away) and caine a gaine to Jerusalem & Juda, euery one vn to his citie, which caine wᵗ Zorobabell: Je sua, Nehemiah, Asariah, Raamiah, Na hamani, Mardochee, Belsan, Mesparath Beguai, Nahum and Baanah.

Some rede the boke of the Genealogie,

Heldr:xii,a B

This is the nōbre of the men of ꝑ people of Israell. The chyldren of Phatos were ii. thousād, an hūdred & two & seuentie: the chyldren of Saphatiah, iii. hūdred & two & seuentie: the children of Arah, syxe hūdred & two and fiftye: the chyldren of Pahath Moab amonge the children of Jesua and Joab, two thousand, eyght hundred, and eightene: the children of Elam, a thousād, two hundred & foure & fiftie: the children of Zathua, eyght hundred & fiue & foure, ꝑ chyldren of Zachai seuen hūdred & thre skore: ꝑ childrē of Banu. vi. hūdred & viii & foure: the chyldren of Bebai, syxe hundred & eight & twentye: the children of Asgad, two thousād, thre hūdred and two & twentie: the children of Adonicam, sixe hūdred & seuen & thre skore: the chyldren of Begoai, two thousande, & seuen and thre skore: the children of Adin, syxe hūdred & fyue and fyftye: the chyldren of Ater of Hezekiah, eyght and nynetye.

C

The children of Hasom, thre hundred & tyghte & twentye: the chyldren of Bezai, thre hundred and foure and twentye: the chyldren of Hariph, an hundred & twelue the children of Gabaon, fiue and nynette: the men of Bethlehem & Nethophah, an hundred and eyght and foure skore: ꝑ mē of Anathoth, an hundred & eight and twē tie: the men of Beth Asmoth, two & fourtye: the men of Kariath Jarim, Cephirah & Beetoth, seuē hūdred & thre and fortye: the men of Ramah and Gaba, syxe hundred & one & twētie: the mē of Machmas, an hūdred and two and twentye: the men of Bethel and Ai, an hūdred and thre and twentie: the men of Nebo, and hūdred and two and fiftie: the children of the other Elam, a thousand, two hundred and foure &

D

The children of Harim: thre hūdred & twētie: the chyldrē of Jericho: thre hūdred & fiue and fortie: the chyldrē of Lodhadid and Ono, seuen hundred and one and twe tie: the children of Senaah, thre thousande, nyne hundred and thyrtye.

The prestes. The children of Jadaiah of the house of Jesua, nyne hundred and thre & seuētye: the chyldrē of Emer, a thou sande and two and fyftye: the chyldren of Pashur, a thousande, two hundred & seuē and fortye: the children of Harim, a thou sande and seuentene.

The Leuites. The children of Jesua of Cadmiel amōg the chyldren of Hoduah, foure & seuētye. The singers. The childrē of Asaph, an hūdred and eight and fortie. The porters: The chyldrē of Selum, the chyldrē of Ater, the chyldren of Talmon, the chyldrē of Acub, the childrē of Hatita, the chyldrē of Sobai, all together an hun dred and eyght and thyrtye.

E

The Nethinims. The childrē of Ziha, ꝑ childrē of Hasupha, the chyldrē of Teba hoth, the childrē of Ceros, the chyldren of Sia, the children of Phadon, the children of Lebanah the children of Hagaba, the chyldrē of Salmai, the children of Hanā the chyldren of Ethel, ꝑ childrē of Gaher, the chyldren of Raaia, the children of Ra zin, the chyldren of Necoda, the chyldrē of Gesem, the childrē of Usa, the children of Phaseah, the children of Besai, ꝑ children of Meunim, the children of Nephusasim, ꝑ children of Bachuc, the children of Ha cupha, ꝑ chyldren of Harhur, the chyldren of Bazlith, ꝑ childrē of Mahida, ꝑ childrē of Harsa, ꝑ chyldren of Bercos, ꝑ children of Sissera, ꝑ children of Thamah, ꝑ chyl dren of Neziah, the children of Hatipha.

The children of Salomons seruaun tes: The chyldren of Sotai, the chyldren of Sophereth, the chyldren of Pherida, ꝑ chyldren of Jaala, the children of Darcō, the chyldren of Gidell, the children of Sa phatiah, the chyldren of Hatil, the children of Pochereth of Zabaim, the chyldren of Amon. All the Nethinims and the children of Salomons seruauntes, were thre hun dred and two and nynetye.

F

And these went vp also of Thel Mela, Thel Harsa, cherub, Adō & Emer: but thei coulde not shewe theyr fathers house nor

theyr

noz theyr sede, whether they were of Israel The childrē of Dalaiah, the childrē of Tobiah & the chyldrē of Necoda, vi. hūdred & two & foztye. And of the prestes the childrē of Habaiah: & childzen of Hacos, the chyldrē of Berstlai, which toke one of ỹ daughters of Berstlai thee Galaadite to wyfe, & was named after theyr name. These sought the regyster of their generatiō & when they found it not, they were put frō ỹ prest hode. And Hathirsatha sayd vnto them, ỹ they shulde not eate of the moost holy, tyll there came vp a priest with the lyght and perfectnesse.

The whole cōgregation as one mā, was two & foztye thousande thre hundred, and thre skoze: besyde theyr seruauntes & maydes, of whom there were seuen thousande, thre hundred & seuen and thirtie. And they had two hundred and seuen and foztie singinge men and women, seuen hūdred and fyre & thyrtye horses, two hundred & fyue and foztye Mules, foure hūdred and fyue and thyrtye Camels: fyre thousand, seuen hundred and twentie Asses.

And certayne of the aunciēt fathers gaue vnto ỹ worke. Hathirsatha gaue to the treasure a thousand drāmes, fiftie basens fyue hundred and thirtie prestes garmentes. And some of ỹ chefe fathers gaue vnto the treasure of the worke. xx. thousande drammes, two thousande and two hūdred pound of siluer. And the other people gaue. xx. thousand drammes, and two thousand pound of syluer, & seuen & thre skoze prestes garmētes. And the prestes and Leuites, the Porters, the singers, and ỹ other of the people, & the Nethinims, and al Israel dwelt in theyr cyties.

¶ Esdras gathereth togither the people & redeth to thē the lawe. They kepe the feaste of tabernacles oz bothes.

The. viii. Chapter.

Now whē ỹ. vii. moneth drue nye, & the childrē of Israel were in theyr cities, al the people gathered thē selues together as one mā vpon the strete before the Watergate, & sayd vnto Esdras the scribe, that he shulde fetche the boke of the lawe of Moses, whych the Lord commaunded to Israell. * And Esdras the Priest brought the lawe before the congregation both of men and wemen, and of all that could vnderstande it, vpon the fyrste daye of the seuenth moneth, & red therin in the strete that is before ỹ Watergate (frō the mornynge vntil the noone daye before men and wemen and soch as could vnderstande it: & the eares of all the people were enclyned vnto the Boke of the lawe. And Esdras the scrybe stode vpon an hye pulpytt of wood, whych they hadde made foz the preachyng, & besyde him stode Mathathiah, Sema, Ananiah, Uzzah, Helkiah, & Maaseiah, on hys ryghte hande: and on hys lefte hande stode Phadaiah, Misael, Melchiah, Hasū, Hasebadanah, Zachary and Mosolam.

And Esdras opened the boke before al the people, foz he stode aboue al the people And whē he opened it, all the people stode vp. And Esdras praysed ỹ Lozd the great God. And all the people answered Amen, Amen, with theyr handes vp, & bowed thē selues, & worshipped the Lozd wyth theyr faces to the grounde. And Iesua, Baani, Serabiah, Jamin, Acuba, Sebathai, Hodaiah, Maasiah, Celita, Azartah Jozabed hanā Phalaiah, & the Leuites, cauled the people to geue hede vnto the law, & the people stode in their place. And they red in the boke of the lawe of god distinctly & playnly, so ỹ mē vnderstode the thing ỹ was red And Nehemiah (which is Hathirsatha) & Esdras the prest & scrybe, & the Leuites ỹ caused the people to take hede, sayde vnto all the people: thys daye is holye vnto the Lozde your God: be not ye sozye therfoze, and wepe not. Foz al the people wept whē they herde the wozdes of the lawe.

Therfoze sayd he vnto them: *go your way, & eate the fat, & drinke the swete, and send part vnto thē also that haue not prepared thē selues: foz this day is holy vnto our Lozde, be not ye sozye therfoze: foz the ioye of the Lozd is your strength. And the Leuites stylled al the people, & sayd: hold your peace foz the day is holy, vexe not ye your selues. And all the people went theyr waye to eate & drincke, & to sende part vnto other, & to make greate myrthe, because thei had vnderstand the wozdes that were declared vnto them.

And on the next daye were gathered together the chefe fathers amōg al ỹ people and the prestes & Leuites, vnto Esdras ỹ scrybe, & he shuld teache the the wordes of the lawe. And they founde wrytten in the lawe *how that the Lord had cõmaunded by Moyses that ỹ chyldrẽ of Israel shuld dwel in bothes in the feast of the seuenthe moneth. And so they caused it be declared and proclamed in all theyr cyties, & at Jerusalem, sayinge: go vp vnto the mounte and fetch Olyue braũches, Pynebraũches Myrtbraũches, Palmebraunches, & braũches of thicke trees, too make bothes as it is wrytten.

And the people went vp, and fet them, & made them bothes, euery one vpõ the toppe of hys house, & in theyr courtes, and in the courtes of the house of God, & in the strete by the Watergate, & in the strete by porte Ephraim. And al the cõgregation of thẽ ỹ were come agayne, out of the captiuite, made bothes, & dwelt therin: for sence the time of Josua the sonne of Nun vnto this day had not the chyldren of Israel done so, and ther was very great gladnesse. And euery daye frõ the fyrst daye vnto the last, red he in the boke of the lawe of God. And seuen dayes helde they the feast, and on the eight daye the geathering together, accordinge vnto the maner:

¶ The people repent & forsake theyr straũge wiues Esdras recyteth the benefytes of God & the synnes of the people.

The.ix. Chapter.

IN the foure & twentie day of this moneth came the chyldrẽ of Israel together wyth *fasting & sack clothes, & erth vpõ thẽ, & separated the sede of Israel frõ all the straũge chyldrẽ & stode & knowleged theyr synnes, and the wyckednesses of theyr fathers, & stode vp in theyr place, and red in the boke of the law of the Lord theyr God foure tyme on the day, & they knowleged, & worshipped the Lorde theyr God foure tymes on the daye. And the Leuites stode on hye, namelye Jesua, Bani, Cadmiel, Sabantah, Buni, Sarebiah, Bani & Chanani, & cryed loude vnto the Lord theyr God. And the Leuites, Jesua, Cadmiel, Bani, Hasabniah, Serebiah, Hodiah, Sebaniah, Phathahiah, said: stand vp prayse the Lord your God for euer: & let thankes be geuen vnto the name of thy glorye, which excelleth al thankesgeuing & prayse. Lord, thou alone hast made heauẽ, & the heauẽ of all heauens, wyth all theyr host, the earth & al that is therein, the see & al that is therin: thou geuest like vnto all, & the hoste of heauẽ bowe them selues vnto the. Thou art the Lord God, ỹ hast chosen Abrã, & broughtest him out of *Ur in Chaldea, * & calledst hym Abraham and foundest his herte faythful before the * & madest a couenaunt wyth him to geue vn to his sede the land of the Cananites Hethites, Amorites, Pherezites, Jebusites & Gergesites, & hast made good thy wordes for thou art righteous * & hast considered the mysery of our fathers in Egipt, & hearde theyr cõplaynt by the reed see, & shewed tokens & wonders vpon Pharao, & on all hys seruaũtes, and on al the people of his land: for thou knewest that they were presumpteous & cruel agaynst them, & so madest ỹ *the a name as it is thys daye. And the reed see dydest thou deuyde in sunder before thẽ, so that thei wẽt thorow the middes of ỹ see drye shood: & their persecuters threwest thou into the depe as a stone, in ỹ mightie waters, & leddest thẽ on the daye tyme in a cloudy pyler, and on the nyghte season in a pyler of fyre, to shew thẽ lyght in the waye that they wente.

*Thou camest downe also vpõ mounte Sinai, & spakest vnto them frõ heauen, & gauest them right iudgemẽtes, true lawes good cõmaundementes and statutes, and declaredst vnto thẽ thy holy Saboth, and cõmaundedst them preceptes, ordinaũces, and lawes, by Moses thy seruaũt: & *gauest them bred frõ heauen when they were hongrie, & *broughtest forth water for thẽ oute of the rocke whẽ they were thyrstye: & promysedst them, that they shulde go in, & take possessiõ of the land, ouer which thou haddest lyft vp thine hand for to geue thẽ

But our fathers were proud and hardnecked, so that they folowed not the commaundementes, & refused to heare, & were not mindeful of the wõders that thou dydest for thẽ: but became obstinate & heady in so moch that they turned backe to theyr bondage in theyr disobedience. But thou my God forgauest, & wast gracious, merciful, patient, and of great goodnesse, and forsokest thẽ not. *And though thei made a moulte calfe (& sayd: Thys is thy God, that brought the out of the lãde of Egipt) man they made a monstrous calfe

yet forsokest ỹ thou not

Gene.xi.b Gen.xvii.a Gene.xv.b

Exod.xiii.b

Some rede them.

Exodi.xx.a Deut.iiii.b

Exodi.xvi.b

Numer.xx.b

Exo.xxxii.a

and dyd great blaſpheimyes, yet forſakeſt thou them not in the wildernes, according Exo.xiii.d. to thy great mercy. *And the cloudy pyler departed not from thē on the daye time to leade thē the waye, nether the pyler of fyre in the nyght ſeaſon, to ſhew them lighte in the waye that they went.

And thou gaueſt thē thy good ſpyete to Exo.xvi.b. Exo.xvii.b enfourme thē, * & wythheldeſt not thy Mā=na from theyr mouth, * & gaueſt them wa ter when they were thyrſtie. Fortye yeares longe madeſt thou prouiſion for thē in the wildernesſe, ſo that they lacked nothinge:
Deut.viii.b *theyr clothes waxed not olde, & their fete ſwelled not. And thou gaueſt them kynge doms and nacions, and partedſt thē accor ding to their portiōs, ſo that they poſſeſſed
Num.xxi.c *the land of Sehon kyng of Heſchō, and the lande of Og the kinge of Bāſan. And theyr childrē multipliedſt thou as the ſtar res of heauen, & broughteſte them into the lād wherof thou haddeſt ſpokē vnto their fathers, that they ſhulde go into it, & haue it in poſſeſſion.

And the childrē went in, and poſſeſſed ỹ
Iohu.xi.xiii. xxiii. lād, * & thou ſubdudeſt before thē the inha biters of the land, cuē the Cananites, and gaueſt thē into their hand, & theyr kynges and the people of the land, that they might do with thē what they wold. And thei wan
E theyr ſtrong cities, & a fatt a land, & toke poſſion of houſes that were ful of all ma=ner goodes, welles dygged out, vyneyar=des, oylegardens, & many frutefull trees: and they ate & were fylled, & became fat, & lyued in welth thorow thy great goodnes Neuertheleſſe they were diſobedient, & re=belled agaynſt the, and caſt thy law behin=de theyr backes, and ſlue thy Prophetes (whych exhorted thē ſo earneſtly, that they ſhulde conuerte vnto the) and dyd greate blaſphemies. Therfore gaueſt thou them ouer into the hande of theyr enemyes that vexed them.

And in the tyme of theyr trouble theyr cryed vnto the, & ỹ heardeſt them frō heuē and thorow thy greate mercy thou gaueſt thē ſauiours, which helped thē oute of ỹ hand of theyr enemies. But whē thei came to reſt, they turned back agayn to do euell before the: therfore lefteſt thou them in the hande of theyr enemies, ſo that they had ỹ dominion ouer them. So they cōuerted, & cryed vnto the, & thou herdeſte them from heauen, & many tymes haſt thou deliuered them according to thy great mercy, and te=ſtifyedſt vnto them, that they ſhuld turne agayne vnto thy lawe.

Notwithſtāding they were proud, and herkened not vnto thy commaundemētes, but ſynned in thy lawes * (whyche a man ſhuld do, & lyue in them) & turned ỹ ſhoul=der away, & were ſtifnecked, and wold not heare. And many yeres dideſt thou forbeare them, & teſtifiedſt vnto them thorow thy ſpyete, euen by the office of thy prophetes, and yet woulde they not heare. Therfore gaueſt thou thē into the hād of the naciōs in the landes. But for thy greate mercyes ſake thou haſt not vtterly conſumed them nether forſaken thē: for thou arte a gracio=us and mercyfull God.

* Now our God, thou great god, myghtie & terrible, thou that kepeſt couenaunte & mercy, regarde not a lytle al ỹ trayuayle that hath happened vnto vs, & our kinges princes, prieſtes, prophetes, fathers and all thy people, ſence the tyme of the kinges of Aſſur vnto this day. Thou art righteous in al that thou haſt broughte vpon vs: for thou haſt done right. As for vs, we haue bene vngodly, & our kinges, princes, prie=ſtes & fathers haue not done after thy law nor regarded thy commaundemētes, & thy earneſt exhortaciōs wherwith thou haſt ex horted them, & haue not ſerued the in theyr kingdom, & in thy great goodes that thou gaueſt them, & in the large & plēteous lād which thou gaueſt them, & haue not cōuer ted from theyr wicked worckes. Beholde, therfore are we in bondage thys daye: yea euē in the land that thou gaueſt vnto oure fathers, to enioye the fruytes and goodes therof, behold there are we bondmen. And great is the increaſe of it vnto the kinges whō thou haſt ſet ouer vs becauſe of oure ſynnes, and they haue dominion ouer our bodyes and cattel, and we ar in great trou ble. And in all thys make we a ſure coue=naunt, and write it, and let our princes, Le uites and prieſtes ſeale it.

The Notes.

a This fat land ſignifieth a frutefull grounde that aboūdeth with al good thinges as it is ſayde of fat bread of Aſer. Gene. xlix. c b Sauiours ar here called the princes or cap=taynes whyche ſaued the people from theyr enemy=es. Iudic. ii. b.

¶ The names of them that sealed the couenaunt betwene God and the people.

The.x.Chapter.

THese sealears were: Nehemiah(ꝑ is)Hathirsatha ꝑ sonne of Hachaliah and Zedekiah, Saraiah, Asariah, Jeremye, Phashur, Amariah, Malchiah, Hatus, Sebaniah, Malluch, Harim, Meremoth, Obadiah, Daniell, Jéthon, Baruch, Mosolã, Abiah, Miamin, Maasiah, Belgai & Semeiah: these were prestes. The Leuites were: Jesua the sõne of Azaniah, Bẽnui amõg the childrẽ of Henadad & Cadmiel, And their brethrẽ: Sechaniah, Hodiah, Celita, Phalaiah, Hanan, Micha, Rohob, Hasabiah, Sachur, Serebiah, Sabaniah, Hodiah, Bani & Baninu The heades of ꝑ people were: Phares, Pahath Moab, Elam, Zathua, Bani, Boni, Asgad, Bebai, Adonias, Begoai, Adin, Ater, Hezekiah, Asur, Hodiah, Hasũ, Bezai, Hariph, Anathothe, Nebai, Magphias, Mosolã, Hesir, Mesesabell Zadoc, Jaddua, Phalatia, Hanã, Anaiah, Hosea Hananiah, Hasub, Halohes, Phalcha, Sobek, Rehũ, Hasebnah Maasiah Ahiah Hanan, Anan, Malluch, Harim & Baanah.

B And the other people, the prestes, Leuites, Porters, singers, Nethinims, & al they that had separated thẽselues frõ the people in the landes vnto the lawe of God, wt theyr wyues sonnes & daughters, as many as could vnderstande it, & theyr Lordes that hadde rule of them, receiued it for theyr brethren.

nota a prouysyõ for baptyme

Jesa.xxxiii. a. 66. Da.xv. c.

* And they came to sweare, & to bind thẽselues with an oth to walke in Gods lawe, which was geuẽ by Moses the seruaũt of God, that they wold obserue & do accordig vnto all the cõmaũdemẽtes, iudgementes & statutes of the Lord oure God: * & ꝑ we wold not geue our daughters vnto ꝑ people in the lãde, nether to take their daughters for our sõnes. * And ꝑ ꝑ people of the land brought ware on the saboth, & al maner of vitayles to sell, ꝑ we wold not take it of thẽ on the saboth & on the holye dayes. * And that we wolde let the seuenth yeare be fre concerning al maner of charge.

Deut.vii.a

Exod.xxiii. & xxxiiii. a

Leuit.xxv. a Deut.xv. a

C And we decreed a statute vpõ our selues to geue yearly ꝑ third part of a sycle to the ministracõ in the house of our God, naine ly to the shewbred, to the dayly meatoffringe, to the dayly burntofferinge of the sabbothes of the newmones and feast dayes and to the thinges that were sanctifyed, & to the synneoffringes, to reconcyle Israel wyth all, and to all the busynes in the house of oure God.

And we cast the lot among the prestes, Leuites & the people, for offring of ꝑ wod to be brought vnto the house of our God frõ yeare to yere, after the houses of oure fathers that it might be brent at tymes appoynted, vpõ ꝑ aultar of the lord our god as it is writtẽ in the law: & yearly to bring the firstlinges of our lãd, & the firstlinges of our frutes of al trees, yere by yere, vnto the house of the Lord: & the firstlinges of our sõnes, & of our cattel, as it is writtẽ in the lawe: & the firstlinges of our oxen & of our shepe, ꝑ we shulde bring al this to the house of our God vnto the prestes that ministerin thee house of oure God: & that we shuld bring the firstlinges of our dowghe and of our heueoffringes, and the fruytes of al maner trees, of wyne also and of oyle vnto the Priestes to the chestes of the house of oure God. And the tythes of our lande vnto the Leuites, that ꝑ Leuites might haue the tythes in all the cytyes of our ministration.

D

And the priest the sonne of Aaron shall wyth the Leuites haue also of thee tythes of the Leuites, so that ꝑ Leuites shal bringe vp the tythes of theyr tythes vnto thee house of our God to the chest in the treasure house. For the childrẽ of Israel & ꝑ children of Leui shal bring vp the heueoffringes of the corne, wyne & oyle vnto the chestes. And ther shalbe the vessels of ꝑ sanctuarye, and the prestes that ministre, and the porters and syngers, that we forsake not the house of our God.

nota

Ruges

¶ Who dwelled in Jerusalẽ after it was buylded and who in the cytyes of Juda.

The.xi. Chapter.

AND the rulers of thee people dwelt at Jerusalẽ. But the other people cast lottes therfore, so that amõg ten one part went to Jerusalẽ into the holy cytie to dwel, & nyne partes in the cyties And the people thanked al the men ꝑ were wylling to dwell at Jerusalem.

Thes

not red Decreed a statute vpon our [illegible]

These are the heades of the lande that dwelt in Jerusalem & in the cities of Juda And euery one dwelt in his possession, & in theyr cyties of Israel, the prestes, Leuites the Nethinims, and the children of Salomons seruauntes. And at Jerusalē dwelt certayne of thee chyldren of Juda and of Ben Jamin.

Of the chyldren of Juda: Athaiah the sonne of Usiah the sonne of Zachary, the sonne of Amariah, the sonne of Saphatiah, the sonne of Mahalaleel, of the childrē of Phares. And Maasiah the sōne of Baruch, the sonne of Chal Hose, the sonne of Hasaia, the sonne of Adaia, the sōne of Joiarib, the sonne of Zachary, the sōne of Silont. All the chyldrē of Phares that dwelt at Jerusalem, were foure. C. and eyghte & thre skore valeaunt men.

These are the children of Ben Jamin: Sallu the sonne of Mesullā, the sonne of Joeb, the sonne of Phadaiah, the sonne of Colaiah, the sōne of Maasiah, the sonne of Ithiel, the sonne of Isaiah. And after him
B Abai, Selai, nyne hundred and eyght and twentye. And Joell thee sonne of Zechry hadde thee ouerspyghte of them: and Juda the sonne of Senuah ouer the second part of the cytte.

Of the prestes ther dwelt: Jedaiah the
4.Para.9.b sonne of Joiarib, Jachin. Saraiah ꝑ sonne of Helkiah the sonne of Mosolā, ꝑ sonne of Zadoc, the sonne of Meraioth, ꝑ sonne of Ahitob, was prince in ꝑ house of god & his brethrē that perfourmed the worcke in the house: of whō ther were. viii. C. and xxii. And Adaiah the sonne of Jerobam, ꝑ sonne of Phalaliel, the sonne of Amazi, the sonne of Zachary, ꝑ sōne of Phashur, the sonne of Melchiah & hys brethren, chefe amonge the fathers: of whō there were two hundreth and two & foztie. And Amasai ꝑ sonne of Asarael the sonne of Ahasai thee sonne of Mosolamoth, the sonne of Emer and his brethrē were valiaūt men, of whō there were an hundreth and eyght & twentye. And theyr ouerscar was Zabdiell the sonne of Hagdolim.

Of the Leuites: Semeiah the sonne of
C Hasub, the sōne of Azrikam, the sonne of
8.Par.5.b. Hasabiah the sonne of Boni: & Sabathai & Josabad of the chefe of the Leuytes, in the outward busines of the house of God And Mathaniah the sonne of Micha, the sonne of Zabdi, the sōne of Asaph, whych was the principal to beginne the thankesgeuing vnto prayer. And bakbukiah thee secounde amonge hys brethren, & Abda the sonne of Sāmua, the sonne of Galall, the sonne of Jduthū. Al the Leuites in the holy cytte were two hundred & foure & foure skoze. * And the porters Acub & Talmon, ✠ Para.8.6
& theyr brethrē that kepte the portes, were an hundreth & two and seuentye. As for ꝑ residue of Israell, the prestes & Leuites, they were in al the cities of Juda, euery one in hys inheritaunce.

And the Nethinims dwelt in Ophel: & Ziha & Gaspha belonged vnto the Nethinims. The ouerseat of the Leuites at Jerusalē, was Usi the sonne of Baani, ꝑ sonne of Hasabiah, the sonne of Mathaniah, the sonne of Micha.

Of the chyldren of Asaph there were B
syngers aboute the busynesse in the house of God: for it was the kynges commaundemente concerning them, that the singers shoulde deale faythfully euery daye as accordinge was.

And Pathaiah the sonne of Meseiabel of the children of Zarah the sonne of Juda nexte the kyng in al matters concernig the people & theyr villages, thorow out al theyr regions. And thee children of Juda that were wythoute in the townes of theyr land, dwelt some at Kariath Arbe, & in the vyllages therof, and at Dibon, and in the vyllages thereof: & at Cabzeel, and in the vyllages therof: and at Jesua, Moladah, Bethphalet, Hazersual, Berlabe, & in their vyllages: and at Siklag and Moconah and in theyr vyllages: And at Enremon, Zarah, Jerimuth, Zonoah, Odollam and in theyr vyllages: At Lachis, and in ꝑ feldes therof: At Azekah, and in the villages therof: and dwelte from Berlabe vnto the valley of Hennom.

The children of Ben Jamin of Gaba, dwelte at Machmas Aia & Bethell and in theyr vyllages. And at Anathoth, Nob, Ananiah, Hazor, Ramah, Gethaim, Hadid, Zeboim, Nabalath, Lod, Ono and in the carpenters valleye. And certayne of the Leuites that had porciōs in Juda, dwelte in Ben Jamin.

These are the heades of the lande that dwelt in Jerusalem & in the cities of Juda And euery one dwelt in his possession, & in theyr cyties of Israel, the prestes, Leuites the Nethinims, and the children of Salomons seruauntes. And at Jerusalē dwelt certayne of thee chyldren of Juda and of Ben Jamin.

Of the chyldren of Juda: Athaiah the sonne of Usiah the sonne of Zachary, the sonne of Amariah, the sonne of Saphatiah, the sonne of Mahalaleel, of the childrē of Phares. And Maasiah the sōne of Baruch, the sonne of Chal Hose, the sonne of Hasaia, the sonne of Adaia, the sōne of Joiarib, the sonne of Zachary, the sōne of Silont. All the chyldrē of Phares that dwelt at Jerusalem, were foure. C. and eyghte & thre skore valeaunt men.

These are the children of Ben Jamin: Sallu the sonne of Mesullā, the sonne of Joeb, the sonne of Phadaiah, the sonne of Colaiah, the sōne of Maasiah, the sonne of Ithiel, the sonne of Isaiah. And after him
B Abai, Selai, nyne hundred and eyght and twentye. And Joell thee sonne of Zechry hadde thee ouerspyghte of them: and Juda the sonne of Senuah ouer the second part of the cytte.

Of the prestes ther dwelt: Jedaiah the
4.Para.9.b sonne of Joiarib, Jachin. Saraiah ꝑ sonne of Helkiah the sonne of Mosolā, ꝑ sonne of Zadoc, the sonne of Meraioth, ꝑ sonne of Ahitob, was prince in ꝑ house of god & his brethrē that perfourmed the worcke in the house: of whō ther were. viii. C. and xxii. And Adaiah the sonne of Jerobam, ꝑ sonne of Phalaliel, the sonne of Amazi, the sonne of Zachary, ꝑ sōne of Phashur, the sonne of Melchiah & hys brethren, chefe amonge the fathers: of whō there were two hundreth and two & foztie. And Amasai ꝑ sonne of Asarael the sonne of Ahasai thee sonne of Mosolamoth, the sonne of Emer and his brethrē were valiaūt men, of whō there were an hundreth and eyght & twentye. And theyr ouerscar was Zabdiell the sonne of Hagdolim.

Of the Leuites: Semeiah the sonne of
C Hasub, the sōne of Azrikam, the sonne of
8.Par.5.b. Hasabiah the sonne of Boni: & Sabathai & Josabad of the chefe of the Leuytes, in the outward busines of the house of God And Mathaniah the sonne of Micha, the sonne of Zabdi, the sōne of Asaph, whych was the principal to beginne the thankesgeuing vnto prayer. And bakbukiah thee secounde amonge hys brethren, & Abda the sonne of Sāmua, the sonne of Galall, the sonne of Jduthū. Al the Leuites in the holy cytte were two hundred & foure & foure skoze. * And the porters Acub & Talmon, ✠ Para.8.6
& theyr brethrē that kepte the portes, were an hundreth & two and seuentye. As for ꝑ residue of Israell, the prestes & Leuites, they were in al the cities of Juda, euery one in hys inheritaunce.

And the Nethinims dwelt in Ophel: & Ziha & Gaspha belonged vnto the Nethinims. The ouerseat of the Leuites at Jerusalē, was Usi the sonne of Baani, ꝑ sonne of Hasabiah, the sonne of Mathaniah, the sonne of Micha.

Of the chyldren of Asaph there were B
syngers aboute the busynesse in the house of God: for it was the kynges commaundemente concerning them, that the singers shoulde deale faythfully euery daye as accordinge was.

And Pathaiah the sonne of Meseiabel of the children of Zarah the sonne of Juda nexte the kyng in al matters concernig the people & theyr villages, thorow out al theyr regions. And thee children of Juda that were wythoute in the townes of theyr land, dwelt some at Kariath Arbe, & in the vyllages therof, and at Dibon, and in the vyllages thereof: & at Cabzeel, and in the vyllages therof: and at Jesua, Moladah, Bethphalet, Hazersual, Berlabe, & in their vyllages: and at Siklag and Moconah and in theyr vyllages: And at Enremon, Zarah, Jerimuth, Zonoah, Odollam and in theyr vyllages: At Lachis, and in ꝑ feldes therof: At Azekah, and in the villages therof: and dwelte from Berlabe vnto the valley of Hennom.

The children of Ben Jamin of Gaba, dwelte at Machmas Aia & Bethell and in theyr vyllages. And at Anathoth, Nob, Ananiah, Hazor, Ramah, Gethaim, Hadid, Zeboim, Nabalath, Lod, Ono and in the carpenters valleye. And certayne of the Leuites that had porciōs in Juda, dwelte in Ben Jamin.

¶ The preastes and Leuytes which came with Zorobabell to Jerusalem are numbred: and the walle is dedycate.

The.xii.Chapter.

A THese are the preastes and Leuites that went vp with Zorobabell the sonne of Salathiell & w Jesua, Saraiah, Jeremy, Eldras, Amariah, Meluch, Hatus, Sechaniah, Rehum Meremoth, Ado, Genthoi, Abiah, Miamin, Maadiah, Belgah, Semaiah, Joiarib, Jadaiah, Salu, Amok, Helkiah & Jadaiah. These were the heades amonge the preastes and their brethren in the tyme of Jesua. The leuites were these: Jesua, Benui, Cadmiell, Sarabiah, Juda & Mathaniah ouer the offyce of thankesgeuynge, they & their brethren: Bacbukiah and Uni and their brethren, were about them in the watches.

Jesua begat Joakim. Joakim begat Eliasib, Eliasib begat Joiada. Joiada begat Jonathã. Jonathã begat Jadua. And in the tyme of Joakim were these ỹ chefe fathers amõge the preastes: vnder Saraiah Maraiah, vnder Jeremy Hananiah, vnder Eldras Mosolam, vnder Amariah Jehoanã, vnder Melico Jonathã, vnder Sebaniah Joseph, vnder Harim Edna, vnder Maraioth Helcai, vnder Adia Zachari, vnder Gethõ Mosolã, vnder Abia Zechri, vnder Miniamin & Moadia Peltai, vnder Belgah Samua, vnder Semeiah Jehonathã, vnder Joiarib Mathnai, vnder Jadaiah Uzi, vnder Selai Kelai, vnder Amok Eber, vnder Helchiah Hasabiah, vnder Jadaiah Nathanael.

B And in the tyme of Eliasib. Joiada, Johanã & Jadua, were the chefe fathers amõge the Leuites, and the preastes wrytte vnder ỹ raigne of Darius the Persian. The chyldren of Leui ỹ principal fathers were wrytten in the Cronicles, vntyll the tyme of Jonathan the sonne of Eliasib. And these were ỹ chefe amõg the Leuites, Hasabiah, Serebiah and Jesua ỹ sõne of Cadmiel, and their brethren ouer agaynst thẽ, to geue prayse and thankes, accordynge as Dauid ỹ man of God had ordeined it, one watche ouer against another. Mathania, Balbukiah, Obadiah, Mosolã, Talmon & Akub were porters in the watch at the threscholdes of ỹ gates. These were in the tyme of Joiakim the sonne of Jesua & sonne of Josedec, and in the tyme of Nehemiah the captayne and of the preste Eldras the scrybe.

And in the dedicacion of the wall at Jerusalẽ, were the Leuites sought out of al their places, that they myght be brought to Jerusalẽ, to kepe the dedicacion & gladnesse, w thãkesgeuynges, withe singynge w Cimbales, psalteries and harpes. And ỹ chyldren of the syngers geathered them selues together frõ ỹ plaine coũtre aboute Jerusalem, & from the villages of Nethophathi, & from the house of Galgall, & out of the feldes of Geba and Asmaueth: for ỹ syngers had buylded thẽ byllages about Jerusalem. And the preastes & Leuites purykyed them selues, and clẽsed the people, the gates and the wall.

C And I caused the princes of Juda to go vp vpõ ỹ wal, & apoynted two greate queers of thãkesgeuing, which wẽt on ỹ right hande of the wal to warde the Dõggate, & after them wente Hosaiah, & halfe of the princes of Juda, & Azaria, Eldras, Mosolã Juda, & en Jamin, Semeiah and Jeremi: & certaine of ỹ preastes chyldrẽ w trompets, namely zachary the sonne of Jonathan, the sonne of Semeiah, the sonne of Mathaniah, the sonne of Michaiah, the sonne of zecur, the sõne of Asaph, and his brethren, Semeiah, Azarael, Melalai, Galalai, Maai, Nathanael & Juda and Hanani, w the musical instrumentes of Dauid the man of god.

And Eldras the Scribe before thẽ, toward the Wellgate, & they wente vp ouer agaynst thẽ vpon the steppes of the cytye of Dauid at the goynge vp of the wall to the house of Dauid, vnto the Watergate Eastwarde.

The other queer of thãkesgeuynge wẽt ouer against thẽ, & I after thẽ, & the halfe part of ỹ people vpon ỹ wal, towarde the Fornacegate vpward, vntil ỹ brod wal, & to the port of Ephraim, & to ỹ Oldegate, & to the Fyshgate, and to the tower of Hananeel, & to the tower of Meah, vntyll the Shepegate. And in the prẽsongate stode they styll, and so stode the two queers of thankesgeuinge of the house of God, and I and the half of the rulers wyth me, and the preastes, namelye Eliakim, Maasiah,

D

¶ The preastes and Leuytes which came with Zorobabell to Jerusalem are numbred: and the walle is dedycate.

The.xii.Chapter.

A THese are the preastes and Leuites that went vp with Zorobabell the sonne of Salathiell & w Jesua, Saraiah, Jeremy, Eldras, Amariah, Meluch, Hatus, Sechaniah, Rehum Meremoth, Ado, Genthoi, Abiah, Miamin, Maadiah, Belgah, Semaiah, Joiarib, Jadaiah, Salu, Amok, Helkiah & Jadaiah. These were the heades amonge the preastes and their brethren in the tyme of Jesua. The leuites were these: Jesua, Benui, Cadmiell, Sarabiah, Juda & Mathaniah ouer the offyce of thankesgeuynge, they & their brethren: Bacbukiah and Uni and their brethren, were about them in the watches.

Jesua begat Joakim. Joakim begat Eliasib, Eliasib begat Joiada. Joiada begat Jonathã. Jonathã begat Jadua. And in the tyme of Joakim were these ỳ chefe fathers amõge the preastes: vnder Saraiah Maraiah, vnder Jeremy Hananiah, vnder Eldras Mosolam, vnder Amariah Jehoanã, vnder Melico Jonathã, vnder Sebaniah Joseph, vnder Harim Edna, vnder Maraioth Helcai, vnder Adia Zachari, vnder Gẽthõ Mosolã, vnder Abia Zechri, vnder Miniamin & Moadia Peltai, vnder Belgah Samua, vnder Semeiah Jehonathã, vnder Joiarib Mathnai, vnder Jadaiah Uzi, vnder Selai Kelai, vnder Amok Eber, vnder Helchiah Hasabiah, vnder Jadaiah Nathanael.

B And in the tyme of Eliasib. Joiada, Johanã & Jadua, were the chefe fathers amõge the Leuites, and the preastes wrytte vnder ỳ raigne of Darius the Persian. The chyldren of Leui ỳ principal fathers were wrytten in the Cronicles, vntyll the tyme of Jonathan the sonne of Eliasib. And these were ỳ chefe amõg the Leuites, Hasabiah, Serebiah and Jesua ỳ sõne of Cadmiel, and their brethren ouer agaynst thẽ, to geue prayse and thankes, accordynge as Dauid ỳ man of God had ordeined it, one watche ouer against another. Mathania, Balbukiah, Obadiah, Mosolã, Talmon & Akub were porters in the watch at the threcholdes of ỳ gates. These were in the tyme of Joiakim the sonne of Jesua & sonne of Josedec, and in the tyme of Nehemiah the captayne and of the preste Eldras the scrybe.

And in the dedicacion of the wall at Jerusalẽ, were the Leuites sought out of al their places, that they myght be brought to Jerusalẽ, to kepe the dedicacion & gladnesse, w thãkesgeuynges, withe singynge w Cimbales, psalteries and harpes. And ỳ chyldren of the syngers geathered them selues together krõ ỳ plaine coũtre aboute Jerusalem, & from the villages of Nethophathi, & from the house of Galgall, & out of the feldes of Geba and Asmaueth: for ỳ syngers had buylded thẽ byllages about Jerusalem. And the preastes & Leuites purykyed them selues, and clẽsed the people, the gates and the wall.

C And I caused the princes of Juda to go vp vpõ ỳ wal, & apoynted two greate queers of thãkesgeuing, which wẽt on ỳ right hande of the wal to warde the Dõggate, & after them wente Hosaiah, & halfe of the princes of Juda, & Azaria, Eldras, Mosolã Juda, w en Jamin, Semeiah and Jeremi: & certaine of ỳ preastes chyldrẽ w trompets, namely zachary the sonne of Jonathan, the sonne of Semeiah, the sonne of Mathaniah, the sonne of Michaiah, the sonne of zecur, the sõne of Asaph, and his brethren, Semeiah, Azarael, Melalai, Galalai, Maai, Nathanael & Juda and Hanani, w the musical instrumentes of Dauid the man of god.

And Eldras the Scribe before thẽ, toward the Wellgate, & they wente vp ouer agaynst thẽ vpon the steppes of the cytye of Dauid at the goynge vp of the wall to the house of Dauid, vnto the Watergate Eastwarde.

The other queer of thãkesgeuynge wẽt ouer against thẽ, & I after thẽ, & the halfe part of ỳ people vpon ỳ wal, towarde the Fornacegate vpward, vntil ỳ brod wal, & to the port of Ephraim, & to ỳ Oldegate, & to the Fyshgate, and to the tower of Hananeel, & to the tower of Meah, vntyll the Shepegate. And in the prysongate stode they styll, and so stode the two queers of thankesgeuinge of the house of God, and I and the half of the rulers wyth me, and the preastes, namelye Eliakim, Maasiah, siah, Mintamin, Michaiah, Elyoenai, Zachary, Hananiah, wythe trompettes, and Maasiah, Semeiah, Eleasser, Uzzi, Iehohanan, Melchiah. Elam and Ser. And the syngers sange loude, & Iesrahiah was the ouerseer.

And ỹ same daye were there greate sacrifices offred, & they reioysed: for god had geuen thẽ greate gladnes, so that bothe ỹ wiues & chyldren were ioyful, & the mirth of Ierusalem was herde farre of.

At the same tyme were ther mẽ appoynted ouer ỹ treasure chestes (wherin were ỹ Heueoffrynges, the fyrstlynges and the tythes) that they shulde geather them out of ỹ feldes aboute the cities, to destribute them vnto the prestes and Leuites accordyng to ỹ lawe: for Iuda was glad of the prestes, and Leuites, that they stode & waited vpon ỹ office of their God, and the office of the purifycacion. And the syngers and porters stode after the commaũdemẽte of Dauid and of Salomon his sõne: * for in the tyme of Dauid & Asaph, were ỹ cheke syngers founded, and the songes of prayse and thankesgeuynge vnto God. In the time of zorobabel and Nehemiah, did al Israell, geue porcios vnto the syngers & porters, euery day his porcio, & they gaue thynges halowed vnto ỹ Leuites, & the Leuites, gaue thynges ỹ were sanctyfyed, vnto the chyldren of Aaron.

¶ Deuteronomye is read, and whẽ they haue heard it, they separat from them al straungers &c.

The. xiii. Chapter.

AND what time as the boke of Moses was red in ỹ eares of ỹ people ther was foũd writtẽ therin, * ỹ the Ammonites & Moabites shulde neuer come into the congregacyon of God, because they mete not ỹ children of Israel with bred and water, * & hyred Balaam against them, that he shuld curse thẽ: neuertheles oure God turned thee curse in to a blessynge. Nowe when they heard the lawe, they separated from Israell euerye one that had myxte hym selfe therein. And before thys had the preast Eliasib delyuered the chest of the house of oure God vnto hys kinsman Tobiah: for he had made him a great chest, and ther had they afore tyme layed the meatoffrynges, frankencense, vessel, and the tythes of corne, wyne and oyle (accordynge to the commaundemẽt geuen to ỹ Leuites, singers & porters) and the heueoffrynges of the prestes.

But in al this was not I at Ierusalem: for in ỹ .xxxii. & thirtieth yeare of Artharerses king of Babilon, came I vnto the kinge, & after certaine dayes optayned I licence of ỹ king to come to Ierusalẽ. And I gat knowledg of ỹ euel that Eliasib dyd vnto Tobiah, in ỹ he had made him a chest in ỹ court of the house of God, & it greued me sore, & I cast forth all ỹ vessels of ỹ house of Tobiah out of ỹ chest, & cõmaũded thẽ to clense the chest. And thither broughte I againe the vessels of the house of god, the meatoffrynge and the incense.

And I perceaued, ỹ the portions of the Leuites were not geuen thẽ, for ỹ whyche cause ỹ Leuites & singers were fled, euery one to his lãd for to work. Then reproued I the rulers, and sayde: why forsake we ỹ house of God? But I gethered them together, & set thẽ in theyr place. Thẽ brought all Iuda the tythes of corne, wyne & oyle vnto ỹ treasur. And I made treasurers ouer ỹ treasure, euẽ Selemiah the preste, & Zadoc the scribe, and of the Leuytes Phadaiah & vnder their hãde Hanã the sonne of Zacur the sonne of Mathaniah: for thei were coũted faythfull, & their office was to distribute vnto their brethrẽ. * Thinck vpon me O my God here in, & wypte not out my merci, ỹ I haue shewed on ỹ house of my God, and on the officers therof.

At the same tyme saw I some tredynge wyne presses on the Saboth & bringinge in clustets, & asses laden wyth wyne, grapes, frygges, & bringinge all maner of burthens vnto Ierusalem, vpon the Saboth day. And I rebuked thẽ earnestli the same day that they sold ỹ victayles. Ther dwelt men of Tyre also therin, which broughte fysh & all maner of ware, and solde on the Saboth vnto the chyldren of Iuda & Ierusalem. Thẽ reproued I the rulers in Iuda, & sayde vnto thẽ: what euell thyng is thys ỹ ye do, & breake the Sabothe daye? Did not our fathers euen thus, and oure god brought al this plage vpon vs & vpõ this citie? And ye make ỹ wrathe more yet vpon Israel, in ỹ ye breake the Saboth. And it fortuned, ỹ whẽ * the porters of Ierusalẽ made shadow before ỹ Saboth, I cõmaunded to shut the gates, & charged ỹ

Exod. xxiiii. d.

Deu. xxiii.

Nu. xxiii. d.

Exod. xx. d.

siah, Mintamin, Michaiah, Elyoenai, Zachary, Hananiah, wythe trompettes, and Maasiah, Semeiah, Eleasser, Uzzi, Iehohanan, Melchiah. Elam and Ser. And the syngers sange loude, & Iesrahiah was the ouerseer.

And ỹ same daye were there greate sacrifices offred, & they reioysed: for god had geuen thẽ greate gladnes, so that bothe ỹ wiues & chyldren were ioyful, & the mirth of Ierusalem was herde farre of.

At the same tyme were ther mẽ appoynted ouer ỹ treasure chestes (wherin were ỹ Heueoffrynges, the fyrstlynges and the tythes) that they shulde geather them out of ỹ feldes aboute the cities, to destribute them vnto the prestes and Leuites accordyng to ỹ lawe: for Iuda was glad of the prestes, and Leuites, that they stode & waited vpon ỹ office of their God, and the office of the purifycacion. And the syngers and porters stode after the commaũdemẽte of Dauid and of Salomon his sõne: * for in the tyme of Dauid & Asaph, were ỹ cheke syngers founded, and the songes of prayse and thankesgeuynge vnto God. In the time of zorobabel and Nehemiah, did al Israell, geue porcios vnto the syngers & porters, euery day his porcio, & they gaue thynges halowed vnto ỹ Leuites, & the Leuites, gaue thynges ỹ were sanctyfyed, vnto the chyldren of Aaron.

¶ Deuteronomye is read, and whẽ they haue heard it, they separat from them al straungers &c.

The. xiii. Chapter.

AND what time as the boke of Moses was red in ỹ eares of ỹ people ther was foũd writtẽ therin, * ỹ the Ammonites & Moabites shulde neuer come into the congregacyon of God, because they mete not ỹ children of Israel with bred and water, * & hyred Balaam against them, that he shuld curse thẽ: neuertheles oure God turned thee curse in to a blessynge. Nowe when they heard the lawe, they separated from Israell euerye one that had myxte hym selfe therein. And before thys had the preast Eliasib delyuered the chest of the house of oure God vnto hys kinsman Tobiah: for he had made him a great chest, and ther had they afore tyme layed the meatoffrynges, frankencense, vessel, and the tythes of corne, wyne and oyle (accordynge to the commaundemẽt geuen to ỹ Leuites, singers & porters) and the heueoffrynges of the prestes.

But in al this was not I at Ierusalem: for in ỹ .xxxii. & thirtieth yeare of Artharerses king of Babilon, came I vnto the kinge, & after certaine dayes optayned I licence of ỹ king to come to Ierusalẽ. And I gat knowledg of ỹ euel that Eliasib dyd vnto Tobiah, in ỹ he had made him a chest in ỹ court of the house of God, & it greued me sore, & I cast forth all ỹ vessels of ỹ house of Tobiah out of ỹ chest, & cõmaũded thẽ to clense the chest. And thither broughte I againe the vessels of the house of god, the meatoffrynge and the incense.

And I perceaued, ỹ the portions of the Leuites were not geuen thẽ, for ỹ whyche cause ỹ Leuites & singers were fled, euery one to his lãd for to work. Then reproued I the rulers, and sayde: why forsake we ỹ house of God? But I gethered them together, & set thẽ in theyr place. Thẽ brought all Iuda the tythes of corne, wyne & oyle vnto ỹ treasur. And I made treasurers ouer ỹ treasure, euẽ Selemiah the preste, & Zadoc the scribe, and of the Leuytes Phadaiah & vnder their hãde Hanã the sonne of Zacur the sonne of Mathaniah: for thei were coũted faythfull, & their office was to distribute vnto their brethrẽ. * Thinck vpon me O my God here in, & wypte not out my merci, ỹ I haue shewed on ỹ house of my God, and on the officers therof.

At the same tyme saw I some tredynge wyne presses on the Saboth & bringinge in clustets, & asses laden wyth wyne, grapes, frygges, & bringinge all maner of burthens vnto Ierusalem, vpon the Saboth day. And I rebuked thẽ earnestli the same day that they sold ỹ victayles. Ther dwelt men of Tyre also therin, which broughte fysh & all maner of ware, and solde on the Saboth vnto the chyldren of Iuda & Ierusalem. Thẽ reproued I the rulers in Iuda, & sayde vnto thẽ: what euell thyng is thys ỹ ye do, & breake the Sabothe daye? Did not our fathers euen thus, and oure god brought al this plage vpon vs & vpõ this citie? And ye make ỹ wrathe more yet vpon Israel, in ỹ ye breake the Saboth. And it fortuned, ỹ whẽ * the porters of Ierusalẽ made shadow before ỹ Saboth, I cõmaunded to shut the gates, & charged ỹ

Exod. xxiiii. d.

Deu. xxiii.

Nu. xxiii. d.

Exod. xx. d.

nota
they would not open the gates on the Saboth Day

they ſhuld not be opened till after the Sa-both: & ſome of my ſeruauntes ſet I at the gates, ỹ ther ſhulde no burthē be brought in on the Saboth day. Then remayned ỹ
chapmen and marchaūtes once or twyce
ouer night without Jeruſalē with al maner of wares. Thē reproued I thē ſore, & ſaid vnto thē: why tarry ye al night about the wal? If ye do it once againe, I will lay hādes vpō you. Frō that tyme forth came they no more on the Saboth. And I sayd vnto the Leuites whych were cleane, that they ſhulde come and kepe the gates, to ha
low ỹ Saboth day. Thynk vpon me (O my God) cōcernynge this alſo, & ſpare me
accordynge to thy greate mercy.

And at the ſame tyme ſawe I Jewes, ỹ
maried wyues of Aſdod, Ammō & of Mo
ab & their childrē ſpake half in the ſpeache
of Aſdod, and could not ſpeake in the Je-wes language, but by the tonge myghte a man perceaue euery people. And I repro-ued them, & curſed them, & ſmote certayne men of them, & pluckte them vp, and toke
an ooth of them by god: Ye ſhal not geue
youre daughters vnto their ſōnes, nether ſhal ye take their daughters vnto your ſō
nes, or for your ſelues. Did not Salomō
the kynge of Iſrael ſynne therin? and yet
amōg many Heythen was there no kynge
lyke him, and he was deare vnto hys god,
and God made him kyng ouer al Iſraell,
& yet neuertheles outlandyſh weimen cau
ſed hym to ſynne? And ſhall we then obey vnto you, to do all thys great euel, and to trāſgreſſe agaynſt our God, & mary ſtraū
ge wyues?

And one of ỹ children of Jehoiada the ſōne of Eliaſib the hie preſt, had made a cō tract with Sanabalat the Horonite: but I chaced hym frō me. O my God, think ỹ vpon thē that are quyte of the preſtehode, & baue defyled the couenaūt of the preſtehode & of the Leuites. Thus cleſed I thē
frō al ſoch as were outlandiſhe, & appointed the courſes of the preaſtes & Leuytes, euery one to hys office, & to offre ỹ wood
at tymes apointed, & ỹ fyrſt frutes. Think
ỹ vpon me (O my God) for the beſt.

¶ The ende of ỹ ſecond boke of Eldras, otherwyſe called the boke of Nehemiah.

The boke of Ester.

This Ahasuerus, which is called Artharerſesmaketh a royall feaſt, wherunto the quene Vaſthi will not come: for which cauſe ſhe is deuorced.

The. J. Chapter.

IN ỹ time of Ahaſuerus whiche raygned from India vnto Ethiopia, ouer an hun- A dreth & ſeuen & twentye landes, what tyme as he ſate on hys ſeate royall in the caſtell of Suſan in the thirde yeare of his raygne, he made a feaſte vnto all hys prynces & ſeruanntes, namely vnto the myghtye men of Perſia & Media, to the cappytaynes and rulers of hys countrees, that he myghte ſhewe the noble riches of his kingdome, and the glo rious worſhippe of his greatneſſe, manye
dayes longe, euen an hundreth and foure
ſcore dayes.

And when theſe dayes were expyred, ỹ kyng made a feaſt vnto al the people that were in the caſtell of Suſan, bothe vnto
great & ſmall, ſeuen dayes long in ỹ cour- B te of the gardē by the kinges palace: wher
there hanged whyte, reed and yalowe clothes, faſtened with coardes of lynnen and ſcarlette in ſyluer rynges, vpon pyllers of Marble ſtone.

The bēches were of goulde and ſilluer
made vpon a pauemēt of grene, white, ya
lowe & blacke Marble. And the dryncke was caried in veſſels of gould, & ther was euer chaūge of veſſell. And ỹ kinges wine was moch accordinge to the power of the kinge. And no man was appoynted what he ſhuld drinck: for ỹ king had cōmaūded
al the offycers of his houſe, that euery one ſhuld do as it liked him. And the quene Vaſthi made a feaſt alſo for ỹ weimen in ỹ
palace of Ahaſuerus. And on the ſeuenth day whē the king was merry of wyne, he cō
maunded Mehuman, Bartha, Harbona, C
Bagatha, Abagatha, Zathar and Carcas,
the ſeuen chamberlaynes (that dyd ſeruy-ce in the preſente of Kynge Ahaſuerus) to fetche the quene Vaſthi wythe the crowne regal, that he might ſhewe the people and prynces her fayrneſſe: for ſhe was beuty-full. But the quene Vaſthi wolde not come at the kynges worde by hys chamberlaynes.

nota
they would not open the gates on the Saboth Day

they ſhuld not be opened till after the Sa-both: & ſome of my ſeruauntes ſet I at the gates, ỹ ther ſhulde no burthē be brought in on the Saboth day. Then remayned ỹ
chapmen and marchaūtes once or twyce
ouer night without Jeruſalē with al ma-
ner of wares. Thē reproued I thē ſore, &
ſaid vnto thē: why tarry ye al night about the wal? If ye do it once againe, I will lay hādes vpō you. Frō that tyme forth came they no more on the Saboth. And I sayd vnto the Leuites whych were cleane, that they ſhulde come and kepe the gates, to ha
low ỹ Saboth day. Thynk vpon me (O
my God) cōcernynge this alſo, & ſpare me
accordynge to thy greate mercy.

And at the ſame tyme ſawe I Jewes, ỹ
maried wyues of Aſdod, Ammō & of Mo
ab & their childrē ſpake half in the ſpeache
of Aſdod, and could not ſpeake in the Je-
wes language, but by the tonge myghte a man perceaue euery people. And I repro-
ued them, & curſed them, & ſmote certayne
men of them, & pluckte them vp, and toke
an ooth of them by god: Ye ſhal not geue
youre daughters vnto their ſōnes, nether
ſhal ye take their daughters vnto your ſō
nes, or for your ſelues. Did not Salomō
the kynge of Iſrael ſynne therin? and yet
amōg many Heythen was there no kynge
lyke him, and he was deare vnto hys god,
and God made him kyng ouer al Iſraell,
& yet neuertheles outlandyſh weimen cau
ſed hym to ſynne? And ſhall we then obey
vnto you, to do all thys great euel, and to trāſgreſſe agaynſt our God, & mary ſtraū
ge wyues?

And one of ỹ children of Jehoiada the
ſōne of Eliaſib the hie preſt, had made a cō
tract with Sanabalat the Horonite: but I chaced hym frō me. O my God, think ỹ
vpon thē that are quyte of the preſtehode, & baue defyled the couenaūt of the preſte-
hode & of the Leuites. Thus cleſed I thē
frō al ſoch as were outlandiſhe, & appointed the courſes of the preaſtes & Leuytes,
euery one to hys office, & to offre ỹ wood
at tymes apointed, & ỹ fyrſt frutes. Think
ỹ vpon me (O my God) for the beſt.

¶ The ende of ỹ ſecond boke of Eldras,
otherwyſe called the boke of Nehemiah.

The boke of Ester.

This Ahasuerus, which is called Artharerſesmaketh a royall feaſt, wherunto the quene Vaſthi will not come: for which cauſe ſhe is deuorced.

The. J. Chapter.

IN ỹ time of Ahaſuerus whi-
che raygned from India vn-
to Ethiopia, ouer an hun- A
dreth & ſeuen & twentye lan-
des, what tyme as he ſate on hys ſeate royall in the caſtell of Suſan in
the thirde yeare of his raygne, he made a feaſte vnto all hys prynces & ſeruanntes,
namely vnto the myghtye men of Perſia & Media, to the cappytaynes and rulers of
hys countrees, that he myghte ſhewe the
noble riches of his kingdome, and the glo rious worſhippe of his greatneſſe, manye
dayes longe, euen an hundreth and foure
ſcore dayes.

And when theſe dayes were expyred, ỹ
kyng made a feaſt vnto al the people that were in the caſtell of Suſan, bothe vnto
great & ſmall, ſeuen dayes long in ỹ cour- B
te of the gardē by the kinges palace: wher
there hanged whyte, reed and yalowe clothes, faſtened with coardes of lynnen and ſcarlette in ſyluer rynges, vpon pyllers of Marble ſtone.

The bēches were of goulde and ſilluer
made vpon a pauemēt of grene, white, ya
lowe & blacke Marble. And the dryncke was caried in veſſels of gould, & ther was euer chaūge of veſſell. And ỹ kinges wine was moch accordinge to the power of the kinge. And no man was appoynted what
he ſhuld drinck: for ỹ king had cōmaūded
al the offycers of his houſe, that euery one
ſhuld do as it liked him. And the quene
Vaſthi made a feaſt alſo for ỹ weimen in ỹ
palace of Ahaſuerus. And on the ſeuenth
day whē the king was merry of wyne, he cō
maunded Mehuman, Bartha, Harbona, C
Bagatha, Abagatha, Zathar and Carcas,
the ſeuen chamberlaynes (that dyd ſeruy-ce in the preſente of Kynge Ahaſuerus) to fetche the quene Vaſthi wythe the crowne
regal, that he might ſhewe the people and prynces her fayrneſſe: for ſhe was beuty-
full. But the quene Vaſthi wolde not come at the kynges worde by hys chamberlaynes.

laynes. Thē was the kyng very wrothe, & his indignacion kyndled in him.

And the king spake to ỹ wise men that had vnderstanding in ỹ ordinaunces of ỹ lād for the kiges matters must be hādled before al soch as haue knowledg of ỹ law & iudgemēt: and the next vnto hym were, Carsena, Sethar, Admatha, Tharsis, Mares, Marsana & Mamucan, the seuē princes of ỹ Persians, & Medes, whyche saw ỹ kynges face, & sat aboue in ỹ kingdom, What lawe shulde be executed vpō ỹ quene Vasthi, because she did not acordig to ỹ word of ỹ kinge by his chāberlaines.

D Then sayd Mamucan before the kyng & ỹ princes: the quene Vasthi hath not only done euel against ỹ king but also against all the princes & all the people in all ỹ landes of kynge Ahasuerus for this dede of ỹ quene shall come abrode vnto all wemē so that they shall despyse theyr husbādes before theyr eies, and shall say: the king Ahasuerus cōmaunded Vasthi the queneto come before him, but she wolde not.

+ nota +go Ysebodi sub of vasthi the quene

And so shal the princesses in Persia & Medea say lykewise vnto al ỹ kinges prices, whē they heare of this dede of ỹ quene, thus shall there arise despytefulnes and wrath ynoughe. If it please the kyng, let ther go a commaundemente from him, & lett it be wrytten accordyng to the law of the Persians & Medians (& not to be trāsgressed) ỹ Vasthi come no more before kyng Ahasuerus, & let ỹ king geue the kingdom vnto another that is better then she.

And ỹ thys wrytinge of ỹ king which shalbe made, be publisshed throw out al his empyre (which is great) that al wyues may hold their husbādes in honour, bothe among greate and smal.

This pleased the kynge & the princes, & the kyng dyd accordinge to the word of Mamucan. Then were there letters sente forth into al the kynges lādes, into euery land acording to the wrytyng therof, and to euery people after their language that euery mā shuld be lord in his owne house. And this caused he be spoken after the lāguage of hys people.

After the quene put away, certen goodly younge damoselles are searched out. Edissa otherwyse called Esther, pleaseth the kyng, & is made quene. Mardocheus openeth vnto the king those that wold betraye hym.

The.ii. Chapter.

After these actes whē the displeasure of kinge Ahasuerus was layed he thoughte vpon Vasthi, what she had done, & what was concluded concernynge her. Then sayde the kynges seruauntes: Lett there be fayre younge virgins soughte for the kynge, and let ỹ kinge appoynte ouerseers in all the landes of hys empyre, that they maye bringe to gether all fayre younge virgyns vnto the castell of Susan to ỹ wemens buylding, vnder the hande of Hagei the kynges chāberlaine, that kepethe the women, and let hym geue them theyr apparell. And loke whych damsell pleaseth ỹ kinge, let her be quene in Vasthis steade. This pleased ỹ kynge, and he dyd so. A

In the castel of Susā there was a Jewe, whose name was Mardocheus, ỹ sonne of Jair, the sonne of Semei, ỹ sonne of Cis ỹ sonne of Jemini, which was caryed away frō Jerusalē, * whan Jekoniah the king of Juda was led away, (whō Nabuchodonozor ỹ kig of Babilō caried away) & he norished Hadasah (that is Esther) his vncles daughter: for she had neither father nor mother, and she was a faire and beutiful damsel. And when her father and mother died. Mardocheus receaued her as hys owne daughter. B

* 4.reg.xxiiii.

Now when the kynges cōmaundemēt and cōmissyon was publisshed, & many dāsels were brought to gether vnto ỹ castel of Susan vnder ỹ hand of Hagei, Esther was taken also vnto the kinges house vnder the hand of Hagei the keper of the wemē, & the damsell pleased him, & she found grace in his sight. And he caused her oinctment to be geuen her, and her giftes, & gaue her. vii. notable gentil wemē of ỹ kings house, & arayed bothe her & her gyntyl wemē very richelie in the house of the wemē. But Esther shewed not her people nor her kinred: for Mardocheus had chargedher, ỹ she shulde not tell it. And Mardocheus walked euerye daye before the courte of the wemens buyldynge, that he myghte know how Esther dyd, and what shuld become of her.

And when the appoynted time of euery dāsel came that she shulde come to ỹ kyng

Ahasuerus.

Ahasuerus, after that she had beue.xii.mo nethes in the deckyng of the wemen) for their decking must haue so moch time, namely syxe monethes w̄ Balme & Myxre, & vi. monethes w̄ good spyces, so were ỹ wemē beutifyed) thē went there one dāsell vnto ỹ king, & what soeuer she required, ỹ must be geuē her to go with her oute of ỹ wemēs buyldinge vnto ỹ kynges palace. And when one came in ỹ euenyng, ỹ same wēt frō him on the morowe into ỹ seconde house of wemen, vnder the hand of Sasagas ỹ kinges chāberlaine, which kept ỹ cō cubines. And she must come vnto ỹ kyng nomore, except it pleased ỹ kinge, & that he caused her to be called by name.

Now whē the tyme came of Esther the daughter of Abihail Mardocheus vncle) whō he had receaued as hys owne daughter (ỹ she shuld come to the kynge, she desyred nothinge but what Haget the kynges chāberlaine the keper of the wemē sayde.

And Esther found fauour in the syght of al thē that loked vpon her. And Esther was taken vnto king Ahasuerus into the house royal, in the tenth moneth whych is called Tebeth, in the seuenth yeare of hys raygne.

And the kyng loued Esther aboue al the wemen, & she founde grace and mercye in his sight before al the virgins: and he set the quenes croune vpon hir head, & made her quene in stead of Vasthi. And ỹ kinge made a great feaste vnto all his princes & seruauntes (whych feaste was because of Esther) and lett the landes be in quietnes, and gaue royall gyftes.

And whā the virgins were gethered together the secōd time, Mardocheus sat in ỹ kynges gate. And as yet had not Esther shewed her kinred & her people, accordyng as Mardocheus had biddē her: for Esther dyd after the worde of Mardocheus, lyke as whē he was hertutoure. At ỹ same time whyle Mardocheus sat in ỹ kinges gate, two of the kinges chāberlaines Bagathā and Thares whych kepte the doze, were wroth, & sought to lay their hādes on the kyng Ahasuerus: where of Mardocheus gat knowledg, & told it vnto quene Esther & Esther certyfied the king therof in Mardocheus name. And whē inquisition was made, it was founde so, And they were both hanged on tree: and it was written in the Chronycles before the kynge.

Thaman the Macedonian, after he was exalted, obtained of the kyng that all the Iewes shulde be put to deeth, because Mardocheus had not done hi worshyp, as other had

The.iii. Chapter.

After these actes did the kyng promote Hamā ỹ sōne of Amadatha the Agagite, & set hi A hie, & ser his seat aboue al the prīces that were w̄ him. And al the kinges seruaūtes that were in ỹ gate, bowed their knees, & dyd reuerēce vnto Haman: for the kynge had so cōmaūded. But Mardocheus bowed not the knee, & worshipped him not. Thē the ỹ kinges seruaūtes whiche were in the kynges gate, said vnto Mardocheus: why trāsgressest ỹ the kinges cōmaundement? And when they spake this dayly vnto him, & he folowed thē not, they told Hamā, ỹ they might se whether Mardocheus matters would endure: for he had tolde them, that he was a Iew. And whē Hamā saw, that Mardocheus bowed not the knee vnto hym, nor worshypped hym, he was full of indignacyon & thought it to lyttell to laye handes onli on Mardocheus: for thei had shewed hym the nacyon of Mardocheus, but he sought to destroy al the Iewes the nation of Mardocheus, that were in ỹ whole empyre of Ahasuerus. B

In the first moneth (that is the moneth Nisan) in thee twelueth yeare of Kynge Ahasuerus they cast Phur (ỹ is a lott) before Hamā, on what day & what monethe this shuld be done: & it went out the twelueth moneth that is ỹ moneth Adar. And Haman said vnto king Ahasuerus: There C is a people scatered abrode and dyspersed amōge all people in al the landes of thyne empire, & theyr law is cōtrary vnto al people, & they do not after the kynges lawes, nether is it ỹ kinges profet to suffre thē after this maner. If it please ỹ king, let him write, that they may be destroied, & so wyl I weye downe ten thousande talentes of siluer, vnder the handes of the workmen, to be brought into ỹ kynges chāber. The toke the kyng hys ringe from hys hande, & gaue it vnto Haman the sonne of Amadatha the Agagite the Iewes enemie. And the kynge sayde vnto Haman: Lette the syluer be geuen the, & that people also, to do with all what pleaseth the.

The were the kynges scrybes called on the thirteenth day of the first moneth, and ther was writte(accordinge as Haman cō maūded)vnto the kynges prynces and to the captynes euery where in the landes, & to ỹ rulars of euery people in ỹ coūtreyes on ouery syde, accordīg to the writing of euery nacyon, and after their language in the name of kyng Ahasuerus, and sealed wt the kynges ryng. And the writtynges were sēt by postes into al the kynges landes, to tote oute, to kyll, and to destroye all Iewes, both ponge and olde, chyldrē and wemen in one day(namely vpon the thirteenth day of the twelueth moneth, whiche is the moneth Adar)& to spoile their goodes.

Thys was the summe of ỹ wrytyng, ỹ ther shuld be a cōmaundemente geuen in al lādes, to be publisshed vnto all people, that they shulde be ready agaynst ỹ same daye. And the postes wente in all the haste accordyng to the kynges cōmaundemēte. And in the castel of Susan was the commaundement deuysed. And the kyng and Haman sate and dranck. But the cytye of Susan was disquieted.

¶ Mardocheus geueth the quene knowledge of the cruell decree of the kyng agaynst the Iewes.

The.iiii. Chapter.

Whē Mardocheus perceaued al that was done, he rent hys clothes & put on sackcloth, & ashes, & wēt out in to ỹ middes of the citie, and cried loude and lamētably, and came before the kinges gāte: for there might no man entre wt in the kynges gate, that had sack cloth on. And in all landes and places, as farre as the kynges worde and commaundement extended, there was great lamentacyon amōg the Iewes and many fasted, wept, mourned, and lay in sackclothes and in asches. So Esthers damsels, and her chamberlaines, came and tolde it her. Thē was the quene exceadinglye astonyed. And she sent raiment, that Mardocheus shuld put them on, and lay the sackclothe from him. But Mardocheus woulde not take them. Thē called Esther Hathath one of the kinges chamberlaynes (whyche stode before her) and gaue hym a commaundemente vnto Mardocheus, that he myght know what it were, and wherefore he did so. So Hathath went forthe to Mardocheus vnto the strete of the cytye, whyche was before the kynges gate.

And Mardocheus tolde hym of al ỹ had happened vnto him, & of the summe of syluer ỹ Hamā had promised to weye downe in the kynges chāber because of ỹ Iewes for to destroye them(& he gaue him the copye of the cōmaūdemēt, that was deuised at Susā to destroye them, that he myghte shewe it vnto Esther, & to speake to her & charge her, that she shulde go in to ỹ king and make her prayer & supplicacion vnto hym for her people.

And whē Hathath came in, & told Esther ỹ wordes of Mardocheus, Esther spake vnto Hathath, and cōmaūded hym to say vnto Mardocheus: al the kynges seruaūtes, & the people in the landes of the kynge know, that whosoeuer cōmeth within the courte vnto the king, whether it be mā or womā, which is not called, the cōmaundemēt is that the same shal die immedyatly, except the kynge hold out the gouldē septer vnto him, that he may lyue. As for me, I haue not bene called to come in to ỹ king now this thirtie dayes.

And whē Mardocheus was certified of Esthers wordes, Mardocheus bad say a gayne vnto Esther: think not to sauc thine owne lyfe, whyle thou arte in the kynges house before al Iewes: for yf thou holdest thy peace at this time, then shal the Iewes haue helpe and delyueraunce out of another place, and thou and thy fathers house shalbe destroyed. And who knoweth whether thou art come to ỹ kyngdom, for this tymes sake? Esther bad, geue Mardocheus this answere? Go thou thy way then, & geather together al ỹ Iewes that ar fōd at Susan, & fast ye for me, & ye eate not & drīk not in.iii. dates, nether day nor night. I and my dāsels wyll faste lykewise, & so wil I go in to the kyng cōtrary to ỹ cōmaūdemēte: yf I perishe, I perishe. So Mardocheus wente hys waye, and dyd all that Esther had commaunded him.

The Notes.

a Ihe Iewes were firste called Hebrues, of Heber the eldest sonne of Sala sonne of Arpharat, as it apeareth, Genes.xi.b, and i Paralip.i. after were they called Israell of Iacob, & after Iewes of one of the sonnes of Iacob that is to wete of Iuda.

Esthes

¶ Esther entreth into ỹ king and bydeth him and Haman to a feast. Haman prepareth a gallouse for Mardocheus.

The.v.Chapter.

A Nd on the thirde day put Esther on her royall apparel, and stode in ỹ court of the kinges palace within ouer against ỹ kynges house. And the kyng sate vpon hys royall seat in the kinges palace ouer agaynste the gate of the house. And when the kinge sawe Esther ỹ quene standynge in the court, she found grace in hys syghte. And the kynge held out ỹ golden scepter in hys hande towarde Esther. B So Esther stepte forthe, and touched the toppe of the scepter. Then sayd the kynge vnto her: What wylt thou quene Esther: and what requyreste thou: aske euen the halfe of the empyre, & it shal be geuen the. Esther sayd If it please the king, let ỹ kinge & Haman come this day vnto ỹ banket ỹ I haue prepared. The kyng saide: cause Haman to make haste, that he may do as Esther hath sayde.

Now whē the kyng & Haman came to ỹ bāket ỹ Esther had prepared, ỹ kyng sayd vnto Esther at ỹ banket of wyne: Esther, what is thy peticiō: & it shalbe geuen the. And what requyrest thou: If it be euen ỹ halfe of the empyre, it shalbe done. C Then answered Esther and sayde: my petition & desyre is, yf I haue founde grace in the syghte of the kynge, & yf it please the kynge to geue me my petition, and to fulfyll my request, then let the kynge and Haman come to the bācket that I shal prepare for thē, and so wyl I do to morow as the kinge hath sayde.

Then went Haman forth the same day ioyfull and merye in his mind. And when he sawe Mardocheus in the kinges gate, that he stode not vp and kneled before hi, he was full of indignacion at Mardocheus. Neuertheles he refrayned hym selfe: & when he came home, he sent, and called for hys frendes, and Zares hys wyfe, & tolde them of the glorye of his richesse, & ỹ multitude of his children all to geather how ỹ kyng had promoted hym so greatlye, and how that he was taken aboue the prynces and seruaūtes of the kynge. Haman sayd D moreouer: Yee & Esther the quene lette no man come with the kinge vnto ỹ banckett that she had prepared, excepte me, & to morow am I bidden vnto her also wt ỹ king. But in all thys am I not satisfyed as lōg as I se Mardocheus ỹ Iewe sitting at ỹ kynges gate. Thē sayd Zares his wyfe & all his frendes vnto him: Let thē make a galowes of fiftye cubites hie, & tomorow speake thou vnto ỹ king, ỹ Mardocheus may be hāged theron, yf thou cōmeste merely wt the kyng vnto the bancket. Hamā was wel content wyth al, and caused a galowes to be prepared.

¶ The king turneth ouer the Chronicles & findeth the fidelitie of Mardocheus: & thē to the cōfusiō of Hamā, cōmādeth Mardocheus to be had in honour

The.vi.Chapter,

THe same night coulde not the king slepe, and he cōmaūded to bring the Chronicles & stories: which whē they were red before ỹ king they happened on ỹ place wher it was written, how Mardocheus had tolde, that the kynges two chāberlaynes (whych kepte the threshholdes) sought: to lay handes on kyng Ahasuerus. And the king sayd: what worshyp & good haue we done to Mardocheus ther fore: Then sayde the kynges seruauntes that ministred vnto him. Ther is nothing done for hym. And the kyng sayde: Who is in the courte: (for Haman was gone in to the courte wythoute before the kynges house, that he myghte speake vnto ỹ kinge to hange Mardocheus on the tre, that he had prepared for him.) And the kinges seruauntes sayde vnto hym: beholde, Haman standeth in the courte. Thee kynge sayde: let hym come in. And when Haman came in, the kynge sayde vnto hym: what shall be done vnto the man, whom the kinge wolde fayne bringe vnto worshyppe: But Haman thought in his hert: Whom shulde the kynge els be glad to bring vnto worshyppe, but me: And Haman sayde vnto the kynge: Lett the man vnto whome the kynge woulde be glad to do worshyppe, be broughte hyther, that he maye be arayed wyth the royall garmētes whyche the kyng vsethe to weare: and the horse that the kynge rydethe vpon, & that the crowne royall maye be sett vpon hys heed. And let thys rayment and horse be delyuered vnder the hande of one of the kynges prynces, that he maye araye the man

the man wythall (whome the kinge wolde fayne honour) and carye him vpō the horse thorow the strete of the citie, & cause it to be proclaymed before hym: thus shall it be done to euery man, whom the kynge wold fayne honoure.

The king sayd: make hast, and take as thou hast sayd, the raymēt and the horse: & do cuē so wyth Mardocheus ỹ Jewe that sytteth before the kiges gate, & let nothing fayle of al that thou hast spokē. Then toke Haman the rayment & the horse, & arayed him, & brought him on horsebacke thorowe the strete of the cytie, & proclaimed before him: Euen thus shall it be done vnto euery man whome the kynge is disposed to honour. And Mardocheus came agayne to ỹ kynges gate, but Haman gat hym home in al the hast mourning wythe beare heade, & tolde Zares his wife & al hys frēdes, euery thyng that had happened hym. Then sayd his wife mē & Zares his wife vnto him: Yf it be Mardocheus of ỹ sede of the Jewes, before whom thou hast begōne to fal, thou canste do nothinge vnto him, but shalt fal before hym. Whyle they were yet talkinge with him, came the kynges chamberlaynes, and caused Hamā to make haste to come vnto the baucket that Esther had prepared.

¶ The quene biddeth the king and Hamā agaīne & prayeth for her selfe and her people. She accuseth Hamā, and he is hāged on ỹ gallouse, which he had prepared for Mardocheus.

The. vii. Chapter.

AND whē the king and Hamā came to ỹ bancket that quene Esther had prepared, ỹ kinge said vnto Esther on ỹ second daye at the bancket of wyne: what is thy peticion quene Esther, that it may be geuen the? And what requyrest ỹ? Yea, aske euen halfe of the empyre, and it shalbe done. Esther the quene answered & sayd: Yf I haue found grace in thy syght (O king) & yf it please the kyng thē graūt me my lyfe at my desyre & my people for my petitions sake: for we are solde I & my people both to be destroyed, to be slayne & to perysshe. And wold God we were sold to be bondmen & bondewemen, then wolde I holde my tonge, * so shuld not the enemye be so hye to the kynges harme. The kinge Ahasuerus spake and sayde vnto Quene Esther: what is he that? Or where is he ỹ darre presume in hys mynde to do soche a thinge after that maner? Esther sayde: the ennemye and aduersarye is thys wycked Haman.

As for Hamā, he was exceedingly afrayed before the king & the quene. And ỹ kinge arose frō the bancket & frō the wyne in hys displeasure & wēt into the palace garden. And Haman stode vp, and besoughte quene Esther for hys lyfe: for he saw that there was a mischefe prepared for hym of the kynge already.

And whē the kinge came agayne out of the palace gardē into the parler where thei had catē, Haman had layed hym vpon the bed that Esther sat vpō. Thē sayd ỹ king wtl he force the quene also besyde * me in ỹ house? As sone as ỹ worde wēte out of the kinges mouth, they * couered Hamās face And Harbonah one of the chāberlaynes ỹ stode before the king, sayd. Beholde, there stādeth a galowes in Hamās house fyftie cubites hye, which he had made for Mardocheus, that spake good for ỹ king. The kinge sayde: hange hym thereon. So they hanged Hamā on the galowes that he had made for Mordocheus. Thē was the kinges wrath pacyfyed.

¶ After the death of Haman is Mardocheus exalted, and there are there counfortable letters sent vnto the Jewes.

The. viii. Chapter.

THe same daye dyd kyng Ahasuerus geue the house of Haman the Jewes enemye, vnto quene Esther. And Mardocheus came before the kinge: for Esther told how that he belōged vnto her. And the king put of his finger ringe, which he had takē from Haman, & gaue it vnto Mardocheus. And Esther set Mardocheus ouer the house of Hamā. And Esther spake yet more before the kinge, & fel downe at hys fete, & besought him, that he wolde put away the wickednes of Haman the Agagite, & his deuice that he had ymagined agaynste the Jewes. And the kinge held out the goulden scepter vnto Esther. Then rose Esther, & stode before the king and sayd: yf it please the king & yf I haue founde grace in hys syght, and yf it be cōuenient for the kyng, and yf it be accepted in hys syght then let it be writtē, that the

* Or in my presence

To couer his face, is, to shew him worthye of death.

the man wythall (whome the kinge wolde fayne honour) and carye him vpō the horse thorow the strete of the citie, & cause it to be proclaymed before hym: thus shall it be done to euery man, whom the kynge wold fayne honoure.

The king sayd: make hast, and take as thou hast sayd, the raymēt and the horse: & do cuē so wyth Mardocheus ỹ Jewe that sytteth before the kinges gate, & let nothing fayle of al that thou hast spokē. Then toke Haman the rayment & the horse, & arayed him, & brought him on horsebacke thorowe the strete of the cytie, & proclaimed before him: Euen thus shall it be done vnto euery man whome the kynge is disposed to honour. And Mardocheus came agayne to ỹ kynges gate, but Haman gat him home in al the hast mourning with the beare heade, & tolde Zares his wife & al hys frēdes, euery thyng that had happened hym. Then sayd his wife mē & Zares his wife vnto him: If it be Mardocheus of ỹ sede of the Jewes, before whom thou hast begōne to fal, thou canste do nothinge vnto him, but shalt fal before hym. Whyle they were yet talkinge with him, came the kynges chamberlaynes, and caused Hamā to make haste to come vnto the baucket that Esther had prepared.

¶ The quene biddeth the king and Hamā agaīne & prayeth for her selfe and her people. She accuseth Hamā, and he is hāged on ỹ gallouse, which he had prepared for Mardocheus.

The. vii. Chapter.

AND whē the king and Hamā came to ỹ bancket that quene Esther had prepared, ỹ kinge said vnto Esther on ỹ second daye at the bancket of wyne: what is thy peticion quene Esther, that it may be geuen the? And what requyrest ỹ? Yea, aske euen halfe of the empyre, and it shalbe done. Esther the quene answered & sayd: Yf I haue found grace in thy syght (O king) & yf it please the kyng thē graūt me my lyfe at my desyre & my people for my petitions sake: for we are solde I & my people both to be destroyed, to be slayne & to perysshe. And wold God we were sold to be bondmen & bondewemen, then wolde I holde my tonge, * so shuld not the enemye be so hye to the kynges harme. The kinge Ahasuerus spake and sayde vnto Quene Esther: what is he that? Or where is he ỹ darre presume in hys mynde to do soche a thinge after that maner? Esther sayde: the ennemye and aduersarye is thys wycked Haman.

As for Hamā, he was exceedingly afrayed before the king & the quene. And ỹ kinge arose frō the bancket & frō the wyne in hys displeasure & wēt into the palace garden. And Haman stode vp, and besoughte quene Esther for hys lyfe: for he saw that there was a mischefe prepared for hym of the kynge already.

And whē the kinge came agayne out of the palace gardē into the parler where thei had catē, Haman had layed hym vpon the bed that Esther sat vpō. Thē sayd ỹ king wtl he force the quene also besyde * me in ỹ house? As sone as ỹ worde wēte out of the kinges mouth, they * couered Hamās face And Harbonah one of the chāberlaynes ỹ stode before the king, sayd. Beholde, there stādeth a galowes in Hamās house fyftie cubites hye, which he had made for Mardocheus, that spake good for ỹ king. The kinge sayde: hange hym thereon. So they hanged Hamā on the galowes that he had made for Mordocheus. Thē was the kinges wrath pacyfyed.

¶ After the death of Haman is Mardocheus exalted, and there are there counfortable letters sent vnto the Jewes.

The. viii. Chapter.

THe same daye dyd kyng Ahasuerus geue the house of Haman the Jewes enemye, vnto quene Esther. And Mardocheus came before the kinge: for Esther told how that he belōged vnto her. And the king put of his finger ringe, which he had takē from Haman, & gaue it vnto Mardocheus. And Esther set Mardocheus ouer the house of Hamā. And Esther spake yet more before the kinge, & fel downe at hys fete, & besought him, that he wolde put away the wickednes of Haman the Agagite, & his deuice that he had ymagined agaynste the Jewes. And the kinge held out the goulden scepter vnto Esther. Then rose Esther, & stode before the king and sayd: yf it please the king & yf I haue founde grace in hys syght, and yf it be cōuenient for the kyng, and yf it be accepted in hys syght then let it be writtē, that the letters of the deuyce of Haman thee ſonne of Hamadatha the Agagite, may be called agayne: whych letters he wrote, to deſtroy the Jewes in all the kynges landes. For how can I ſe the euell that ſhall happē vn to my people? & how can I loke vpon thee deſtruction of my kynred?

* Or in my presence

To couer his face, is, to shew him worthye of death.

* Some rede al though ỹ enemie shulde not recō pence ỹ kinges harme.

Then sayde the kinge Ahaſuerus vnto Quene Eſther, & to Mardocheus the Jewe: Behold, I haue geuē Eſther the houſe of Hamā, and him haue they hanged vpō a tree, becauſe he layde hande vpō the Jewes. Wryte ye now therfore for ỹ Jewes, as it liketh you in the kinges name, & ſeale it with the kinges ringe (for the writinges that were written in the kinges name, and ſealed with the kinges ring, durſt no man diſanulle.) Then were the kinges ſcrybes called at the ſame tyme in ỹ thyrd moneth, that is the moneth Siuan, on the thre and twentyeth daye.

And it was writtē (as Mardocheus cōmaunded) vnto thee Jewes & to the princes, to the Debyties and captaynes in the landes frō India vntil Ethiopia, namely an hundred and ſeuen and twētye landes, vnto euery one according to the wrytynge therof, vnto euery people after their ſpech and to the Jewes according to theyr wry- D tinge and language.

And it was written in the king Ahaſuerus name, & ſealed with the kinges ringe. And by poſtes that rode vpō ſwyft yonge Mules, ſent he the wrytynges, wherin the king graunted the Jewes (in what cytyes ſoeuer they were) to geather thē ſelues to gether, & to *‡ ſtand for theyr lyfe, and for to rote oute, to ſlaye, and to deſtroye all the power of the people & land that wold trouble them, with childzen and wemen, and to ſpoyle their good vpō one daye in al ỹ landes of kinge Ahaſuerus namely vpon the thyrteenth day of the twelueth moneth, whyche is the moneth Adar.

The ſumme of the writinge was, howe ther was a cōmaūdemēt geuē in al landes to be publiſhed vnto al the people, that the Jewes ſhuld be ready againſt that day to auenge thē ſelues on theyr enemyes. And the poſtes that rode vpō the Mules, made haſte with al ſpede, according to ỹ kinges worde: and the cōmaundement was deuyſed in the caſtel of Suſan.

As for Mardocheus, he wēt oute frō ỹ king in royal apparel of yelow & whyte, & with a great crowne of gould, beyng arayed wyth a garment of lynnē and purple, & the cytie of Suſan reioyſed & was glad: but vnto the Jewes ther was come light & gladnes, and ioye & worſhippe. And in all lādes and cyties, into what places ſoeuer the kinges word and commaundemēt reached, there was ioye & myrthe, proſperite & good dayes among the Jewes: in ſo moch that many of the people in the lād became of ỹ Jewes beleke, for ỹ feare of ỹ Jewes came vpon them.

The Notes.

*‡ To ſtande for theyr lyfe is a maner of ſpeakinge famyliar to the Hebrues, for that we ſaye, to defend their lyues, and ſhylde them ſelues frō the cruel perſequucyon of theyr enemyes.

¶ At the cōmaūdement of the kynge the Jewes put their aduerſaries to deeth. The ſōnes of Haman er hāged. The Jewes kepe a feaſt daye in remembraūce of theyr ouerpuerance.

The.ix. Chapter.

IN the twelueth monethe, that is the moneth Adar, vpō the thirteenth day, whych the kynges worde & cōmaūdemēt had appointed, that it ſhulde be done, euen vpon the ſame day that the enemyes ſhulde haue deſtroyed the Jewes to haue oppreſſed thē, it turned contrary wiſe, euen that the Jewes ſhould ſubdue theyr enemyes. Then geathered the Jewes together in their cytyes wyth in all the landes of kynge Ahaſuerus, to laye hande on ſoche as wolde do them euell, and no man coulde wythſtande them: for the feare of them was come ouer all people. And all the rulers in the landes, and prynces and Debityes, and officers of the kynge promoted the Jewes: for ỹ feare of Mardocheus came vpon them. For Mardocheus was greate in the kynges houſe, & the reporte of him was noiſed in al lādes, how he increaſed and grewe.

Thus the Jewes ſmote al their enemies B with a ſore ſlaughter, & ſlew & deſtroyed, and did after their wil vnto ſuch as were their aduerſaries. And at the caſtel of Suſā ſlew the Jewes and deſtroted fyue hundreth mē: & ſlew Pharſandatha, Delphō, Aſphatha, Phorata, Adalia, Aridatha, Pharmaſtha, Ariſai, Aridai, Uaizatha, ỹ ten ſonnes of Haman the ſonne of Hamadatha the enemie of the Jewes: but on his goodes

letters of the deuyce of Haman thee ſonne of Hamadatha the Agagite, may be called agayne: whych letters he wrote, to deſtroy the Jewes in all the kynges landes. For how can I ſe the euell that ſhall happē vn to my people? & how can I loke vpon thee deſtruction of my kynred?

Then sayde the kinge Ahaſuerus vnto Quene Eſther, & to Mardocheus the Jewe: Behold, I haue geuē Eſther the houſe of Hamā, and him haue they hanged vpō a tree, becauſe he layde hande vpō the Jewes. Wryte ye now therfore for ỹ Jewes, as it liketh you in the kinges name, & ſeale it with the kinges ringe (for the writinges that were written in the kinges name, and ſealed with the kinges ring, durſt no man diſanulle.) Then were the kinges ſcrybes called at the ſame tyme in ỹ thyrd moneth, that is the moneth Siuan, on the thre and twentyeth daye.

And it was writtē (as Mardocheus cōmaunded) vnto thee Jewes & to the princes, to the Debyties and captaynes in the landes frō India vntil Ethiopia, namely an hundred and ſeuen and twētye landes, vnto euery one according to the wrytynge therof, vnto euery people after their ſpech and to the Jewes according to theyr wry- D tinge and language.

And it was written in the king Ahaſuerus name, & ſealed with the kinges ringe. And by poſtes that rode vpō ſwyft yonge Mules, ſent he the wrytynges, wherin the king graunted the Jewes (in what cytyes ſoeuer they were) to geather thē ſelues to gether, & to *‡ ſtand for theyr lyfe, and for to rote oute, to ſlaye, and to deſtroye all the power of the people & land that wold trouble them, with childzen and wemen, and to ſpoyle their good vpō one daye in al ỹ landes of kinge Ahaſuerus namely vpon the thyrteenth day of the twelueth moneth, whyche is the moneth Adar.

The ſumme of the writinge was, howe ther was a cōmaūdemēt geuē in al landes to be publiſhed vnto al the people, that the Jewes ſhuld be ready againſt that day to auenge thē ſelues on theyr enemyes. And the poſtes that rode vpō the Mules, made haſte with al ſpede, according to ỹ kinges worde: and the cōmaundement was deuyſed in the caſtel of Suſan.

As for Mardocheus, he wēt oute frō ỹ king in royal apparel of yelow & whyte, & with a great crowne of gould, beyng arayed wyth a garment of lynnē and purple, & the cytie of Suſan reioyſed & was glad: but vnto the Jewes ther was come light & gladnes, and ioye & worſhippe. And in all lādes and cyties, into what places ſoeuer the kinges word and commaundemēt reached, there was ioye & myrthe, proſperite & good dayes among the Jewes: in ſo moch that many of the people in the lād became of ỹ Jewes beleke, for ỹ feare of ỹ Jewes came vpon them.

The Notes.

*‡ To ſtande for theyr lyfe is a maner of ſpeakinge famyliar to the Hebrues, for that we ſaye, to defend their lyues, and ſhylde them ſelues frō the cruel perſequucyon of theyr enemyes.

¶ At the cōmaūdement of the kynge the Jewes put their aduerſaries to deeth. The ſōnes of Haman er hāged. The Jewes kepe a feaſt daye in remembraūce of theyr ouerpuerance.

The.ix. Chapter.

IN the twelueth monethe, that is the moneth Adar, vpō the thirteenth day, whych the kynges worde & cōmaūdemēt had appointed, that it ſhulde be done, euen vpon the ſame day that the enemyes ſhulde haue deſtroyed the Jewes to haue oppreſſed thē, it turned contrary wiſe, euen that the Jewes ſhould ſubdue theyr enemyes. Then geathered the Jewes together in their cytyes wyth in all the landes of kynge Ahaſuerus, to laye hande on ſoche as wolde do them euell, and no man coulde wythſtande them: for the feare of them was come ouer all people. And all the rulers in the landes, and prynces and Debityes, and officers of the kynge promoted the Jewes: for ỹ feare of Mardocheus came vpon them. For Mardocheus was greate in the kynges houſe, & the reporte of him was noiſed in al lādes, how he increaſed and grewe.

Thus the Jewes ſmote al their enemies B with a ſore ſlaughter, & ſlew & deſtroyed, and did after their wil vnto ſuch as were their aduerſaries. And at the caſtel of Suſā ſlew the Jewes and deſtroted fyue hundreth mē: & ſlew Pharſandatha, Delphō, Aſphatha, Phorata, Adalia, Aridatha, Pharmaſtha, Ariſai, Aridai, Uaizatha, ỹ ten ſonnes of Haman the ſonne of Hamadatha the enemie of the Jewes: but on his goodes goodes they layed no handes. At the same tyme was the king certified of the nombre of those that were slayne at ỹ castel of Su

C san. And the kinge sayde vnto Quene Esther: The Jewes haue slayne & destroyed CC. men at the castel of Susan, & kyue hūdreth mē at the castel of Susan, & the ten sonnes of Hamā: What shall they do in the other lādes of the king: What is thy petition, that it may be geuen the: and what requyrest thou more to be done: Esther sayd: Yf it please the kinge, let hym suffre the Jewes to morowe also to do according vnto thys dayes cōmādemēt, that they may hange Hamās ten sonnes vpon the tree. And the kinge charged to dooso, & the cōmaundemēt was deuised at Susan and Hamans .x. sonnes were hanged. And the Jewes geathered thē selues togeather at Susan, vpon the fourtenth daye of the moneth Adar, and slewe thre hundreth mē at Susan, but on theyr goodes they layde no handes.

As for the other Jewes in the kinges lādes, thei came together, & *stode for their lyues, & gat rest frō theyr enemyes: & slewe of their enemies fyue & seuētye thousand, how beit they layed no hādes on their goodes. Thys was done on the thirtenth day of the moneth Adar, and on the fourtenth daye of the same moneth rested thei, which day they ordeyned to be a daye of feasting and gladnesse. But the Jewes at Susan were come together both on the thyrtenthe daye & on the fourtenth, & on the fyftenth daye they rested, & the same daye ordeyned they to be a daye of feastinge & gladnesse. Therfore the Jewes that dwelt in the villages and vnwalled townes, ordeyned the fourtenth daye of the moneth Adar, to be a daye of feastinge and gladnes, and one sent gyftes vnto another.

*Loke in ỹ next chapter before ỹ letter D.

D

And Mardocheus wrote these actes, & sent the writinges vnto al the Jewes that
E were in al the landes of king Ahasuerus, both nye and farre, that they shulde yearly receaue & hold the fourtenth and fyftenth daye of thee monethe Adar, as thee dayes wherein the Jewes came to reste frō theyr enemyes, and as a monethe wherein theyr payne was turned to ioye, and their sorow into prosperite: that they shulde observe ỹ same as dayes of wealth and gladnesse, & one too sende gyftes vnto another, and to distribute vnto the poore.

And the Jewes receaued it that they F had begōne to do, and that Mardocheus wrote vnto them: how that Hamā ỹ sōne of Hamadatha all the Jewes enemie, had deuysed to destroye all the Jewes, & caused to caste Phur (that is Lott) for to put them in feare, & to bryng them to naught: and how Hester wente and spake to ỹ kinge, that thorow letters his wycked deuyce (which he ymagined agaynst the Jewes) might be turned vpon his owne heed, and how he & hys sonnes were hanged on the tre. For ỹ which cause they called this day Phurim after the name of *Phur, accordyng to all the wordes of this writinge: & what they them selues had sene, and what had happened vnto them. *That is, Lot.

And the Jewes set it vp, & toke it vpon them & their sede, & vpō all soch as toyned thē selues vnto them, that they wolde not misse to observe these .ii. dayes yearly, accordynge as they were wrytten & appointed, how ỹ these dayes are not to be forgotte, but to be kept of childers chyldrē amōge al kinredes in all lādes & cytyes. They G ar ỹ dayes of Phurim, which are not to be ouerslipte amōge the Jewes, & the memoryal of them oughte not to perysshe from theyr sede.

And quene Hester the daughter of Abihaill and Mardocheus the Jewe wrote with all auctorite, to confirme this seconde wryttinge of Phurim, and sente the letters vnto al the Jewes in the hūdreth & seuē and twentie landes of the empyre of Ahasuerus, wyth frendly and faythful wordes, to confirme these dayes of Phurim, in theyr tyme appoynted, accordynge as Mardocheus ỹ Jewe and Hester ỹ quene had ordeyned concernynge them: lyke as they vpon their soule and vpon their sede had cōfirmed ỹ actes of the *fastynges & of hir cōplaynte. And Hester cōmaunded to stablish these actes of this Phurim, & to wryte them in a boke. Hest. ix.

¶ The glorie and noblenes of Ahasuerus: and Authorite of Mardocheus.

The .x. Chapter.

AND ỹ king Ahasuerus laied trybute vpon the lande, and vpō the Iles of ỹ see. As for A all the worke of hys power

goodes they layed no handes. At the same tyme was the king certified of the nombre of those that were slayne at ỹ castel of Su
C san. And the kinge sayde vnto Quene Esther: The Jewes haue slayne & destroyed CC. men at the castel of Susan, & kyue hūdreth mē at the castel of Susan, & the ten sonnes of Hamā: What shall they do in the other lādes of the king: What is thy petition, that it may be geuen the: and what requyrest thou more to be done: Esther sayd: Yf it please the kinge, let hym suffre the Jewes to morowe also to do according vnto thys dayes cōmādemēt, that they may hange Hamās ten sonnes vpon the tree. And the kinge charged to dooso, & the cōmaundemēt was deuised at Susan and Hamans .x. sonnes were hanged. And the Jewes geathered thē selues togeather at Susan, vpon the fourtenth daye of the moneth Adar, and slewe thre hundreth mē at Susan, but on theyr goodes they layde no handes.

As for the other Jewes in the kinges lādes, thei came together, & *stode for their lyues, & gat rest frō theyr enemyes: & slewe of their enemies fyue & seuētye thousand, how beit they layed no hādes on their goodes. Thys was done on the thirtenth day of the moneth Adar, and on the fourtenth daye of the same moneth rested thei, which day they ordeyned to be a daye of feasting and gladnesse. But the Jewes at Susan were come together both on the thyrtenthe daye & on the fourtenth, & on the fyftenth daye they rested, & the same daye ordeyned they to be a daye of feastinge & gladnesse. Therfore the Jewes that dwelt in the villages and vnwalled townes, ordeyned the fourtenth daye of the moneth Adar, to be a daye of feastinge and gladnes, and one sent gyftes vnto another.

*Loke in ỹ next chapter before ỹ letter D.

D

And Mardocheus wrote these actes, & sent the writinges vnto al the Jewes that
E were in al the landes of king Ahasuerus, both nye and farre, that they shulde yearly receaue & hold the fourtenth and fyftenth daye of thee monethe Adar, as thee dayes wherein the Jewes came to reste frō theyr enemyes, and as a monethe wherein theyr payne was turned to ioye, and their sorow into prosperite: that they shulde observe ỹ same as dayes of wealth and gladnesse, & one too sende gyftes vnto another, and to distribute vnto the poore.

And the Jewes receaued it that they F had begōne to do, and that Mardocheus wrote vnto them: how that Hamā ỹ sōne of Hamadatha all the Jewes enemie, had deuysed to destroye all the Jewes, & caused to caste Phur (that is Lott) for to put them in feare, & to bryng them to naught: and how Hester wente and spake to ỹ kinge, that thorow letters his wycked deuyce (which he ymagined agaynst the Jewes) might be turned vpon his owne heed, and how he & hys sonnes were hanged on the tre. For ỹ which cause they called this day Phurim after the name of *Phur, accordyng to all the wordes of this writinge: & what they them selues had sene, and what had happened vnto them. *That is, Lot.

And the Jewes set it vp, & toke it vpon them & their sede, & vpō all soch as toyned thē selues vnto them, that they wolde not misse to observe these .ii. dayes yearly, accordynge as they were wrytten & appointed, how ỹ these dayes are not to be forgotte, but to be kept of childers chyldrē amōge al kinredes in all lādes & cytyes. They G ar ỹ dayes of Phurim, which are not to be ouerslipte amōge the Jewes, & the memoryal of them oughte not to perysshe from theyr sede.

And quene Hester the daughter of Abihaill and Mardocheus the Jewe wrote with all auctorite, to confirme this seconde wryttinge of Phurim, and sente the letters vnto al the Jewes in the hūdreth & seuē and twentie landes of the empyre of Ahasuerus, wyth frendly and faythful wordes, to confirme these dayes of Phurim, in theyr tyme appoynted, accordynge as Mardocheus ỹ Jewe and Hester ỹ quene had ordeyned concernynge them: lyke as they vpon their soule and vpon their sede had cōfirmed ỹ actes of the *fastynges & of hir cōplaynte. And Hester cōmaunded to stablish these actes of this Phurim, & to wryte them in a boke. Hest. ix.

¶ The glorie and noblenes of Ahasuerus: and Authorite of Mardocheus.

The .x. Chapter.

AND ỹ king Ahasuerus laied trybute vpon the lande, and vpō the Iles of ỹ see. As for A all the worke of hys power and auctoryte, and the great worshippe of Mardocheus, whiche the king gaue hym, behold, it is wrytte in the Cronicles of the kynges of Media and Persia. For Mardocheus the Jewe was the second next vnto kynge Ahasuerus, and greate amonge the Jewes, & accepted amõge the multitude of hys brethren, as one that seketh the welth of hys people, & speaketh the beste for all hys sede.

¶ The ende of the boke of Esther.

¶ The Boke of Job.

¶ Job is plaged of God. by the losse of hys goodes and chyldren.

The. J. Chapter.

A IN the land of Hus ther was a man called Job: an innocẽt & vertuous man, soch one as feared God & eschued euell. This man had. vii. sonnes, & thre daughters. hys substaunce was. vii. M. shepe. iii. M. camelles. v. C. youcke of oxen. v. C. she asses, and a very great housholde: so that he was one of the most principall men among al them of the east countrey. And his sonnes wente, and made bãckettes: one daye in one house, another day in another, and sente for their thre systers to eate and drincke wythe them. So when they had passed ouer the tyme of their banketting round about, Job sent for them, and clensed them agayne, & gat vp early, and offred for euery one a burntoffringe. For Job thought thus: peraduenture my sonnes haue done some offence, and haue bene vnthankfull to God in their hertes. B And thus dyd Job euery daye. Now vpõ a tyme, whẽ the  seruãtes of God b*came and stode before the Lord, Sathã came also among them. And the Lord sayde vnto Sathan: From whẽce comest thou? Sathan answered the Lord, and sayde: I haue gone aboute thee lande and walcked thorowe it.

Thẽ sayd the Lord vnto Sathan: hast thou not cõsydered my seruaunt Job, how that he is an innocẽt & vertuous mã: soch one as feareth God, & eschued euel, & that there is none lyke hym in the land? Sathã answered, & sayde vnto the Lorde: Doth Job feare God for nought? hast thou not preserued hym, his house, & al his substaũce on euery syde? hast thou not blessed the workes of his handes? Is not his possession encreased in the land? But laye thyne hand vpõ him a little, touche once all that he hathe, and (I holde) he shall curse the to thy face. And the Lord sayd vnto Sathã: lo al that he hathe, be in thy power: onelye vpon hym selfe se that thou laye not thine hande. Then went Sathã forth from the Lorde.

C Now vpõ a certayn day whẽ his sõnes and daughters were eating, and drynking wyne in their eldeste brothers house, there came a messenger vnto Job, & sayd: Why le ỹ oxẽ were a plowing, & the Asses going in the pasture beside thẽ: ỹ Sabees came in violently, and toke thẽ al away: ye they haue slayne thy seruaũtes with the sword, and I only ranne my waye, to tell the.

And whyle he was yet speakinge, there came another, & sayd: The fyre of God is fallen from heauen, it hath consumed, and burnt vp al thy shepe & seruauntes: and I only ranne my way, to tel the. In ỹ meane season whyle he was yet speakinge, there came another, & sayde: The Caldees made thre armies, & fel in vpõ thy camels, which they haue caried away, yea and slayne thy seruaũtes with the sword: and I only am gottẽ away to tel the: Whyle he was speaking, there came yet another, & sayde, Thy sonnes & daughters were eatinge & drincking wyne in their eldest brothers house, & sodenly ther came a mightie great wynde out of the South, & smote the. iiii. corners of the house: which fell vpõ thy childrẽ, so that they are dead, and I am gottẽ awaye alone, to tell the.

D Then Job stode vp, & rent hys clothes shaued his head, fel downe vpõ the groũd worshipped, & sayd: Naked came I out of my mothers wõbe, & naked shall I turne thyther agayne. The Lorde gaue, and the Lord hath taken away* now blessed be ỹ name of the Lord. In al these thinges did Job not offend, * nor murmured folishly agaynst God.

The Greke & Origẽ adde here vnto. As it hath pleased the lorde so is it done.

* The Greke addeth wyth hys lyppes.

 By

and auctoryte, and the great worshippe of Mardocheus, whiche the king gaue hym, behold, it is wrytte in the Cronicles of the kynges of Media and Persia. For Mardocheus the Jewe was the second next vnto kynge Ahasuerus, and greate amonge the Jewes, & accepted amõge the multitude of hys brethren, as one that seketh the welth of hys people, & speaketh the beste for all hys sede.

¶ The ende of the boke of Esther.

¶ The Boke of Job.

¶ Job is plaged of God. by the losse of hys goodes and chyldren.

The. J. Chapter.

A IN the land of Hus ther was a man called Job: an innocẽt & vertuous man, soch one as feared God & eschued euell. This man had. vii. sonnes, & thre daughters. hys substaunce was. vii. M. shepe. iii. M. camelles. v. C. youcke of oxen. v. C. she asses, and a very great housholde: so that he was one of the most principall men among al them of the east countrey. And his sonnes wente, and made bãckettes: one daye in one house, another day in another, and sente for their thre systers to eate and drincke wythe them. So when they had passed ouer the tyme of their banketting round about, Job sent for them, and clensed them agayne, & gat vp early, and offred for euery one a burntoffringe. For Job thought thus: peraduenture my sonnes haue done some offence, and haue bene vnthankfull to God in their hertes. B And thus dyd Job euery daye. Now vpõ a tyme, whẽ the  seruãtes of God b*came and stode before the Lord, Sathã came also among them. And the Lord sayde vnto Sathan: From whẽce comest thou? Sathan answered the Lord, and sayde: I haue gone aboute thee lande and walcked thorowe it.

Thẽ sayd the Lord vnto Sathan: hast thou not cõsydered my seruaunt Job, how that he is an innocẽt & vertuous mã: soch one as feareth God, & eschued euel, & that there is none lyke hym in the land? Sathã answered, & sayde vnto the Lorde: Doth Job feare God for nought? hast thou not preserued hym, his house, & al his substaũce on euery syde? hast thou not blessed the workes of his handes? Is not his possession encreased in the land? But laye thyne hand vpõ him a little, touche once all that he hathe, and (I holde) he shall curse the to thy face. And the Lord sayd vnto Sathã: lo al that he hathe, be in thy power: onelye vpon hym selfe se that thou laye not thine hande. Then went Sathã forth from the Lorde.

C Now vpõ a certayn day whẽ his sõnes and daughters were eating, and drynking wyne in their eldeste brothers house, there came a messenger vnto Job, & sayd: Why le ỹ oxẽ were a plowing, & the Asses going in the pasture beside thẽ: ỹ Sabees came in violently, and toke thẽ al away: ye they haue slayne thy seruaũtes with the sword, and I only ranne my waye, to tell the.

And whyle he was yet speakinge, there came another, & sayd: The fyre of God is fallen from heauen, it hath consumed, and burnt vp al thy shepe & seruauntes: and I only ranne my way, to tel the. In ỹ meane season whyle he was yet speakinge, there came another, & sayde: The Caldees made thre armies, & fel in vpõ thy camels, which they haue caried away, yea and slayne thy seruaũtes with the sword: and I only am gottẽ away to tel the: Whyle he was speaking, there came yet another, & sayde, Thy sonnes & daughters were eatinge & drincking wyne in their eldest brothers house, & sodenly ther came a mightie great wynde out of the South, & smote the. iiii. corners of the house: which fell vpõ thy childrẽ, so that they are dead, and I am gottẽ awaye alone, to tell the.

D Then Job stode vp, & rent hys clothes shaued his head, fel downe vpõ the groũd worshipped, & sayd: Naked came I out of my mothers wõbe, & naked shall I turne thyther agayne. The Lorde gaue, and the Lord hath taken away* now blessed be ỹ name of the Lord. In al these thinges did Job not offend, * nor murmured folishly agaynst God.

The Greke & Origẽ adde here vnto. As it hath pleased the lorde so is it done.

* The Greke addeth wyth hys lyppes.

 By

The Notes.

a* By the seruautes of god here vnderstande, not only angelles, by whō he ordereth ꝑ course & worckes of ꝑ worlde, but also ꝑ godly & chosen, whom he continually careth and prouydeth for, Job. ii. a.

b* Came & stode before the lorde. Thynche not that god some time apeareth to the angelles, and sometime not: for the good angelles do alwayse se the face of god, Nether cōmeneth God ether with ꝑ angelles or with ꝑ deuell with bodely speache but ꝑ holy ghoost in the scriptures speaketh many thinges vnto vs accordyng to oure fealynge, and vseth a maner of speakyng familiar to vs, attributyng appearyng speakyng enquerynge & answerynge to God and to aungelles, whyche thynge man only vseth, to thyntent ꝑ we ther by maye the easelyar perceaue hys meanynge. The commynge of the aungelles here is no nother thing than to geue accoūtes of ꝑ office inioyned thē: which thei geue, knowlege ꝑ God seyth with what truste they did it: and to geue thankes, and wayte for their reward. They came (sayth Origen) honouring magnifienge, prayseynge, geuynge thankes. Of Sathan also writeth he thus He came, nether with goyng to, or cōmynge in, but he came in thought, councel, & most wicked desyre to accuse ꝑ ryghtwesse before God. Hys thought & desyre are taken as cōminge. The deuill then is counted to haue come into the syght of god, not that the most wycked came in deade in the syght of the good God, but because his cruel & most wicked thoughte came into the syght of god. And thus euen nowe a dayes also commeth the deuyll wyth them into ꝑ sight of God, in ꝑ he dayly accuseth, finde the faute, berethe, persecutethe and troublethe the godlye.

¶ Job is plaged wᵗ sore biles, & afterward is mocked of his wife. His frendes visite him, & haue compassion on hym.

The. ii. Chapter.

AGayne it happened also vpō a tyme that when ꝑ seruaūtes of god came & stode before the lord, Sathā came amōg them, & stode before hym. a* And the Lord sayde vnto Sathan: From whence commeste thou? Sathan answered and sayde: I haue gone about the lande, and walcked thoro we it.

B Thē said the Lorde vnto Sathan: hast thou not cōsydered my seruaūt Job, how ꝑ he is an innocent and vertuous mā soche one as feareth God, & eschueth euell, and that there is none like him in ꝑ land? But thou mouedest me against him, to punysh him: yet is it in vaine, for he cōtinueth still in his godlynesse. Sathā āswered ꝑ lord, and sayde: Skinne for skynne? yee a man wyll geue al that euer he hath, for his life. But laie thyne hād vpon him, touche him once vpō the bone & flesh, and (I holde) he shal course the to thy face. Then sayd the lord vnto Sathan: lo, there hast ꝑ him in thy power, but spare his lyfe.

So wēt Sathan forth from the Lord, & smote Job wyth maruelous sore byles, from ꝑ sole of the fote vnto his crowne: so that he sat vpon the ground in the asshes, and scraped of the filthe of his sores wᵗ a potsherde.

C Then saide his wife vnto him: Doest ꝑ cōtinue in thy perfectnes? curse god, and di. But Job said vnto her. Thou speakest like a foolish woman. Seynge we haue receaued prosperite at the hād of god, wher fore shulde we not be cōtēt with aduersyte also? In all these thynges, did not Job synne with his lippes.

Now when Jobs frendes herd of al the trouble, that happened vnto hym, there came thre of thē, euery one from his owne place: namelye, Eliphas the Thamanite, Baldad the Suhite, and Zophar ꝑ Naamathite.

D For they were agreed together to come, to shewe their compassyon vpon him, & to comfort him. So when they lyft vp their eyes a farre of, they knewe him not.

Then they cryed, and wepte: then euery one of them rente hys clothes, & sprynckled dust vpon their heades in ꝑ aire. Thei sat them downe by him also vpō ꝑ groūd vii. dayes & vii. nightes. Nether was there ony of thē that spake one word vnto hym, for they sawe that hys payne was verye greate.

The Notes.

a* God is here described asknge and demaūding, not that he vnto whom al thinges ar knowē shuld therby learne any thing: but that the deceates & rāckour of Sathā which alwayes lyeth in wayt, might be vnto vs the better knowen, to thyntent that we shoulde walke the moare warely.

¶ The wordes of Job, wherin he declareth ꝑ this present life is myserable: & that ꝑ deeth of the ryght wes is ioyouse and fortunable.

The. iii. Chapter.

AFter thys opened Job hys mouth, and a* cursed his day and sayde: loste be that daye, wherein I was borne, and the nyghte, in the whyche it was sayde: there is a man child conceaued

The same daye be turned to darckneſſe, & not regarded of God from aboue, neather be ſhyned vpō with lighte: but be couered with darckneſſe, and the ſhadow of death, Lett the dimme cloude fal vpon it, and let it be lapped in with ſoꝛow Let the darckſtoꝛme ouercome that nyghte, let it not be reckened amonge the dayes of the yeare, ner counted in the monethes: Deſpyſed be that nyght, & diſcommended: let[b] *them y curſe the daye, euen thoſe that be ready to rayſe vp mournynge geue it alſo theyꝛ curſſe. Lett the ſtarres be dymme thoꝛow darckneſſe of it, Lett it loke foꝛ light, but let it ſe none, nether the ryſynge vp of the fayze moꝛnyng: becauſe it ſhut not vp the wombe that bare me, ner hydd theſe ſoꝛowes fro myne eyes.

Alas, why dyed I not in ỹ byrth? Why did not I periſh, as ſone as I came out of my mothers wōbe? Why ſet they me vpō their knees? Why gaue they me ſucke vō their bꝛeſtes? Thē ſhulde I now haue lyē ſtil, I ſhuld haue ſlepte, & bene at reſt: like as ỹ kynges and loꝛdes of the erth, which buyld them ſelues ſpeciall places: As the pꝛynces ỹ haue great ſubſtaūce of gould, and their houſes ful of ſiluer. O that I vtterlye had no beynge, oꝛ were as a thynge boꝛne out of tyme (ỹ is put aſyde) ether as yong chyldꝛen, whych neuer ſaw the lyght Ther muſt ỹ wycked ceaſſe frō theyꝛ tyrānny, ther ſoch as are ouer laboured be at reſt: ther ar thoſe lett out fre, whych haue bene in pꝛeſon: ſo that they heare nomoꝛe the voyce of the oppꝛeſſoure: There are ſmall & greate: the bonde man, and he that is fre from hys maſter.

Wherfoꝛe is the lyght geuen to him ỹ is in myſery? and lyfe vnto thē, that haue heuy hertes? Whyche longe foꝛ death, yf it come not: & ſearch foꝛ it moare then foꝛ treaſure whyche alſo wolde be exceedynge glad, & reioyce yf they found theyꝛ grauе. That ſhulde be ioye to the man whoſe waye is hyd, *whiche God kepeth backe from him. Foꝛ my ſyghes come befoꝛe I eate, & my roarynges fal out like flowyng water. Foꝛ ỹ thyng ỹ I feared, is come vpon me: & the thyng that I was afraied of, is happened vnto me? Was I not happi? Had I not quyetnes? Was I not in reſt? And now commeth ſoch miſery vpon me.

Vnderſtād. to death ſo that he can not obtayne to dye. which thinge he ſo greatlye chriſteth foꝛ.

The Notes.

a* Curſed hys daye. Lyke as a man hauing an impoſtume, (ſayth Chꝛiſoſtome) yf he be cut of the Surgeō, hauing nothig wherwith he may reſyſt, during the time of his cutting, holdeth faſt ỹ thinges ỹ be nye him & is redy to byte thē that ſtand by him, & yet can do nothing vnto thē: euē ſo Job fearing ỹ greuous ſenes of blaſpheming & curſſing, doth wꝛōge to vnlyuely thinges, & ſpeaking after ỹ maner of ỹ cōmē people, which impute their miſery to the influēce of ỹ ſtarres, & to the daye of their birth, curſſeth his day, ỹ is, teſtifieth vō curſſing, how bitter a lyfe he lyueth, & vnto how greate miſeries he was boꝛne (as we cōmōly ſay) in an vnhappy houre, euē as thoughe now a dayes a mā repētyng his ſynnes, ſhuld ſay Wo is me wꝛetch. In an vnhappye houre was I boꝛne whych with my dedes haue denyed my maker, wo woꝛth it. &c.

b* They that curſſe the daye, are thoſe that are wery of theyꝛ lyfe, in ſo moche that they fall in dede to curſſinge.

¶ Job is reprehēded of impacience & infirmite, and of the preſumption of his owne righteouſnes.

The.iiii. Chapter.

Thē anſwered Eliphas ỹ Themanite & ſayde vnto him: Yf we begin to commen with the peraduēture thou wilt be diſcontente, but who can wythhold him ſelf frō ſpeaking: Beholde, thou haſt bene a teacher of many, & haſt comfoꝛted the weery handes.

Thy woꝛdes haue ſet vp thoſe that were fallē, thou haſt refreſhed the weake knees But now that the plage is come vpon the thou ſhrinkeſt away: now that it hath touched thy ſelfe, ỹ arte faynte harted. Is not this thy feare, thy ſtedfaſtnes, thy pacīēce, & the perfectneſſe of thy wayes? Conſidꝛe (I pꝛay the) whoeuer peryſhed being an innocēt? Oꝛ, whē were ỹ godly deſtroied? As I haue ſene them that plow vanitie & ſow malicie reape ỹ ſame. With the blaſt of god did they peryſh, & with the bꝛeth of his āger cōſumed they away. The *roaryng of the lion, the voice of the lyoneſſe, & the teeth of the lyons whelpes are bꝛokē The liō periſſheth, foꝛ lacke of pꝛay &, the lyons whelpes are ſcatered abꝛode.

And vnto me was ỹ woꝛd hidde, & mine eare hath receaued a litel therof. In ỹ phā taſyes and thoughtes of the viſions of ỹ night, whē ſlepe cometh on mē: feare came vpō me & dꝛede & made my bones to ſhake And whē ỹ wind paſſed by befoꝛe my fyze ſence it made the heartes of my fleſhe ſtande vp. He ſtode there and I knew not his face face, an image ther was before me & there was stylnes, so that I heard thys voyce.

b* Shal mā be moare iust than God? Or shall man be purer thā hys maker? c* Behold ther is no trust to his seruaūtes, & in his aungelles hath he found frowardnes.
nota aungelloꝝ D
How moche moare in them that dwell in houses of claye, whose foundatyon is but erth: whych shalbe cōsumed by the Moth.
They shalbe smyttē frō the mornyng vnto the euening: yee they shal perish euerlastingly, & no mā thinck therō. Is not theis d* dignitie take away wt thē, they shal die and not in wysdome.

The Notes.

a* By ỹ roaryng, the voyce, & the teethe, are vnderstand the blasphemyes & bacbytinges that ar bred agaynste the innocent, as it is sayde Prouer. xxv. b. By the symplitude of the lyon he meanethe, that the wycked shall perish how great or myghtye soeuer they be, b* Shal mā be moare iust: &c. Of this principle wyll Elyphaces reason thus agaynste Job. Yf God wolde destroye an innocent, it shulde folowe that mā were more ryghtwes & pure thā god, but this is impossible, for the contrary is shewed vnto me by reuelacyon.
c* Behold their is no trust &c. He laboureth in confirming that which he had before propounded. The summe of ỹ reason is, Aungeles ar not purer thā god, ergo not men.
d* Dignitie, sygnifyethe here whatsoeuer thei haue wherin they excell other, whether it be riches or honour, power or cōning &c. For none of these shal redeame thē frō deeth.

¶ The end of a fole. The rightwesnes of god. The Lord chastenethe hys, and delyuereth them agayne.

The. v. Chapter.

CAlme me one els, yf thou cāst find eny: yee loke about ỹ, vpon eny of ỹ holy mē. As for ỹ foolish mā, displeasure killeth him & anger slayethe ỹ ignoraūt. I haue sene my self, when the folysh was depe roted, that his bewty was sodēly destroied, that his childrē were wythout prosperite or health: that they were slayne in the doze, and no mā to deliuer thē: that hys harueste was eaten vp of the hungry: that the weapened mā had spoyled it, and that the thurstye had, droncke vp hys ryches. It is not the erth that bringeth forth trauayle, nether cōmeth sorow oute of the groūd: but it is mā, that is borne vnto mysery, lyke as the byrde for to fle.
But now wil I speake of the lord, and talke of god: which doth thinges, that are B vnsearchable, & maruelous without nom bre: which geueth rayne vpō the earthe, & poureth water vpō al thinges: whych setteth vp them of low degre, & sendeth prosperite, to those that ar in heuynes: Which destroieth the deuyses of the sotyll, so that they ar not able to perfourme ỹ thinges ỹ they take in hande: whych compasethe the wyse in their owne craftynesse, and ouerthroweth the coūcell of the wicked. In so moch that they runne in to darcknesse by fayre daye, & grope about them at ỹ none C daye, lyke as in the nyghte.
And so he deliuereth the poore from the sweard, from theyr mouth, & frō the hand of ỹ cruell, that ỹ poore maye haue hope, & that the mouth of the oppressoure maye be stopped. happye is this man whō god punysheth
Behold, happye is the man, whō God punysheth: therfore, despyce not ỹ ỹ chasteynge of the Almyghty. For though he make a wounde, he geueth a medycyne againe: though he smyte, his hand maketh whole agayne.
a* He delyuereth the oute of syxe troubles, so that in ỹ seuēth there cā no harme touch yꝑ. In ỹ middeste of hōger he saueth the from deathe: and when it is warre, frō D the power of the sweard.
He shal kepe the from the perlous tonge so that whē trouble commeth, thou shalte not neade to feare. In destructiō & derth ỹ shalt be mery, & shalt not be afrayed for ỹ beastes of ỹ eerthe: For the castels in the land shalbe confederate with the, and the beastes of the fealde shal geue the peace.
e Yee thou shalt know, that thy dwelling place shal be in reste: thou shalte beholde thy substaūce, & be no more punyshed for synne. Thou shalte se also, that thy sede shal increace, and that thy posterite shalbe as the grasse vpon the erth. Thou shalt come to thy graue in a fayre age, lyke as the corne sheewes are broughte in to ỹ barne in due season. Lo, this is ỹ matter, as we our selues haue proued bi experiēce. Therfore now that thou heareste it, take better hede to thy selfe.

The Notes.

a* He delyuereth the &c. Thys sentence proposided after ỹ maner of a Prophecie signifyeth all one wyth that of Paul. 1. Cor. x. c God is faythfull whych shall not suffre you to be tempted aboue your strengthe, but shal in the myddes of the temptacion make away to eskape oute. Eliphas meanethe: De

He hath bereft me in many miseries, but when the seuenth comethe, and when it shall seame to hym that the offence is sufficiētly punished & that thou hast left thine impacyence (for that sayeth he to Job, though vntruthly) then wyl he prosper the vñ so great health, þ thou shalt after leade thy life most fortunately.

¶ Job answereth, that his paine is more greuous. thē his fauke, yet not withstāding he delyteth therin

The. vi. Chapter.

A IOb answered, and said: O þ my misery were weyed, & my punnysshmente layed in the balaunces: for then shulde it be heuyer, then the sande of the see. Thys is the cause, that my wordes are so sorowfull.

For a* the arowes of þ almighty ar in me, whose indignacyō hath drōcke vp my spyrite, & the terryble feares of God fyght against me. Doth the wyld asse roare whē he hath grasse? Or cryeth the ox, when he hath fodder ynough? That which is vnsauery, shalt it be eaten with oute salte, or is ther any taste in þ whyte of an egge. The B thinges that some time I might not away wythal, are now my meate for very sorow O that I myghte haue my desyre: O that God wolde graunte me the thyng, that I longe for: That he wolde beginne & smite me: that he wold let his hand go, & hew me downe. Thē shuld I haue some cōfort: yee I wolde desyre hym in my paine, þ he shulde not spare, for I wyll not be agaynste þ wordes of the holy one.

What power haue I to endure? Or, what is mine ende, that my soule myghte be pacīēt? Is my strength the strength of stones? Or, is my flesshe made of brasse? Is it not so that ther is in me no help: & b* that my substaunce is taken fro me. He þ is in tribulacion ought to be comforted of his neyghbour: c* but the feare of þ lorde is cleane awaye: Myne owne brethren passe ouer by me as the water broke, that hastely runneth thorow the valleyes. But thei that feare the hoze frost, the snow shall fall vpon them.

¶ When their time cōmeth they shalbe destroied & perysshe: and when they be set on fyre, they shalbe remoued out of their place, for þ pathes that they go in, ar croked: they hast after vayne thynges, and shall perish. Consydre the pathes of Theman, & þ wayes of Saba, wherin they haue put their truste. C Confounded are they, þ put my cōfidence in them: For when they came to optaine þ thinges þ they loked for, they were brought to confusion.

Euen so are ye also come vnto me: but now that ye se my mysery, ye are afrayed. D Did I desire you, to come hither? Or, to geue me eny of youre substaūce? To deliuer me frō the enemyes hād, or to saue me frō the power of the mightie? Teach me & I will holde my tonge: and yf I do erre, shewe me wherin.

Wherfore blame ye then þ wordes, þ are well & truly spoken? whiche of you cā reproue thē? Sauing only that ye are subtyll to check mens sayinges, & can speake many wordes in þ wynd. Ye fall vpō the fatherles, & go about to ouerthrow your owne frend. Wherfore loke not only vpō me, but vpō youre selues: whether I lye, or no. Turne into youre owne selues (I pray you) be indifferēt iudges, & consydre mine vngiltines: whether ther be eny vnryghtuousnes in my tōg, or vaine wordes in my mouth.

The Notes.

a* The Arrowes of the almyghtye after some mennes oppynyon, ar the sorenes of his iudgemente & hys wrathe: after some other, they are þ trouble which the law moueth in the hertes of mē, while thei ther by ar stirred to hate thē selues, and so are healthfully kylled. as it is sayd Psal. xxxviii, a. Some againe expounde them to be thee crosse of wyserie & wretchednesse wherin God had nowe wrapped hym. For the Saynctes (saye they) receaue they? crosse of the hand of God. The same wyl, that this sētence be a increasing & amplifying of that, which his aduersary had scarcely layde agaynste hym. Eliphas in the begynnynge of the fourthe Chapter had sayde, that the plage was come vpō hī & had touched hym. With this (say they) meatethe he now. Beholde it not onelye touched me, but woundeth me wyth Arrowes, & those venoumed wyth venoume, hapely vñ þ gall of dragōs, vñ which touching, both my bloude warreth wood, & al my spyrite is supped vp. Moreouer god hath not onely throwē these dartes vpō me, but also his dreadful fares þ is, what soeuer he hath þ is terrible, laieth he on me.

b* That my substaunce is takē frō me. The Chald interpr. hath. Wysdome is departed from me, and that, after Rab. Mos. the wysedome of dyssyng iudging & tryng of thynges. As th ought he shuld say, so soare is my greke, seyth my helpe is taken frō me, þ I am not permytted to breathe so longe, til I may call to remembraunce what is moaste acceptable to god. Some read. Is not al þ strēgth of myne infourcemēt gone from me.

c* But

e* But the feare of the Lord &c. As though he sayde. But alas, now adayes, there is no feare of the lord leaft: and therefore it is no maruel, yf charite also which is ioyned to ỹ feare of God, be not in vse.

¶ Job sheweth that this life is but a batayle or warfare.

The. vii. Chapter.

nota tyes by ff of mā

A Is not the lyfe of man vpon erth a very batail? Ar not his dayes lyke ỹ dayes of an hyred seruaūt? For like as a bōde seruaūt desireth ỹ shadow, & as an hyreling wold faine haue an ende of his worcke: Euen so haue I laboured whole monethes lōg (but in vaine) & mani a carefull nyghte haue I tolde. When I laied me downe to slepe, I sayde: O when shal I rise? Agayne, I lōged sore for the night. Thus am I ful of sorow, tyll it be dark. My flesh is clothed wyth wormes, fylthynesse & dust: my skinne is withered, & crombled together: my dayes passe ouer more spedely thē a weuer cā weeue oute his webbe: & are gone, or I am a warre. O remembre, ỹ my lyfe is but a wynde, and B that myne eye shal no more se ỹ pleasures thereof, yee and that none other mans eye shall se me eny more. For yf thou fasten thine eyes vpō me, I come to naught like as a cloude is cōsumed & vanissheth away euen so he that goeth downe to hell, cometh nomore vp, ner turneth agayne into hys house, nether shall hys place knowe him eny more.

C Therfore I will not spare my mouth, but will speake in ỹ trouble of my spryte, in ỹ bytternes of my minde wil I talke. Am I a see or a walfysh, ỹ thou kepeste me so in prison? When I thynke: my bedd shal cōforte me. I shall haue some refreshing by talcking by my self vpon my couch. Thē troubleste thou me wt dreames, & makest me so afrayed thorow visions, ỹ my soule wisheth rather to be strāgled, & my bones D to be deed.

I cā se no remedy, I shall lyue no more: O spare me thē, for my daies ar but vaine What is mā, that thou hast him in such reputacyon, & settest so much by him? Thou takest diligēt care for hym, & sodēly doest thou trye hym.

nota thou takest by diligent care for mā

Why goest ỹ not fro me, ner letteste me alone, so longe tyll I swalow downe my spetle? I haue offēded, what shal I do vn to the, O ỹ preseruer of men? Why hast ỹ made me to stād in thy way, & am so heuy a burden vnto my self? Why doest ỹ not forgeue me my sinne? Wherfore takest ỹ not away my wyckednes. Beholde, nowe must I slepe in the duste: & yf ỹ seketh me to morow in ỹ mornyng, I shalbe gone.

¶ Job is reprehended and noted to haue deserued his payne. & description of hipocricie.

The. viii. Chapter.

THē answered Baldad ỹ Suhite, & sayde: How long wylt thou talke of soche thynges? how longe shall thy mouthe speake so proude wordes? Doth God peruerte the thyng that is lawfull? Or, doth the Almyghtye destroy the thing that is right? When thy sonnes synned agaynst him, dyd not he punysh them for theyr wyckednesse? If thou woldeste now resorte vnto god by tymes, and make thyne humble prayer to ỹ Almighty: yf thou woldest liue a pure and a godly life: shulde he not wake vp vnto the immediatlye, & geue the, the bewtie of rightuousnes agayne? In so moch, that wherein soeuer thou hadest lytle afore, thou shuldest now haue greate aboundaunce. Enquere B of them that haue bene before the, searche dylygently amonge thy forefathers: Namely, that we are but of yesterdaye, and cō sydre not, that oure dayes vpon earth are but a verye shadowe. They shal shew the, they shall tell the, yee they wyll gladly cō fesse the same.

May a rysshe be grene without moystnesse? maye ỹ grasse growe wout water? No: but (or euer it be shot forthe, & or euer it be gathered) it witherethe, before eny other herbe. Euē so goeth it wt all thē, that forget God: & euen thus also shal the ypocrites hope come to naught. His cōfydēce C shalbe destroied, for he trusteth in a spyders webbe. He nameth hī vpō his house, but he shal not stand: he holdeth hī fast by it, yet shal he not endure. Oft time a thing doth florysh, & mē thynke ỹ it maye abyde ỹ sonne shynyng: it shuteth forth ỹ braunches in his gardē, it taketh many rotes, in so moch that it is lyke an house of stones.

But yf it be takē out of his place, euery mā denieth it, sayng: I know the not. Lo, thus is it wt hym, ỹ reioyseth in his owne doynges:

doynges: and as for other, they grow out of the earth.

Behold, God wyl not caſt awaye a vertuous mã, nether wyl he helpe the vngodly. Thy mouth ſhal he fyl wt laughyng, & thy lyppes wyth gladnes. They that hate the ſhall be cõfoũded, and the dwellynges of the vngodly ſhall come to naught.

¶ Job declareth the benefites of god, & that mãnes ryghtewesnes is nothynge.

The.ix. Chapter.

A IOb anſwered, & ſayd: As for ỹ, I know it is ſo of a trueth, that a man compared vnto God, can not be iuſtified. If he wyll argue withe hym, he ſhall not be able to anſwere him vnto one amonge a thouſande. He is wyſe of herte, and mightte in ſtrẽgth. Who euer proſpered, that toke parte agaynſte hym:  He tranſlatethe the mountaynes, or euer they be a ware, and ouerthrouethe them in hys wrath. He remoueth the earth oute of her place, that her pylers ſhake wt al. He commaũdeth the Sonne, and it ryſeth not: he cloſethe vp the ſtarres, as it were vnder a ſygnet. He him ſelf alone ſpredeth out the heauens, and goeth vpon the waues of ỹ ſee. He maketh the vaynes of heauen, the Orions, the. vii. ſtarres and the ſecret places of the ſouthe. He dothe greate thinges, ſoche as are vnſearcheable, yee and wonders without nombre.

B If he came by me, I might not loke vpõ him: yf he went his way, I ſhuld not perceaue it. If he be haſty to take eny thing away, who will make hi reſtore it agayne: Who wil ſay vnto him: what doeſt thou: He is god, whoſe wrath no mã may withſtãde: but the proudeſt of all muſt ſtoupe vnder him. How ſhuld I thẽ ãſwere him: or what wordes ſhuld I fynd out againſt him: Yee though I be righteous, yet wil I not geue hi one worde againe, but meekely ſubmitte my ſelf to my iudge. All be it ỹ I call vpon hym, & he heare me, yet am I not ſure, ỹ he hath herd my voyce: he troubleth me ſo with the tempeſt, & woundeth me out of meaſure wout a cauſe. He wyll not let my ſprete be in reſt, but fylleth me wyth bytternesſe.

If men wil ſpeake of ſtrength, he is the ſtrongeſt of al: yf men wil ſpeake of righteouſnes, who darre beny record. b* If I wil iuſtifie my ſelf, my owne mouth ſhall cõdẽne me: yf I wil put forth my ſelf for a pfect mã, he ſhal proue me a wicked doer: for ỹ I ſhuld be an inocẽt, my cõſcience knoweth it not, yee I my ſelf am weery of my life. This one thig wil I ſay: he deſtroieth both ỹ righteous & vngodly. And though he ſlay ſodenly withe the ſcourge, yet laugheth he at the punichmẽt of the inocẽt. As for the world, he geueth it ouer in to ỹ power of the wycked, ſoch as ỹ rulers be, wherof al lãdes are ful. Is it not ſo: wher is there eny, but he is ſoch one:

My dayes haue bene more ſwift then a runner: they are gone ſodenly, & haue ſene no good thyng. They are paſſed away, as the ſhippes that be good vnder ſayle, & as the Aegle that haſteth to ỹ pray. When I am purpoſed to forget my cõplaynynges to chaung my countenaunce, & to cõforte my ſelf: thẽ am I afraied of al my worke, for I know, thou fauoureſt not an euell doer. If I be thẽ a wicked one, whi haue I labouredin vaine: Though I waſhed my ſelf wt ſnow water, & made myne handes neuer ſo clene, yet ſhuldeſt ỹ dyppe me in the myer, & myne owne clothes ſhulde defyle me. For he ỹ I muſt geue anſwere vnto, & with whom I go to lawe, is not a mã as I am. Nether is ther any dayeſmã to reproue both the partes, or to laye hys hand betwixte vs. Let hi take his rod away fro me, yee let him make me no more afrayed of him, & then ſhal I anſwere hym wout eny fear. For as lõg as I am in ſoch fearfulnes, I cã make no anſwere: And whye it greueth my ſoule to lyue.

nota any day and

The Notes.

a* God trãſlateth the mountaines, not only theſe of ỹ erth, but alſo the arrogãt & proude tyrãnes, & the great reaulmes of the world, which by a borowed ſpeache are often times in the Scripture ſygnyfyed by mountaynes & hilles. So trãſlated he Pharao. Exodi. iiii. g & kynge Senacherib. Eſaie. xxxvii. g.

b* Here is it good to ſe ỹ Job preſumethe not of his owne righteouſnes, but plainelicõfeſſethe hym ſelfe vnryghtwes & a ſynner before god, although before the worlde he had lyued blameleſſe. God loketh on the hearte thoughe men looke but onely on ỹ outewarde appearaunce. His aduerſaryes thoughte that he ſhulde neuer haue had ſoche a croſſe layde on hym, in leſſe then he had alſo outewardly & openly lyued in wyckednesſe. To ỹ anſwerethe Job in dyuerſe places that he therein was not culpable, and therfore accuſeth as it were after the maner of mẽ, the iudgement gemēt of God, concernynge soche as are outwardlye ryghtwes: & studious to lyue vertuously: namely soche a lyue without blame amonge men, & that bothe entende & do well to all men, and yet are wrapped in many myseries and wretchednes oftētime ouer cruel. And herin lieth the cheke of ỹ cōtrauersy betwyxt Job and his aduersaryes, that Job defendeth hym selfe not to haue deserued his punishment by his outward lyuynge: where as his aduersaryes armed only with manly and fleshly wyt, thought god to be vnrighteous, yt he wolde so greuously punishe hym that had not bene outwarde synne against him. Job, hys conscyence bearynge hym witnes, had lyued innocentelye and streyghtelye, & hurte no man, had alwayes feared God, and worshypped him onely, his children also had henourtured to the feare of god, and could of no man be accused of wyckednesse. Yet wytnesseth he iustlye here (as al ỹ godly do) that he was not vtterly with out sinne, for other wyse had he bene a liar. 1. Johñ. 1. If we say, we haue no sinne, we deceaue our selues, & truth is not in vs. Wherefore in the places where he sayethe that he hathe not deserued his punishmēt, and that shulde seame to shew him blameles, know, that he speaketh of his outward maner of liuing, not of the inward thoughtes and desyers of the hearte, wherin he was vndouted an offender.

¶ Job is weery of his life, & setteth out his frayltie before God. He desyre the tyme to repēte. A description of deeth.

The. x. Chapter.

A Nertheles, now will I put forth my wordes: I wil speake out of ỹ very beuinesse of my soule, & wil say vnto god: Do not cōdēne me, but shewe me the cause, wherefore thou iudgeste me on this maner. Thynckest thou it well done, to oppresse me, to caste me of (being a worke of thy handes) and to mayntene the councell of the vngodlye? Haste thou fleshly eyes then, or doest thou loke as mā loketh? Are thy dayes as the dayes of mā, and thy yeares as mans yeres? that thou makest soche inquysycion for my wickedB nesse, & searchest oute my synne? where as (notwithstandynge) thou knowest that I am no wycked persōne, and that there is no man able to delyuer me out of thine hāde. Thy hādes haue made me, & fashioned me alltogether roūd about, wylt ỹ then destroy me sodenly? Remembre (I beseke ỹ) how ỹ thou madest me of the mouldе of ỹ earth, & shalt bryngе me to earth agayne. Hast ỹ not mylked me, as it were mylck: & turned me to cruddes lyke chese? Thou hast couered me wythe skynne & flesh, and ioyned me together wt bones & synowes, Thou haste graunted me lyfe, & done me C good: & ỹ diligēt hede that thou takest vp on me, hath preserued my spyrite.

Though ỹ hydest the thynges in thyne hert, yet am I sure, that ỹ remembrest thē al. Wherfore didest thou kepe me, when I synned, & hast not clēsed me fro mine offēce? If I do wickedlye, wo is me therfore: If I be ryghteous, yet darre I not lift vp my heade: so ful am I of confusyon, & se myne owne mysery.

Thou huntest me out (beynge in heuinesse) as it were a Lion, and troublest me oute of measure. Thou bryngest freshe witnesses against me, thy wrath increasest thou vpon me, bery many ar the plages ỹ I am in. Wherfore hast thou brought me out of my mothers wombe? O that I had D perysshed, & that no eye had sene me. If thei had caried me to my graue, as sone as I was borne, then shoulde I be nowe, as though I had neuer bene.

Shal not my short life come soone to an ende? O hold ỹ fro me, let me alone, that I maye ease my selfe a lytle afore I go thyther, frō whēce I shal not turne agayne. Namely, to that land of darcknesse & shadow of deathe: yee into that darck clowdy lād & deadly shadow, wher as is no order, but terrible feare as in the darcknesse.

¶ Job is vniustly reprehended of Sophar God is in cōprehensible. He is mercyfull to the repentaunt

The. xi. Chapter.

THē answered Sophar ỹ Naamathite, & sayd: Shuld not he that maketh mani wordes be answered? Should he ỹ babbleth moch, be cōmended therein? Shuld men geue eare vnto the only? Thou wilt laugh other mē to scorne, and shal no body mocke the agayne? Wylte ỹ say vntō God: The thing that I take in hād is perfect, & I am clene in thy sighte? O that God wolde speake, & open his lippes against the, that he might shew ỹ (out of hys secrete wysdome) howe manyfolde hys Lawes: then shuldeste thou knowe, that God had forgotten the, because of thy synnes.

Wylt thou find out god wt thy sekyng? wilt thou attayne to ỹ perfectnesse of the allmightie? He is hier thē heauen, what wilt thou do? Deper thē the hel, how wylt thou the knowest him? His length exceadeth the lēgth of the erthe, & his bredth ye bredth of ye see. Though he turne all thynges vp side downe, close the in, or thrust them to gether, who darre check him therfore?

B thou

For it is he that knowethe the vanyte of men: he seyth their wickednes also, shulde he not the consydre it? A vayne body exalteth hym selfe, & the sonne of man is like a wylde asses foale. If thou haddest now a right hert, and lyftedst vp thyne handes towarde hym: yf thou woldest put awaye the wyckednesse whych thou hast in hand, so that no vngodlynesse dwelt in thy house: Then myghtest thou lyft vp thy face wythout shame, the shuldest thou be sure, and haue no nede to feare.

Then shuldest thou forget thy misery, & thyncke nomore vpon it, then vpō the waters that rūne by. The shuld thy life be as cleare as the noone day, and spryng forth as ye mornyng. Then myghtest thou haue coūforthe, in ye hope that thou hast: & slepe quyetly, whē ye arte buryed. The shuldest thou take thi rest, and no man to make the afraied, yee many one shuld set much by ye. As for ye eyes of ye vngodli, they shalbe cōsumed, & not escape: their hope shalbe mysery and sorow of mynde.

¶ Job in shewing his patyence declareth ye myghte and power of God.

The. xii. Chapter.

And Job answered, and saide: The (no doute) ye are ye ine alone, & wysdom shal perysche wt you. But I haue vnderstādig as wel as ye, & am no lesse the ye. Yee who knoweth not these thinges? Thus he that calleth vpon God, and whō God heareth, is mocked of his neighbour: the godly and innocent mā is laughed to scorne. Godlinesse is a light despised in the hertes of the ryche, and is set for the to stōble vpō. The houses of robbers are in wealthe & prosperyte & they ye malycyously medle agaynst God, dwell without care: yee God geueth all thynges rychelye wyth hys owne.

Aske the catell, & they shal informe the: the fowles of ye ayre, & they shall tell the: Speake to ye earth, & it shall shewe ye: Or to the fysshes of the see, and thei shal certifye the. What is he, but ye knoweth ye the hand of the lord made al these? In whose hande is the soule of euery lyuing thyng, & the breth of all men. Haue not the eares pleasure in hearing, & the mouth in tastyng the thing that it eateth? Among old persones there is wysdome, and amōg the aged is vnderstandinge. Yee wythe God is wysdome and stregth, it is he that hath councell and for knoweledge. If he breake downe a thing, who can set it vp againe? If he shut a thynge, who wyl open it. Behold, yf he withholde ye waters, they drie vp: Yf he lett them go, they destroye the earth. Wyth hym is strength and wysdō: he knowethe bothe the dysceauer and hym that is disceaued.

He caryethe a way ye wise mā, as it were a spoyle, & bringeth ye iudges out of theyr wyttes. He loseth the gyrdle of kynges, & gyrdeth their loynes with a bond. He ledeth awaye the Preastes into captyuyte, & turneth the myghtye vpsyde downe. He taketh the verite frō out of the mouthe, & disapointeth the aged of their wisdō. He poureth out confusyon vpon Prynces, & cōforteth them that haue bene oppressed. Loke what lyeth hyd in darckenesse, he declareth it openly: and the very shadowe of death bryngeth he to light. He both increaseth the people, and destroyeth thē: He maketh thē to multyplie, & driueth thē away. He chaūgeth the herte of the Princes and kinges of the earth, & disapoynteth thē: so that they go wandryng out of the waye, & grope in the darck withoutlight, stackering to and fro lyke droncken men.

¶ Job reproueth his frēdes vp their owne sayinges, and condemneth hypocrye.

The. xiii. Chapter.

Lo, al this haue I sene wythe mine eye, heard with mine eare, & vnderstād it. Loke what ye know ye same do I knowe also, nether am I inferior vnto you. Neuertheles I am purposed to talke wt the almightye, & my desyre is to comē with god. As for you, ye are workmasters of lies, & vnprofytable Phisictās al together. O olde God ye kept your tonge, that ye might be taken for wyse men. Therfore heare my wordes, & ponder the sentence of my lyppes. Wyll ye make answere for God wyth lyes, and mayntayne hym

B him with disceate? Will ye accepte the per son of God, & intreate for hym? Shall that help you, when he calleth you to reko nyng. Thynke ye to begyle hym, as a mā is begyled? He shall punish you, & reproue you, yf ye do secretly accept any persomne.
Shall he not make you afrayed, when he sheweth hym selfe? Shall not his terrible feare fall vpon you? youre remembraūce shalbe lyke vnto the dust, & youre ¦pryde shalbe turned to claye. Hold your tonges C nowe, and let me speake, for there is some thinge come in to my minde. *a Wherfore do I beare my flesh in my teth, & mine sou le in mine hādes? Lo, ther is nether cōfort nor hope for me, yf he wil slay me. But yf I shew & reproue mine owne waies in his syght, he is euē the same, that maketh me whole: & why? there maye no hypocryte co me before hym. Heare my wordes, & pōder my sayinges w̄ youre eares. *b Beholde, now haue I prepared my iudgmente, and know y I shalbe found rightwes. What is he, that wyll go to lawe with me? For yf
I holde my tōge, I shall die. Neuertheles graunte me two thinges, and then wyll I not hyde my selfe from the.

Withdraw thyne hand frō me, & let not the fearfull drede of the make me afray=
ed. And then sende for me to the lawe, y I maye ānswere for my selfe: or els, let me spea ke, & geue thou the answere. Howe greate are my mysdedes & synnes? Let me know my trāsgressions & offences. *c Wherfore hydeste thou thy face, and holdeste me for thyne enemye? Wilt thou be so cruel & ex= treme vnto a flying leafe, & folow vpōdre stubble? that thou lateste so sharpely to my charge, & wylt vtterly vndo me, for y syn= nes of my youth? Thou hast put my fote in the stockes: thou lokest narowlye vnto al my pathes, & marckest the steppes of my fete: wher as I (notwithstanding) must cō sume lyke as a foule carriō, and as a cloth that is moth eaten.

The Notes.

*a Wherfore &c. These both ar prouerby ally spoken, of them that offer their lyues to Jeopardy, and spare not thē selues. For he spareth not hym selfe that teareth hys flesshe with his teeth: and agayne he that beareth he his soule in his hande, carpeth it as a thyng ready to be solde, euē as thoughe he woulde streight leaue it, and cast it of.

*b Behold &c. this is his meaning. The cū= me of my cōtēcyon was this, thus dyd I or= der and defende my cause agaynste your rea= sons that my hope is to be iustified. Armed wyth this fayth: I come without feare vn= to iudgemente. He will not pronounce hi vn rightwes that so vnfaynedly hath trusted to hys mercye. Hipocrites, they nier they ar to iudgement the moare the feare: & the nyer I am to deeth the more strong is my hope.

*c Wherfore hidest thou my face. What hyding of his face meaneth loke Deu. xxxi. d.

¶ Job describeth the like of a mā, & prouhecieth of the resurrectyon. Hope sustayneth the godly. tyl they obtayne that they loke for.

The .xiiii. Chapter.

Man that is borne of a womā, A hath but a short time to liue, & | nota is ful of diuerse miseries. He | a mā
cōmeth vp & falleth away li= | haboūd
ke a flour. He flieth as it were | miserie a shadowe, & neuer cōtinueth in one state.
Thinkest thou it nowe well done, to open thine eies vpō soch one, & to bringe me be= fore y in iudgmēt? Who cā make it cleane that commeth of an vncleane thinge? No body. The dayes of mā ar short, y nōbre of hys monethes are knowne onelye vn= to the. Thou hast apoynted him his bou= des, he can not go beyonde them. Go from hym, that he maye reste a lytle: vntyll his daye come, whyche he lokethe for, lyke as an hyrelynge dothe.

If a tre be cut downe, ther is some hope B yet, that it wyll sproute and shutte forthe the braunches agayne: For though a tote be waxen olde & deed in the grounde, yet when the stock getteth the sent of water, it wyll budde, and bringe forth bowes, lyke as whē it was fyrste planted. But as for man when he is deed, perysshed & consu= med awaie, what becommeth of him? The floudes when they be dryed vp and the ry uers whē thei be emptie, are killed agayne thorow the flowyng waters of the see: but whē man sleepeth, he ryseth not agayne: vn till the heauē perish: he shall not wake vp ner ryse out of his slepe. O y thou woldest kepe me, and hyde me in y hell, vntyll thy C wrathe were stylled: and to appoynte me a time, wherin thou myghteste  remēbre me. Maye a deed man lyue agayne? All y daies of this my pilgremage am I lokin= kyng, whē my chaūginge shal come. If y woldeste but call me, I shoulde obey the:
only despise not the worke of thyne owne handes.

For thou hast nombred all my goinges, yet be not thou to extreame vpon my synnes. Thou hast sealed vp mine offences, as it were in a bagg: but be mercyful vnto my wyckednesse. The mountaines fal awaye at the laste, the rockes are remoued out of their place, ℣ waters pearse thorow the very stones by lytle & litle, the floudes wasshe away the gravell & earth: Euen so destroyest thou the hope of mã in lyke maner. Thou preuailest against him, so that he passeth awaye: thou chaungeste his estate, & puttest hī frō ℣. Whether his childrē come to worshippe, or no, he can nott tel: And yf thei be inē of low degre, he knoweth not. Whyle he liueth, his flesh muste haue trauayle: & whyle the soule is in him he must be in sorowe.

The Notes.

a* God remembreth a mã whē he helpeth him. Jere. xb. c.

¶ Eliphas reprehēdeth Job because he accrybeth wicdō & parenes to him self. He describeth ℣ curse ℣ falleth on the wycked reckening Job to be one of ℣ nombre.

The .xb. Chapter.

Thē ānswered Eliphas ℣ Themanite, & said: *‡ Shulde a wyse mā ānswere in the scyēce of ℣ wid, & fyl his belly wyth the wind of the est? Thou reprouest wt wordes, that ar nothing worth: & speakest ℣ thinges, which cā do no good As for shame, ℣ haste set it aside, els woldest ℣ not make so manye wordes before god: but thy wickednes teacheth thi mouth, & so thou hast chosen the a crafftie tonge. Thine owne mouth condēneth thee, & not I: yee thyne awne lippes shape the an answere. Art thou the fyrst man, that euer was borne? Or, waste thou made before the hilles? haste thou herde the secrete coūcell of god, that al wysdome is to litle for the? What knowest thou, that we knowe not? What vnderstādest thou, but we can the same? Wyth vs are olde and aged men, yee soche as haue lyued longer then thy forefathers.

Thinckest thou it a smal thynge of the consolacions of God? & are they with the a*‡lyinge worde: Why doth thyne heart make ℣ so proude? Why standest thou so greatly in thine owne cōceate? Whereto loke thyne eyes, ℣ thy mynde is so puft vp against god & letteste soch wordes go out of thi mouth? What is man, that he shuld be cleane? what hath he (which is borne of a womā) wherby he might be knowē to be righteous? Behold ther is no trust to hys sanctes: yea ℣ a* very heuēs are not cleane in his sight. How moch more thē an abhominable and vyle mā, whiche b* drynketh wickednes like water? I wyl tel the, heare me: I wyl shew the a thing, that I know: which wyse mē haue tolde, & hath not bene hyd frō their fathers: vnto whō onely the lande was geuē, that no straunger shulde come amonge them.

The vngodly despayreth al the dayes of his lyfe, & the nōbre of a tyraūtes yeres is vnknowen. A fearful sounde is euer in hys eares, & when it is peace, yet feareth he destructiō: He beleueth neuer to be deliuered out of darckenesse, the swearde is allwaye before his eyes. Whē he goeth forth to get his lyuing, he thinketh playnly, that the daye of darkenesse is at hand. Sorow and carefulnes make him afrayed, & compasse him rounde aboute, lyke as it were a king with his host ready to the battel. For he hath stretched out his hand against god, and armed him self against the almightie He runneth proudly vpō him, & with a stif necke fyghteth he against him: wher as he coūereth his face with fatnes, and maketh hys body wel lykinge. Therfore shall hys dwelling be in desolate cyties, & in houses whych noman inhabiteth, but are become heapes of stones.

He shal not be rich, nether shal his substaunce continue, ner encrease vpon earth. He shal neuer come out of darckenesse, the flame shall drye vp his braūches, with the blast of the mouth of god shal he be taken away. He wyll nether applye hym selfe to faythfulnes ner truth, so sore is he disceaued with vanite.

He shal perisshe afore hys tyme be worne out, and his hand shal not be grene. He shalbe pluckte of as an vntymelye grape frō the vine, & shal let his floure fal, as the olyue doth. For the cōgregation of ypocrites is vnfruteful, & the fyre shal consume the houses of soch, as are gredy to receaue giftes. He conceaueth trauaile, he beareth mischefe, & his body brīgeth forth disceat

The Notes.

*‡ That is, Shuld a wyse man speake vayne wordes, & shuld he hym selfe be bayne and puffe puke vp with vnprofytable & tryflinge doctrine. The east wynde dryeth vp all thinges, & therfore by a bely filled with it, is fygnyfyed by a borowed speache, a stomacke or hert, oute of whyche proceadethe soche false doctryne as dyspethe vp the moystnes of the soule in tryflyng out the trueth.

*‡ Some reade, secret. The whole sentence doth Rab. mose thus expoũd. God cã yet cõforth ꝑ againe in this life, & regardeste ꝑ so lytel his comforthes & takest them for a lye:
Other. thus: Seame the comfortes of men of grauitie byldad & Sophar vnworthie for ꝑ, and seme they to the lyes.

a* Under the name of ꝑ heuens vnderstã-deth he the aungelles.

b* To drynke wyckednes like water, is, to be fylled with wyckednesse. it is a maner of speaking of the Hebrues, so to drink skor-fulnes signifieth to be filled therwith, after as in the. xxxiiii. a.

¶ Job repeting his mysery, sayth that he suffereth moare then hys wyckednesse hath deserued.

The. xvi. Chapter.

A IOb answered, and sayde: I haue oft times herd soch thin-ges. Wiserable geuers of cõ-fort ar ye, al the sorte of you.
Shall not thy vaine wordes come yet to an ende? Or, hast thou yet eny more to sai? I could speake, as ye do also. But woulde god, that youre soule were in my soules steade: then shulde I heape vp wordes agaynst you, and shake my heade at you. I shuld cõfort you ẅ my mouth, and release your payne with ꝑ talkyng of my lyppes. But what shall I do? For all my wordes, my sorow wyll not ceasse: and
B thoughe I holde my tonge, yet will it not departe fro me. And nowe that I am full of payne, and all that I haue destroyed (wherof my wrynckles beare wytnesse) ther standethe vp a dyssembler to make me an swere wyth lyes to my face. He is angrye at me, he hateth me, and gnasshethe vpon me ẅ his teeth. Mine enemie skouleth vp on me with his eyes.

They haue a* opened their mouthes wide vpon me, and smytten me vpon the cheke despytefully, they haue cased thẽ sel-
C ues thorow mine aduersite. God hath geuẽ me ouer to ꝑ vngodli, & deliuered me in to ꝑ handes of ꝑ wycked. I was some tyme in wealth, but sodenly he hath brought me to nought. He hath takẽ me by ꝑ neck, he hath rent me, & set me, as it were a marke for him to shute at. He hath cõpased me rounde about ẅ his dartes, he hath wounded my loynes, and not spared. My bowels hath he pored vpõ ꝑ groũd. He hath geuẽ me one woũde vpon another, and is fallen vpon me lyke a giaunte. I haue so wed a sack cloth vpõ my skinne, & lie with my strength in the dust. E

My face is swollẽ ẅ wepyng, & myne eyes ar warẽ dimme. Howbeit there is no
D wyckednesse in my handes, and my praier is cleane. b* O erth, couer not my bloude, & let my criẽg fynd no rowme. For lo, my witnesse is in heauẽ, & he ꝑ knowethe me, is aboue in ꝑ heygth. My frendes laughe me to scorne, but myne eye poureth out tea-res vnto god. Though a body might plea-te ẅ God, as one man doth with another, yet the nombre of my yeares ar come, and I must go the waye, from whence I shall not turne agayne.

The Notes:

a* To open their mouthes, signifyethe to threaten with most extreame & cruel punishment, & to reproue withe shamefull, & spyte-full wordes, as in the Psal. xxii. c.

b* O earth couer not my bloude, that is, as Rabi. Abrahã exponeth it, hyde not my bloude so but that it be auenged, lett not the auengemente therof be vnknowẽ, but opẽ vnto all mens eyes: as was the auẽgemente of Dathan and Abiram, whom the earth swalo-wed Num. xvi. e ye may also expoũd it thus, Hyde not my bloude, but let it testifye and wytnesse myne innocency, as dyd the bloud of Abell, of whõ we reade ꝑ his bloude cried from the erth. Gene. iiii. b.

¶ Job sayth that he consumeth away, and yet doth patiently abyde hys

The. xvii. Chapter.

MY breth faileth, my dayes are shortened. I am hard at dea-thes dore. I haue disceaued
A no man, yet muste myne eye continue in heynesse. O de-liuer me, and set me by the: who shall then be able to thruste my handes to geather? Thou hast withholdẽ their hertes frõ vnderstandynge, therefore shall they not be lett vpon hye. He promyseth hys frendes parte of hys good, but his owne chyldren B spẽde it. He hath made me as it were a by worde of the comon people. I am his gestynge stocke amonge thẽ. My coũtenaũ-ce is heuye for verye anger, & the mẽbres of my bodye are become lyke a shadowe. Vertuous men therfore shal wel cõsydre this, & the innocent shall take part agaĩst
C the ypocrite,

The righteous wil kepe his waye, & he that hath cleane hãdes, will euer be stõger & stõger. As for you, turne you, & get you hence, for I cannot se one wyse mã amõg you. My dayes ar past, my thoughtes are vanished awaye, which haue vexed myne D herte, chaunging the night in to daye, and the light into darcknes. Though I tarye neuer so moche, yet the graue is my house, and I must make my bed in the darcke. I cal corruptiõ my father, & the wormes call I my mother & my syster. What helpeth then my longe tarying? Or, who wyl fulfyl the thing, that I loke for? All that I haue, shal go downe into the pytt, & lye wyth me in the dust.

C Baldad reherseth the paynes of the vnrighteous wycked.

The.xviii.Chapter.

Thé answered Baldad ỹ Shuhite, & sayd: whê wyl *ye make an ende of youre wordes? Marcke well, & consydre, we wyll speake also. Wherefore ar we coũted as beastes, & reputed so vyle in youre syghte? Why destroyest thou thy selfe wyth anger? Shal ỹ earth be forsakẽ or the stones remoued oute of theyr place because of the? Shall not the lighte of the D vngodly be put out? ye ỹ flame of his fyre shal not burne. The light shalbe darcke in hys dwelling, & hys candle shalbe put out wythe hym. Hys presumptuous goinges shall be kept in, & hys owne councell shall caste hym downe. For hys fete shalbe takẽ in the net, and he shall walcke in the snare. Hys fote shalbe holden in the gylder, and the thrustte shall catche hym. The snare is layed for hym in the ground, and a pitfall in the waye.

A Then Job and soch as thou.

Fearfulnes shal make him afrayed on euerye syde, that he shal not knowe, where to get out. Hõger shalbe his substaunce, & myshortune shal hange vpõ him. He shall eate the strength of his skinne, a* the firste borne of death shal eate hys membres. All hys cõforte & hope shalbe roted out of his dwellinge, verye fearfulnesse shall bringe hym to the king. b* Other men shal dwell in hys house (whych nowe is none of hys) and brymstone shall be scatered vpon hys habitation. Hys rotes shalbe dryed vp beneth, and aboue shall hys harvest be cutte downe. Hys remembraunce shal perishe frõ D the earth, and hys name shall not be prayse in the stretes: he shalbe dryuen frõ the lyght into darknes, and be cast cleane out of the world. He shal nether haue chylder nor kynsfolckes amonge hys people, nor eny posterite in hys countrey: younge and olde shall be astonished at hys death. Sorthe are nowe thee dwellynges of thee wycked, and thys thee place of hym that knoweth not God.

The Notes:

a* That is, an horrible and sodayne death Some reade the prince of death.

b* Or, she shal dwel, that is to saye his wyfe wythoute hym.

C Job recyteth his mysseryes and grenouse paynes He prophecieth of the generall resurrection.

The.xix.Chapter.

Job answered: & sayde: howe long wyl ye vexe my mynde: A & trouble me wythe wordes? Lo, ten tymes haue ye reproued me: are ye not ashamed, for to laugh me to skorne? yf I go wrong I go wrong to my selfe. But yf ye wyl enhaunce your selues agaynste me, & accuse me to be a wicked person because of ỹ shame that is come vpõ me: knowe this then, that it is God, whych hath handled me so violentlye and hath compassed me aboute with hys scourges. Behold, though I crye yet violence is done vnto me, I cannot be herde: Though I complayne, ther is none to geue sentence wyth me. He hath hedged vp my path, I cãnot get away, he hath set darcknes in my gate. He hath spoyled me B of myne honoure & takẽ the a* crowne awaye fro my head. He hathe destroyed me on euerye syde, & I am vndone: My hope hath he taken away fro me, as it were a tre pluckte vp by the rote. His wrath is kindled agaynst me, he taketh me, as though I were hys enemye.

His men of warre came together, which made theyr way ouer me, and besieged my dwelling rounde aboute. He hath put my brethrẽ farre away fro me, & soch as were of myne acquayntaũce, are become straũgers vnto me. Myne owne kynsfolkes haue forsakẽ me, & my frẽdes haue put me oute of remẽbrãce. The seruãtes & maydens of myne owne house take me for a strãger, & I am become as an aleaũt in their syghte. Whẽ I cal vpon my seruaũt, he geueth me me no answere: no though I pray hym w my mouth. Myne owne wyfe maye not abyde my breth, I am kaynte to speak faire vnto the childzen of mine awne body. Ye ꝑ very desert fooles despise me, & whē I am gone from them, they speak euil vpon me All soche as were my moste faumliers, abhorre me: & they whom I loued best, are turned agaynst me. My bone hangeth to my

D skinne, & my flesshe is a waye, only there is left me the skynne about my teth. Haue pyte vpō me, haue pyte vpō me (O ye my frēdes) for the hand of the lord hath touched me. Wherfore do ye persecute me[b] * as God, & e * are not satisfyed of my flesshe?

O that my wordes were writtē, O ꝑ they were put in a boke: wolde God they were grauen w an yron penne in leade or in stone. For I am sure, that my redemer lyueth, & that I shall ryse out of the earth in ꝑ latter daye: that I shall be clothed agayne w this skynne, & se god in my flesh.
* Nota ye fautge of Job
Yee I my selfe shall behold hym, not wyth other but wythe these same eyes. My reynes ar consumed within me, whē ye saye: Wherfore do not we persecute hī? we haue foūde an occasyon agaīst hym. But beware of the swearde, for the swearde wylbe auēged of wyckednesse and be sure, that ther is a iudgemente.

The Notes.

a * Rabi Abraham vnderstandethe by the croune, the dignitye that comethe to the ryche by the meanes of theyr rychesse: for al mē haue the ryche in honoure, all thoughe some vnderstande thereby his childzen, as in the Prouer. The crowne of olde men are theyr childzens childzen. Other some, vnderstand the dygnytye that came vnto him of his wysdom & cunninge. So Jobs meaning is, that of a worshypfull & ryche man, he is become poore and despysed.

b * The Hebrues reade as they do, meaninge the cruell which are not satysfyed wythe his flesshe, soche wold he not that his frīndes shuld counterfet.

c * Are not satysfyed of my flesshe. To eate & be satisfyed of a mannes flesshe, is a borowed speache takē both in the good & euel part. In the good parte it sygnyfieth to loue, to iudge kyndly, and then at the length to fall to prating. In the euell parte, it is cruelly and beastly to mistake, & (as it were) to teare with spiteful and haynouse wordes.

Sophar saith, that the vnfaithful, the couetouse and the wycked shall haue a shorte ende.

The. xx. Chapter.

THen answered Sophar the Naamathite, & said: For the same cause doo my thoughtes cōpel me to āswere, And why? my mynde is tossed here and there. I haue suffyciently herd thy checkynge and reproffe, therfore am I purposed to make answere after myne vnderstandyng. Knowest thou not thys, namely: that from the begynnynge (euer sence the creacion of man vpō earthe) the praise of the vngodly hathe bene shorte, and that the ioye of ypocrites cōtinued but ꝑ twinklynge of an eye? Though he be magnifyed vp to ꝑ heauē, so that his head reacheth vnto the cloudes: yet he perisheth at ꝑ last lyke dounge: In somoch that they whych haue sene hym, saye: Where is he? He vanysheth as a dreame, so that he cā no more be founde, & passeth away as a visyon in the nyghte. So ꝑ the eye which sawe hym before, getteth now no sight of him, & his place knoweth hym nomore. His childzen go a begynge, theyr hādes bring thē to sorow and heuynesse.
B
Frō his youth his bones ar full of vice, which shall lie downe w hym in ꝑ earthe. Whē wyckednes is swete in hys mouth, he hideth it vnder his tōg. That he fauoureth, ꝑ wyll he not forsake, but kepeth it close in his throte. The meate ꝑ he eateth, shall be turned to the poysō of serpentes, wtin his body. The ryches that he deuoureth, shall he perforce agayne, for God shall draw them out of his belye * he shal suck ꝑ serpentes heed, & the adders tonge shal slay him: so that he shal nomore se the ryuers & brokes of hony & butter: But laboure shal he, & yet haue nothinge to eate. Great trauayle shall he make for ryches, but he shall not enioye thē. And why? he hath oppressed the poore, & not helped thē: houses hath he spoyled, & not builded thē. Hys belye coude neuer be filled, therefore shal he perish in his couetousnes. He de-uoured so gredely, that he left nothyng behid, therfore his goodes shalnot prospere. Though he had plenteousnesse of euerye thynge, yet was he poore, and therfore he is but a wretch on euery syde.
C
D

For though the wicked haue neuer somoch to fil his bely, yet god shal send hys wrath vpon him, & cause hys battayll to raygne ouer hym: so that yf he fle the yron weapēs, he shalbe shot wyth the stele bowe The arowe shalbe takē forth, & go oute at his backe, and a glistering sweard thorow the gall of hym, feare shal come vpon him b* There shal no darknes be able to hyde him. And vnkindled fyre shal cōsume him and loke what remayneth in hys house, it shalbe destroyed. The heauen shal declare hys wyckednes, & the earth shall take part agaynst him. The substaunce that he hath in his house, shalbe taken away & perysshe, in the daye of the Lordes wrathe. This is the portion that thee wycked shall haue of God, and thee heretage that he maye loke for of the Lord.

The Notes.

a* He shal sucke the serpētes head. ꝑ is, he shalbe subiect to all cursednes & suffer al maner sorowes. It is soch a maner of speach as is before in the. xv. b, of drinking wickednes b* That is, he cannot hyde hym from perelles.

¶ Iob recyteth the prosperite of ꝑ wicked, & after declareth theyr sodayn ruyne and destruction.

The. xxi. Chapter.

A

Iob answered, & sayd: O heare my wordes, & amende youre selues. Suffre me a lyttle, ꝑ I may speake also, and then laughe my wordes to scorne, yf ye wyll. It is wyth a man, that I make this disputatiō: Wherfore yf it were so, shulde not my spyryte be then in sore trouble: Marke me wel, be abashed, & lay your hāde vpon youre mouth. For whē I ponder & consyder this, I am afrayed, & my flesh is smytten wyth feare. Wherfore do wicked men lyue in health and prosperite, come to theyr olde age, & increase in ryches: Theyr chylders chyldren lyue in theyr syght, and theyr generacion before theyr eyes. Theyr houses ar safe from al feare, for the rodde of God doth not smyte thē. Their bullock gendreth, and that not oute of tyme: theyr cowe calueth, and is not vnfrutefull.

They send forth their childrē by flockes, & theyr sonnes leade ꝑ daūce. They beare with them tabrettes and harpes, and haue instrumētes of unsycke at their pleasure. They spende theyr dayes in welthynesse: but sodenlye they go downe to hell. They saye vnto God: go from vs, we desyre not the knowledge of thy wayes. What maner of felowe is the Almightie, ꝑ we shulo serue hym: What profyt shulde we haue, to submyt oure selues vnto hym: Lo, ther is vtterly no goodnes in thē, therfore wyll not I haue to do wythe the councell of the vngodly. Howe ofte shal the candle of the wicked be put out: howe ofte cometh their destruction vppon them: O what sorowe shall God geue them for theyr part in his wrath: Yea they shalbe euen as chaf before the wynde, and as duste that the storme caryeth awaye.

C

And thoughe God saue theyr chyldren frō soch sorow, yet wyl he so reward them selues, that they shal know it. Their owne destruction and myserye shall they se with their eyes, & drinke of the fearful wrath of the Almightie. For what careth he, what become of his housholde after hys death: whose monethes passe away swyfter then an arow. In as moche then as God hathe the hyest power of all, who can teache hym any knowledge: One dyeth now when he is myghtie and at his best, riche, & in prosperite: euē when hys ‡ bowelles are at the fattest, & his bones ful of marye. Another dyeth in sorowe & heuynesse, & neuer hadd good dayes. Nowe slepe they both a lyke in the earth, & thee wormes couer thē. But I knowe what ye thinke, yea and what ye ymagin against me vnrighteousli. For ye saye: where is the Prynces palace: where is the dwellyng of the vngodly: Aske eny man that goeth by the waye, & (yf he wyll not regarde their tokens & dedes) he shall tel you, that the wycked is kepte vnto the day of destruction, and that the vngodlye shalbe brought forth in the day of wrath. Who darre reproue him for his wayes to his face: who rewardethe him for the vngraciousnes that he doth: Yet shall he be brought to hys graue, and watch among ꝑ heape of the deed. Then shal he be layne to be buryed amonge the stones by ꝑ broke syde. All men must folowe hym, & there ar innumerable gone before hym. O how vayne is the comforte that ye geue me: Are not youre answeres cleane contrarye to ryght and treuth:

‡ after the Greke. Some reade pappes.

D

¶ Eliphaz reprehendethe Iob of vnmercyfulnesse.

The. xxii. Chapter.

Then Eliphas the Themanyte gaue answere, & sayd: Maye a man be cōpared vnto God

in

in wyldō, though he seme to hym self, for to be lyke hym? What pleasure hath god in that thou art righteous? Or what doth it profite hym, that thy wayes are perfect? Is he afrayed to reproue thee, & to steppe forth with the into iudgement? Commeth not this for the great wickednes, & for thyne vngratious dedes which ar innumerable? Thou hast take the pledge frō thy bre thre for noughte, and robbed the naked of their clothing: To soch as were wery, hast
B thou geuen no water to drinke, thou haste withdrawe bred frō the hungrye: Shuld soche one then as blethe violence, wronge and oppression (doinge all thing of partialite, & hauinge respect of personnes) dwell in the lande? Thou haste sente wyddowes awaye emptye and oppressed the poore fatherlesse.

Therfore art thou cōpased about with snares on euery syde, & sodēly vexed with feare. Shuldest thou the se no darknesse? Shuld not the waterflode rūne ouer the? Now because ỹ God is hyer the the heues and because thou seyst ỹ the starres are so hye, wilt thou therfore saye: Tushe, howe shuld God know? Doth his domintō reache beiond the cloudes? Tush, the cloudes couer him that he may not se, for he dwelleth in heaue. Wel, thou wilt kepe the olde way, that al wicked men haue gone: bothe olde & young, whose foūdatiō is a rūning water, which saye vnto God: go frō vs, & after this maner: Tush, what wyl the Almightie do vnto vs? wher as he (not withstanding) fylleth their houses w al good. Which meaning of the vngodly be farre fro me. For with ioye shal ỹ godly, & with gladnes shal the innocent se, that their increase shal be hewen downe, & their posterite consumed with fyre.

Therfore reconcile the vnto God, & be contēt, so shal al thinges prosper w. ỹ right wel. Receaue the law at his mouth, and laye vp his wordes in thine hert. For yf ỹ
D wilt turne to the Almightie, thou shalt stā de fast, & al vnrighteousnes shall be farre from thy dwellinge: He shall geue the an harueste, which in plenty & aboūdaūce shal exceade the dust of the erth, & the golde of Ophir, like ryuer stones. Yea the Almigh tye hys owne selfe shalbe thine harueste, & the heape of thy moneye. Then shalt thou haue thy delyte in the Almightie, & lyft vp thy face vnto God. Then shalte thou make thy prayer vnto hym, & he shal heare the, and thou shalt kepe thy promyses. Then, loke what thou takest in hand, he shal make it to prospere with the, & the lighte shal shyne in thy wayes. For who so humbleth hym selfe, hym shall be set vp: and who so lokethe meakelye, shall be healed. Yf thou be innocent, he shall saue the: and thorowe thee vngyltynesse of thyne handes shalte thou be delyuered.

Job affirmeth that he both knoweth & feareth the power & sentence of the iudge, & sayth that he hathe walked in hys rygh̄teousnesse.

The. xxiiii. Chapter.

Job answered, and sayd: My saying is yet this daye in bit-
A ternes, & my hāde heuy amōg my groninges. O ỹ I might se him & fynde hym: O that I myghte come before hys seate, to pleate my cause before him, and to fyl my mouth wyth argumētes. That I myght know, what answere he wolde geue me: & that I myghte vnderstande, what he wolde saye vnto me. Wyl he pleate agaynst me wyth hys greate power and strength, or wyll he
B leane hym selfe vtterlye vpon me? Oh no: let hym not do so wyth me. But lette hym geue me lyke power to go to the lawe, then am I sure to win my matter. For though I go before, I fynde hym not: Yf I come behynde, I can get no knowledge of him: Yf I go on the left syde to ponder his workes, I cannot attayne vnto them. Agayne yf I go on the righte syde, he hydeth hym selfe, that I cannot se hym. But as for my waye, he knoweth it: and tryeth me as the golde in the fyre.

Neuerthelcs my fete kepe his path, hys hye strete haue I holdē, and not gone oute of it. I haue not forsakē the cōmaūdement
C of his lippes, but loke what he chargedme with his mouth, ỹ haue I shutte vp in my hette. It is he him self alone, who wyl turne him backe? He doth as him listethe, and bringeth to passe what he will. He rewardeth me into my bosome, & many other thinges mo doth he, as he may by hys power. Thys is the cause, that I shrincke at hys
D presence, so that when I consydre hym, I am afrayed of him. For in so moche as he is God, he maketh my herte soft: & seynge that

that he is Almightie, he putteth me in fea re. Thus cā not I get out of darknes, the cloude hath ſo couered my face.

¶ Iob deſcribeth the wyckednes of mē, & ſheweth what curſſe belongeth to the wycked.

The. xxiiii. Chapter.

WHy conſyderynge then that there is no tyme hyd frō ỹ Almigh tye, howe happeneth it, that they which knowe hym, wyll not regard his dayes? For ſo me men there be, that remoue other mens landemarkes: that robbe them of their ca= tel, and kepe the ſame for theyr owne: that dryue awaye the aſſe of the fatherleſſe: ỹ take the wyddowes oxe for a pledge: that thruſt the poore oute of the waye, and op preſſe the ſymple of the worlde togeather. Behold, the wylde aſſes in the deſerte goo by tymes, as theyr maner is, to ſpoy= le: Yee the very wylderneſſe mynyſtreth foode for their children. They reape the corne feld that is not their owne: & gather the grapes out of his vineyard, whō they haue oppreſſed by vyolence. They ar the cauſe that ſo manye men are naked and bare, haupnge no clothes to couer them & kepe them from colde: So that when the ſhowers in the mountaines haue rained vp on them, & they be all wet, they haue none other ſuccoure, but to kepe them among the rockes.

They ſpoile the ſucking fatherles chil dre, & put the poore in preſon: In ſomoch that thei let thē go naked wout clothyng, & yet the hungrye beare the ſheeues. The poore ar faine to labour in their oyle mil= les, ye & to treade in their wyne preſſes, & yet to ſuffre thirſt. The whole citie cryeth vnto the lord with ſyghyng, the ſoules of ỹ ſlaine make their complaynte. But God deſtroyeth them not for all this, where as they (not withſtandinge) are rebellious & dy ſobedient enemyes: whych ſeke not his lighte & waye, ner turne agayne in to hys path. Tymely in the morninge do they a= ryſe, to murther the ſimple and poore, & in the nyght they go a ſtealynge.

The eie of the vngodly is like ỹ aduou terer, ỹ waiteth for ỹ darckneſſe, & ſayeth thus in him ſelfe: Tuſh, ther ſyal no mā ſe me, & ſo he diſgiſeth his face. In ỹ nighte ſeaſon thei ſearch the houſes, and hyde thē ſelues in the day tyme, but wyl not know ỹ light. For as ſoone as the day breaketh, the ſhadowe of death cōmeth vpō them, & thei go in horrible darknes. The vngodli is very ſwyft: & ỹ his portion alſo vpon erth were ſwifter thē ỹ rūning water whi= ch ſuffreth not ỹ ſhipmā to behold ỹ faire & pleaſaūt vineyardes. & ỹ thei (for ỹ wic kedneſſe which they haue done) were dra= wē to ỹ hel, ſoner thē ſnow melteth at the heat. & ỹ al cōpaſſiō vpō the were forgot tē: ỹ their dainties were wormes, that thei were cleane put out of remēbraūce, & vtter ly hewen downe like an vntruteful tree. For they mainteine ỹ baren, & make thē ỹ they cā not beare, & vnto widowes thei do no good. They pluck downe ỹ mightie vō theyr power, & when thei thē ſelues ar got ten vp, they are neuer without feare, as lō ge as they lyue. And though they myghte be ſafe, yet they wil not receaue it, for their eyes loke vpon their owne wayes. They are exalted for a lytle, but ſhortly are they gone, brought to extreame pouerte, & take out of the waye: yee & vtterly plucte of, as ỹ eares of corne. Is it not ſo? Who wyll then reproue me as a lyar, & ſaye that my wordes are nothynge worthe?

¶ Baldad proueth that no mā is cleane & with out fynne before God.

The. xxv. Chapter.

THen āſwered Baldad ỹ Su hite, & ſaid: Power & feare is wt him about, ỹ maketh pea= ce, ſittig in his highnes, whoſe mē of warre ar innumera= ble, & whoſe light ariſeth ouer al, but how maye a mā cōpared vnto God, be iuſtyfi= ed? Or, how can he be cleane, that is borne of a womā? Beholde, the Moone ſhineth nothing in cōparyſon to hym, and ỹ ſtar= res ar vncleane in his ſyght. How moche more then mā, ỹ is but corrupciō: & ỹ ſon ne of man, which is but a worme?

¶ Iob ſheweth that mā can not helpe god, and pro ueth it by hys myracles.

The. xxvi. Chapter.

IOb anſwered, & ſaid: O how helpeſt thou ỹ weake? what cō forte geueſte thou vnto him ỹ hath no ſtrengthe? Where is ỹ counceil that thou ſhul= deſte geue him, whiche hathe no wyſdom?

Wyte

Wotlte thou so shew thyne excellent rygh-B tuousnes? Before whom hast thou spoke those wordes? Who made the brethe to come out of ỹ mouth? The giauntes & worthies ỹ are slayne, & lye vnder the worlde wt their companyons: yee & all they which dwell benethe in the hell are not hyd from him, and the very destructiõ it self cã not be kepte oute of his syghte. He stretchethe
C out the north ouer the emptye, & hangethe the earth vpon nothyng. He byndeth the water in hys cloudes, that they falle not downe togeather. He holdeth bak his stou le, that it can not be sene, and spredeth hys cloudes before it.

He hath cõpased the waters wt certaine boundes, vntyll ỹ day & night come to an D ende. The very pillers of a* heauẽ trẽble & quake at hys reproke. He stylleth ỹ see wt his power, & thorow hys wysdom hath he set forth ỹ world. With his spryte hath he garnisshed the heauẽs, & wt his hãd hath he wounded ỹ rebellyous serpẽt. This is now a shorte summe of his doynges: But who is able sufficyentlye to rehearse hys workes? Who can perceaue & vnderstande the thondre of his power,

The Notes.

a* Deus & erth haue properly no pylers ner any thynge to leane to ỹ shuld sustaine & bere them vp, as it apereth of the earth, aboue in this chapter: but Job taketh his similytude of our erthly buyldinges because his heaters shuld so the soner understand hym.

¶ The cõstantnes and perfectnes of Job, & ỹ parte of the vnfayethfull with God,

The.xxvii.Chapter.

A Nd Job proceaded & wente forth in his cõmunicatiõ, say ing: As truly as God lyueth (which hath takẽ away myne po wer fro me) & ỹ Almyghtye, ỹ hath vexed my mind: My lippes shall tal ke of no vanite, and my tonge shall speake no dysceate, whyle my brethe is in me, & as longe as the wynde (that God hathe geuen me) is in my nostrels.

God forbidde, ỹ I shuld graunt your cause to be ryght. As for me, vntyll myne end come wil I neuer goo fro myne inno-B cẽcy. My ryghtwes dealyng kepe I fast, which I wil not forsake: my hert shal not reproue me of my daies a* Therfore myne enemy shalbe fouũd as the vngodly, & he ỹ taketh parte agaynst me, as the vnrighteu ous. What hope hath ỹ ypocrite, thoughe he haue great good, and though god gyue hym ryches after his hertes desyre? Doth God heare him the soner, whẽ he crieth vn to him in his necessite? Hath he suche plea sure and delyte in the almighty, ỹ he darre alwaye call vpõ God? I wyll teache you in the name of god: and the thinge that I C hauc of the Almightie, wil I not kepe frõ
you. Beholde, ye stãde in your owne conceat, as though he knew al thinges. Wherfore then do ye go about with suche vaine wordes, sayig: This is ỹ porcion that thee wicked shal haue of God, & the heritage ỹ Tyrauntes shall receaue of the Almyghtitie. If he get many chyldrẽ, they shall perish with the swearde, & hys posterite shal haue scarcnesse of brede. Loke whõ he lea ueth behinde him, they shal dye & be bury-ed, & no mã shal haue pite of hys wyddowes. Thoughe he haue as moche moneye as the duste of the earth, & raymẽt as rea-dye as the claye, he maye well prepare it:
but the godly shall put it vpon hym, & ỹ innocẽt shal deale out the money. His hou se shal endure as the moth, and as a booth that the watch mã maketh. When ỹ ryche mã dyeth, he carieth nothynge withe him:
he is gone in ỹ twinckelyng of an eye. Destruction taketh holde vpon hym as a water floude, & the tempest stealeth him away in ỹ night season. A vehement wynd carieth him hẽce, and departeth: a storme pluc keth him oute of hys place. It ruscheth in vpon him, and sparethe hym not, he maye not escape frõ the power therof. Thẽ clap men their hãdes at him, yee & iest of hym, when they loke vpon his place.

The Notes.

a* Understand, misse spent. He meanethe ỹ he wil not suffre that his cõscience de faute, and that he wyl not haue an euel conscyence for misse spendyng of his lyfe time, in which he had lyued moste innocently.

¶ Iob sheweth that the wysdom of God is vnsearchable.

The.xxviii.Chapter.

THere are places where syluer is molten, & wher golde is tri A ed: where yron is dygged out of the ground, and stones re-solued to metall. The darck nesse shall once come to an ende, he can seke aute the grounde of all thynges: the stones, the darcke, & the horrible shadow.

Now the

With the ryuer of water parteth he a sunder the straūge people, ꝑ knoweth no good neyghbourheade: soch as are rude, vnmanerly & boystoures. He brīgeth fode out of ꝑ erth, & that which is vnder, cōsumeth he wt fyre. There is founde a place, whose
B stones are cleane Saphirs, & wher ꝑ clottes of ꝑ erth are gold. Ther is a way also ꝑ ꝑ byrdes know not, that no vulturs eye hath sene: wherin ꝑ proude & hye mynded walke not, & where no lyon cōmeth: Ther putteth he his hand vpō the stony rockes, and ouerthroweth the moūtaines. Riuers flow out of the rockes, & loke what is pleasaunt, his eye seyth it. Out of droppes brīgeth he great floudes together, & the thīge that is hyd bringeth he to light. Howe
C cōmeth a mā thē by wysdome? Wher is ꝑ place that mē fynde vnderstanding? Verely no mā can tell howe worthy a thing she is, neyther is she founde in the lande of ꝑ lyuyng. The depe saieth: she is not in me. The see sayethe: she is not with me. She can not be gotten for the most fine golde, nether may ꝑ price of her be bought wyth enye moneye: No wedges of golde of Ophir, no precyous Onix stones, no Saphirs mai be cōpared vnto her. No, nether gold ner Christal, nether swete odours ner goldē plate. There is nothing so worthy, or so excellent, as ones to be named vnto her: for perfect wysdome goeth farre beyō de them al. The Topas that cōmeth oute of Inde, maye in no wise be lickened vnto her: yee no maner of apparell howe pleasaunt and fayre so euer it be.

D From whēce then cōmeth wysdome? & wher is the place of vnderstanding? She is hyd frō the eyes of al men, yee & frō the foules of ꝑ aire. Destructiō & death saie: we haue herd tel of her wt our eares. But God seyth her waye, & knoweth her place. For he beholdeth the endes of the worlde & loketh vpō al that is vnder heauen. Whē he weied ꝑ wyndes, & measured ꝑ waters: when he sett the rayne in ordre, & gaue the mightie floudes a law? Thē did he se her, thē declared he her, prepared her & knewe her. And vnto man he said: Behold, to feare ꝑ Lord, is wysdome: & to forsake euell, is vnderstandynge.

¶ Job cōplaineth of ꝑ prosperitie of the time past. Sutelye reprouyng hys kryndes of iniurye, because they said ꝑ Job suffered according to his deseruis

The. xxix. Chapter.

MOreouer Job proceaded and went forth in his communicacion. sayīg: O ꝑ I were as I was in ꝑ monethes by past, & in ꝑ A dayes when God preserued me: whē his lyght shyned vpō my heade: when I went after the same lyght & shynyng cuē thorow the darknes. As it stode wt me, when I was welthy & had ynough: whē God prospered my house: whē ꝑ Al- B mightie was with me: when my housholde folckes stode about me: whē my waies tāne ouer wythe butter, & when the stonye rockes gaue me riuers of oile: when I wēt thorow the citie vnto the gate, & whē they set me a chaire in the strete: whē the yōge men (as soone as they sawe me) hydd themselues, & when thee aged arose and stode vp vnto me: when the princes left of their talking, & laied theyr hād to their mouth: when the myghty kept styl their voyce, & whē their tōges cleued to the rofe of their mouthes. When al they that heard me, called me happye: and when all they that saw me, wysshed me good. For I deliuered the poore when he cryed, and the fatherlesse C that wanted help. He that shuld haue ben loste, gaue me a good worde and the wydowes herte praysed me. And why? I put vpon me *righteousnesse, which couered me as a garmente, and equyte was my crowne. I was an eye vnto the blind, and a fote to ꝑ lame. I was a father vnto thee poore, and when I knewe not their cause, I sought it out diligently. I brake ꝑ chaftes of the vnryghtuous, and pluct ꝑ spoyle out of their teth. note I plucke ꝑ spoyle oute of their yawes

Therfore, I thought verelye, ꝑ I shuld haue dyed in my nest: & ꝑ my dayes shuld haue bene as many as ꝑ sandes of the see. For my rote was spred out by ꝑ water side, & dewe lai vpō my corne. Mine honoure encreased more & more, & my bowe was euer the stronger in my hād. Vnto me mē gaue eare, me they regarded, & wt sylence they taried for my counsel. If I had spokē, they wolde haue it none other wayes: my wordes were so well taken among them. They wayted for me, as the erth doth for ꝑ rayne: & gaped vpon me, as the groūde doth to receaue the *latter shower. Whē I laughed, thei knew wel it was not earnest:

nesse: & this testymony of my countenaūce pleased thē nothing at al. When I agreed vnto their waye, I was the cheefe, & sat as a kīng among his seruauntes: Or as one that comforteth soche as be in heuynesse.

The Notes.

a* This ryghtwesnes is no nother thing, thā to lyue iustly amōgst mē, hurting no mā & geuyng vnto euery mā that whiche belongeth vnto him Gene.xxx.e. & Psal.xv.a.

b* By ỹ latter shower is vnderstand holesome doctryne whych causeth iustice & iudgement to sprynge.

¶ The great despyte of men & curse of God that Job suffereth. The.xxx.Chapter.

A BUt now they ỹ are myne inferiours & yoūger then I, haue me in derisiō: yee euē they, whose fathers I wold haue thought scorne to haue set wt ỹ dogges of my catel. The power & strēgth of theyr hādes might do me no good, & as for their age, it is spēt & past away wout any profit. For very mysery and honger, they wēt aboute in ỹ wildernesse lyke wretches & beggers, pluckinge vp herbes frō among the busshes, & ỹ Junipers rote was their meate. And whē thet were dryuen forthe, men cried after them, as it had bene after a theefe. Their dwelling was beside foule brokes, yee in ỹ caues & dēnes of the earth. Vpon ỹ drye heeth wēte they aboute cryinge, & in the brome hylles they gathered them together. They were ỹ chyldren of fooles & vylaynes, which are deed away frō the world. Now am I their sōg, & am become theyr teasting stock: they abhorre me, they flee farre fro me, & staine my face with spetle. For the lord hath opened his quiuer, he hath hytt me, & put a brydle in my mouth. Upō my right hād thet rose to geather agaynste me, they haue hurte my fete, made a waye to destroye me, and my pathe haue they clene marred. It was so easy for thē to do me harme, that thet needed no mā to helpe them. They fell vpon me, as it had bene the breakyng in of waters, & came in by heapes to destroye me. Fearfulnesse is turned agaynst me.

Myne honoure vanysheth away more swyftly thē wind, & my prosperite departeth hēce like as it were a cloud. Therfore is my mind poured ful of heuinesse, & the dayes of trouble haue takē hold vpō me. My bones ar pearsed thorow in ỹ nyght season, & my sinewes take no rest. Wt thal their power haue thei chaūged my garmente, & girded me therwt, as it were wt a coate. I am cuē as it were clay, & am become like asshes & dust. Whē I crie vnto the, ỹ doest not heare me: & though I stād before ỹ, yet thou regardest me not. Thou art become myne enemye, & wt thy vyolent hād ỹ takeste part agaynst me. In tymes past thou didest set me vpō hie, as it were aboue ỹ winde, but now hast thou geuē me a very sore fal. Sure I am, ỹ thou wilt deliuer me vnto death: wher as a lodgyng is prepared for al men lyuing. Now vse not mē to do vyolēce vnto thē, ỹ are destroyed al ready: but wher hurte is done, there vse thei to helpe. Wid not I wepe in ỹ tyme of trouble? Had not my soule cōpassiō vpon ỹ poore? Yet neuertheless where as I loked for good, euel hapened vnto me: and where as I wayted for lyght, there came darckneste. My bowels seeth wīn me, & take no rest, for ỹ dayes of my trouble are come vpō me. Mekeli & lowly came I in, yee & wout any displeasure: I stode vp in the congregacyon, & cōmuned with them. But now, I am a cōpanion of dragons, & a felow of Estriches. My skinne vpō me his turned to black, & my bones are brent with heate: my harp is turned to sorow, & my pype to weppynge.

B

C

D

¶ Job recyteth the innocencye of his lyuynge and nombre of his vertues.

The.xxxi.Chapter.

I a* Made a couenaunt wythe mine eies, ỹ I wolde not loke vpon a dāsel. For howe greate a porciō shal I haue of god frō aboue? & what enheritaūce from ỹ almyghtie on hye? As for ỹ vngodly & he ỹ toyneth him self to ỹ cōpanie of wicked doers shal not destructiō & misery come vpō hi? Doth not he se my wayes, & al my goynges. If I haue cleued vnto vanite or yf my fete haue runne to dysceaue: let me be weyed in an euen balaunce, that God mai se my innocētie. If so be that I haue withdrawne my fote oute of the right way, yf my heart hathe folowed mine eie sight, yf I haue stayned or defiled my handes: O then is it reason ỹ I sowe, & another eate, yee that my generacion and posterite be cleane roted oute. If my herte hathe lysted after my neyghboures

wyfe

E

wyfe, or yf I haue layde wayt at his doze.
O that let my wyfe be another mās harlot & let other lye wyth her. For this is a wyckednes & synne, that is worthy to be punis shed, yea a fyre that vtterly shulde consu-B me. & rote out al my substāce. Wyd I euer thinke scorne to do right vnto my seruāts & maydēs, whē thei had any matter agaīst me. But seing ỹ God wyl syt in iudgemēt what shal I do? And for so moch as he wil nedes viset me, what answere shal I geue him? He that fashioned me in my mothers wōbe, made he not hym also? were we not both shapē a lyke in our mothers bodies?
Wohē the pooze desyzeth any thing at me, haue I denied it them? Haue I caused the wyddow stand wayting for me in vayne?
Haue I eatē my pozciō alone, that the fa-therles hath had no part wt me? for mercy grew vp with me fro my youth, & cōpassiō C fro my mothers wombe. Haue I sene any mā perish thorow nakednes & wāt of clothing? Or any pooze man for lack of raymēt, whose sides thanked me not, because he was warmed with ỹ wolle of my shepe Wyd I euer lift vp myne hand to hurt the fatherles? yea in the gate wher I sawe my self to be in auctozite: thē let myne arme fal fro my shulder, & myne arme holes be brokē frō the ioyntes. For I haue euer feared ỹ vengeaūce & punishmēt of God, & knew very wel, ỹ I was not able to bear his burthē. Haue I put my trust in golde?
Or haue I sayd to the fynest golde of all:
thou arte my cōfydence? Haue I reioysed because my substāce was great, & because my hand gat so moch? Did I euer greatly b* regard the rysinge of ỹ sunne? or had I the going downe of the moone in great re-putaciō? Hath my hert medled pzyuely wt any disceat? Or, did I euer kisse mine owne hande? that were a wyckednesse worthy to be punished, for then shuld I haue denied the God that is aboue. Haue I euer reioy-sed at the hurt of myne enemy? Or was I euer glad, ỹ any harme happened vnto hi?
Oh no. I neuer suffred my mouth to doo D soch a syn, as to wysh him euel. Yet thei of mine owne houshold saye: who shal let vs to haue our belly ful of his flesshe? I haue not suffred a straūger to lie wout, but ope ned my dozes vnto hi. Haue I euer done a ny wicked dede wher thorow I shamed my self before men: or any abhominaciō, ỹ I was faine to hide it? For yf I had feared ani great multitude of people: or yf I had bene diſpised of the simple, Or thā shuld I haue bene afrayed. Thus haue I quyetly spēt my life, & not gone oute at ỹ doze. O that I had one which wold heare me. Lo, this is my cause. Let ỹ almighty geue me āswere: & let him that is my contrary party, sue me wt a libel. Then shall I take it vpon my shulder, & as a garlād about my head. I haue told ỹ nōber of my goinges, & declared thē vnto hym as to a Pzynce.
But yf case be that my *lād crye against me, or ỹ the forowes therof make any cōplaynt: yf I haue eatē ỹ frutes therof vn payed for, yee yf I haue greued any of ỹ plowinē, thē let thystles grow in steade of nota my wheate, & thornes for my barlye. thactes of Job
Here ende the wordes of Job. my boke

The Notes.

a* To make a couenaūt with his eies, is, to mortifie ỹ cōcupiscēce of the hert, that cōmeth by the meanes of the eie: whyche is to plucke out the eye, as is saide Mat. v. e.

b* To regard the rysyng of the sonne & the goīg downe of ỹ mone, is, to be glorious in pzosperite, & to vse the thinges of this worlde to pleasure. Jere. xxb. c. For on them that be in pzosperite is the sonne counted to shine, & the mone to go downe pzecyously & pleasātly: & on the contrary parte, to thē that be in tribulacyō, are both the sonne & ỹ mone coū ted cloudy and darcksome.

c* The lande cryeth agaynst him, whē the housbend men defrauded of their wages crie therfore agaynste hym: so the hyre of ỹ wozk men cryeth. Jaco. b a. And the forowes make lamentacion, when they ỹ plowe the groun de and make the forowes, are deprpued of theyr dutye.

Eliu after the other had fynished theyr communication, repzoueth them of folishnes. Age maketh not a man wyse, but the spzete of God.

The. xxxii. Chapter.

SO these thre mē wold stryue nomoze with Job, because he held hī self a rightuous mā. But a* Eliu the sonne of Ba rachel the Bussite of ỹ kyn- red of Rā, was very sore displeased at Job ỹ he called him self iust before god. And wt Jobs thre frindes he was angrye also, because they had foūde no reasonable an- swere to ouercome him. Now taryed Eliu tyll they had ended theyr cōmunicaciō wt Job, for why they were elder then he. B So when Eliu the sonne of Barachell the Bussite sawe, that these thre men were not

not able to make Job ãſwere, he was miſ-content: ſo that he gaue anſwere him ſelfe, and ſayd: Conſydering, that I am young & ye be mẽ of aage, I was afrayed, & durſt not ſhew forth my minde, for I thoughte thus wythin my ſelfe: It becommeth olde men to ſpeake, & the aged to teache wiſdõ.
Euery mã (no doute) hath a mynde, but it is the inſpiratiõ of ỹ Almyghtie ỹ geueth vnderſtanding. Al mẽ are not wiſe, nether doth euery aged man vnderſtand the thin ge that is lawful. Therfore wyl I ſpeake alſo (in ſo farre as I may be heard) & wyll ſhew you myne opinion. For when I had wayted tyl ye made an ende of your talkin ge, & heard your wiſdõ, what argumentes ye made in your cõmunicatiõ: yea when I had diligẽtly pondred what ye ſaid, I foũ de not one of you that made any good ar-gumẽt againſt Job, or ỹ directly coud ma ke anſwere vnto his wordes: leſt ye ſhuld prayſe your ſelues, to haue foũd out wyſdõ: becauſe it is God that hath caſt hĩ out, D & no mã. Neuertheles, ſeynge he hath not ſpokẽ vnto me, therfore wyl not I ãſwere hym as ye haue done (for they were ſo abaſhed, that they could not make anſwere nor ſpeake one word) but in ſo moch as ye wyl not ſpeake, ſtanding ſtyl lykedoim mẽ and makinge no anſwere: I haue a good hope for my parte to ſhappe hĩ an ãſwere, and to ſhewe him my meanyng. For I am ful of wordes, & the ſpryte ỹ is within me, compellethe me.

Beholde, I am as the new wyne, whyche hathe no vente, and burſteth the newe veſſels in ſunder. Therefore wyll I ſpeake, that I may haue a vente: I wyll open my lippes, & make anſwere I wyll regarde no maner of perſonne, no mã wil I ſpare. For yf I wold go aboute to pleaſe mẽ, I knowe not howe ſone my maker wolde take me awaye.

The Notes.

a* S. Hierome in his treatiſe of ỹ tradicions of the Hebrues vpõ Geneſis ſayth, that this Elihu was ỹ Balaã, of whõ is ſpokẽ Numeri. xxii.

¶ Elihu ſheweth wherein Job offẽdeth. Withe God may we not ſtriue, nor curiouſly ſearche oute hys workes.

The. xxxiii. Chapter.

A Wherfore heare my word (O Job) & herkẽ vnto me al, that I wyll ſaye. Beholde, I wyl open my mouthe, and my tõge ſhal ſpeake out of my chawes. My hert ſhal ſpeake my wordes a right, & my lyppes ſhal talk of pure wiſdõ. The ſpryte of god hath made me, & ỹ breth of ỹ Almyghtie hath geuen me my lyfe, If thou canſt, then geue me anſwere: prepare thy ſelfe to ſtande before me face to face. Behold, before god am I euẽ as ỹ, for I am faſhyoned & made euen of the ſame mould. Therfore, thou nedeſt not be afrayed of me neither needeſt thou to feare, that my auctoryte ſhalbe to heuy for the. Now haſte thou B ſpoken in myne eares, & I haue herde the voice of thy wordes: I am clene wout any faute, I am innocent, & there is no wyckednes in me. But lo, he hath piked a quarell againſte me, & taketh me for hys enemy: he hath put my fote in ỹ ſtok, & loketh narowly vnto all my pathes. Behold, vnto theſe vnreaſonable wordes of thyne wyl I make anſwere.

Shulde god be reproued of mã? Why doeſt ỹ then ſtryue agaynſte him, becauſe he geueth ỹ no accõptes of al his doinges? For whẽ god doth once cõmaund a thing ther ſhulde no man be curious, to ſearche whether it be ryght. In dreames & viſiõs of the nyght ſeaſon (when ſlombringe cõmeth vpõ men, that thei fal a ſlepe in their beddes) he rowndeth thẽ in the eares, he inſourmeth them, and ſheweth them playnely, ỹ it is he, which withdraweth mã from euyll, delyuereth hym from pryde, kepethe hys ſoule from deſtruction, & his lyfe frõ the ſwearde. He chaſtenethe hym wythe ſyckneſſe, & bryngethe hym to hys bed: he laieth ſore puniſhment vpon his bones, ſo that hys lyfe maye awaye with no bred, & hys ſoule abhorreth to eate anye dayntye meate: In ſo moch that his body is cleane conſumed awaye, & his bones appeare no more. His ſoule draweth on to deſtructiõ, & his life to death. Now yf there be a* meſſenger (one among a thouſande) ſente for to ſpeake vnto man and to ſhew him the ryghte waye: then the Lorde is mercyfull vnto hym, & ſayeth. He ſhall be deliuered, D that he fal not downe to deſtructiõ, for I am ſufficiently reconciled. Than his fleſh (which hath bene in miſery & trouble) ſhal be as it was in hys youthe. For yf he ſubmytte hym ſelfe vnto God, he is gracyous, & ſhewethe hym hys coũtenaũce joyfully, & rewardeth man for his rightuous nes. Soche a respecte hathe he vnto men. Therfore let a mā confesse (and say) I of fended, but he hath chastened & refourned me: I dyd vnrightuously, neuertheles he hath not recompensed me therafter. Ye he hath deliuered my soule frō destructyon, & my lyfe, that it seith the lyghte. Lo, thus worcketh God alwaye with man, that he kepeth hys soule from perysshynge, & letteth hym enioye the lyght of the lyuynge. Marcke wel (O Job) and heare me: hold the stil, vntil I haue spoken. But yf thou hast any thinge to saye, then answere me, & speake, for thy answere pleaseth me. If thou hast nothinge, then heare me, & holde thy tonge, so shall I teache the wysdome.

¶ Eliu prayseth the iustice of god, whych iudgeth the worlde, and gouerneth all.

The. xxxiiii. Chapter.

Eliu proceading forth in hys cōmunicacyon, sayde: Heare my wordes (O ye wyse men) herkē vnto me, ye yͤ haue vnderstanding. For like as the mouth tasteth yͤ meates, so yͤ eare proueth & dyscerneth the wordes. As for the iudgemēt let vs seke it out amōge our selues, yͤ we may knowe what is ryght. And why? Job hath sayd: I am ryghtuous, but god dothe me wronge. I muste neades be a lier though my cause be right, and violently I am plaged where as I made no fawte: wher is ther soche one as Job, yͤ drynckyth vp scornefulnes like water? whyche goeth in yͤ cōpany of wicked doers, & walketh wͤ vngodly mē? For he saith: Thoughe a mā be good, yet is he naught before God. Therefore herken vnto me, ye that haue vnderstandynge.

Farre be it from God, that he shoulde medle with wickednes: and farre be it frō the almyghtye, yͤ he shulde medle wͤ vnryghtuous dealyng: but he rewardeth the worckes of man, and causeth euery mā to fynde accordinge to his wayes. For sure it is, that God condemneth no mā wrōgously, and the iudgement of the Almygtie is not vnryghtuousse. Who ruleth yͤ erth in hys steade? Or, whom hath he set to gouerne the whole worlde? To whom hathe he geuen hys herte, for to drawe his spyrete and breth vnto hym? All flesche shal come like before in the. xv. b

B

A

not affonded

nota

together vnto naught, & al men shal turne againe vnto earth. If thou now haue vnderstādyng, heare what I saye, & herkē to the voyce of my wordes.

Maye he be made whole, that loueth no right? If thou were a very innocent man, shuldest thou then be punished? For he is euē the same, that knoweth the rebellious kinges, & saieth to Princes: Vngodly mē are ye. He hath none respecte vnto the persōnes of the lordlye, & regardeth not the riche more then poore. For they be all the worke of his handes. In the twynckllynge of an eie shall they be slayne: & at mydnyght, when the people & the tirauntes rage, then shall they perysh, & be takē awaie wythout handes. And why? hys eyes loke vpon the waies of man, and he seith al his goynges. There is no darknes nor thycke shadowe, that can hyde the wycked doers frō hym. For no man shalbe suffred to go into iudgment with God.

Many one, yee innumerable doth he punish, and setteth other in their steades: For he knoweth their euell & darcke worckes, therfore shal they be destroyed. They that were in the steade of Sears, dealte lyke vngodly mē. Therfore turned they backe trayterously & vnfaithfully from hym, & wolde not receaue his waies. In so moch that they haue caused the voice of yͤ poore to come vnto hym, & now he heareth the cōplaynte of soche as are in necessyte. If he deliuer and graūt pardon, who will iudge or condemne? But yf he hyde awaye hys coūtenaūce, who wyl turne it about agayne, whether it be to the people or to any mā? For the wyckednesse and synne of the people, he maketh an ypocryte to reygne ouer them. For so moch then as I haue begonne to talke of God, I wyll not hynder yͤ. If I haue gone a mysse, enfourme me: yf I haue done wrōg, I will leaue of. Wouldyst thou not geue a reasonable answere? Art thou afrayed of any thynge, seynge thou begānest fyrst to speake, & not I? For els the mē of vnderstandyng & wysdom, that haue herd me, might say: What causte yͤ speake? As for Job he hath neither spokē to the purpose nor wyselye. O father, lett Job be wel tried, because he hath turned hym self to the wycked: yee aboue his synnes he hathe blasphemed, whyche offence

nota

he

he hath done eue before vs, in that he stryueth agaynst God with hys wordes.

Nether doth godlynes profet, or vngodlynes hurte to God, but to man.

The.xxxv. Chapter.

A Eliu spake more ouer, & said: Thinkest thou it righte that thou sayest: I am rightuous before God? Seing ỹ sayest so, how doest thou knowest? Or what thinge hast thou more excellent thē I, that am a synner? Therfore wyll I geue answere vnto the and thy fryndes: loke vnto the heauen, & beholde it: consydre the cloudes, howe they are hyer then thou. Yf B thou synnest, what doest thou vnto hym? Yf thyne offences be manye, how getteste thou his fauoure? Yf thou be ryghtuous what geuest thou him? Or what receiueth he of thy hādes? Of soch an vngodly person as thou, & of the sonne of man that is righteous as thou pretēdest to be: there is a greate crye and complaynt made by thē that are oppressed wyth vyolence, yea euerye man complayneth vppon the cruel arme of tyrauntes. For soch one neuer sayth C Where is God that made me? and that shyneth vpon vs, that we myghte prayse him in the nyghte? Whych geueth vs more vnderstanding thē he doth the beastes of the earth, and teacheth vs more thē the foules of heauen.

Yf any soche cōplayne, no man geueth answere, & that because of the wickednesse of proud tyrauntes. But yf a man call vpō God, doth not he heare him? Doth not the Almightye accepte hys crye? Whan thou spakest then, shulde not he pardon the, yf thou open thy self before him, and put thy trust in him? Then vseth he no violence in his wrath, nether hath he pleasure in curious and depe inquisitiōs. Therfore hath Job opened hys mouth but in vayne, and foolishly hath he made so many wordes.

C Eliu sheweth wherfore God punisheth and correcteth.

The.xxxvi. Chapter.

ELiu proceaded forth in hys talkynge and sayde: Holde the styll a lyttle, and I shall shewe thee, what I haue yet too speake on Goddes behalfe. I wyll open vnto the yet more of myne vnderstanding standing, and prouue my maker righteous. True at my wordes, & no lye: & the knowledge wher withal I argue agaynst the, is perfect. Behold, God casteth not away the mighty, for he him self is mighty in power and wysdome.

As for the vngodlye, he preserueth the not, but helpeth ỹ poore to theyr ryght. He turneth not his eyes away frō the ryghteous, he setteth vp kynges in their trone, & confirmeth thē, so that they alway syt ther in. But yf they be layde in preson and cheynes, or bound with the bondes of pouerte: B then sheweth he thē their workes & dedes and the synnes where with they haue vsed cruell violence.

*He with punishing and nurtringe of them, roundeth them in the eares, waerneth them to leaue of frō their wyckednes, and to amend. Yf they now wyl take hede and be obedient, they shal were out their dayes in prosperite, & their yeares in pleasure & ioye. But yf they wyll not obeye, they shal go thorowe the swearde, & perysshe or euer they be a warre. As for soche as be fayned, dissemblers and ypocrites, thei heape vp wrath for them selues: for they call not vpon hym, thoughe they be his presoners Thus their soule perysheth in folyshnes, and their lyfe with the condemned. The poore deliuereth he out of his straytnesse, and comforteth soch as be in necessite and trouble. Euen so shall he kepe the (yf thou wylte be content) from the bottomlesse pyt that is benethe: and yf thou wylte holde the quyet, he shall fyll thy table wyth plenteousnesse.

Neuertheles thou hast condemned the iudgement of the vngodly, yea euē soch a iudgemēt & sentēce shalt thou suffre. For thē shal not thy cause be stylled with cruelte, nor pacified wyth many gyftes. Hath God ordened thē, that the glorious lyfe of the, & al soch mighty men shuld not be put downe? Prolonge not thou the tyme, tyll ther come a nyght for the, to set other people in thy stede. But beware that thou turne not a syde to wickednes and synne, whiche hytherto thou hast chosen more then mekenesse. Beholde, God is of a myghtye hye power: Where is there soche a gyde and lawe geuer as he? Who wyll reproue him of his waye? who wyll saye vnto him saye vnto hym: thou hast done wrong.

D Consyder how greate & excellēt hys
D worckes be, whom all men loue & prayse: yee wonder at hym, & yet they se hym but a farre of. Beholde, so greate is God, that he passeth oure knowledge, nether are we able to come to the experyence of hys yeares. He turneth the water to smal droppes he dryueth hys cloudes to geather for to rayne, so ỹ they peure downe and droppe vpon men. He can spred out the cloudes (a couerynge of hys tabernacle) and cause hys lyghte to shyne vppon them, & to couer the botom of the see. By these thinges gouerneth he hys people, & geuethe thē aboundaunce of meate. In ỹ turnyng of a hande he hydeth the lyght, & at hys cōmaūdemente it commeth agayne. The rysyng vp therof sheweth he to hys frendes and to the catell.

The Notes.

a* Wyth punyshynge and nurtryng to rosi de them in the eares. is. to bringe them to ỹ knowledge of their synnes, and to cause thē to be persuaded in thē selues that they be punyshed for them.

¶ Eliu proueth that the wisdom of god is vnsearcheable.

The .xxxvii. Chapter.

A T this, my herte is astoned, & moued out of his place. Heare thē ỹ soūd of his voyce, & the noyse ỹ goeth out of hys mouth. He gouernethe euery thig vnder ỹ heuē, & his light reacheth vnto the ende of the world. A roaring voyce folowth hym: for hys glorious maiestye geueth soch a thōdre clappe, ỹ (thoughe a mā heare it) yet may he not perceue it afterward. It geueth an horrible sownde, whē god sēdeth out hys voyce: greate thynges doth he, which we cā not cōprehēd. When he cōmaundeth the snowe, it eralteth vpō the earth: As soone as he geuethe ỹ rayne a charge, immedyatlye the showers haue
B their strengthe, and fal downe. He sēdethe feare vpon euery mā, that they might knowe their owne worckes. The beestes crepe into their dennes, & take their reste. Oute of the south commethe the tempeste, and colde out of the north.

At the a* breth of God, the frost cōmeth, & the waters ar shed abrode. The cloudes do theyr laboure in geuinge moystnesse, the cloudes poure downe their rayne. He distributeth also on euery syde, according as it pleaseth hī to deale out hys worckes, ỹ they maye do, whatsoeuer he cōmaundeth them thorow the whole worlde: whether it be to punysche any lande, or to do good vnto them, that seke hym.

Herken vnto thys (O Job) stand styl, & consydre the wonderous worckes of God. C
Arte thou of councell wyth God, when he dothe these thinges? When he causeth the lyghte to come forth of hys cloudes? Arte thou of his cōcell, when he spredethe oute the cloudes? Haste thou the perfect knowledge of hys wonders? & howe thy clothes are warme, when the lande is styl thorowe the South wynde? Hast thou helped hym to spreade out the heauen, which is to loke vppon, as it were caste of cleare metall? Teach vs what we shal say vnto hym, for we are vnmete because of darknes. Shal it be told him what I saye? Shuld a man D speake, or shuld he kepe it backe? For euery man seyth not the lyght, that he kepethe cleare in ỹ cloudes, which he clensed whan he maketh the winde to blowe. Golde is brought out of ỹ North, but the prayse & honour of Gods feare, commeth frō God hym self. It is not we that can fynd out ỹ almightye: for in power, equitte, & rightousnes, he is hyer thā can be expressed. Seinge thē that euery body feareth hym, why shulde not all wyse men also stande in feare of hym.

The Notes.

a* The breth of God here signifieth a rage & vehemēt wind / as is the north winde.

¶ The wonders and marueiles that the Lord hath done from the beginninge.

The .xxxviii. Chapter.

THē spake the Lord vnto Job out of ỹ storme, & sayd: what A is he that hideth his mynd wt folish wordes? Gyrde vp thy loynes lyke a man, for I wyl questyō the, se ỹ geue me a directe answere Wher wast thou, whē I layd the foundations of ỹ earth? Tel playnly yf thou hast vnderstandinge. Who hathe measured it, knowest thou? Or, who hath spred ỹ lyne vpon it? Wher vpō stāde the pylers of it? Or, who laid the corner stone? Wher wast thou, a* whē the morning starres prayse me together, & al the chyldren of god reioyced triumphātly? Who shut the see wythe dores,

dozes, when it brake forth as a chyld oute of his mothers wõbe: ¶ Whẽ I made ẏ clou des to be a couering for it, & swadled it wt the darck: whẽ I gaue it my commaunde mẽt, making dozes & barres for it, sayig:
B Hither to shalt ẏ come, but no forther, and here shalt thou lay downe thy proud & hie waues. Hast thou geuẽ the morning hys charge (as soone as thou wast borne) & shewed the daye springe hys place, ẏ it might take holde of the corners of ẏ earth, & that ẏ vngodly might be shakẽ out: ¶ They to kens & weapẽs hast thou turned like clai, & sett them vp agayne as the chaũging of a garmẽt. Yee thou haste spoyled the vngodly of theyr lyghte, & broken thee arme of ẏ proud. ¶ Camest thou euer into ẏ grou de of the see: or hast thou walked in ẏ low corners of ẏ depe: Haue ẏ gates of deeth bene opened vnto the, or haste thou sene ẏ doze of euerlastyng treasure: Haste thou also perceaued howe broade the earth is: Now yf thou hast knowledge of all, then shewe my where lyghte dwellethe, & where darknes is: that thou mayeste bryng vs vnto their quarters, yf thou cãst tel ẏ way ¶ to theyr houses.

Knewest ẏ (whẽ thou wast borne) howe old thou shuldest be: Wẽtest thou euer in to the threasuries of the snowe, or haste ẏ sene the secrete places of the hayle, whych I haue prepared against the time of trou ble agaynst the tyme of batell and warre: By what waye is the lyght parted, & thee heat dealt out vpon the earth: Who deuy deth the aboundaunce of waters into ry= uers, or who maketh away for the stormy wether, that it watereth & moysturethe the drye and baren grounde: to make ẏ grasse growe in places where no body dwelleth, and in thee wyldernes where no man re= maynneth: Who is the father of raine: Or who hathe begottẽ the droppes of dewe: Oute of whose wõbe came the yse: Who hath gendred the colones of ẏ ayze: ẏ the waters are as hard as stones, & lye conge led aboue the depe. Haste thou brought ẏ vii. starres together: Or arte thou able to
D breke the circle of heauẽ: Canst thou bryn ge forth the morninge sterre or the euenin ge starre at couenient tyme, & conueye thẽ home agayne: Knowest thou ẏ course of heauen, that thou mayest set vp the ordi= naunce thereof vpon thẽ erth: Moreouer, canst thou lift vp thy voyce to the cloudes that they may poure downe a great rayne vpõ the: Canst thou thondre also that thei may go theyr waye, & be obediẽt vnto the, saying: Lo here are we. Who geueth sure wysdom or stedfast vnderstandinge: who nombreth the cloudes in wysdõ: who sty= leth the vehemẽt waters of ẏ heauen: who turneth the clottes to dust, & thẽ to be clot= tes agayne: Huntest thou the praye from the lyõ, or fedest thou hys welpes lying in theyr dennes, & lurkinge in their couches: who prouidethmeate for the rauẽ, whẽ his youngeones crye vnto God, and fle about for want of meate:

¶ The Notes

a* He sayth not ẏ heauẽ was made before the erth, but whẽ his godly wisdõ made ther: he sayth he had a dwelling place and that he neaded no earthly mansyon: for then was he praysed of the angelles / whych here ar called the chyldren of God. He meaneth also ẏ ther was no man by or helped him / when he made the starres and created the intellectuall & spi rituall natures.

¶ God speaketh vnto Job, shewing him by the exã= ples of hys workes, that hys righteousnesse is vn= searcheable.

The. xxxix. Chapter.

Knowest thou the tyme when the wylde gotes bringe forth their youge among the stony rockes: Or layest thou wayt whẽ the hindes vse to fawne: rekenest thou the monethes after they en= gendre, ẏ thou knoweste the tyme of theyr bearing: or when they lye downe, whẽ thei cast theyr younge ones, and when they are deliuered of theyr trauayle & payne: How theyr young ones growe vp & ware great thorowe good fedynge: who lettethe thee wylde asse go fre, or who lowseth the bon= des of the mule: Vnto whom I haue ge= uen the wylderneße to be theyr house, and the vntylled lande too be theyr dwellynge place. That they may geue no force for ẏ multitude of people in the cyties, nether re garde thee crienge of the driuer: but seke their pasture about the mountaynes, & fo= lowe the grene grasse. Wyll thee vnicorne be so taine as to do the seruice, or to abyde styl by thy cribbe: Canst thou bind ẏ yocke aboute hym in thy forowes, to make hym plowe after the in the valleyes: Wayste thou truste hym, because he is stronge, or
B
commis

or cõmytte thy labour vnto hym? Mayest thou beleue him, that he wyll bryng home the corne, or to carye anye thinge vnto the barne? The Estrych (whose fethers ar fayr rer than the winges of the sparow hauke) whē he hath layd hys egges vpō the groū de, he bredeth thē in the duste, & forgetteth them: so that thei might be trodē with fete or broken with some wylde beast. So har de is he vnto hys yonge ones, as thoughe they were not hys, and laboureth in vayne without any feare. And that because God hath taken wysdom from him, & hath not geuen hym vnderstanding. Whē his tyme is, he flyeth vp on hye, & careth neyther for horse nor man.

Hast thou geuē the horse hys strength, or learned him to bowe downe his neck vō feare: that he lettethe hym selfe be dryuen forth like a grashopper, wher as the stoute neyeng that he maketh, is fearful? he brea keth the ground with the hoffes of his fe= te chearfully in his strength, & runneth to mete the harnest men. He layeth a syde all feare, hys stomack is not abated, neyther D starteth he a back for any swerd. Though the quyuers rattle vppon him, though the speare & shylde glystere: yet ruscheth he in fearsely, and beateth vpon the ground. He feareth not the noyse of the trōpettes, but as soone as he heareth the shawmes blow rushe (sayth he) for he smelleth the battel a farre of, the noyse, the Captaynes and the shoutinge.

Commeth it thorow thy wysdom, y the Goshauke flyethe to warde thee Southe? Doth the Egle mount vp, and make hys nest on hye at thy commaundement? He a= bydeth in the stony rockes, & vpon the hye toppes of harde mountaynes, wher noma can come. From thence may he behold his praye, and loke farre about wyth his eyes Hys younge ones are fedde wyth bloude, and where anye dead bodye lyeth, there is he immediatly.

Moreouer, God spake vnto Job & said: Can he y stryueth wyth the almightye, be at rest? Should not he whiche disputeth vō God, geue him an answere? Job ānswered the Lord, saying: Beholde, I am to vyle a person, to answere the, therfore wyll  I laye my hād vpō my mouth. Once or twy se haue I spokē, but I wyll saye nomore, a* To put hys hand vppon his mouth, is to holde his peace & to be styll & astonied at y sodayn anger of God. Miche. vii. d

The Notes.

Job humbleth hym selfe vnto god, the descriptiō of an Elephant, Leuiathan.

The. xl. Chapter.

THē spake the Lord vnto Job out of y storme, & sayd: Gyrd vp thy loynes lyke a mā, and tel me the thinges that I wyll aske the. Wilt thou disanull my iudgement? Or wilt thou condēne me that thou thy selfe mayest be made righte ous? Is thyne a* arme then lyke the arme of God? Maketh thy voyce soch a sounde as his doth? Thē arme thy selfe with thine owne power, vp, decke the in thy holy aray poure oute the indignaciō of thy wrath: se that thou caste downe all the proude, loke well, that thou makest all soche as be stub burne, to obeye: treade all the vngodly vn der thy fete, cast them downe into the myre and couer theyr faces wyth darknes. Thē wyl I confesse also, that thyne owne right hand hath saued the.

A Iob. xxxviii

B

Behold, b Behemoth (whō I made vō the) whiche eateth haye as an ore: lo, howe stronge he is in hys loynes, & what power he hath in the nauel of his bodye. He stre= deth out his tayl lyke a Cedre tree, al hys vaynes are styf. His shinnes ar like pypes of brasse, hys rygge bones are lyke staues of yron. First when God made him, he or= dened the wyldernesse for hym, y the mou= taynes should geue him grasse, wher all the beastes of the filde take their pastyme. He lyeth amonge the redes in the Mosses, the fennes hyde hym with their shadowe, and the wylowes of the broke couer hym roūd about. Lo, without any labour myghte he drinke out of the whole floude, & suppe of Jordan without any trauayl. Who darre laye hand vpō him opēlye, & vndertake to catch hym? Or, who darre put a hooke thō rowe hys nose, & laye a snare for hym?

C

Darrest thou drawe out c* Leuiathā wō an angle, or binde his tonge with a snare? Cāst thou put a ring in the nose of him, or bore hys chaftes thorowe wyth a naule? Wyl he make many fayre wordes with y D (thinkest thou) or flatter the? Will he make a couenaūt with the? Or art thou able for to cōpel hym to do the continuall seruice?

Wylte

Wylte thou take thy pastyme wythe hym as with a byrd, or geue him vnto thy maydens, that thy cõpanions may hew him in peces, to be parted amonge the marchaũte men? Canst thou kyll the net with his skin or the fysshe pannier with his head? Darrest thou laye hand vpon hym? It is better for the to consyder what harme myght happen the ther thorow and not to touche hym. For when thou thinkest to haue hold vpon hym, he shal begyle the: Euery man also that seyth hym, shall go backe. And why? ther darre none be so bolde as to rayse hym vp.

The Notes.

a* Arme for power, strengthor might: as in Psalm. liiii. a b* The Hebrues vnderstãd by Behemoth the greatest beast in the earth that is an Elephant. Other vnderstand therby any earthly beaste that is great but vnto an Elephant do al the properties here recyted right wel agre wherfore it seameth moste agreable to the trueth, that by the worde be signified an Elephant.

c* Leuiathan as diuerse learned men expounde, signifieth the greatest fyshe that lyueth in the see, whych is a whalle.

¶ Of the same Leuiathan wherof is mencioned in the Chapter afore.

The.xli. Chapter.

Jerem.b

WHo is able to stande before me? Or, who hathe geuen me anye thinge afore hand, that I am bounde to reward him agayne? All thynges vnder heauen are myne. I feare hym not, whether he threaten or speake fayre. Who lyfteth hym vppe, and strypethe hym oute of hys clothes, or who taketh hym by the byt of hys brydle? Who openeth the doore of hys face? for he hath horrible teeth round about. Hys bodye is couered wythe scales as it were wythe shyldes, lockte in, kepte, and well compacte together. One is so joyned to another, that noo ayre can come in: Yea one hangethe so vppon another, and stycketh so together, that they cãnot be sundered. Hys nesynge is lyke a glisterynge fyre, and hys eyes lyke the morrynge shyne. Oute of hys mouthe go torches and fyre brandes, out of hys nostrels ther goeth a smoke, lyke as oute of an hote sethinge pott. Hys brethe maketh the coales burne, the flãme goeth oute of hys mouth. In hys necke remaynethe strengthe, and before hys face sorowe is turned to gladnes. The membres of his body ar ioyned so strayte one to another, and cleue so fast to gether, that he can not be moued.

Hys herte is as harde as a stone, & as faste as the stythye that the hammer man smiteth vpon. When he goeth: the myghtiest of all are afrayed, & the waues heuy. If he drawe out the swearde, there mayo nether speare, ner brest plate, abide hym He setteth as moche by a strawe as by yrõ, and as moche by a rotten stocke as by metall. He starteth not away for him that bendeth the bowe: and as for flyng stones he careth as moche for stubble as for thẽ. He counteth the hammer no better then a strawe, he laugheth hym to skorne that shaketh the speare. He treadeth the gold in the myre lyke the sharpe pottsherdes. He maketh thee depe too seethe and boyle like a potte, and stereth the see together lyke an oyntemente. The waye is light after hym, the depe is hys walkynge place. Upon earthe is there no power lyke vnto hys, for he is so made that he feareth not. If a man wyll consyder all hye thynges, this same is a kynge ouer all the chyldrẽ of pryde.

¶ The repẽtaũce of Job. He praieth for his frendes, & his goodes are restored double vnto hym.

The.xlii. Chapter.

THẽ Job answered the Lord, and sayd: I knowe that thou hast power ouer al thinges, & ther is no thought hyd vnto the. For who can kepe hys owne coũcell so secrete, but it shalbe knowne? Therfore haue I spoken vnwyselye, seynge these thinges are so hie, & passe mine vnderstandyng. O herken thou vnto me also, and lett me speake: answere vnto the thinge that I wyll aske the. I haue geuẽ dylygent eare vnto the, & now I se the with myne eyes. Wherfore I geue mine owne self ỹ blame, & take repentaũce in ỹ dust and asshes.

Iob.xlii.c

Iob.xvi.b

Now when the Lorde had spokẽ these wordes vnto Job, he sayde vnto Eliphas the Themanite: I am displeased with the and thy two frendes, for ye haue not spokẽ the thyng that is ryght before me, lyke as my seruaũt Job hath done. Therfore take. vii. oxen and. vii. rammes, and go to my my ſeruaunte Job, offre vp all for youre Mat.v.c ſelues a brentoffringe: and let my ſeruaũ te Job praye for you. Him will I accept, & not deale wythe you after youre folyſh nes: in that ye haue not ſpoken the thyng whych is ryght, lyke as my ſeruaunt Job hathe done.

So Eliphas the Themanite, Baldad ȳ Suhite & Sophar the Naamathite went their waye, & dyd accordyng as the Lorde
C cõmaunded thẽ. The lord also accepted ȳ perſonne of Job, & the Lorde turned him vnto Job, whẽ he prayed for hys frindes:
Yee the Lorde gaue Job twyſe as moche as he had afore.

And then came there vnto him all hys brethren, all his ſiſters, with all them that had bene of his acquaintaunce afore, and ate bred with him in hys houſſe, wondryn ge at hym, & comfortynge him ouer al the trouble, that the Lorde had broughte vp= on him. Euery man gaue him a ſhepe and a Jewell of golde.

And the Lorde made Job rycher then D he was before: for he had. xiiii. M. ſhepe.
vi. M. camels, a. M. youck of oxen, and a M. aſſhes. He had chyldren alſo. vii. ſon= nes and. iii. daughters. The fyrſte called Day: the ſecond Pouerte: & thyrd Al plen teouſnes. In al ȳ land were none fou̇ de ſo fayre, as ȳ doughters of Job, & their father gaue them enhery= taunce amonge their brethren.
After this lyued Job. xl yea res, ſo ȳ he ſaw his chyldrẽ, & hys chyldrẽs children to the fourth generacyõ.
And ſo he dyed, being olde and of a per= fecte age.

Nota
thys Job prayd for yow Gyue wyll I accept

The fyrst psalme.

¶ Those that forsake the counsels and tradicions of the wicked, and wholy geue them selues to know the Lawe of God/and to shewe it in theyr lyuinge: doth this Psalme pronounce blessed/both here and in the worlde to come: & the contrary parte, in both the worldes/miserable and wretched

A

BLessed is the manne that goeth not in the counsel of the vngodly: that abideth not in[a]* ỹ waye of synners [b]*and sitteth not i the seate of the scornefull.

But delyteth in the law of the Lord, and exercyseth hi selfe in his lawe, bothe day and night.

Suche a man is lyke a tree planted by the water syde, that bryngeth forthe hys frute in due season.

E Hys leaues shall not fall of, & looke what soeuer he doth, it shall prosper.

B As for the vngodly, it is not so with them: but they are lyke the dust, whyche the wynde scatereth awaye from ỹ face of the grounde.

Therfore the vngodly shal not be able[c]* to stand in the iudgement, neither the synners in the congregation of the righteous.

Ꝛ For the Lord alloweth ỹ way of the righteous, but the waye of the vngodly shall perish.

The notes.

a* The waye of synners, is, their maners & ordinances, in whych they walke as it were in a waye. Waye in the scrypture is take for whatsoeuer we do or go aboute, be it good or cuyll, as in the laste verse of this Psalme.

b* To sytte in ỹ seate of ỹ scorneful, is, to cõspire with them, and to become felowes of their mischefe as in the Psal. xxv. b.

c* To stande in iudgemente/is, to wynne the processe, and to haue sentence pronounced on theyr sydes: as to robbe iudgemente, is, to let the processe & to haue sentence pronounced agaynst ryght and trueth. Esa. x. a. So then this text meaneth nomore but that the wycked shall haue suche a terrible sentence geuen vpon them, that they shall not be able to abyde, when the Lorde shal come to the general iudgement it meaneth not the wycked shal not appeare in the iudgement.

The. ii. Psalme.

¶ They that knowe not God, are moued agaynste the kyngdome of Chriſte wyth wonderful intentes, but in vayne yet runneth their rage thorow the whole worlde. The only waye to health, is to cõmit thy selfe to Chriſt.

W* Why do the Heathen grudge? why do the people imagin vaine thinges?

A *the prophete.

The kinges of the earth stande vp, and the Rulers are come together, against ỹ Lord and against his anointed

*Let vs breake their bondes asunder, & cast awaye their yocke from vs. *The Enemy.

*Neuertheles he that dwelleth in heauen, shal laugh them to scorne: yea euen the Lorde hym selfe shall haue them in derysyon. B *The Prophet

Then shall he[a]* speake vnto them in his wrath, & vexe them in hys sore displeasure.

‡Yet haue I set my kynge vpon my holy hyll of Syon.

*As for me I wyll preache ỹ lawe wherof the Lord hath sayde vnto me: Thou art my sonne, this daye haue I begotten thee ‡ God *The kinge Christ

Desyre of me, and I shal geue thee the Heathen for thyne enheritaunce, Yea the vttermost partes of the world for thy possession.

Thou shalt rule them with a[b]* rod of yron and breake them in peces lyke an earthen vessell.

‡Be wyse now therfore, O ye Kynges, be warned, ye that are Iudges of the earth. C ‡The Prophet

Serue the Lord with feare, and reioyse before him with reuerence.

[c]*Kysse the sonne, lest the Lorde be angrye, and so ye perysshe from ỹ right waye.

For his wrath shalbe kindled shortly: blessed are all they that put their trust in hym.

The Notes.

a* To speake vnto them in hys wrath/is, to ordeine and determe to destroye them. Jeremy. xviii. a, b* A rodde of yron for a sure and vnbowable dominyon, as it is sayde. Psalm. lxxviii. e. and Esa. xliii. b.

c* Kysse the sonne, so readethe the Hebr. It is a figuratyue speache, in whych by the signe, is vnderstande that, whiche is signifyed therby. For by the kysse of the Kynges hande euen nowe adayes in many regyons, do the subiectes testyfy, that they wylbe in the faythe and power of the Kynge. He calleth hym sonne because he before brought in the father sayinge, Thou art my sonne. The Gzeke reades deth receaue instruccion or be learned: meanyng therby that they shalde submyt them selues vnto ỹ Kinge Chriſt, & receaue hys instruction & chastenig

The. iii. Psalme.

¶ Dauid speaking vnto the lorde/wondreth both at the numbre and cõfidence of his enemies/which came agaynst hym and committed hym selfe wyth greate saftie vnto hys helpe/although his enemies were at hande ready to stryke hym/both because no Man els can saue hym: and because none can be partakers of health or saluacion but they that beleue in hym and trust to him a* Psalme in Hebr, Mizrom that is a songe: or a commc will, the sounde of an harpe.

A[a]* Psalme of Dauid when he fledde from the face of Absalon.

The storye of this title is in the second of the kinges from the. xv. Chapitre vnto the. xx.

A The

A WHy are they so many, O Lord, that trouble me: a greate multytude are they, that ryse agaynste me.

Yee many one there be that saye of my soule: there is no helpe for hym in God. b* Selah.

But thou, O Lorde, art my defender, my worshyppe, and the lyfter vp of my head.

I call vpon the Lorde wyth my voyce, and he heareth me out of his holy hyll. Selah.

I layd me downe & slept, but I rose vp agayne, for the Lorde sustayned me.

B I am not afrayed for thousandes of the people, that compasse me round about.

Up Lord, and helpe me, O my god: for thou smytest all myne enemyes vpon the cheke bones, and c* breakest ỹ teeth of the vngodly.

Helpe belongeth vnto the lord, therfore let thy blessinge be vpon thy people.

The Notes

b* Selah This worde after Rab. him was a sygne or token of liftinge vp the voyce, and also a monicion: aduertisement to enforce the thought: minde earnestly to geue hede to the meaninge of the verse vnto which it is added. Some will that it signifie perpetually or verely. c* To breake the teth of the vngodlye, is, to bringe to naught the blasphemy of them that withstande the truthe Psal. lvii. b

The. iii. Psalme

Dauid prayseth the benivolence: thready help of God towarde hym in the conspiracye of Absalon He reproueth the madnes of the heades: rulers of Israel that conspired agaynst him, and calleth thē agayne to amendement: and after he glorifieth of ỹ aboundaunce of goodes, peace, and safety restored agayne vnto him by the benefite of the Lorde

a* To the Chaunter in b* Neginoth A Psalme of Dauid

a* That is here translate / To the Chaunter / is in Hebrue Lamnazeah: which word after the mynde of Ibzah. Ezra: Dauid Kimhi, expositours in Hebru signifieth, To the cheake of the syngers: which we cōmōly call in English, setter of the queare or chaūter This interpretacyon also do both the most: the best learned of the Latinistes best alowe, & therfore haue I folowed the same the whole Psalter throw expressing it by this worde, Chaunter. Notwithstāding: diuers Authoures do diuersly interprete it. Some saie that it signifieth, To the victory or ouercomer: some, to the victorye: which may thus agree and concord together yf thou take a Psalme to be a styring: an exhortacion to put our trust in God, beinge sure to obtaine the victory. And where som interpret vnto ỹ ende, vnderstande euen the same for therfore do we put oure truste in god, that we maye come to the ende of the victory, Som translate the tytle thus: A vehemente and often made exhortacyon in instrumentes of musyke. a Psalme of Dauid, that is as they them selues expond it a Psalme reuelated to Dauid, for Dauid is in Hebru ỹ datyue case not the genetyke.

b* Neginoth signifyeth the tune or note of ỹ instrumentes, wher after the Psalmes before which it is prefyxed, were songe: for the Psalme wer song at certeyn instrumentes, but so that ỹ swete tune melodye of the instrumētes prepared the mind more perfectelye to perceaue the wordes of the holy dyne

HEere me when I call, O God of my ryghtuousnes: thou that comfortest me in my trouble: haue mercye vppon me, and harkenne vnto my prayer. A

O ye sonnes of men, how long will ye blaspheme myne honour: why haue ye such pleasur in vaynite, and seke after lyes: Selah

Knowe thys that the Lord dealeth maruelously wythe hys sayncte: and when I call vpon the Lord he heareth me.

Be angrye, but synne not: comen w your owne hertes vpon your beddes, and remembre your selues. Selah.

B Offer the sacrifyce of righteousnes & put your trust in the Lord.

There be many that saye: who will do vs any goode Lord c* lyft vpō vs ỹ lyght of thy countenaunce.

Thou reioycest myne herte, though their encreace be greate bothe in corne and wyne.

Therefore wyll I laye me downe in peace, and take me reste: for thou Lorde onlye settest me in a sure dwellynge.

The Notes

c* That is loke louyngly vpon vs fauer vs stretche forthe thy goodnes towarde vs, For no such as we fauour loke we amyably and behold them with a countenauuce that wytnessethe frendshyppe.

The. v. Psalme.

A prayer of hym that is oppressed of wycked enemyes, whom when he knoweth that they cannot but be hated of God, he taketh hart that after he is deliuered from al ieopardy he shall geue thankes to God his sauyoure in the companye of the holy: Therfore beseecheth he the Lorde to leade and condeth hym that he be not trapped with their wyles, & further, to ouerthrowe them and to cheare & incourege the godly

a* To the Chaunter by b* Nehiloth a Psalme of Dauid

a* Loke in the tytle of the Psalme that goeth next before.

b* Nehiloth signifyeth by interpretacyon heritages: or as some wyll a certen Instrumente of musyke.

Heare

A HEare my wordes (O Lorde) consyder my callynge.
O marke the voyce of my petycion, my kynge and my god, for vnto ỹ wyll I make my prayer, Heare my voyce c* by tymes (O Lorde) for early in the mornyng wil I get me vnto the, yee & that with diligence For thou art not the god that hath pleasure in wickednesse, there may no vngodly personne dwell with the.
Soche as be cruell may not stand in thy syght, thou art an enemye vnto all wycked doers.
Thou destroyest the lyers: the lord abhorrethe the bloude thurstye and dysceatfull.
But as for me, I wyl come into thy B howse, euen vpõ the multytude of thy mercy: and in thy feare wil I worschyp towarde thy holy temple.
Lede me (O Lord) in thy rightuousnesse because of mine enemyes, & make thy waye playne before me.
For there is no faithfulnes in ther mouthes: they dissemble ī their hertes their throte is an open sepulchre: with their tonges they disceaue.
Punysshe them (O God) that they C may perysh in their owne ymaginacõs cast them out because of the multitude of their vngodlynesse, for they rebell agaynst the,
Againe, let all them that put their trust in the, reioyse: yee let them euer be geuing of thankes, because thou defendest thẽ: that they which loue thy name, maye be ioyfull in the.
For thou Lorde geuest the blessynge vnto the ryghtuous: & with thy fauorable kyndnes: thou defendest him as with a shylde.

The Notes

c* He saythe betymes * early in the mornynge because the tyme is conuenient to praye and to heare the word of God in: at which tyme also they customably came to gether bothe to the tabernacle and vnto the temple of God.

The.vi.Psalme

C The Psalme contayneth a feruent prayer of one that is oppressed with greke, and that greatlye abhorreth deeth fearynge lest the glory of God shuld be any thynge darkened therwythe. and that also gloryeth of the helth restored agayne vnto hym.

a* To ỹ chaunter b* by Neginoth vpõ c* Sheminith, a Psalme of Dauid.

a*b* Loke in ỹ title of ỹ fourth Psa. for theboth c* Sheminith is as moche to saie as an eygh, or an instrument of musyke that hath eyght strynges.

A O Lord d* rebuke me not in thyne anger: Oh chasten me not in thy heuy displeasure.
Haue mercy vpõ me (O Lorde) for I am weake: O Lord heale me, for all e* my bones are vexed.
My soule also is in greate trouble, but Lorde how longe?
Turne the (O Lord) & deliuer my soule Oh saue me for thy mercyes sake.
For f* in death no man remembreth ỹ Oh who wil geue ỹ thankes in hele
I am weery of groning: euery night B wash I my bedde, and water my couche with my teares.
My countenaunce is chaunged for very inward greke, I consume away, I haue so many enemyes.
Awaye fro me all ye wycked doers, for the Lorde hath herde the voyce of my weppynge,
The Lorde hath hearde my humble petycion, the Lorde hath receaued my prayer.
All myne enemies shalbe confounded and sooze vexed yee thei shalbe turned backe & put to shame, and that righte soone.

The Notes

d* Rebuke me not in thyne anger. &c. That is to heuely as one that were angred * moued with greate and hyenouse indignacion. Some expoũde angeer * heuy displeasure, or (as the commen transl. readethe) furie. to signyfie the dreadfull iugement of God, which no man auoydeth, but he that hereseakethe after mercye. And where god iudgethe ỹ tranquylite * peasablenes, * hath nether anger or furi in him yet cannot the scripture shew vnto vs what God shall appeare vnto them that shal feale his iudgement: but if it speake after our maner, of God as though it spake of a man as in the Psal. li.c Loke after ī the Psal. xxviii. a.c e* My bones are vexed. &, c. Of this ye haue Esaye. xxxviii. c. f* They be in the death and in hell that dispayre and blaspheme God, as it is sayde Psal cxv.

C The, vii. Psalme.

C He desyreth to be saued from the greate and greuouse persecucyon of Saul. He mencyonethe hys owne innocencie: He prayeth that he maye obtaine the kyngdome promesed him to thintente that the people might be gethered to God, and the mischefe of the wycked expelled: Then saith he that the wycked shal perish with their owne sword & endeth the Psalm with the prayse of god.

a* Sigaion of Dauid, which he sang for ỹ wordes of Cus the son of Jemini.

Reade the story in the.ii. of the kynges xvi, a* Sigaion as some wyl, signifyeth an exercyse. ỹ is, a paynefull and heuy temptacyon of Dauid, O ther interprete it an ignorannce, because he knew not the fawte that was layde vnto him. Some say that it was one of the instrumentes whereat al the Psalmes before which it is set. were song, Some thincke that it is scertaine kynd of melody. That is here called Cus in the place of the kinges aboue rehersed is called Semei.

A O Lord my God, in the do I trust: saue me from all them that persecute me, & delyuer me.

Lest b*he hantch vp my soule lyke a lyō, and teare it in peces, whyle there is none to helpe.

O Lord my God. yf I haue done anye suche thynge, yf there be anye vnrighteousnes in my handes,

If I haue rewarded euyll vnto thē that dealt frendly with me, or hurt thē ẏ without any cause are myne enemyes.

c*Then let myne enemye persecute my soule / & take me: ye let hym treade my life downe in the earth / and lay mine honour in the dust. d*Selah.

B Stande vp (O Lorde) in thy wrath / lyft vp thy selfe ouer the furyous indygnatyon of myne enemies: arise vp (for me) in the vengeaunce that thou hast prompted.

That the congregacion of the people may come aboute the, for their sakes therfore lift vp thy selfe agayne:

C The Lord is iudge ouer the people: auenge me then (O Lord) according to my rightuousnes & innocencye.

Oh let ẏ wyckednes of the vngodlye come to an ende: but maynteyn ẏ iust, ẏ rightuous god / that e*triest the veri hertes and the reynes.

My helpe cōmeth of God / which preserueth them that are true of hert.

God is a rightuous iudge / and God is euer threatenynge.

.Reg. xvi.b
Pro. xvi.a

D If men wyl not turne / he hath whette his e*swearde: he hath bent hys bowe and made it ready.

He hath prepared hym ẏ weapons of deth / & ordened hys arows to destroy.

Beholde / he trauayleth with mischefe / he hath cōceaued vnhappinesse / and brought forth a lye.

He hath graue and digged vp apit te / but he shall fall hym selfe into the pytte that he hath made.

g*For his vnhappines shal come vpon hys owne head, & hys wyckednes shall fall vpon hys owne pate.

As for me, I wyll geue thākes vnto ẏ Lord for his rightousnes sake & wyl prayse ẏ name of ẏ Lord the most hyest

The Notes.

b* That is, Cus. After the Hebrues is Saul vnderstand therby.

e* By these iii. is vnderstand an vtter destruction Esay. vii. a, d* Loke in the. iii. Psal. a.

e* That is, examinest and lokest on the thoughtes, delectacions, delizes, & pleasures of man.

f* Sworde. Loke Esaye, xxvii. a.

g* That is: the euyl which he doth vnto other shal fall vpon him selfe. Ecclesiasti. xxvii. d

The. viii. Psalme.

The prayseth and greatly wondereth at the inestymable benifyte and lyberalytye of God maker of al thinges toward mankinde which euery wher with an vnspeakable glory shewith his euerlasting power and strength.

*To the chaunter b*vpon Githith a Psalme of Dauid.

a* Loke in the Tytle of the fourth Psal.

b* Githith after some signifyeth as moche as for the wyne persses. After some, concerninge the Gethites. After other it is an instrument of musyke.

O Lord our gouernor, how wōder full is c*thy name in all ẏ world how excellent is thy glory aboue the heauens?

A Out of the mouth of the very babes & sucklynges ẏ haste ordeyned prayse, because of thyn enemyes, that ẏ mygh test destroy the enemye & the auenger.

For I cōsyder thy heauēs, euē the worcke of thy fingers: the moone & the starres which thou hast made.

Oh what is mā, ẏ ẏ d*art so mindful of hi: ether ẏ sonne of mā ẏ ẏ visitest hi

After thou haddest for a season made B him lower thē the aungels, thou e*crownedst him with honour and glorye. Thou hast set him aboue the worckes of thi handes: and thou hast put al thi ges in subiecyon vnder his fete.

All shepe and oxē, yee and the beastes of the felde.

The foules of the ayre, the fysh of ẏ see, and whatsoeuer walcketh thorow the wayes of the see.

O Lord oure gouernoure, how wonderfull is thy name in all the worlde:

The Notes.

c* What is signifyed by hys name: ye haue Psa. xlviii. c:

d* That is, that thou so knowest hym, carest and prouydeste for hym. e* To crowne him. i. cete. is to make him a Kinge whiche thyng was fullfylled in Chryste after his resurrecciō Mat. xxviii. d. And of hym doth the epistle to the Hebrues expounde this verse. Hebrues. ii

The. ix. Psalme

The geueth thanks for a great victory obtayned & for the fall of a greate enemy, suche as Goliath or some other Prynce of the Philistines. He praiseth the ryghtwesnes of God which alwaies auengeth his. He prayeth God to pull vnder the wicked.

a*To the chaunter vpon b*Almuth Laben a Psalme of Dauid.

a* Loke the tytle of the. xlii. Psalme,

b* Almuth Laben, as some thinke, signifyeth a certayne certayne instrumente of musyeke. Some saye, that Almuth signifyeth, of the deeth: whiche same vnderstande by laben, Goliath or some other Philistine. Some reade the tytle thus: A vehemente & often made exhortacion of a secret or folysh sonne They vnderstande therby the ryghtwesse which by fayth is the sonne of god. & the same is to the worlde folish, because he is contynually in deeth and secretes: for his lyfe is hydde in Christ til the hidde things be shewed agayne in ỹ iugement of God, the shall it appeare ỹ the dearthe of this worlde is glory. Felix readeth the tytle thus: vnto the victor or ouercomer of the death of a sole. whiche ye maye wel vnderstand of the deth of folish Antychrist & of the ruyne of his kigdome: howbeit this title shuld seme more conuenient for the next Psalme, which after the Hebrus is a distinct Psalme from this where as the Latinystes make this and the nexte bothe one.

A I Wyll geue thankes vnto thé (O Lorde with my whole hert, I wil speake of all thy meruelous workes.

I wyll be glad, and reioyse in the. yee my songes wil I make of thy name O thou moost hyest.

Because thou hast dryuē myne enemyes abacke, they were dysconfyted, and perished at thy presence.

For thou hast mainteined my right and my cause: thou sittest in the throne that art the true iudge.

Thou rebukest the Heythen, and destroyest the vngodly, thou puttest out their name for euer and euer.

The enemyes swerdes, are come to an ende, thou hast ouerthrowen their c* cityes, theyr memorial is perysshed with them.

B But the Lord endureth for euer, he hath prepared his seate vnto iudgemēte.

He gouerneth the worlde with righteousnes, and ministreth true iudgement vnto the people.

The Lorde is a defence for the poore, a defence in the tyme of trouble.

Therfore they that know thy name put their trust in the: for thou (Lord) neuer fayllest them, that seke the.

O prayse the Lorde, which dwelleth in Sion, shew ỹ people of his doinges

And why: d* he maketh inquysycion for theyr bloude, and remembreth thē: he forgetteth not the e* complaynte of the poore,

Haue mercy vpō me (O Lord) cōsydre the trouble that I am in among mine enemyes, thou that liftest me vp frō ỹ

C *gates of death.

That I maie shew al thy prayses with in the g* portes of the daughter of Sion and reioyse in thy sauyng health.

As for the Heythē, they are sunken downe in thepitte that they made in the same nett whiche they spred out pryuely, is their owne feete taken.

Thus the Lorde is knowne to execute true iudgemente when the vngodlye is D trapped in the workes of his owne handes. h* Selah.

The wycked muste be turned vnto Hell, and all the Heythen that forgette God.

But the poore shall not alwayes be out of remembraunce, the patient abydynge of suche as be in troble shall not perishe for euer.

Up Lorde: let no man haue the vpperhande, let the Heythen be condempned before the.

O Lorde set a scholmaster ouer thē, that the Heythen maye knowe them selves to be but men. h* Selah.

The notes

e* Cytyes here signifye the defences, succours, armoure wyly doctrine fayned ryghtuousnes, and al that the worlde trusteth in agaynste ỹ Lorde: as in Esaye, xxiiii.b.

d* Or as some wyll, he requyreth their bloude or slaughter that is, he leaueth not innocente bloude vn auenged, nor forgetteth the crie of the afflycte. Gene. xlii.d.

e* The complaynte of the poore, is the feruent desyre and burnyng affectyon wherwith they cry vnto the Lord, and be heard. By the poore in the scripture are vnderstande the afflict which feale theyr neade and temptacion, and which sorowand lamēt that the trueth is ouer troden, which put no truste at al in any thyng that is in thys worlde: yee which are despysed and forsakē of the worlde and cleaue only to the lyuynge God assured that at his hande they shal finde healp, though ỹ worlde be neuer so fearce treame agaynst them, as in the nexte Psalme. d

f* The gates of death are the iudgemētes of death the counceiles of ỹ wicked ỹ cōgregacio of Sathā ỹ doctrines of falsnes, and whatsoeuer leadeth to death.

g* The portes or gates of the daughter of Sio are the companies of the good and faithful in whiche are recyued the truthes of God and all that leadeth to lyfe, Psal, lxxxvii.a, h* Of Selah loke the. iii: Psalme: a

¶ The. x. Psalme.

¶ A prayer agaynst frowarde, malicious & wicked men, which both with wyles and violence oppresse al that are poore and helpeles, wherin also they are intolerable pryde and vngodlynes, with their study and desyre to hurte other, ar described.

There is no tytle in Hebrewe,

WHy arte thou gone so farre of, O Lorde, wylt thou hyde thy selfe, in time of trouble? A

While the vngodlye hath the ouerhande, the poore must suffre persecutiō

O that they were taken in the ymaginacion which they go aboute,

For the vngodlye maketh booste of hys owne hertes delyre, the Couetous blesseth hī selfe, & blaspheme the Lord.

B The vngodlye is so proude and full of indignacion, that he careth not: neyther is God before hys eyes.

Hys wayes are alwayes fylthye, thy iudgementes are farre out of his syght he defieth all his enemyes.

For he sayth in hys harte: Tush, I shall neuer be cast downe, there shal no harme happen vnto me.

Hys mouth is full of cursinge, fraude and disceate: vnder his tong is a* trauayl and sorowe.

He sitteth lurkinge in the gardens, that he maye pryuely murther the innocente, hys eyes are set vppon the poore.

C He lyeth waytynge secretelye, as yt were a lyon in his denne.

He lurketh that he maye rauisshe the the pore ye to rauish the poore, when he hath gotten hym into his net.

Then smyteth he, then oppresseth he and casteth downe the poore, wyth hys aucthoritie.

For he sayethe in hys harte: Tushe, God hath forgotten, he hath turned awayhys b* face, so ỹ he wyll neuer se it.

Aryse, O Lorde God: lyft vp thyne hande, and forgett not the poore.

Wherfore should the wycked blaspheme God, and say in hys herte: Tush he careth not for it.

This thou sayst for thou considrest the mysery and sorowes.

The poore geueth him selfe ouer in D to thy hande, and compytteth hym vnto the, for ỹ art the helper of the frendlesse.

Breake thou the armes of the vngodly and malicious, search out the wickednesse which he hath don ỹe mayperysh.

The Lorde is kinge for euer. the Heithen shall perishe out of hys lande.

Lorde thou hearest the c* desyrous longinge of the poore: theyr herte is sure, that thyne eare harkeneth therto.

Helpe the fatherlesse and poore vnto theyr right, that the vngodly be no more exalted vpon earth.

a* Trauel & sorowe in the Scripture are taken for wyckednes & malice. as in the. Psal. cxl. c.
b* The face of god in ỹ scripture signifieth often the fauour grace or benyuolence of god, as in the Psal. lxxx. b. & cxix. c.
c* Loke the Psalme next before. b.

The. xi. Psalme.

He reasoneth his wronge with them that thrust him forth of all the dominion of Israel, so that he founde no place to a byde in. He prayseth his confidence to god warde, & the iudgement of God both towarde the good and euel.

To the chaunter of Dauid
a* Loke the tytle of the fourth Psalme.

IN the Lord put I my trust: how wyll ye then say to my soule: ỹ she should flee as a byrde vpon your hill?

For lo b* the vngodlye haue bente their bow, & made redy their arowes in ỹ quyuer, ỹ they may prively shute at them, which are true of herte.

The very foūdacīō haue they caste doun what cā ỹ righteous thē do wal?

B But the lord is in his holy temple the Lordes seate is in heauē: He consydereth it with his eyes, his c* eye lids be holde the chyldren of men.

The lord seeth both the righteous & vngodly, but who so delyteth in wickednes him his soule abhorreth.

Upon ỹ vngodly he shal rayne snares, fyre brimeston storme and tempest: thys reward shall they haue to drincke

For the Lord is righteous, and he loueth righteousnes hes countenaunce beholdeth the thinge that is iuste.

The notes
b* The vngodly haue bent theyr bowe &c
That is a borowed speech by whiche is signified ỹ ỹ wicked enemies of Dauid were most prest & redy to destroye him. For this Psalme as some suppose was made when he fled frō Saul, & hid him selfe frō him in dyuers & sondry places as ye rede. i. Regū frō the xxii chap. to ỹ. xxvii where his persecutiō was so greate ỹ at ỹ length he was faine to flee out of ỹ coastes of Israel vnto ỹ Philistines. After like maner do our soules daily persecut ỹ christē Psal. xxxvii. b c* Loke in the. xxxiii. Psalme. c.

The. xii. Psalme.

He cōplaineth ỹ righteousnes & faith are euery where decayed & ỹ wyly & spyteful flatterers rule al, & prayeth ỹ lorde to haue compassion on the afflicte, which they cruely vexe & also to helpe thē according to his word, which only can not deceaue, and to deliuer his, from the fylthy company of the wicked.

a* To the chaunter vpō b* Shiminith
a Psalme of Dauid
a* Loke ỹ tytle of the. iiii, Psa. b* Loke ỹ title of the vi. Psalme

HElp lord for there is not one saint more: very few faithful are ther amonge the chyldren of men.

Euery man telleth lies to his neighbour: they do but flatter with their lippes and dissemle in thir hert.

O that the lorde wold rote out all dysceatfull lyppes, and the tonge that speketh proude thynges which say: our tōg shuld preuayl: wear
B they ỹ ought to speke, who is lord ouer vs?

Now for the troubles sake of the op preſſed, & becauſe of the cõplaynt of thee poze, I wyll vp (ſayth the Lozde) I will helpe them, and ſet them at reſt.

The wozdes of ỹ Lozd are pure wozdes, euẽ as the ſyluer, which frõ earth is tried & puryfied c* vii tymes in the fyze.

Kepe b* thẽ therfoz (O lozd) & preſerue vs from this generacion foz euer.

And why? when vanitie and ydlenes getteth the ouerhand among the childeren of men, al are full of the vngodlye.

c* That is often times. d* that is, ſuch & ſuch men, after Kimhi. But after Abr. Ezra thy wozdes

The.xiii.Pſalme.

¶ Dauid being in a ieopardus caſe & in great perel doth erneſtly wt pitifulnes deſyre gods helpe, to the tẽt ỹ his enemies ſhuld not reioyſe at his deeth, but ỹ he rather might reioyce of his healthe obtayned, & worthelye magnifye and prayſe his preſeruer God.

a* To the chaunter, a pſalme of dauid.

a* Loke the title of ỹ. iiii. Pſalme,

A HOw long wilt thou forget me, O Lozde? foz euer? how longe wylte thou hyde thy face fro me?

Oh b* how longe ſhall I ſeke councel in my ſoule? how long ſhal I be ſo vexed in myne hazte? how longe ſhall myne enemye triumphe ouer me?

Cõſidze, & heare me, O lozd my God c* lightẽ mine eyes d* ỹ I ſleepe not in deth

B Leſt myne enemye ſay, I haue preuayled againſt hiſoz & I be caſt downe: they that trouble mẽ wyll reioyſe at it.

But my truſt is in thy mercy, & my hart is toyful in thy ſauing health. I wyll ſig of ỹ lozd, ỹ dealeth ſo louingly wtme

(Yee I wyll prayſe the name of the Lozde the mooſt hyeſt)

b* That is how longe ſhall I take deliberation.

c* Lighten. & c. That is, mak me circũſpect, & diligẽt ỹ I nether ſet lyght to do ỹ which ought to be done noz folyſhly attẽpt ỹ which ought to be eſchued, & ſo come vnwiſely in ỹ hãdes of myne enemyes, & be oppreſſed of thẽ: & therfoze do ſome reade: kepe me awake foz that wyych is here reade lyghten myne eyes.

d* That I ſleape not in death, that is that I ſleape not the ſlepe of death, that I dye not and be ouercome of mine enemyes: & therfoze folowyth it, leaſt myn enemye ſaye: I haue preuayled. & c.

The.xiiii.Pſalme.

¶ He bewaileth that al places are ful of wycked & open ſinners, & deſcribeth their moſt coꝛrupte, fylthy and vyolente condicyon: and further, he prophecyeth vengaunce to them, and ſaluacyon to the innocent whom they oppreſſe and deuoure.

a* To the chaunter of Dauid

a* Loke the title of ỹ. iiii. Pſalm.

A THe folyſh bodies ſay in theyr hertes thuſh there is no god

They are coꝛrupt & becõe abompnable in ther doig ther is not one ỹ doth good

The lozd loked dounfrom heauẽ vpõ ỹ chyldzẽ of mẽ, to ſe yf there were any that wold vnderſtand & ſeke after God

But b* they are al gone out of the waye they are altogether become vnprofitable: ther is nõ ỹ dothe good, no not one.

How cã they haue vnderſtãdig, that wozke miſchefe, eatig vp my pepie, as it were bred, & cal not vpon the Lozde?

Therfoze ſhall they be brought in greate feare, foz god ſtandeth by the c* generacion of the rightuous.

As foz you, d* ye haue made amock at ỹ councell of the pooze, becauſe he putteth his truſt in the Lozde.

Oh that the ſauyng healthy were geuen vnto Iſrael out of Sion.

Oh that the Lozd wold deliuer his people out of captyuyte.

Then ſhulde e* Jacob reioyſe, and Iſraell ſhulde be ryght glad.

b* They are al gone out of ỹ way, ỹ is, they are al departed frõ the waye of God & haue ſet aſide his lawe, & are fallẽ to theyr owne inuencions. councelles and prouyſyons Pſal, liii, a. Roma, iii, b.

c* The generacio of ỹ ryghtwyſe are al theſe which by fayth are made the ſonnes of god, iuſtifyed by the ryghtwyſnes of Chriſt Pſal, cxii. a. d * ye haue maꝛ, amock. & ce, that is, ye haue cõtemned blaſphemed &, made he reſye the councell of the pooze. deſpiſed, and ryghtwes man: becauſe he foꝛſoke al prouiſion foz hym ſelfe but that only which he vnfaynedly beleued to haue of God, foz his ſauyng healthes ſake Chryſt. * By Jacobe oz Iſraell is vnderſtande the ſtock progeny. & offſpryng of Jacop oz Iſrael, as in the Pſalm. xx. a

The.xv.Pſalme,

This ſal. deſcrybeth what maners cõdicios ỹ verteziis of heuẽ & mẽbꝛes of ỹ church of god muſt haue.

A Pſalme of Dauid.

LOzd, who ſhal dwel ĩ thy tabernacle: who ſhal reſt vpõ thy holy hyl

Euẽ he that leadeth an vncoꝛrupt life that doth ỹ thing which is right & that a* ſpeaketh the truth frõ his hert.

He that vſeth no diſceat in his tonge he ỹ doth no euell to his neighboure, & ſlaundreth not hys neyghbours

He ỹ ſetteth not by ỹ vngodli, but maketh much of thẽ ỹ feare ỹ lozd: he ỹ ſweareth vnto his nebor & diſpoiteth hĩ not

B He ỹ geueth not his money vpõ vſury & taketh no reward againſt the innocẽt

Who ſo doth theſe thinges, ſhal neuer be remoued

a* To ſpeake ỹ truth frõ his hert is to meane good fayth & to do ỹ he promyſeth ſo that he faine not in word another thing thẽ he thinketh i hert Pſa xvii

The.xvi.Pſalme.

¶ He deſyreth God to be hys defender. He profeſſeth that he is geuen to the fauour of the ſayncte & that he abhoꝛreth Idolatrers. He loketh to haue the perfect and contynual ioye of the ſyght of god.

a* Michtam of Dauid.

pro

A PReſerue me (O God) for in the do I truſt.

I haue ſayde vnto the Lorde: thou art my God, my goodes are nothinge vnto the.

All my delyte is vpon the *[b]ſaincte=s that are in the earth, and vpō ſuch lyke.

But they that runne after another ſhall haue greate trouble.

Their vyente offeringes of bloude wyll not I offer, nether make mencyō of their name in my mouth.

The Lorde hym ſelfe is my good & my porcyon, yͤ mayntayneſt myne enhe
B ritaunce.

The lot is fallen vnto me in a faire ground, yee I haue a goodly heritage.

I wyll thancke the Lorde for geeuing me warning: my reynes alſo haue chaſtened me in the nyght ſeaſon.

Afore hande ſawe I God al wayes before me, for he [c]* is on my right hand that I ſhoulde not be moued.

Therfore did my hert reioyce, & my tounge was glad, my fleſhe alſo ſhall reſt in hope.

nota one not my wil com paſſ

For why? [d]* thou ſhalt not leue my ſoule in hell, nether ſhalte thou ſuffre thy ſaincte to ſe corrupcyon.

Thou haſt ſhewed me the wayes of lyfe: thou ſhalt make me ful of ioy wͭ thy countenaunce.

At thy ryght hand there is pleaſure and ioye for euer more.

The. Notes

b* Here and in many other places, the ſcripture calleth the faithfull ſayncte, as in the Pſal. xii. a. and the Apoſtle in many places of his epyſtles. c* Is on my ryght hande, that is, helpeth, aydeth and ſocoureth me, and is preſt and redye therto. Pſal. cix. d d*. Thou ſhalt not leaue my ſoule in hell, that is, thou ſhalte not ſo forſake me that my ſoule ſhal dye: And that foloweth, Nether ſhalte thou ſuffer thy ſaynct to ſe corrupcyon, ſignifieth: thou ſhalt not ſuffer my bodye to abyde in the graue ſo to corrupt. So doth peter expound this place of Chriſt. Act. ii. & Paul. Act xiii.

¶ The. xvii. Pſalme

¶ A vehement and feruente prayer of Dauid that he myght be delyuered from the perſecucions of Saul. He innocently prayſeth his owne innocencye as he did in the. vii. Pſalme. He cryeth for helpe, deſcribeth the proude condicions and vayne intencyons of his perſecuters, and confeſſeth that hys felycyte conſyſteth in the knowledge of God

A prayer of Dauid.

HEre the right (O Lorde) cōſidre my cōplaynte: herken unto my prayer, that goeth not oute of a fayned mouth.

Let my ſentence come forthe frō thy preſentes: and loke vpon the thynge that is equall.

Thou haſt proued, and vyſyted mine herte in the night ſeaſon: thou haſt tried me in the [a]* fyre and haſt founde no wickednes in me: for I vtterly purpoſed that my mouth ſhulde not offende B

Be cauſe of the wordes of thy lippes. I haue kept me from the workes of men: in the waye of the murtherer.

Oh order thou my goynges in thy pathes: yͤ my fote ſteppes ſlyppe not.

For vnto the I [b]* crye: heare me O god: encline thine eares to me: & herken vnto my wordes.

Shew thy meruelous louing kind
C neſſe, thou that ſaueſt them which put their truſt in the, from ſuch as reſiſte thy right hande.

Kepe me as the apple of an eye defēd me vnder yͤ [c]* ſhadow of thy wynes

From the vngodly that trouble me fro myne enemyes which compaſſe my ſoule rounde aboute.

Which mayntayne their owne welthynes with oppreſſion, & their mouth ſpeaketh proude thynges.

They lye wayting in our waye on
D euerye ſide, turnyng their eyes downe to the grounde.

Like as a lyon that is gredy of his praye, and as it were a lyons whelpe lorkinge in his denne.

Up Lorde, diſapoynt him and caſte hym downe delyuer my ſoule with thy ſwerde from the vngodly.

From the man of thy hand (O lord) from the man of yͤ world whiche haue theyr porcyō in this lyfe: whoſe belyes thou fylleſt with the treaſure.

They haue chyldren at their deſire and leaue the reſt of theyr ſubſtaunce for theyr babes.

But as for me, I wil behold thy preſence in righteouſnes: & when thy glory appeareth, I ſhall be ſatyſfyed.

a*. The afflyccyō ſent of god is the fyre that tryeth al the faithful, as in the Pſal. lxv. vi, c. & i. Petri. iiii c. b* To crye is not to roare in the queare. but to praye inſtantly & affectuouſly and with the whole herte, as Pſal. xviii. a c* The ſhadow of his wynges here ſignifi the protection & vnſpeakable goodnes of god by whiche onlye we ſtand in ſafetie. It is a borowed ſpeech of nature of a henne, which nourisheth, fedeth and defendeth her chykens vnder her wynges ye fyghteth for the, & dispiseth her owne lyfe to saue the. Chryst bewayleth a lyke speache in mathew, xxiii.

¶ The. xviii. Psalme.

¶ Fyrst he describeth ỹ grate and feruent confidẽce which he had in God, and then ỹ euelles wherwith he was ouer laden: after that the power of GOD and good wyll towarde hym: Then sheweth he his owne deliueraunce, his innocẽcy & the iudgement of God towarde al'mẽ. And after these, the greate victory obtayned of his most myghty enemy and that the coastes of his kyngdome were marueloussly enlarged and hys powar confyrmed for euer: at ỹlast he endeth the Psalme with prayses and with a prophesy of Chryste.

¶ *a To the chaunter of Dauid seruaunte of the Lorde, which sayde vnto the Lorde the wordes of this song, on the daye in which the Lorde deliuered hym from the hand of al his enemies, and from the hande of Saull, & sayd.

I Wyll loue ỹ (O lorde) my strength.

A The Lorde is my succur my refuge, my Saupour: my God, my helpar in whome I trust: my buckler, & *the horne of my health, and my protectyon.

I wyll prayse the Lorde, and call vpon hym, so shall I be safe from myne enemyes.

c *The sorowes of deathe compassed me, and the brokes of vngodlines made me afrayed.

The paynes of hell came about me, the snares of death toke hold vpõ me.

Yet in my trouble I called vpon the Lorde and complayned vnto my God.

So he hearde my voyce out of hys holy temple, and my complaynte came before hym, yee euen into his eares.

Then the earthe trembled and quaked, the very foundacyons of the hylles shoke and were remoued, because he was wrothe:

B There wente a smoke oute of hys nostrels and a consumynge fyre out of hys mouth, so that d *coales were kyndeled at it.

He bowed the heauens e* and came downe, and it was darcke vnder hys fete.

He rode vpon the f* Cherubins and dyd flie: he came flyenge with the wynges of the wynde.

He made darckenesse hys pauylion rounde aboute hym, wyth darcke water and thycke cloudes tocouer hym.

At the brightnes of his presence the cloudes remoued, wt hayle stones and coales of fyre.

The Lorde also thondered out of the heauen, and the heygthe gaue his thonder whaile stones & coles of fyre.

He sent out his arowes and scatred them, he caste sore lyghtenynges, and destroyed them.

The springes of waters were sene, & the foundacyons of the round world were dyscouered at thy chydynge (O Lorde) at the blastyng and breth of thy displeasures.

He sent downe frõ ỹheygth to fetch me, & toke me out of s* greate waters.

He delyuered me fro my strong enemyes, and fro my foes whiche were to myghty for me.

They preuentid me in ỹ tyme of my trouble, but the lorde was my defence.

He brought me forth allo into lyberte: and delyuered me, because he had a fauour vnto me.

The Lorde shall rewarde me after my rightuous dealing, and according to the clennesse of my handes shall he recompence me.

For I haue kepte the wayes of the the Lorde: and haue not behaued my selfe wickedly agaynst my God

I haue an eye vnto all hys lawes & cast not out hys cõmaũdemẽtes fro me

Uncorrupte wil I be before him, & will eschue myne owne wickednes.

D Therfore shall the Lorde rewarde me after my ryghtuous dealyng, and according vnto the clennes of my hãdes in his eyesighte.

With the holy thou shalt be holy, and wt the innocent thou shalt be innocent

With the cleane thou shalt be cleane and with the frowarde thou shalte be frowarde.

For thou shalte saue the poore oppressed, and bring downe the hye lokes of the proude.

Thou lyghtest my candle, O lorde my God: thou makest my darckenes to be lyght:

For in the I can discomforte an host of men: yee in my God I can leape ouer the wall

The

E The waye of god is a perfect waye: the wordes of the lorde are tryed in the fyre: he is a ſhylde of defence, for al thē that truſt in hym,

For who is God but the Lord? Or who hath any ſtrenght, but our God?

It is God that gyrded me with ſtrēgth, and made my waye vncorrupte.

He hath made my fete lyke hertes fete & ſet me vpon hye.

He teacheth myne handes to fyght, & maketh myne armes to breake euen a bowe of ſtele.

Thou haſte geuen me the defence of thy health, thy right hande vpholdeth me, and thy louynge correccyon maketh me greate.

Thou haſt made b* rowme ynough vnder me for to go, ỹ my fote ſteppes ſhoulde not ſlyde.

I wyl folowe vpon myne enemies and take thē: I will not turne eyl they be diſcomforted.

I wyll ſmyte them, they ſhall not be able to ſtand, but fal vnder mi fete.

F Thou haſt girded me with ſtrength vnto the battel, thou haſt throwen thē all downe vnder me, ỹ roſe vp againſt me.

Thou haſt made myne enemies to tourne their backes vpōme, thou haſt deſtroyed them that hated me.

They cried but there was none to helpe them: yee euen vnto the lord but he herde them not.

I wyll beate them as ſmall as the duſt claye in the winde, I will caſt thē out as the claye in the ſtretes.

Thou ſhalte delyuer me from the ſtryuinges of ỹ people, thou ſhalt make me the i* heade of the Heathen.

A people whom I haue not knowē ſhall ſerue me.

As ſone as they heare of me, they ſhall obey me, but the k* ſtraunge chil dren dyſſemble with me.

The ſtraunge chyldren are waxen olde, and go haltynge out of their pa thes.

The Lorde lyuethe: and bleſſed be G my helpar, prayſed be the God of my health.

Euen the God whyche ſeyth that I be auenged and ſubdueth the peple vnto me.

It is he that delyuereth me from my cruell enemyes: thou ſhalt lyft me vp from them that ryſe ogaynſt me ỹ ſhalt rydde me from the wycked man.

For thys cauſe I wyll geue thankes vnto the (O lord) among the gentiles, and ſinge prayſes vnto thy name.

Greate proſperite geueth he vnto hys kyng, and ſheweth louyng kynd neſſe vnto Dauid hys anoynted, yee & vnto hys ſede for euermore.

The Notes

b * He calleth GOD the horne of hys healthe, becauſe by hym he had ſubdued hys enemyes, and obtayned health. It is a borowed ſpeache of horned beaſtes, whiche with their hornes defende them ſelues and dryue awaye them that fyght agaynſte them. Pſalm. xliiii. a. c * By the ſorowes of death And brockes of vngodlynes (by whyche is ment the obſtynate multitude of the wicked and vngodlye) the paynes of hell, and the ſnares of death: are ſignifyed the ieopardous, and terryble feares which by the wickednes of hys enemyes happened vnto hym, and broughte hym verye often euen to deathes doare: ſo that by the iudgement of the fleſh he thought hym ſelfe vtterly caſte awaye.

d * Coales after the vſe of the ſcripture ſignifie the ſnepinges) the anger or the indignacyon of god Pſal. cxx. a/e * Of this ye haue, Gene. xi. a. f * Cherubin in Hebrue ſignifieth in Engliſhe ſwyft. birdes. By all the thinges here reherſed is deſcribed the power, mighte and maiſtye of almyghtye God, whyche he declareth in tempeſtes, of whiche the whole. xxix. Pſal. entreateth, and in Job, xxxvii are like thynges mencyoned to the ſettinge out of hys power. Often tymes we reade, that God whenhe woulde more openlye and more expreſſelye declare his power vnto men, cauſed thunder, lightenynge, and earthe quakes. ꝛc As in Exo. xix. when the law was geuen. And. i. Regum. xii. when the people deſyred a kinge. Mat. xxvii when Chriſte was on the croſſe. Act. ii. when the holye goſte came vpon the Apoſtles. Actnū. iiii. when they prayed With ſuch lyke wondres do ſom ſuppoſe that God dyd at one tyme or other ſhewe hys benyuolence to Dauid, and confyrmed hys promes / with ſhakynge of the earth, ſendyng thonder, lightenynge hayle, cloudes ſtormes and other terryble tokens, wherewyth he holpe Dauid, and ouerthrue hys enmyes. Nether letteth it that the ſcripture mencioneth not therof in any place. For it mencioneth not the tempeſt whi she Eſai prophecyed to come in the delyueraunce of Jeruſalem from the Aſſirians, yet who wil deny but that it was in very deade ſo done.

g * By the waters, are ſignified, myghty and valyaunte enemyes from whiche he ſayth he was delyuered by the hande of god.

h * Rowme ynough ſignifieth abundaunce or proſperyte of all thynges Pſal. cxix. d i * Heed for ruler or gouernere k * Straunge chyldren are thoſe that ought to be of the houſholde of god, and that alſo auaūce them ſelues thereof, but be in dead worldely, and walcke not in the pathes of his commaūdemenetes / as they haue promiſed to do. Wherof is ſpoken Eſai. i. a.

The. xix. Pſalme

The deſcrybeth the power of God, wonderfully declared by the worckemanſhyp of the heauens He ſheweth the excellentnes of the lawe of god, deſyreth to be ſaued from ſynne, and wiſſhethe that whoſo

soeuer

ſoeuer he ether thinketh in hert or ſpeaketh w̄ mouth maye be good and acceptable to God.

a* To the chaunter a Pſalme of dauid

a* Loke the tytle of the fourth Pſalme.

A THe very heauens declare the glo ry of God, and the very firmamēt ſheweth hys handy worcke.
One daye telleth another, and one nyght certyfyeth another.
There is nether ſpeach nor lāgage,
but their voices are herde amōg them Their ſounde is gone out into al landes, and their wordes in to the endes of the worlde.
In them hath he ſet a tabernacle for y
Sunne, which cōmeth forth as a bry-
B degrome out of his chāmbre, and reioyſeth as a geaunt to runne his courſe.
It goeth forth frō the one ende of the heauen, and runneth aboute vnto the ſame end, and ther may no man hyde hym ſelfe from the heate therof.
b* The lawe of the Lorde is a per-fecte lawe it quickenethe the ſoule.
The teſtimony of the lorde is true,
and geueth wiſdome euē vnto babes
The ſtatutes of the Lorde are right,
C and reioyce the herte: the commaunde ment of the Lorde is pure and geueth light vnto the eyes.
The feare of the lord is cleane, and endureth for euer: the iudgementes of the Lorde are true and ryghtuous altogether.
More pleaſaunt are they then golde, yee then much fyne golde: ſweter then hony and the hony combe.
These thy ſeruaunt kepeth, & for keping of them there is greate rewarde.
Who can tel, how oft he offēdeth? Oh
D clenſe thou me fro my ſecrete fautes.
Kepe thy ſeruaūt alſo frō preſumptuous ſinnes, leſt they get the dominion ouer me: ſo ſhal I be vndefiled and in nocent from the greate offence.
Yee the wordes of my mouth and the meditacyon of my herte ſhalbe acceptable vnto the, O Lord, my helper and my redemer.

b* The lawe of the Lorde is an introduction to lyue well cōmaundynge what whyche muſt be done, & forbyddynge the contrarie: vnto which the hert of mā muſt fauour, & deſyre to do it, & exercyſe hymſelfe therin, as it is ſayde Pſal. i. a.

¶ The. xx. Pſalme.

¶ A prayer wherein the people deſyre the helth to kyng Dauid, goyng to a difficulte and ieopardus battell, & alſo a thankeſgeuinge of health and victorye geuen from aboue.

a* To ỹ chaunter, a pſalme of Dauid

a* Loke the Tytle of the fourth. Pſalm.

THe Lord heare ỹ in the time A of troubte, ỹ b* name of the c* god of Jacob defende ỹ Sende the helpe frō ỹ Sā ctuary, and ſtrength the out of Sion.
Remembre all thy offerynges, and ac
cepte thy brent ſacrifyce, d* Selah.
Graunte the thy hertes deſyre, and fulfyll all thy mynde.
We wyll reioyce in thy health, & trūphe in the name of the Lord our Gods lorde perfourme all thy peticyons:
Now knowe I, that the lorde helpeth B his anoynted, and wil heare hym from hys holye heauen: myghtye is the help of hys ryght hande.
Some put their truſt in charets, and ſome in horſes but we wyll remembre the name of the Lorde oure God.
They are brought downe and fallen,
but we are ryſen and ſtand vp ryght.
Saue, Lorde, and helpe vs, O kī-ge, when we call vpon the.

The Notes.

b* That is, the maieſtye.

c* By the God of Jacob or Iſrael is vnderſtande the God of ỹ whole ſtock, progeny or ſpringe of Jacob or Iſrael, & further of all the people of the Lorde: as in Eſa. xliii. a The cauſe why, is, that Jacob, which as ye reade Geneſis. xxxv. b. was after called Iſrael, was father vnto the. xii. Patriaches, of whom the. xii. trybes and the whole people of Iſrael deſcended.

d* Loke the Pſalm, iii. a.

¶ The. xxi. Pſalme.

¶ A thankeſgeuinge which the people vſed for ỹ victory and other benefytes that Dauid abouudantly receaued.

a* To ỹ chaūter, a Pſalme of Dauid.

a* Loke the Tytle of the fourth Pſalm.

LOrd, how ioyful is ỹ kinge in thy A ſtrēgth? O how exceadyng glad is he of thy ſauynge health?
Thou haſt geuē him his herts deſyre, and haſt put hym from the requeſte of his lippes b* Selah.
For thou haſt preuēted him with ly berall c* bleſſynges, and ſet a crowne of golde vpon his heade.
He aſked lyfe of the, and thou gaueſt him a longe lyfe. euen for euer & euer.
His honour is greate in thy ſauyng health, glory and great worſhyp ſhalt thou laye vpon him.
For thou ſhalt geue him euerlaſtinge felycite, and make him glad with the ioye of thy countenaunce.

And

And why? because the kynge putteth his truste in the lorde and in the mercye of the moost hyest he shall not myscary.

Let all thyne Ennemyes feele thy hande: let thy righte hande fynde oute all them that hate thee.

B Thou shalt make them lyke a fyry ouen in tyme of thy wrathe: the Lorde shall destroye them in hys displeasure, and the fyre shall consume them.

Theyr frute shalt thou rote out of ỹ earthe, and theyr sede from amonge the chyldren of men.

For they intended mischefe against thee, & ymagined suche deuises, as they were not able to performe.

Therfore shalt thou put thē to flight and with thy stringes thou shalt make ready thine arrowes against ỹ faces of them.

Be thou exalted Lorde in thyne owne strength, so wyll we synge and prayse thy power

The Notes

b* Loke the Psalme. iii. a.

c* Blessings for honours as in Gen. xii. I wyl blesse them that blesse the. x, c.

d* This is also an vsuall thyng in the scriptures, to take the hand of God for the vengeaunce which he taketh on synners. Job xix. a. Psal. x. c. x, xxxix. c.

The. xxii. Psalme.

Dauid declareth very euidently in this Psalme that he was a figure of Chryste. First he declareth Chrystes dejection and small estimacion, & then the exaltacion and dilatation of hys kingdom, euen to the coastes of the earth and ende of the worlde. and all vnder the figure and shadowe of hym selfe.

a* To the Chaunter vppon b* Aieleth c* of the dawning, A Psalme of Dauid.

a* Loke the tytle of the fourth Psalme.

b* Aieleth signifieth a certen instrument of musike or as some wyll a certen kynde of melodye. Diuers Auctours do diuersely expounde it.

c* Of the dawning, This Psalm was made of our Sauiour Chryst, and because it was not conuenient to describe him wythout a mistical word, he calleth hym the dawning, or (as some wyll) the morninge starre.

a My God, my God: why hast thou forsake me: the wordes of my complaynte are farre fro my healthe.

O my God I d* crye in the daye tyme, but thou hearest not: & in the night season also I take no rest.

Yet dwellest thou in the sanctuarye, O thou worshippe of israell.

Our fathers hoped in thee, they trusted in thee, and thou dyddest delyuer them.

They called vpō thee, and were helped: thei put their trust in thee and were not confounded

But as for me, I am a worme & noo man, a very scorne of men, and thee out caste of the people.

All they that se me, laugh me to scorne, B they shote out theyr lyppes. and shake theyr heades.

He trusted in God, let hym delyuer hym: let hym helpe hym, if he wyll haue hym.

But thou art he that toke me out of my mothers wombe, thou wast my hope, when I hanged yet vppon my mothers brestes.

I haue bene left vnto thee euer sence I was borne, thou art my god, euen fro my mothers wombe.

O, go not fro me then, for trouble is C harde at hande, and here is none to helpe me.

c* Greate bulles are comme aboute me, fatte oxen close me in on euery syde.

They f* gape vppon me with theyr mouthes, as it were a rāpyng and roaringe lyon.

I am poured oute lyke water, all my bones are out of ioynt, my hert in the mids dest of my bodye is euen lyke meltinge ware.

My streng th is dryed vp lyke a potsherd, my tounge cleueth to my gūmes and thou hast brought me into the dust of deathe. D g* For dogges are come aboute me, the counsel of the wicked hath layde seage against me.

They pearced my handes and my fete: I myght haue tolde al my bones, as for them, they stode staring and lokyng vpon me.

They haue parted my garmentes amonge them, and caste lottes vpon my vesture.

But bee not thou farre from me, O Lorde: thou art my succoure, haste thee to helpe me.

Delyuer my soule from the sweard, my dearelynge, from the power of the C dogge.

Saue me from the Lions mouth, & heare me from amonge the hornes of the h* vnicornes.

So wyl I declare thy name vnto my brethren bzethzen, in the myddest of the cõgre= gacion wyll I pzayse the,

O pzaise the Lozd ye that feare him Magnify him all ye sede of Jacob, & let al the seade of Israel feare him.

F Foz he hath not despysed nor abhoz red the miserable estate of ỹ pooze: he hath not hid his face fro me, but when I called vnto him, he herde me.

I wyll pzayse the in the c*greate con gregacion, and perfourme my vowes in ỹ sight of al them that feare the.

The pooze shall eate & be satysfyed:
they that seke after the lozd shal pzaise him our hert shall lyue foz euer.
All the endes of the wozld shal remẽbze them selues, and be turned vnto ỹ loz de, and all the generacyons of the Hey then shal wozshippe before him,

G Foz ỹ kyngdom is the lozdes, & he shall be the gouernour of the Heithen.
All soch as be d*fat vpõ erth shal eat al so & wozshyp! * All they that lye in ỹ dust, and lyue so hardly, shal fal downe before hym.
The sede shal serue hym, and pzeache of the Lozde foz euer.
They shal come, and declare hys rygh tuousnes: vnto a people that shalbebo rne, whom the lorde hath made,

The notes

d* What is sygnyfyed by crying in the scrypture.
ye shall fynde in the Psal. xv. a e* Under the name of beasts are vnderstãd the hea des, rulars and mygthty of power, which ar fatte de wythe ryches of thys wozld, Amos, iiii. a f* To gape oz opẽ their mouthes wide, is expoun ded in Job, xvi. b.
g* By dogges are vnderstande the tyzaunye & the crueltye of the Jewes towarde chzist. Like dogges are thei at al tym, which Jewishly and hainously persequute ỹ membzes of Chzist. that is: the faith= full. h* By these vnicornes vnderstande the cõmen people of the Jewes which cruelly & furyously put them selfes in pzeace agaynst Chzist, crying, Cru= cifye hi. Crucifye hi. Math, xxvii.
i* The greate congzegacion is the whole compa=
nye & multytude of thẽ that feare God, as wel of ỹ Jewes as of the gentyles thozow oute the whole wozlde: yf they beleue to receaue the pzo meses of God foz Chzistes sake only as it is saide Joel. ii. g
And the time shall come that whosoeuer call. &c.
k* Loke in the Psal. lxxviii. d. l* Som vnderstãd this of ỹ deed: other of ỹ rych wh foz their misery are like vnto ỹ deede & cannot pzo= longe theyr lyfe.

The. xxiii. Psalme.

He describeth the wonderful suertye & great gra ce of a faythful and sure confidence in God.

A Psalme of Dauid

The Lozd is my shepherde, I can want nothynge:
He fedeth me in a grene pasture & ledeth me to a fresh a* water.
He quickeneth my soule, & bzigeth me fozthe in the waye of ryghtuousnes foz hys names sake.
Though I should walke now in ỹ val ley of ỹ b* shadow of death, yet I feare no euel, foz thou art with me: thy staffe & thy shepe hoke comfoze me:
Thou pzepareste a c* table before me agaynst myne enemies: thou anointest my head with oyle, and fillest my cupp full,
Oh let thy louynge kyndnes and mer cy folowe me all the dayes of my lyfe, that I may dwel in the house of the loz de foz euer.

a* The fresh water is the healthful water of the worde of God, of which is saide, Esai. lv. a b* Shadowe foz darknes & affliction, as it is said Esai. li. e
c* Loke the. Psal. lxxviii. c,

The. xxiiii. Psalme.

When the Lozd, had shewed vnto Dauid that ỹ threshynge flour of Oznan ỹ Jebusite, which was in the hyll Mozia, was the place where he wolde ha ue a temple buylded foz hym, Dauid monisheth vñ the singular goodnes of god toward the Israelites amongest whom he had chosen hym a dwellyng pla ce, describeth to whom the place of God doth verely belonge, and whych is the very nacion of God, and amongest whome he vouchsaueth to dwel. Then he exhozteth them to the buylding of the temple.

A Psalme of Dauid.

The earth is the Lozdes, and all ỹ A therin is: the compasse of ỹ wozld, and all that dwell therin.
Foz he hath foũded it vpon the sees and buylded it vpon the floudes.
Who shall go vp vnto the hyll of ỹ Lozde? Oz, who shall remayne in hys holye place?
Euen he that hath innocent handes & a cleane hert: which a* lyfteth not vp his mynde vnto vanitie, and swearethe not to deceaue, he shall receaue the bles synge from the, lozd and mercy frõ god his sauiour.
This is the generacion of them that se= B
ke hym, of them that seke thy b* face, O Jacob. Selah.
Open youre gates (O ye pzinces) let the euerlasting dozes be opened, that ỹ kynge of glozye maye come in.
Who is thys kinge of glozye? It is the Lozde, strong and mygthye, Euen the lozde mygthte in battell.
Open your gates (O ye pzinces) let the euerlastinge dozes be opened, that ỹ kynge of golzy maye come in.
Who is thys kinge of glozye? It is the Lord of hooſtes, he is the king of glorye. c* Selah.

a* Which lyfteth not vp hys minde vnto vanitie, That is, whych glorifyeth not hym ſelfe nor eſteameth or ſetteth by him ſelf as though he were ſomewhat, but taketh hym ſelfe for nothynge, Gala. vi.

b* That is the fauour of thy god.

c* Loke in ꝑthyrd Pſalm, a

¶ The. xxv. Pſalme.

¶ Ipzayer of Dauid oppreſſed both with ſinne & with enemyes. He prayeth the lorde to delyuer him from his ſynnes to ſhewe him his wayes and to ryde him from the furye of his enemyes. In the ende he prayeth for all the people.

¶ Of Dauid.

א VNto the (O lorde) I lyfte vp my ſoule, My God, I truſte in the:

Oh let it me not be confounded leſt mine enemies triumphe, ouer me. For al they that hope in the ſhal not be aſhamed: but ſuch as be ſcornefull deſpiſers without acauſe, they ſhalbe put to confuſyon.

Shewe me thy wayes, O Lord, & teach me thy pathes.

Lede me in thy trueth and lerne me, for thou art the god of my health, & in ỹ is my hope all the daye longe.

ב Call to remembraūce, O lorde, thy tender mercyes and thy louinge kindneſſes which haue bene euer of olde.

Oh remēbre not the ſynnes & offences of my youth, but accordynge vnto thy mercy thinke vpō me, O Lord, for thy goodneſſe.

O how frendly & rightuous is the Lorde. therfore will he teach ſynners in the waye.

He ledeth the ſymple aright, & ſuch as be b* meke then lerneth he is wayes ג All the wayes of the lorde are verye mercy & faithfulneſſe, vnto ſuch as kepe his c* teſtament and couenaunt.

For thy names ſake, O lorde, be mercyfull vnto my ſynne, for it is greate, Whatſoeuer he be that feareth ỹ lorde, he ſhal ſhewe hym the waye that he hath choſen.

His ſoule ſhal dwel at eaſe, and his ſede ſhal poſſeſe the lande.

The ſecrete of the Lorde is among them that feare him, and he ſhewethe them his couenannt.

Myne eyes are euer lokynge vnto the Lorde, for he ſhall plucke my fete out of the net.

ד Turne the vnto me and haue mercye vpō me, for I am deſolate & in miſery.

The ſorowes of my hert, ar great, O bringe me out of my troubles.

Loke vpō mine aduerſite & myſery, & and forgeue me al my ſynnes.

Cōſidre how mine enemies are many, and bere a malicious hate againſt me.

O kepe my ſoule, and delyuer me: let me not be confounded, for I haue put my truſt in the.

Let innocency and ryghtuous dealig waite vpon me, for my hope is in the.

ה Deliuer Iſraell, O God, out of all hys trouble.

a* To knowe the wayes of the lord, is to line a life that pleaſeth God that is to lyue in his fayth & to let him leade vs by his goodnes: ỹ ſame is the way of lyfe, before in that. xvi.

b* Loke after in the Pſalme. xxxiii. a.

c* A Teſtament is properly the laſt will of him that dyeth, which may not be chaūged or altered. Wherfore the Teſtament of Chriſt is the promes and the word wherby we be elect and choſen the childre of God thorow him, as he ſaith. Hebr. ix. d.

¶ The. xxvi. Pſalme.

¶ He deſcribeth to the enſample of the good, what endeuerance he gaue to innocenſye & howe warely he eſchued the company of the euell: then prayeth he to eſkape the vengeance that abideth ỹ wicked, ſithē he lyueth holely and deſyreth nothing more, thē to ſet out the glory of God.

¶ Of Dauid

ד BE thou my iudge, O Lorde, for I walke innocentlye. my truſte is in the lord, therfore ſhall I not fall.

Examen me, O lord: and proue me, trie out my a* reynes and my harte.

For thy louing kindneſſe is before myne eyes, and I walke in thy trueth.

ב b* I ſitte not amonge vayne perſones, and haue no fellowſhypp with the deceatfull.

I hate the congregation of the wycked, and I wyll nott ſytte amonge the vngodlye.

ג I walſhe my handes with innocency, O Lord, and ſo go I to thyne alter.

That I maye ſhewe ỹ voyce of thy prayſe, & tell all thy wonderous workes

Lorde, I loue the habitacion of thy houſe, and the place where thy honours dwelleth ז Deſtroy not my ſoule, with the ſinners, nor my lyfe w the bloudthurſtye.

In whoſe c* handes is wickedneſſe, and their ryght hand is ful of gyftes.

But as for me I wyl walke innocētly: O deliuer me, and be merciful vntome

ח My d* fote ſtandethe ryght: I wyll

prayſe

prayse ỹ (O Lord) in ỹ congregacions

The Notes

a* By the herte and reynes will he sygnifie the delectacions and affeccions of the flesh, which let hi to folowe God. As aboue in the Psal.xvii.b.

b* To syt amonge vayne persones, is, to conspire with the vnbeleuing and to be a companiõ of their vnbeleefe as aboue in the fyrst Psal.a of ỹ scorneful c* Of this loke ỹ Psal.lxxvii.a

d* Fote in the Scriptures is taken for the affecciõ desyre or wil of the hert as after in the Psa.xxxvi.b

O let not the fote of pride ouertake me.

¶ The.xxvii.Psalme.

¶ This Psalme made Dauid vpon some greate & Ieopardous perill against which he hertened him selfe not alytel, with calling to remembraunce ỹ promes of god: and therby persuaded him selfe that he shoulde haue the victory, and after liue peaceably in the trade of godly lyuing.

Of Dauid.

The Lord is my lyght and my helth: whome then shoulde I fere, the Lorde is my strengthe of my lyfe, for whome then shulde I be afrayde.

Therfore when the wycked, euen myne enemies and my foes, come vpõ me to eate vp my flesh, thei stõble & fel

Though an host of men were layd against me, yet shall not my hert be afrated: & thoughe there rose vp warre against me yet wil I put my trust i hi.

One thynge haue I desyred of the lorde, which I wyll requyre: namely ỹ I maye dwel in the house of the lorde all the dayes of my lyfe, to beholde the fayer bewtye of the Lorde, and to vyset his temple.

For in the time of trouble he hath hid me in his tabernacle, yee in the secrete place of his dwelling hath he kept and set me vp vpon a[a]* rocke of stone

And now hath he[b]* lyft vp my hed aboue myne enemyes that compassed me round aboute.

Therfore will I offer in hys dwellynge, the oblacyon of thankesgeuing: I wyll synge and speake prayses vnto the Lorde.

Herken vnto my voice O lorde whẽ I crye vnto the: haue mercye vpon me and heare me.

My hert speaketh vnto ỹ: my face seketh ỹ, yee lord, thy face will I seke.

D[c]* hide not thou thy face fro me, cast not thy seruaunt of in displasure:

Thou art my succour, leaue me not nether forsake me, O god my sauoure.

For my father and my mother haue forsaken me, but the Lord hath taken me vp.

Shewe me thy waye O lorde and leade me in the ryght path, because of mine enemies.

Delyuer me not into ỹ wyles of mine aduersaries, for there are false wytnesses rysen vp agaynst me, and they ymagin mischefe. B

Neuertheless I beleue verely to se the goodnesse of the lord in the[d]* lãde of the lyuing.

D[e]* tary thou the lordes leasure, be stõge, let thine herte be of good comfort, and waite thou still for the lord.

The notes

a* The scripture doth often take a rocke for strength and stablenesse figured of Christ, whych is the true & sure foundacion of the church Psal.xl a b* That is vanquesshed mine enemies.

c* To hide his face from him, not to care for him is not to care for him to trouble him, and not to heare him: And on ỹ contrarye part not to hyde his face from him is to care for him to help him, and succor him and fauorably to heare him.

Psal.xxxiii.li.ciii.cxliii.

d* This is expounded in the Psalme.cxlii.b

d* To tarye the Lordes leasure is not to determyn God a time when he should healpe vs, but pacyently to abide assured ỹ help wil come. Psal.xxvii f.a.c

¶ The.xxviii.Psalme

¶ He prayeth ỹ Lord not to forsake hi in his greate necessite he desyreth that he beynge innocent be not auenged with the wicked: and willeth ỹ euen they also maye not haue such iudgement as they haue deserued. Then geueth he thanckes to god for the victorye and prayeth for the people.

Of Dauid

Vnto the wyll I a* crye, O my stronge defence: thynche no scorne of me, lest, yf thou make ỹ as thoughe thou herdeste not, I be come like them, ỹ go downe in to the b* pyt A

Here the voyce of my humble petycion, when I crye vnto the, and holde vp my hands toward thi holy temple. B

O plucke me not awaye among the vngodly & wicked doers, which speake frendly to their neighboure, but ymagin mischefe in their hertes:

Rewarde them accordinge to their dedes and wickednesse of their owne inuencions.

Recompence them after ỹ workes of their handes, paye them that they haue deserued.

For they regarde not the workes of the Lorde nor the operacyon of his handes: therfore shall he breake them downe, & not buylde them vp,

Praysed be the lord, for he hath herd the voyce of my humble peticion.

The lord is my strength and my shyld: my hert hoped in him, and I am holpen: therfore my hert daunseth for ioy, and I will synge prayses vnto hym.

The lord is the strength of his people, he is the defender & Sauioure of his anoynted.

O helpe thy people, geue thy blessyng vnto thyne enheritaunce: fede them, & sett them vp for euer.

a*Loke in Exod.xiiii.d.vi.Reg.vii.b. b*Pytt, for prison or graue in the earth. Psal.lxxxviii.a.

¶ The.xxix.Psalme.

¶ He prayseth God by the power that he sheweth in thonder and other tempestes, and reioyseth of his goodnes towarde the people of Israel.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

A Ascribe vnto the lord, O ye mighty, ascribe vnto the lord worshyp and strength.

Geue the lord the honour of his name bowe youre selues to the holy magesti of the lorde.

It is the lorde that commaundeth the waters: It is the glorious God ỹ maketh the thonder: it is the lord that ruleth the see.

The voyce of the lorde is mighty in operacyon, the voyce of the lord is a glorious voyce.

The voice of the lorde breaketh the Cedre trees: yee the lorde breaketh the Ceders of Libanus.

He maketh them to skippe like a calfe: Libanus and Sirion lyke a yonge vnycorne.

The voyce of the lorde deuydethe the
B flames of fyre: the voyce of the lord b* shaketh the wyldernesse, yee the lorde shaketh the wyldernesse of Cades.

The voyce of the lorde moueth the hyndes and discouereth the thicke bushes: in his temple shal euery mã speake of his honoure.

The lord stilleth the water floude, & ỹ lorde remaynyeth a kynge for euer.

The lorde shal geue power vnto hys people, the lorde shall geue his people the blessynge of peace.

b*That is maketh the hideoufe and terrible beastes of the wyldernes to quake.

¶ The.xxx:Psalme.

¶ He geueth thankes for the obtayninge of his health. He greatly prayseth the goodnes of God, which sendeth not aduersytie vnto hys people but for the best, & protesteth, that he despyseth not ỹ lenge thening of his lyfe for any other cause, then to reso are and set forth the thinges that make for ỹ glorie of God: prophetok the sayncte a*Understande of God.

¶ A Psalme and song of ỹ dedicacyõ of the house a*. of Dauid.

A I Wyl magifny the, O lord, for thou hast set me vp, and not suffred my foes to tryumphe ouer me.

O Lorde my God, I b* cryed vnto the, and thou hast healed me.

Thou Lorde hast brought my soule out of c* hell: thou haste kepte my life, wher as thei go downe to the pytte.

Synge prayses vnto ỹ lord (O ye saintes of hys) geue thankes vnto hym for a remembraunce of his holynesse.

For his wrath endureth but ỹ twinB cling of an eye, and his pleasure is in lyfe: heuynesse maye well endure for a nyght, but ioye commeth in the morning.

As for me, when I was in prosperite, I sayd: Tush, I shal neuer fall moze.

And why? thou lord of thy goodnesse hadest made my hyll so stronge.

But as soone as thou turnedest thy face fro me, I was brought in feare.

Then cryed I vnto the, O Lord, yee C vnto the Lorde made I my prayer.

What profyt is there in my blonde, yf I go downe in to corruptyon?

May the dust geue thanckes vnto ỹ? Or shal it declare thy faithfulnes?

Heare, O Lorde, and haue mercy vpõ me: lorde be thou my helper.

And so thou hast turned my heuynesse in to ioye thou hast put of my d* sacke cloth, & gyrded me with gladnesse.

That myne honoure myght synge prayses vnto ỹ withoute ceasynge. O lorde my God, I wyll geue thanckes vnto the for euer.

The Notes

b*Loke.Exo.xiiii.d,e,i.Reg.vii,b. c*Here is it manifest that hel is taken for the estate of the deed, as well of the good as of the euell, as it is sayde Gene,xxxvii.g
d*To put of his sackcloth is, to put away the sadnes of hys herte: be cause they vsed to cloth thẽ selues with sackecloth in time of theyrest reame sadnes, as ye se in Esther & in many other places.

¶ The.xxxi.Psalme.

¶ He sheweth wherwith he strengthened his hope what he despyred for, what he cõplained of, in whas case he was, and how he was minded, when he and his were besett rounde about in the wyldernes of Moab & sought a meane to eskape. He prayseth ỹ great goodnes of God towarde all suche as feare him And moueth men to the feare and loue of god which cannot forsake them that leane vnto him.

*To ỹ chaunter a psalme of Dauid

A IN the, O Lord, is my trust: let me neuer be put to confusion, but delyuer me in thy b*tightuousnes.

Bowe downe thyne eare to me, make hast to delyuer me: be thou my stōg rocke and a house of defence, that thou mayest saue me.

For thou art my stronge holde and my castel, O be thou my gyde, and leade me for thy names sake.

Draw me out of the nett, that they haue layde pryuely for me: for thou art my strenght.

Into thy handes, I commende my
B spirite thou: hast delyuered me, O Lord thou God of trueth.

I hate them that holde of vanyties, & my trust is in the Lorde.

I wyll be glad and reioyse in thy mercye: for thou hast considered my trouble thou hast knowen my soule in aduersitie.

Thou hast not deliuered me ouer into the handes of the ennemye, but haste set my fete in a large rowm,

Haue mercye on me, O Lorde: for I
C am in trouble, myne ey is consumed for very heuinesse, ye my soule & my body

My lyfe is waxen olde with heuines, and my yeares with mournynge.

My strenght kayleth me, because of mine aduersitie, & my bones are corupt

I am becom a very reproce among all myne enemyes, my neyghbours and they of myne own acquaintaunce are a krayd of me they that se me in the strete: conueye them selues from me.

I am cleane forgotten and oute of mynde, as a dead man: I am become lyke a broken vessell.

D For I haue harde the blasphemy of the multitude: euery mā abhorreth me they haue gathered a counsel together agaynste me, and are purposed to take awaye my lyfe.

But my hope is in the Lorde, and I saye thou art my God.

My tyme is in thy hand: deliuer me from the hande of myne ennemyes, and from them that persecute me.

Shewe thy seruaunte the lyght of thy countenaunce, helpme for thy mercyes sake.

Let me not be confoundyd, O Lorde for I call vpon the: let the vngodly rather be put to confusion, and brought vnto the hell. E

Let the lying lyps be put to silence, which cruely, disdaifully & despitfully, speake agaīst the rightuous.

O how greate and manyfold is thi good, which thou hast hyd for thē that feare the:

O what thinges bringeste thou to passe for them that put ther trust in ȳ, euen before the sonnes of men:

Thou hidest them pryuely by thine owne presence from the proude men, thou kepest them secretly in thy tabernacle, from the strife of tonges.

Thankes be to the lord, for he hath shewed me meruelous greate kindnes in a strange cytie.

For when the sodē feare came vpō me, I saide: I am cast out of thy syght Neuertheles, ȳ herdst my humble praier, when I c*cryed vnto the.

O loue the Lord (al ye his saīctes) for the lorde preserueth the faithfull, & plentously rewarde he the proud doer

Be stronge therfore & take a good hert vnto you, al ye that put your trust in the Lorde.

The Notes

b* The rightousnes of God in the Psalmes is his goodnes, mercye and kyndnes, wherby he redemeth vs from the bondage of Sathan and lyberallye geueth vs his kyngdome. Psalmes. xxxv, d. xl. b. x. c c* Loke Exode. xiii. cx, i. Reg. vii. b,

The. xxxii. Psalme.

He sheweth that all aduersities come of synne, and that he therfore is happye, that hath hys synnes forgeuen: And further, that both forgeuenes of synnes & therto tection and defence of God are obtayned by earnest acknowledgynge of oure offences & feruente prayer.

a* In instruction of Dauid.

a* Or intellygence.

BLessed are they whose vnrightousnesses forgeuen and whose sinnes are couered.

*Blessed is the man vnto whoome the Lorde imputeth no synne, in whose spyrite there is nogyle. *Rom. iiii.a

For whyle I held my tonge, my bones cōsumed away thorowe my dayly complaynynges.

And because thy hande was so heuy vpon me both day and nyghte, my moisture was lyke the drouth in Sōmer, b* Selah.

Therfore I cõfessed my sinne vnto ỹ, and hyd not myne vnryghtuousnesse, I sayde: I wyl knowledge myne offẽce, & accuse my selfe vnto the lord, and so thou forgauest me the wickednesse of my synne. Selah.

For thys shall euery sayncte make his prayer vnto ỹ i due season, therfor shall not the greate c* water floudes come nye him.

Thou art my defence in the trouble that is come aboute me, O compasse ỹ me about also with the ioye of deliuerance. Selah.

I wyll enforme the, & shewe the the waye wherin thou shalt go: d* I wyll fasten myne eyes vpon the.

C

Be not ye now lyke horses and mules, which haue no vnderstandynge.

Whose mouthes thou must hold wt bit and bridle, yf they wil not obeye ỹ.

Great plages shal the vngodly haue but who so putteth his trust in the lord mercy shal compasse him on euery side

Be glad, O ye righteous, & reioyse in the lorde, be ioyefull all ye that are e* true of hert.

The Notes

b Loke the thirde Psal. a,, c Of these waters ye haue in the Psal, viii: c* of the floude, Gen: vi, c d* I wyll fasten myne eyes vpon the, that is I wil se to ỹ by my prouision, & be thy helper & counforter

e* Of this loke the Psal. lxiiii, b

¶ The. xxxiii. Psalme.

He exhorteth and moueth men diligẽtly to praise God: And sheweth that all thynges are full of hys goodnes.

A Reioyce in the Lorde, O ye rygh tuous, for it becommeth wel the iust to be thankfull.

Prayse the lorde with harpe: synge psalmes vnto him with the lute and in strument of ten stringes,

Sing him anew song, yee sing luste ly vnto him, and with a good corage.

For the worde of the Lorde is true & all his worckes are faythfull.

He loueth mercy and iudgmẽt, ỹ earth is ful of the goodnesse of the lorde,

B

By the worde of the lorde were the heauens made and all the hoostes of them by ỹ breth of his mouth.

He gathereth the waters together as it were in a bottell, & layeth vp the depe in secrete.

Let all the earthe feare the Lorde and lett all them that dwel in the worlde, stande in awe of him.

For loke what he saieth, it is done: and loke what he cõmaundeth, it standeth fast.

The lorde bryngethe the councell of the Heithen to naught, and turneth the deuyces of the people.

C

But the councell of the lorde endurethe, and the thoughtes of his herte from generacyon to generacyon.

Blessed are the people that hold ỹ lorde for their God, and blessed are the folcke whom he hath chosen to be hys heritage.

The Lorde loketh downe from heauen, and beholdeth all the chylderen of men: from hys a* stronge seate he consydereth all them that dwell in ỹ worlde.

D

He onelye hathe fashioned all the herts of thẽ, & knoweth al their worckes.

A kynge is not helped by hys owne greate hoost, neither is a giaunt saued thorow the might of hys own strength

A horse is but a vayne thynge to saue a mã, it is not the power of his strenght that can delyuer hym. Beholde, the eye of the Lorde loketh vnto them that feare hi & put their trust in hys mercye.

E

That he maye delyuer theyr soules frõ death & delyuer thẽ in the dere time

Let oure soule pacientlye abyde the Lorde, for he is oure helpe and shylde.

So shall oure herte reioyse in hym. because we haue hoped i hys holy name.

Let thy mercyfull kindnesse O Lorde, be vpõ vs lyke as we put our trust in ỹ a* Heauẽ is called the strõg seate abitacle or dwel lynge place of God, because it is perpetuall & perisheth not, but dureth euer, Psal, ii.

The Notes

¶ The. xxxiiii. Psalme.

¶ Dauid prayseth the lorde because he prouydeth for his chosen in tyme of neade: and moueth al me to endeuer them selues to innocencye & godlynes, because soch as ar endued therwith, ar ryd for the of al parels & aboundãtly rewarded with all goodnes.

*Of Dauid, when he fayned him selfe to be madde before Abimelech, which droue him awaye and he departed. *1 Reg. xxi

I Will alwaye geue thanckes vnto the lorde, his prayse shall euer be in my mouth. A

My soule shall make her boast in the lorde: the a* humble shal heare ther of and be glad.

O praise

O prayse the Lord wyth me, and let vs magnifie his name to gether.

I sought the Lord, and he herd me, yee he deliuered me, out of al my feare

They that haue an eye vnto hym, shalbe lightened, and their faces shall not be a shamed.

This poore manne cryed vnto the B lord, and he herd him, yee and delyuered him, out of all his troubles.

The Aungell of the lorde pytcheth his tent rounde aboute him that feare him, and delyuer them.

O taste, and se, how frendly ỹ lorde is, blessed is ỹ man ỹ trusteth in hym

O feare the Lorde, ye that be hys sayntes: for they that feare him lacke nothinge.

The[b]*ryche shall want, and sufferhũger, but they which seke ỹ lord: shal want no maner of thinge that is good

Come hyther, O ye children, herkẽ
C vnto me, I will teach you the feare of the Lorde.

Who so lyketh to lyue, and wolde fayne c*see good dayes.

Let him refraine his tonge from euell, & his lippes ỹ they speake no gile

Let him eschue euell, and do good: let him seke peace and ensue it.

For the[d]*eyes of the Lord are ouer ỹ righteousnes, and his eares are open vnto their prayers.

But the[e]*face of the lord beholdeth them that do euel, to destroy the remem
D braunce of them out of ỹ earth.

When the righteous crye, the lord heareth them, and delyuereth them, out of all their troubles.

The Lord is nye vnto them that are cõtrite in hert, and wyll helpe such as be of an humble spirite.

Great are ỹ troubles of ỹ righteous but ỹ Lord delyuereth thẽ out of hell.

He kepeth al their bones, so that not one of them is broken.

But myschefortune shall slaye the vngodlye, and they that hate the tyghteouse shalbe giltye,

The lorde delyuereth the soules of his seruauntes, and all they that put their trust him, shal not offende.

The Notes

a* The humble or meeke are al such as haue determyned with them selues to beare the crosse, which are euel intreated of the worlde because they be not of ỹ world. Joh. xv. c. All suche are displeased with their owne euelles, & christ righteousnes & in renouncing of themselues do wholly cõmpt them into the hande of God, as before in the Psal. xxv. b.

b* By the the riche are vnderstand the cruel, raupners blurers & such as lyue of the swete and labour of other. Psal. ix. e c* To se good dayes is, to lyue in peace to liue quietly in trãquyllyte, & to leade a peasable life i. Pet. iii.

d* The eyes of the lorde do comenly signifie his fauour Psal. xi. b.

e* Loke after in the Psal. li b.

The. xxxv. Psalme.

The desyreth ỹ lord to fight for him agaist Saul & his adherẽts, & to deliuer him forth of their hãdes,

Of Dauid.

STryue thou with thẽ, O Lord, that striue with me, fight thou a
A gainst them that fight againste me.

Take hand vpon the shyld & speare, and*[a]stande vp to helpe me.

Drawe out thy swerde, and stoppe the waye agaynst them that persecute me, saye vnto my soul: I am thy help.

Let them be confounded & put to shame, that seke after my soule: let the be turned backe and brought to cõfusiõ, that ymagin myscheke for me.

Let them be as the dust before the winde, and the aungel of the lord scatteringe them.

Let their waye be darcke and slypperye, and the aungell of the lorde to persecute them.

For they haue pryuely layed their nett, to destroy me without a cause, yee and made a pytt for my soule, whiche I neuer deserued.

Let a soden destruction com vpon him vnwarres, and ỹ nett that he hath
B layde prypuely, catche him selfe, that he maye fall into his owne myschefe.

But let my soule be joyfull in the lord, and reioyse in hys helpe.

All my bones shal say: Lord, who is lyke vnto the? which delyuerest ỹ poore frõ those ỹ are to strong for him, ye the poore and the nedy from his robbers.

False witnesses are risen vp, & layed to my charge things that I know not.

They reward me euel for good, to the greate discomfort of my soule.

Neuertheles, whẽ they were sicke,
C I put on a sacke cloth: I humbled my soul with*[b]fastig, & my prayer turned into myne owne bosome.

I behaued my self as though it had bene my frend or my brother I wente heuely, heuely, as one that mourneth for hys mother.

But in myne aduersite they reioyse, & gather them to gether: yee the very lame come together agaīst me vnwarres, makinge mowes at me, and ceasse not.

With the gredy and scornefull ypocrytes they gnasshed vpon me wyth their teeth.

Lorde, whan wilte thou loke vpon thys?

O restore my soule from the wicked rumour of them, my dearlyng from the lyons?.

So wyl I geue the thanckes in the greate cōgregacion and prayse the amonge much people.

O let them not triumphe ouer me yͤ ar mine enemies for naught: O let thē not wincke w̄ their eyes, that hate me without a cause.

And why? their comening is not of peace, but they imagyn false wordes agaynste the outcastes of the lande.

D They gape vpō me with their mouthes saynge, there, there: we se it with oure eyes.

This thou seist, O Lorde: holde not thy tonge then, go not farre from me, O Lorde.

Awake lorde, and stand vp? auenge thou my cause, my God, and my Lord.

Judge me O Lord my God, accordinge to thy rightuousnesse, that they tryumphe not ouer me.

O let them not saye in their hertes: there there, so wolde we haue it: O let them not saye: we haue ouer come him — Let them be put to confucion and shame, that reioyce at my trouble: let them be clothed with rebuk and dishonoure, yͤ boost them selues agaīst me.

Let them also be glad and reioyse, yͤ fauour my righteous dealing: yee let them saye alwaye: blessed be the lorde, which hath pleasure in the prosperitie of his seruaunte.

And as for my tonge it shallbe talkinge of thy ryghtuousnes and of thy prayse al the daye long.

The Notes

a* What the standing vp or yͤ raisinge of god signifieth ye shal finde after in the Psalm. lxviii. a b* By this fast in the scripture is vnderstāde all maner of chastening of yͤ body & mortificaciō of yͤ flesh. Nu. xxx. c. iii. Reg. xxi. c. Tob. xii. c Judit. iiii. c.

¶ The. xxxvi. Psalme.

¶ He prayseth the goodnes of God exceidingly. in that, he shutteth not vp hys mercy from the vngodly, when they haue greuously offēded him. He sheweth also, that the chosē receaue his goodnes before other, and prayeth hym more largely to destrybute hys benefytes vnto them that know hym: and to deliuer hym from the violence of the wycked: whose fal & ruyne he also prophecyeth.

‡* To yͤ chaunter, of Dauid yͤ seruaūt of the lorde.

‡* Loke the title of the iiii: Psalme.

My hert sheweth me the wickednesse of yͤ vngodly, that, there is no feare of god before his eyes. M

For he dyssembleth before his face, so long tyll his abhominable synne be founde out.

The wordes of his mouth are vnrightuousnes and deseate, he will not be lerned to do good.

He ymagyneth mischefe vpon his a* bedd, he wil come in no good waye, nor refuse yͤ thinge that is euell.

Thy mercy O lorde, reacheth vnto the heauen, and thy faythfulnes vnto the cloudes.

Thy rightuousnes standeth like yͤ strong mountaines, and thy iudgemēt like the greate depe.

Thou Lorde preseruest both men and beestes.

How precious is thy mercy, o god yͤ yͤ childrē of men maie put their trust vnder the shadow of thy winges?

They shalbe satisfied w̄ yͤ plēteousnesse of thy house, & yͤ shalt geue them drynke of the ryuer of thy pleasures. B

For by the is the b* well of lyfe, and in thy lyght, shall we se lyght.

O spreade forth thy louing kindnes vnto thē yͤ knowe the, & thy rightuosnesse vnto them that are true of herte.

O let not the c* foote of pryde ouertake me, O let not the * hande of the vngodly cast me dowe.

As for wicked doers, they fall they are cast downe, & are not able to stand.

a* Bedde after yͤ scripture signifieth yͤ secretes of yͤ herte, as in yͤ Psal. iiii. b. & Eccle. x. d.

b* By welles floudes, ryuers & springes are vnderstāde yͤ helpes, consolations, & comforres of god & yͤ fertylite & fruitfulnes of the holy goost. Esai. xii a.

c* By yͤ fote of pryde & hand of vngodlines, he signifieth yͤ violēce, oppressiō & tirānye of yͤ euel Exriiij

¶ The. xxxvii. Psalme.

¶ Leste the prosperite of the euel shulde greue the good, he saith: that vnto such as fere god and lyue rightuously, all thinges shall happen well and that they

they ſhal in verye deade be happy where as the vngodly although the ſeme to flouriſh for a time ſhall at the laſt be rotted, & wiped cleane out of the weye

A Pſalme of Dauid,

FRet not thy ſelfe at the vngodly, be not thou enuions againſt the euell doers.

For they ſhall ſoone be cut downe lyke the graſſe, and be wyther ede euen as the grene herbe.

Put thou thy truſte in the Lorde, & bee doyng good: ſo ſhalt thou dwell in the lande, and verily it ſhall fede the.

Delyte thou in the Lorde, and he ſhall geue the thy hertes deſyre.

Committe thy waye vnto the lorde, ſet thy hope in hym, and he ſhall bryng it to paſſe.

He ſhall make thy rightouſnes as clear as the lyght, and thi iuſt dealing as the none daye, Holde the ſtyll in the Lorde, and abyde patientlye vppon him: but greue not thy ſelfe at one that hath proſperitie and lyueth in abhomination.

Leaue of from wrath, let go diſpleaſure, let not thy gelouſye moue the alſo to do euell.

For wicked doers ſhal be roted out, but they that pacyentlye abyde the lorde ſhall inherite the lande.

Suffre yet a litle whyle, and the vngodly ſhalbe cleane gone: thou ſhalt loke after his place, and he ſhal be away.

But the [b]*meke ſpyrited [c]*ſhall poſſeſſe the earth, & haue pleaſure and much reſt.

The vngodlye layeth wayte for the iuſt, and gnaſcheth vpō him w̄ his teth

But the Lorde laugheth hym to ſcorne, for he ſeyth that his day is commig.

The vngodlye [d]*draw out the ſwerd and bende their bow, to caſt downe the ſymple and poore, and to ſlay ſuch as go the right waye;

Neuertheles, their ſwerde ſhall goo thorow their owne hert, and their bowe ſhal be broken.

A ſmal thyng that the righteous hath is better then the great riches of the vngodly.

For the [e]*armes of ỹ vngodly ſhall be broken, but the Lorde vpholdeth the ryghtuous.

The Lorde knoweth the dayes of the godly, and their enheritaunce endureth for euer.

They ſhall not be confoūded in the perylous time, & in the dayes of derth they ſhall haue ynough.

As for the vngodly, they ſhal perych: and when the enemyes of the Lord are in their floures, they ſhall conſume, ye euē as ỹ ſmoke ſhal they cōſume away

The vngodly*borroweth & payeth not agayne, but the righteous is mercyfull and lyberall.

Such as be bleſſed of hym, ſhal poſſeſſe the lande: and they whome he curſeth: ſhalbe roted oute.

The Lord ordereth a good mannes goynge, and hath pleaſure in hys way.

Though he fall he ſhall not be hurt for ỹ lord vpholdeth hym with his hād.

I haue bene yung, and now am olde: yet ſaw I neuer the righteous forſakē nor hys ſede to ſeke their breade:

The righteous is euer mercyfull, & lendeth gently, therfore ſhal his ſede be bleſſed,

Flee from euell. and doo the thynge ỹ is good ſo ſhalte thou dwell for euer,

For the Lord loueth the thing that is right he forſaketh not hys ſaynctes, but they ſhal be preſerued for euermore: as for the ſede of vngodlye, it ſhall bee roted out.

Yee the righteous ſhall poſſeſſe the lande and dwell therin for euer.

The mouth of the righteous, is exerciſed in wiſdome, and hys tonge talketh of iudgemente.

The Law of his God is in his hert, therfor ſhal not hys foteſteppes ſlyde.

The vngodly ſeyth the righteous, and goeth aboute to ſlaye hym.

But the Lorde wyll not leaue hym in hys handes, nor condempne hym when he is iudged.

Hope thou in the Lorde, and keape his waye, and he ſhall ſo promote the that thou ſhalt haue the lande by enheritaunce, and ſe, when the vngodlys ſhall periſche.

I my ſelfe haue ſene the vngodly in greate powet, and flouriſhynge lyke a grene bay tre, but when I went by, lo, he was goone: I ſoughte hym, but he could no where be founde.

Kepe innocencye, & take hede vnto ỹ thyng thynge that is ryght, for that shal brig a man peace at the last.

As for the transgressors, they shal perishe together, and the vngodlye shal be roted out at the last.

The helpe of the ryghtuous commeth of the Lorde, he is their strength in the tyme of trouble.

The Lorde shal stande by them, & saue them: he shall delyuer thē from ỹ vngodly, and helpe them, because they put their trust in hym.

The Notes

a* This is the true honour and seruyce of God, as it is sayde. Exo. x, g, b* Thys is expounded before in the Psalme. xxxiiii. a.

c* Not that theis shalbe lordes of the earth: but shal continue longer than these that desire vengaunce and shall haue the fruycyon of all good thynges. as moche as shall suffice them.

d* These are borowed speaches, by whiche is signified that the wycked are prest & readye to destroy the godly, as before in the Psal, xi. a e* That is, the power of the vngodli. Psal. xliiii, f a* Some reade thus, The vngodly lendeth vpon vsury and not for naught.

The. xxxviii. Psalme.

Dauid taken with a feruent displeasure, desyre the to be ryd therof, although hys sinnes haue deserued so to be chastened. He complayneth wōderfully of the intollerable violence of his sykenes, of the sayntes of his frendes which forsoke him and of the cruelnes of his enemyes: Then requireth he the healp of god, vnto whome he wholly committeth him selfe.

To the chaunter, to bringe to remembraunce. b*

a* Loke the tytle of the. liii. Psalme.

b* Understande, the benefyte of God in to the hertes of the people, because he had deliuered him from so painful a disease, and restored him to his health Howbeit some thincke that this whole Psalm intreateth of the sickenes of the soule, that is, of the sines, wherwith david was ouertyled. And they vnderstād the tytle thus. To bryng to remembraunce & to know our corrupcion and frailnes, take away by Christ, so as many as repent and beleue.

A Put me not to rebuke (Oh Lord) in thine anger: Oh chasten me not in thy heuy displeasure.

For thyne arowes sticke fast in me, & thy hande presseth me sore.

Ther is no whole parte in my body, because of thy displeasure: there is no rest i my bones, by reasō of my sinnes,

For my wyckednesses ar gone ouer my heade, and are lyke a sore burthen to heuy for me to beare.

My woundes stincke and are corrupt, thorow my foolyshnesse,

I am brought in to so great trouble and mysery, that I go mournynge all the daye longe. B

For my loines are cleane dryed vp, and there is no whole parte in my bodie.

I am feble & sore smytten, I roare for the very dysquyetnes of my hert. C

Lorde, thou knowest all my desyre, & my gronynge is not hyd from the.

My hert panteth, my strength hath fayled me. & the lyght of myne eyes is gone fro me. my Louers & fryendes

My louers and fryendes stand lokynge vpon my trouble, and my kinsmen are gone a farre of.

They that sought after my lyfe, & to do me euell, spake of lyes & ymagined disceate all the day longe.

As for me, I was like a deake man & herde not: and as one that were dome me, not openinge his mouth.

I am become as a mā that heareth not and that can make no resistaunce wyth hys mouth.

For in the, O Lorde, is my trust, ỹ shalt heare me, O Lorde my God.

My delire is, that mine enemyes triumphe not ouer me, for yf my fote slippe, they reioyce greatly agaynst me. D

I am redy to suffre trouble, and my heuinesse is euer in my syght.

For I confesse my wickednesse, and my synne greueth me.

But mine enemies lyue, & are mighty: and they that hate me without a cause, are many in nombre.

They ỹ rewarde me euell for good, speake euell of me, because I folow ỹ thynge that good is,

Forsake me not (O Lord my God) O go not farre fro me.

Haste the to helpe me. O Lorde my succoure.

The Notes

e* Put me not. &c. Some suppose that thys Psalm and the, vi. x. the. xxx. x. xxxii. do describe some great & feruēt sycknes, wherwith Dauid was soare troubled and vexed: And that he in this and the other aboue recyted Psalmes complayneth vpon the greuouse paynes, whiche he suffered by the meanes of that sycknes: Which paines (saye they) he here calleth a chasteninge in anger, and heuy displeasure, & the arrowes and hande, that is, the plage of God Loke before in the Psalme. vi. a

The. xxxix. Psalme.

He

¶ He sheweth that although he were vexed wt ꝯ greuouse paynes of his sycknes, yet he kept hi selfe so with in his boundes, that he let no vnsyttynge wordes eskape him in the time of his complaynyng: chefely wyle the wicked heard e him.

a* To the chaunter for b* Iduthun, a Psalme of Dauid.

a* Loke the tytle of the. iiii. Psalme.

b* Iduthun is the name of a chaunter. i Paralip. xvi. d. and xxv. a. Kimhi thinketh that Dauid made this Psalme and that it was wont to be song of ꝯ kynde of syngars ouer which Iduthun bare rule. Some thincke it to be a certen songe, after who se tyme ths Psalme was sunge.

A I sayde: I wyll kepe my wayes ꝯ I offende not in my tonge.
And so shut my mouth, while ꝯ vngodly layed wayte for me.

I held my tonge, I was domme, I kepte silence, yee euen from good wordes, but it was payne and greke to me

My hert was hote with i me, & while I was thus musing, the fyre kyndled: so that I spake with my tonge.

Lord let me knowe myne ende, and the nombre of my dayes: ꝯ I maye be certyfied what I want.

Beholde, thou hast made my dates
B a spanne long, and my life is as it were nothyng before the.

O how vayne are al men lyuinge: t* Selah.

Yee euerye mā walketh as it were a shadow, and disquieteth hym selfe in vayne: he heapeth vp ryches, and can not tel to whom he gathereth them.

And now Lord wherin shall I cō-forte me? my hope is in the.

Delyuer me from al myne offences & make me not a scorne vnto the foolish.
I kepe silence, and opē not my mouth for thou hast done it.

Turne thy plages awaye fro me,
C for I am consumed thorow the keare of thy d* hande.
When thou punishest man for sinne, ꝯ chastenest him: so ꝯ his bewtye consumeth awaye like as it were a moth O how vayne are al men: Selah.

Heare my prayer O Lorde, and cō syder my callynge: shewe not thy selfe as though thou sawest not my teares.
For I am a straunger and pylgrym wyth the, as al my forefathers were.

Oh spare me a lytell that I maye refreshe my selfe, before I goo hence & be no more sene.

e* Loke the thirde Psalme.

d* Of this is spoken before in the Psalme. xxi

¶ The. lx. Psalme.

¶ He reioyseth that he is ryd de forth of his greate ieopardy by ꝯ helpe of god, & wondereth at his vnspeakable goodnes towarde them that feare him: & for it, syth he setteth not by sacrifices, but requireth the whole man, he cōmitteth him selfe vnto hym: & sayth that he wyll prayse his rightwesnes & goodnes contynualy: Thē sheweth he ꝯ greuousnes of ꝯ ieopardy where in he was, and ꝯ cause therof, whiche was his synnes. At the last he beseecheth god to ouerthrow his enemies, & to glad ꝯ herts of ꝯ good a* To ꝯ chaunter, a Psalme af Dauid

a* Loke the tytle of the. iiii. Psalme.

A I Wayted paciently for the lord which enclined hi selfe vnto me: & herd my callig:
He brought me out of ꝯ horrible pytte, out of the myre & clay: he sett my fete vpon the rocke, and ordred my goynges.

He hathe put a newe songe in my mouth, euen a thanckesgeuinge vnto oure God.

Many men seynge this, shall feare the lord, and put their trust in him.

Blessed is the mā ꝯ setteth his hope in ꝯ lord, & turneth not vnto ꝯ proude and to such as go aboute wyth lyes.

O Lorde my God, greate are thy wonderous worckes which thou hast done: and in thy thoughtes towarde vs ther maie none be lykened vntoꝯ.
B I wolde declare them, and speake of thē: but they are so manye, that they can not be tolde.

Sacrifice and offeringe ꝯ woldest not haue b* but a body hast ꝯ ordeined me: burntofferinges and sacrifyce for synne thou hast not alowed.

Then sayde I: lo, I come. In ꝯ beginning of the boke it is writtē of me ꝯ I shuld fulfil thy wil O my god and that am I contente to do: yee thy lawe is within my hert.

I wil preach of thy rightuousnes in the greate cōgregacion: Lo, I wyll not refraine my lyppes, O lord, and ꝯ thou knowest,

I do not hyde thy rightuousnes in my hert, my talkinge is of thy treuthe and sauing helth: I kepe not thy louing mercye and faithfulnesse backe from the greate congregacion.

Turne not thou thy mercy fro me O lord, but let thy louinge kyndnes & truth alwaye preserue me. C

For innumerable troubles are come about

b* Of this is spoken before in the Psalme. xxi

aboute me: my synnes haue taken such holde opon me, that I am not able to loke vp: yee they are mo in nõbre then the heares of my heade and my herte hath sayled me.

O Lord let it be thy pleasure to deliuer me, make hast (O lord) to help me

Let them be ashamed and cõfounded that seke after my c* soule) to destroye it: let them fall backwarde and be put to confusyon, ẏ wish me euyll.

Let thẽ soone be brought to shame, that crye ouer me: there there

But let al those that seke the, be ioyfull and glad in the: and let all such as delite in thy sauing health, say alway the Lorde be praysed.

As for me, I am pooze and in myserye, but the lorde careth for me.

Thou art my helper and redemer, make no longer tarying, O my god.

The Notes

b* Some reade thus: but myne eares hast thou opened, vnderstand to heare roundly and to obeye.

c* Soule s forsyke as in Mat. vi. c. xvi. and Luk. ix.

¶ The. xli. Psalme.

¶ In this Psalme also speketh he of a disease wher in whyle he was holdẽ his enemyes were grately reioysed, hoping that he should be made away with ẏ violẽce of his disease, And in which also his frindes had forsaken him, but god holpe him which all wayes wolde preserue him And therfore in ẏ begining, he pronounceth him happi which perceaueth ẏ counsel of god concerning him.

a* To ẏ chaunter, a Psalme af Dauid

a* Loke the tytle of the. iiii. Psalme.

A Blessed is he, that consydereth the b* pooze, the lord shall delyuer hi in the tyme of trouble.

The lord shall preserue him, and kepe him alyue: he shall make hym to prosper vpon earthe, and shall not delyuer hym into the hyll of hys enemyes.

The Lorde shall refresh him when he lyeth sicke vpon his bedde yee thou makest his bedd in al his sickneße.

I sayde: Lorde be mercyfull vnto me, heale my soule, for I haue synned agaynst the.

Myne enemyes speake euell vpon me: when shall he dye, and hys name perysshe?

B Though he come in to se, yet meaned he falshed in his herte, heappynge mischefe vpon him selfe.

All they that hate me, runne together agaynste me, and ymagyn euel a-gaynst me.

nota

They haue geuen a wicked sentence vpon me: when he lyeth, he shal rise vp no more.

nota

Yee euẽ myne owne familyer frend whõ I trusted which dyd eate my bred hath lyft vp his hele agaynst me.

But be thou mercyfull vnto me (O Lorde) rayse thou me vp, and I shall rewarde them.

By thys I knowe thou fauourest me, that my enemye shal not tryumph ouer me.

Thou haste vpholden me because of my innocency, and set me before thy face for euer.

O blessed be the Lorde God of Israell, from hence forthe and for euer more. Amen. Amen.

The Notes

b* Pooze in the scripture sygnifyeth not only hi ẏ hath no money, or goodes, of this worlde: but also hi that hath a sorowful hert and him in whom ther is no hye mynde, but onlye meakenes & louinge lowlynes.

¶ the second treatyse ¶ The. xlii. Psalme

¶ He sheweth how sorowfull he was, because he was let from the holy assemble & fest of the lord by ẏ cõspiracye of his sonne Absolon & howe he was disquyeted with the voyces of the wicked, which blasphemed the despyte of godlynes where vnto he was geuen for a payne & vnprofitable thynge a* To the chaunter, a mooryon of the sonnes of Corah.

a* Loke the tytle of the. iiii. Psalme.

L Ike as the herte desyreth the water brokes, so longeth my soule B after the, O God:

My soule is a thurst for God, yee euẽ for the lyuing god: when I shall come and beholde the face of God.

My teares are my meate day and night, while it is dayly sayd vnto me, where is now thy god?

Now when I thincke there vpon, I poure out my hert by my selfe: for I wold fayne go hence wt the multitude and passe ouer with them vnto the house of God. in the voyce of prayse and B thankesgeuinge, amonge soch as kepe holydaye.

Why art thou so full of heuynes (O my soule) and why art thou so vnquiet within me?

O put thy truste in God, for I wil yet geue hym thankes, for the helpe of his his contenaunce.

My god, my soule is vexed within me therfore I remembre the lãde of Jordane, and the lytle hyl of Hermonim.
One depe calleth another with the voyce of thy whystles, al thy waues & water floudes are gone ouer me.
The lord hath promised hys louyng kyndnesse dayly therfore wil I praise him in the night seasõ, & make my prayer vnto the god of my lyfe.
D I wyl say vnto God my stony rock why hast ÿ forgottẽ me: why go I thus heuely, whyle ÿ enemy oppresseth me:
Whyle my bones are brokẽ, & while mine enemies cast me i the teth, daily saying vnto me: where is now thy god.
Why art thou so heuy (O my soule) & whi art ÿ so disquieted within me?
O put thi trust i god, for I wil yet thãke hym for the helpe of his coũtenaũce & because he is my God.

The.xlii.Psalme.

¶ He desyreth to be deliuered frõ the cõspirers w Absolon, that he maye worthely prayse god in his holy temple.

Geue sentẽce vpõ me (O god) & defende my caule agaynste the vnholye people: Oh delyuer me frõ ÿ deceatful, and wycked man.
For thou (O god) art my strength: why hast thou shot me from the? Why go I then so heuely, whyle the enemye oppresseth me?
Oh sende out thy light and thy truth, ÿ they may leade me and bring me vn
B to thy holy hil, and to thy dwellynge.
That I may go in to the aulter of god, euen vnto the god whyche is my ioye & pleasure & vpon the harpe to geue thãkes vnto the, O god, my God.
Why art thou so heuy (O my soule) & why art thou so disquieted withi me?
O put thy trust in God, for I wil yet geue hi thãkes for ÿ help of his coũtenaunce, and because he is my God.

The Notes
a* Some reade. Reuenge me.

The.xliiii.Psalme.

¶ He complayneth that Israell suffereth so greuous persecucion for the honoure of God and holy lyuinges sake. and that yet god is not presente with ÿ in myracles doing as he in times past was. And prayeth him to put forth his power, & delyuer him from ÿ iniurye of the wycked.

¶ a* To the, chaunter an instruccyon of the Sonnes of corage,
a* Loke the tytle of the, iiii. Psalme.

A We haue herde withe oure eares (O God) oure fathers haue told vs, what thou hast done in theyr tyme of olde.
How thou hast dryuen out the Heythen with thy hande, and planted b* the in: how thou hast destroyed the nacions and cast them out.
For they gat not the land in possessiõ thorow theyr owne sworde, neyther was it their owne c* arme that helped them:
But thy ryghte hande, thyne arme and the lyght of thy countenaunce: because thou haddest a fauour vnto them.
Thou arte the kynge and my God, thou sendest helpe vnto Jacob.
Thorowe the, wyll we ouerthrowe oure enmemies, and in thy name wyll we tread them vnder, ÿ ryse vp against vs.
For I wyll not truste in my bowe, it is not my swearde, that shall helpe me.
But it is thou that saueste vs from B our enemyes, and puttest them to confusion that hate vs.
We wyll alwaye make our boast of God, & prayse thy name for euer. Selah
But now thou forsakest vs, and puttest vs to confusion, and goest not forth wyth our Hostes.
Thou makest vs to turne oure backes vppon oure enemyes: so that theye whiche hate vs spoyle our gooddes, Thou lettest vs be eatẽ vp lyke shepe, and scatterest vs amonge the hethen.
Thou sellest thy people for naught, C and takest no monye for them,
Thou makeste vs to bee rebuked of oure neyghbours, to be laughed to scorne and had in derision, of them, that are rounde about vs.
Thou hast made vs a very byworde among the Heythen, and that the people shake theyr heades at vs.
My confusyon is dayly before me, and the shame of my face couereth me.
For the voyce of the slanderer and blasphemer, for the enmemye and auenger.
All thys is come vpon vs and yet haue we not forgotten the, nor behaued oure selues vnfaythfully in thy couenaunte
Our herte is not turned backe, neyther, our steppes gone out of thy waye;

C c For

For thou hast* smitten vs in ỹ place of dragons, and couered vs wyth the shadowe of death.

D If we had forgotten the name of oure god, and holden vp oure handes to eny straunge god.

Shoulde not god fynde it out? for he knoweth ỹ very secretes of the hert.

But for thy sake we are kild all ỹ daye longe, and are counted as shepe apointed to be slayne.

Vp lord why slepest thou? A wake, and cast vs not of for euer.

Wherfore* hydest thou thy face? wylt thou cleane forget our mysery & oppression?

For our soule is brought lowe euē vnto the dust and oure bely cleueth vn to the grounde.

Aryse O Lord, help vs and delyuer vs for thy mercy sake.

The Notes.

b * That is oure fathers,

c* armes generally taken for anye thynge wherevnto we leane & trust, as here for fleshly and worldly power, and in the Psal.xx.d. It followeth, But thy right hande, &, c. that is thy strenghth, thy helpe, thyne ayde. &c.

d * Loke the thyrd Psalme.

e * That is thou hast condempned vs, to the place of serpents or dragons, or, thou hast dryuen vs into the place of serpentes or dragons.

By the place of serpētes is vnderstād, they? bondage amonge the Heythen which in cruelnes are lyke vn to serpentes: The same calleth he the shadowe of death, for it is worse then death, & moare to be feared, to be put in all thynges to the arbytrement, and pleasure of the vngodly, to heare continually the name of God blasphemed, and all Godlynes despised, and all maner of iniuries and wrongs done vnto the fauorers therof. Therfor sayth he Thou hast couered vs with the shadowe of death, that is: with the very darcknes of death. Esay.xv, e, f * God is said to hide his face, when he suffreth the good to be persecuted of the euell', as it is sayde of hys awakyng Psalme.lxxviii.

¶ The.xlv.Psalme.

☞ The sonnys of Corah prayse Salomon for the bewtie, eloquence, strenght, power & noblenes both of hym and of hys wyfe: & also for the nobylytie of they? chyldren. In them do they also figure Christ and the power and nobilytie of hys kingdome.

a * To the chaunter, vpon b * Solantm an instouccion of the childrē of Corah a songe of loue.

a * Loke the title of the iiii: Psalme.

b * It is a certaine instrument of musycke.

A Mi hert is endityng of a good matter I speeake of that whiche I haue made of the king: My tong is the penne of a redy writer.

Thou art ỹ fayrest among the children of men ful of grace are thi lippes, therfore god blesseth the for euer.

Gyde the with thy sweord vpon thē thyghe (O thou mighty) with worshyp and renowne. note good lucke lucke

Good lucke haue thou with thyne honoure, ryde on with ỹ truthe, mekenesse and rightuousnes: and thy ryght hand shal teach ỹ wonderful thinges.

Thy* arowes are sharpe, ỹ people shalbe subdued vnto the, euen in ỹmid dest among the kinges enemyes.

Thy seate (O god) endureth for euer: the scepter of thy kyngdom is a ryght scepter.

Thou hast loued rightousnes, and hated iniquite: wherfore God (whych is thy god) hath anoynted the with the oyle of gladnes aboue thy felowes.

All thy garmentes are like myrre, Aloes and Cassia, when thou commest out of thine yuorye palaces in thy beautifull glory.

Kynges doughters in thy godly araye, and vpon thy right hande standeth the quene in a vestur of most fine golde.

Herken (O dougeter) consyder, and encline thine eare: forget thyne owne people, and thy fathers house. G

So shal the kinge haue pleasure in thy bewty, for he is the Lord and thou shalt worshippe him.

The daughters of tire shal be there with gyftes, the riche among ỹ people shal make their supplicacion before ỹ.

The kinges daughter is all glorious wythin, her clothynge is full of wrought gold.

She shalbe brought vnto the king in rayment of nelde worcke, and mayden s after her: such as be next her shal be brought vnto the. D

With ioye and gladnes shall they be brought & go in to the kynges palace.

In steade of thy fathers thou haste gotten d * childzen, wome ỹ shalt make princes in all landes.

I wyll remēbre thy name from one generacion to another therefore shall the people geue thanckes vnto the, worlde with out ende.

c * The arowes of God maye signifye the wordes wherwith the cōscience is prycked thorow ỹ feare of the iust iudgment of God: Job.vi.a

d * By these chyldren ar figured the Apostles, which some tyme are called princes or iudges Esa,3 Math.ix,

The.xlvi.Psalme.

The suerty wherin the godlye be in all maner of ieopardies, by the helpe of god.

a*To the chaunter, alonge of ỹ childzen of Cozah vpon b*almuth.

a*Loke the tytle of the.xiiii.Psalme.
b*Loke the tytle of the.ix.Psalme.

A GOde is our refuge, & aduersyte, we haue foũde, ỹ God is our refuge, oure strenght and helpe.

Therfoze wyl we not feare, though ỹ erth fell, and though the hilles were caryed into the myddest of the see.

Though the waters of ỹ see raged & were neuer so troublous, & though the mountaines shoke at the tempeste of the same. Selah.

For there is a floude, which w̃ his ryuers reioyseth ỹ cytie of God, ỹ holy dwellynge of the most hyeste.

God is in the myddest of her, therfoze shal she not be remoued: foz God helpeth her and that right early.

The Heithen are madd, the kyngdomes make much a doo: but when he sheweth his voyce, the earth melteth awaye.

The Lozde of Hostes is with vs, ỹ god of Jacob is our defence. c*Selah

O come hither, and beholde the wozckes of the lozd, what destructions he hath bzought vpon the earth.

He hath made warres to ceasse in al the wozlde: he hath bzoken the bow, he hath knapped the speare in sonder and bzent the charettes in the fyze.

Be still thẽ and confesse that I am God: I wyll be exalted among ỹ Heithen, and I wyl be exalted vpõ earth.

The Lord of Hostes is w̃ vs, ỹ b* god of Jacab is our defence. Selah.

b*Loke the thirde Psal.a,,
c*Of this ye haue in the xx Psalme

The.xlvii. Psalme.

Of the excellente glozie of god declared thozou the whole wozld Of ỹ conuersion of kinges and people vnto God,

To the chaunter, a Psalme of the childzen of Cozah.

A CLappe youre handes together) all ye people) O singe vnto god w̃ the voyce of thanckes geuing.

For the Lozd ỹ most hyest is to be feared, and he is the greate king vpon al the earth.

He shal subdu the people vnder vs, and the Heithen vnder our fete.

He choseth vs foz an heretage, ỹ beutie of Jacob, whom he loued. b*Selah

God is gone vp with a mery noise, & the Lozd w̃ ỹ sownd of the trompet.

O singe prayses, syng praises vnto god: O synge prayses, singe praises vn to oure kinge. B

Foz God is kyng of al the earth O synge prayses vnto hym wyth vnderstadinge.

God is kinge ouer the heithen, god sytteth in his holy seate.

The princes of the people are gathered to gather vnto the god of Abraham c*foz god is farre hier exalted, thẽ the mightye lozdes of the earth.

b*Loke the third Psalme.

The Notes

c*Some reade. The protectoures oz defenders of he earth belong to god, Roma.xiii.a

The.xlviii.Psalme.

The greate glozie & felicite of the Church & congregacion, in that they haue God euer present with them to be their defender: described vnder the figure of Jerusalem.

A longe of a Psalme of the childzẽ of Cozah.

GReate is the Lozde & hyelie to be praysed, in the cytie of oure god, euen vpon his holy hyl. A

The a*hyll of Sion is like a faire plante, wherof al the lande reioyseth: vpon the nozthe syde lieth the cytie of the greate kynge.

God is well knowen in her palaces, ỹ he is the defence of the same.

Foz lo, kynges are gathered, & gon by together.

They marueled, to se such thynges: thei were astonied, & sodẽli cast doune.

Feare came there vpon them, & sorowe as vpon a woman in her trauail.

Thou shalte breake the shippes of ỹ see, thozow the east winde.

Lyke as we haue herd, so se we in ỹ citie of the Lozd of Hostes, in ỹ citi of our god. god vpholdeth the same foz euer. b* Selah.

We wayte foz thy louing kyndnes(O god) in the middest of the temple.

O God, accozding vnto thy c*name so is thy prayse vnto ỹ wozldes ende b*thy right hand is ful of rightuones C

Oh let the mount Sion reioyse, & the daughters of Juda be glad becase of iudgementes.

Walke aboute Sion, go rounde a-aboute her, and tel her c*towres.

Marcke wel her walles, set vp her houses, that it may be told them, that come after.

For this god is oure god for euer & euer, & he shal alwaye be oure gyde a*By the hill of Sion is vnderstande the churche as aboue in the.ii. Psalme.b. and, lxxviii, g b*Loke the thirde Psalme. a, c*By the name of god, is sygnifyed hys maiestye, hys power wysdo m. & goodnes aboue in the. viii. a and xxi.b, xxxiiii:a henethe in the. liiii.b. cxiii.a cx. iiii.b d*That is, that which thou doest is rightwes:

e*Loke the Psalme. cxxii.b

The. xlix. Psalme.

¶ The mysery and madnes of them that sett by ryches, which receaue their felicytie in this worlde, & shal after contynually remayne in hell: wher as the vertuous shall haue euerlastynge ioye.

a*To the chaunter, a Psalme of the chil dren of Corah,

a*Loke the tytle of the. iiii. Psalme.

A HEare this, all ye people: ponder it wel, all ye that dwell vpon yearth

Hye and lowe, rythe and poore, one with an other.

My mouth shal speake of wysdom, & my hert shal muse of vnderstandyng.

I wyll enclene mine eare to the parable, and shewe my darke speache vpon the harpe.

Wherfore shoulde I feare the euell days, when the wickednes of my heles compasseth me rounde aboute?

They that put theyr truste in the God and boaste them selues in the multitude of theyr riches.

B

No man maye delyuer his brother, nor make agrement vnto him for God.

For it costeth more to redeme theyr soules so that he must let that alone for euer,

Yee though he lyue longe, and see not the graue.

For it shalbe sene, that such wyse men shal dye and perysh together, as well as the ignorante and folysshe, and leaue theyr goodes for other.

Loke what is in theyr howses: it continueth styll: theyr dwellyng places endure from one generation to another, & are called after theyr owne names vpon the earth.

Neuertheles manne abydethe not in such honour, But is compared vnto the brute beastes and becometh lyke vntoo them.

C

This waye of theirs is very folysh nesse, and yet their posterytye prayse it with their mouth. b*Selah.

They ly in the hel like shepe, death shall gnawe vpon them, and the ryghtuous shall haue dominacion of them in the morning by times: their strēgth shal cōsume, & hel shalbe their dwellīg

But god shal deliuer my soule from the c*power of hel, when he receaueth me. Selah.

D be not thou afraied, whē he is made riche, & the glory of his house increased. Iob. xxvii. a

D

*For he shall cary nothynge away with him when he dyethe, nether shall hys pompe folowe him.

While he liueth, he is coūted an happie mā: and so long as he is in prosperite, men speake good of him.

But when he foloweth his fathers generatyon, he shal neuer se lyght eny more.

When a man is in honoure & hath no vnderstaudinge, he is compared vnto the brute beastes, and becōmeth like vnto them.

The Notes

b*Loke the thirde Psal. a c*That is from perdicyon & eternall damptacion

¶ The. l. Psalme.

¶ He prophecieth that god wil call all nacions of the earth vnto him, by the gospell: And that he will requyre the confession & prayeng of his name & not sacrifice, And howgreatli he wil abhorre thē which boast them selues to be religions and holy & are in deade nothyng lesse,

¶ A Psalme of Asaph.

THe Lorde euen the mightye God hath spokē, & called the worlde frō the rising vp of the sonne, vnto the goinge downe of the same. A

Out of Sion apeareth the glorya ous beutye of God.

Oure god shall come, & not kepe sylence: there goeth before him a consumynge fyre, and a mightie tempest toū de aboute him.

He shal cal the heauēs from aboue, & the earth, that he may iudge his people.

Gather my saīctes together vnto me, those that set more by the couenaūt then by eny offerynge.

And the heauens shal declare his righteousnesse, for god is iudge him selfe. a*Selah.

Heare, O my people. let me speake, let me testefye amonge you, O Israell B

I am God, euen thy god.

I repzoue the not because of thy sacrifice, thy burntofferinges are alway before me.

I wyll take no bullockes of thy house, nergotes out of thy foldes.

For all the beastes of the felde are myne, and thousandes of catell vpon the hylles.

I knowe all the foules vpon the mountaynes, and the wilde beastes of the feld are in my syght.

If I be hongrye, I wyl not tel the: for ỹ whole wozlde is myne, & all that therin is.

Thynkest, thou that I wyll eate ỹ flesh of oxen, oz dzyncke the bloude of goates?

C Offre vnto God pzayse and thanckesgeuing, and pate thy vowes b* vnto the most hyest.

And call vpō me in the tyme of trouble, so wil I heare the, ỹ thou shalt thā ke me.

But vnto the vngodly sayeth god: Why doest thou pzeach my lawes, and takest my couenaunt in thy mouth.

Where as thou hatest to be refozmed, and castest my woozdes behynde the?

If thou seist a theke, thou runnest wyth hym, and art partaker with the aduoutrers.

Thou letteste thy mouth speake wyckednesse, and thy tong paynteth disceate.

D Thou sytte st ānd speakest agaynste thy bzother yee sclaundereste thyne owne mothers sonne.

This thow doest whyle I holde my tounge: and thinkest me to be euen such one as thy selfe. but I wyll repzoue the and set my selfe agaynst the.

O considze God ye that forget God least I plucke you awaye, and there be none to deliuer you.

Who so offreth me thankes and dpzyse, he honoureth me: and this is the way wherby I wyll shewe hym the sauinge helth of God.

The Notes

a* Of thys Psalme. iii. a b* That is after the wyll of God.

C The. li. Psalme.

C Ipzaier of Dauid wher in he earnestly acknoleadgeth hys sinnes, he dspzeth the holy ghoost, * pzayeth, foz the church is the true Jerusalem a* To ỹchaunter, a Psalme of Dauid whē ỹ Pzophet Nathā came vnto him, after he b* was gone into Bethsabe.

a* Loke the Tytle of the iiii. Psalme.

b* That is, had companied with.

HAue mercy vpon me (O God) after thy goodnes, & accozding vnto thy greate mercyes, do a waye myne offences. A

Wash me wel fro my wickednesse, and clense me fro my synne.

For I knowledge my fautes, & my synne is euer before me.

Agaynst the only, against the haue I synned, and done euel in thy syght: that thou mightest be iustyfyed in thy saynges, & shuldest ouer come when ỹ art iudged.

Beholde, I was bozne in wyckednesse, & in synne hath my mother cōceaued me. B

But lo, thou hast apleasure in ỹ trueth and hast shewed me secrete wysdome.

O pourge me with c* Isope and I shalbe cleane: washe ỹ me, & I shalbe whyter then snow. Oh let me heare of ioye & gladnesse, that the bones which ỹ hast bzokē, maye reioyse.

Turne thy face from my sinnes, & put oute al mysdedes.

Make me a cleane hert, O God, & renue a ryght spzete with in me,

Cast me not away from thy presence & take not thy holy spzete from me. C O geue me ỹ cōfozt of thy help againe and stablish me with thy fre spzete.

Then shal I teach thy waies vnto the wycked, ỹ synners maye be conuerted vnto the.

Deliuer me from bloude giltinesse O God thou art the god of my healthe, ỹ my tōg may pzaise thy righteousnesse

Open my lyppes, O Lozde, that my mouth maye shewe thy pzayse.

For yf thou hadest pleasure in sacrifice, I wolde geue it the: but thou delitest not in burntofferinges.

The sacrifyce of god is a troubled spzit a bzoken and acontrite herte. O god, shalt thou not despyse. D O be fauozable & gracyous vnto Sion, ỹ the walles of Jerusalem may be buylded.

For then shalt thou be pleased with ỹ d* sacrifice of ryghteousnesse, with the burnt offeringes & oblacions thẽ shal they lay bullockes vpon thyne aulter.

The Notes

c* In the solempne sacrifice for sinne, of which Nu xix, a ✝ in the cleansinge of the lepre, of which Leui. xiiii, therwas yslope annered ✝ ioyned to. By that sprynckling was signifyed right purenes of herte: for that praieth he here, that is, for full remyssion of his sinne: which ones had, ✝ ỹ fauour of god obtained, ỹ mid reioyced wynspekable ioy, ✝ becometh moche whiter to the eye of the soule than doth any snowe to the bodely eye, Some vnderstande by ỹ y sope, the passiõ of Christ by which onely we are purified from our synnes.

d* The sacrifice of ryghtwesnes is the mortifyeng of the flesshe and the meakenynge of the herte, the prayesynge of God and knowledgynge oure selues synners. Psal. iiii. b.

¶ The. lii. Psalme

¶ He describeth the frowarde mynde and intente of Doeg, and after that, his banyshmente, and the ioyfulnes that the ryghtwes had therof.

a* To the chaunter, an exortacyon of Dauid whẽ Doeg the Edompte came to Saul, & shewed him, sayng: Dauid is come to the house of Ahimelech.

a* Loke the tytle of the, iiii. Psalme.
The story of thys Tytle is in. xi, Reg. ii. b.

A WHy boastest thou thy self, thou Tyrant, that thou canst do mischefe.

Wher as the goodnes of God endureth yet dayly.

Thy tong Imagineth wickednes, and with lyes it cutteth lyke a sharpe rasour.

Thou louest vngraciousnes more then good, to talke of lyes moare then rightuousnes. Selah.

Thou louest to speake all wordes that maye do hurte: O thou false tong

Therfore shall god cleane destroye the, smyte the in peces, pluckethe oute of thy dwellynge, and roote the out of the lande of the lyuinge. Selah.

B The righteouse shall see thys and feare and laugh hym to scorne.

Lo, this is the man, that toke not God for his strenghte, but trusted vnto the multitude of hys riches: & was mighte in hys wickednes,

As for me, I am lyke a grene olyue tree. in the house of God, my trust is in the tender mercye of God for euer, and euer.

I wyll alwayes geue thankes vnto thee, for that thou haste done, and wyll hope in thy name, for thy saynctes lyke it well.

¶ The. liii. Psalme.

¶ He complaineth that al places are ful of the wicked and vngodly, as before in the. xiiii. Psalme, a* To the chaunter vpõ b* Mahalath an instruccion of Dauid.

a* Loke the tytle of the fourth Psal.
b* It is a certayne songe or instrument of musicke signifyeng dysease, or heritage.

A THe folysshe bodyes saye in theire hertes Tush, their is no God.

Corrupt are they and become abhominable, in theyr wyckednesses: ther is not one that doth good,

God loked downe from heauen vpon the childeren of men, to see if there were anye that woulde vnderstande, or c* seke after God.

But they are all d* gone oute of the waye, they are all become vnprofitable. ther is none that doth good no not one,

How can they haue vnderstanding that are the worckers of wickednes: eatinge vp my people as it were breade and e* call not vpon God?

They are afrayde where no feare is for God breaketh the bones of them ỹ besege the: thou puttest them to confusion, for God despyseth them.

Oh that the sauing health were geuen vnto Israel out of Sion Oh that the Lorde woulde delyuer his People out of captiuitie,

Then shoulde Jacob. reioyse and Israell shoulde be ryght glad.

B

The Notes

c* To seke after God is, at no hand to seke our awne in any thinge: but both to do and suffre al thynges to the glory of God and profyt of oure neighbour, to renye oure selues ✝ all oures ✝ become the seruauntes of al men: And this is the especyal point of godlynes, agaynst which no men strike more stifly, then ỹ proud thursty and deceitful, which thinck they seke God, and seke them selues.

d* The meanig her of shal ye fide in ỹ Psal. xiiii

e* Of this ye haue in Esai. lxiiii. c.

¶ The. liiii. Psalme

¶ He sheweth how he despyreth helpe of the lorde ✝ was heard, when he was brought into great Ieopardye, by the treason of the zephites: ✝ howe God toke vengeaunce of his enemyes.

a* To the chaũter in Neginoth, an instruction of Dauid, when the zephites came and sayd vnto Saul. Dauid is hid amongest vs.

a* Loke the tytle of the, iiii. Psalme.
The story of this tytle is in. i. Reg. xxiii. d

A HElp me (O God) for b* thy names sake, & delyuer me in thy stregth

Heare my prayer O God. consider the wordes of my mouth.

For straungers are risen vp against me, me, and ỹ mightie (which haue not god before their eyes (leke after my soule.

Selah.

B But lo, god is my helpar: it is he ỹ vpholdeth my soule.

He shal reward euell vnto myne e-nemyes: and in thy truth shalt thou de stroye them.

A free wyl offering wyll I geue the,
and prayse thy[d]*name O Lorde, because it is so comfortable.

For thou hast delyuered me out of al my trouble so that mine eye seyth his desyre vpon mine enemies.

The Notes

b* These wordes of ỹ Hebrues for thi names sake
i thine name, for thy name, or by thy name, sygnify as much to vs, as i, for or bi thy maiesti glori good nes, magnificence. power wisdome &c, psa. xxv. c t* This is expoũded i ỹ Psa iii. a d* The psa, xvii

The. iv. Psalme.

The complayneth ỹ he was brought into a great strayte, through most wycked and crafty men, whō he toke for his cheafe frendes.

a* To the chaunter in Neginoth, an in struction of Dauid.

a* Loke the Tytle of the iiii. Psalme.

A Here my prayer, O God, & hyde not thy self fro my prayer.

Take hede vnto me and here me, howe pyteously I morne and com playne.

The enemie cryeth so, and the vngodly commeth on so fast: for they are mynded to do me some mysche f, so ma lycyously are they set against me.

My herte is heuye within me, and the feare of death is fallen vpon me.

B Fearefulnes and trembling ar cõe vpon me, and an horryble dzede hathe ouerwhelmed me.

And I said: O that I had winges lyke a doue, that I myght flee som-where, and be at rest.

Lo, then would I get me awaye farre of, and remayne in the wildernesse. c* Selah.

I wolde make haist to escape from the stormy wynde and tempest.

Destroye their tonges (O Lorde) and deuid them for I se vnrihtuousenesse. and strife in the citie.

This goeth daye and night about the walles, mysche fe and vice are in ỹ myddest of it.

C Wickednesse is therein, deseate and gile go not out of her stretes.

If it were mine enemye that reuiled me I could beare it: or if one that ought me euel wyll dyd threaten me I wolde hide my selfe from him.

But it is thou my companyon my gyde and myne owne familiar frende.

We had swete and secreate com-munycacyon together in the howse of God.

Let death come hastly vpon them, and let them go downe quick into hel for wikednes is amonge them in their dwellynges.

As for me I wyll cal vnto God, &
the Lorde shall helpe me.

In the euenyng, mornynge and at noone day wil I mourn and complain and he shall heare my voyce.

It is he that delyuereth my soule i peace from them that lay waite for me for they are many against me.

Yee euẽ God that endureth for euer shall heare me, and bryng them doune D Selah.

For they wyl not turne: and why:
they feare not god.

Yea they laye handes vpon such as be at peace with him, and so thei breke his couenaunte.

Their mouthes are softer then butter, and yet haue they battell in their mynde: their wordes are smother, then oyle, and yet be they very swerdes.

D caste thy burthen, or care, vpon the Lorde, he shal norische the, and not leaue the rightuous in vnquetnesse.

But as for them, thou (O GOD) shalt caste downe into the pytte of des truccyon.

The bloud thirsty and disceatful shall not lyue out halfe their days. Ne uertheles my truste is in the

The. lvi. Psalme.

The sheweth how he called on the helpe of ỹ lord, when he was in ieopardy before Achis king of Geth and how he, accused the wiles and violenc of Saul and his adherentes, which had dryuen him into ỹ perell.

a* To the chaunter, vpon[b]the domme flocke downe: which flieth ferre of, c Michtam of Dauid, when the Philis nes toke him in Geth.

a* Loke the tytle of the. iiii. Psalme.
b* Abra. Esra thincketh that ỹ dome flocke downe was the begynnynge of a songe, after whose tune the Psalme was songe. Kimhi and other suppose ỹ Dauid called him selfe dõme flock downe which flewe farre because he cõmytted him selfe wholye vnto

vnto god,and geuing none anſwere to his aduerſa ryes fled farre from his owne nacion vnto the Philiſtines,which were not onli ſtraũgers,but alſo enemies. The ſtorie here of is reade,i.Reg.xxi.

A c*Loke bifore in the title of the.xvi Pſalme

BE merciful vnto me(O God) for men wil treade me downe they ar daily fighting and troubling me.

Mine enemies treade me dayly vnder their fete for they be many ꝑoud ly fight againſt me.

Neuertheleſſe,when I am afraide, I put my truſt in the.

I wil comfort my ſelf i gods word yee I will hope in god,and not feare: What can d*flesh do vnto me.

They ꝑuerte daily in their wordes all that they imagin is to do me euel.

They hold all to gether,& kepe thẽ

B ſelues cloſe: they marke my ſteppes, how they maye catch my ſoule.

But in vaine for it ſhall eſcape thẽ: and why?thou(O god)in thy diſpleaſure ſhall caſt downe ſuche people.

Thou telleſte my flyttinges, thou putteſte my teares in thy bottell, and nombreſt them.

When ſoeuer I cal vpon the, mine enemies are put to flight:Wherby I know that thou art my god.

In godes worde will I reioyce, in the Lordes word wil I comfort me.

Yee i God wil I truſt,and am not afraied what can mã then do vnto me

Vnto the(O god) will I paye my vowes vnto the wil I geue thanckes and prayſe.

For thou haſte deliuered my ſoule from death,and my fete from falling, that I maye walke bekore god in the light of the liuinge.

The Notes

d*Flesh doth oftẽ ſignifi as much as mã Rom.iii For by the dedes of the lawe ſhal no fleſhe be iuſtyfied,that is no man and like wiſe here.

¶ The.lvii.Pſalme.

☞He ſheweth how he committed hym ſelf to the lorde,and eſcaped al ieopardye when he was in the caue and his ſoudiers w̃ him,& w̃ what affeccion

D he gaue thankes vnto the Lord therfore:with a deſcripcyon of the malyce and hate of his enemies toward him.

a*To ỹ Chaunter,b*deſtroye not c*Michtam of Dauid, when he fled for Saul into the caue.

a*Loke the tytle of the,iiii.Pſalme.

b*Or Thou ſhalt not deſtroye or make awaye(as ſome wyl)By thys he ſignifieth,after the mind of Kimhi that he twyſe with ſtode and ſtiled his ſoudiers whiche moued him to deſtroye and kil Saule Ezra thincketh it to be a certẽ tune & manner of ſinging c*Of this in the title of the .xvi.Pſalme

BE mercyfull vnto me, O God,be A mercyfull vnto mee, for my ſoule truſteth in the:and vnder the ſhadowe of thy wynges ſhalbe my refuge, vntyll wickednes be ouer paſt.

I call vnto God the moſte hyeſt.euẽ the God that ſhal help me vp agayne;

He ſhall ſende from heauen and ſaue me from repꝛoke of hym that wolde ſwalow me vp. Selah.

Thys ſhall God ſende for his mercy and faytfulnes ſake.

I lye wyth my ſoule among the cruell lyons:euen amonge the chyldren of men,whoſe teeth are ſpeares and arꝛowes,and their tonge a ſcherpe ſweerde.

Set vp thy ſelfe,O god,aboue the heauens,and thy glorꝛy abouealỹ erth

They haue layde a net for my feete and preſſed downe my ſoule:they haue dygged a pytte before me, and are fallẽ into it them ſelues. Selah.

My hert is ready, O God,my herte B is ready to ſynge and geue prayſe.

Awake,O myf*glorꝛye,awake lute & harpe,I my ſelfe wil awake righterly

I wyll geue thankes vntothe, O Lorde, amonge the people I will ſinge prayſes vnto the among ỹ Heythẽ

For the greatnes of thy mercye reacheth vnto the heauens,and the faythfulnes vnto the cloudes.

Set vp thy ſelfe, O GOD', aboue the heauens,and thy glorꝛy aboue al the earthe.

d*Loke the thyrd Pſalme.a.

e*Of thys is layde Prouerrr,b.

f*Glorꝛy here ſignifieth the pſalm by which he prayſeth God:or after ſome:the ſoule of hym that prayſeth.

The lviii.pſalme.

✠In inuectiue againſt the flaterers and adherents of Saul with'whoſe puniſchment he prophecieth ỹ the righteous ſhalbe wonderfully reioyceth.

a*To the chaunter b*Deſtroye not Michtam of Dauid.

a*Loke the .iiii.Pſalme,

b*Of thys in the tytle of the pſalme next before.

c*The ſignificatiõ here of,ye haue in the tytle of ỹ xvi Pſalme,

Jd*F your myndes be vpon righty A ouſneſſe in deade, then iudge thee thyng ỹ is right,O ye ſons of mẽ

But ye ymagyne miſcheefe in youre hartes & yourhandes deal w̃ weckdnes

The vngodlye are frowarde , euen from theyr mothers wombe:as ſone as they be borne they go aſtraye and ſpeake lyes.

They are as furious as the serpēt euen lyke the deaf Ader that stoppeth her eares.

That she shoulde not here ỹ voice of ỹ charmer, charme he neuer so wisely

e* Breake their teth (O God) i their mouthes, smyte the chafe bones of the lyones whelpes in sonder, O Lorde.

That they maye fal awaye, like wa
B ter ỹ runneth apace: & that when they shote their arowes, they may be brokē.

Let thē consume awaye like a snaile & like the buttimely frute of a womā, & let them not se the sunne.

Or euer youre thornes be sharpe, ỹ wrath shal take thē awaye quicke, like a stormy wind.

The righteous shall reioyce, when he seith ỹ vengaunce, & shall wash his fete in the bloude of the vngodly.

So that men shal saye, verely there is a reward for the righteous: doutles there is a god that iudgeth the earth.

The Notes

d* Or, Is the iustice in dede domme that ye ought to pronounce, & the righteous thinges ỹ ye oughte to iudge, O ye sonnes of men? Or ye ỹ hold the cōcel pronounce ye in dede, ỹ which is righteous: ye sōnes of men, iudge ye after the thinges that right are.

e* That is bringe to naught the blaspemy of them which cal me a seducer. Psal. ii. b

¶ The lvii. Psalme.

He desireth help against his enemies. He bosteth his innocency. He describeth the maners of his ene myes, and prophecieth their auengment, a* To the chaunter, b* destroye not, c* Michtam of Dauid, when Saul send to watch ỹ house to thintent to kil hī.

a* Loke the tytle of the iiii. Psalme

c* Of this in the lvii. Psalme

c* The signification herof is shewed before in ỹ xvi. Psal. The story of this tytle shal ye fynde in the first of the Kinges the, xix. Chapter.

A Delyuer me fro mine enemies (O my God) and defende me frō thē that rise vp against me.

O delyuer me from the wycked doers, and saue me from ỹ bloudthursty men.

For lo, they lye waiting for my soule, the mighty men are gathered together against me, without ani offence or faut of me, O Lorde,

They runne, and prepare them selues, with out my faute: Arise, come ỹ helpe me, and beholde.

Stand by, O Lord, God of hostes
B thou God of Israel d* to vyset al Heythen: be not merciful vnto them that of kend of malycyous wyckednes Selah

Let them go to and fro, and runne about the cytie, houlyng like dogges.

Beholde, they speake (against me) with their mouth, swerdes are vnder their lippes, for who reyzoueth them?

But thou (O Lorde) shalt haue thē indertsion, thou shat laugh al Heithē to scorne.

My strength do I ascribe vnto ỹ, for thou (O god) art my defender.

God sheweth me his goodnes plenteously, god letteth me se my desire vpon mine enemies.

C Slaye them not, lest my people forget it: but scater them abrode w̄ thy power, & put thē down, O lord my defēce.

For the synne of their mouth, for ỹ wordes of their lyppes, and because of their pride, let them be taken and why? their preaching is of curling and lies,

Consume them in thy wrath, consume them that they mate perish, and knowe that it is god, which ruleth in Jacob and in al the worlde. * Selah.

Let them go to and fro, and runne about the citye houlyng lyke dogges.

Let them runne here and there for meate, and grudg when they haue not ynough.

As for me I wyll synge of thy power, and prayse thy mercy betymes in ỹ morninge: for thou art my defence and refuge in the time of my trouble.

Unto ỹ (O my strength) wyl I singe for thou (O god) art my defence, & my merciful god,

The Notes

d* To visite for to chasten: as in the Psal, lxxix, c

e* Loke the Psalme. iii. a

¶ The. lx. Psalme.

He sheweth how God being displesed had in times past geuen the people of Israel vnto the handes of their enemyes, but did yet mercyfully helpe them agayne: He sheweth also the power and dompnyō of the Israelytes vnto whom now ar subdued ỹ Moabytes & the Philistines: and hopeth by the power of god to haue the victorye of the Amonytes.

* To the chaunter, vpō the rose of wittnesse, b* Michtam of Dauid, for to teache when he fought against c* Syria of Mesopotamia, and Syria of Zoba: and when Joab turned back, and slue xii. thousand Edomytes in the valley of Salt.

a* Loke the tytle of the. iiii. Psalme.

b* What is signifyed herby ye shall fynde in the tytle of the. vi. Psalme

That

c* That is, that part of Syria which is called Mesopotamia: that which is called Zoba.

A O God, ỹ that hast cast vsout & scatered vs abrode, thou ỹ hast beẽ soloze displeased at vs, cõfort vs agayne.

Thou ỹ hast remoued ỹ lãd & deuyded it, hele ỹ lozes therof, for it shaketh.

Thou hast shewed thy people heuy thinges, thou hast geuẽ vs d* dryncke of wine, that we slombre with all.

Yet hast thou geuen a token for soch as feare the, that they may cast it vpin the trueth. c* Selah.

That thy beloued myghte be delyuered, helpe thẽ with thy ryghthande, & heare me.

God hath spokẽ in his Sanctuary
B (which thinge reioyseth me) I wyl deuyde Sichẽ, & meate oute the valleys of Suchoth.

Galaad is myne, Manasses is myne, Ephraim is the strength of myne heade, Iuda is my Captayne.

Moab is my washpotte, ouer Edom will I stretche out my shoue, Philiste a shalbe glad of me.

C Who wil leade me into the strõg cite
Who wyll bryngе me into Edom?
Shalt not thou do it: O God, thou that hast cast vsout: thou God, that wẽtest not out with oure hostes?

O be thou oure helpe in trouble, for vayne is the helpe of man.

Thorow god we shal do great actes, for it is he ỹ shal tread downe our enemyes.

d* This dricke of wyne. &c. signifieth the anger of the lord or ỹ suffraunce of sore plage, or the cuppe of anger, Apoc. xiiii. b

¶ The. lxi. Psalme.

¶ He desyreth to be deliuered from perell, & straight wayes, with a promes of thanckes geuing boasteth, that his desyre is heard. He maketh him selfe a figure of Christ, reioysynge of his kinngdome, which lasteth euer.

a* To the chaunter vpon b* Neginoth, of Dauid.

a* b* Loke the tytle of the. iiii. Psal for them both

H Eare my cryinge (O god) geue hede vnto my prayer.

c* From the endes of ỹ earth wil I cal vnto the, whẽ my hert is in trouble: Oh set me vp vpon an hye rocke.

For thou art my hope, a strong tower for me agaynst the enemye.

I wyl dwel in thy tabernacle for euer, that I may be safe vnder the couerynge of thy wynges. Selah.

For thou, O lord, hast harde my desyres, thou haste geuen and heretage vnto those that feare thy name.
B

Thou shalt graunte the kinge alõg life, that his yeres may endure thorow out all generacyons,

That he maye dwel before god for euer. Oh let thy louing mercy & faythfulnesse preserue hym:

So wyll I alway synge prayses vnto thy name, that I may daily perfourme my vowes,

The Notes

c* To crye from the endes of the earthe, is, beynge in a farre contrey, to syghe with affection and pray wyth feruent desyre to come out of the tribulacyon and aduersitie wherin we are oppressed in those farre contres and to be brought agayn to the place where we wolde wysshe vs. Reade the. iii. of the kynges / the. viii. Chapter. c. Dauid was dryuen into vttermoost coastes of all Israell, both when Saule and Absolon persecuted hym. And therfore sayth he, how farre soeuer I be outlawed, yet wyll I call vpon the Lord and trust surely to obteyn my request

¶ The lxii. Psalme.

☞ He teacheth to trust to God onelye, and not to men, nether to any of theyre strengthes or armyes And describeth theyr frowardnesse and vanitie, wt the vengeaunce that abydeth it from aboue.

a* To the chaunter, for b* Iduthun,

A psalme of dauid.

a* Loke the tytle of the iiii. Psalme

b* Of this ys sayde in the tytle of the. xxxix. Psal

M Y soule waiteth only vpon god, for of him commeth my helpe.
A

He only is my strength, my saluacyon, my defence, so that I shal not greatly c* fall.

How long wyll ye ymagyn mischefe agaynst euery man? ye shalbe slayne al ỹ lorp of you: yee as a totring wal shal ye be, and lyke a broken hedge.

Their deuyce is only howe to put him out, their delite is in lyes: they gyue good wordes with their mouth, but curse wt their herte. Selah.
B

Neuertheles, my soule abideth onli vpon god, for he is my god.

He only is my strẽgth, my saluacyõ, & my defence: so that I shal not fall.

In god is my health, my glory, my might, and in god is my trust.

O put your trust in him alway (ye people) poure out youre hertes before him, for god is oure hope. b* Selah.

As for men, they are but vayne, men are
C disceatful: vpon ỹ weyghtes they are altogether lyghter than vanite it selfe.

O

O truſt not in wronge and robbery geue not youre ſelues vnto vanyte, yf tyches encreaſe, ſet not your hert vpō them.

God ſpake once a woꝛde, twyſe haue I heard the ſame: that power belōgeth vnto God.

That thou Lord art mercyfull, and that thou rewardeſt euery man accoꝛdynge to his woꝛkes.

c*To fall oꝛ be remoued in the ſcripture is, to be confoūded, troubled, & to haue a quaking & trēblig conſcience. Before in the Pſal. xv. b and. xx. b

b*Loke the thirde Pſalme. a

The. lxiii. Pſalme.

The ſheweth how he gaue his mynde to the contemplacion of the goodnes and power of god, and was therwith wonderfully cōfoꝛted, when he was ablēt from the holy feaſt in the wildernes of Juda, ehꝛoughe the perſecucion of Saul: and how he ſaw by the ſpꝛete, both his exaltacion and the deſtrucion of his enemies: wherin healſo figureth Chꝛiſt vnder the perſon of hym ſelfe.

A Pſalme of Dauid, when he was in the a* wyldernes of Juda, a*He meaneth the wildernes of ziph, which fell to the lott of Juda.

D O God, thou art my god: early wil I ſeke the.

My ſoule thꝛuſteth foꝛ the, my fleſh longeth after the in a baren and dꝛye lande, where no water is.

Thus do I loke foꝛ the in thy Sāctuary, that I might beholde thy power and glozy.

Foꝛ thy louinge kindneſſe is better then lyfe my lyppes ſhall pꝛayſe the.

B As long as I lyue wyll I magnify ỹ, and lyft vp my handes in thy name.

My ſoule is ſatiſfied euē as it were w̄ mariꝛ fatneſſe, whē my mouth pꝛaiſeth the with ioyfull lyppes.

In my bedde wyl I remembꝛe the, and when I wake my talkinge ſhalbe of the.

Foꝛ thou haſt bene my helper, and

C vnder the ſhadow of thy winges wyll I reioyſe:

My ſoule hangeth vpon the, thy right hande vpholdeth me.

They ſeke after my ſoule, but i vaine; foꝛ they ſhall go vnder the earth.

b*They ſhall fall into thy ſwerde, and be apoꝛcion foꝛ foxes,

But the kyng ſhall reioyſe in God, all they that ſweare by him, ſhalbe cōdemned, foꝛ the mouth of lyers ſhalbe ſtopped.

b*He meaneth Saul & his hoſte.

The. lxiiii. Pſalme.

A Pꝛayer agaynſt betrayers whoſe dyſpoſycyon he diſcribeth, & pꝛophecyeth their auēgmente

a*To ỹ chaunter, a Pſalme of Dauid

a*Loke the tytle of the. iiii. Pſalme.

H Eare my voyce, O God, in my complaynte, pꝛeſerue my lyfe frō A feare of the enemye:

Hyde me from the gatherynge to gether of the frowarde, from the heape of wycked doers.

Which whet theyꝛ tounges lyke a ſwerde, & ſhute with theire venimouſe woꝛdes lyke as with arrowes,

That they may pꝛyuely hurt the innocēt, & ſod enly to hyt hi woutanyfeare.

They haue diuiſed miſcheke, and cō muned among thē ſelues, how they may lay ſnares: tuſh (ſay they) who ſhal ſethē They ymagyn wickednes, and kepe it ſecrete among them ſelues, euery man in the depe of hys herte.

But God ſhall ſodenly ſhute wyth an aꝛꝛowe, that they ſhal be wounded: B

Yee theyꝛ owne tonges ſhall make them fall, in ſo much that who ſo ſeyth them, ſhall laugh them to ſcoꝛne:

And all men that ſe it, ſhal ſay, this hath God done, foꝛ they ſhall perceaue that it is hys woꝛke,

The ꝛighteous ſhall reioyſe in the Lord, & put his truſt in hym, & all they ỹ are b* tru of hert, ſhalbe glad therof.

b*The true of herte, are thoſe that nether foꝛ the pꝛoſperite of the vnfaythfull, nor pouerti of ỹ good are ſeduced: but alwayſe iudging well of God, are pleaſed w̄ that he doeth, contented only with hys pꝛomes contayned in his woꝛde Pſal. lxxiii. a

The. lxv. Pſalme,

The ſheweth that god which pꝛincipally & pꝛoperly ruleth in Sion (by which is ſignified ỹ congregacīō of the faythfull) ought to be knowen and woꝛſhipped of al men: becauſe he geueth aboundaunce, both of thinges parteininyg to this life, & of heuēli thinges alſo.

a*To the chaunter, a Pſalme & ſonge of Daued.

a*Loke the title of the. iiii Pſalme

T Hou, O God art pꝛaiſed in Siō, & vnto the is ỹ vowe perfoꝛmed. A

Thou heareſt the pꝛayer therfoꝛ commeth al fleſhe vnto the.

Oure miſdedes pꝛeuaile againſt vs Oh be thou mercyful vnto our ſinnes

Bleſſed is the mā whome ỹ choſeſt and reſeaueſte vnto the that he maye dwel in thy courte: he ſhalbe ſatiſfied weth the pleaſures of thy houſe, euen of thy holy temple.

Heare

Heare vs,according vnto thy wonderfull rightuousnes, O God our saluacion: thou that art the hope of all ẏ endes af ẏ earth,and of the broade see.

Which in his strength setteth fast ẏ montaynes and is gyrded about w̄ power.

Which stylleth the ragynge of the see, ẏ roaringe of his waues, and the woodnes of the people.

They that dwell in the vttermoste partes are afrayed at thy tokens,thou makest both the mornyng and euenig starres to prayse the.

Thou visitest the earthe,thou watrest it,and makest it very plēteous.

The ryuer of God is full of waters,thou preparest man his corne,and thus thou proudest for the earth.

Thou waterest her forowes,ẏ breakest the harde clottes therof, thou makest it soft with the droppes of rayne, and blessest the increase of it.

Thou crownest the yeare with thi good and thy[b]*fotesteps drop fatnes.

The dwellynges of ẏ wyldernes ar fat also,that they droppe with all: & ẏ lytle hylles ar pleasaunt on euery side.

The foldes are ful of shepe,ẏ valleyes stand so thycke with corne ẏ they laugh and synge.

The Notes.

b* Rab Kim vnderstandeth thys of the cloudes. Rab.Ezra of rūning waters.

¶The.lxvi.Psalme

¶A thanckesgeuinge for the deliueraunce of the people of Israel,wherin ẏ Psalmyst moueth all mē to the praising of the lorde.

a* To ẏ chaunter,a Psalme of Dauid

a*Loke the title of the iiii:Psalme.

A Be ioyfull in God,al ye landes, synge prayses vnto the honor of his name,make his praise to be glorious.

Saye vnto God: O how wonderful are thy worckes: thorow the greatnesse of thy power shal thine enemyes be confounded.

O that all the worlde wolde worshippe the,synge of the,and prayse thy name.Selah.

O come hither and beholde ẏ worckes of god,whych is so wonderful in his doinges amōge ẏ children of men.

B He turned the see into drie lande,so that they wente thorowe the water on fote:therfore will we reioyse in him.

He ruleth with his power for euer, his eyes behold the people:the rēnagates shall not be able to exalte them selues.b*Selah.

O mangnifie oure God,ye people, make the voyce of his praise to be herd

Which holdeth oure soule in life, & suffereth not our fete to slyppe.

For thou,O God hast proued vs,ẏ hast tryed vs like as siluer is tried.

Thou hast brought vs into captiuyte, & layed trouble vpon our loynes. C

Thou hast suffred men to ride ouer our heades,we wēt thorow fire & water but ẏ hast broght vs out, & refreshed vs

Therfore will I go into thy house with brentofferynges, to paye the my vowes,which I promised with my lippes,and spake with my mouthe,when I was in trouble.

I wyll offer vnto the fatt brent sacrifices w̄ ẏ smoke of rammes, I will offer bullockes & goates. Selah.

O come hither & herken,all ye that feare god,I wyl tel you,what he hath done for my soule,

I called vnto him with my mouth, and geue him prayses with my tunge.

If I encline vnto wickednes with my hert,the lord will not heare me.

Therfore God hath herd me, & considered the voyce of my prayer.

Praysed be God,which hath not cast out my prayer, nor turned hys mercye fro me.

The Notes.

b* Loke the Psal.iii.a

¶The.lxvii,Psalme.

¶He wysheth the fauour of God to the people of Israel,to thyntent ẏ therby the knowledg & praise of his godly goodnes maye be spred thorow ẏ hole worlde.

a* To the chaunter, in b* Nephinoth, a Psalme & songe.

a*b*Loke the title of the.iiii.Psalme forthe both

A God be mercyfull vnto vs, blesse vs & shewe the lyght of his countenaunce vpon vs. *Selah

That we maye knowe thy waye vpon earth,thy sauing health amonge al Heathen.

Let the people prayse the, O God, yee let all people prayse the.

O let the peple reioyse and be glad that thou iudgeste the folke rightuously ouslye, and gouerneſt the nacyns vpon earth.

Let the people prayſe the, O god, let all people prayſe the.

God, euen oure owne god, geue vs his bleſſinge, that ỹ earthe maye bring forth her encreaſe.

God bleſſe vs, and let the endes of the worlde feare him.

The Notes

c*In the Pſal.iii.a, is the meaning of thys word shewed:

The.lxviii. Pſalme,

The ſheweth ỹ great goodnes & wonderful power which the Lorde exerciſed toward his people & ỹ holy citie Jeruſalem, in geuing them the victory (as ſome expounde) of the Syrians, the Edomytes, & the Ammonytes: figuryng openly therin the kyngdome of Chriſt, vnto whom he ſawe by the ſpirite that the hole worlde ſhulde obey: wherfore he exhorteth all men to geue prayſe vnto the lorde.

a*To the chaunter, a Pſalme and ſōg of Dauid.

a*Loke the tytle of the.iiii. Pſalm

A Let[b]*God, ariſe ſo ſhal his enemies be ſcattered, and they that hate him, ſhall flee before him.

Like as ỹ ſmoke vaniſheth, ſo ſhalt thou driue them a waye: and lyke as waxe melteth at the fire, ſo ſhall ỹ vngodly periſh at the preſence of god.

But the righteous ſhalbe glad and reioyſe before god, they ſhalbe merye & ioyful.

Oh ſinge vnto god, ſing prayſes vnto his name: magnifie hym that rideth aboute the heuens (whoſe name is the Lord) and reioyſe before him.

B He is a father of the fatherleſſe, he is a defender of widdowes: euen god in his holy habitacion.

He is the God that maketh men to be of one mynde in a houſe, and bryngeth the priſoners out of captyuite in due ſeaſon, but letteth the rennagates continue in ſcarceneſſe.

O God, whē thou wenteſt forth before the people, when thou wenteſt thorow the wylderneſs. Selah.

The earthe ſhoke, and the heauens dropped at the preſence of god (Sinai at the preſence of god which is the god of Iſrael.

Thou O god ſendeſt a* gracious raine vpon thine enheritaunce, and refreſheſt it, when it is drie

That thy beaſtes maye dwel therin whych thou of thy goodnes haſt prepared for the poore.

The Lord ſhal geue the word, with greate hoſtes of Euangelyſtes C

Kinges with ther armies ſhall flee. and they of the houſholde ſhall deuide the ſpoyle.

If ſo be, that ye lie among the pales, the doues fethers ſhall be couered wt ſyluer, and her wynges of the colour of golde.

When the almighty ſetteth kinges vpon the earth, it ſhalbe cleare euen in the darckenes.

The hyll of Baſan is gods hyll, the hyl of Baſan is a plenteous hyll.

Why hope ye ſo, ye[b]*greate hilles?

It pleaſeth god to dwell vpon this hyll, yee the lorde wyll abyde in it for euer.

The charettes of god are māny My tyme a thouſande, the lord is amonge them in the holy Sinai. D

Thou arte gone vp an hie, thou haſte led captiuite captiue, and reſeaued gyftes for men: Yee euen for thine enemies, that they might dwell with ỹ Lorde God

Prayſed be the lorde dayly euen the god which helpeth vs, ād poureth his benefites vpon vs. c* Selah.

The god that is our Sauiour euē God the Lorde by whome we eſcaped death. E

The God that ſmiteth the enemies vpō the heades & vpon ỹ heary ſcalpes ſuch as go on ſtil i their wickednes,

The Lord hath ſaide: ſome will I bringe againe frō Baſan, ſome will I bringe againe from the depe of the ſee.

That thy fote maye be dipped in ỹ bloude of thine enemyes, & ỹ thy dogges maye lycke it vp.

It is wel ſene, O god, how ỹ goeſt, how thou my god and king, goeſt in ỹ Sanctuary.

The ſingers go before and then the mynſtrels amonge the maydens with the tymbre is.

O geue thankes vnto god the lord, in the congregacion, for the welles of Iſrael. F

There lytle Beniamin, the Prynces of Iuda, the Prynces of zabulon, and the Pzynces of Nephthaly beare rule amonge them.

The God hathe committed stregth vnto the, stablysh the thing, O god, ẏ thou hast wzought in vs.

Foz thy temples sake at Jerusalem shal kinges bzinge pzesentes vnto the Repzoue the beastes amonge the reedes, the heape of bulles with the calues: those that dziue foz money.

Oh scatter the people that delite in batayle.

The Pzinces shal come out of Egypt, the moztās land shal stretch out her handes vnto God.

Synge vnto god, O ye kingdome of the earth: O sing pzaises vnto the lozde * Selah.

Which sitteth in the heauens ouer al from the beginnig: Lo, he shal send out his voice, yee & ẏ a might te voice.

Ascribe ye the power vnto god, his glozye is in Jsraell and his mighte in the cloudes.

God is wonderful in his Sanctuary, he is ẏ god of Jsracll, he wil geue strengthe and power vnto his people. Blessed be god.

The Notes

b * God ariseth when he showeth ẏ he hath a wil to help & to saue Psal. xli. b, xxv. a xliiii. d. & ce c * By this gracious raine is signified the word & gospel which is the law of the spzete & of like Psalme. cxlviii. b.

d * That is mighty kinges.

e * Loke the Psalme. iii, a

The. lxix: Psalme.

A cõplaynt of ẏ great aduersityes of Dauid, beryng the figure of Chziste, & of the sayncles & Chzisten his membzes. And after a pzayer foz deliuerũce therfrom: Then a ioyfull reioysing foz help geuen, with a pzophecy of the encrese of the church ioyned therunto.

a * To the chaunter vpon b * Solanim of Dauid.

a * Loke the tytle of the. iiii. Psalm

b * Of Solanim ye haue in the tytle of the. xlv. Psalme.

1 HElpe me O god, foz the c * waters are come in euen vnto my soule.

I sticke faste in the depe myze, where no grũd is I am come into depe waters, and ẏ floudes wyl dzoune me.

I am wery of cryenge, my thzote is dzye, my syght faileth me, foz wayting so longe vpon my god.

They that hate me without acause are mo then ẏ heares of my head they that are mine enemies & wold destroy me giltlesse are mightie I am faine to paye the thinges that I neuer toke.

God thou knowest my simplenesse, B and my fautes are not hyd from the.

Let not thẽ that trust in ẏ, O Lozd god of hostes be ashamed foz my cause let not those that seke me, be confounded thozdw me O god of Jsrael,

And why: foz thy sake do I suffer repzoke, shame couereth my face.

I am become a straunger vnto my bzethzen, and an aleaunt vnto my mothers chyldzen.

Foz the d * zele of thine house hath euen eaten me, and the rebukes of them that rebuke the, is fallen vpon me.

I wepte and chastened my selfe with fastinge, and that was turned to C my repzoke.

I put on a sacke cloth, and therfoze they iested vpon me.

They that sate in the gate, spake a gaynst me, and the dzonckardes made songes vpon me.

But Lozd I made my pzayer vnto the in an acceptble time:

Heare me, O God, with thy greate mercye and sure helpe.

Take me out of the myze, ẏ I sincke D not: Oh let me be deliuered from thẽ ẏ hate me, and out of the depe waters.

Lest the water floud dzowne me ẏ the depe swalowe me not vp, and that the pytte shut not her meuth vpõ me.

Heare me, O Lozd, foz thy louinge kindnesse is comfoztable: turne the vnto me acozding vnto thy great mercy.

Hyde not thy face from thy seruaũt, foz I am in trouble: O haste the to helpe me.

Dzawe ny vnto my soule, & saue it Oh delyuer me because of mine enemees.

Thou knowest my repzoke my shame and my dyshonour: myne aduersaries are all in thy sight.

The rebuke bzeaketh my hert & maketh me heuy: I loke foz some to haue pytye vpõ me, but there is no mã: & foz some to comfozt me but I finde none.

They gaue me gall to eate, & when I was thursty they gaue me vyneger to dzinke.

Let

Let their e* table be made a snare to take them selues with all, an occasyon to fall & a rewarde vnto them.

Let their eyes be blinded, that they se not: and euer bow downe their backes.

Powre out thine indignacion vpō thē, and let thy wrathfull displeasure take holde of them.

Let their habitacyon be voyde, & no F man to dwell in their tentes.

For they persecute him whom thou hast smyten, and beside thy woundes they haue geuen him moo.

Let them fal from one wickednesse to another, and not come into thy righteousnesse.

f* Let thē be wyped out of the boke of the liuing, and not be wrytte amōg the righteous.

As for me, I am poore and in heuinesse, let thy helpe defend me. O God.

That I may prayse ỹ name of god with a song, and magnify it with thākesgeuinge.

G This shal please the lord better then a bullocke, that hath hornes & hookes

O consydre this and be glad (ye ỹ be in aduersyte) seke after God, and youre soule shal lyue.

For the Lorde heareth the poore & dispyseth not his prisoners.

Let heauen and earth prayse him, the see and all that moueth therin.

For God wil saue Syon, & buylde the cyties of Juda, that men may dwel there, and haue them in possession.

The sede of his seruauntes shal inheret it, and they ỹ loue his name shall dwell therin.

e* Waters here signyfye the greates and panges of death.

d* Of this zeale or Jelousy ye haue i Exo, xx. Deu iiii. d. and iii. Reg. xix. b e* Let their table be made a snare. &c, That is, Let their opinion & doctrine be the cause of their steykenes & destruceiō as it is come to the Jewes. Roma xi. b.

The hebru Paraphras, saith thus: Let sothe a diner be set before thē wherunto they may be so boūde that they cā not escape. The scripture is a snare to ỹ vngodly, wherwith they be traped: although thei be neuer so wel lerned. For only the spirituall perceaueth the meaning therof, One the other syde vnto the godly, though they haue neuer so litel lerning or non at all, it is the ryuer of the water of life Johan. vii. f f* That is let thē be wiped out of ỹ nombre of thē whome thou hast chosen to lyfe. The boke of the liuing is no nother thing, than the euerlasting election & predestinacion of god, the which vndoubted foloweth vocacyon & instificaciō. Daniel, xii. a. Philip. iiii, a, & Apocal. iii. a

The. lxx. Psalme.

This dothe help, & ỹ auengemēt of his enemies, that the saynctes maye reioyce of his ayde.

a* To the chaūter, of Dauid to bryng to remembraunce.

a* Loke the tytle of the. iiii, Psalme.

HAste the, O God, to delyuer me. A
& to helpe me, O Lorde.

Let them be shamed & confoū-ded that seke after my soule: * let them be turned backwarde, and put to confusyon, that wish my euill.

Let thē sone be brought to shame, ỹ crye ouer me, there there.

But let all those that seke ỹ, be ioyfull & glad in the: and let al soch as delite in thy sauyng health, say alwaye: ỹ Lorde be praysed.

As for me, I am poore and in mysery, haste the god for to helpe me.
Thou art my helpe, my redeamer and my god: Oh make no longe tarienge.

The. lxxi. Psalme.

This sheweth how he was cōforted of the Lorde, whichas he had preserued hī fence he was a chylde, so he wold not forsak hī in his age, whē he desyred helpe agaynst them (as it is supposed) that conspired with Absalon: & how he gaue prayse and thankes to him.

IN the, O Lord, is my trust, let me A neuer be put to confusyō, but ryde me, & delyuer me thorowe thy ryghtuousnesse: encline thine eare vnto me, and helpe me.

Be thou my strong holde (where vnto I maye alwaye flie) thou that haste promised to helpe me: for thou art my house of defence and my castell.

Delyuer me, O my god, out of the hand of the vngodly, out of the hande of ỹ vntightuous and cruell man.

For thou, O Lord god, art ỹ thing ỹ I longe for, thou art my hope euen fro my youth.

I haue leaned vpon the euersence I was borne, ỹ art he that toke me out of my mothers wōbe, therfor is my praise alwaye of the. B

I am become a wōder vnto the multytude, but my sure trust is in the.
Oh let my mouth be fylled wt ỹ prayse and honour all the daye longe.

Cast me not away in myn old age for sake me not whē my strēgth fayleth me

For myne enemyes speake against me, & they that lay wayte for my soule, take theyr councell together, sayenge:

God hath forsaken him, persecute him, take hym, for there is none to helpe hi.

Go not farre from me, O God: mi God haste the to helpe me.

Let them be confounded and pery she, that are agaynste my Soule: let them be couered with shame and dishonour, that seke to do me euell.

C As for me, I will patientlye abyde alwaye, and wyl euer encrease thy prayse.

My mouth shall speake of thy rightuousnes and sauing health a*all the daye long, for I knowe no ende thereof.

Let me go in (O Lorde God) and I wyll make mencion of thy power and rightuousnes onely.

Thou, O God, hast lerned me fro my youthe vp vntyll nowe, therfore wyll I tell of thy wonderous workes.

Forsake me not, O God, in mine old age when I am gray headed: vntyll I haue shewed thyn arme vnto chylders chylderen, and thy power to al thē that are yet for to come.

Thy reghtuousnes O God, is verye hygh, thou that dost great thynges: O God, who is lyke vnto the?

D O what great troubles and aduersities haste thou shewed mee? and yet dyddest thou turne and refresh me: yee and broughtest me from the depe of the earth agayne.

Thou hast brought me to great honour, and comforted me on euery syde.

Therfore wyll I prayse the and thi faythfulnes, O God, playing vpon the lute, vnto the wyll I synge vppon the harpe, O thou b*holy one of Israell.

My lyppys wolde fayne singe prayses vnto the: and so wolde my soule who me thou hast delyuered.

My tonge talketh of thy rightuousnesse all the daye longe, for they are cō founded and brought vnto shame that sought to do me euell.

The Notes

a*All the daye long is often taken for continually and without ceasinge, as in the Prouerb. xxi. d. Esai. li. d.

b*The holy one of Israell signifyeth Christe Psalme. lxxix. c.

C The lxxii. Psalme.

C He prayeth that the kingdome of God maye come thorow Christ, and prophecieth of the noblenes, rightousnenes plentifulnes and durablenes of this kingdome but all vnder the shaddowe of the kyngdome of Salomon.

Of Salomon.

GEue the kynge thy iudgemente, O God, and thy rightuousnesse vnto the kinges sonne. I

That he maye gouerne thy People acordyng vnto right, & defend thy pore That the a* mountaynes maye bringe peace, and the lyttle hylles rightuousnes vnto the people.

He shall kepe the symple folke by theyr righte, defende the children of ỹ poore, and punish the wrong doers.

Thou shalt be feared as long as ỹ sunne and mone endureth, from one generacion to an other.

He shal come downe lyke the rayne into a flese of wolle, and lyke the dropes that whater the earthe.

In his tyme shall ryghtuousnesse florish, yee and aboundaunce of peace so longe as the mone endureth.

His domynion shalbe from the one see to the other, and from the floud vnto the worldes ende. B

They that dwell in the wildernesse shall knele before hym, and his enemyes shall b*lyke the dust.

The kyngs of the se and of ỹ Iles shall bryng presentes, the kynges of Araby and Saba shall offre gyftes.

All kinges shall worshippe hym, & all heathen shall do hym seruice.

For he shall delyuer the poore whē he cryeth, & the nedy ỹ hath noo helpe. C

He shalbe fauourable to the simple and poore, he shall preserue the soules of suche as be in aduersitie.

He shall delyuer theyr soules from extorcion and wronge, and deare shall there bloude be in his syght.

c*He shall lyue, and vnto him shal be geuen of the golde of Arabya: Prayer shalbemade euer vnto him, and dayly shall he be praysed.

There shalbe an heape of corne in the earth hye vpon the hylles, his frut shal shake like Libanus, & shal begrene in the citie lyke grasse vpon the earth.

His name shal endure for euer, his name shal remayne vnder the sunne amonge the posterities, which shall bee blessed thorow hym, & al the hethē shal

prayse

prayse hym.

Blessed be the Lorde God, euen the God of Israell, which onely doth wonderous thynges.

And blessed be the name of his maiestie for euer, and all landes be fulfylled w̄ hys glorye. Amen, Amen.

The Notes

a* By the mountaynes are vnderstande the great men and rulers, that receaue the word of peace: and by the lytle hylles, theyr subiectes. Psalme, cxliii. a. cxlix. b. Luke. iii. b.

b* That is, shalbe humbled euen to the kyssynge of the grounde. Esa. xlix. g.

c* That is to wete the kinge. after Rab. Sal. Or ỹ poore, after some.

Here endeth the prayers of Dauid the sonne of Jesse.

☞ The thyrd treatise.

The. lxxiii. Psalme.

He sheweth vnto the cōsolatiō of ỹ Godly, which are greued and offended with the prosperitie of the wicked, how vngratious an ende it shall haue. And agayne how fortunate and happy an ende the mysterye wherwyth the godlye seame here to be exercised shalbe rewarded wyth.

A Psalme of Asaph.

A Dell, how louing is God vnto Israell, to suche as are cleane of hert:

Neuertheless my fete were almoost gone, my treadynges had wel nye slypt.

And why? I was greued at the wycked, to se ỹ vngodly in such prosperitie.

For they are in no pareil of deathe, but stande fast lyke a palace.

They come in no mysfortune lyke other folke, nether are they plaged lyke other men.

And thys is the cause that they bee so putt vp in pryde, and ouerwhelmed with crueltie and vnrighteousnes.

Theyr eyes swell for fatnes, they do euen what they lyste.

Corrupt are they, and speake blasphemies malitiously, proud and presumptuous are theyr wordes,

They stretche forth theyr mouth vnto the heauen, and theyr tong goeth thorow the world.

Therfore fal the people vnto them, and there out sucke they no small auantage.

Tush (saye they) howe shulde god perceaue it: is ther knowledge in the most hyghest:

Lo, these are the vngodlye, these prosperē in the worlde, these haue riches in possesion.

Shoulde I then clense my herte in vayne (thought I) and a* wash my handes in innocency:

Wherfore shulde I be then punished daily, and be chastened euery morning:

Yea I had almoost also sayde euen as they, but lo, then should I haue condempned the generacion of thy childrē. C

Then thought I to vnderstād this, but it was to herde for me:

Vntyll I wente into the sanctuary of god, and considered the ende of these menne.

Namely, how thou hast set them in a slyppery place, that thou mayst cast the downe headlynges and destroye them.

O how soodenly do they consume, perish and come to a fearful ende:

yea euen lyke as a dreame when one awaketh. so makest thou their b* image to vanish out of the citie.

Thus my herte was greued, and it wēte euen thorow my reines. D

So folysshe was I and ignorante, and as it were a beest before the.

Neuertheless I am always by the, thou holdest me, by me ryght hande.

Thou leadest me with thy councel, and afterwarde receauest me vnto glory.

O what is there prepared for me in heauen: there is nothynge vpon earth, that I desyre in comparison of the.

My flesshe and my hert fayleth, but God is the strenghte of my herte, and my porcion for euer.

For lo, they that forsoke the shall perish, thou destroyest all them that c* cōmitte fornicacion against the.

But it is good for me, to holde me fast by God, to put me trust in the Lorde God, and to speke of al thy workes, a* To walche his handes in innocencye, is, to shewe his lyfe to be pure and without reproche, as it is sayde Psalme. xxvi.

The Notes

b* that is their estimacion or glorye.

c* They committe fornicacion agaynst hī, that put theyr trust in any other than in him alone,

The. lxxiiii. Psalme

The complayneth of the destruction of the temple and of the blasphemy of the wicked people agaynst God and his holy thynges: And after he hath mencioned in the power of God in the principall thinges of this world, to the strenghthening and confirmig of hope, he prayeth, that the saintes & godly persons may be auenged, and the Hethen brought vnder wt worthy punishement.

An instruccion of Asaph.

A DO God, wherfor doest thou cast vs so cleane awai? why is thi[a]*wra th so hote against the shepe of thy pasture?

Thynke vpon thy congregacion, whom thou hast purchased from ỹ beginning: the stake of thyne enheritaũce whom thou hast redemed, eue this hyl of Sion wherin thou dwellest.

Treade vpon them with thy fete, and cast them downe to the grounde, for ỹ enemye hath destroyed all to gether in the Sanctuarye.

Thine aduersaries roare in thy howses, & set vp theyr banners for tokens.

B When may se the axes glyster aboue, like as those that hewe in the wodd They cut downe all the stinking worcke of ỹ Sanctuary with billes and axes. They haue set fyre vpõ ỹ Sanctuary, they haue defyled the dwellyng place of thy name, euen vnto the grounde.

Yee they saye in their hertes: let vs spoile them altogether, thus haue thei brent vp all the houses of God in the lande.

We se oure tokens no more, ther is not one Prophet more, no not one that vnderstandeth any more.

O god, how longe shall the aduersary do thys dyshonour? how long shal ỹ enemy blaspheme thy name? for euer?

Why withdrawest thou thin hand? why pluckest thou not thy righthande C out of thy bosome, to consume thyne enemyes?

But god is my kynge of olde, the helpe that is done vpon earth, he doth it hym selfe.

Thou deuydest the see thorow thy power, thou breakest the heades of ỹ dragons in the waters.

Thou smytest the heades of Leuiathã in peces, & geuest him to be meate for ỹ people in the wildernesse.

Thou diggest vp welles and brokes, thou dryest vp mightye waters.

The day is thyne, and the night is thyne: thou hast prepared the lyghtes and the sunne.

Thou hast set al the borders of the earthe, thou hast made bothe sommer and wynter.

Remembre this, O Lorde, how the enemye rebuketh, and howe the folyshe people blaspheme thy name.

O delyuer not the soule of thy turtle doue vnto the beastes, & forgat not ỹ congregacion of thi[b]*poore for euer.

Loke vpon the couenaunt, for the darcke howles of the earthe are full of D wyckednes.

O let not the symple go awaye ashamed: for the poore and nedy geue prayses vnto thy name.

Aryse, O god, and maintaine thine owne cause, remembre how the folyshe man blasphemeth the dayly.

Forget not ỹ voyce of thine enemies, for the presumpcion of them that hate the, increaseth euer more and more.

The Notes

a* The wrath of God is sometime taken for the vengaunce wherwith he punisheth synners, as in ỹ Psal. xviii. a But here it signifieth the punishmẽt wherwith he chasteneth his. Psal. lx. a.

b* Loke the Psalme. ix. b.

The. lxxv. Psalme.

COure sauiour here vnder the shadow of Dauid glorifyeth of ỹ power geuen vnto him, wherwithe he wil restore the world now drawing to an ende: and warneth that no mã be so hardy as to withstãd his kingdom: and also prophesieth greuous vengaunce vnto al that go therabout, and al maner of prosperite to them that beleue in hym.

a* To the chaunter, [b]* destroye not, a Psalme & songe of Asaph.

b* Of this ye haue in ỹ Psal. lvii. Here it hapelye signifieth that the wycked goo aboute to destroye Christ & those that beleue in him, but that it cã not be when the Lord forbiddeth.

UNto the, O God, wyll we geue A thanckes, yee vnto the wyll we geue thanckes, and setnge thy name is so nye, we wyll tel of thy wonderous woorkes.

Whẽ I may get a conuenient time, I shall iudge accordyng vnto ryght.

The earth is weake and all that is therin, but I beare vp her pylers.

I sayde vnto the madde people, deale not so madly: and to the vngodlye, c* set not vp your hornes:

Set not vp your hornes on hye, & speake not with a styf necke.

For promocyon commeth nether from the East ner frõ the west, ner yet from the[d]*wyldernesse.

And whye god is the Judge: he putteth downe one, & setteth vp another. B

For in the hand of the Lorde there is a[e]* cup ful of stronge wyne, and he poureth out of the same:

as for

As for the dregges therof, al ỹ vngodly of the earth shall dryncke them, and sucke them out.

But I wyll talke of the God of Iacob, and prayse him forever.

All the hornes of the vngodly wyll I breake, and the hornes of the righteous shalbe exalted.

The notes

e* To set vp the hornes here is, by pryde to shewe their power. Amos. vi. d.
d* That is, the South: because Iewry, hath a wyldernesse toward the South.
e* Cuppe in the scripture signifieth affyctyon and all that is offered vs by the wyll of god.

¶ The. lxxvi. Psalme

¶ He sheweth that Ierusalem was marueylously & byghly defended of the Lorde, & therby his exceadig and terryble power.

a* To the chaunter, in b* Negynoth, a Psalme and songe of Asaph.

a*b* These are both expounded in the title of the iiii. Psalme.

A IN Iuda is god knowē, hys name is greate in Israel.

At c* Salem is his tabernacle, and his dwellyng in Sion.

There breaketh he the arowes of ỹ bowe, the shylde, the swerd, & the whole battayle. d* Selah.

Thou art of more honours & might then the hylles of robbers.

The proude shall be robbed & slepe their slepe, and the mighty shalbe able to do nothyng with their handes.

When thou rebukest them, O god B of Iacob, both the charettes and horse men shal fal on slepe.

Thou art feareful, for who maye abide in thy sight, whē thou art angry.

e* When thou lettest thy iudgemēt be herde from heauen, the earth trembleth and is styll.

Yee whē God aryseth to geue iudgment, and to helpe all them ỹ be in aduersite vpon earth. Selah

When thou punyshest one man, he must knowledge that thou art redy to punyshe other mo.

nota your prayer to god

Loke what ye promyse vnto ỹ lord your god, se that ye kepe it, al ye that be rounde about him: bryng presentes vnto him that ought to be feared.

Which taketh awaye the brethe of Princes, and is wonderfull amonge ỹ kinges of the earth.

The Notes

c* That is, Ierusalem.
d* Loke the iii. Psalme. a e* This is spoken of the godly and heauenly power, wherby he dothe maruelles, suche as was that of Sennaherib. iiii. Reg. xix And. ii. Paral. xx. against the sonnes of Amon.

¶ The. lxxvii. Psalme.

¶ He sayth that he was greued aboue measure for ỹ mysery of ỹ holy people, & with sorowfle thoughts euen almost myndlesse: And againe that he came to himselfe, and was comforted, by the remembraūce of the wonders and maruelles, which the lorde had done for his people.

a* To the chaūter, for b* Iduthun.

A Psalme of Asaph.

a* Loke the tytle of the. iiii. Psalme.
b* Of this ye haue in the tytle of the. xxxix. Psalme.

I Cried vnto god with my voice, ye A vnto God cried I with my voice, and he herde me.

In the time of my trouble I sought the Lord, I helde vp mine handes vnto him in the nyght season, for my soul refused all other comforte. nota Refused all other comforte

Whē I was in heuinesse, I thought vpon God: when my hert was vexed, then dyd I speake. Selah.

Thou heldest myne eyes wakinge, I was so feble, ỹ I coulde not speake.

Thē remembred I the times of old, and the yares that were past.

I called to remembraunce my song B in ỹ night, I cōmuned with mine owne hert, and sought out my spyrete.

Wyll the Lord cast out for euer?
Wyll he be no more intreated?
Is his mercy cleane gone?
Is his promyse come vtterly to an ende for euermore?
Hath ỹ lord forgottē to be gracious?
Or, hathe he shut vp his louynge kindnesse in displeasure? d* Selah. C
At the last, I came to this poynte, ỹ I thought: O why art thou so folysh? the right hande of the most hyeste can chaunge all.

nota mē

Therfore wil I remembre the workes of the lorde, and call to mynde thy wonders of olde tyme.

I wyll speake of all thy worckes, and my talking shalbe of thy doings.

Thy waye, O God, is holy: who is so greate and mighty as God?

Thou art the God that doth wonders, thou haste declared thy power amonge the people.

Thou with thine e* arme haste delu

uered

uered the people, euen the sõnes of Iacob and Joseph. Selah.

The waters sawe the, O God, the waters sawe the, and were afayed, the depthes were moued.

The thicke cloudes poured out water, the cloudes thondered, and thine arowes went abrode.

Thy thunde was heârde rounde about, the lightenynges shone vpon ỹ grounde, the earth was moued and shooke with all.

Thy way was in the see, and thy pathes in the grate watrs, yet coude no man knowe thy[e]*foresteppes.

Thou ledest thy people like a flock of shepe, by ỹ hande of Moses & Aarõ.

The Notes

d*Loke the Psalme. xiiii. a.
e*Arme for strenghth & power. As in Job. xl. a:
f*The foresteppes of the Lord signifie the knowledg and perceuerance of his worckes. i. Peter. ii. d

The. lxxviii. Psalme

The sheweth that it is the commaundemẽt of god and a special good thing, perfectly to remembre the actes and deades of ỹ lord done to his people. Thẽ saith he, that all though they were vnfaithfull, yet dyd he wonders in Egipte, and brought them frõ thence, and though they prouocked hym to angerĩ the wylderneße, gaue them abondantlye hys benefytes. And after that, when they were destroyed which came forth of Egipt, for their wickednes: yet brought he their sõnes (although thei folowed ther fathers vnfaithfulnes, & despised the wonders done in the wildernes for their fathers) in to the land promessed, & droue out ỹ inhabiters: in which, although he often punyshed them greuously, whẽ they prouoked and tempted him, & at the last in tokẽ of a grate feruent wrath, byside their great slaughter suffered also the Arcke to be taken from them in the time of Ely the Preest: yet behild he thẽ fauorablye againe, geuing them Dauid to their King, and restoaring godlynes againe at Jerusalẽ. in which thig he also prophecyeth of Chryst vnder the shadow of Dauid

An instruccyon of Asaph.

A HEre my lawe, O my people, enclyne your eares vnto the wordes of my mouth.

I wyl open my mouth in parables, and speake of thinges of olde.

Which we haue herd and knowẽ, & such as our fathers haue tolde vs.

That we should not hyde them frõ the childrẽ of the generacions to come. but to shewe the honour of the Lorde, hys myghte and wonderfull worckes ỹ he hath done.

He made a couenaunt wyth Jacob, and gaue Israel a lawe, which he commaunded oure forefathers, to teache their children.

That their posterite myght knowe it, & ỹ children which were yet vnborn.

To thintent that when they came vp, they myght shew their children the same.

That they also might put their trust i god, & not to forget what he had done but to kepe hys commaundementes.

And not to be as their forefathers, a*frowarde and ouerthwarte generacion, a generacyon that set not their hert a right, and whose spyrite was not true towarde God.

Lyke as the childrẽ of b*Ephraim, which beig harnessed and carieg bowes, turned them selues, back in the time of battayll. B

They kept not the couenaunt of god & wolde not walke in his lawe.

They forgate what he had done, and the wõderful workes that he had shewed for them.

Maruelous thynges dyd he in the syght of our fathers in the lande of Egipte, euen in the felde of c*Zoan.

He deuided the see and let them go thorow it, and made ỹ waters to stand lyke a wall.

In the day tyme he led them with a cloude, and all the nyght thorow with a lyght of fyre.

He cloaue the hard rockes in ỹ wilderneße, & gaue them drynke therof, as it hath bene out of the greate deaphe.

He brought waters out of the stony rocke, so that they gusshed out lyke the ryuers.

Yet for al this they sinned against him, and prouoked the moost hyeste in the wyldernes,

They tempted god in their herts, and requyred meate for their lust.

For they spake agaynst god, & said: yee yee, god shal prepare a d*table in ỹ wildernesse, shal he? C

Lo, he smote the stony rocke, that the watery streames gusshed out, & ỹ strames flowed ẅ all: but how cã he geue bred & prouide flesh for his people?

When ỹ Lord hearde this, he was wroth: so ỹ fyre was kindled in Jacob & heup dyspleasure agaynste Israell:

Because they beleued not in God, & put not their trust in hys helpe.

So he commaunded the cloudes abo

ue

ue & opened the doores of heauen.

He rayned downe Manna vpon them for to eate, and gaue thē bred frō heauen.

Then ate the angels *fode, for he sent them meate ynoughe.

He caused the East wynde to blowe vnder the heauē, & thorow his power he brought in the south wynde.

He made flesh to rayne vpon thē as thicke as dust, and fethered foules like as the sande of the see.

He let it fall amonge theyr tentes rounde aboute their habytacions.

So they ate and were fylled, for he gaue them their owne desyre.

They were not dysapointed of their luste.

But whyle ẏ meate was yet i their mouthes: the heuy wrath of god came vpō thē, slew the *welthiest of thē, & smote downe the chosen men of Israel.

But for al this they sinned yet more, & beleued not his wonderous workes.

Therfore their dayes were consumed in vanite, and sodenly their yeares were gone.

Whē he slew them they sought him, & turned them early vnto God.

They thought then that god was their succoure, & that the hye god was their redemer.

Neuertheles they did but flatter him in their mouthes, and dyssembled with him in their tonges.

For their herte was not whole with him, nether continued they in this couenaunt.

But he was so mercyful, ẏ he forgaue their mysdoedes, and destroyed thē not.

Yee many atyme turned he his wrath awai, and wold not suffre his whole dysplearure to aryse.

For he consydered ẏ they were but *flesh euen amynd that passeth away and commeth not agayne.

How oft haue they greued him in the wildernesse?

How many a tyme haue they prouoked hym in the desertte?

They turned backe, and tempted god & moued the holy one in Israel.

They thought not of his hand, in the day when he delyuered them from the hande of the enemye,

How he had wrought his myracles in Egypte, and his wonders in ẏ land of zoan.

Howe he turned their waters in to bloude, so that they might not drincke of the ryuers.

How he sent lice amōg them, to eate thē vp, & frogges to destroy them.

How he gaue their frutes vnto the caterpyller, and their laboure vnto ẏ greshopper.

How he bett downe their vyneyardes w̄ hayle stones, and their molbery trees with the frost.

How he smote their catel w̄ hailestones, and their flockes with hote thō der boltes.

How he set vpon them ẏ furiousnesse of his wrathe, anger and dysplearure: with trouble and fallingi of euel Aungels.

When he made awaye to his fearful indignacīō, and spared not *their soules frō death, yee & gaue their *catell ouer to the pestylence.

When he smote all the fyrstborne in Egypt, the most principall and mygh-tyest in ẏ dwellynges of *Ham.

But as for his owne people, he lead them forth like shepe, and caried them in ẏ wildernesse lyke a flocke.

He brought them out safely, ẏ they shuld not feare, & ouerwhelmed their enemyes with the see.

He caryed them *into the borders of his Sanctuary: euen into thys hil. which he purchased with his right hād

He dyd cast out the heathen before thē, caused their lande to be deuyded amonge them for an heritage, & made ẏ tribes of Israel to dwel in their tentes

For al this they tempted & displeased the most hye god, and kept not his couenaunt.

But turned their backes, and fell awaye lyke their forefathers, starte-ynge asyde lyke a broken boowe.

And so they greued him w̄ their hye places, and prouoked hym with theyr ymages.

When god heard this, he was wroth, & toke sore dysplearure at Israel.

So that he forsoke the Tabernacle in

D

E

F

in Silo, euen his habytacyon wherin he dwelt amonge men.

He delyuered their power in to captyuite, & their glory into the enemies hād

He gaue his people ouer īto ỹ swerd, G for he was wrath with his herytage.

The fire consumed their yonge mē, and their maydens were not geuen to mariage.

Their prestes were slaine with the swerde, and there were nowyddowes to make lamentacion.

So the Lord[m]*awaked as one out of slepe, and lyke a gyaunte refreshed with wyne.

He smot his enemies in ỹ hinder partes, and put them to a perpetual sham.

He refused the tabernacle of Joseph, & chose not the tribe of Ephraim.

Neuertheless, he chose the tribe of Juda, euen the[n]*hyll of Sion which he loued.

And there he buylded his temple on hye, & layed ỹ foūdacyon of it like the groūd, ỹ it might perpetually endure.

He chose Dauid also his seruaunt, & toke him awaye frō the shepe foldes.

As he was folowynge the powes greate with yong, he toke him, that he might fede Jacob his people, and Israel his enheryteunce.

So he fed them with a faithfull & true herte, and ruled them wyth all the dilygence of his power.

The Notes

a* Of a froward generation loke. Mat. xii. c b* Although Ephraim in Josue. xiii. signifie but one tribe of the childzen of Israel: neuertheless for the most part, in the prophetes by Ephraim are vnderstande the, x. tribes, which were vnder Jeroboā: as it appereth Ose. iiii. d. x. v, a. b.

*Or Tanis

d*. By the table is vnderstād al sortes of vytailes necessary for mā: yet is it often taken for the brede and water of the wisdome of the worde of God, as in the Psalme, xxiii. b e* Manna is called the fode of angels, not that ỹ angels vse such fode, but because it came doune frō heauen, which is the dwelling place of the angelles: And therfore do some reade here, the bredde of the cloudes, because it came from the cloudes: some the bredde of the mightye, because it came from the almyghty. Exo. xvi. d. Sapien. xvi. c. & Joan. vi. d

f* By the welthy, or fat in the Scriptur, and by the chosen are signified the noble and mighty princes and Prelates: and al those that are most esteamed & honoured in this worlde. Psal. xxii, g* Flesh for man, as the Psal, lvi

h*. That is, to put them to deeth, i* Some reade lyues.

k* Ham for Egept: because Mizraim of whome the Egipcians came was the sonne of Ham. Genesis. x.

l* That is to the lande of promesse: where his sanctuary and holy place was.

m* The Lord awaketh when he ouerthroweth the wycked and seteth vp the Godly.

n* Before in the psal. xlviii. a.

The. lxxix. Psalme

The complaineth of ỹ misery don to Jerusalē by Antiochus, & desireth ỹ helpe of God agaynst him.

A Psalme of Asaph.

nota

A

O God, the Heathen are fallē in to thyne heritage: the holye temple haue they defiled, and made Jerusalem an heape of stones,

* The deed bodyes of thy seruauntes haue they geuen vnto ỹ foules of ỹ ayre to be deuoured, and ỹ flesh of thy saynctes vnto the beastes of the land,

Their bloude haue they shed lyke water on euery side of Jerusalem, and there was no man to bury them. B

We are become an opē shame vnto our enemies, a very scorne and derisiō vnto them that are round about vs.

Lorde, how longe wilt thou be angrye shall thy gelousy burne lyke fyre for euer?

Pouze out thyne indignacyō vpō the Heathē ỹ know the not, and vpō ỹ kingdomes ỹ call not vpō thy name:

*For they haue deuoured Jacob, & layed waste his dweling place.

O[a]*remembze not our old synnes, but haue mercy vpō vs, and that sone, for we are come to greate mysery.

Helpe vs, O God our sauiour, for ỹ glory of thy name: o deliuer vs, & for geue vs our sinnes for thy names sak, C

Wherfore shall the Heathen saye: where is now their god?

O let the vengaunce of thy seruaūtes bloud that is shed be openly shewed vpō the Heathen in oure syght.

O let the sorowfull syghyng of the presoners come before the, and accordyng vnto the power of thine[b]*arme, preserue those ỹ are appoynted to dy.

And for the blasphemy wherwith our nebours haue blasphemed the, rewarde them, O Lorde, seuen foulde in to their bosome.

So we that be the people & shepe of thy pasture, shal geue the thanckes for euer, and wyl al way be shewyng forth thy prayse more and more.

The Notes

God

a *God remẽbreth not our synnes when he forgeteth the, and punisheth them not as they haue deserued, as he sayth Ezech. xviii. k. & Esa. lxiiii, d

The. lxxx. Psalme.

¶ The people of God commytted to the handes of the wicked desireth to be ridde out of their bõdage and sheweth the former benefytes of god vnder a borowed speache of a vine yarde conferred to their present misery, to the fortifying and streãgthenige of their hope.

a* To the chaunter, vpõb* Solanim, a Psalme of Asaph.

a* Loke in the title of the iiii. Psalme., b* It is expoũded in the tytle of ỹ. xlv. Psalme.

A HEare O thou shepherde of Israel, thou ỹ leadest Iacob lyke a flocke of shepe: shew thy selfe, thou that sittest vpon the Cherubyns.

Before Ephraim, Beniamin, and Manasses: stere vp thy power, & come helpe vs.

Turne vs againe, O God, shewe ỹ lyght of ỹ countenaunce, and we shall be whole.

O Lord God of Hostes, how long wylt thou be angry ouer the prayer of thy people?

Thou hast fed them with the bred of teares, yee thou hast geuen them plenteousnes of teares to dryncke.

Thou hast made vs a very stryfe vnto oure neyghbours, and oure enemyes laugh vs to scorne.

B Turne vs agayne, thou god of hostes, shew the light of thy countenaũce, and we shalbe whole.

Thou hast brought a vineyarde out of Egipt, thou dydest cast out the heathen, and plante it.
Thou madest rowme for it, & caused it to take rote, so that it fylled the lande.
The hylles were couered with the shadow of it, also were the stõg Cedre trees w the bowes therof.
She stretched out her braũches vnto the see, and her bowes vnto the water.
Why hast thou then broken downe her hedge, that all they whiche go by, plucke of her grapes?
The wylde bore out of the wod hath roted it vp, and the beastes of the feld haue deuoured it.

C Turne the agayne, thou god of hostes, loke downe from heauen, beholde and vysyt this vineyarde.
Mayntayne it, that thy ryght hande hath plãted, and the sonne whom thou madest so mooche of for thy selfe:
For why? it is brent with fyre, and lyeth waste: O let them perish at the rebuke of thy wrath.
Let thy c* hand be vpon the d* man of thy ryght hande, and vpon the man whome thou madeste so mooche of for thyne owne selfe.
And will not we go back from the: Oh let vs lyue, & we shal cal vpon thy name Turne vs agayne, O Lord God of Hostes, shewe the lyght of thy countenaunce, & we shalbe whole.

The Notes
c* Hande here is take for aucoryty, maiestye, strength and ayde. Psalme. lxxxix, f d* That is Christ, which after ỹ maner of speakig of the scripture, sytteth on the ryght hande.

¶ The. lxxxi. Psalme.

¶ He exhorteth to serue and worshipp god ernestlye and mẽcyoneth his benefites done vnto Israel thẽ receyteth he bryefly what aduersitye they receaued for their settyng light by god, and how moch felicitie they might haue hadde, if they had bene obedient vnto hym.

a* To the chaunter vpon b* Githith, of Asaph.

a* Loke the tytle of the. iiii. Psalme.
b* Of this ye haue before in the title of ỹ viii. Psa

SIng merely vnto god which is our strength, make a chearfull noyse vnto the god of Iacob: A Take the Psalme, bryng hyther the tabret, the mery harpe and lute.
Blowe vp the trompettes in ỹ newe mone, vpon oure solempne feast daye.
For this is the vse in Israel, and a lawe of the god of Iacob.
This he ordened in Joseph for a testemony, when he came out of Egipt, and had heard a straunge language. B
When he eased his shoulder from the burthen, and when his handes were delyuered from the pottes.
When thou calledst vpon me i trouble, I helped the, and heard the, what tyme as the storme fel vpõ the, * I proued ỹ also at ỹ water of strife. * Selah
Heare, O my people for I assure the O Israel, yf thou wilt herkẽ vnto me
There shall no straunge god be in the, nether shalt thou worshyppe any other god, C
I am the lord thy God, which brought the out of ỹ lande of Egypt, c*, opẽ thy mouth mouth wyde, and I shall fyll it.

But my people wold not heare my voice, and Israell wold not obey me.

C So I gaue them vp into their owne hertes lust, and let them kolow their owne ymagynacions.

O that my people wold obey me, koꝛ yf Israel wolde walke in my wayes:

I shulde soone put downe their enemyes & turne myne hād against their aduersaryes.

The haters of the Lord shuld mysse Israell, but their time shulde endure koꝛ euer.

He shuld leade thē with the fynest wheate floure, and satisfye them with hony out of the stony rocke.

The Notes

b*Loke the Psalme .iii. a c* That is a maner of speakynge of the Hebrues koꝛ that we say: Aske what thou wilt and I wil geue it the John. xiiii. b

The. lxxxii. Psalme.

He monysheth Prynces to endeuoure them selues to ryghtuousnes, and accuseth the most of them of iniustice. He beseecheth God that he wil vouchsafe to iudge the worldt by Christ vnto whose inherytaunce he also prophecyeth that all the gentils shal fal

A Psalme of Asaph.

A GOd standeth in the congregacyō of the a*goddes, and is a iudg amonge the Iudges.

How long wyl ye geue wronge iudgmente, and accepte the personnes of ỹ vngodlye Selah.

Defende the poore and fatherlesse, se ỹ soch as be in nede and necessite haue ryght.

Delyuer the outcaste & poore, & saue him from the hande of the vngodly,

B Neuertheles, they wyl not be learned and vnderstande. but walcke on styll in b*darckenesse: therfore must al ỹ foū dactons of the lande be moued.

I haue sayde: c*ye are goddes, ye are al the chyldren of the most hyest.

But ye shall dye lyke men, and fall lyke one of the tyrauntes.

d*Aryse, O God, & iudg thou the earth koꝛ al Heathen are thyne by enherytauuce.

c* Christ expounded thys in John. x. k.

d* The risyng of God is the declaryng of hys power against his enemyes. Aryse, O God That is: i steppe kozth, and shewe thy power against myne ennemies to my delyuerance as in the Psal. iii. b. Vp Lozde and helpe me.

The. lxxxiii. Psalme,

The holy peple cōplayneth that all the bozderers about them had conspired to destroye thē, & prayeth ỹ they may vtterly be consumed & wasted, euen as their olde enemyes were consumed and wasted.

A song and Psalme of Asaph.

HOld not thy tonge, O God, kepe not styll sylence, refrayne not thy A selfe O God.

Foꝛ lo, thyne ennemies make a murmuring, and they that hate the lyfte vp their heade.

They ymegine craftely against thy people, and take councel agaynst thy secret ones.

Com (say they) let vs rote them out frō among the people, that the name of Israell maye be put out of remembraunce.

Foꝛ they haue cast theyꝛ heades together with one consēt, and are confederate agaynst the. B

The tabernacles of the Edomites and Ismaelytes, the Moabites, and Hauenes:

Gebal, Ammon, Amalech: the Philistines with them that dwell at Tyre, Assur also is ioyned vnto them, And helpe the Chyldren of Loth a*Selah.

But do thou so to them as vnto the Madianytes, vnto Sisera and vnto Iabin by the brooke of Kyson.

Which perished at Endoꝛ, and became as the donge of the earthe.

*Make theyꝛ prynces lyke Oreb, & zeb. Ye make all theyꝛ prynces lyke as zebea and Salmana.

Which saye, we wyll haue the houses of God in possession. C

Oh my God, make them lyke vnto a whele, & as the stuble before the wind

Lyke as a fyer that burneth vp the wood, and as the flame consumeth ỹ mountaynes

Persecute them euen so wyth thy tēpeste, and make them afrayde with thy storme.

Make theyꝛ faces ashamed, O, lozde that they maye seke thy name,

Let thē be confoūded, and vexed euermoze and moze, let them be putt to shame perishe.

That they may know that thou art alone, that thy name is the Lorde, and that thou only art the most hyest ouer all the earth.

a* Of this ye haue in the Psalme. lii. a

¶ The. lxxxiiii. Psalme.

¶ Here is described the excedyng feruent desire of Dauid to come vnto the holy assemble, and ỹ felicitie of them ỹ come vnto it, & that prayse god in it.

Upō[a]* Githith, a Psal. of ỹ sonnes of Corah.

a* Of this ye haue in the title of the. viii. Psal

A HOwe amyable are thy [b]*dwellynges, thou Lord of hostes?

My soule hath a desyre and longyng for the courte of the lord, my hert and my flesh reioyce in the liuing god.

For the sparow hath founde her an house, and the swalow a nest, wher she may laye her yong: euē thy aulters O lord of Hostes, my king and my God.

O how blessed are they that dwel i thy house, they are all waye prayssinge the Selah.

B Blessed are the mē whose strength is in the, in whose herte are thy wayes.

Which goinge thorow the vale of mysery vse it for a well, and the poles are filled with water.

They go from strength to strength, and so the God of goddes apereth vnto them in Sion.

O Lorde God of hostes, heare my prayer: herken O[c]* god of Jacob.

Behold O god out defence, [d]* loke

C vpon the face of thine anoynted.

For one daye in thy court is better then a thousande.

I had rather be a doore keper in the house of my God, then to dwell in the tentes of the vngodly.

For the Lord god is a lyght and defence, the lord wil geue grace & worshyp and no good thinge shal he withhold fromthem that lyue a godly lyfe.

O Lord god of Hostes, blessed is the man that putteth hys truste in the.

The Notes

b* Dwellynges here signifie the congregacions of the faithful people as in Nu. xxiiii. a Howe goodly are the tentes of Jacob. &c. wherby tentes are signified their dwellyng places: for at thattime had thei no nother thing to dwel in.

c* This is expounded in the Psalme, xx. a.

d* To loke vpon the face, is, to beare graciously, and to shewe a token of benyuolence, as in Nume. vi. d.

¶ The. lxxxv. Psalme.

¶ A propheryе of the kingdome of Christ, & a prayer for hys comminge: with a descryption of the tyrannie wherwith al thinges shalbe ful, when it shal happen.

a* To the chaunter, a Psalme of the sonnes of Corah.

Loke in the tytle of. xliii. Psalme.

LOrde, thou barest a loue vnto thy A land, thou dydest bryng agayne the captiuite of Jacob.

Thou diddest forgeue the offence of thy people, and couerdest al their synnes [b]* Selah.

Thou tokest away all thy displeasure, and turnedeste thy selfe from thy wrathful indignacion.

Turn vs then, O god our Sauiour, and let thine anger ceasse from vs.

Wylt thou be displeased at vs for euer? wylt thou stretch out thy wrathe frō one generacion to another?

Wylt thou not turne agayne and quicken vs, that thy people may reioyse in the?

I wyll herken what the lorde god wyl B. saye, [c]* for he shall speake peace vnto his people & to his saincte s, that they turne not them selues vnto folyshnes.

For his saluacion is ny them that feare hym, so that glory shall dwell in our lande.

Mercy & trueth are met together, righteousnesse and peace kysse ech other.

Trueth shall ryse out of the earth, and rybhteousnesse shall loke downe from heauen.

And why? the Lorde shal shewe lonynge kyndnesse, and oure lande shal geue her encrease.

d* Ryghteousnes shal go before hym, and prepare the waye for his coming.

The notes.

b* Loke the Psalme. iii. a c* The speaking of ỹ lorde is a manyfest shewing and euydent declaringe of his wyll in the hertes of men: as ye maye se by the Worde of Micheach, iii. Regum, xxii Bodely speach vseth henōe, for he is a spyrite. John. iiii.

d* Or faythfulnesse,

¶ The. lxxxvi. Psalme.

¶ A prayer wherin he fyrste prayeth that he maye lyue innocently, & then fortunatly & in safetly from his enemyes. He remembreth also the power and goodnes of god, ỹ hath & shalbe moost abundātly shewed, both vnto him & to other,

A prayer of Dauid.

BOwe downe thyne eare, O lorde, and heare me, for I am comfortles & poore.

O kepe my soule, for I am holy

C ij my

my God, helpe thy seruaunte that putteth his trust in the.

Be merciful vnto me, O Lord, for I[a]* call dayly vpon the.

Comfort the soule of thy seruaunt for vnto ỹ, O lord, do I lift vpmi soule

For thou Lord art good and gracious, and of greate mercy vnto all thē that call vpon the.

Geue eare Lorde vnto my prayer, and pounder my humble desire.

B In the time of my trouble I cal vpon the, for thou hearest me.

Amonge the Goddes there is none lyke vnto the, O Lord, there is not one that can do as thou doest.

All nacions whom thou hast made shall come and worshippe before the, O Lord, and shall glorifye thy name.

For thou art greate, thou dost wonderous thinges thou art god alone.

Leade me in thy way, O Lord, that I may walke in thy trueth: O let my hert delyte in featinge thy name.

I thanck the, O Lord my god, and wyll prayse thy name for euer.

For great is thy mercy toward me, thou hast delyuered my soule from the b*nethermoste hel.

C O God the proude are rysen agaynste me, and the congregacton of the myghtye seketh after my soule, and set not the before their eyes.

But thou, O Lorde God, art ful of compassion, and mercy, long suffering, greate in goodnes and truth.

O turne the thē vnto me, haue mercy vpō me: geue thy strength vnto thy seruaunte, and helpe the sonne of thine handmayde.

Shew some token vpon me for good, that they whych hate me, maye se it, & be ashamed: because thou lorde haste helped me, and comforted me.

The notes

a* What to call or crye signifieth in the scripture is sayde in Exo. xiiii. d. & i. Reg. vii. & Psal. xv. a b* that is, out of extreme Jopardyes.

The. lxxxvii. Psalme.

The prayseth the heuenly Jerusalem, that is ỹ cōgregacīō of ỹ faithfull, vnto which he prophecieth that very many shal come of al nacions.

A Psalme and songe of the sonnes of Corah.

A Her foundacīōs are vpon ỹ holy hilles, ỹ lord loueth ỹ* a gates of Sion more then all the dwellynges of Jacob.

Very excellent thinges are spoken of the thou b* cyte of god. Selah

I wyll thyncke vpon* ‡ Rahab & Babylon, so that they shall knowe me.

Yee the Phelystines also, and they of Tyre with the Morians. Lo there was he borne.

And of Sion it shalbe reported, ỹ he was borne in her euen the most hiest which hath buylded her.

The lord shall cause it to be preached and wrytten amonge the people, that c* he was borne there. Selah.

Therfore the dwellynge of all synnes and dauncers is in the.

The Notes

a* The gates of Sion signifieth the congreaacions of the faithful, as before in the Psalme ixc.

b* The citie of God signifieth the church of God, as in the Psal. xlvi a For there is a floude which w his ryuers reioyseth the citie of god.

*‡ That is Egipt: which is so called in Esa. li.

c* Some vnderstand this of Salomon, bearing ỹ figure of Chrisi.

The. lxxxviii. Psalme.

A vehement complaynte wherin he complayneth that he is oppressed, and euen all most deed, wyth extreme aduersitee: that as it semeth, as well of sore greuouse sycknesse, as of persecucyōn of his enemies.

A Psalme and songe of the sonnes of Corah to the chaunter vpon a* Mahelath, for b* affliccion, an instruccyon of c* Hemen the Ezrahyte.

a* What this signifieth is before sayd ỹ tytle of the. liii. Psal. Some reade, as touchynge dysease for afflicyons.

b* The Greke to answer, or synge

c* Of that He man, which was one of the chefe singers. i Par. vi. xxvi.

A O Lorde God my sauedoure, I crye daye and nyght before the: Oh let my prayer enter into thy presence, enclyne thyne eare vnto my cal lyngt.

For my soule is full of trouble, and my lyfe draweth nye vnto hel.

I am counted as one of thē that go downe vnto the pytte, I am euen as a man that hath no strengte.

Fre amonge the deed, lyke vnto them that lye in the graue, whyche be oute of remembraunce, and are cut awaye from thy hande.

Thou hast layed me in the lowest pytte in the darcknesse and in the depe B

Thine indignacion lyeth herde vpō me, & ỹ vexest me w all thy floudes.* Selah.

Selah.

Thou hast put away myn acquayn taũce farre fro me, and made me to be abhorred of them: I am so fast in prison, that I can not get forth.

My sight fayleth for very trouble:
Lorde I call dayly vpon the, & stretch out myne handes vnto the.

Doest thou shewe wonders, amõg
the dead?

Can the Physicions rayse thẽ vp a gayne, that they may prayse the?

C Maye thy louyng kyndnes be shewed in the graue, or thy faythfulnesse in destruccion?

Mai thy wõderous workes be known in the darcke, or thy rightuousnes in ỹ lãde wher al thynges are forgotten?

Unto the I cry, O Lord, and early cõmeth my prayer before the.

Lord, why puttest thou away my soule,
Wherfore hidest thou thy face fro me?

My strength is gone for very sorow & mysery, ẅ fearfulnesse do I beare thy burthens.

Thy wrathful displeasure goeth ouer me, the feare of the oppresseth me:

They come rounde about me dayly lyke water, and compasse me together on euery syde.

My louers and frindes, hast thou put awaye fro me, and turned awaye myne acquaintaunce.

The Notes

a*Loke the third Psalme,

The.lxxxix.Psalme.

The elegantlyãd copiously declareth, that ỹ new and euerlasting couenaunt, which is made by christ the sonne of Dauid, betwixt god and ỹ chosen, shal neuer be broken, & that vnder the figure of Dauid & his posterite. In ỹ begynnynge of the Psalme he extolleth the goodnes of god, by which he vouchsafed to make a couenaunt with his sainctes.

An instruccion of Ethan the Ezrahite

A MY songe shalbe alway of the lõuing kyndnesse of the lorde, ẅ my mouth wil I euer be shewig thy faithfulnesse, from one generacyon to another.

For I haue sayde: mercy shalbe set vp for euer, thy faythfulnesse shalte ỹ stablysh in the heauens.

*I haue made a couenaunt with my *ii.Re.vii. chosen, I haue sworne vnto Dauid my seruaunte.

Thy sede wyll I stablish for euer, & set vp thy trone from one generacyon to another. a*Selah.

O Lorde, the very heauens shal prayse thy wonderous workes, yee and thy faythfulnes in the congregacyon of the saynctes.

For who is he among the cloudes, B
ỹ may be compared vnto the Lorde?

Yee what is he among the goddes that is lyke vnto the Lorde?

God is greatly to be feared in the cõcell of the saintes & to be had in reue-rence of al them that are aboute hym.

O Lord god of Hostes who is lyke vnto the in power? thy truethe is roũ-de aboute the.

Thou rulest ỹ pryde of the see, thou stil lest the waues therof, when they aryse.

Thou breakest the proude, like on that is wounded, thou scatterest thine enemyes abrode wythe thy myghtye arme.

The heauẽs are thine, ỹ earth is thine thou hast layed the foundacion of the roũde worlde, and all that therin is.

Thou hast made the north and the C south, Tabor and Hermon shal reioyse in thy name.

Thou hast a myghtye arme, strong is thy b*hand, and hye is thi right hand.

Ryghtuousnes and equite is the habytacion of thy seate, mercy and truth go before thy face.

Blessed is thy people, O Lord, that can reioyse in the, & walketh in thy light of thy countenaunce.

Their delite is in thy name ‡*al the day longe, and thorow thy rightuousnesse they shalbe exalted.

For thou art the glory of their strength, & thorow thy fauour shalt thou lyft vp our hornes.

The Lord is our defence, and the * holy one of Israel is oure kynge.

Thou spakest somtyme in visyons D vnto thy saynctes, and saydest: I haue layed helpe vpon one ỹ is mightye, I haue exalted one chosen out of ỹ people I haue founde Dauid my seruaunte, ẅ my b*holy oile haue I anointed hi.

My hand shal holde hym fast, and myne arme shall strengthen him.

The enemye shall not ouercome hym & e*the sonne of wyckednesse shall not hurte hym.

I shall smyte downe his foes before his face,ād plage them that hate him.

My trueth also & my mercy shalbe with him,and in my name shall his * horne be exalted.

I wyll set his hand in the see,and his right hande in the floudes.

He shall cal me:thou art my father,my god,and the strength of my saluacion.

And I wyll make him my fyrst borne hyer then the kynges of the earth.

C My mercy wyll I kepe for him for euermore,and my couenaunt shall stād fast with hym.

His sede wyll I make to endure for euer,ye & his trone as the dais of heuē

But yf hys chyldren forsak my law, & walke not in my iudgmentes.

Ie they breake mine ordinances,and kepe not my commaundementes,

s*I wyll vysyet their offences wyth ỹ rodde, & their synnes with scourges.

Neuertheless,my louing kindnesse, will I not vtterly take from him, nor suffre my trueth to fayle.

My couenaunt wyll I not breake, nor dysanulle the thynge that is gone out of my lyppes.

I haue sworne once by my holinesse F that I wyll not fayle Dauid.

Hys sede shall endure for euer,and his seate also like as ỹ sunne before me

He shal stande fast for euermore as the moone,and as the faythful witnes in heauen. h*Selah,

But now ỹ forsakest & abhorest thine anoynted,and art displeased at him.

Thou hast turned backe the couenaunt of thy seruaūt,and cast his crowne to the grounde.

Thou hast ouerthrowne al his hedges.& brokē downe his strong holdes

Al they that goo by spoile him,he is become a rebuke vnto his neyghbours.

Thou settest vp the ryghthande of his enemyes,and makest al his aduersaryes to reioyse:

Thou hast taken awaye the strength of his swerde,and geuest him not victory in the battayle.

Thou hast put out his glory, & cast hys Trone downe to the grounde,

G The dayes of hys youth hast thou shortened, and couered hym wyth dyshonoure.Selah.

Lord,how longe wylt thou hyd thy selfe?for euer? shall thy wrath burne lyke fire?

O remembre how short my time is. haste thou made all men for naught? What man is he that lyueth,and shal not se death? C

Haye a mā delyuer his owne soule from the hande of hell? Selah.

*Lorde,where are thy olde louinge kyndnesses, whiche thou swarest vnto Dauid in thy treuthe?

Remembre lorde the rebuke that ỹ multitud of the people do vnto thy seruauntes,and howe I haue borne it in my bosome.

Where wyth thyne enemyes blasphemed the,and sclaunder the fotesteppes of thine anoynted.

Thanckes be to the lorde for euermore:Amen:Amen.

The Notes

a*Loke the thirde Psalme a b*Hande,loke before in the Psal.lxxx.e, ‡*That is cōtynually,as in the Psal.lxxi,e c*By ỹ holy one of Israel is alwais signified christ
d*By the holy one is vnderstande the holy goost ỹ grace,mercy,& word of God:by the which the soule is refreshed & deliuered from payn to spiritual ioye Psal.xlv.b John.iii.d.‡.i.Johnii.d e*That is,wickednes.
f*That is,hys power,glory,& maiesty shalbe exersed Psal.cxii b & cxlix b, g*That ys,I wyl punysh as in Exo.xx:
h*Of Selah ys spoken in the iii.Psalme a

¶The fourth treatyse.
¶The.xc.Psalme.

¶He complayneth vf the vanitie of this present lyfe & desireth ỹ fauour of god, that he wyl vouchsafe to prosper the thinges which he goeth about.

A prayer of Moses the man of God

A

LOrde ỹ art our refuge frō one generacīō to another.

Before the mountaines were brought forthe, or euer the earth & the worlde were made,thou arte God from euerlastyng and world without ende.

Thou turnest man to destruction, Agayne,thou sayest:come again ye chyldren of men a*.

For a thousand yeares in thy sight B are but as yesterdaye that is past,and lyke as it were a nyght watch.

As sone as thou scatterest thē,they are euen as a slepe,and fade awaye sodenly like the grasse:

In

In the mozning it is grene and groweth vp, but in ỹ euenyng it is cut downe and wythered.

For we consume awaye in thy displeasure, and are afrayed at thy wzathfull indignacion.

Thou settest oure mysdedes before the, & oure secrete sinnes in the light of thy C counten aunce.

For when thou art angry, al our dayes are gone, we bzinge oure yeares to an ende, as it were a tale that is tolde.

b* The dayes of our age are .iii. score yeares and ten: and thoughe men be so strong ỹ they come to .iiii. score yeares, yet is their strength then but laboure & sozow: so soone passeth it away, and we are gone.

But who regardeth ỹ power of thy wzathe, thy fearfull and terrybie displeasure?

O teach vs to nombze oure dayes, that we may applye oure hertes vnto wysdome.

Turne ỹ agayne (O Lozd) at the last,
D and be gracious vnto thy seruauntes.

O satisfie vs with thy mercy, and ỹ soone: so shall we reioyce and be glad al the dayes of oure lyfe.

Comfozte vs againe, now after the tyme that thou hast plaged vs, and for the yeares wherin we haue suffred aduersyte.

Shewe thy seruauntes thy wozcke, & their chyldzen thy glozy.

And the glozyous maiesty of the lozd oure god bevpō vs: O pzospere thou the wozcke of our handes vpon vs, O pzospere thou our handy wozcke.

The Notes

a* Understād: to life & welfare. Some, to repētaūce.
b* The dayes of our age, for the dayes of our life.

The .xci. Psalme.

C He declareth how safe and fre from al euelles he is, which vpon sure faith cōmitteth him selfe to god.

A WHo so dwelleth vnder ỹ defēce of ỹ most hyest, and abydeth vnder ỹ shadow of ỹ Almyghtye.

He shal saye vnto the lozd: O my hope and my stronge holde, my God, in whome I wyll trust.

For he shal delyuer the from the a* snare of the hunter, and from the noysome pestylence.

b* He shall couer the vnder hys wynges, that thou maiest be safe vnder his fethers: his faythfulnesse & trueth shal be thy shylde and buckler.

So that thou shalt not nede to be afraied for eny bugges by nyghte, nor for the arowe that flyeth by daye.

For the pestilence that crepeth in ỹ darcknesse, nor for ỹ sickenesse ỹ destroyeth in the noone daye.

A thousande shall fal besyde the, and
B ten thousande at the ryght hande, but it shal not come nye the.

Yee with thyne eyes shalt thou beholde, and se ỹ rewarde of ỹ vngodly.

For thou lozd art my hope, thou hast set thyne house of defēce very hye.

There shall no euell happen vnto the, nether shal eny plage come nye thy dwellynge.
C

For he shal geue his āngels charge ouer the, to kepe ỹ in al thy wayes.

They shal beare the in their handes, ỹ thou hurt not thy foote against a stone.

Thou shalt go vpon the Lion & Adder, the yonge Lyon and the Dzagon shalt thou treade vnder thy fete.

Because he hath set his loue vpon me, I shal delyuer hym: I shal defend hym, for he hath knowne my name

When he callethe vpon me, I shall heare him: yee I am with him i his trouble, wher out I wil deliuer hym, & bzig him to honoure.

With longe lyfe wil I satisfye him, and shewe him my saluacion.

a* This snare here signifieth all naughtye doctrine, wherit be taken of the scripture euē expounded oz of the euel inuencions of men, as it is saide before in the Psal. lxix. c. & .cxix. c. b* He shall couer the vnder his winges: &c. That is he shall succoure and defende the by his protection & kepe the in safety. They be speaches borowed of the nature of a hēne, which vnder her wiges & fethers defēdeth & saueth her chekyns.

C The .xcii. Psalme

C The sabboth day is a mete and cōuenient tyme to prayse the Lozde, because ther is then leasure to thincke of hys benefites & to geue hym thankes therfor.

C A Psalme of ỹ sōg for ỹ saboth day
A IT is a good thig to geue thākes vnto ỹ Lozd, & to synge prayses vnto thy name, O most hyest.

To tell of thy louing kyndnesse early in the mozninge, and of thy truethe in the night season.

Upō an instrument of ten strīges, vpō the lute & with a songe vpon the harp.

For thou lord hast made me glad thorow thy worckes, and I wyl reioyse ouer ỹ operacyon of thy handes.

O lord, how gloryous are thy worckes, thy thoughtes are very depe.

An* vnwyse mā wil not know this, and a foole wyl not vnderstande it.

That the vngodly ar gren as ỹ grasse, & that al the workers of wickednes do flourysh, to be destroyed for euer.

But thou lord O most hyest, abydest worlde without ende.

For lo, thyne enemyes, O Lord, lo, thyne enemies shall perishe, and al the workers of wickednesse shalbe scattered abroade.

But my horne shall be exalted lyke ỹ horne of anb* Unicorne, & shalbe anointed with fresh oyle.

C Myne eye also shal se his lust of mine enemyes and myne eare shal heare his desyre of the wycked that ryse vp agaīste me.

The ryghtuous shall flourysh lyke a palme tree, and growe lyke a Cedre of Libanus.

Such as be planted in the house of the lord, be fruteful, plenteous and grene.

That they maye shew, how true ỹ Lord my strength is, and that there is no vnrighteousnesse in him.

The notes

a* An vnwyse mā is he that is vnfaithful, an hypocrite, or one ỹ mistrusteth god, Pro. xii. a Esa. xxix. a b* An vnicorne in the scripture is some tymes alowed and praysed, as in the Psal. lxxviii. & some tyme despraysed, as in the Psalm. xxii.

C The. xciii. Psalme.

The prayseth the maiestye of god for the creacyon of the worlde, and ouerthrowynge of fearfull and mightie people.

THe lorde is kyng, & hathe put on gloryous apparel, ỹ lord hathput on his apparel, & gyrded him self w̄ strength: he hath made the rounde worlde so sure, ỹ it cannot be moued.

From ỹ tyme forth, hath thy seate bene prepared, thou art from euerlastynge.

The floudes arise (O lord) the floudes lyft vp their noyse, the floudes lyft vp their waues.

The waues of the see are mightye, & rage horriblye: but yet the lorde that dwelleth on hye, is myghtier,

Thy testimonies, O Lord, are very sure, holynesse becommeth thyne house forever.

C The. xciiii. Psalme.

The calleth for ỹ iudgmēt of god agaynst the wicked oppressours of the innocent afflict persones. A

O Lord god, to whom vengeaunce belongeth: ỹ god to whom vengeaūce belōgeth, shew thy self.

Ayse thou iudg of the world, & reward the proude after their deseruynge.

Lord how long shal the vngodly, how longe shall the vngodly triumphe?

How long shal al wicked doers speake so disdainfully, & make soch proude boastinge?

They smyte downe the people, O lorde, and trouble thyne heritage. B

They murther the wydow & the straūger, and put the* fatherlesse to death.

And yet they say: Tusche, the lord seith not, ỹ god of Jacob regardeth it not.

Take hede, ye vnwyse amonge the people: O ye fooles, when will ye vnderstande?

He ỹ planted the eare, shal he not heare? he ỹ made te eye, shal not he se?

He that nurtureth the Heathē, and teacheth a man knowledge, shall not he punische?

The lord knoweth ỹ thoughtes of mēn, that they are but vayne.

Blessed is the mā, whome thou lernest (O lord) & teachest him in thy law, C

That thou mayest geue him pacience in tyme of aduersyte, vntyll the pytte be dygged vp for the vngodly.

For the ỹ lord wil not fail his people, nether wil he forsake his enheritaunce

And why? iudgmēt shalbe turned againe vnto ryghtuousnesse, and al such as be true of herte shall folowe it.

Who ryseth vp with me agaynst ỹ wycked? who taketh my parte agaynst the euell doers? If the lord had not helped me, my soule had almost bene put to sylence.

When I sayde my fote hath slipped thy mercy (O Lord) helpe me vp.

In the multitude of the sorowes ỹ I had in my hert, thy comfortes haue refreshed my soule.

Wylt thou haue eny thynge to do w̄ ỹ stoole of wickednesse. which ymagyneth myscheefe in the law.

They gather them together agaynste the soule of the ryghtuous. and cōdēne the innocent bloude.

But

But the lord is my refuge, my God is the ſtrength of my confydence.

He ſhal recompence them their wickednesse, and deſtroy them in their owne malice: yee the Lord oure God ſhal deſtroye them.

¶ The. xcv. Pſalme.

¶ An exhortacion to the earneſt prayſing of God.

A COme let vs prayſe the Lord, let vs hertely reioice in the ſtrength of our ſaluacion.

Let vs come before his preſence w̄ thanckesgeuyng, and ſhewe our ſelfe glad in him with pſalmes.

For the Lord is a greate God, and a greate kynge aboue all goddes.

In his handes are al the corners of the earth, and the ſtrength of the hilles is his alſo.

The ſee is his, for he made it, and his handes prepared the dry lande.

O come, let vs worſchype and bowe downe our ſelues: Lett vs knele before the lorde oure maker.

B For he is oure god: and we are the people of his paſture, and the ſhepe of hys handes.

To daye yf ye wyl heare his voice, harden not youre hertes, as whē ye prouocked in tyme of[a]*temptacion in the wyldernes.

Where youre fathers tempted me, proued me, and ſawe my workes.

Fl. yeares longe was I greued w̄ the generacion: and ſaid, they euer erre in theyr hertes, they verely haue not knowen my wayes.

Therfore I ſayd vnto them in my wrath that they ſhulde not enter in to my reſt.

The Notes

a* This temptaion was at the water of ſtrife: of which reade. Num. xx.

¶ The. xcvi. Pſalme.

¶ He moueth all creatures to the prayſe of God, A prophecie of the kyngdome of Chriſt and of the increſe therof.

A OSynge vnto the Lorde a newe ſonge ſynge vnto the Lorde all the whole earth.

Synge vnto the lorde, and prayſe his name, be tellyng of his ſaluacion from daye to daye.

Declare his honour amōg ỹ Heathē, and his wonders amonge all people.

*For ỹ lorde is greate, & cā not worthely be prayſed. he is more to be feared then all goddes.

As for al the goddes of the Heathen they be but Idols, but it is the lorde ỹ made the heauens. B

Thanckesgeuinge and worſchipe are before him, power and honoure are in hys Sanctuary.

Aſcribe vnto the Lord (O ye kynredes of the Heathen) aſcribe vnto the lorde worſchipe and ſtrength.

Aſcribe vnto the lorde the honoure of his name, bryng preſentes, and com in to hys courte.

O worſchipe the lorde in the beutye of holyneſſe, let the whole earth ſtand in awe of hym. C

Tel it out among ỹ Heathē, that ỹ Lord is kinge: and that it is he which hath made the round world ſo faſt, that it can not be moued, and howe that he ſhal iudge the people rightuouſly.

Let the heauens reioyce, and let the earth be glad: let the ſea make a noyſe & all that therin is.

Let the felde be ioyfull and all that is in it, let al the trees of the wood leape for ioye.

Before the lord, for he commeth: for he commeth to iudg the earth: ye with rightuouſneſſe ſhal he iudge ỹ worlde and the people with his trueth.

¶ The. xcvii. Pſalme.

¶ Here prophecyeth he alſo of Chriſt, in whome he wonderfully ſhewed his power vnto the ſaluacion of his choſen, & to the ouerthroing of their enemies and of vaine ſuperſticions: vnto ỹ knowledging of whome he alſo exhorteth.

THe lord is king, the earth maye be glad therof: yee the multitude of the Iles maye be glad therof. A Cloudes and darckenes are rounde about him rightuouſnes and iudgemēt are the habitacios of his ſeate.

There goeth a fyre before hym, to burne vp his enemyes on euery ſyed.

His lyghtenynges geue ſhine vnto the worlde, the earth ſayeth it and is a frayed.

The hilles melt like waxe at the preſence of the lorde of the whole earth.

The very heauens declare his righteouſnes, and al the people ſe his glory.

Confounded be all they that worſchyp ymages, and delyt therin Idols: worſchyp hym al ye goddes.

Sion

Sion heareth of it & reioyseth: ye & all the[a]* daughters of Juda are glad because of thy iudgmentes, O Lorde.

For thou Lord art the most hyest ouer all the earth, thou art exalted farre about all goddes.

O ye that loue the Lord, se that yee hate the thinge which is euell: the lord preserueth the soules of hys saynctes, he shall deliuer them from the handes of the vngodly.

There is spronge vp a lyght for the ryghteous, and a ioyfull gladnes for such as be[b]* trueherted.

Reioyce therfore in ỹ Lord, ye righteous: and geue thanckes for a remembraunce of his holynesse.

The notes
a* That is, Townes & vyllages.
b* What the true herted signifieth in the Scripture is said in the psalme. lxiiii b.

¶ The xcviii. Psalme.

¶ He here declareth the same ỹ he dyd in the Psal next before and in the, cxvi.

A Psalme.

A SYnge vnto the Lorde a newe songe, for he hath done merueilous thinges.

With his owne right hand and with [a]* his holye arme hathe he gotten the victory.

The Lord hath declared his sauig health, & his righteousnes hath he openly shewed in the sight of the Hethē.

He hath remembred his mercy and truth toward the house of Israel: * so that all the endes of the worlde se the sauing health of our god.

Shewe your selues ioyfull vnto ỹ B Lorde all ye landes, synge, reioyse, and geue thanckes.

Praise the Lorde vpon the harpe syng to the harpe with a Psalme of thanckes geuinge.

With trompets also and shawmes: O shewe youre selues ioyfull before ỹ Lorde the kinge.

Let the see make a noyse and all that therin is, yee the whole worlde, and all that dwell therin.

Let the floudes clappe their handes and let al the hilles be ioyful together:

Before the Lord, for he is come to iudge the earth.

Ye with rigtuousnes shal he iudge the world, and the people with equitie.

The Notes
a* Christe is called ỹ arme of god, because that in hi are al thinges cōtained Esa. iiii, c * Esa. iii. c

¶ The. xcix. Psalme.

¶ This Psalme declareth the goodnes & power of god for the benefites & wonders done to Israel.

THe Lorde is king, be the people neuer so vnpacient: he sytteth vp on the Cherubins, be the earthe neuer so vnquiet. A

The Lorde is greate in Sion, and hye aboue all people,

O let men geue thanckes vnto thy great & wonderful name, for it is holy

The kinges power loueth iudgmēt, thou prepareste equite, thou executeste iudgment & rightousnes in[a]* Jacob.

O magnifye the Lorde oure God, fal downe before his[b]* fote stole, for he is holy.

Moses and Aron amonge his prestes, and Samuel amonge such as cal vpon his name: these called vpon the lorde, and he heared them. B

He spake vnto them out of the cloudy pyler, for they kept his testimonies, and the lawe that he gaue them.

Thou heardest them (O Lorde our God) thou forgauest them O god, and punishest their owne inuencions.

O magnifie the lorde oure God, & worshippe him vpon his holy hyl, for the lorde our god is holy:

The notes
a* What is sygnyfied by Jacob ye haue in the Psalme xiiii. b. xxi a. b* Thys fote stole was the mercye seate of God, wher at he wold be worshipped, as it appereth Exo xxv. b & Psal. c. xxxii. b.

¶ The. c. Psalme.

¶ A moeyon to the praise of God i the holy assēble.

A Psalme of praye se.

BE ioyfull in God (all yee landes) serue the Lord with gladnes, come before hys presence with ioye. A

Be ye sure that the lord he is God: It is he that hath made vs, and not we our selues: we are but hys people, and the shepe of his pasture.

O go your waie into his gates thē with thanckesgeuing, and into his courtes with praise, be thanckefull vnto him, and speake good of his name.

For the lord is gracious, his mercy is euerlasting, and his truth endureth from generacion to generacion.

¶ The

¶ The. Ci. Psalme.

¶ He promiseth that he will execute the office of a godly & holy prynce, that is to say, that he will both lyue innocently, and also oppresse the euell and auaunce the good.

A Psalme of Dauid.

a M I longe chalbe of merci and iugemente, ye vnto the, O Lorde, will I synge.

O lett mee haue vnderstandinge in the waye of Godlynes, vntill the time that thou come vnto me: and so shall I walcke in my house wᵗ an innocẽt hert.

I wil take no wicked thing in hand I hate ỹ sinne of vnfaythfulnesse, it b shall not cleue vnto me.

a* A froward herte shall departe fro me I will not knowe a wicked parson

Whoo so pryuely sclaundereth hys neyghboure, him wyl I destroye: who so hath a proude loke and an hy stomake, I maye not away with him.

Myne eyes shal loke for such as be faythfull in the lande, that they maye dwell wythe me: and who so leadeth a godly lyfe, shalbe my seruaunt.

There shall no deceatfull personne dwell in my house, he that telleth lyes shall not tary in my sighte.

I shall sone destroye all the vngodlye of the lande, that all wicked doers may be roted out of the citie of the lorde.

The Notes

a* That is a frowarde hert which fayneth to seke the honoure of god, and yet in dede seke nothynge lesse, as he sayth Prouer. vi, b

The. cii. Psalme.

¶ A vehement bewayling of the misery of the holy people, in which they were almost oppressed wᵗ innumerable iniuries of the borderers and people that dwelt next vnto them, at their returne from Babylon, when they came to repayre the temple & citie of Hierusalem.

¶ A prayer of the afflict, when he was in woo, and poured oute his complaynte before the Lorde.

a HEare my a* prayer, O Lorde, and let my crienge come vnto the.

Hyde not thy face fro me in ỹ time of my trouble encline thyne eares vnto me when I call, O heare me, and that ryght sone.

For my dayes are consumed awaye lyke smoke, and my boones are brente vp as it were a fyre brande.

My hert is smyten downe and wethered lyke grasse, so that I forget to ete my b* breade,

For the voyce of my grontinge, my bones will scarce cleue to my flesh

I am become lyke a pellican in the wyldernes, and lyke an hole in a broken wall.

I wake, and am euen as it were a sparow, sittinge alone vppon the house toppe.

Myne ennemies reuyle me all the b daye longe, they laugh me to scorne, and are sworne together against me.

I eate asshes with my breade, and mingle my drynke with wepinge.

And that because of thyne indignacion & wrath, for thou hast take me vp and cast me awaye.

My dayes are gone lyke a shadowe and I am wethered lyke grasse.

But thou, O lorde, endurest forever and thy remembraunce thorow al generations.

Aryse therfore and haue mercye vpon Sion, for it is time to haue mercy vpõ her, yea the time is come.

And why? thy seruaunts haue a loue c to her c* stones, and it pitieth them to see her in the dust.

The hethen shall fere thy name, O Lorde, and all the Kinges of the earth thy maiestie.

For the Lorde shall build vp sion & shall appeare in his glorye.

d* He turneth hym vnto the prayer of the poore destitute, and despiseth not their desyre.

This shalbe written for those that come after, that the people which shall be borne, maye prayse the lorde:

For he loketh downe from hys sanctuary, out of heauen doth the lorde behold the earth.

That he may heare the mourning of suche as be in captiuitie, and delyuer the chyldren of deathe,

That they may preach ỹ name of ỹ lord in Siõ, and his worshippe at Jerusalem.

When the people are gathered to- d gether and the kigdomes also to serue the lorde.

He hath brought downe my strength in my iurney, and shortened my dayes.

Yet wil I say: O my God, take me not awaye in the myddest of myne age: as for thy yeares, they endure thorow out

all

all generacions.

Thou Lord in the beginnyng, hast layed the foundacion of the, earthe a, & heaues are the worckes of thy handes.

*Hebre.i.d * They shall perishe, but thou shalt endure: they al shall ware olde as doth a garment, and as a vesture shalt thou chaung them, & they shalbe chaunged.

But thou art the same, and thy yeares shall not fayle.

The childrē of thy seruauntes shal contynue, and their sede shall prosper in thy sight.

The Notes

a* True prayer is an earnest and affectuous cōmunication of the hert with God, and a dilygent consyderacion of the thinges, that want in vs, concerning the seakyng of his glory, and doyng his wil: wt a burninge and feruent desire of the spyrite, that requyreth him to repayre and amende it, which wanteth in vs. Psalme.v.a Prouer.xv.d. Euery godly wysh, is also, a good prayer.

b* Bredde for any wauer of fode.

c* Stones here signifye, the men vpon whome the Churche of God is edyfied and buylded, as in .i. Pet.ii.a. Indye as lyuinge stones are made a spyrituall houses. &c.

d* God is counted to loke or to turne him, to whatsoeuer he approueth and alloweth, and to what soeuer he is pleased with. Jerem v a Thou. O Lord lokest only on faith & truth.

The ciii. Psalme.

The praiseth ỹ goodnes of god toward mē, which both forgeueth them their sinnes and abundātly destributeth vnto them worldly goodes.

Of Dauid.

A PRayse the Lorde, O my soule, and al that is within me prayse his holy name:

Prayse the Lorde O my soule, and forget not all his benefites.

Which forgeueth all thy synnes, & healeth al thine infirmities.

Which saueth thy life from destruccyon, & crowneth wt the mercy, and louyng kyndnesse.

Which satisfieth the desyre with good thynges, makyng the ponge and lustye as an Aegle.

The Lord executeth ryghtuousnes and iudgement, for al them that suffer wronge.

B He shewed his wayes vnto Moses & his workes, vnto ỹ childrē of Israel.

The Lorde is full of compassyon and mercy, a* longe sufferinge, and of greate goodnesse.

He wyll not alwaye be chyding, neyther wyll he kepe hys anger for euer.

He hath not dealt with vs after our sines, nether rewarded vs according to oure wickednesse.

For loke howe hie the heauē is i cō parysō of the earthe, so greate is his mercy also toward them that fere him.

Loke how wyde ỹ east is frō ỹ west, so farre hath he set our sines from vs.

Yee like as a father pitieth his owne chyldren, euen soo is the Lorde mercyful vnto them that feare him. C

For he knoweth wherof we bemade, he remembreth that we are but dust.

That a mā in his time is but as is grasse, & florisheth as a flour of ỹ feld.

For as sone as the wind goeth ouer it, it is gone, and ỹ place therof knoweth it no more.

But the mercyfull goodnesse of the Lorde endureth for euer and euer, vpō them ỹ feare him, & his ryghtuousnesse vppon their chylders chlideren.

Such as kepe hys couenaunte ād thincke, vpon his commaundements to do them.

The Lorde hath prepared hys seate in heauen, and his kingdome ruleth ouer all.

O prayse the Lorde, ye aungels of his, ye that be the mightie in strength fulfillynge his cōmaundements that men may heare ỹ voyce of his wordes.

O prayse the Lorde all, ye hys hostes, ye seruauntes of hys, that do his pleasure.

O speake good of the Lorde, all yee worckes of his in euery place of dominiō: prayse thou the Lord, O my soule.

The Notes

a* The Lord is long suffering, which is more then pacyent: for he not onely suffereth but also differeth vengeaunce, desyryng the amendment of the sinner louing better to pardon and forgeue thē to punish Rom.ii.a Ether despisest thou the rychesse of his goodnes, pacience & longe sufferaunce. &c

The.ciiii. Psalme.

The prayseth God for the creacyon of al things, & for his godly gouernaunce therof.

A PRayse ỹ Lord O my soule: O lord my God, thou art become exceadig glorious, thou art clothed wt maiesty and honoure.

Thou deckest thy self with light as it were with a garment, thou spreddest out the heauen lyke a curtayne.

Thou boltest it aboue with waters thou makest the cloudes thy charet, & goest vpon the wynges of the wynde.

thou

*Thou makest thine angels spyrites, and thy ministers flammes of fyre.

Thou hast layed the earth vpon her foundacion, that it neuer moueth at eny tyme.

Thou couerest it with the depe like as with a garment, so that the waters stande aboue the hylles.

But at thy rebuke they fle, at ỹ voice of thy thonder they are afrayed.

B (Then are the hylles sene aloft, and the valleys beneth i their place which thou hast appointed for them.)

Thou hast set thẽ their boundes, which they maye not passe, that they turne not agayne to couer the earth.

Thou causest the welles to sprynge vp among the valleis, & the waters to runne amonge the hylles.

That all beastes of the felde maye haue dryncke, & ỹ the wilde asses may quench their thyrste.

Aboue vpõ ỹ hylles haue the foules of the ayre their habitacion, and syng amonge the braunches.

Thou watrest the hylles from aboue, the earth is fylled with the frutes of thy worckes.

Thou bringest forth grasse for ỹ catel and gren herbes for the seruyce of mẽ.

Thou bryngest fode out of ỹ earth: wine to make glad ỹ hert of man, oile to make hym a chearful countenaunce and bred to strength mans herte.

nota bene to Azmyog and Gazyo

C The trees *of the Lorde are full of sappe, euen ỹ trees of Libanus whiche he hath planted.

There make the byrdes their nestes, and the fyre hylles are a dwellyng for the storcke.

The hilles are a refuge for the wild goates, and so are the stony rockes for the conyes.

Thou hast appointed the Moone for certayne seasons, the Sunne knoweth hys goinge downe.

Thou makeste darckenesse, that it may be night, wherin al the beastes of the forest do moue.

Yee and the ponge lions which rore after their pray, and seke their meate at God.

But whẽ the sũne ariseth, thei get thẽ awaye together, and lye them downe in their dennes.

Then goeth man forth to his worcke, & to tyl his lande vntyll the euentinge.

*O Lord, how manifold are thy workes, rightwisely hast thou made thẽ al: yee ỹ earth is full of thy riches.

So is this greate & wyde see also, wherin are thinges crepinge innumerable, both small & greate beastes. D

There go the shippes ouer, and ther is that b*Leuiathã, whome thou haste made, to take his pastime therin.

They wayte al vpõ the, that thou mayest geue them meate in due season.

When thou geuest it them, they gather it: when thou openest thyne hand, they are filled with good.

But when thou hidest thy face they are sorouful: yf thou takest away their breth, they dye, & are turned agayne to their dust.

Againe, when thou lettest thy breth goo forthe, they are made, and so thou renuest the face of the earth.

The glorious maiesty of the Lorde endureth for euer, and the Lorde c*reioyseth in hys worckes.

The earthe trembleth at the loke of him, he doth but touch the hylles & they smoke.

I wyll synge vnto the lorde as longe as I lyue, I wyl prayse my god while I haue my beynge.

O that my wordes myght please hi, for my ioye is in the lorde.

As for sinners, they shalbe cõsumed out of the earth, and the vngodly shal come to an ende: but prayse thou ỹ lorde, O my soule. Prayse the euerlastig.

The notes.

a* That is, that growe of them selues and are not grafted of men.

b* Of this ye haue in Job. xl. d.

c* What is signified by the reioysynge of the lord is sayd Esa, lxv. d.

C The .cvi. Psalme.

The moueth to praise god in the holy assemble at the Arcke of wytnes, and recyteth hys benefites done to the holy people.

A Geue thanckes vnto the lorde, & cal vpõ his name: tel the people what thinges he hath done.

O let your longes be of him: prayse hi, and let youre talkyng e be of al hys wõderous worckes.

Geue his holy name a good report, let their hertes reioyse that seke the lord.

Seke

Seke the lorde, and his strengthe seke his face euermore.

Remembre the maruelous worke that he hath done, hys wounders and the iudgementes of his mouth.

O ye sede of Abraham his seruaũt, ye chylderen of Jacob his chosen.

He is the Lorde our God, whose punisshementes are thorowe oute all the worlde.

He is alway inyndfull of his couenaute, and promyse that he made to a thousand generacions.

Yea the covenaunte that he made wyth Abraham, and the oothe that he sware vnto Jsaac.

And appoynted the same vnto a* Jacob for a lawe, and to Jsrael for an euerlasting testamente

Saying vnto the wyll J, geue the lande of Canaan, the lot of youre heritage.

When there was yet but a fewe of them, and the straungers therin.

What tyme as they wente from one nacion to an other, from one kingdome to an other.

B

He suffred no mã to hurt them, but *Hara xvic *reproued euẽ kings for theyr sakes.

Touche not myne annoynted, doo my prophetes no harme.

Moreouer he a* called for adarthe vpon the land, and destroyed b* all the prouision of breade.

But he had sent a man before them. euen *Joseph whych was solde to be a bound seruaunt.

They c* hurte his fete in the stockes, the yron pearsed hys herte.

Untyll the time that his worde came and tyll the worde of the Lord had tryed hym.

Then sent the king and caused him to be delyuered, the prince of the people had let him go.

he made him Lorde of his house, and ruler of all his substaunce.

That he myght enforme his princes after his wyl, and teach his senatours wisdome.

C

Jsraell also came into Egipte, and Jacob was a straunger in the land of Ham.

But he encreased his people exceadingly, and made them stronger then theyr enemyes.

Whose hert turned, so that they hated hys people, and dealt vntrulye wt his seruauntes. *exo.i.iiii. v. Act.vii.d.

*Then sent he mosis hys seruaunt and Aaron whome he had chosen.

These did his tokens amonge thẽ, and wonders in the lande of Ham. ‡Exo.x.a

*He sent darkenes, and it was darke, for they were not obedient vnto his worde. *Exo.[illegible] Psal lxxviii

*He turned their waters into blod, and slewe theyr fysshe. Exo. viii.b

*Their lande brought forth frogges, ye euen in their kings chambres. *Ex.viii.d

*He spake the worde and there came all manner of flyes and lyce in all their quarters.

He gaue them hayle stones for rayne, and flammes of fyre in their land.

He smote their vinepardes and fig trees and destroyed the trees that were in their coastes. *Exo.x.d.

*He spake the worde, and there were Gresshoppers and caterpilers innumerable.

These ate vp al the grasse in their lande, and deuoured theyre frutes of the grounde. Exo xi a xiis

*He smote all the fyrst borne in the land euen the chefe of al their substaunce.

D

*He brought them forth with syluer and golde, there was not one feble person amonge theyr tryb es.

Egipte was glad of theyr departing for they were afrayde of them,

*He spred oute a cloud to be a couerynge, and fyre to geue lyght in the nyght season. Exo.xiii.d

*At their desire there cam quayles, & he fylled them wyth the bread of haue. *Exvi,c

*He opened the rocke of stone, and the waters flowed out: so that ryuers ranne in the wylderneſſe. *Exoxvii & Nume,xx. b.

For why? he remẽbred his holy promes which he hath made vnto Abrahã his seruaunte.

Thus he brought forth his people wt ioye, and his chosen with gladnes.

And geue them the landes of the hethen: where they toke the labours of the pepple in possesion.

that

That they might kepe his statuts & obserue his lawes. Prayse the euerlasting.

The Notes

a* that is caused a darth to come.ee.
b* That is all their vytailes.
c* By the hurting of his fete in the stocks is mēt his imprysonement, of which Gene.xxxix.d.
By the yron pearchynge hys herte is signifyed his greate greafes sorowe and carefulnesse of mynde: whiche are often sygnifyed by yron as, after in the Psalme.b, fast bounde in myser y, and yron.

The.cvi Psalme.

C The people of God, sparpled abroade for theyre offences in diuers and straunge contreyes, exhorte them selues to prayse the goodnes of God, whych is euer redy for them that seke him: & do also recite ỹ synnes of theyr elders and forefathers: and agayne, the benefites of God, which he shewed them, both in the wildernes, and after in ỹ lande of Canaan.

Prayse the euerlastinge.

O Geue thankes vnto the Lord, for he is gracious, and his mercy endureth for euer.

Who can expresse the noble actes of the Lorde, or shewe forth al his prayse,

Blessed are they that alwaye keape iudgement, and do righteousnes.

Remembre vs, O Lorde, according to the fauour that thou beareft vnto thy people: O visite vs withe thy sauinge health.

That we myghte see the pleasure of thy chosen, that we myght reioyce in ỹ gladnes of thy people, and geue thanckes with a*thyne enheritaunce.

We haue sinned with oure fathers, we haue done amisse, we haue delt wickedlye.

B Our fathers regarded not thy wonders in Egypte, they kepte not thy gret goodnesse in remembraunce: but were disobedient at the see, euen at the reed sea.

Neuertheles he helped them for his names sake, that he might make his power to be knowen.

He rebuked the red seea, and it was dried vp: so he led them thorow the depe as in the wyldernes.

Thus he saued them from the hand of the hater, and delyuered them from the hande of the enemye.

*As for those that troubled them the waters ouerwhelmed them, there was not one of them lefte.

Then beleued they in his word, and sange prayse vnto him.

But within a while they forgat his workes, & wold not abyde his cōsel.

A lust came vpon them in the wyldernesse, so that they tempted God in the deserte. C

Yet he gaue them their desyre, and sent them ynough at their wylles.

They angred Moses in the tentes, and Aron the sayncte of the lorde.

So the earth opened and swalowed vp Dathan, and couered the congregacion of Abraham.

The fyre was kynled in their company, the flame brent vp the vngodly.

*They made a calfe in Horeb, and worshipped the molten ymage.

Thus they turned their b*glorye to ỹ similitud of a calfe, ỹ eateth haye.

They forgat God their Sauiour. which had done so grete thinges i egpt. D

Wonderous workes in ỹ lād of c* Ham, & feareful thinges in ỹ reed see.

So he sayde he wolde haue destroyed thē, had not Moses his chosē lād before him in that gap: to turne away his wrathful indignacion, lest he shold destroye them.

Yee they thoughte scorne of that pleasaunt land, and gaue no credence vnto his worde.

But murmured in their tentes, and herkened not vnto ỹ voice of the lord.

Thē lyft he vp his hand agaynst thē to ouerthrow them in the wyldernesse.

To cast out their sede amōge the nacions, and to scatter them in the landes.

They ioyned thē selues vnto Baal Peor, and ate the offeringes of ỹ deed. E

Thus they prouocked him vnto anger w̄ their owne inuencyons, and the plage was greate among them.

*Then stode vp Phinehes and executed iustice, and so the plage ceased.

And that was coūted vnto him for ryghteousnes, amonge all posterites for euermore.

They angeryd hym also at the waters of stryfe, so that Moses was punyshed for their sackes.

Because they prouocked his spryte, & he told them playnely w̄ his lippes:

Nether destroyed they the Heathē as the Lord cōmaunded them.

But were mengled among the Hea then, and lerned their wozckes.

In so moch ỹ they wozshipped their ymages, whyche turned to their owne decaye.

Yee they offred their sonnes & their F daughters vnto deuels.

And shed ỹ innocẽt bloude of their sõnes & of their daughters, whom they offred vnto ỹ ymages of Canaan, so ỹ ỹ lande was defyled with bloude.

Thus were they stained with their owne wozckes, and wente a whozynge w̃ their owne inuencyons.

Therfoze was the wzath of ỹ Lozd kindled against his people, in so moch ỹ he abhozed his owne inheritaunce;

And gaue them ouer into ỹ hãde of the Heathẽ, & they that hated thẽ, were lozdes ouer them.

Their enemyes oppzessed thẽ, and G had them in subiecyon.

Many a tyme dyd he delyuer thẽ, but they pzouoked hi with their owne inuencyons, and were bzought downe foz their wickednesse.

Neuertheless when he sawe their aduersite, he herde their complaynt.

He thought vpon his couenaunt, & pytied them, accozdyng vnto the multitude of his mercyes.

Yee he made al those that had led them awaye captyue, to pytie them.

Delyuer vs, O Lozd our god, and gather vs from amonge the Heathen: ỹ we may geue thãckes to thy holy name, & make oure boast of thy pzayse:

Blessed be the Lozd God of Israel frõ euerlasting, & wozld without ende, & let all people say: Amen, Amẽ. Pzaise the euerlastynge.

The Notes

a* The lozdes enheritaunce are the Chzisten, whose hertes the holy gost possesseth: which gouerneth them by ỹ vertu of ỹ wozd, after his will & pleasure.

b* That is God: which was their glozye.

c* That is, Egipt: as before in the Psal. lxxviii. c.

¶ The fyfth treatyse.

¶ The. cvii. Psalme.

¶ He sheweth that al euels and aduersyties ar both sent and taken awaye of God.

A DEue thanckes vnto the Lozde, foz he is gracyous, and hys mercy endureth foz euer.

Let them geue thanckes whom the lozde hath redemed, and delyuered frõ the hand of the enemye.

And gathere them out of the landes, from the East, from the west, from the Nozth and from the*a South.

They wente astraye in the wildernesse in an vntroden waye, and found no citie to dwel in.

Hongrie and thirsty, and their soule faynted in them. [note they cryed vnto the Lord in their trouble

So they*b cryed vnto the Lozd in their trouble, and he delyuered thẽ frõ their distresse.

He led them fozth by the right waye, that they might go to the cytie where they dwelt.

O that men wolde pzayse the goodnesse of the lozd, and the wonders that he doth foz the chyldzen of men.

Foz he satisfied the emptye soule, & B fylled the hongrie soule with good.

Such as sate in darcknesse and in the shadowe of death, being fast bound in mysery and*yzon.

Because they were not obedient to ỹ cõmaundemeẽes of God, but lightly regaded ỹ councel of the most highest.

Their hert was vexed with labour, they fell downe, and there was non to helpe them.

So they cryed vnto the Lozde in their trouble, and he delyuered thẽ out of their dystresse.

He bzought them out of darcknes and out of the shadowe of deathe, and bzake their bondes in sonder.

O that men wold pzayse the goodnesse of the lozd, and the wonders that he doth foz the chyldzen of men.

Foz he hath bzoken the*d gates of bzasse, and smitten the*d barres of yzõ in sonder.

Folysshe men were plaged foz their offence, and because of ther wickednes.

Their soule abhozreth al maner of C mete, they wer cuẽ hard at dethes doze.

So they cryed vnto ỹ lozd i their trouble & he deliured thẽ out of thir distres.

He sent his wozd and healed them, and saued them from destruccion.

O that men wolde pzayse the goodnesse of the lozd, and the wonders that he doth foz the chyldzen of men.

That they wolde offre vnto him ỹ sacrifice of thanckesgeuinge, and telout his wozckes with gladnes.

They that go downe to the see in shippes, and occuppe their busynes in greate waters.

These men se the wozkes of ỹ lozd, and his wonders in the deape.

Foz at his wozd, the stozmy wind ariseth, and liftеth vp the waues therof.

They are carped vp to the heauen, and downe agayne to the deapth, their soule melteth awaye in the trouble.

They rele to and fro, they stackerlyk a dronkē mā, & are at their wyttes end.

So they crye vnto the Lozde in their trouble, and he delyuereth them out of their distresse.

He maketh the stozme to ceasse, so ỹ the waues are styl.

Then are they glad because they be at rest, and so he bryngeth them vnto the hauen where they wold be.

D O that men wolde prayse the goodnes of the lozde, and the wonders that he doth foz the childzen of men.

That they wold exalt him in ỹ congregacyon of the people, and loue hym in the seate of the elders.

Which turneth ỹ floudes in to dry land, and dryeth vp ỹ water springes.

A frut ful land maketh he barē, foz ỹ wickednes of them that dwel therin.

Agayne, he maketh the[e] *wyldernes a standing water, and water springes of a dry grounde.

Ther he setteth ỹ hongry, that they maye buyld them a cytie to dwel in

That they may sowe their groūde, plant vinetardes, to yelde them frutes of increase.

He[f] *blesseth thē, so that they multiplye exceadingly, & suffreth not their catel to decrease.

When they are mynished and brought lowe throzow oppression, throzowe eny plage oz trouble.

Though he suffer them to be cuell i treated throzow tiraūtes, oz let thē wander out of the waye in the wildernesse.

Yet helpeth he the pooze out of myserye (at ỹ last) and maketh him an howsholde lyke a flocke of shepe.

The rightuous wil considre this & reioyse, the mouthe of all wickednesse shalbe stopped.

Who is so wyse, & pondreth these thinges wel, shal vnderstand ỹ louing kyndnesses of the Lozd.

The notes

a* Hebr. See: that is to saye, towarde Arabia which is in the South parties.
b* What is meant herby, ye shal fynd in the Psal. xv.b. and Exodi. xiiii.d c* Loke the Psalme. cv.b d* By the gates and barzes are vnderstand all instrumentes of helpe foz warze, which (how many oz strōg so euer they be) pzoket nothing against ỹ lozd. Alyke maner of speache vseth Chzist of ỹ gates of hel, foz the strengthes & powers of thē ỹ be in hell. Math. xvi, c. The gates of hel shal not pzeuaile. &c. e* What the wildernes here signifieth is shewed i Esa. xxxv. a f* That is, he maketh thē to encrese.

The. cviii. Psalme.

The sheweth ỹ he feruētly desireth to pzaise God, & reciteth the noblenes of his kyngdom, and in him as in a shadow ỹ nobylite of Chzistes kingdom.

A long of a Psalme of Dauid.

D *God, my hert is ready to synge, and to geue pzayse. A

Awake, O my glozye, awake lute and harp, I my selfe wyll awake right early.

I wyll geue thanckes vnto the, O Lozd, among the people, I wyl synge pzayses vnto the among the heathen.

Foz the greatnesse of thy mercye is biger then the heauens, and thy fayth fulnes reacheth vnto the cloudes.

*Set vp thy selfe, O God, aboue the heauens, and thy glozye aboue all B the earth.

*That thy beloued maye be delyuered: help then with thy right hand, and heare me.

God hath spoken in his Sanctuary, which thinge reioyseth me.

I wyl deuyd Sichem, and meate out the valey of Suchoth.

Galaad is myn, Mannasses is mine, Ephzaim is ỹ strength of my hed, Iuda is my cappytaine.

Moab is my washpot, ouer Edom wyll I stretch oute my shue, Philistea shal be glad of me.

C Who wyl leade me into the strong citie? Who wil bzing me in to Edom? Shalt not thou do it (O God) which hast cast vs out: thou god, that wētest not forth with out Hostes?

O be thou our helpe in trouble, foz vaine is the help of man.

Throzow god we shall do greate actes for it is he that shal treade downe our enemyes.

The. cix. Psalme.

Against Doeg & other flatterers of Saul, which with their lies prouocked him against Dauid: And vnder the shadow of them against Judas & al such as after ỳ maner trouble the sonnes of God: Then bewayleth he his miserie, and prayeth for helpe.

a* To ỳ chaunter, a Psalme of Dauid.

a* Loke the title of the. iiii. Psalme.

A Holdnot thy tong, O God of mi prayse.

For the mouth of the vngodly, yee and the mouth of the disceatful is opened vpon me, and speake against me with false tonges.

They compasse me about with wordes of hatred, and fight against me without a cause.

For the loue that I had vnto them, they take nowe my contrary parte, but I geue my selfe vnto prayer.

Thus they reward me euel for good, and hatred for my good wyl.

Set an vngodlye man to be ruler ouer hym, and let Satan stand at his right hande.

When sentence is geuen vpon him, let him be condẽpned, and let his prayer be turned in to synne.

*Iohn. xvii Actu. i, d *Let his dayes be fewe, and his bishoprycke let another take.

a* Let his children be fatherlesse, & his wyfe a widowe.

Let hys childrẽ be vagabunnes, & beg their bred: let them seke it, as they B that be destroyed.

Let the extorcioner consume al that he hath, and let straungers spoyle hys laboure.

Let there be no man to pitye, nor to haue compassion vpon hys fatherlesse children.

Let his ende be destruction, and in ỳ next generacion let his name be cleane put out.

Let the wyckednes of hys fathers be had in remembraunce in the syghte of the lorde, and let not the synne of his mother be done awaye.

Let them alway be before the lord, but as for the memoryalle of thẽselues. let it perish from out of the earth.

And that because his mind was not to do good, but persecuted ỳ poore hel plesse, and him ỳ was vexed at the hert, to slaye hym.

His delyte was in cursynge, and therfore shall it happen vnto hym: he C loued not blessinge, and that shall be fart from him.

He clothed him selfe with cursinge lyke as with a rayment: yee it went in to his bowels lyke water, and like oyle in to his bones.

Let it be vnto him as the clockes ỳ he hath vpon hym, and as the gyrded ỳ he is gyrded with all.

Let it thus happen from the Lord, vnto myne enemyes, and to those that speake euel agaynst my soule.

But deale thou with me, O lorde God, accordynge vnto thy name, for swete is thy mercy.

O delyuer me, for I am helpelesse & poore, & my hert is woũded within me.

I go hence lyke the shadowe that departeth, and am driuen awaye as ỳ D grashoggpers.

My knees ar weake, thorow b* fasting, mi flesh is dried vp for wante of fatnes.

I am becom a rebuke vnto thẽ, they loke vpon me and shake their heades.

Helpe me, O lord my God, oh saue me for thy mercyes sake.

That they maye knowe, how ỳ this is thy hand, and that thou hast don it.

Thoughe they curse, yet blesse thou: and let thẽ be confounded, that rise vp agaynst me, but let thy seruaũt reioice

Let myne aduersaries be clothed w̃ their owne shame, as with a clocke.

As for me, I wyl geue thanckes vnto the lord wyth my mouth, and prayse him among the multitude.

For c* he standeth at the right hand of the poore, to saue hym from such as condempne his soule.

The notes.

a* The wordes which in the prophetes are spoken after ỳ maner of desiring wishing or prayig oughe often to be vnderstand as prophecies ỳ shal indede come to passe: as, let his children be vagabounde, for, his children shalbe vagabounde: and lokor the of the other that folowe. As in the psal. xl. c. But let al those that seke the be ioyful. &c.

b* By fasting here is vnderstand al bodily affectiõ as it is sayde before in the Psal. xxxv. c.

c* He standeth at the ryght hande of the poor, that is, he is prest and redy to helpe the poore. As before in the Psal. xvi. b

C The. cx. Psalme.

C He describeth ỳ kingdom of Christ, which begã in Siõ & is com̃ thrugh ỳ whole world, & shal haue power hand tyl his enemies be made his fotestole.

A

A Psalme of Dauid.

A THe Lord said vnto my lord, a*Syt thou on my righte hand, b*vntyl I make thyne enemies thy fotstole.

The lord shal sende the rodde of thi power out of Sion, be thou ruler, euē in the middest among thine enemies.

In the daye of thy power shall thy people offer the fre wyl offeringes, wt an holy worshyp, the dewe of thy byrth is of the wombe of the morninge.

B The lord sware, and wyl not repēt: Thou art a preste for euer after the order of Melchisedec.

The lord vpon the right hande, shal smyte euen kynges, in the days of hys wrath.

He shal be iudge amon ge the heathen, he shall fyl them with deed bodyes, and smite in sonder the heades ouer diuers countres.

He shal drincke of the broke in the wate, therfore shal he c*lift vp his hed.

The Notes

a* To syt on his right hande, is, to haue the same glory of the Godly maiesty that he hath, to rule & gouerne as largely as he doth. Ephe. ii. d, whom he set on his righte hande in heauenly thinges, aboue all rule, &c. that is made him equal with him selfe and rulez ouer al thinges.

b* Loke Mat. xx. ii. d.

c* Of this ye haue. iiii. Reg. xxv. g

¶ The. cxi. Psalme.

¶ The power, wysdom, & goodnes of God are prayzed, which are euidente to se by hys wozckes & actes don among the peple of Israell.

Prayse the euerlastinge.

A Alle. cix. a. and cxxxviii a I Wyll geue thanckes vnto ỹ lord with my whole herte: secretly amonge the faithfull, and in the congregacion.

The wozckes of the lord are great, sought out of al them that haue pleasure therin.

His wozcke is wozthy to be prayzed and had in honoure, and his rygh tuousnesse endureth for euer.

The mercyful and gracious lorde hath so don hys marueluous wozckes, ỹ they ought to be had ī remembrauce.

He geueth meate vnto them, that feare him, he is euer myndfull of hys couenaunt.

B He sheweth his people the power of hys wozckes, that he maye geue thē the *herytage of the heathen.

The wozckes of his handes are verite and iudgement, all his commaundementes are true.

They standefast for euer and euer, and are done in treuth and equitie,

He sent redemption vnto his people, he hath commaūded his couenant for euer, holy and reuerent is hys name.

*The feare of the Lorde is the begynnynge of wisdome, a good vnderstandinge haue all they ỹ do therafter: the prayse of it endureth for euer. *Iob. xxviii. Prouer. i, a and ix. Eccli. i. b

¶ The cxii. Psalme.

¶ He declareth ỹ perpetual prosperite of thē which feare and worshyp God, and contreket his goodnes

Prayse the euerlastinge.

BLessed is the man that feareth the Lorde, and hathe greate delyte in hys commaundementes. A

His sede shalbe mighty vpon earth, the generacion of the faythfull shall be blessed.

Riches and plenteousnes shalbe in hys house, and hys rightuousnes endureth for euer.

Unto the godly ther ariseth vp light, in the darkenes: he is mercifull, louing and rightuous.

Well is he that is mercyfull, and lēdeth gladly, and pondreth hys wordes with discretion.

For he shall neuer bee moued, the rightuous shalbe had in ā euerlasting remembraunce. B

He wyll not be afrayd for any euell tydynges, his hert standeth fast, and beleueth in the Lorde.

Hys herte is stablyshed, he wyll not shrynke, vntyl he see his a*desyre vpon his enemyes.

*He hath sparsed abroade, & geuē to ỹ poore, his rightousnes remaineth for euer his horne shalbe exalted with honour. *ii. Co. ix. b

The vngodly shal see it, and it shal greue him: he shal gnash with his teth, and consume awaye, and the desyre of the vngodlye shal perysh.

The Notes

a* That is vengeaunce and destruction.

¶ The cxiii. Psalme.

¶ He moueth to the prayse of God, because he seeth all thynges, and ruleth and gouerneth them after hys wyll and pleasure.

Prayse the euerlastinge.

b. Of Dauid. Psal. cxiii. cxiiii. cxv

A PRaise the Lord (O ye seruauntes)
O prayse the a*name of the Lorde.
Blessed be the name of the lorde, from this tyme forth for euermore.
The Lordes name is worthy to be praysed, from the rysyng vp of ỹ Sun ne vnto the goyng downe of the same.
The lord is hye aboue al Heathen,
& his glory aboue the heauens.
B Who is lyke vnto the Lorde oure god, that hath his dwellig so hy, which humbleth him selfe, to beholde that is in heauen and earth?
Which taketh vp the simple out of ỹ dust, & lyfteth the pore out of the mire.
That he maye sett him amonge the prynces, euen amonge the prynces of his people.
Which maketh the baren womã b*to kepe house, and to be a ioyfull mother of chyldren.
Prayse the euerlastynge.

The notes

a* Name: for fame. renowne & glorye: as in Iohn. xvii. a. b* That is, to be frutful & to haue a whole housholde of the frute of her body, where as in the time of her barenes she lare alone. It signifieth not to hold abouse of her owne for ỹ domani barrẽ, which neuer haue chylde.

¶ The. cxiiii. Psalme.

¶ He briefly recyteth the greatest and cheake myracles which the lord did for Israel, when he brought them out of Egypt.

A WHen Israel came out of Egipt & ỹ a*house of Iacob frõ amõg that straunge people.
b* Iuda was c*his Sanctuary, Is rael his dompnion.
The see sawe that, and fled, Iordan turned backe.
The mountaines skipped like ram
mes, & lytle hylles lyke yong shepe.
B What aeled the, O thou see, ỹ thou fleddest? and thou Iordan, that thou turnedest backe?
c* Ye mountaynes, that ye skypped lyke rammes: & ye lytle hilles, lyke yõg shepe?
The earth trembled at the presence of the Lorde, at the presence of the God of Iacob.
c* Which turned the harde rocke in to a standynge water, and the flyne stone into a spryngynge well.

The Notes

a* That is ỹ stock, seder of spryngе of Iacob or Israel: as before in the Psal. xiiii. b &, xx a. Reade the xiii. & xiiii, of Exodius, & the iii. Iosue, & this Psalme shalbe easye to the.
b* By Iuda is also vnderstand the whole nombre of ỹ people of Israell.
c* That is, the holy people of the Lorde.
d* This is expounded in the psal. lxxii'a. How be it some & those excellently lerned, vnderstand it of ỹ shaking, trembling & leapyng of the hyl Sion whe the Lord came doune to geue the lawe Exodui. xix. c. & d. which shaking (say they) was not onely sene in ỹ. hyl alone, but also in al the hilles nye vnto hit e* Of the rock turned into water, &c rede. Exo. xvii & Num. xx.

¶ The. cxv. Psalme.

¶ He prayeth god for ỹ glory of his names sake to forther his people, to thintent ỹ it maye be euidently knowen that he alone is god, and the Idoles of the heathen but vaine thinges. A

NOt vnto vs, O lorde, not vnto vs, but vnto thy a*name geue ỹ prayse, for thy louinge mercy and faithfulnes.
Wherfore shall the Heathen saye:
where is now their god?
As for our god, he is in heauen, he doth whatsoeuer it pleaseth him.
*Their ymages are but syluer and *Psal. cxiii.
golde, euẽ the worcke of mens hands. Esa. xl. d
They haue mouthes, & speake not: Dan. xv. d eyes haue they, but they se not. Baruch. vi.
They haue eares and heare not: no B ses haue they but they smel not.
They haue handes and handle not, fete haue they but they can not go, ne ther cã they speke thorow their throte.
They that made them, are like vn to them and so are al such as put their truste in them.
But let Israel trust in the lord, for he is their succure and defence.
Let the house of Arõ put their trust in the lorde, for he is their succour and defence.
They that feare the lord let thẽ put C their truste in the lorde, for he is their succoure and defence.
The lords ymyndful of vs, and b* blesseth vs: he blesseth the house of Is rael, he blesseth the house of Ahron.
Ye he blesseth all them that feare ỹ lorde, both smal and greate.
The lorde encrease you more and more: you, and your chyldren.
For ye are blessed of the lord, whych made heauen and earth.
Al the whole heauens are the lor- D des, but the earth hath he geuen vnto the chyldren of men.
c* The deed prayse not the (O lorde) neyther al they that go downe into sy

Note! The dead prayse not the (ỹ lorde)

lence.

But we wyll prayse ỹ lorde, krō this tyme forthe for euermore. Prayse the euerlastynge.

The notes.

a* What is here sygnified by his nam, is said Psa xlviii.c

b* That is, dothgood to vs, fauoreth & multiplieth vs, maketh vs fortunat & lucky. Gene, xii. a.

c* The deed prayse not the. &c. Some vnderstande here by the deed, those that dyed in the wildernes. Nume. xvi. g: and. xxv. a b. And the Jewes whiche the Romaynes slue. Also, those ỹ dye in their inkydelite, & sothe as beyng yet alyue, are deed thorow synne. i. Timoth. v: a

The. cxvi. Psalme,

I thanke kesgeuinge for the healpe of the Lorde wherby he eskaped whē he was compassed a bout wᵗ the hoste of Saul. Here cyteth the greate ieopardy & stayt wherin he then was: & prayseth ỹ goodnes of god, by whose benefyte he was preserued.

A I Am well pleased, that the Lorde hath herde ỹ voyce of my prayer.

That he hath enclyned his eare vnto me, therfore wyl I cal vpon him as longe as I lyue.

*Psa xviii a *The snares of death cōpased me roū de abaute, the paines of hel gat holde vpō me, I founde trouble & heuinesse.

Then called I vpon the name of the lord: O Lorde: delyuer my soule.

B Gracious is the lord, & a*righteous, yee oure god is merryfull.

The lorde preserueth the symple, I was brought down and he helped me.

Turne agayne then vnto thy reste, O my soule, for the lorde hath geuē ỹ thy desyre.

And why ỹ thou hast delyuerd my soule from death, myne eyes from teares, and my fete from fawlynge.

I wyll talcke before the lorde, in the b*lande of thy lyuinge:

C *I beleued, and therfore haue I spoken, but I was sore troubled. ii. Cor. iiii, c

I sayde in my hast: All men are lyers.

What reward shal I gene vnto ỹ lorde, for al the benefytes that he hath done vnto me?

I wyll receaue the c*cuppe of saluacyon, and cal vpon the name of the lord.

I wyl paie my vowes in the presence of al his people, right deare in ỹ sight of ỹ lorde is the death of his sainctes:

O Lord, I am thy seruaunt, I am thy seruaunte, and thy sonne and thy hand mayde thou haste broken my bondes in sonder.

I wil offre to the, the sacrifice of thāc kesgeuinge, and will call vpon ỹ name of the lorde.

I wyll paye my vowes vnto ỹ lord in the sight of al his people, in the courtes of the lordes house, euē in the middest of the, O Jerulem. Prayse the euerlastinge.

The Notes

a* The Lorde is not called righteous alonly because he is perfet of hym selfe in all thynges, but also because he maketh vs righteous by hys sonne Chryst. Rom. iii. d. whome God hath made a seate of mercy & c. to shewe the righteousnes which before hym, is of valure. & c.

b* Of the lande of the lyuing, what it sygnifyeth, loke in Esai. liii. c.

c* The cuppe of saluation do many expounde to be affliction, vexation and tribulacion.

The. cxvii. Psalme.

The prophecieth ỹ the benefytt of the Gospel shal come vnto the gentyles and Heythen.

A O Prayse the lord al ye a*gentyles laude hym all ye people.

For his mercifull kindnes is ever more and more towarde vs, and the truth of the lord endureth for euere

Prayse the euerlastinge.

The Notes

a* By the Gentiles or Heathen are vnderstande, ỹ vnfaythfull that beleue not in God, and by ỹ people the faithfull and beleuers. Psalm. xlv. d. Therfore ye shal they people geue thanckes.

The cxviii. Psalme.

A song, wherwith Dauid delyuered from his aduersities, and promotyd to the kyngdome of all Israell, gaue thanckes to God openly in the tabernacle: In which he also beareth the figure of Chryst.

A O *Geue thanckes vnto the Lord, for he is gracious, and his mercy endureth forever. *Psal. cv. a cii. a, cvii: a. i. Math. iiic

Let Israell now confesse, that hys mercy endureth for euer:

Ye let them now that feare the lord confesse ỹ his mercy endurỹth for euer.

I called vpon the lorde in trouble, and the lorde herde me at large.

B *The lord is my helper I wyl not feare what man doth vnto me. *He. xiii, b

The lorde is my helper, and I shall see my desyre vpon myne enemyes.

It is better to truste in the lord thē to put any confidence in man.

It is better to trust in the lorde then to put any confidence in princes.

All the heathen compassed me roun de about, but in ỹ name of the lorde wil I destroye them.

They kepe me in on euery syde, but in the name of the lorde, I wyll destroy them.

They came about me lyke bees and were were as hote as the fyre in the thornes, but in the name of the Lord I wyll destroye them.

They thrust at me, that I myght fal, but the Lorde was my helpe.

*Exo.xv.b Esa.xii.a *The Lord is my strength, and my songe, and is become my saluation.

C The voyce of ioye and myrth is in ỹ dwellynges of the righteous, for the right hand of the lord, hath gotten the victory.

The ryght hand of the Lord, hathe the preeminence, the right hande of the Lord, hath gotten the victory.

I wyl not dye, but lyue: and declare the workes of the Lorde.

Nota The Lorde hath chastened me but not to death

The Lorde hath chastened and correct me, but he hath not geuen me ouer vnto deathe.

a* Open me the gates of righteousnes, that I maye goe in there thorowe, and geue thanckes vnto the Lorde.

This is the doore of the Lorde, the ryghteous shall enter in thorowe it.

I thancke the, that thou hast heard me, and art become my saluacion.

The same b* stone whych the buylders refused, is become the head stoone in the corner.

This was the Lordes doynge, and it is maruelous in oure eyes.

This is the c* daye, which the Lord hath made, let vs reioyse and be glad D in it.

Helpe now O Lorde, O Lord sende vs now prosperitie.

Blessed be he that cometh in the name of the lord, we wysh you good luck: ye that be of the house of the lorde.

God is the lord, and hath shewed vs lyght: O garnysche the solempne feaste with greane braunches, euen vnto the hornes of the aulter.

Thou art my God, & I wyll thanke the: thou art my God, and I wyl prayse the.

O geue thanckes vnto the lorde, for he is gracious, and his mercye endureth for euer.

The Notes.

a* To open the gates of righteousnes, is, to open vnto the worlde the grace and righteousnes that cometh of God. So Esay. xxvi. a. Open the gates that the good people may go in. &c.

b* the stone is Christ and the buylders, suche teachers as taught that he was vnprofytable. Mathxxi.d. Suche buylders remayne yet, and shal, do to the worldes ende.

c* By daye here, vnder stand the time of preachinge the Gospell and gladde tydinges of Christ, which contynueth as longe as the true faith in Christ remayneth. Of this daye also speaketh Paul. ii. Corint. vi. a. Behold now is the daye of saluacion. &c.

C The. cxix. Psalme.

C This Psalme declareth how moch the saynctes of Christen set by the lawes of god, and how greatly they endeuour them selues vnto them: in so moch ỹ they sorowe them to be transgressed & withstãded of the wicked: And howe they pray to be taught thẽ of aboue, & to be accustomed with thẽ: & wysh as manye as transgresse & wythstande them, to be destroyed and made awaye.

Aleph. A

BLessed are those that a* be vndefyled in the waye: whiche walcke in the lawe of the Lorde.

Blessed are they that kepe his testimonies, & seke him with their whole herte.

Which walcke in his wayes, & do no wyckednesse.

Thou hast geuen straycte charge to kepe thy commaundementes.

O that my wayes were stablyshed, to kepe thy statutes.

So shulde I not be cõfoũded, whyle I haue respect vnto al thy commaũdementes.

I wyll thancke the with vnfayned herte, because I am learned in the iudgmentes of thy ryghteousnesse.

I wyll kepe thy statures, O forsake me not vtterly.

Beth! B

Where withall shall a yonge man clense his waye? Euen by rulynge hym selfe after thy worde.

With my whole herte do I seke ỹ, O let me not go wronge oute of thy commaundementes.

Thy wordes haue I hyd within my hert, that I shuld not sinne against ỹ.

Prayse be thou O Lord, O teach me thy statutes.

With my lyppes wyl I be telling out all thy iudgmentes of thy mouth.

I haue as greate delite in ỹ way of thy testimonyes, as in al maner of ryches.

I wyll exercyse my selfe in thy cõmaũdementes, & haue respect vnto thy fote pathes.

My delyte shalbe in thy statutes, I wyll not forget thy wordes.

Gimel. C

O do well vnto thy seruaunte, that I maye lyue and kepe thy wordes.

O

Open thou myne eyes, and so shal I spie out wonderous thinges in thy law.

I am a straunger vpon earth, O hide not thy commaundementes fro me.

My soule breaketh oute, for the very feruent desyre ỹ I haue alwaye vnto thy iudgmentes.

Thou rebukeste the proude, cursed are they that departe frome thy commaundementes.

O turne fro me shame and rebuke, for I kepe thy testymonyes.

*Pynces also spy & speake against me, but thy seruaunt is occupied in thy statutes.

In the testimonyes is my delyte, they are my councelers

Daleth:

My soule cleaueth to the dust, O quicken thou me, accordyng to thy worde.

I knowledged my wayes, & thou herdest me, O teach me then thy statutes.

Make me to vnderstande the way of thy commaundementes, and so shall I talcke of thy wonderous worckes.

My soule melteth awaie for very heuynesse, O set me vp accordynge vnto thy worde.

Take fro me ỹ way of lyeng, & graunte of me thy lawe.

I haue chosen the *way of trueth, thy iudgmẽtes haue I laied before me.

I stycke vnto thy testymonie O Lorde, confounde me not.

I wyll runne the waye of the commaundementes, when thou hast comforted my herte.

He.

Teach me O Lorde the waye of thy statutes, & I shal kepe it vnto the end.

O *geue me vnderstandinge, and I shall kepe thy lawe, yee I shal kepe it wyth my whole herte.

Leade me in thy pathe of thy commaundementes, for that is my delyte.

Enclyne myne herte vnto thy testymonies, and not to couetousnes.

O turn away myn eyes, lest they behold vanite, & quyckē me in thy way.

O stablyshe thy worde in thy seruaũt that I maye feare the.

Take away ỹ rebuke that I am afrayed of, for thy iudgmentes are amiable.

Beholde, my delyte is in thy cõmaundementes, O quicken me in the rightuousnes.

Vau,

Let thy louynge mercye come vnto me, O Lord, and thy sauing healthe, accordinge vnto thy worde.

That I may geue answer vnto my blasphemers, for mi trust is in thy word

O take not the woorde of trueth vtterlye out of my mouthe, for my hope is in thy iudgementes.

So shall I alwayes kepe thy lawe ye for euer and euer.

And I wyll walke at lybertie, for I seke thy commaundementes.

I wyll speake of thy testimonies euen before kinges, and wyl not be ashamed.

My delyte shalbe in thy commaundementes, which I loue.

My handes also wyl I lyfte vp vnto thy commaundementes, which I loue, and my talkynge shall be of thy statutes.

Zain.

O thincke vpon thy seruaunt as cõcerninge thy woorde, wherin thou hast caused me to put my truste.

For it is my comfort in my trouble ye thy woorde quickeneth me.

The proude haue me greatly in derision, yet shrynke not I from thy law.

I remember thyne euerlastinge iudgementes: O Lord, and am comforted.

I ām horrible afrayde for the vngodly, that forsake thy lawe.

Thy statutes are my songes in the house of thy pylgrymage.

I thinke vppon thy name, O Lord in the nyght season and kepe thy lawe.

It is myne owne, for I kepe thy cõmaundementes.

Heth.

Thou art my porcion, O Lorde, I am purposed to kepe thy lawe.

I make my humble petticiõ in thy presence, with my whole hert, O be mercyfull vnto me, according vnto thy word.

I call myne owne ways to remẽbrauce, & turne mi fete into thy testimonies.

I make haste, and prolong no time, to kepe thy commaundementes.

The congregations of ỹ vngodly haue robbed me, but I forget not thy law

At mydnight stande I vp, to geue thãckes vnto the, for the iudgmentes of thy ryghtuousnesse.

I am a companyon of al them that feare the, & kepe thy cõmaundemẽtes.

* The earth, O Lorde, is ful of thy mercy. O teach me thy statutes.

Teh.

I O lord, thou hast dealt frẽdly w̃ thy seruaunt, according vnto thy worde.

O learne me thy kyndnesse, nourtoure & knowledge, for I beleue thy commaundementes.

Before I was troubled, I went wrõge, but now I kepe thy worde.

Thou art good & frendly, O teach me thy statutes.

nota lyes

The proude ymagin lyes vpon me, but I kepe thy commaundemẽtes with my whole herte.

Their herte is as fat as brawne, but my delyte is in thy lawe.

It is good for me ỹ I haue bene in trouble, ỹ I maye learne thy statutes.

The law of thy mouth is dearer vnto me, then thousandes of golde and syluer.

Jod.

K * Thy hãdes haue made me & fashioned me, O geue me vnderstanding, ỹ I may learne thy commaundemẽtes.

They ỹ feare the, wil be glad when they se me, because I put my trust i thy worde.

I knowe, O lord, that thy iudgmẽtes are ryght, & that thou of very faithfulnesse hast caused me to be troubled.

O let thy mercyful kindnesse be my cõforte, accordynge to the promes that ỹ hast made vnto thy seruaunt.

O let thy louing mercies come vnto me, that I may lyue, for thy law is my delyte.

Let the proude be cõfounded, which handle me so falsly.

But let soch as feare the, and know thy testimontes, be turned vnto me.

O lett my herte be vndefyled in thy statutes that I be not ashamed.

Caph.

L My soule longeth for thy sauinge health, for my trust is in thy word.

Myne eyes longe sore for thy worde, saying: O whẽ wilt thou comfort me?

For I am become lyke a botell in ỹ smoke, yet do not I forget thi statutes.

How many are the dayes of thy seruaunt? When wylt thou be auẽged of myne aduersaryes?

The proude haue digged pyttes for me, which are not after thy lawe.

Al thy cõmaundementes are true, they persecut me falsly, O be thou my helpe.

They haue almost made an ende of me vpon earthe, but I forsake not thy commaundementes.

O quicken me after thylouing kindnes, & so shall I kepe the testimonyes, of thy mouth.

Lamed.

O lord, thy word endureth for euer in heauen.

Thy trueth also remaineth frõ one generacion to another: thou hast layed ỹ foũdacion of the earth, and it abideth.

They continue this daye according to thine ordinaunce, for al thinges serue ỹ.

If my delyte were not in thy lawe, I shulde perysshe in my trouble.

I wyll neuer forget thy commaundementes, for with them ỹ quickenest me.

I am thyne, O helpe me, for I seke thy commaundementes.

The vngodly laye wayte for me to destroy me, but I cõsidre thi testimontes.

I se ỹ al thinges come to an ende, but thy cõmaundementis exceadig broade.

Mem.

M O what loue haue I vnto thy law: al the day longe is my talkynge of it.

Thou thorow thy commaundemẽt hast made me wiser thẽ mine enemies, for it is euer by me.

I haue more vnderstãdig thẽ al myne teachers, for thy testimontes ar my studi.

Yee I am wyser then the aged, for I kepe thy commaundementes.

I refrayne my fete from euery euyl waye, that I maye kepe thy wordes.

I shrynke not from thy iudgementes, for thou teachest me.

O howe swete are thy wordes vnto my throte:

Yee more then hony vnto my mouthe.

Thorow thy cõmaũdemẽtes I get vnderstãdig, therfor I hate al false waies.

N Nun.

O Thy word is a * lanterne vnto my fete

O lete and a lyght vnto my pathes.

I haue swore and am steadfastly purposed, to kepe the iudgementes of thy rightuousnes.

I am troubled aboue measur, quicken me, O Lorde, accordinge vnto thy worde.

Let the free wyll offerynges of my mouth please the, O Lorde, and teach me thy iudgementes.

* My soule is alway in my hand, yet do not I forget thy lawe.

The vngodlye haue layede a snare for me, but yet swarue not I from thy commaundementes.

Thy testimontes haue I claymed as myne herritage for euer: and why? they are the very ioye of my herte.

I applye myne herte to fulfyll thy statutes alwaye, euen vnto the ende.

Samech.

I hate the vngodly, but thy lawe do I loue.

Thou arte my defence and shylde, my trust is in thy worde.

Awaye fro me, ye wicked, I wyl kepe the commaundementes of my God.

O stablysh me accordyng vnto thy worde, that I may lyue and let me not be disapointed of my hope.

Holde thou me vp, and I shalbe safe: yee I shall euer be talkinge of thy statutes.

Thou treadest downe al them that depart from thy statutes, for they ymagyn but disceate.

Thou puttest awaye al the ungodlye of the earth lyke drosse, therfor I loue thy testimonies.

My flesh trembleth for feare of the, and I am afrayd of thy iudgementes

Ain.

I deale with the thing that is lauful and righte, O geue me not ouer vnto myne oppressours.

Be thou suertye for thy seruaunte, to do hym good, that the proude doo me no wronge.

Myne eyes are wasted awaye with lokyng for thy health, and for the worde of thy ryghtuousnes.

O deale with thy seruaunte accordyng vnto thy louing mercy, and teache my thy statutes.

I am thy seruaunt, O graunte mee vnderstandinge, that I maye knowe thy testimonyes.

It is time for the (O Lorde) to laye to thyne hand, for they haue destroyed thy lawe.

For I loue thy commaundements aboue gold and precious stone.

Therfore holde I streyght all the commaundementes, and all false wayes I vtterly abhorre.

Phe.

Thy testimontes are wounderfull, therfore doth my soule kepe them.

When thy worde goeth forth, it geueth lyght and vnderstandynge, euen vnto babes.

I open my mouth and drawe in my breth, for I desyre thy commaundementes.

O loke thou vpon me, and be merciful, as thou vsest to do vnto those y loue thy name.

Order my goinges after thy worde that no wickednes raygne in me.

O delyuer me from thy wrongeous dealynges of menne, and so shall I kepe thy commaundements.

Shew the lyght of thy countenaunce vnto thy seruaunt and lerne me thy statutes.

Myne eyes guische out with waters because men kepe not thy lawe.

Sade

Righteous arte thou, O Lorde, and true is thy iudgemente.

Thy testimonies that thou hast comaunded are exceading e, righteouse and true.

My zele hath euen consumed me, because myne enemyes haue forgotten thy woordes.

Thy woorde is tryed to the vttermoast, and thy seruaunte loueth it,

I am small and of noo reputacion yet do not I forgett thy commaundmentes.

Thy rightuousnes is an euerlastinge righteousnes, and thy law is true.

Trouble and heuynesse haue taken holde vppon me, yet is my delyght in thy commaundementes.

The righteousnes of thy testimontes is euerlastinge, O graunte mee vnderstan derstandinge, and I shall lyue.

Koph.

C I call with my whole herte, heare me, O Lorde, I wyl kepe thy statutes.

Yee euen vpon the do I call, helpe me and I shal kepe thy testimonies.

Early in the morninge do I *crye vnto the, for in thy woorde is my trust

Myneyes preuente the night watches, that I might bee occupyed in thy woordes.

Heare my voyce, O Lord, accordig vnto thy louinge kindnes, quicken me according as thou art wonte.

They drawe nye that of malice persecute me, and are farre from thy lawe.

Be thou nye at hand also, O Lord, for thy promises are faythfull.

As concerninge thy testimonies, I haue knowen eversins the beginning, that thou hast grounded them for euer.

Res.

O consydre myne aduersitie, and delyuer me, for I do not forgett thy la U we.

Maynteine thou my cause and defende me, quicken me accordinge vnto tht woorde.

Health is farre from the vngodlye for they regarde not thy statutes.

Greate is thy mercye, O Lord, quicken me as thou art wonte.

Many there are that trouble me, & persecute me, yet do not I swarue from thy testimonyes.

It greueth me, when I see, that the transgressours kepe not thy lawe.

Consydre, O Lorde, how I loue thy commaundementes, O quicken mee w thy louinge kindnesse.

Thy worde is true from euerlastinge, al the iudgementes of thy righteousnes endure for euer more.

Sin.

b* The Prynces persecute me with X outcause, but my herte standeth in awe of thy woordes.

I am as glad of thy worde, as one that findeeth great spoyles.

As for lyes, I hate and abhorre thē, but thy lawe do I loue.

i* Seuen times a day do I prayse the because of thy righteous iugmētes.

Greate is the peace that they haue whiche loue thy lawe, and they are not offended at it.

Lorde I loke for thy sauyng helth, and do after thy commaundementes.

My soule kepeth thy testymonies, and loueth them exceadyngly.

I kepe thy commaundementes and testymonyes, for all my wayes are before the.

Thau.

Let my complaynt come before the, Y O Lorde, geue me vnderstanding, according vnto thy worde.

Oh let my supplicacyon come before ỹ, deliuer me according to thy promes.

My lippes shal speake of thy prayse, seynge thou hast taught me thy statutes.

Yee my tonge shal syng of thy word, for al thy commaundementes ar right.

Let thyne hande helpe me, for I haue chosen thy commaundementes.

I long for thy sauinge health, O lord, and in thy lawe is my delyte.

Oh let my soule lyue and prayse the, that thy iudgmentes may helpe me.

I go astray, like a shep that is lost: Oh seke thy seruaunt, for I do not forget thy commaundements.

Notes

a* To be vndefiled in the waye, is, to lyue in faith that worcketh by charitie: and to walcke, in the lawe, is to be conuersant in it & lyue after it.

b* Prynces for al maner of rulers, be they temporal or spiritual (as they cal thē) whiche after the outward apperaunce of this world seme most sage & wyse. Soch withstode him & spake agaynst hym.

c* The waie of trueth is the life ỹ is ordered after the worde of trueth, which is cōtained in the scripture. Therin sayth Dauid that he hathe walked: & not in fayned tradicions & holynes ymagined by him selfe, or by any mortal man. In the same signification vseth S. Peter this word. ii. Pet. ii. at her shalbe false teachers &c. by which ỹ waye of trueth shalbe euel spoken of & c. d* He desyreth to haue an other vnderstanding then that whiche is but manly, which is ignorant of god and of his wil, power, mercy and angerye thought it were neuer so well C instruct and taught yet wolde it never vnderstāde of it self, wout ỹ spirite of god, ỹ god is mercyful & rightwes & forgeueth sinnes freely wout any deseruinges. Psal. cxii. b.

e* The worde of god is called a lanterne and light because that without it, al that ther is, is darckenes: & because that he which folowethit, cannot fall in to any errour, as it is sayd. ii. Pe. i. d. we haue also &c.

f* To haue his soul in his hand, is, to be apointed and ready to offer his life to daunger: as ye haue in Job. xiii e wher it is expounded more at large,

g* What is signifyed by cryinge, ye haue in the Psalme. xv. a.

h* Of the prynces is said aboue in the Psalme. c

i* That is, oft tymes,

the

¶ The.cxx. Psalme.

¶ An affectuous complaynte of ỹ prophet, beinge dziuē out of the lande, & abydyng amōg the wicked that dyd al thinges by fraude and violence.

⁂‡ The songe of the steares.

⁂‡ In Hebr. Maheloth. Abr. Ezra thinketh it to be the beginning of some songe, after whose tune the Psalmes that haue this tytle were song. Other expound it to signifie in a highe place. Some there be which say, ỹ the Leuites sang al these Psalmes in Dauids house, vpon the steares which went frō ỹ chambre where the men assembled, to the chamber where the Women commenly abode.

A WHen I am in trouble I cal vpon the Lord, and he answereth me.

Deliuer my soule, O lord, from lyeng lippes and frō a deceatfull tonge.

What reward shalbe geuen or don vnto the, thou false tonge.

Euen myghty and sharpe arowes, with hot & burning a* coales.

Woo is me that my bantchment endureth so longe: I dwel in thy tabernacles of the sorowful.

My soule hath long dwelt among them that be enemyes vnto peace.

I labour for peace, but whē I spake therof, they made them to battayle.

The Notes

a* Coales, what they sygnifi, loke ỹ Psal. xviii. b

The.cxxi. Psalme.

¶ He sheweth that ỹ glory must loke for their help of god only that he geueth it very redely.

The song of the steares.

A I Lyft vp mine eyes vnto the a* hilles, frō whence cōmeth my helpe.

My helpe commeth euen from the lorde which hath made heauen and earthe.

He wyl not suffer thy fote to be moued, and he that kepeth the slepeth not ⁂ Beholde, he ỹ kepeth Israel, doth nether slomber nor slepe.

The lorde hym selfe is thy keper the lord is thy defence vpō the right hand

So that the sunne shal not burne ỹ by day, nether the moone by night.

The lorde preserueth the from all euel, yee it is ỹ lorde ỹ keape thy soule: The lorde preserueth thy goynge out and thy comminge in from thys tyme forth for euermore.

The notes.

a* Hylles for heanen.

The.cxxii. Psalme.

¶ Under the shadow and fyguze of Jerusalē he describeth the felicyte of the cōgregacion of Christe, the delizes of the saintes, wyshing euez the furtherance of it.

The songe of the steares.

A I Was glad, when they saide vnto me: we wyll go into the house of the Lorde.

Oure fete shall stande in thy gates, O Jerusalem.

Jerusalem is buylded as a cytye, ỹ is at vnytte in it selfe.

For there the tribes go vp, euen the tribes of the Lorde: to testefy vnto Israel, to geue thanckes vnto the name of the Lorde.

For there is thy seate of iudgment, euen the seate of the house of Dauid.

B O praye for the peace of Jerusalem, they shal prosper that loue the:

Peace be win thy walles, & plentcousnes within thy palaces.

For my brethren and companions sakes, I wyll wysh the prosperite.

Yee because of the house of the lord our god, I wyl seke to do the good.

The.cxxiii. Psalme.

¶ The godly subdued to the wicked, do affectuosly desyre god to delyuer thē, for vnto him they wholy commyt them selues.

The songe of the steares.

A VNto the lyft I vp myne a* eyes, thou that dwellest in ỹ heauens

Beholde, euē as the eyes of seruaūtes loke vnto the hands of their masters: & as the eyes of a mayden vnto the handes of their mastresse euenso oure eyes waite vpon the lord our god vntyll he haue mercy vpon vs.

Haue mercy vpō vs, O lord, haue mercy vpon vs, for we are vtterly despised

Oure soule is filled with the scornful reproke of the welthy, and with the despitefulnesse of the proude.

The notes.

a* By the eye do the Hebrues almost cōtinually vnderstand ỹ hert & minde, as before in the Psal. cxxi. a. & in many other places.

The.cxxiii. Psalme.

¶ The godly reioyce that they are ridde, by ỹ help of god frō a Jeopardi whereunto they were vexed.

⁂ The songe of the steares.

⁂ Of this spokē before in the tytle of ỹ cxx. Psalm.

A IF the lorde had not bene of oure syde (now maye Israel say) If the Lorde had not bene of oure syde when men rose agaynst vs.

Thei had swalowed vs vpquicke, whē they wer so wrathfuly displeased at vs

Yee the waters had drowned vs, ỹ strame had gone ouer oure soule.

The depe waters/of the proud had gone euen vnto our soule.
But praysed be ỹ lord, which hathnot
geuē vs ouer for a prai vnto theirteth:
Our soule is escaped, euē as a bird out of the snare of the fouler: the snare is broken and we are delyuered.
Our helpe standeth in the name of ỹ lord, which hath made heauen & earth.

The.cxxv.Psalme.

¶ The church or congregacion is in safytie when the Lord defēdeth it and shal be prosperous whē he fauoreth it, and purgeth the wicked ther out.

The songe of the steare.

They that put their trust in ỹ lord,
A are euen as the mount of Sion, which maye not be remoued, but stādeth fast for euer.
The hylles stand aboute Jerusalem euen so standeth the lorde rounde about his people, from this tyme forth for euer more.
That the rodd of the vngodly com not into ỹ lot of ỹ ryghtuous, leste the rightuous put their hande vnto wickednes.
Do wel, O lord vnto those that be good and *true of hert.
As for such as turne backe vnto their owne wyckēdnes, ỹ lord shal lede them forth wyth the euell doars but peace be upon Israel.

* What is signified by the true of hert, is sayd before in the.lxiiii.Psalme.

¶ The cxxvi.Psalme.

¶ He describeth the gladnes of the peple returnig againe from Babilon, & vnder the figure her of the reioysing of the Christen, whom the sunne of God hath made fre from the captiue of synne and death.

The song of the steares.

A When the Lord turneth againe ỹ captiue of Sion then shal we be lyke vnto them that dreame.
Then shal our mouth be filled with laughter, and our tong with ioye.
Then shal it be saide amonge the Heathē the lord hath don greate thin geas for them.
Yee the lord hath done greate thin ges for vs al ready, wherof we reioyce Turne oure captiuite, O lord, as the ryuers in the south.
They ỹ sow i teares, shal reape i ioye.
He that now goeth in his way weepyng and beareth forth good sede, shal come agayne with ioye and bring his sheaues with him.

The.cxxvii Psalme.

☞ By the onely lyberalyte & gyfte of God ys the house and household geuē ỹ citie defended, meat ministred, chyldern & those towards thzyfty obtayned

*The songe of the steares.

*Of this ye haue before in the tytle of the.cxx.psal

Except the lord de buylde the house
A They labour is but loste that buil de it.
Excepte the Lorde kepe the cytie, the watchman waketh but in vane.
It is but lost labour that ye ryse vp early, & take no rest, but eate the breade of carefulnesse: for loke to whomit pleaseth him, he geueth it in slepe.
Lo, childeren and the frut of thy womb are an heritage and gyfte, ỹ commethe of the Lorde.
Lyke as the Arrowes in the hande of the Gyaunte, euen so are the young chylderen.
Happy is the manne that hath hys quyuer full of them: they shall not be ashamed, when they speake wyth they enemyes in the gate.

The notes

g *That is, fylled wyth thy welth and prosperiete.

The.cxxviii.Psalme.

¶ He that fearyth God shal do well and fortunately at all season.

The songe of the steares.

Blessed are all they, that feare the
A Lorde and walke in hys wayes:
For thou shalt eate ỹ labours of thyne owne handes: O well is the, happy art thou.
Thy wyfe shalbe as a frutefull vyne vppon the walles of thy houses.
Thy chyldern lyke the Olyue braū ches rounde about thy table.
Lo, thus shal the man be* blessed, that feareth the lorde.
The lorde shall so blesse thē oute of Sion that thou shalt se Jherusalem in prosperitie al thy lyfelonge.
Yea that thou shalt se the childers childeren, and peace vpon Israell.

¶ The.cxxix. Psalme.

¶ Although the wicked do longe and greatly persecuted the Godlye. yet shal they not preuayle ouer thē: yea they shal. ate the length perishe when the godly shall be in safetie.

The songe of the steares.

Many a time haue they fought a-
A gaynst me fro my youth vp (mat Israell now saye.)
Ye, many a tyme haue they fought agaynste me from my youth vppe, but they they haue not ouercome me.

The plowers plowed vp o my backe, and made longe forowes.

But the righteous lorde hath hewen the yocke of the vngodlye in peces.

Let them be confounded & turned backward, as many as haue euil will at[a]*Sion.

Let them be euen as the haye vpon the houſe toppes, whiche wythered afore it be plucked vp,

Wherof the mower fylleth not his hande, nether he that byndethe vp the ſheaues, hys boſome.

So y they which go by, ſaye not ſo moch as: y Lord proſpere you, we wiſh you good luck in the name of the lord,

The Notes

a*Sion in the ſcripture ſignifieth the whole churche congregacio of god, & euery faithful ſoule that hath his whol intēt, affeccio & deſire toward God.

The.cxxx.Pſalme.

¶ An earneſt prayer of hym that is oppreſſed with aduerſytie for his ſinnes, & that ſurely hopeth to optayne of god, both forgeuenes of hys ſinnes, & deliueraunce from his aduerſytyes.

The ſonge of the ſteares.

A Out of the[a]* depe cal I vnto the, O Lord, Lord heare my voyce.

O let thyn eares conſyder well the voyce of my complaynte.

If thou lord wylt be extreme to marcke what is done amiſſe, Oh lord who may abyde it?

But ther is mercy with the, that thou mayeſt be feared,

I loke for the lord, my ſoule doth waite for him, and in his worde is my truſt:

My ſoule doth pacyently abide y lord, frome the one morowynge to the other.

Let Iſrael truſt in the lord, for with the lorde ther is mercy & plenteous redempcyon:

And he ſhal redeme Iſrael from al hys ſynnes.

The Notes

a*By the dede vnderſtand the aduerſite wherin y people of Iſrael where when they were ſcatered among y Chaldees. Vnto vs Chriſten it ſignifyeth y aduerſity, trouble miſery & which happeneth vs for our offences & ſynnes.

¶ The.cxxxi.Pſalme.

He ſheweth y he was noe proud, but meake & lowly.

The ſonge of the ſteares.

A Lord, I am not hye mynded, I haue no proude lokes.

I do not encreaſe my ſelfe in great matters, which are to hye for me

But I refrayne my ſoule and kepe it lowe, lyke as a chyld that is weened from his mother: yee my ſoule is euen as a weened childe.

Let Iſraell truſt in the lord, from this time forth for euermore.

The.cxxxii.Pſalme.

¶ He ſheweth that the proſperiti of Chriſtes kyngdome dureth euer, & that god is alway preſent with his churche and congregation: This doth he vnder the figure of Dauid & of the arcke abyding in Sio.

The ſonge of the ſteares.

A Lord remembre Dauid & all hys trouble.

How he ſwore vnto the lorde, and vowed a vowe vnto the almighty one of Jacob: I wyl not come within the tabernacle of my houſe, nor clyme vp in my bedde.

I wyll not ſuffre myne eyes to ſleape, nor myne eyelidde to ſlomber.

Untyll I finde oute a place for the lorde, an habitacion for the mightie one of Jacob.

Lo, we herd of the ſame at Ephrata, and founde it in the wood.

We wyll go into hys tabernacle, & fall downe before his fote ſtole.

Aryſe, O lord, vnto thy[a]* reſting place, thou and the arke of thy ſtrength. B

Let thy preaſtes be clothed w righteouſneſſe, & let thy ſayncte reioyſe.

For thy ſeruaunt Dauids ſake, [b]* turne not away the preſence of thine anoynted.

The lord hath made a ſaythful ooth vnto Dauid, & he ſhall not ſhrynke frō it: Of the frute of thy body ſhall I ſet vpon the ſeate.

If thy chyldre wyl kepe my couenaūt, and my teſtimony y I ſhal lerne them C their chyldren alſo ſyt vpon thy ſeate for euermore.

For the lord hath choſen Sion, to be an habytacyon for hym ſelfe hathe he choſen her.

This ſhalbe my reſt, here wyl I dwel, for I haue a delyte therin.

I wyll bleſſe her vytalles with increaſe, and wyl ſatyſfye her poore with breed: I wil decke her Preaſtes with health, & her ſaincte ſhall reioyſe & be glad.

There ſhall I make the[c]* horne of Dauid to flouriſh, I haue ordened a lā terne for myne anoynted.

As for hys enemyes, I shall clothe them wyth shame, but vpon hym selfe shal his crowne flory sche.

The notes.

a*His restynge place was the mercy seate, as before in the Psal.xcix.b

b*Turne not awaye the presence.&c. that is, forsake not or disdaine not the presence of thine anoynted c*Hys power, as in ỹ Psalme.xviii.

¶ The cxxxiii. Psalme.

¶ He prayeth the vnyte & concord of brethren.

The songe of the steares.

of Dauid.

a BEholde, howe good and ioyfull a thing it is, brethren to dwel together in vnitye.

It is lyke the precyous a*oyntemẽt vpon the heade, that ranne downe vnto the berd: euen vnto Aarons beerd, & went downe to the skyrtes of his clothynge.

Like the dewe of Hermon, which fel vpon the hyl of Sion.

For there the lord promysed hys blessyng, and lyfe for euermore.

a*Of this ointment is spoken Exod xxx.c

¶ The.cxxxiiii. Psalme.

¶ He exhorteth to praye and prayse God: yee & that also in the nyght.

The songe of the steares.

a BEhold, O praise the lord, al ye seruauntes of ỹ lord, yee ỹ bynyght stande in the house of the lorde.

O lyft vp your handes in the Sanctuary, and prayse the lorde.

The lord that made heauen and earth bl esse the out of Sion.

¶ The.cxxxv. Psalme.

¶ He mouethmẽ to the prayse of god and declareth hys power by his workes, as wel by those whiche he euery where goeth, as by those wherwith he peculyarly.auaunced Israel.

Prayse the euerlasting.

a *PRaise ỹ name of ỹ lord, praise it O ye seruauntes of the lord.

*Psal: cxiii & cxxxiii i.a.

Ye that stand in the house of the lord, in the churtes of the house of our God.

O prayse the lord, for the lord is gracyous: O syng prayses vnto his name for, it is louely.

For why the lord hath chosen a*Jacob vnto hym selfe, and Israel for hys owne possession.

For I know that ỹ lord is greate, and ỹ our lord is aboue al goddes.

b Whatsoeuer the lord pleaseth that doth he in heauen and in earth, in the see, and in al depe places.

He bryngeth forth the cloudes frõ the endes of ỹ world, he turneth ỹ lightenynges vnto rayne, bryngyng ỹ windes out of their treasures.

*Which smote the first borne of Egypte, both of man and beast.

*Exo.xii.c. Exo vii: viii ix, and.x, Psal, lxxviii, &c

He hath sent tokens and wonders into ỹ middest of the, O thou lande of Egipt, vpõ Pharao & al his seruauntes.

Which smote diuers nacions, and slewe myghty kynges.

*Sehon kynge of the Amorytes, Og the kynge of Basan, and all the kyngdomes of Canaan.

*Nu.xx.c.s Deute. iii: a

*Josu.xii.c

*And geue their lande for an heritage, for an heritage vnto Israell his people.

Thy name, O Lord, endureth for euer, so doth thy memorial, O Lord frõ one generacion to another.

For the lord wyll aueng his people and be gracyous vnto his seruauntes.

*As for the ymages of the Heathen they are but syluer and golde, the worcke of mens handes.

*Psa, cxiiii Sapi.xv.d.s Baruch. vi.

They haue mouthes, and speake not: eyes haue they but they, se nat.

They haue eares, and yet they here not, nether is there any breth in their mouthes.

They that make them, are lyke vnto them, & so are al they that put their trust in them.

Prayse ỹ Lord ye house of Israel, prayse the lord ye house of Aaron.

Prayse the lord ye house of Leui, ye ỹ feare the lord, prayse the lorde.

Praysed be the Lord out of Sion, which dwelleth at Jerusalem. Prayse the euerlasting.

The Notes

a*What is vnderstande by Jacob and Israel is shewed in the Psal.xiiii.b.s.xx.a.

The.cxxxvi. Psalme.

¶ To thyntent to styr men to the prayse of god he reherceth the myracles of the creacyon, & also those which he after dyd in the reuengyng of Israel.

A *GEue thanckes vnto the lorde, for he is gracous, and his mercy endureth for euer.

*Jud.xiii.c Psal cvi.a. & cvi.a.

O geue thanckes vnto the God of al goddes for his merci ẽdureth for euer:

O thancke the lord of al lordes for his mercy endureth for euer.

which

Which only doth greate wonders, for hys mercy endureth for euer.
Which by his wysdome made the he auēs, for his mercy endureth for euer.
Which laied out the earth aboue ẏ waters, for his merci ēdureth for euer.
Which hath made greate lyghtes, for his mercy enduoeth for euer.
The suune to rule the daye, for his mercy endureth for euer.
The moone & ẏ starres to gouerne ẏ
B nyght, for his merci endureth for euer.
*Exo.xii.c *Which smote Egipt w their fyrſt borne, for his mercy endureth for euer.
And brought out Israel frō amōg them, for his mercy endureth for euer.
With a myghty hand & stretched out arme, for his mercy endureth for euer.
Which deuyded the reed see in to par tes, for his mercy endueth for euer.
*Exo.xiiii. *And made Israel to go thorow ẏmyd dest of it, for his mercy ēdureth for euer,
But as for Pharao and his hoost, he ouer threwe them in the reed see, for his mercy endureth for euer.
*Which led his people thorow ẏ wil
*Ge,xv xvi xvii. dernes: for his mercy ēdureth for euer.
C *Which smote grete kynges, for his
*Josue.xii.a mercy endureth for euer.
Yee, and slue myghtye kynges for hys mercy endureth for euer.
*Sehon King of the Amorytes, for *Numeric &Deu,iii.a his mercy endureth for euer.
And Og the kinge of of Basā, for his mercy endureth for euer.
And gaue awaye their lande for an heritag, for his mercy ēdureth for euer.
Euē for an heritag vnto Israel his ser uaunt, for his mercy ēdureth for euer.
Which remembreth vs, whē we ar in troble, for his mercy endureth for euer.
*Psal.cxlvi. *Which geueth fode vnto al flesh, for his mercy endureth for euer.
O geue thanckes vnto the God of heuē, for his mercy endureth for euer.

C The.cxxxvii.Psalme.

C The Babylonyans required of Israel cōges, but they perpetually bewailed ẏ destrucciō of Jerusalē.

A BY the waters of Babylon we sat downe and weapte, when we re= membred Sion.
As for our harpes we hanged thē vp vpon the trees, that are therin.
Then they that led vs awaye cap= tyue, requyred of vs a songe and Me= lody in our heuynes: syng vs one of ẏ songes of Sion.
How shal we sing the lordes sōge in a straunge lande?
If I forget the, O Jerusalē, let mi
B right hande be forgotten.
If I do not remēbre ẏ, let my tong cleaue to ẏ rofe of my mouth: ye yf I preferre not Jerusalem in my myrth.
Remembre the chyldren of Edom, O lord, in the daye of Jerusalē. how they saide: downe with it, downe withit: euē to the grounde.
a*O daughter of Babilō, ẏ shalt cōe to misery thy selfe: yee, happy shall he be, ẏ rewardeth ẏ as ẏ haste serued vs.
*Blessed shal he be, ẏ taketh thy chil
drē, & throweth thē agaynst ẏ stones. *Esa.xiii.c

The Notes
a*Daughter of babilō for cityt people of babilō.

The.cxxxviii.Psalme.

C The prayseth the goodnes of God towarne hym, which hath delyuered him forth of al Jeopardyes, & promoted him vnto the dygnite of a Kinge.

Of Dauid.

I Will geue thākes vnto ẏ, O lord,
A w my whole hert, euē before ẏ god des, wil I singe prayses vnto the.
I wyl worshyp toward thy holy tē= ple, and prayse thy name, because of thy louynge kyndnesse and trueth, for thou hast magnified thy worde accor= dinge vnto thy great name.
When I cal vpon ẏ, ẏ hearest me, &
endewed my soule w much strength.
All the kinges of ẏ earth shal prayse the, O Lord, when they heare the wor des of thy mouth.
Yee they shal synge in the wayes of
B ẏ lord, ẏ greate is ẏ glory of ẏ lode.
For though ẏ lorde be hye, yet hath he respect vnto ẏ lowly: as for ẏ proud, he beholdeth him a farre of.
Though I walke in the myddest of trouble, yet shalt thou refresh me, ẏ shalt stretch forth thyne hand vpon the furyousnes of myne enemyes, and thy ryght hande shal saue me.
The lord shal make good for me, ye thy mercy, O lord, ēdureth for euer: despise not then ẏ worke of thine owne hāndes.

C The cxxxix.Psalme.

C Ye sheweth that al thinges are euident & opē vn to god which made him: & that he is euery where, & seyth al thinges.

b Of Dauid Psal cxxix & cxl

a* To ỹ chaunter, a Psalm of Dauid.
a* Loke the tytle of the iiii. Psalme.

A O Lord, thou searchest me out, and knowest me.

Thou knowest my downe sitting and myne vprising, thou vnderstandest my thoughtes a farre of.

Thou art about my path & aboute my bedd, & spyest out al my wayes.

For lo, there is not a word i my tõge, but ỹ, O Lord knowest it alto gether.

Thou hast factioned me behind & before, and layed thine hande vpon me.

Such knowledge is to wonderfull and excellent for me, I can not attaine vnto it.

B Whether shall I go then from thy spirite? or whyther shall I go then frõ thy presence?

If I clime vp into heauẽ, ỹ art there: yf I go downe to hel, ỹ art there also.

If I take the wynges of the morninge, and remayne in the vttermoste parte of the see:

Euen there also shal thy hand leade me, and thy righte hande shal hold me.

If I saye: peraduenture the darcknesse shal couer me, then shal my night be turned to daye.

C Yee ỹ darcknesse is no darcknes wt ỹ, but the night is as cleare as ỹ daye, ỹ darcknesse & lyght are both a lyke.

For my reynes are thine, thou hast couered me in my mothers wombe.

I wyll geue thankes vnto the, for I am wõderously made: maruelous are thy worckes, and that my soule knoweth right well.

My bones are not hyd from the, though I be made secretely, and facyoned beneth in the earth.

Thyne eyes se myne vnperfectnes, they stande al written in the boke: my dayes were fashioned, whẽ as yet there was not one of them.

How deare are thy councels vnto
D me O God: O how greate is the sume of them.

If I tel them they are mo in nomber then the sande: when I wake vp, I am present with thee.

Wylt thou not slaye the wycked (Oh god) that the bloudthirsty might departe fro me.

I gate from o lorde that holy ... [illegible]

For they speake vnright of ỹ, thine enemies exalt thẽselues presumptuously.

I hate them, O Lord, that hate the: and I maye not awaye with those that ryse vp agaynst the.

Ye I hate them right sore, therfore are they mine enemyes.

Trye me, O God, and seke the grounde of myne herte: proue me, and examen my thoughtes.

Loke well yf there be any waye of wickednesse in me, b* and leade me in ỹ waye euerlasting.

The notes.

b* Some reade: then leade me by the waye of the world, that is destroye me.

The .cxl. Psalme.

He desireth to be delyuered from the dysceates & lyes of Doeg, and his companyons.

a* To ỹ chaunter a Psalme of Dauid.
a* Loke the title of the iiii. Psalme.

D Elyuer me, O Lord, frõ ỹ euell men, Oh preserue me from the wicked men.

Which ymagyn mysche= I eke in their hartes, and stir vp stryfe al the daye longe.

Thei sharpẽ their tonges like a serpẽt: adders poyson is vnder their lyppes. Selah.

Kepe me, O Lord, from the hande of the vngodly: preserue me from the wicked men, whych are purposed to ouer throwe my goinges.

The proud haue layed a snare for me: & spred a net abrode wt cordes, yee and set trappes in my waye. b* Selah.

B But my saying is vnto the Lord: ỹ art my God, heare the voyce of my prayer O Lorde.

O Lorde God, thou strength of my health, thou hast couered my head in ỹ daye of battayle.

Let not the vngodly haue his desire, O lord, let hym not haue hys purpose, lest they be to proude. Selah.

Let the mysches of their owne lippes fal vpon the head of them, that cõpase me about.

Let hote burning c* coales fal vpõ them, let them be cast in to the fyre, & in to the pyt, ỹ they neuer rise vp agayne.

A man ful of wordes shal not prosper vpon the earth: a malycyous and wycked person shalbe hunted awaye, and destroyed.

Sure

Sure I am, that the Lord wyl auẽge the poore, and maynteyne the cause of the helpleſſe.

The ryghtuous also ſhal geue thãkes vnto thy name, and the iuſte ſhall contynue in thy ſight.

The notes.

b *Loke the Pſalme iii.a c *Coles: here of is ſayd in the Pſalme. xviii.b

¶ The cxli. Pſalme.

¶ Fyrſt he prayeth for the ſpyrite wherwith he may preferre the ſharp frendſhip of the ſayncles before the proſperite of ỹ wicked: and after that, for worthy auẽgement of his enemies * for his delyuraũce.

A Pſalme of Dauid.

LOrd, I cal vpon the: haſte the vnto me, and conſider my voice, whẽ I crye vnto the.

Let my prayer be ſet forth i thy ſight as the incenſe, and let the lifting vp of my handes be an euenting ſacrifyce.

Set a watch, O lord, before my mouth, yee a watche at the doore of my lyppes.

O let not myne hert be enclined to any euel thing, to beminded as the vngodli or wicked men, leſt I eate of ſuch thinges as pleaſe them.

Let the righteous rather ſmite me frendely, and reproue me ſo wil I take it, as though he had poured oyle vpõ my head: it ſhal not hurt my heade, yee I wyl praye yet for their wickednelle.

Their iudges ſtomble at ỹ ſton, yet heare they my wordes, that they be ioyfull.

Our bones lye ſcatterered before ỹ pyt, likẽ as when one graueth and digeth vp the grounde.

But myne eyes loke vnto the, O Lord God in the is my truſt, O caſt not out my ſoule.

Kepe me from the ſnare which they haue layed for me, and from the trappes of the wycked doers.

Let ỹ vngodly fal into their owne nettes together vntil I be gon by thẽ.

The. cxlii. Pſalme

Dyd whẽ he prayed vnto the Lord when he fled frõ Saul in to the caue, & thought that he ſhuld there haue bene taken.

The inſtruccion of Dauid, a prayer wehn he was in the caue.

a * I Crye vnto the Lorde wyth my voyce, yee euen vnto the lorde do I make my ſupplycation.

I poure out my complaynt before him, and ſhewe him of my trouble.

Whẽ my ſpyrit is in heuynes, for ỹ knoweſt my path: ỹ wate wherin I walke haue they preuely laped a ſnare for me.

I loke vpon my right hand, and ſe: there is no man that wyl knowe me. b

I haue no place to fle vnto, no man careth for my ſoule.

Therfore do I cry vnto the, O lord and ſaye: thou art my hope & my porcyon in the b *land of the lyuyng.

Conſidre my complaynte, for I am brought very lowe.

O delyuer me fro my perſecuters, for they are to ſtrong for me.

Bring my ſoule out of preſon ỹ, I may geue thãkes vnto thi name: which thig if ỹ wilte graũt me, thẽ ſhal the righteous reſort vnto mi companye. *Cla.xiii.c

The Notes

a *Of this ye haue in ỹ Pſa. xv. Ex. xiiii, d & i. Reg vii. b. b *Here it is manyfeſt, that the land of the lyuyng ſignifieth ỹ eſtate of the ſainctes * Chryſtẽ, which yet remaine in this life as aboue in ỹ Pſal. xxvii, d

¶ The. cxliii. Pſalme.

¶ This Pſalme & the Pſalme next before are both of one tenour, & made both of one thinge.

A Pſalme of Dauid.

HEare my prayer, O Lord, conſydre my deſyre, anſwere me for thy treuthe & righteouſnes ſake. A

And entre not into iudgement with thy ſeruaunt, for in thy ſyght ſhall no manlyuynge be iuſtyfyed.

For the enemye perſecuteth my ſoule, he ſmyteth my lyfe downe to the grõd he laith me in the darckenes, as ỹ deed, men of the worlde.

Therfore is my ſprete vexed within me, and my hert within me is deſolate.

Yet do I remembre the tymes paſt, I muſe vpon al thy workes, ye I exercyſe my ſelf in the works of thy hãdes.

I ſtretche forth myne handes vnto the my ſoule cryeth vnto the out of the thyrſtye land. Selah.

Heare me, O Lord, & that ſoone, for my ſprete wareth faynte: hyde not thy face fro me, leſt I be lyke vnto them ỹ go downe into the graue.

O let me heare thy louynge kindneſſe by times in the a morning, for in the O let me heare thy louynge kyndnesse by tymes in the a morning, for in ỹ is my trust: shew ỹ me the way ỹ I shuld walke in, for I lift vp my soul vnto ỹ.

Delyuer me, O Lord, fro mine enemyes, for I resorte vnto the.

Teache me to do the thing that pleaseth the, for thou art my god: let thy louing spirete leade me forth vnto ỹ lande of tyghtuousnes.

Quycke me, O Lord, for thy names sake, and for thy tyghtuousnesse sake bynge my soule out of trouble.

And of thy goodnesse scater mine enemyes abroade, & destroye al men that vexe my soule, for I am thy seruaũt.

The Notes.

a* Of this loke the Psalme. vi. a.

The. cxliiii. Psalme.

The prayseth and thanketh God, because he had delyuered hym from all Jeopardyes and persuing of his enemyes, and promoted him to be a kyng, & also made his kyngdome to florishe with aboundaunce of all thynges.

Of Dauid.

A BLessed be the lord my refuge, which teacheth my handes to warre, and my fyngers to fight.

My hope and my castell, my defence and my delyuerer, my shylde in whom I trust, which gouerneth the people ỹ is vnder me.

*Lorde what is man, that thou hast soch respect vnto him? Or the sonne of man, that thou so regardest him?

*Psal. ix. a Man is like a thing of naught, his tyme passeth awaye lyke a shadowe.

Bowe thy heauens, O Lord, & a* come downe touche the mountaynes, that they may smoke withall.

Sende forth the lyghtenyng & scater thẽ, shute out thyne b* arowes and consume them.

B Sende downe thyne hande from aboue, delyuer me, and take me out of the greate waters, from the hand of straunge chyldren.

Whose mouth talketh of vanite, & their right hãd is a right hãd of falsed.

That I may synge a new songe vnto the, O god, and synge prayses vnto ỹ vppon a tenstrynged lute.

Thou that geuest victory vnto kinges & hast delyured Dauid thy seruaũt fro the parel of the swerde.

C Saue me, & delyuer me from the hande of straunge chyldren, whose mouth talketh of vanite, and their right hand is a right hande of falsede.

That oure sonnes maye growe vp as the yõg plantes, & that our daughters may be as the polyshed corners of the temple.

That oure garners may be full and plenteous w al maner of store: ỹ our shepe may bringe forth thousandes & hundreth thousandes in our villages.

That our oxẽ may be strõg to labour, that ther be no mischaũce, no decay, & no complaynynge in our stretes.

Happy are the people that be in soch a case: yee blessed are the people, which haue the lorde for their God.

a* What is signifyed by the cõming downe of the Lorde, is sayd Gene. xi. a, b* Of these arowes is spoken Job. vi. a.

c* Of straũge children ye haue Psal. xviii. g: Albeit somme thinke, that straunge children signifye all straung nations, that is, al nacions beside the Jewes themselues.

The. cxlb. Psalme

The goodnes of god is so aboũdauntly geuen vnto al men, that al thynges praise it: chefely the godly, which are largelyest indued therwith.

A prayse of Dauid.

I Wyll magnifye the, O God my kynge, I wyll prayse thy name for euer and euer. A Euery day wyl I gene thankes vnto the, & prayse thy name for euer and euer.

Greate is the Lord, & marueloous worthy to be praised, ther is no ende of his greatnesse.

One generacio shal prayse thy workes vnto another, and declare thy power.

As for me I wylbe talkinge of thy worshyp, thy glory, thy prayse, and wõderous workes.

So that mẽ shal speake of the might of thy marueloous actes, & tell of thy greatnesse.

The memorial of thine aboũdante kyndnes shalbe shewed, & mẽ shal sing of thy tyghteousnesnesse, B

The Lorde is gracyous & mercyful, lõg suffering, and of great goodnesse.

The Lorde is louyng vnto euery mã, & his mercy is ouer all hys workes.

Al thy workes prayse the, O lord, and thy saynctes geue thankes vnto the.

They shewe the glory of thy kyngdome, & talke of thy power

that

That thy power, thy glory & mygh-tinesse of the kigdome myght be know ne vnto men.

Thy kyngdome is an euerlasting kyngdome, and thy dominō endureth thorow out al ages.

The Lorde vpholdeth al soche as shulde fail and lyfteth vp al those ỹ be doune.

The eyes of all wayte vpon the, and ỹ geuest them their meate in due season.

D Thou openest thyne hande, and fyl lest al thynges lyuyng w̄ plenteousnes

The Lorde is righteous in al his wayes, and holy in al hys woorckes.

The Lorde is nye vnto them that cal vpon hym, yee al soche as cal vpō him faithfully.

He fulfylleth the desyre of them that feare him, he heareth their crie, and hel peth them.

The Lorde preserueth al thē ỹ loue hi, but scatereth abrode al ỹ vngodlye.

My mouth shall speake the prayse of the Lord, and let al flesh thākes vn to his holy name for euer and euer.

Prayse the euerlastinge.

The .cxlvi. Chapter.

This in the Psalme next before so dothe he here, saning that he here peculiarly mouethfrom putting trust or confidence in men.

Prayse the euerlastynge.

A *Psal.ciiii. PRayse the Lord, O my soule: whyle
I lyue wyl I prayse the Lorde: ye as longe as I haue any beinge, I wyll synge prayses vnto my god.

*Psa.cxviii *O put not youre trust in Princes, nor in any chylde of mā, for there is no hel pe in them.

For when the breth of mā goeth forth, he shal turne agayne to his earth, and so all his thoughtes perysshe.

Blessed is he that hath the god of Ja cob for his helpe, *and whose hope is in the lorde hys God.

*Ac.xiiii.cx
Apoc.xiiii.b

Which made heauen and earth, ỹ see and al that therin is, which kepeth his promyse for euer.

Which helpeth thē to right ỹ suffer wronge, which fedeth the hongrye.

B The lord louseth men out of prison,
ỹ Lord geueth syght to the blynde.

The Lord helpethe thē vp that are fal len, the lorde loueth the ryghteous.

The lord careth for the straungers, he defendeth the fatherles and widdo we: as for the waye of the vngodly, he turneth it vpsyde down.

The lorde thy God, O syon, is kig for euermore, and thorowe oute all ge nerations.

Prayse the .euerlastynge.

The .cxlvii. Psalme.

He moueth all men to theprayse of god, cheakely
Israell and the cytesens of Jerusalem.

Prayse the euerlasting.

A DPrayse ỹ lorde, for it is a good thyng to syng prayses vnto our God: yee a ioyful and pleasaunt thynge is it to be thankful.

The Lorde shall buylde vp Jerusalem, and gather to gether the out castes of Israell.

He healeth the contrite in herte, and byndeth vp theyr woundes.

He telleth the noumbre of the star-res, and calleth thē al by theyr names.

Greate is our lorde and greate is hys power: yee hys wysdomme is infinite.

The lorde setteth vp the meke, and bryngeth the vngodlye downe to the grounde.

D synge vnto the Lorde wyth thā kesgeuinge, synge prayses vpon the ỹ B harpe vnto oure God.

Which coureth the heauen with cloudes prepareth rayne for the earth, *and maketh the grasse to growe vppon the mountaynes.

Which geueth fodre vnto the cattell, and fedeth the yonge rauens that call vpon hym.

He hath no pleasur in the strenght of an horse, neyther delyghteth he in any mans legges.

But the Lordes delyte is in them ỹ feare hym, and put theyr truste in hys mercy.

Prayse the lorde O, Jerusalē, pray se the God O Sion.

For he maketh fast the barres of ỹ gates, and blesseth the chylderen with in the.

He maketh peace in thy borders, and fylleth the with the floure of wheate.

He sendeth forthe hys commaunde mente vpon earth, hys worde runneth swyftelye.

He

He geueth snow lyke wolle, and scat tereth the hoze frost lyke ashes.

He casteth fozth his a* yse like moz sels, who is able to abyde his frost?

He sendeth out his wozd and mealteth them, he bloweth with his wynde, and the waters flowe.

He sheweth hys wozd vnto Jacob, his statuts & ozdinaũces vnto Israel.

He hath not dealt so with al ỹ Heathẽ, nether haue they knowledg of his lawes. Pzayse the euerlastinge.

The notes.

a* That is haile, whiche is no nother thynge then hzosed yse

The.cxlviii.Psalme.

He moueth al creatures to the pzayse of god, as wel heauenly as earthly: & therin warneth the saintes and godly to consyder the greate and meruelos power, wysdome and goodnes of god.

A Prayse the euerlastynge.

PZayse the Lozd of heauẽ, pzaise hym in the heygth.

Pzaye hym al ye angels of his, pzase hym al his hoost.

Pzayse hym Sunne and Moone, pzayse hym al ye starres and light.

Pzayse hym al ye heauens, and ye waters that be vnder the heauens.

Let them pzayse the name of the Lozde, fozhe commaunded, and they were made.

He hath made them fast fozeuer & euer, he hath geuen them a lawe whych shal not be bzoken.

Pzaise the lozd vpon earth, ye whal fyshes, and al depes.

B Fyre and hayle, snow and vapozs, wynd and stozme, fulfilling his wozd.

Mountaines and al hilles, fruitful trees and al Cedzes.

Beastes and catel, wozmes and federed foules.

Kynges of ỹ earth & al people, pzinces and al iudges of the wozlde.

Yonge men and maydens, olde mẽ and childzen: let them pzayse the name of ỹ lozd, fozhis name onlye is excelẽt & his pzayse aboue heauen and earth.

He a* exalteth ỹ hozne of his people, al hys sayntes shal pzaise him, the chyldzen of Israel, euen the people that serueth him.

Pzayse the euerlastige.

The notes.

a* What is meante herby is shewed in ỹ Psalme. cxxix.d

The.cxlix.Psalme.

He peculiarly moueth Israel to pzayse God, because he not onely had delyuered them from theire bondage but also had made them victozs and chastizers of the Gentyles and heythen.

Pzayse the euerlastinge. A

DSynge vnto the lozd a new sõge, let the congregation of sayntes pzayse him.

Let Israell retoyce in him that made hym and let the childeren of syon be toyfull in theyz kynge.

Let them Pzayse hys Name in the daunce, let them synge pzayses vnto hĩ with taberettes and harpes.

Foz the lozde hathe pleasure in hys people, and helpeth the meke harted.

B Let the saintes be toyfull with glory, let them retoyse in theyz beddes.

Let the pzayses of God be in theyz mouthe, and sharpe swerdes in theyze handes.

To be auenged of the Heithen, and to rebuke the people.

To bind theyz kinges in chaynes, and theyz nobles with linckes of yzon.

That they maye be auenged of thẽ, as it is wziten, suche honoure haue all hys saintes.

Pzayse the euerlasting.

The.cl.Psalme.

He moueth al men to pzayse God, & that most affectuously, not only with ỹ voyce but also with al kyndes of instrumentes: by which he signifieth gladnes of mind and holy conuersatiõ: oz (as som wil) the blessed ioyfulnes and great gladnes i ỹ pzaises of god which we shal haue in the lyfe to come.

Pzayse the euerlastinge. A

DPzayse the Lozd * in his sanctuary, pzayse him in the fyrmamẽt of his power.

Pzayse him in his noble actes, pzayse him in his excellent greatnes.

Pzayse him in the sound of his trompet, pzayse him vpon the lute & harpe.

Pzayse him in the cymbales and daunse, pzayse hym vpon the strynges & pype.

Pzaise him vpon the welltuned cymbales, pzayse him vpõ ỹ loud symales.

Let euerye thynge that hath bzeth pzayse the lozde.

Pzayse the euerlasting.

The Notes

* Oz: that is in the Sanctuary, oz holy place. So Hieom readeth pzayse the Lozde in hys holy on, meanyng Chzist.

The ende of the Psalter.

¶ The prayse of wisdome, We maye not herkē vn to the voluptuous prouocaciō & intyciges of sinners Wisdome complaineth her t obe despised of al mē and prophecieth destruccion vnto hez despyzers.

¶ The fyrst Chapter.

THe Prouerbes of Salomon
a ỹ sonne of Dauid kynge of Israel: to lerne wisdome a* instruccion, vnderstanding, prudence, ryghtuousnesse, iudgment & equite. That the very babes myght haue wyt, and that yonge men might haue knowledge and vnderstādynge. By hearynge, the wyse man shall come bymoze wysdom: and by expertēce he shalbe moze apt to vnderstād a parable, & the interpretacion therof, the wozdes of the wyse, and the darcke speaches of the same. The feare of ỹ Lozd is ỹ begynnynge of wysdome. -
But b* fooles despyse wysdome & instruccion. My sōne, heare thy fathers doctrine, & forsake not the lawe of the mother: foz that shall bzynge c* grace vnto thy heade, & shalbe acheine about thy necke. My sonne, consent not vn
B to sinners, yf they entyse the,, & say: co me with vs, let vs d* ley waite foz blou de, and lurcke pzyuely foz the innocēt without a cause: let vs swalow thē vp lyke the hell, let vs deuoure thē quicke & whole as those that go downe into ỹ pyt. So shall we fynde all maner of costely ryches, & fyll oure houses with spoyles. Cast in thy lot among vs, we shall haue all one purse.

My sonne, walcke not thou wythe thē, refraine thy fote from their waies. Foz their fete rūne to euel, & are hastie to shede bloude. But e* in vaine is the net layed foxth before the byzdes eyes:
¶ Yee they them selues leye wayte one foz another's bloud, & on of them wold slaye another: These are the wayes of all soche as be couetous, that one wold rauysshe another's lyfe.

Wisdome creth without, & putteth foxth her voyce in the stretes. She calleth before the congregacion in the open gates, & sheweth her wozdes tho zow the cytye sayinge: O ye chyldzen. how longe wyll ye loue chyldyshnesse how longe wyll the f* scozners delite in scozninge, and the vnwyse be ene-myes vnto knowledge. O turne you vnto my cozrection: lo, I wyll expzesse my minde vnto you & make you vnder stand my wozdes * Seing then that I haue called, & ye refused it: I haue stret ched out my hand, & no man regarded it, but al my councels haue ye despyzed and set my cozrecciōs at naught. Ther foze shall I also laugh in your destruc
D cion, & mocke you, when the thing that ye feare commeth vpon you: euen whē the thinge that ye be afrayed of, falleth in sodenly lyke a storme, & your myserye lyke a tempest: yee whē trouble & heuy nesse commeth vpon you. Then shall they cal vpon me, but I will not heare they shall seke me early, but they shall not finde me: And ỹ because they hated knowledg, & receaued not the feare of ỹ lozde but abhozred me my councell, & despised my cozreccon. Therfoze shall they eate ỹ frutes of their owne waye, & be fylled w̄ their owne coūcels. foz ỹ turnig awaye of ỹ vnwise shal sley thē & ỹ pzosperite of foles shalbe their owne destrucciō. But who so herkeneth vn to me, shal dwel safely, & haue ynough wout any feare of euyll.

The Notes.

a* Instruccion is that which the scoler lerneth vn der his maister, whether it be knowledg oz maners.
b* What cōmēly foole signifieth in ỹ Pzouerbes loke after in the .xii. Chap. b.
c* Grace foz crowne.
d* Of this in, Mith. vii. a.
e* In vayne is net layed. &c. That is, it is a vayne thing to lay in wayte foz them whom god defēdeth syth the liars, in waite shal rather perish then they.
f* How and in what significacyon scoznes are ta kne ī the Pzouerbes, is after shewed in the .ix. d

¶ Wysdome is to be embzaced & set by. An aduou tezous woman is to be eschued.

The .ii. Chapter.

MY sonne, yf thou wylt receaue my wozdes, & kepe mi cō maundemētes by ỹ, ỹ thyne eare maye herkē vnto wys-
A dome applye thyne a* herte then to vn-derstandynge. Foz yf thou cryest af-ter wysdome, & callest foz knowledge: yf thou sekest after her as after mo-ney, & dyggest foz her as foz a trea-sure: then shalte thou vnderstande the feare of the Lozde, and fynde the know ledge of God. Foz it is the Lozde ỹ geueth wysdome, oute of his mouth cō meth knowledge & vndestrandynge.

He

¶ The prayse of wisdome, We maye not herkē vn to the voluptuous prouocaciō & intyciges of sinners Wisdome complaineth her t obe despised of al mē and prophecieth destruccion vnto hez despyzers.

¶ The fyrst Chapter.

THe Prouerbes of Salomon
a ỹ sonne of Dauid kynge of Israel: to lerne wisdome a* instruccion, vnderstanding, prudence, ryghtuousnesse, iudg-
ment & equite. That the very babes myght haue wyt, and that yonge men might haue knowledge and vnderstādynge. By hearynge, the wyse man shall come bymoze wysdom: and by expertēce he shalbe moze apt to vnderstād a parable, & the interpretacion therof, the wozdes of the wyse, and the darcke speaches of the same. The feare of ỹ Lozd is ỹ begynnynge of wysdome. -
But b* fooles despyse wysdome & instruccion. My sōne, heare thy fathers doctrine, & forsake not the lawe of the mother: foz that shall bzynge c* grace vnto thy heade, & shalbe acheine about thy necke. My sonne, consent not vn
B to sinners, yf they entyse the,, & say: co me with vs, let vs d* ley waite foz blou de, and lurcke pzyuely foz the innocēt without a cause: let vs swalow thē vp lyke the hell, let vs deuoure thē quicke & whole as those that go downe into ỹ pyt. So shall we fynde all maner of costely ryches, & fyll oure houses with spoyles. Cast in thy lot among vs, we shall haue all one purse.

My sonne, walcke not thou wythe thē, refraine thy fote from their waies. Foz their fete rūne to euel, & are hastie to shede bloude. But e* in vaine is the net layed foxth before the byzdes eyes:
¶ Yee they them selues leye wayte one foz another's bloud, & on of them wold slaye another: These are the wayes of all soche as be couetous, that one wold rauysshe another's lyfe.

Wisdome creth without, & putteth foxth her voyce in the stretes. She calleth before the congregacion in the open gates, & sheweth her wozdes tho zow the cytye sayinge: O ye chyldzen. how longe wyll ye loue chyldyshnesse how longe wyll the f* scozners delite in scozninge, and the vnwyse be ene-
myes vnto knowledge. O turne you vnto my cozrection: lo, I wyll expzesse my minde vnto you & make you vnder stand my wozdes * Seing then that I haue called, & ye refused it: I haue stret ched out my hand, & no man regarded it, but al my councels haue ye despyzed and set my cozrecciōs at naught. Ther foze shall I also laugh in your destruc
D cion, & mocke you, when the thing that ye feare commeth vpon you: euen whē the thinge that ye be afrayed of, falleth in sodenly lyke a storme, & your myserye lyke a tempest: yee whē trouble & heuy nesse commeth vpon you. Then shall they cal vpon me, but I will not heare they shall seke me early, but they shall not finde me: And ỹ because they hated knowledg, & receaued not the feare of ỹ lozde but abhozred me my councell, & despised my cozreccon. Therfoze shall they eate ỹ frutes of their owne waye, & be fylled w̄ their owne coūcels. foz ỹ turnig awaye of ỹ vnwise shal sley thē & ỹ pzosperite of foles shalbe their owne destrucciō. But who so herkeneth vn to me, shal dwel safely, & haue ynough wout any feare of euyll.

The Notes.

a* Instruccion is that which the scoler lerneth vn der his maister, whether it be knowledg oz maners.
b* What cōmēly foole signifieth in ỹ Pzouerbes loke after in the .xii. Chap. b.
c* Grace foz crowne.
d* Of this in, Mith. vii. a.
e* In vayne is net layed. &c. That is, it is a vayne thing to lay in wayte foz them whom god defēdeth syth the liars, in waite shal rather perish then they.
f* How and in what significacyon scoznes are ta kne ī the Pzouerbes, is after shewed in the .ix. d

¶ Wysdome is to be embzaced & set by. An aduou tezous woman is to be eschued.

The .ii. Chapter.

MY sonne, yf thou wylt receaue my wozdes, & kepe mi cō maundemētes by ỹ, ỹ thyne eare maye herkē vnto wys-
A dome applye thyne a* herte then to vn-derstandynge. Foz yf thou cryest af-ter wysdome, & callest foz knowledge: yf thou sekest after her as after mo-ney, & dyggest foz her as foz a trea-sure: then shalte thou vnderstande the feare of the Lozde, and fynde the know ledge of God. Foz it is the Lozde ỹ geueth wysdome, oute of his mouth cō meth knowledge & vndestrandynge.

He

B He preserueth the welfare of the righteous, and defendeth thē ỹ walke innocētly: he kepeth thē in the right path, and preserueth the waye of hys saynctes.
Then shalt thou vnderstande ryghteousnes, iudgement and equitie, ye and euery good pathe. If wisdom entre into thyne hert, & thy soule delyte in knoweledge, then shall counsell preserue ỹ and vnderstanding shall kepe ỹ. That thou mayst be delyuered from the euell waye, and from theman that speaketh frowarde thynges. From such as leaue the byghe streate, and walcke in the
C wayes of darckenesse whych reioyce in doyng euel, & delite in wicked thinges:
b* whose wayes are croked, and theyr pathes sclaunderous. That thou mayest be delyuered also from the straunge woman, and from her that is not thyn own: which geueth swet wordes, & forsaketh the husbande of her youthe, and forgetteth the couenaunte of her God.
For her house is enclyned vnto death,
D and her pathes vnto hell. All they that go vnto her, come not agayne, nether take they holde of the way of lyfe. That thou mayest walcke in the good waye and kepe the pathes of the righteous.
For the iust shall c* dwell in the land, and the innocentes shall remayne in it: but the vngodly shalbe roted oute of ỹ lande, and the wicked doers shalbe taken out of it.

The Notes.

a* Herte in the scriptures signifyethe counsell, endeuoure, intellygence, opinion, affection, thought, and other lyke operacions of the soule, as ye maye perceaue in many places of the scrypture.
b* Whose ways are croked. &c. ỹ is, whome theyre very lyfe yroueth to be offenders.
c* Dwell in the lande. The signification herof is shewed in the Psal. xxxvii.
☞ The commaundementes of God muste be dilygentlye regarded and obserued.

The. iii. Chapter.

A My Sonne, forgette not my lawe, but let thyne herte kepe my commaūdements. For they shal prolonge the dayes and yeares of thy lyfe, & bringe the peace. Let mercy and faythfulnes neuer go from thee: bynde them about thy necke, and wryte thē in ỹ tables of thyne hert. So shalt ỹ fynde fauour & good vnderstandyng in the syghte of God and men. Put thy trust in the Lord with all thyne hert, & leane not vnto thyne owne vnderstandyng. In al thy ways haue respect vnto hym, & he shall order thy goynges.
B Be not wyse in thyne owne conceate, but feare the Lorde, and departe from euell: so shall a* thy nauell be whoole, & thy bones stronge.

Honour the Lord wt thy substaunce, and with the firstlinges of all thyn encrease: so shal the barnes be fylled wt plenteousnes, and thy presses shall flowe ouer with swet wyne. My sonne, dispyse not the chastenynge of the Lord, neyther faynte when thou art rebuked of hym. * For whome the Lorde loueth hym he chasteneth: and yet delyteth in him, euen as a father in hys owne sonne. Well is him that findeth wysdom, and obteyneth vnderstandinge, for the getting of it is better then anye marchaūdyse of syluer, and the profyt of it is better then golde. Wysdome is more worth then precious stones, and all
C the thinges that thou canst desyre, are not to be compared vnto her. Upō her ryght hand is long lyfe, and vpon her lefte hande is riches and honour. Her wayes are pleasaunt ways, and all her pathes are peceable. She is a tre of lyfe to them that laye holde vpō her, and blessed are they that kepe her fast.

With wisdome hath the lorde layd the foundacīō of the earth, and thorow vnderstandinge hath he stablished the heauens. Thorowe his wisdomme the deapthes breake vp, & the cloudes droppe downe of the dew. My sonne, let not these thynges departe from thyne eyes, but kepe my lawe and my counsel: so shall it be lyfe vnto thy soule, and grace vnto thy mouthe. Then shalt thou walke safely in thy waye, & thy fote shall not stomble. If thou sleapest, thou shalt not be afrayd but shalt take thy rest and slepe swetlye.
Thou nedest not to be afrayde of anye sodeyne feare, neyther for the violente pusshing in of the vngodly, when it cōmeth. For the Lorde shall besege the, and kepe thy fot that thou be not take
D Refuse not to doo good vnto hym that shoulde haue it, so long as thyne hand is able to do it. Say not vnto thy neyboure: go thy waye and come agayn to morowe

B He preserueth the welfare of the righteous, and defendeth thē ỹ walke innocētly: he kepeth thē in the right path, and preserueth the waye of hys saynctes.
Then shalt thou vnderstande ryghteousnes, iudgement and equitie, ye and euery good pathe. If wisdom entre into thyne hert, & thy soule delyte in knoweledge, then shall counsell preserue ỹ and vnderstanding shall kepe ỹ. That thou mayst be delyuered from the euell waye, and from theman that speaketh frowarde thynges. From such as leaue the byghe streate, and walcke in the
C wayes of darckenesse whych reioyce in doyng euel, & delite in wicked thinges:
b* whose wayes are croked, and theyr pathes sclaunderous. That thou mayest be delyuered also from the straunge woman, and from her that is not thyn own: which geueth swet wordes, & forsaketh the husbande of her youthe, and forgetteth the couenaunte of her God.
For her house is enclyned vnto death,
D and her pathes vnto hell. All they that go vnto her, come not agayne, nether take they holde of the way of lyfe. That thou mayest walcke in the good waye and kepe the pathes of the righteous.
For the iust shall c* dwell in the land, and the innocentes shall remayne in it: but the vngodly shalbe roted oute of ỹ lande, and the wicked doers shalbe taken out of it.

The Notes.

a* Herte in the scriptures signifyethe counsell, endeuoure, intellygence, opinion, affection, thought, and other lyke operacions of the soule, as ye maye perceaue in many places of the scrypture.
b* Whose ways are croked. &c. ỹ is, whome theyre very lyfe yroueth to be offenders.
c* Dwell in the lande. The signification herof is shewed in the Psal. xxxvii.
☞ The commaundementes of God muste be dilygentlye regarded and obserued.

The. iii. Chapter.

A My Sonne, forgette not my lawe, but let thyne herte kepe my commaūdements. For they shal prolonge the dayes and yeares of thy lyfe, & bringe the peace. Let mercy and faythfulnes neuer go from thee: bynde them about thy necke, and wryte thē in ỹ tables of thyne hert. So shalt ỹ fynde fauour & good vnderstandyng in the syghte of God and men. Put thy trust in the Lord with all thyne hert, & leane not vnto thyne owne vnderstandyng. In al thy ways haue respect vnto hym, & he shall order thy goynges.
B Be not wyse in thyne owne conceate, but feare the Lorde, and departe from euell: so shall a* thy nauell be whoole, & thy bones stronge.

Honour the Lord wt thy substaunce, and with the firstlinges of all thyn encrease: so shal the barnes be fylled wt plenteousnes, and thy presses shall flowe ouer with swet wyne. My sonne, dispyse not the chastenynge of the Lord, neyther faynte when thou art rebuked of hym. * For whome the Lorde loueth hym he chasteneth: and yet delyteth in him, euen as a father in hys owne sonne. Well is him that findeth wysdom, and obteyneth vnderstandinge, for the getting of it is better then anye marchaūdyse of syluer, and the profyt of it is better then golde. Wysdome is more worth then precious stones, and all
C the thinges that thou canst desyre, are not to be compared vnto her. Upō her ryght hand is long lyfe, and vpon her lefte hande is riches and honour. Her wayes are pleasaunt ways, and all her pathes are peceable. She is a tre of lyfe to them that laye holde vpō her, and blessed are they that kepe her fast.

With wisdome hath the lorde layd the foundacīō of the earth, and thorow vnderstandinge hath he stablished the heauens. Thorowe his wisdomme the deapthes breake vp, & the cloudes droppe downe of the dew. My sonne, let not these thynges departe from thyne eyes, but kepe my lawe and my counsel: so shall it be lyfe vnto thy soule, and grace vnto thy mouthe. Then shalt thou walke safely in thy waye, & thy fote shall not stomble. If thou sleapest, thou shalt not be afrayd but shalt take thy rest and slepe swetlye.
Thou nedest not to be afrayde of anye sodeyne feare, neyther for the violente pusshing in of the vngodly, when it cōmeth. For the Lorde shall besege the, and kepe thy fot that thou be not take
D Refuse not to doo good vnto hym that shoulde haue it, so long as thyne hand is able to do it. Say not vnto thy neyboure: go thy waye and come agayn to morowe

morow wil I geue the: wher as ÿ hast nowe to geue him.

Intend no hurt vnto thy neigbour seing he hopeth to dwell in rest by the. Striue not lightly w̄ any man, where as he hath done the no harme. Folow not a wycked man, and chose none of his wayes: for the lorde abhorreth the froward, but his secrete is amonge the ryghtuous. The curse of the Lorde is in the house of the vngodlye, but he blesseth ÿ dwellynges of ÿ rtghtuous. As for the scorneful, he shal laugh thē to scorne, but he shall geue grace vnto the lowlye. The wyse shall haue honour in possession, but shame is ÿ promocion, that foles shal haue.

The notes.

a* What is signified by nauel ye shal find in, Eze. chi xvi. a.

¶ Wysdome and her frutes and weys ought to be serued,

The. iiii. Chapter.

A HEare, O ye childzen, the fatherly exhortacyon, & take good hede, that ye mate lerne wysdome. Yee I shal geue you a good rewarde yf ye wyll not forsake my lawe. For when I my selfe was my fathers deare sonne, and tenderly beloued of my mother, he taught me also, sayenge: Let thyne hert receaue mi wordes, kepe mi commaundemēts, and thou shalt liue. Get the wisdom, get the vnderstandig forget not the wordes of my mouth, & shrynke not from them. Forsake her not, and she shal preserue the: loue her, and she shal kepe the. The chefe poynte of wysdome is, that thou be wylling to obtayne wysdom, and before al thy goodes to get the vnderstanding: Make muche of her and she shal promote the: Yee yf thou embrace her, she shal bringe the vnto honoure.

B She shal make the a gractous head and garnysh ÿa* w̄ a crowne of glory.

Here me sonne and receaue my wordes, that the yeares of thy lyf maye be many. I wyll shew the, the waye of wisdome, and lede the in the right pathes So that yf thou goest theri, there shal no straytnesse hynder the: and when ÿ runnest thou shalt not fal. Take fast hold of doctrin, let her not go: kepe her for she is thy lyfe. Come not in the C path of the vngodly, and walke not in the waye of the wycked. Eschue it, & go not therin: departe aslyde, and passe ouer by it: For they can not slepe, except they haue fyrst done some mischefe: nether take they any rest, excepte they haue fyrst done some harme. For they eate the bred of wyckednesse, and dryncke the wyne of robbery: The path of the ryghtuous shyneth as the lyghte, and is euer brighter and brighter vnto the parfect day. But the way of ÿ vngodly is as ÿ darckns, wherin D men fal, or they be a warre. My sonne, marcke my wordes, & encline thyne eare vnto my sayinges. Let them not departe from thyne eyes, kepe them euen in the myddest of thyne herte. For they are lyfe vnto all those that fynde them, & health vnto all their bodyes. Kepe thyne herte with all dilygēce, for there vpon hangeth life. Put away from the a frowarde mouth, and let the lyppes of slaunder be farre from the. Let thyne eyes beholde the thynge ÿ is ryghte, & let thyne eye liddes loke straycht before ÿ. Ponder the path of thy fete, so shal al thy ways be sure. Turne not a syde, nether to the b* right hand nor to the left, but withhold thy fote from euell.

The notes

a* That is, with great and syngular honoure, as after in the. xii. a. b* By the right hand is vnderstande the false & wycked confidence in. worckes, & by ÿ left, desperatiō. To turne aside or adde to the right hād is, to adde ÿ to ÿ word of god, which god neuercōmaunded. To turne aside or bow to the left hande is, to take away from the worde of god, or to do that which is forbidde. As it is written in Deuter. xxviii. b. & Iosue. xxiii. b.

¶ He warneth to eschue & flee whordom. He forbydeth prodigalitye & wastfull spendyng. He willeth vs to lyue of oure owne laboures. Men must loue their wyues.

¶ The. v. Chapter.

MY sonne, geue hede vnto my wysdome, and bowe A thyne Eare vnto my prudence: that thow mayeste regarde good councell, & ÿ thy lyppes maye kepe nourtoure. For the lyppes of an harlot are a dropppynge honye combe, and her throte is softer then oile. But at ÿ last she is as bytter as wormwod, and as sharp as morow wil I geue the: wher as ÿ hast nowe to geue him.

Intend no hurt vnto thy neigbour seing he hopeth to dwell in rest by the. Striue not lightly w̄ any man, where as he hath done the no harme. Folow not a wycked man, and chose none of his wayes: for the lorde abhorreth the froward, but his secrete is amonge the ryghtuous. The curse of the Lorde is in the house of the vngodlye, but he blesseth ÿ dwellynges of ÿ rtghtuous. As for the scorneful, he shal laugh thē to scorne, but he shall geue grace vnto the lowlye. The wyse shall haue honour in possession, but shame is ÿ promocion, that foles shal haue.

The notes.

a* What is signified by nauel ye shal find in, Eze. chi xvi. a.

¶ Wysdome and her frutes and weys ought to be serued,

The. iiii. Chapter.

A HEare, O ye childzen, the fatherly exhortacyon, & take good hede, that ye mate lerne wysdome. Yee I shal geue you a good rewarde yf ye wyll not forsake my lawe. For when I my selfe was my fathers deare sonne, and tenderly beloued of my mother, he taught me also, sayenge: Let thyne hert receaue mi wordes, kepe mi commaundemēts, and thou shalt liue. Get the wisdom, get the vnderstandig forget not the wordes of my mouth, & shrynke not from them. Forsake her not, and she shal preserue the: loue her, and she shal kepe the. The chefe poynte of wysdome is, that thou be wylling to obtayne wysdom, and before al thy goodes to get the vnderstanding: Make muche of her and she shal promote the: Yee yf thou embrace her, she shal bringe the vnto honoure.

B She shal make the a gractous head and garnysh ÿa* w̄ a crowne of glory.

Here me sonne and receaue my wordes, that the yeares of thy lyf maye be many. I wyll shew the, the waye of wisdome, and lede the in the right pathes So that yf thou goest theri, there shal no straytnesse hynder the: and when ÿ runnest thou shalt not fal. Take fast hold of doctrin, let her not go: kepe her for she is thy lyfe. Come not in the C path of the vngodly, and walke not in the waye of the wycked. Eschue it, & go not therin: departe aslyde, and passe ouer by it: For they can not slepe, except they haue fyrst done some mischefe: nether take they any rest, excepte they haue fyrst done some harme. For they eate the bred of wyckednesse, and dryncke the wyne of robbery: The path of the ryghtuous shyneth as the lyghte, and is euer brighter and brighter vnto the parfect day. But the way of ÿ vngodly is as ÿ darckns, wherin D men fal, or they be a warre. My sonne, marcke my wordes, & encline thyne eare vnto my sayinges. Let them not departe from thyne eyes, kepe them euen in the myddest of thyne herte. For they are lyfe vnto all those that fynde them, & health vnto all their bodyes. Kepe thyne herte with all dilygēce, for there vpon hangeth life. Put away from the a frowarde mouth, and let the lyppes of slaunder be farre from the. Let thyne eyes beholde the thynge ÿ is ryghte, & let thyne eye liddes loke straycht before ÿ. Ponder the path of thy fete, so shal al thy ways be sure. Turne not a syde, nether to the b* right hand nor to the left, but withhold thy fote from euell.

The notes

a* That is, with great and syngular honoure, as after in the. xii. a. b* By the right hand is vnderstande the false & wycked confidence in. worckes, & by ÿ left, desperatiō. To turne aside or adde to the right hād is, to adde ÿ to ÿ word of god, which god neuercōmaunded. To turne aside or bow to the left hande is, to take away from the worde of god, or to do that which is forbidde. As it is written in Deuter. xxviii. b. & Iosue. xxiii. b.

¶ He warneth to eschue & flee whordom. He forbydeth prodigalitye & wastfull spendyng. He willeth vs to lyue of oure owne laboures. Men must loue their wyues.

¶ The. v. Chapter.

MY sonne, geue hede vnto my wysdome, and bowe A thyne Eare vnto my prudence: that thow mayeste regarde good councell, & ÿ thy lyppes maye kepe nourtoure. For the lyppes of an harlot are a dropppynge honye combe, and her throte is softer then oile. But at ÿ last she is as bytter as wormwod, and as sharp as a two edged swerde. Her fete goo downe vnto deth, and her steppes perse thowgh vnto hell. She regardeth not the

B path of lyfe, so vnstedfast are her wais, that thou canst not knowe them. Heare me therfore (O my sonne) and departe not from the wordes of my mouthe. Kepe thy waye farre from her, and come not nye the doores of her house. That ȳgeue not[a]*thyn honor vnto an other and thy yeres to the cruell. That other men be not fylled wyth thy gooddes, & that thy labours com not in a straung house. Ye that thou mourne not at the last (when thou hast spente thy bodye & gooddes (and then saye: Alas, why hated I nourtoure? why dyd my hert despyse correccion? wherfor, was not I
C obedient vnto the voyce of my techers, and herkned not vnto them that informed me? I am comme almoost into all myfortune, in the myddest of the multitude and congregation. [b]*Drinke of ȳ water of thine owne wel, and of therr uers that runne out of thine owne spr̄ges. [c]*Let thy welles flowe out abroade, that there maye be ryuers of water in the streates: but let them be only thyne owne, and not straungers wyth the.

Let thy well be blessed, and be glad
D with the wyfe of thy youth. Louynge is the hynde, and frendly is the Roe: let her brestes alwaye satisfye the, and holde the euer content wyth her loue. My sonne, why wylt thou haue pleasure in an harlott, and embrase the bosome of another woman? *For euery mās waies are open in the syght of the Lorde, & he pondereth all theyr goynges. The wyckednes of the vngodly shall catch hym self, and with the snares of his owne synnes shall he be trapped. Because he wouldе not be reformed, he shall dye: & for hys greate folyshnes he shall be destroyed.

A vota An harlott

Iob. xxvi. & xxxiiii. c.

The notes.

a* That is, thy substaunce.
b* That is holde thy owelye to thyne owne wyfe.
c* That is, let thy chyldren come out of thy howse wyth honour and not as bastardes.

¶ The slouthfull and slouggish is pyrked and stired to worke: The scismatike is reproued. Aduoutrye ought to be earnestly auoyded.

¶ The vi. Chapter.

MY sonne, yf thou be suertye for
A thy neyghboure, ȳ haste fastened thyne hand wyth a nother man: ye thou arte bounde with thyne owne wordes, & takē with thine owne speache. Therfore, my sonne, do thys: dyscharge thy selfe, for thou art come ī to thy neyghboures daunger. Goo thy waye then soone, and intreate thy neighbour: let not thine eyes slepe nor thyne eye lyddes slomber. Saue thy selfe as a doue from the hand, and as a byrd from the hand of ȳ fouler. Go to the Emmet (thou slogard) consider her wayes, and lerne to be wyse. She hath no gyde, no teacher, no leder: yet i the Sommer she prouydeth her meate and gathereth her fode together in the harueste. *How longe wilt ȳ slepe, ȳ slogysh man whē? Wilt ȳ aryse out of thy slepe? Yee slepe on styl a lytel, slomber a lytle, fold thyne handes to gether yet a lytle, ȳ thou mayest slepe: so shal pouerty come vnto the as one ȳ trauayleth by the waye, and necessyte lyke a weapened man. A dissembling person, a wycked man goeth wyth a frowarde mouth, he wynckеth wt his eyes, he toketh wt his fete, he poynteth wt hys fyngers he is euer ymagenynge myschef and frowardnesse in his hert, and cāuseth discord. Therfore shal his destruccion come hastely vpon him, sodēly shal he be al to broken, & not be healed.

B *Pro. xxiiii

There be sixe thinges which the Lord hateth, and the seuenth he vtterly abhorreth: A proude loke, a dyssemblyng tong, handes that shed innocent bloud, an hert that goeth about wt wicked ymagynacions, fete that be swyft in rennyng to do myscheke, a false wytnesse that bryngeth vp lyes, & such one as soweth dyscord among brethrē. My sonne kepe thi fathers cōmaūdemētes, and forsake not ȳ lawe of thy mother. Put thē vp together in thine hert, and bynd thē about thy necke. That they maye leade the where thou goest, preserue the whē thou art a slepe, and that whē ȳ awakest, ȳ maist talk of thē. For ȳ cōmaūdemēt is a lanterne, & ȳ lawe a lyght: yee chastenyng & nourtoure is ȳ waye of lyfe: ȳ they may kepe the frō ȳ euel woman, & from ȳ flatteryng tong

C

of

a two edged swerde. Her fete goo downe vnto deth, and her steppes perse thowgh vnto hell. She regardeth not the
B path of lyfe, so vnstedfast are her wais, that thou canst not knowe them. Heare me therfore (O my sonne) and departe not from the wordes of my mouthe. Kepe thy waye farre from her, and come not nye the doores of her house. That ȳgeue not[a]*thyn honor vnto an other and thy yeres to the cruell. That other men be not fylled wyth thy gooddes, & that thy labours com not in a straung house. Ye that thou mourne not at the last (when thou hast spente thy bodye & gooddes (and then saye: Alas, why hated I nourtoure? why dyd my hert despyse correccion? wherfor, was not I
C obedient vnto the voyce of my techers, and herkned not vnto them that informed me? I am comme almoost into all myfortune, in the myddest of the multitude and congregation. [b]*Drinke of ȳ water of thine owne wel, and of therr uers that runne out of thine owne spr̄ges. [c]*Let thy welles flowe out abroade, that there maye be ryuers of water in the streates: but let them be only thyne owne, and not straungers wyth the.

Let thy well be blessed, and be glad
D with the wyfe of thy youth. Louynge is the hynde, and frendly is the Roe: let her brestes alwaye satisfye the, and holde the euer content wyth her loue. My sonne, why wylt thou haue pleasure in an harlott, and embrase the bosome of another woman? *For euery mās waies are open in the syght of the Lorde, & he pondereth all theyr goynges. The wyckednes of the vngodly shall catch hym self, and with the snares of his owne synnes shall he be trapped. Because he wouldе not be reformed, he shall dye: & for hys greate folyshnes he shall be destroyed.

A vota An harlott

Iob. xxvi. & xxxiiii. c.

The notes.

a* That is, thy substaunce.
b* That is holde thy owelye to thyne owne wyfe.
c* That is, let thy chyldren come out of thy howse wyth honour and not as bastardes.

¶ The slouthfull and slouggish is pyrked and stired to worke: The scismatike is reproued. Aduoutrye ought to be earnestly auoyded.

¶ The vi. Chapter.

MY sonne, yf thou be suertye for
A thy neyghboure, ȳ haste fastened thyne hand wyth a nother man: ye thou arte bounde with thyne owne wordes, & takē with thine owne speache. Therfore, my sonne, do thys: dyscharge thy selfe, for thou art come ī to thy neyghboures daunger. Goo thy waye then soone, and intreate thy neighbour: let not thine eyes slepe nor thyne eye lyddes slomber. Saue thy selfe as a doue from the hand, and as a byrd from the hand of ȳ fouler. Go to the Emmet (thou slogard) consider her wayes, and lerne to be wyse. She hath no gyde, no teacher, no leder: yet i the Sommer she prouydeth her meate and gathereth her fode together in the harueste. *How longe wilt ȳ slepe, ȳ slogysh man whē? Wilt ȳ aryse out of thy slepe? Yee slepe on styl a lytel, slomber a lytle, fold thyne handes to gether yet a lytle, ȳ thou mayest slepe: so shal pouerty come vnto the as one ȳ trauayleth by the waye, and necessyte lyke a weapened man. A dissembling person, a wycked man goeth wyth a frowarde mouth, he wynckеth wt his eyes, he toketh wt his fete, he poynteth wt hys fyngers he is euer ymagenynge myschef and frowardnesse in his hert, and cāuseth discord. Therfore shal his destruccion come hastely vpon him, sodēly shal he be al to broken, & not be healed.

B *Pro. xxiiii

There be sixe thinges which the Lord hateth, and the seuenth he vtterly abhorreth: A proude loke, a dyssemblyng tong, handes that shed innocent bloud, an hert that goeth about wt wicked ymagynacions, fete that be swyft in rennyng to do myscheke, a false wytnesse that bryngeth vp lyes, & such one as soweth dyscord among brethrē. My sonne kepe thi fathers cōmaūdemētes, and forsake not ȳ lawe of thy mother. Put thē vp together in thine hert, and bynd thē about thy necke. That they maye leade the where thou goest, preserue the whē thou art a slepe, and that whē ȳ awakest, ȳ maist talk of thē. For ȳ cōmaūdemēt is a lanterne, & ȳ lawe a lyght: yee chastenyng & nourtoure is ȳ waye of lyfe: ȳ they may kepe the frō ȳ euel woman, & from ȳ flatteryng tong

C

of

of the harlot: ỹ thou lust not after her beuty in thyne hert, & lest thou be take ẅ her fayre lokes. An harlot wil make a man to begge his bred, but a maried womā wyll hunt for ỹ precyous lyfe. Maye a man take fyre in his bosome, & his clothes not be brēt? Or cāone go vpō hoate coales, & his fete not be hurt? Euen so, whosoeuer goeth in to his neyghbours wyfe, and toucheth her can not be vngilty. Men do not vtterli de spise a theefe that stealeth to satisfie his soule, when he is hongre: but if he may be gottē, he restoreth agayne seuen tymes as moche, or els he macketh recōpense with all ỹ good of his house. But who so cōmitteth aduoutri ẅ a womā, he is a foole, and bringeth his life to de structyon. He getteth him selfe also shame and dishonoure, such as shal neuer be put out. For ỹ gelousy & wrath of the man wyl not be intreated, no though thou woldest offer hym greate gyftes to make amēdes, he wil not receaue them.

¶ God ought to be feared and honoured: his commaundementes ought to be kept: Wanton appetytes and desyres ought to be shonned.

¶ The.vii. Chapter.

My sonne, kepe my wordes, and layd vp my commaundemētes by the. Kepe my commaundemētes and my lawe, euen as the apple of thyne eye, and thou shalt lyue. Bind them vpon thy fyngers, and wryte thē in the table of thine hert. Saye vnto wysdome: thou art my syster, & call vnderstonding thy kynswoman: * ỹ she maye kepe the from the straunge woman, and from the harlot which geueth swete wordes. For out of ỹ wyndowe of my house I loked thorow the trealesse, and beheld the simple people, and among other yonge folkes I spyed one ponge, foole goyng ouer ỹ stretes, by the corner in the waye towarde the harlottes house in the twylight of the euenyng, when it be ganne now to be nyght and darcke. * And beholde there met him a woman in an harlotes apparell (a dysceatfull, waton & an vnstedfast womā: whose fete coud not abyde in ỹ house, now is she without, now in the stretes, and lurketh i euery corner) she caught ỹ ponge man, kyssed hym, and was not a shamed, sayng: I had a vowe to paye, and thys daye I perfourme it. Therfore came I forth to mete the, that I myght seke thy face and so haue I founde the. I haue decked my bed with couerynges & clothes of Egypt. My bed haue I made to smel of Myrre, Aloes, and Cynamon. Come, let vs lye toether, and take our pleasure tyl it be daye lyght. For the good man is not at home, he is gonne farre of. He hath taken the bagge of mony ẅ him: who cā tell when he commeth home? Thus with many swete wordes she ouer came hym, and wyth her flatterynge lyppes she wann hym.

Immedyatly he folowed her, as it were an ore led to the slauter (and like as it were to the stockes, where foles are punished) so long tyl she had wounded hys lyuer with her dart: lyke as if a bryd de hasted to the snare, not knowyng ỹ the parell of his lyfe lyeth there vpon. Heare me now therfore, O my sonne, & marcke the wordes of my mouth. Let not thine hert wander in her wayes, & be not thou dysceaued in her pathes. For many one hath she wounded and cast dowue, ye many a strong mā hath she slayne. Her houses is the waye vnto hel, where men go downe into ỹ chambers of death.

☞ The prayse of the wisdom of god.

¶ The.viii. Chapter

Doth not wisdom crie? doth not vnderstanding put forth her voice? Stādeth she not in the hye places in the stretes and wayes? doth she not crye before the whole cytie, and in the gates where men go out & in? It is you, O ye mē (sayeth she) whome I call? Vnto you (O ye children of mē) lyft I vp my voyce. Take hede vnto knowledge, O ye ignorant, be wyse in hert, O ye foles. Geue eare, for I wyll speake of greate matters, and opē my lyppes to tel thinges that be right. For my throte shalbe talking of the trueth, & my lyppes abhorre vngodlyneſſe. All the wordes of my mouth are ryghtuous, there is no frowardneſſe nor falsede therin. They are all playne to such as wyll vnderstande, and ryghte

Prouer .ii, v, & v.a

* Genesis.b

to them that fynde knoweledge.
Receaue my doctrine therfore, and not siluer: and my knowledg, more the fine golde. For wysdome is more worth the precous stones, ye al ỹ thinges ỹ ỹ canst desyre, are not to be compared vnto it.

nota

I wysdome haue my dwellynge w knowledge, & prudent councel is mine owne. With me is the feare of the Lord, and the eschuuyng of euel. As for pryde, dysdayne, & euell waye, and B a mouth that speketh wicked thinges, I vtterly abhorre them. I can geue councell, and be a gyde: I haue vnder standing, I haue steyngth. Thorow me, Kinges reygne: thorow me, prices make iust lawes. Thorow me, Lordes beare rule, and all iudges of the earth execute iudgement. I am louynge vnto thosse that loue me, and they that seke me early shal fynde me. Riches & honoure are with me, yee excellent goo des and ryghtuousnes. My frute is better then golde and precious stone, and myne encrease more worthy the fine syluer. I walke in the waye of ryghtu ousnes, and in the strete of iudgement.
That I maye send prosperite to those
C that loue me, and to encrease their trea sure. * The Lorde him selfe had me in possessyon in the begynnyng of his wa yes, or euer he beganne his workes a fore tyme. I haue bene ordened frō euerlasting, and from the begynninge or euer the earth was made. When I was borne, there were nether depth= es nor springes of water. Before ỹ foundacions of the mountaynes were layed, ye before al hylles was I born. The earth and al that is vpon ỹ earth was not yet made, no not the groūd it selfe. For when he made the heauens, I was present: when he set vp the dep= thes in order: whē he hanged the clou des about: when he fastened ỹ springes
D of the depe: When he shut the see with in certayne bowndes, that the waters should not go ouer their mārckes. When he layed the foundacions of the earthe. I was w him, ordryng al things, dely tyng dayly, & reioisig al ways before hi:
As for ỹ round compase of this world I make it folkful: for my delit is to be a mōg ỹ childrē of men. Therfore harkē vnto me, O ye childrē, for blessed are they ỹ kepe my wayes. O geue eare vn to nurtoure, be wyse, and refuse it not. Blessed is the man ỹ heareth me, wat= ching dayly at my gates, and geuyng attendaunce at the posts of my dores. For who so fyndeth me, fyndeth lyfe, & shal obtayne fauour of the Lord. But who so offendeth against me, hurteth his owne soule. Al they ỹ hate me, are the louers of death.

The. ix. Chapter

☞ Wysdom moueth al men to embrace her, The propertye of a whore.

A Wysdome hath buylded her selfe an house, and hewen out a * seuē pylers: she hath kylled her bytailes, pou= red out her wyne, and pre= pared her table. She hath sent forth her maydens to crye vpon ỹ hist place of the citie: Who so is ignorant, let hym come hither. And to the vnwyse she sayde: O come on your waye, eate my bred, and drincke my wyne, whych I haue poured out for you. Forsake ignorance, & ye shal lyue: and se ỹ yee go in ỹ waye of vnderanding. Who so reproueth a scornful person, getteth him selfe dishonoure: and he that rebu keth the vngodly, strayneth him selfe. Reproue not a * b scorner, lest he owe ỹ euel wyl: but rebuke a wyse man, and he wyl loue the. Geue a discrete man B but an occasyon, and he wyll be the wi= ser, teach a righteous man, & he wyl in crease. The feare of the Lord is the be gynnynge of wysdome, and the knowe= ledg of holy thinges is vnderstading.
For thorow me the dayes shal be pro= longed, and the yeares of thy lyfe shall be many. If thou be wyse thy wysdom shal do thy selfe good: but if ỹ thynkest scorne therof, it shalbe thine owne har me. A folysh restlesse womā, ful of wor des, and such one as hath no knowleg, sytteth in ỹ dores of her house vpon a stoole aboue in the cite, to call suche as go by, and walke strait in their waies. Who so is ignorāt (saith she) let him come hither, and to ỹ vnwise she saith: stollen waters are swete, and ỹ bred ỹ C is preuely eaten, hath a good taste. But they consider not ỹ death is there, and that her gestes go downe to hel.

The notes.

a* Or, many the certen nombre for the vncerten.
b* Scorneful or mockinge persones after Dauid Kymhi, are those which be suttel and crafty to hurt other, and which are ready to dyffame other and to open and tel secretes, and so to breake concord and vnyte: And those also which make a mocke at the word of God and despise it, and that repute it for folyshnes as after in the, xiiii. a xix, d. & xxii, b

The. x. Chapter.

In this Chapter & in al that folow vntō ỹ thyrteyeth, the wyse man exhorteth by diuers sentences which he calleth Parables, to folowe vertues and fle vyces: And sheweth also what profit cometh of wysdom, & what hyndraūce procedeth of folishnes.

The *Paraboles of Salomon.

Some rede laymges.

A A wyse sonne maketh a glad father, but an vndiscret son is the heuynes of his mother.
Treasures that are wyckedly gotten, profyt nothyng, but rightuousnes de-liuereth from death. The Lord wil not let the souls of ỹ rightuous suffer hon ger, but he putteth the vngodly frō his desyre. An ydle hand maketh pore, but a quycke labouring hand maketh rich,
Who so gathereth in Somer, is wise:
but he that is sloughysshe in harueste, bringth him selfe to confusion. Louing
B and fauorable is the face of ỹ rightu-ous, but the forhede of the vngodly is past shame, and presumtuous. The me morial of the iust shal haue a good report, but the name of the vngodly shal stynke. A wyse man wyl receaue warnyng, but a foole will sooner be smytten in the face. He that leadeth an inno cente lyfe, walketh surelye; but who so goeth a wrongwaye, shal be knowen.
a* He that wynckeȝth with his ey, wyl do some harme: but he that hath a fo lysshe mouth, shalbe beatē. The mouth of a righteous man is a wel of lyfe, but the mouthe of the vngodlye is paste shame, and presumptuous.
Euel wil stereth vp strife, * but loue C couereth the multitude of sinnes. In the lippes of him that hath vnderstan ding a man shal fynde wisdome, but ỹ rodde belongeth to the backe of the fo lysshe. Wyse mē laye vp knowledg but ỹ mouth of ỹ folysh, is nyȝ destruccyō.
The ryche mannes goodes are hys stronge holde, but pouertie oppresseth the poore.
The rightuouse laboureth to do good but the vngodly vseth his encrease vn to synne. To take hede vnto ỹ chas tening of nurtoure, is the waye of lyfe:
but he that refuseth to be reformed, goeth wronge. Dissembling lippes kepe hatred secretly, & he that speaketh any sclaunder, is a foole. Where mo ch bablyng is, there must nedes be offence: he that refrayneth his lyppes is wysest of al. An innocēt tōg is a noble tresur, but ỹ hert of the vngodly is nothyng worth. The lyppes of ỹ righ tuous fede a whole multitude, but fo-les shal dye in theyr owne folye. The blessynge of the Lord maketh rich mē, as for careful trauaile, it doth nothing therto. A fole doth wickedly & ma-keth but a sporte of it: neuertheles it is wysdom for a man to beware of soch.
The thinge that the vngodlye are afrayed of, shall come vpon them, but ỹ rightuous shal haue their delyte.
The vngodly is lyke a tēpest that pas seth ouer, & is no more sene, but ỹ righttuous remaynethsure for euer. As vine ger is to the tethe, and as smoke is vn to the eyes, euē so is a slougish persōne to thē ỹ sende him forth. The feare of ỹ Lord maketh a long lyfe, but the yea res of the vngodly shalbe shortened.
The pactēt abydyng of the rightuous shalbe turned to gladnes, but the hope of the vngodly shal perysh. The waye of the lord geueth corag vnto ỹ godly, but it is a feare for wicked doers. The rightuous shal neuer be ouerthrowne, but the vngodly shal not remayne in the land. The mouth of ỹ iuste wylbe talkynge of wisdome, but the tonge of the frowarde shal perish. The lyppes of the ryghtuous ar occuppyed in accep table thynges, but the mouth of the vn godly taketh them to the worst.

The notes.

a* To wynckeȝth his ey, here is to shewe a sygne or token of consentynge, when he thynketh the contrary: as before in the. vi. b. and Eccli. xxvii. c

The. xi. Chapter

A False balaunce is an abhomy nacyon vnto ỹ lord, but a true B weight pleaseth him. Where pride is, there is shame also & confusiō:
but wher as is lowlines, ther is wisdō

The innocent dealinge of the iust shal lede them, but the vnfaythfulnesse of ỹ despytfers shalbe their owne destruc-*Proue.x.a Eccli:v.b cion. *Riches helpe not in the daye of vengeaunce, but rightuousnesse de-lyuereth from death. The rightuous nes of the innocẽt ordrethe his waye, but the vngodly shall fall in his owne wyckednesse. The tyghtuousnesse of the iust shall delyuer them, but the despytfers shalbe taken in their owne
B vngodlinesse. *When an vngodly
*Sapi:v.b man dyeth, hys hope is gone, the confy dence of ryches shal perish. The rightuous shalbe deliuered out of trouble, and ỹ vngodly shal come in his steade. Throw the mouthe of the dessembler is hys neyghbour destroyed, but throw knowledge shall the iuste be dely-uereth. When it goeth well wyth the ryghtuous, the cyty is mery: and when the vngodly perysh, there is gladnesse. When the iust are in weal th, ỹ citie prospereth: but when the vn godly haue the rule, it decayeth. A foole bringeth vp aslaunder of his ney ghbour, but a whyse man wyll kepe it secrete. A dessembling person wyll discouer preuethinges, but he that is of a faythful hert, wyll kepe councel.
Where no good councell is there the C people decaye: but where as many are that geue councell, there is wealth.
He that is suertye for a straunger, hur teth him selfe: but he ỹ medleth not w suertesshyppe, is sure. A gracyous womã maintaineth honesty, as for ỹmigh tye, they mayntetne riches. He ỹ hath a gentle lyberal stomack is mercyfull: but who so hurteth his neighbour, is a tyraũt. The labour ofỹ vngodli pros pereth not, but he ỹ soweth rightuous-nes, shal receaue a sure rewarde. Like as rightuousnes bryngeth lyfe: euen so to cleue vnto euel, bryngeth death.
The Lorde abhorreth he a fayned herte, but he hathe pleasure in them ỹ are vndefyled. It shal not helpe ỹ wic ked, though they lay al their hãds toge ther but ỹ sedẽ of ỹ rightuous shalbe preserued. A fayre womã wout discret maners, is like a rig of gold in a swines snoute. The iust labour for peace, trã quillite, but ỹ vngodli for disquietnes.

Some man geueth out his goodes, and is the rycher, but the nygarde (ha-upng ynough) wyl departfrõ nothing, and yet is euer in pouertie. He that is lyberall in geupng, shall haue plentye: & he that watereth, shalbe watered also D him selfe. Who so hoordeth vp hys cor ne, shalbe cursed among the people: but blessinge shall lyght vpon his head ỹ selleth it. He that laboreth for ho nestie kyndeth hys despyte: but who soo seketh after mischef, it shal happen vn to hym. He that trusteth in his riches, shall haue a fall, but the rightous shal flouryth as the greane leafe.
Who so maketh disquietnes in his owne house, he shall haue wynd for hys heritage, and the foole shalbe seruaunt to the wyse. The frut of the rightuous is as the tre of lyfe, a wyse mã also win neth mens soules. * If the rightuous be recompensed vpon erth, how mouch more then the vngodly and the synner? *i.Pet.iiij

The.xij.Chapter

Who so loueth wysdom, wil be content to be reformed: but he that hateth to be re-
A proued, is a foole. A good man is acceptable vntoo ỹ Lorde, but the wicked wyll he condẽmp ne. A man can not endure in vngodlypnes, but the rote of the rightuous shal not be moued. A stedfaste woman, is a a*crowne vnto her husbande: but she ỹ behaueth her selfe vnhonestlye is a cor ruptyon in hys boones. The though tes of the rightuous are righte, but the ymagination of the vngodly are decea tefull. The talking of the vngodly is howe they maye laye wayte for bloud, but the mouthe of the ryghtuous wyll delyuer them. Or euer thou canst turn the about, ỹ vngodly shalbe ouerthro
B wen but the house of ỹ rightuous shal: stande. A man shall be commended for hys wysdõ, but a fole shalbe despysed. A symple man which laboureth and worketh, is better then one that is gorgeous and wanteth breade. A righ tuous man regardeth the lyf of hys ca tel, but the vngodly haue cruell hertes He ỹ tylleth his lãd shal haue plẽteous-

nes

nesse of bread: but he ỹ foloweth ydylnes, is a very foole.

The desyre of the vngodly hunteth after myschefe, but the rote of the righteuous bringeth forth frute. The wycked falleth in to ỹ snare thorow the malyce of his owne mouth, but ỹ iust shall escape out of parel. Euery man shal enioye good, accordyng to the innocencye of his mouth, and after the worckes of his handes shal he be rewarded. Loke what a[b]*foole taketh in hand, he thynketh it wel done: but he that is wyse, wyl be counceled. A foole vttreth hys wrath in al the haste, but a discrete mã forgeueth wronge.

C A iust man wyl tel the truth, and shew the thinge that is right: but false wytnesse disceaueth. A sclaunderous perso̅ pricketh like a swerd but a wyse mans tonge is wholsome. A true mouth is euer constant, but a dessemblinge tonge is sone chaunged. They ỹ imagyn euel in their minde, wyll disceaue: but ỹ coũcellers of peace shal haue ioye folowig B them. There shal no mysfortune happen vnto the iust, but the vngodly shal be filled w̃ misery. The Lord abhorreth disceatful lyppes, but they that labour for trueth please him. He ỹ hath vnderstanding can hide hys wysdom, but an vndyscrete hert telleth out his foltschnesse. A dilygent hand shal beare rule, but the ydle shalbe vnder tribute. D Heuines discorageth ỹ hert of mã, but a good word maketh it glad agayne. The righteous is liberal vnto his neighbour, but the waye of the vngodlye wyl disceaue them selues. A dysceatful man shal fynde no vauntage, but he ỹ is conten with that he hath is more worthe then golde. In ỹ way of righteousnes, ther is life, as for any other way it is ỹ path vntodeate.

The notes

a* Crowne for greate honour and glory, as before in the.iiii.chapiter.

b* By a foole in the Prouerbes is principally vnderstãd him that in folowing his owne counceldefe deth infidelite and ỹ vnknowyng of God for truth and hygh wisdome: and wil by no meannes herken and obeye to the worde of god, as before in the.i.a iii.d.x.b.and.xiiii.a

C The xiii. Chapter.

A Wyse sonne wil receaue his fathers warninge, but he ỹ is a* scorneful, wyl not heare when he is reproued. A good mãn shal enioy the frut of his mouth, but he that hath a froward mynde shalbe spoyled. He ỹ kepeth hys mouth, kepeth his lyfe: but whoo soo speaketh vnadui sed, fyndeth harme. The slougarde wolde fayne haue, & can not get his desyre: but ỹ soule of the dylygẽt shal haue plenty. A righteous man abhorreth lyes but the vngodly shameth both other ãd him self. Righteousnes kepeth the innocente in ỹ way, but vngodlynes shal ouerthrowe the synner.

Some men are ryche, though they haue nothyng: agayne som men are poore, hauing great riches. Wyth goodes euery man delyuereth hys lyfe, and the poore wyl not be reproued. The lyght of the ryghteuous maketh ioyful, but ỹ candle of the vngodly shal be put out. Amonge the proud there is euer stryfe, but among those that do al thynges w̃ aduisement there is wisdome. Hastely gotten goodes are sone spente, but they that be gethered together with the hãd, shall encrease. Long tarying for a thig that is dyfered, greaueth the hertte: but when the desyre cometh it is a tre of lyfe. Who so despyseth the word, destroyeth hym selfe: but he that feareth the cõmaundment shall haue peace. The law is a well of lyfe vntoo the wyse, that it maye kepe him from the snares of death. Good vnderstaudinge geueth fauour but harde is the waye of the despysers. A wyse man doth all thynges with discretion, but a fole wyl declare hys foly. An vngodly messenger bryngeth mischeafe, but a faythfull ambassadour, is wholsom: he that thynketh scorne to be reformed: cometh to pouertye and shame but who so receneth correction, shal com to honor. Whẽ a desyre is brought to passe it deliteth ỹ soule: but foles abhore hym ỹ eschueth euell. He ỹ goeth in ỹ company of wyse men, shalbe wise but who so is a cõpanion of foles, shal be hurte. Mischefe foloweth vpon synners, but ỹ righteous shal haue a good rewarde. Which theyr childers childre shall haue in possession, for the ryches of the synners is layd vp for the iuste.

There is plenteousnes of fode in ỹ feeldes of the poore, and shall bee increased creased out of measure. He that spareth the rodde, hateth his sonne: but who so loueth hym, holdeth hym euer in nourture. The righteous eateth, and is satisfyed, but the bely of the vngodly hath neuer ynough.

The Notes.

a *Of this is spokē in the .xxvij. Chapter.

The .xiiij. Chapter.

A Wyse woman vpholdethe her house, but a folish wyfe plucketh it downe. Who so feareth the lord, walketh in the right path: & regardeth not him that abhorreth the wayes of ỹ Lorde. In the mouth of the folysh is ỹ boastinge of Lordshyppe, but the lyppes of the wyse wyll be ware of suche. Where no a*oxen are, there the crybbe is emptie: but wheare the oxen laboure there is moch frute. A faythfull wytnesse wyll not dissemble, but a false tecorde wyll make a lye. A scornefull body seketh wysdome, and fyndeth it not: but knoweledg is easye to come by, vnto hym that wyl vnderstand. Se that thou meddle not with a foole, and doo as though thou haddeste no knoweledge. The wysdom of hym that hath vnderstanding is, to take heade vnto hys waye, but the folysshnes of the vnwyse deceaueth. Foles make but a spoorte of synne, but ther is fauorable loue amōg the righteous. The herte of hym that hath vnderstading wyll nether dyspayre for any sorowe, nor be to presumptuous for anye soden ioye.

B The houses of the vngodly shall be ouerthrowne, but the tabernacles of ỹ tyghtuous shall so florysh. There is a b*waye whych some men thynke to bee right, but the ende therof leadeth vnto death. The herte is sorowfull euen in laughter, & the ende of myrth is heuynesse. An vnfaythfull personne shal be fylled wyth hys owne wayes, but a good man wyll beware of suche. An ignorannt body beleueth all thynges but who so hath vnderstādinge, loketh well to hys goynges. A wyse man feareth, and departeth from euell: but a fole goeth on presumptuously. An vnpacient man dealeth folyshlye, but he ỹ is well aduised, doth otherwayes. The ignoraunte haue folysshnes in possession, but the wyse are crowned wt knowledge. The euel shal bowe them selues before the good, and the vngodly shall wayte at the doores of the righteous. The poore is hated euē of his owne neybours, but the rych hath many frendes.

C Who so despyseth his neyghboure, doth amis: but blessed is he ỹ hath pytie of the poore. They ỹ imagin wickednes, shall be disapointed: but they that muse vppon good thynges, vnto such shal happen mercy and faythfulnesse. Dilygent labour bringeth ryches, but where many vayne woordes are, truly ther is scarcenesse. Ryches are and ornamente vnto the wyse, but ỹ ignorannce of ỹ fooles is very folysshnes. A faythfull witnes delyuereth soules, but a lyer deceaueth them. The feare of the Lorde is a strong holde, for vnto hys he wyll be a sure defence. The feare of the Lord is a wel of lyfe, to auoyde the snarys of deth. The increase & prosperitie of ỹ comens is ỹ Kynges honour, but ỹ decay of the people is ỹ confusyon of the prince. Pacience is a token of wysdom, but wrath and hastie displeasure is a tokē of folysshnes. A mery hert is the lyfe of the body, but rancour consumeth awaye the bones. He ỹ doth a poore mā wrong, blasphemeth hys maker: but who so hath pytie of the poore, doth honoure vnto God. The vngodly is afrayd of euery parel, but ỹ righteous hath a good hope euen in deathe. Wysdome resteth in the herte of hym that hath vnderstā ding, and he wyll teache them that are vnlerned. Righteousnes setteth vp the people, but wickednes bryngethe folke to destruction. A discreate seruant, is a pleasur vnto the kynge, but one that is honest prouoketh hym vntowrathe.

The notes

a* By the oxen are signifyed preachers as in .i. Cor. ix. and by the crybbe the churche.

b* way for maner of lyuyng. Psal. i. a. that abydeth not in the way of sinners &c. and ỹ here after in the xvi. c

The .xv. Chapter.

A Softe answer putteth downe displeasur, but frowarde woordes prouoke vnto anger. A wyse tong commendeth knoweledge, a foolysh mouth blabbeth out nothynge but folysshnes.

The

The eyes of the Lorde loke one euery place, both vpō the good and badd.

A wholsome tonge is a tree of lyfe, but he that abuseth it, hathe a brokē minde. A foole despiseth his fathers correccion, but he that taketh hede whā he is reproued shall haue the moare vnderstandynge.

In the house of the rightuous are greate ryches, but in ẏ increase of ẏ vngodly ther is mysorde. A wisemouth poureth oute knowledge, but the herte of the folysh doth not so. The lorde abhorreth the sacrifyce of the vngodly but the prayer of the ryghtuous is acceptable vnto him. The waye of the vngodly is ā abhomīnacīō vnto ẏ lord, but who so folowethe rightuousnes, him he loueth. He that forsaketh ẏ right strete, shalbe sore punysshed: and who so hatethcorrection, falleth in to death: The hel whēr paine is knowne vnto the Lord, how moch more then the hertes of men: A scornful bodye loueth not one that rebuketh hym, neither wyll he come amonge the wise.

A mery herte maketh a chearfull countenauuce, but an vnquyet mynde maketh it heuy. A wyse hart wyll seke after knowledge, but the mouthe of fooles medleth with foolyshnesse.

All the dayes of the poore are mysera-ble, but a quyete herte, is as a continu all feast. Better is alytle w̄ the feare of the lorde then greate treasure, for they are not without sorowe. Better is a messe of potage w̄ loue, then afatore with cuel wyll.

An angry man stereth vp strife, but he ẏ is patient stylleth discorde. The waye of ẏ slouthfull is ful of thornes, but ẏ strete of ẏ rightuous is wel clensed. A wyse sonne maketh a glad father, but an vndiscrete body shamethe his mother. A fole reioyseth in foolishe thinges, but a wyse man lokethe well to his owne goinges. Vnadvysed thoughtes shal come to naught, but where as men are that can geue counsel, there is stedfastnesse. O how ioyfull a thynge is it, a man to geue a conuenient answere: O howe pleasaunt is a worde spoken in due season. The waye of lyfe leadethe vnto heauen, that a man shulde be ware of hell beneth.

The Lorde wyl breake downe ẏ house of ẏ proude, but he shal make fast ẏ borders of ẏ widdow. The lord abhorreth the ymaginacīōs of ẏ wicked, but pure wordes are pleasaūt vnto hi.

The couetous mā roteth vp his owne house, but who so hateth rewards, shal liue. A rightuous mā museth in his minde how to do good, but the mynde of ẏ vngodly ymagineth, how he may do harme. The lorde is farre from the vngodly, but he heareth ẏprayer of ẏ rightuous. Lyke as the clearnesse of the eyes reioyseth ẏ herte, so dothe a good name fede the bones. The eare that herkneth vnto wholsome warnig, and enclineth therto, shal dwel among the wise. He that refuseth to be refourmed, despyseth his owne soule: but he that submitteth him selfe to correcty-on, is wyse.

¶ The. xvi. Capter.

The feare of the Lorde is ẏ rycht science of wysdome, & lowlynes goeth before honour. *a A man may well purpose ea thynge in hys herte, but the answere of the tonge cōmeth of the Lorde. A mā thinketh e al his wayes to be cleane, but it is the lord ẏ fashioneth the myndes. Cōmytte thy worckes vnto ẏ Lorde, and loke what thou deuysest, it shall prosspere. The lorde doth al thynges for his owne sake, yee & when he kepeth ẏ vngodly for the date of wrath. The lorde abhorreth all presumptuous & proude hertes, ther may nether strēgth ner power escape. With louynge mercy, & faithfulnesse synnes be forgeuen, and who so feareth the Lorde eschueth euell. Whē a mās wayes please the lorde, he maketh hys verye enemyes to be hys frendes. Better is it to haue a lytle thynge w̄ rightuous, then great rentes wrōgously gottē. A mā deuyseth away in his hert, but it is ẏ lord ordereth hys goinges. When the prophecy is in ẏ lippes of the king, his mouth shal not go wrong in iudgment.

A true measure & a true balaunce are ar the Lorde, he maketh al weyghtes.

A It is a greate abhominacyō when kinges are wicked, for a kinges seate shulde be holden vp w̄ rightuousnesse.
Ryghtuous lyppes are pleasaunte vnto kynges, and they loue hym ꝑ speaketh ꝑ trueth. The kynges displeasure is a messaūger of death, but a wise man will pacifye hym. The cherefull countenaunce of ꝑ kyng is lyke, & his louynge fauoure is as ꝑ euenyng dewe. To haue wīsdome in possessiō is better then golde, and to get vnderstandinge, is more worth then syluer.
The path of the reghtuous eschueth euel, & who so loketh wel to his wates, kepeth his owne soule. Presumptuousnes goeth before destruccīō, and after a proude stomake there foloweth a fall. Better is it to be of humble mynde with the lowly, then to deuyde the spoyles w̄ the proude. He that handleth a matter wysely, opteynethe good: & blessed is he, ꝑ putteth his trust in the Lorde. Who so hath a wyse vnderstandynge, is called to councel: but he ꝑ can speake fayre getteth more ryches. Understandyng is a wel of lyfe vnto him that hath it, as for the chastenyng of foles, it is but folyshnes. The hert of the wise enkourmeth hys mouth, & amendeth the doctrine in his lyppes. Fayre wordes are an hony combe, a refreshyng of the mynde, & health of the bones. *There is a waye ꝑ men thinke to be right, but the ende therof leadeth vnto death. A troublous soule disquietethe her selfe, for her owne mouth hath brought her therto. An vngodly persōne stereth vp euel, and in his lips he is as an whote burnigfyre:
*Pro.xiiii.b. Deu.xii.a. Esa.lv.b.
A frowarde body causeth stryfe, & he ꝑ is a blabbe of his tonge, maketh deuysyon amounge Princes. A wycked man begileth his neighbour, & leadeth him the waye ꝑ is not good. He* ꝑ wyncketh with hys eyes, ymagyneth myscheefe: & he that byteth his lippes, wyll do some harme. Age is a crowne of worshyp, yf it be founde in ꝑ way of ryghtuousnes. A patient man is better then one stronge: & he ꝑ cā rule himselfe, is more worth then he ꝑ wynneth a cytye. The lottes are cast i to the lappe, but their fall standethe in the Lorde.
*Of this ye haue before in the .x. Chap. b,

The .xvii. Chapter.

BEtter is a drie morsel with quietnesse, then a ful house ā many catcatel with strife. *A discrete seruannte shal haue more rule then ꝑ sonnes ꝑ haue no wysdome, & shall haue like heritage with the brethrē. Like as siluer is tried in the fire & golde in ꝑ fornace, euē so doth ꝑ Lord proue the hertes. A wicked body holdeth moch of false lippes, & a dessemblig persōne geueth eare to a deceatfull tōge.
*Eccli.x.d
*Who so laugheth the poore to scorne, blasphemeth his maker: & he ꝑ is glad of another mās hurt, shal not be vnpunisshed. Chyldets chyldren are a worshyppe vnto the elders, & the fathers arē the honour of ꝑ children. An eloquent speach becōmethe not a foole, a dessembling mouth also besemeth not a prince. Liberalyte is a precious stone vnto him that hath it, for where soeuer he becōmeth, he prospereth.
*Pro.xiiii.d Iob.xxxi.c Pro.xxiiii.c
Who so couereth an other mans offence, seketh loue: but he that discloseth the faute, settethe frendes et variaunce. One reproke doth more good to him ꝑ hath vnderstādinge, then an C. stripes vnto a foole. A seditious persōne seketh myscheefe, but a cruel messaūger shalbe sente agaynste hym.
It were better to come agaynst a shee Bere robbed of her whelpes, then agaynst a foole, in his folyshnes.
*Who so rewardeth euell for good, the plage shal not depart frō his house
*Rom.xii.d i.Pet.iv.b i.Thes.v.d
He ꝑ soweth discorde & stryfe, is like one ꝑ diggeth vp a water broke: but ā opē enemy is like ꝑ water ꝑ breakethe out & rēneth abroade. The lord hateth as wel him ꝑ iustifieth ꝑ vngodly, as hi ꝑ cōdēpneth ꝑ innocēt. What helpeth it to geue a foole money in his hād, wher as he hath no mīd to by wisdō? He is a frēde ꝑ al way loueth, & i aduersyte a mā shal know who is his brother: who so promiseth by ꝑ hād, & is suerti for another, he is a foole. He ꝑ loueth strife, delyteth in synne: and who so settethe his doore to hye, seketh after a fall.

Who so hath a frowarde herte ope-teineth no good: & he ỹ hath an ouerth warte tonge, shall fall in to myschefe.
An vnwise body bringeth him selfe into sorowe, and the father of a foole can haue no ioye. A merye herte ma keth a lustye corage, but a sorowfull mynde drieth vp the bones. The vn godly taketh gifres out of the bosom, to wreste the wayes of iudgment.
Wysdome shyneth in the face of hym that hath vnderstandynge, but the eyes of fooles wandre thorow out all lan
des. An vndiscrete sonne is a greke vnto his father, & an heuynesse vnto his mother that bare hym. To punish the innocent, & to smyte the princes ỹ geue tru iudgment, ar both euel.
*He is wyse & discrete, ỹ tempereth his wordes: & he is a man of vnderstā dinge, ỹ maketh moch of his spyrete: Yee a very foole (when he holdeth his tonge) is counted wyse, and to haue vn derstanding, when he shutteth his lip pes.

*Pro.xii.d and, xv.b Eccli.xxx.c Pro.xxiii.a

*Eccli.iii.c e.viii.a

*Iacob.iii.a

The.xviii.Chapter.

A Who so hath pleasure to sow dyscorde, pyketh a quarell in euery thynge. A foole hath no delyte in vnderstā dynge, but onelye in those thynges wherin his hert reioyseth.
Where vngodlynes is, there is also disdayne: and so there foloweth shame and dishonoure: The wordes of a mās mouth are lyke depe waters, and the well of wysdome is lyke a full streame.
It is not good to a*regarde the personne of the vngodly, or to put backe the righteous in iudgemente. A fooles lyppes are euer brawling, & his mouthe prouoked vnto battayll. A fooles mouth is his owne destruccion, & his B lyppes are ỹ snare for his owne soule.
The wordes of a sclaunderer are very woundes, & go thorow vnto ỹ vnmost partes of the body. Who so is slouth full & slacke in his laboure, is ỹ brother of him that is a waster: The name of the Lorde is a strōge castel, the righ teous flyeth vnto it, & shalbe saued.
But ỹ rych mans goodes are his strōg holde, yee he taketh them for an hy wal rounde about him. After pryde cōmeth C destruccō, & honour after lowlynes.
*He ỹ geueth sentēce in a matter be fore he heare it, is a foole, & woorthye to be cōfounded. A good stomacke driuethe awaye a mans disease, but whē the spyrete ys vexed, who maye a bide it? A wysse herte labourethe for knowledge, & a prudente eare seketh vnderstandynge. Liberalyte bryn-geth a man to honour & worshipe, and setteth hī among great men. The righ tuous accuseth him selfe first of al, yt his neyghboure come, he shal fynde hī. D
The lot pacifieth ỹ variaunce, & par teth the mightie a sunder. The vnite of bretheren is stronger then a castel, & they ỹ holde together are like the barre of a palace. A mans belye shalbe satisfyed with ỹ frut of hys own mouth, and with ỹ encrease of his lippes shal he be fylled. Death and lyfe stād in ỹ power of the tonge, he that loueth it, shal eniope the frute therof. Who so fyndeth a wyfe fyndeth a good thing and receaueth an wholsome benefite of ỹ Lord: The pooze maketh suppli cacyon and prayeth mekely, but ỹ rich geueth a rough answere. A frende ỹ delyteth in loue, doth a mā moze frēd-shipe, & sticketh faster vnto him then a brother.

The notes
a* That is, to owe fauer to the person, &c.

The.xix.Chapter.

BEtter is the pooze ỹ liueth godly, then the blasphemer that is but a A foole. Where no discrecion is, there the soule is not well: & who so is swyfte one foote, stōbleth hastely. Folishnesse maketh a mā to go out of his waye, and then is his herte vnpacient agaynste the Lorde: Ryches make many frendes, but the pooze is forsakē of his owne frendes. A falle witnesse shall not remayne vnpunished, & he ỹ speaketh lyes shall not escape. The multitude hangeth vpon greate men, & euery man fauoureth him ỹ geueth rewardes. As for the pooze, he is ha ted amonge all hys brethrē: yee his ow ne frēdes forsake him, & he that geueth credēce vnto wordes, getteth nothing.
He ỹ is wyse, loueth his own soule:

and who so hath vnderstanding, shall prospere. A false witnesse shal not remayne vnpunyshed, and he that speaketh lyes shal perishe. Delicate ease becommeth not a foole, much more vnseemelye is it, a bonde man to haue the rule of princes. A wyse man putteth of displeasure, and it is his honour to let some faultes passe. The kynges displeasure is lyke the roaring of a Lyō, but his frendshyp is like the dewe vpō the grasse. An vndiscrete sonne is ẏ heuynes of his father, and a brawling wyfe is like ẏ topp of an house, where thorow it is euer dropping.

☞ House and ryches maye a mā haue by ẏ heritage of his elders, but a discrete woman is the gyft of the Lord.

Slouthfulnes bringeth slepe, and an ydel soule shall suffer honger.

C Who so kepeth the cōmaundement, kepeth his owne soule: but he ẏ regardeth not his waye, shal dye. He ẏ hath pitie vpon ẏ poore, lendeth vnto the Lord: and loke what he layeth out, it shal be payed him agayne. Chasten thy sonne whyle ther is hope, but let not thi soule be moued to slaye him. For grate wrath bringeth harme, therfore let him go, and so mayest thou teach hym more nurtoure.

D geue eare vnto good councell, & becontent to be reformed, ẏ ẏ mayst be wyse here after. There are manyde vyces in a mans hert, neuer theles the cōcel of the Lord shal stande. It is a D mans worshipe to do good, and better it is to be a poore man, then a dyssembler. The feare of the Lorde preserueth the life, yee it geueth plentuousnes, without ẏ vysytacion of any plag. A slouthful body shutteth hys hand in to his bosome, so that he can not put it to his mouth. If thou smitest a scorneful person, ẏ ignorant shal take better hede: and yf thou reprouest one ẏ hath vnderstanding, he wyl bey wiser.

*Pro. xxi. b

He ẏ hurteth his father or shutteth out his mother, is a shamefull and an vnworthy sonne. My sonne, heare no more the doctrine ẏ leadeth the awaye from ẏ wordes of vnderstanding.

A false witnes laugheth iudgement to scorne, and ẏ mouth of the vngodly eateth vp wickednes. Punishmentes are ordenen for the scorneful, and stypes for fooles backes.

a *Of this is spokē in the nyenth Chapter. b

The Notes

The. xx. Chapter.

WYne is a voluptuous thinge, and dronkenes causeth A sedicyō: who so delyteth ther in, shal nether be wyse.

The kynge ought to be feared as the roaring of a lyon, who so prouoketh hi vnto anger, offendeth agaynst hys owne soule. It is a mās honaur to kepe hym self from stryfe, but they ẏ haue pleasure in brawlinge, are fooles euery one. A slouthful body will not go to plow for cold, therfore shal he go abegging in Sommer, & haue nothing.

Wyse counsell in ẏ hert of mā is like a water in ẏ depe of ẏ earthe, but he ẏ hath vnderstanding, bringeth it forth. Many ther be yͭ are called good doers, but where shall one fynde a true faithfulmā? Who so ledeth a godly & an innocent lyfe, happie shal his childre be B whom he leaueth behynde hym. A kynge that sytteth in iudgment, and loketh well aboute hym, driueth away all euell. *Who can saye: my herte is cleane, I am innocēt frō synne.

*i. Johñ. i. d iii, Re. viii. e ii. Par. vi. g Eccle. vii. c.

To vse two maner of weights, or two maner of measures, both these ar abhominable vnto the Lorde. A chylde is knowne by his conuersacyon, whether his workes be pure & right.

As for the hearynge of the eare & the syght of ẏ eye, the Lord hath made the both. Delyte not thou in slepe, lest thou come vnto pouerte: but opē thine eyes, & thou shalt haue bred ynough.

It is naught, It is naught (say men) when they haue it, but when it is gone they geue it a good word. A mouth of vnderstanding is more worth then golde, many precious stones, & costely Jewels. Take his garmēt that is suerty for a straunger, & take a pledge of hym for the vnknowne mans sake: Euery mā liketh the bred that is gotten wyth disceate, but at the laste hys mouth shalbe filled with grauell.

Thorow councell the thinges that men deuyse go forwarde: and wyth discrecion ought warres tobe taken i

hande

hande. Medle not with him that bewrayeth secretes, and is a sclaunderer, and disceaueth with his lippes. Who so curseth hys father and mother, hys light shalbe put out in the myddest of darcknesse. The heritage that cõmeth
D to hastely at the fyrst, shal not be praysed at the ende. Saye not thou: I wyl recompence euel, but put thou thy trust in the Lord, and he shal defende
☞ the. The Lorde abhorreth two maner of weyghtes, and a false balaunce is an euel thinge. The Lord ordereth euery manes goinges, for what is he, that vnderstandeth his owne wayes? It is a snare for a man to blaspheme ỹ which is holy, and then to go about w̃ vowes. A wyse kynge destroyeth ỹ vngodlye, and bryngeth the whele ouer them. The lanterne of the Lord is the brech of man, and goeth thorow all the ☞ inward partes of the body. Mercy and faithfulnes preserue the kyng, and w̃ loutinge kyndnes his seate is holden vp. The strength of yonge men is their worshipe, and a graye head, is an honour vnto ỹ aged. Woundes drive awaye euel, and so stryppes the inward partes of the body.

The.xxi.Chapter.

The kynges hert is ỹ hand of the Lorde, lyke as are ỹ
A ryuers of water: he maye turne it whither so euer he wil. Euery man thincketh his owne waye to be right, but the lord ☞ iudgeth the hertes. To do righteousnesse and iudgemente is more acceptable to the Lord then sacrifice. A proude loke, a proude stomacke, & the lanterne of the vngodly is synne. The deuyces of one that is diligente, bryng plenteousnes: but he that is vnaduysed, commeth vnto pouerte. Who so hoordeth vp ryches with the disceatfulnes of his tong, he is a foole, and lyke vnto thẽ that seke their owne death. The robberies of the vngodly shal be their owne destruccion, for they wold not do the thyng that was right

The wayes of the froward are straunge, but the worckes of hym that is cleane, are ryght.

*It is better to dwel in a corner vnder B the house toppe, then w̃ a braulyng woman in a wyde house. The soule of the vngodly wysheth euel, and hath no pyte vpon his neyghboure. *When the scorneful is punished, the ignorãt take the better hede: and when a wyse man is warned, he wyl receaue ỹ more vnderstandyng. The righteous enkourmeth the house of the vngoly, but the vngodlye goo on styll after their owne wickednesse. Who so stoppeth his eare at the cryeng of the poore, he shal crye him selfe and not be herde. A preuy rewarde pacifyeth displeasure, and a gyfte in the bosome stylleth furyousnesse. The iust delyteth in doynge the thinge that is right, but the workes of wickednesse abhore the same.

The man that wandereth out of the waye of wysdome, shal remayne in the congregaciõ of the deed. *He that hath C pleasure in banckettes, shall be a poore man: Who so delyteth in wyne and delicates, shal not be ryche. The vngodly shal be geuen for the righteous, & ỹ wicked for the iust. It is better to dwel in a wylderneſſe, then with a chyding and an angry woman. In a wyse mans house, there is greate treasure & plentuousnesse, but a folysh body spendeth vp al. Who so foloweth righteousnesse and mercy kyndeth bothe lyfe, rightousnes & honour. A wyse man wynneth ỹ citie of ỹ mite, & as for ỹ strength ỹ they trust in, he bringeth it downe. Who so kepeth his mouth and his tõg the same kepeth his soule from trouble He that is proude and presumptuous, is called a scorneful mã, which i wrath darre worcke malitiously. The voluptuousnesse of the slouthful is his owne D death, for his handes wyl not laboure. He coueteth and desyreth al the daye longe, but the righteous is alwaye geuing and kepeth nothing backe. *The sacrifice of the vngodly is abhominacion, for they offer the thynge that is gotten, wyth wyckednes. A false wytnesse shall perysche, but he that wyll be contente to heare, shall all waye haue power to speake him selfe.

An vngodly man goeth forth rashly, but ỹ iust reformeth his owne waie.

Esaie, 1.d: and.xlvi.b Psal.xxxii.c

There is no wysdom, ther is no vnder standing, there is no councell agaynst the lord. The horse is prepared against the daye of battel, but the lorde geueth the victory.

The xxii. Chapter.

A * Good name is more worth then greate ritches, and lo= uyng fauour is better then syluer and golde.

A *Eccle.xli Eccle.vii.a. Whether riches or pouerte do mete vs, it cōmeth al of God. A wy= se man seeth the plage and hydeth hym selfe, but the folysh go on styll and are punished. The ende of lowlynes and the feare of God, is riches honour, pros perite and helth. Speares and snares are in the waye of the frowarde, but he that wyll kepe hys soule let hym flee frō suche. If thou teachest a chylde in his youth what waye he should go, he shal not leaue it when he is olde. The ryche ruleth the poore, & ỹ borower is seruā= ūt to ỹ lēder: Hy ỹ soweth wyckednes shal reape sorowe, and ỹ rod of his pla ge shall destroye hym. * A louynge eye

B Eccli.xxxvb shalbe blessed, for he geueth of his bred vnto the pore. Cast out the a scorneful man, and so shall stryfe goo oute wyth him, yee, vartaunce and sclaunder shal cease. Who so delyteth to be of a cleane hert and of gracious lyppes, the kin g. shall be hys frend. The eyes of the lord preserue knowledg, but as for the wor des of the despytefull, he bryngeth thē to naught. The slouthfull body sayth: ther is a lyon without, I might be slai ne in the stret. The mouth of an harlote is a deps pyt, wherin he fallyth that ỹ lorde is angry wyth al.

Folysbnes sticketh in the hert of the lad but the rod of correctiō driueth it away

C Who so doth a poore man wrong to in crease hys owne riches, geueth (comen ly, vnto the riche, & at the last commeth to pouertie hym selfe. My sonne, bowe downe thyne eare, and hercken vnto ỹ wordes of wysdome, applye thy mynde vnto my doctryne: for it is a pleasaunt thynge yf thou kepe it in thyne hert, & practise it in thy mouth, that thou mai alway put thy truste in the Lorde.

Haue not I warned the verye oft wt councel and lernynge: that I might shewe the trueth and that thou wyth ỹ veryte myghtest answere them ỹ laye eny thinge against the: Be ỹ thou rob not the poore, because he is weake, and oppres not the symple in iudgemēt: for ỹ Lord him selfe wil defend their cause, D and do violence vnto them that haue vsed violence. Make no frendshyp wt an angrye wylful man, and kepe no cō pany with the furious: lest thou lerne hys wayes, and receaue hurt vnto thy soule. Be not thou one of them ỹ bynd their hande vpō promyse, and are suer tye for det: for if thou hast nothinge to paye, they shal take awaye thy bed frō vnder the. Thou shalt not remoue the lande marcke, whyche thy fore elders haue sett. Seyst thou not, that they which be dylygente in their busynesse stand before kynges, and not amonge the symple people.

The notes.

a* Loke before in the ix capter. b

The.xxiii. Chapter.

A When thou syttest at the ta= ble to eate wt a Lord, ordre thy selfe manerly with the thynges that ar set before the. Measure thyne appe= tyte: and if thou wylt rule thyne owne selfe, be not ouer greadye of his meate, for meate begyleth and disceaueth. Take not ouer greate trauayle and la boure to be ryche, bewar of such a pur pose. Why wilt thou set thyne eye vpō the thinge, which sodenly vanisheth a= waye. For ryches make them selues wynges, and a* take their flight lyke an Aegle in to the ayre. Eate not thou wt ỹ enuyous, & desyre not his meate, for he hath a maruelous hert. He saith vnto the eate and drinck, where as his B hert is not with the. Yee the morsels ỹ thou hast eaten shalt thou parbrake, & lese those swete wordes. Tel nothing in to the eares of a foole, for he wyl de spyse the wysdome of thy wordes. Re= moue not the olde lande marke, & com not with in the felde of the fatherles: For he ỹ delyuereth them is myghtie, euen he shal defend their cause against ỹ. Applie thyne herte vnto lernyng & thyne care to the wordes of knowldge. Pro:xiii.d, Eccli:xxx * Withholde not correccon from ỹ child

for

for if thou beatest him with the rodde, he shal not dye therof. Thou smitest him with the rodd, but thou deliuerest his soule from hell. My sonne, yf thy herte receaue wysdome, my herte also shal reioyce: yee my reines shal be very glad, if thy lyppes speake the thinge yᵗ is right. Let not thin hert be geloufe to folowe synners, but kepe the styll in the feare of the Lord[b] al the daie lōg: for the ende is not yet come, and thy patient abiding shal not be in vayne.

C My sonne, geue eare & be wyse, so shal thine hert prospere in the waye. Kepe no companye with wyne bybbers and ryotous eaters of flesche: for such as be dronckardes and ryotous shal come to pouerte, and he that is geuen to much slepe, shal go with a rage cote. Geue eare vnto thy father that begat the, & despyse not thy mother when she is old Labour for to get the truth: sel not awaye wysdome, nourtoure and vnderstāding (for a righteous father is marueious glad of a wyse sonne, and delyteth in him) so shal thy father be glad & thy mother that bare the shall reioyce My sonne, geue me thine hert, let thine eyes haue pleasure in my wayes. For an whore is a depe graue, and an harlot is a narow pyt. She lurcketh lyke a theefe, and those that be not aware she bringeth vnto her. Where is wo?

D where is sorow? where is strife? where is braulinge? where are woundes with out cause? where be reed eyes? Euen among those that be euer at the wyne, & seke out where the best is. Loke not thou vpon the wine, how redde it is, & what a coloure it geueth in the glasse.

It goeth downe softly, but at the last it byteth like a serpent, & stingeth as an Adder. So shal thyne eyes loke vnto straung women, and thyne herte shal muse vpon frowarde thinges. Yee yᵉ shalt be as though yᵉ steptest i ymidd-dest of the see, or vpō the top of the mast They woūded me (shalt thou saye) but it hath not hurt me, thei smot me, but I felt it not. When I am wel wakened, I wyl go to the drincke agayne.

The Notes.

a* That is vanished first awaye.

b* As before in the .xxi. d.

The .xxiiii. Chapter

E not thou gelous ouer A wycked men, and desire not thou to be among them. For their herte ymagneth to do hurte, and their lyppes talke of myschefe. Through wysdome an house shal be buylded, and with vnderstanding it shal be set vp. Through discretion shal the chābers be fylled with al costly and pleasaunt ryches. A wise man is stronge, ye a mā of vnderstandinge is better then he yᵉ is myghty of strength. For with dyscrection must warres be taken in hand, and where as are many that can geue councel, there is the victory. Wysdom is an hye thing, ye euē to the foole for he[a] darre not open his mouth in yᵉ gate. He that ymagineth mischef may welbe called an vngracious personne. The thoughte of the foolysche is synne and the scorneful is an habitacion vnto men. [b]* If thou be ouer sene and negligente in tyme of nede, then is thy strength but smal. Delyuer them yᵉ B go vnto death, and are led awaye to be slayne, and be not negligent therin. If thou wilt saye: I knowe not of it. Thynkeste thou yᵉ he whych made the hertes, doth not consydre it? and that he which regardeth thy soule, seyth it not? Shal not he recompence euery mā accordinge to his workes? My sonne, yᵉ eatest hony and the swete hony combe, because it is good & swete in thy mouth. Euen so shal the knowledge of wysdome be vnto thy soule, as soone as yᵉ hast gotten it.

And there is good hope, yee thy hope shal not be in vayne. Laye no prevy wayte wickedlye vpon the house of the righteous, and disquiet not his resting place. For a iust man falleth c* seuē tymes, and rayseth vp a gayne but the vngodly fal in to wyckednes. Reioyce not yᵉ at yᵉ fal of thine enmie, & let not thyne hert be glad when he stō-bleth. Let the Lorde (when he sayeth i be angry, & turne his wrath frō hī vnto yᵉ[d]* Let not thy wrath and gelousye moue the, to folow yᵉ wicked & vngodely. And why? yᵉ wicked hath nothing C to hope for, & yᵉ candel of the yᵉ vngodely shal be put out. My sonne, feare yᵉ

If. ij the

the Lord & the kynge, & kepe no cõpany wt ỹ sclaunderous: for their destruction shal come sodenly, and who knoweth the fal of them both? These are also the sayenges of the wyse. It is not good, to haue respecte of any person in iudgmẽt. He ỹ saieth to the vngodly: ỹ art righteous, him shal ỹ people curse, ye ỹ cõmẽte shal abhorre him. But they ỹ rebuke the vngodly shal be cõmẽded, & a ryche blessing shal come vpon thẽ. He maketh him selfe to be wel loued, ỹ geueth a good answere. First make vp thy worcke that is without, & loke wel vnto ỹ which thou hast in the felde and then buyld thyne house. Be no false wytnesse agaynst thy neighbour, and hurt him not wt thy lyppes. Saye not, I wil handel him, euen as he hath dealt with me, & wyl reward euery mã accorning to his dedes. I went by the felde of the slouthful, & by ỹ vyniardes of ỹ foolysh man. And lo, it was al couered wt nettels, & stode ful of thistles, & ỹ ston wal was broken downe. This I sawe, & cõsydered it wel: I loked vpon it, and toke it for a warnyng. * Yee slepe on stil a lytle, slomber, a lytle fold thyne hãdes together yet a litle: so shal pouertye come vnto the as one ỹ trauayleth by the waye, and necessite lyke a weponed man.

Prou. vi:d

The notes

a* That is, he darre not be found amonge ỹ wyse to geue councel. Luke Ruth. iiii. a and. ii. Reg. xv. a b* That is, if thou offende in temtacion by impacience, thy vertu is lytell estemed.

c* That is, often times after ỹ maner of speking of ỹ Hebrues. In this world is there no mã perfectly iust or ryghtwes: and yet ar they also called which haue the foundacion of rghtwesnes, that is faith in Christ, which thynge whoso hathe, shal in time to com, receaue ful and perfecte ryghtuousnes, accordyng to ỹ saing of saincte Paul whom he appoynted before, them also he called, and whome he called, them also he iustyfyed that is made rightwes by faith Rom viii x

d* That is to saye, to be auenged on the, in geuing him repentaunce.

The. xxv. Chapter:

These also are the a* sayinges of Salomon, which ỹ mẽ of Ezekiah kynge of Juda b* gathered together.

a* Some Prouerbes.
b* Some copyed out

It is ỹ honour of god to kepe a c* thyng secrete, but ỹ kynges honour, is to serch out a d* thynge. The heauens is hye, ỹ erth is depe and the kynges hert is c* vnserchable.

Take the drosse from the syluer, and ther shalbe a cleane vessel therof.

Take awaye vngodlynes from the kynge, and his seate shal be stablished with rightuousnes. Put not forth thy self in thy presence of the king, and prece not in to the place of greate men. Better is it ỹ it be sayde vnto the: cõe vp hither, then thou to be set downe in the presence of the prynce whome thou seyst with thine eyes. Be not hasty to go to the lawe, leste happlie thou ordre thy selfe so at the last, that thy neighboure put ỹ to shame hãdle thy matter wt thy nebour him self, & dyscouer not another manes secrete: lest whẽ mẽ here therof, it turne to thy dishonoure, and lest thine euel name do not cease. A word spoken in due season, ys lyke apples of gold in a syluer dishe. The correctiõ of the wyse is to an obediẽt eare, a golden cheyne and a Jewel of gold, like as the winter cool in the haruest, so is a faythful messenger to hym that sente him, and refresheth his masters mynd. Who so maketh greate boastes & geueth nothig, is like cloudes & wind wout raine. With pacience mat a prince be pacifyed, and with a soft tõge maye rygorousnes be brokẽ. If thou findest hony, eate so much as is sufficiente for the, lest thou be ouer ful, and parbrake it out againe. Withdrawe thi fote frõ thy neybours house, lest he be wery of ỹ, & so abhorre the. Who so bereth false wytnes agaist hys neyghboure he is a bery spere, a swerd & a schatparow. The hope of ỹ vngodli i time of nede, is like a rotten toth and a slippery fote. Who so syngeth a songe to a wycked herte, clotheth hym with ragges in the colde, and poureth vyneger vpon chalke.

* If thin enmy hunger, feade him: if he thurst, geue him drynck: for so shalt thou heape coales of fyre vpõ his hed, and the Lord shal reward the.

The North wynd dryueth awaye the rayne, euen so doth an earneste sober ber countenaunce a backbiters tonge. It is better to syt in a cozner vnder ỹ roke, then with a bzaulynge woman in a wyde house. A good tydynge out of a farre countre, is lyke coulde water to a thirsty soule.

A rightuous mã fallyng downe before the vngodlye, is lyke a troubled wel and a spryge that is destroyed.

Like as it is not good to eate to much hony, euen so he that wyl search out hy thynges, it shal be to heuy for him. He that can not rule hym selfe, is lyke a cite whych is broken downe, and hathe no walles.

The notes.

c* Some reade, the word: and vnderstand therby hys Godheed.

d* Here also do somereade, the worde: and vnderstand therby the lawe, as is commaunded in Deut. i.c,x,xvii d.

e* Because his hert is in the hande of god, as yee reade before in the xxi.a. Or because of many feates that he hath to do for the comen wealth.

f* By this prouerb doth Salomon note the rulers and gouerners of the people, which do not their office and dutie, as is shewed Jeremie.xlviii.b

¶ The.xxvi. Chapter.

A Like as snowe is not mete in sommer, ner rayne in haruest: euen so is worshippe vnsemely for a foole. Lyke as the byrde and the swalowe take their flyght and flie here and ther, so the curse that is geuen in vaine, shall not lyght vpon a man. Unto the horse belongeth a whyppe, to the Asse a brydle, and a rodde to the fooles backe. Geue not ỹ foole an answere after hys foolyshnesse, lest thou become lyke vnto him: but make the foole an answere to his foolyshnesse, lest he be wise in his owne conceate. He is laime, of his fete, yea dronken is he in vaine, that committeth eny thynge to a fole.

B Lyke as it is an vnsemely thynge to haue legges & yet to halt, euen so is a parable in the fooles mouth. He that setteth a foole in hye dignite, that is euen as yf a manne dyd caste a precious stone vpon the galous.

A parable in a fooles mouth is lyke a thorne that prycketh a dronken mã in the hande.

A man of experience discerneth al thyn ges wel, but who so hyreth a foole, hyreth soch one as wyll take no hede.

C Lyke as the dogge turneth he againe to hys vomyte, euen so a foole beginneth hys foolishnesse agayne afresh. If thou seyst aman that is wise in his owne conceate, ther is more hope in a fole then in hym. The slouthful sayeth there is a leoparde in the waye, & a lyon in the myddest of the stretes. Lyke as the dore turneth about vpon the threshold, euen so doth the slouthful welter hymselfe in hys bed. * The slothful body thrusteth hys hande in to hys bosome, and it greueth hym to put it againe to hys mouth. The slougard thynketh hym selfe wyser, then a*. vii. men b* that sytte and teache. Who so goeth by and medleth with othermens strife, he is lyke one that taketh a dog by the eares. Lyke as one shooteth deadly arowes and dartes out of a priuy place, euen so doth a dissembler with his neyghboure. And then sayth he, I dyd it but in sporte: where no wood is, there the fire goeth out: and wher the backbyter is taken away, there the stryfe ceaseth. *Prou: xix.c

Eccl.xxviii.b

* Coles kyndle heate, and wood the fyre: euen so doth a braulyng felow stirre vp variaunce. A sclaunderers wordes are lyke flatterye, but they peatse ỹ inward partes of the body. D

Uenimous lyppes and a wicked hart, are lyke a potsherd, couered with syluer drosse. An enemy dissembleth wyth his lyppes, and in the meane season he ymagineth myscheefe, but when he speketh fayre, beleue hym not, for ther are seuē abhominations in hys herte. Who soo kepeth euell wyl, secretelye to do hurt, hys malyce shall be shewed before the whole congregation. * Who so dygeth vp a pytte, shall fall therin: and he that weltereth a stone, shall stomble vpon it hym selfe. A dissemblyng tong hateth one that rebuketh hym, and a flattring mouth worketh myscheefe.

*Eccl.x, & Eccl.xxviii.b

The notes.

a* That is, many: as before in the.xxiiii.b. and in many other places.

b* Some reade that answere to the purpose, or that speake reason.

The.xxvii. Chapter.

A MAke not thy bost of to morow, for ỹ knowest not what maye happen to daye. Let a nother mā praise the, and not thyne owne mouth: ye other folkes lippes, & not thine.

Thestone is heuy, and the sande weyghtye: but a fooles wrath is heuyer then they both.

Wrath is a cruel thinge, and furyousnesse is a very tempest: ye who is able to abyde enuye? An open rebuke is better then a secrete loue. Faithful are the a* woundes of a louer, but the kysses of an enemy are disceatful. Ye that is ful, abhorreth an honye combe: but B vnto him that is hongry, euery sower thinge is swete. Ye that oft tymes flyteth, is like a byrde that forsaketh her nest. The hert is glad of a swete ointment and sauoure, but a stomacke that can gaue good councel, reioyseth a mānes neyghboure.

Thyne owne frende and thy fathers frende se ỹ forsake not, but go not to thy brothers house in time of thy trouble.

Better is a frend at hand, then a brother farre of.

My sonne, be wyse, & thou shalt make me a glad hert: so that I shal make answere vnto my rebukes. A wyse man seynge the plage wyl hide him self, as for fooles they go one styll, and suffer harme, * Take his garment that is surertye for a straunger, and take a pledge of him for the vnknowne mās sake

Prouer. x.c.

Ye that is to hasty to prayse his neighboure aboue measure, shalbe taken as C one that geueth him an euel report. A brauling woman & the roke of ỹ house dropyng in a raynye daye, maye wel be compared to gether.

Ye that refrayneth her, refrayneth ỹ wind, & holdeth oyle fast in his hāde: Lyke as one yron whetteth a nother, so doth one man cōfort another. Who so kepeth his fygetre, shall enioye the frutes therof: he that wayteth vpō his master, shal come to honoure. Lyke as in one water there apeare dyuers faces, euen so dyuerse men haue diuers hertes. Lyke as hel and destruccyō are neuer ful, euen so the b* eyes of men cā neuer be satisfied. Syluer is tried in ỹ moulde, and golde in the fornace, and so is a man, whenhe is openlye praysed to his face. Though thou shuldest bray a foole with a pestell in a morter lyke otemeele, yet wyl not his folysshesse go from him. Se that thou know the nōber of thy cattel thy selfe, and loke wel to thy flockes. For ryches abyde not alway, and the c* crowne endureth not for euer. The hey groweth, the grasse commeth vp, and herbes are gathered in the mountaynes. The lambes shal cloth the, and for the goates thou shalt haue money to thy husbandry. Thou shalt haue goates mylke ynoughe to fede the, to vphold thy housholde, and to sustayne thy maidens.

D

The notes.

a* By woūdes here vndersta̅d chekes rebukes & reproues &c. And by kisses, prayses & flatteringes. &c.
b* That is the herte of men are insatyable, as in the Psal. ci. b c* Croūe for honoure & abundaunce as ỹ Psalme

The. xxviii. Chapter

THe vngodly a* flieth no mā chasyng him, but the righA tuous standeth styfe as a lyon. Because of synne the lande doth oft chaung her prince: but thorow men of vnderstandyng & wysdom, a realme endureth long.

One poore mā oppressing another by violēce, is like a continual rayne ỹ destroyeth the frute. They that forsake thy lawe, prayse the vngodly: but such as kepe the lawe abhorre them. Wicked mē discerne not the thynge that is ryght, but they ỹ seke after the Lorde, discusse al thinges.

A poore man ledinge a godly lyfe, is bettes thē the ryche ỹ goeth in froward wayes. Who so kepeth the lawe, is a B childe of vnderstandinge: but he ỹ fedeth ryotous men, shameth his father. Who so increaseth his rices by b* vsurye and wynning, let him gather thē to helpe the poore with al. He that turneth away his eare from hearinge ỹ lawe, his prayer shal be abhorred.

Who so leadeth the rightuous i to an euel waye, shal fal in to his owne pyt, but the iust shal haue the good in possession. The rych man thinketh hym selfe to be wyse, but the poore that hath vnderstandinge c* cā perceaue him wel ynough.

When rightuous men are in prospe-rite

rite, then doth honoure flozsh: but whē the vngodly come vp, the state of men chaungeth. He that hideth hys synnes, shal not prospere: but who so knowledgeth them and forsaketh thē, shal haue mercy. Wel is him that standeth al waie in awe: as for him that hardeneth his hert, he shal fal in to mischefe. Like as a roaring lyon ād an hongry beare, euen so is an vngodly prince ouer the poore people.

Where the prince is without vnderstanding, there is greate oppressiō & wrong: but if he be such one as hateth couetousnesse, he shal longe rayne. He ꝙ by violence shedeth eny mās bloud, shal be a rennagate vnto his graue, & no man shall be able to succoure him.

Who so leadeth a godly and an innocent lyfe, shalbe safe: but he that goeth frowarde wayes, shal ones haue a fal.

Prou.xii.b. Eccl.xx.d *He that tylleth his lād, shal haue plēteousnesse of bread: but he that folowēth ydilnes, shal haue pouerte ynough

A faithful man is greatly to be commended, but he that maketh to muche haste for to be riche, shal not be vngiltie. To haue respecte of persones in iudgement is not good: And why? he wil do wrong, ye euē for a pece of bred.

D He that wyl be rich al to soone, hath an euel eye, and cōsidreth not, that pouerte shal come vpoñ hi. He that rebuketh a man, shal fynde more fauoure at the last, thē he ꝙ flatreth hi. Who so robeth his father and mother, and sayeth it is no synne: the same is like vnto a murtherer. He that is of a proud stomacke stereth vp stryfe: but he ꝙ putteth hys trust in the Lord, shalbe wel fedd. He ꝙ trusteth in his owne hert, is a foole: but he that dealeth wysely, shalbe safe.

He that geueth vnto the poore, shal not want: but he ꝙ turneth awaye hys eyes from such as be in necessitie, shall suffer greate pouerte him selfe.

When the vngodly are come vp, men are fayne to hide them selues: but whē they perish, the rightuous increase.

The notes

a* This flight is the feare wherof is spoken in the liii. Psalme b. They are afrayede where no feare is &c. Which thinge chaunceth, when al thynges are done in vnbeleefe, for want of ꝙ knowledge of god.

b* Some reade vsury: and vnmeasurable gaynes, shal gather them to do almes to the poore. That is to saye, by him that shal haue thē after him.

c* Some reade, searcheth it, that is to saye, to iudge better of his condicion: and not streyghte wayes to thincke him wyse because he is ryche.

The.xxix. Chapter.

HE that is styfnecked & wyl not be reformed, shal sodenlye be destroyed wyth out eny helpe. Where the ryghtnous haue the ouer hande the people are in prosperite: but where the vngodlye beareth rule, there the people mourne. Who so loueth wysdōe, maketh his father a glad man: but he ꝙ kepeth harlottes, spendeth awaye ꝙ he hath. With true iudgment ꝙ kynge setteth vp ꝙ lande, but if he be a man ꝙ taketh giftes, he turneth it vpsydowne. Who so flattereth hys neyghboure, layeth a net for hys fete: The synne of the wickhed is his owne snare, but the ryghtuous shall be glad & reioyce. The ryghtuous considreth ꝙ cause of the poore, but the vngodly regardeth no vnderstandinge. Wicked people bring a citie in decaye, but wise men set vp agayne. If a wyse man go to lawe with a foole (whether he deale with him frendlye or roughly) he getteth no rest. The bloudthyrsti hateth ꝙ rightuous, but ꝙ iust[a] seke his soule. A foole poureth out his spyrete altogether, but a wyse man kepeth it in til afterward. If a prince delit in lyes, al his seruauntes are vngodly. The poore & the lender mete together, the Lord lightneth both their eyes. The seate of the kyng that faithfully iudgeth ꝙ poore, shal continue sure for euer more. The rood and correccion mynistre wisdom, but if a child be not loked vnto, he bringeth his mothe to shame. Whē the vngodly com vp, wickednesse enc reaseth: but the rightuous shal se their fal.

Prou.v.a Luke.xv.c

Nurtour thy sonne with correccion, and he shal comfort the, yee he shal do the good at thine herte.

Where no[b]* Prophete is, there the people perisshe: but wel is him that kepeth the lawe. A seruaunte wyll not be the better for wordes, for though he vnderstande, yet wyll he not regarde them.

Yt

Yf thou seyst a man that is hastye to speake vnaduised, thou mayest trust
D a foole more then hym. He that delycately bryngeth vp his seruannt frō a chyld, shal make hym his master at length. An angry man stereth vp strife, and he that beatethe euell wyll in his mynde, doth moch euell. After pryde cōmeth a fall, *but a lowely spryte bryngeth greate worshyppe. Who so kepeth company with a theke, hateth his owne soule: he heareth blasphemyes, & telleth it not forth. He that feareth men, shal haue a fall: but who so putteth his trust in ỹ Lord shal come to honour. Many ther be that seke the prīces fauoure, but euery mans iudgemēt commeth frō the Lorde.

*Iob.xxii.d

The ryghtuous abhorreth the vngodly: but as for those ỹ be in ỹ right way, the wycked hate them.

The notes

b *That is, preacher of the worde of God, as in.i. Corint.xv.

¶ The pureness of the worde of god: and what we ought to require of God, with certen wonderfull thynges that are in this world.

The.xxx. Chapter.

¶ The wordes of Agur the sonne of Jaketh.

THe prophecye of a true
A faythful man, whom God hath helped, whō God had cōforted & norysshed. For thogh I am lest of al, & haue no mans vnderstandyng (for I neuer lerned wysdome) yet haue I vnderstādyng, & am wel enfourmed godly thinges. Who hath clymmed vp into heauen? Who hath come downe from thence? Who hathe holdē the winde fast in his hande? Who hath cōprehēded the waters in a garmēt? Who hath set al the cōdes of ỹ world? What is his name or his sonnes name? Canst thou tell? * All the wordes of God are pure and cleane, a* for he is a shyld vnto al them, that put their trust in him. Put thou nothinge therfore vnto his wordes, lest he reproue the, and thou be found a lyar. Two thinges I require
B of the, that thou wylt not denye me before I dye.

Remoue fro me vanite and lyes: geue me neither pouerte nor riches, only graunt me a necessary lyuing. Lest yf I be to ful, I deny the, and saye: what felowis ỹ lorde? And lest I be constrained thorow pouerte, fall vnto stealynge, & forsweare the name of my God. Accuse not a seruaunt vnto his master, lest he speake euell of the also, and thou be hurte. He that bryngeth vp an euel report vpon the generacion of his father and mother, is not worthy to be commended.

The generacyon that thynke them selues cleane, shal not be clensed from C their fylthynesse. There are people ỹ haue a proude loke, and cast vp their eyelydes. This peoples teth are swerdes, and with their chaft bones they cō sume and deuoure the symple of ỹ earth, and the poore from a mong men. This generacyon, which is like an horseleche, hath two daughters: the one is called fetch hyther, and the other bring hither.

There be thre thinges that are neuer satisfied, & ỹ fourth saith neuer ho. The hel, a womans wombe, and the earthe hath neuer water ynough. As for fyre, it sayeth neuer, hoo. Who so laugheth his father to scorne, and setteth his mothers commaundemente at naught: the rauens pycke oute his eyes in the valleye, and deuoured be he of the yonge Aegles.

There be thre thynges to hye for me, & as for the fourth, it passeth my knowledg. The way of an Aegle in the aire, the waye of a serpent ouer a stoone, the waye of a shepe in the see, and the way of a man with a yōg womā. Suche is the waye also of a wyfe that breaketh wedlock, which wipeth her mouth like as when she hath eaten, & sayeth. As for me, I haue done no harme. Thorowe thre thinges the earthe is disquieted, and the fourth may it not beare: Thorow a seruaunt that beareth rule, thorow a fole ỹ hath great riches, thorow an ydle howswyfe, & thorow an handmayden that is heyre to her mastres. There D be foure thinges in the earth, the which are very lytle: but in wysdome they excede the wise. The Emmettes are but a weake people, yet gather they their meate together in the haruest.

The

The Conyes are but a feble folke, yet make they their couches amonge the rockes. The grashoppers haue not a gide, yet go they forth together by heapes. The spider laboureth: with her hãdes, and that in the kynges palace.

There be thre thinges that go stifly, but the going of the fourth is the godlyest of al. A Lyon, which is kynge of beastes, & geueth place to no mã: A cock readye to fyght: A rãme and a kynge that goeth forth with his people. Yf ỹ be so foolish to magnifie thy self, or medlest with any soch thing, then lay thine hande vpon thy mouth. Who so chyrneth milck, maketh butter: he that rubbeth his nose, maketh it blede: and he ỹ causeth wrath, bringeth forth strife.

The notes

a * Some reade, and it is. & c. and in the ende of the verse, in it: meaning the Worde.

Kynges ought to iudge iustly. The propertye of an honest maried wife.

The .xxxi. Chapter.

The wordes of kynge Lamuel, and the Prophecye that his mother taught hym.

A MY sonne, thou sonne of my body: O my deare beloued sõne, geue not ouer thy substaunce & myn vnto wemẽ, which are the destruccyon euen of kynges. O Lamuel, geue kynges no wyne, geue kynges & Princes no stronge drincke: lest they beyng droncken forget the law, & regard not the cause of the poore, and dyscal soch as be in aduersite. Geue stronge drincke vnto soch as are condempned to death and wine vnto those that mourne: that they maye drincke it, & forget their mysery and aduersytie. Bee thou an aduocate, and stande in iudgemente thy selfe, to speake for all soch as be dõme & socourles. With thy mouth defende the thynge that is laufull and righte, and the cause of the poore and helpeles.

Aleph.

Who so fyndeth an honest faythful woman, she is moche more worthe then perles.

B

Beth.

The hert of her husbande maye safely trust in her, so that he shall haue noo nede of spoyles.

Gimell.

She wyll do hym good and not euel, all the dayes of her lyfe.

Daleth.

She occupyeth wolle and flax, and laboureth gladly with her handes.

He.

She is lyke a marchauntes shyppe, that bryngeth her vitayls frõ a farr.

Vau.

She is vp in the nyght season, to prouide meate for her houshoulde, and fode for her maydens.

Zain.

She consyddereth lande, and byeth it, and with the frute of her handes, she planteth a vyneyarde.

Heth.

She gyrdeth her loynes with strenght and courageth her armes.

Teth.

C

And yf she perceaue that her houswyfrye dothe goodde, her candle goeth not out by nyght.

Jod.

She layeth her fyngers to the spyndle, & her hand taketh holde of the rocke

Caph.

She openeth her hand to the poore yee she stretcheth forthe her handes too suche as haue nede.

Lamed.

She feareth not that the colde of wynter shal hurte her house, for all her housholde folkes are double clothed.

Mem.

She maketh her selfe fayre ornamentes, her clothyng is whyte silke & purple

Nun.

Yet husband is moch sett by in the gates, when he sytteth among the rulers of the lande.

Samech.

She maketh cloth of sylke and selleth it, and delyuered a gyrdle vnto the marchaunt.

Ain.

Strength and honour is her clothyng and in the latter daye she shall reioyce.

D

Phe.

She openeth her mouth with wisdome and in her tonge is the lawe of grace.

Nade

The Conyes are but a feble folke, yet make they their couches amonge the rockes. The grashoppers haue not a gide, yet go they forth together by heapes. The spider laboureth: with her hãdes, and that in the kynges palace.

There be thre thinges that go stifly, but the going of the fourth is the godlyest of al. A Lyon, which is kynge of beastes, & geueth place to no mã: A cock readye to fyght: A rãme and a kynge that goeth forth with his people. Yf ỹ be so foolish to magnifie thy self, or medlest with any soch thing, then lay thine hande vpon thy mouth. Who so chyrneth milck, maketh butter: he that rubbeth his nose, maketh it blede: and he ỹ causeth wrath, bringeth forth strife.

The notes

a * Some reade, and it is. & c. and in the ende of the verse, in it: meaning the Worde.

Kynges ought to iudge iustly. The propertye of an honest maried wife.

The .xxxi. Chapter.

The wordes of kynge Lamuel, and the Prophecye that his mother taught hym.

A MY sonne, thou sonne of my body: O my deare beloued sõne, geue not ouer thy substaunce & myn vnto wemẽ, which are the destruccyon euen of kynges. O Lamuel, geue kynges no wyne, geue kynges & Princes no stronge drincke: lest they beyng droncken forget the law, & regard not the cause of the poore, and dyscal soch as be in aduersite. Geue stronge drincke vnto soch as are condempned to death and wine vnto those that mourne: that they maye drincke it, & forget their mysery and aduersytie. Bee thou an aduocate, and stande in iudgemente thy selfe, to speake for all soch as be dõme & socourles. With thy mouth defende the thynge that is laufull and righte, and the cause of the poore and helpeles.

Aleph.

Who so fyndeth an honest faythful woman, she is moche more worthe then perles.

B

Beth.

The hert of her husbande maye safely trust in her, so that he shall haue noo nede of spoyles.

Gimell.

She wyll do hym good and not euel, all the dayes of her lyfe.

Daleth.

She occupyeth wolle and flax, and laboureth gladly with her handes.

He.

She is lyke a marchauntes shyppe, that bryngeth her vitayls frõ a farr.

Vau.

She is vp in the nyght season, to prouide meate for her houshoulde, and fode for her maydens.

Zain.

She consyddereth lande, and byeth it, and with the frute of her handes, she planteth a vyneyarde.

Heth.

She gyrdeth her loynes with strenght and courageth her armes.

Teth.

C

And yf she perceaue that her houswyfrye dothe goodde, her candle goeth not out by nyght.

Jod.

She layeth her fyngers to the spyndle, & her hand taketh holde of the rocke

Caph.

She openeth her hand to the poore yee she stretcheth forthe her handes too suche as haue nede.

Lamed.

She feareth not that the colde of wynter shal hurte her house, for all her housholde folkes are double clothed.

Mem.

She maketh her selfe fayre ornamentes, her clothyng is whyte silke & purple

Nun.

Yet husband is moch sett by in the gates, when he sytteth among the rulers of the lande.

Samech.

She maketh cloth of sylke and selleth it, and delyuered a gyrdle vnto the marchaunt.

Ain.

Strength and honour is her clothyng and in the latter daye she shall reioyce.

D

Phe.

She openeth her mouth with wisdome and in her tonge is the lawe of grace.

Nade

Zade

She loketh well to the ways of her housholde, and eateth not her bread wydlenes.

Koph

Her chyldren aryse, and call hyr blessed: and her husbande maketh moch of her.

Res

Many doughters there be, that gether ryches to gether: but thou goeste aboue them all.

Sin.

As for fauour, it is disceatfull, and beutie is a vayne thynge: but a womã that feareth the Lorde, she is worthye to be praysed.

Thau.

Geue her of the frute of her handes, and let her owne workes prayse her in the gates.

¶ The Ende of the Proverbes of Salomon.

¶ The Boke of

the Preacher, otherwyse called Ecclesiastes.

¶ All that is in this worlde is vanytie.

¶ The fyrst Chapter.

THese ar the wordes of the preacher, the sõne of Dauid, kig of Jerusalem. a* All is but vanyte (sayeth ỹ preacher) al is but playne vanite! For what els hathe a man, of al the labour ỹ he taketh vnder the Sunne? One generacion passeth awaye, another commeth, but the earth abydeth styl. The Sõne aryseth ỹ Sunne goeth downe, and returneth to his place, that he may there ryse vp agayne. The winde goeth toward the South, & fetcheth his cõpase about vnto ỹ North, & so turneth hi to hi self agai

A

All flouds runne in to the see, & yet the see is not fylled: for loke vnto what place the waters runne, thence they come agayne. All thinges are so hard, ỹ no mã cã expresse thẽ. * The ey is not satisfyed wt syght, the eare is not fylled wythe hearynge. The thing ỹ hath bene cometh to passe agayne, & ỹ thig ỹ hath ben dõ, is done again, ther is no new thig vnder ỹ sunne. Is ther eny thyng wherof it maye be sayde: lo, this is newe? For it was long a goon in the tymes ỹ haue bene before vs, The thing that is past, is out of remembrance: Euen so the thinges that ar for to come, shal no more be thought vpon among thẽ that come after. I my selfe the Preacher, beyng kyng of Israell & Jerusalẽ, applied my mynde to seake out & search for the knowledge of all thynges, ỹ at done vnder heauẽ. Soch trauayle & labour hath god geueu vnto b* ỹ children af mẽ, to exercyse themselues therin. Thus I haue considred al the thinges that come to passe vnder the Sunne, and lo, they are al but vanyte & vexacyon, of mynd. The croked cãnot be mayde straight, & ỹ faultes cã not be nombred. I cõmened with mine own hert, saying: lo, I am cõ to a great estate, & haue gottẽ more wisdõ, thẽ al they

B

C

Zade

She loketh well to the ways of her housholde, and eateth not her bread wydlenes.

Koph

Her chyldren aryse, and call hyr blessed: and her husbande maketh moch of her.

Res

Many doughters there be, that gether ryches to gether: but thou goeste aboue them all.

Sin.

As for fauour, it is disceatfull, and beutie is a vayne thynge: but a womã that feareth the Lorde, she is worthye to be praysed.

Thau.

Geue her of the frute of her handes, and let her owne workes prayse her in the gates.

¶ The Ende of the Proverbes of Salomon.

¶ The Boke of

the Preacher, otherwyse called Ecclesiastes.

¶ All that is in this worlde is vanytie.

¶ The fyrst Chapter.

THese ar the wordes of the preacher, the sõne of Dauid, kig of Jerusalem. a* All is but vanyte (sayeth ỹ preacher) al is but playne vanite! For what els hathe a man, of al the labour ỹ he taketh vnder the Sunne? One generacion passeth awaye, another commeth, but the earth abydeth styl. The Sõne aryseth ỹ Sunne goeth downe, and returneth to his place, that he may there ryse vp agayne. The winde goeth toward the South, & fetcheth his cõpase about vnto ỹ North, & so turneth hi to hi self agai

A

All flouds runne in to the see, & yet the see is not fylled: for loke vnto what place the waters runne, thence they come agayne. All thinges are so hard, ỹ no mã cã expresse thẽ. * The ey is not satisfyed wt syght, the eare is not fylled wythe hearynge. The thing ỹ hath bene cometh to passe agayne, & ỹ thig ỹ hath ben dõ, is done again, ther is no new thig vnder ỹ sunne. Is ther eny thyng wherof it maye be sayde: lo, this is newe? For it was long a goon in the tymes ỹ haue bene before vs, The thing that is past, is out of remembrance: Euen so the thinges that ar for to come, shal no more be thought vpon among thẽ that come after. I my selfe the Preacher, beyng kyng of Israell & Jerusalẽ, applied my mynde to seake out & search for the knowledge of all thynges, ỹ at done vnder heauẽ. Soch trauayle & labour hath god geueu vnto b* ỹ children af mẽ, to exercyse themselues therin. Thus I haue considred al the thinges that come to passe vnder the Sunne, and lo, they are al but vanyte & vexacyon, of mynd. The croked cãnot be mayde straight, & ỹ faultes cã not be nombred. I cõmened with mine own hert, saying: lo, I am cõ to a great estate, & haue gottẽ more wisdõ, thẽ al they they ꝑ haue bene before me i Jerusalē. Yee my herte had greate experience of wysdome & knowledge, for there vnto I applied my mynd: ꝑ I might know, what were wysdome & vnderstādinge, what were errour & folyshnes. And I perceaued that this also was but a vexatiō of minde: for where moch wisdome is, there is also greate trauaile & disquietnes: and the more knowledge a man hath, the more is his care.

B

C

The notes.

a *Hebr. Vanitie of vanyties: ꝑ is, a wonderfull greate vanytie: as Balet of balettes, for cheake balet, of which Cantic. i.a

b *That is, vnto mē. Some reade ꝑ childrē, of Adā as Gene. xi.a

¶ Aboundaunce of rychesse, of pleasure & of buyldynge are vayne thynges.

¶ The. ii. Chapter.

A Then sayd I thus in my herte: Nowe goo to, I wil take myne ease, and haue good dayes. But lo, that was vanitte also: in so moch ꝑ I sat de vnto laughter: thou arte madde and to myrth: what doest thou?

B So I thought in my herte, to withdraw my flesh from wyne, to apply my mynde vnto wysdome, & to cōprehende folishnes vntill the tyme ꝑ (amōg al ꝑ thinges which are vnder ꝑ Sunne) I might se what were best for men to do, so longe as they lyue vnder heauen.

I made gorgious fayre workes. I buylded me houses, & plāted vineyardes. I made me orchardes & gardens of pleasure, & plāted trees in thē of all maner frutes. I made poles of water, to water ꝑ grene & frutefull trees with al. I bought seruaūtes & maydēs, and had a greate howshold. As for catel, & shepe, I had more substaunce of thē, thē al they ꝑ were before me i Jerusalem. I gathered syluer and gold together, euen a treasure of kinges & lādes.

I prouyded my syngers and wemē which could playe of instrumentes, to make men myrth & pastime. I gat me drinckig cuppes also & glasses.) Shortly) I was greater & in more worship, then al my predecessours in Jerusalē. For wysdome remayned wt me: & loke whatsoeuer myne eyes desired, I let thē haue it: & whersoeuer my hert delited or had any pleasure, I wt held it not from it. Thus my herte reioysed in al ꝑ I dyd, & this I toke for the porcyon of all my trauayle. But when I consydred al the workes ꝑ my handes had wrought, & al the labours ꝑ I had takē therin: lo, al was but vanyte & vexatiō of mynde, and nothyng of eny valu vnder the Sunne. Thē turned I me to cōsidre wisdō, error & folishnes (for what is he amōg mē, ꝑ mighte be cōpared to me ꝑ king in soch workes?) & I saw ꝑ wisdō excelleth folishnesse, as farre as lyghte dothe darcknesse. *For a wyse mā beareth his eyes about i his head, but ꝑ foole goeth in the darcknesse. I perceaued also ꝑ thet both had on end,

Then thoughte I in my minde: If it happen vnto the foole as it doth vnto me, what nedeth me then to labour eny more, for wysdom? So I cōfessed with in my herte, ꝑ this also was but vanitte

For ꝑ wyse are euer as lytle in remembraunce as ꝑ folish, & all ꝑ dayes, for to come shalbe forgottē, yee ꝑ wyse mā dieth as wel as ꝑ foole. Thus begāne I to be weery of my lyfe, in so moche, ꝑ I could away wt nothinge ꝑ is done vnder ꝑ Sūne, for al was but vanyte & vexacyon of mind: Ye I was weryed of my labour, wt I had takē vnder ꝑ Sūne, because I shuld be faine to leaue thē vnto another mā, ꝑ cōmeth after me for who knoweth, whether he shalbe a wise mā or a fole? & yet shal ye be lorde of al my labours, which I wt such wisdome haue takē vnder ꝑ Sūne. Is not this a vayne thing? So I turned me to refrayne my minde frō al such trauayle, D as I toke vnder the Sūne: for so moch as a man shuld weery him selfe wt wisdome, wt vnderstādyng & oppertunite, & yet be fayne to leaue his labours vnto another, ꝑ neuer swett for thē. This is also a vayne thing & a great misery. For what getteth a mā of al the labour & trauayle of his mynde, ꝑ he taketh vnder ꝑ Sūne, but heuinesse, sorowe & disquietnesse al ꝑ dates of his life? In so moch ꝑ his herte cānot rest in ꝑ night. Is not this also a vaine thig? Is it not better thē for a mā to eate & drincke, & his soule to be mery i his labour? Ye I saw ꝑ this also was a gift of god: For who maye eate, drincke, or bringe enye thynge to passe without hym?

And

And why: he geueth vnto man, what it pleaseth him: whether it be wysdome, vnderstandyng, or gladnesse. But vnto ỹ synner he geueth werines & sorow, ỹ he maye gather & heape together the thinge, ỹ afterwarde shalbe geuẽ vnto him whom it pleasethe God. This is now a vayne thinge, yee a very disquietnesse and vexacyon of mynde.

The notes

*After in the. viii. a Prouer. xvii, d

¶ All thinges come in their tyme and passe awaye in their tyme.

The. iii. Chapter.

A EVery thynge hathe a tyme, yee all that is vnder ỹheauen, hath is cõuentent season. There is a tyme to be borne, & a tyme to dye.
There is a tyme to plante, & a tyme to plucke vp the thynge, that is planted.
A time to slay, & a time to make whole.
A tyme to breake downe, and a tyme to buylde vp.
A tyme to wepe, and a tyme to laugh:
A tyme to mourne, & a tyme to daunce:
A tyme to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones to gether:
A tyme to enbrace, & a tyme to refraine from enbracynge:
A tyme to wynne, and a tyme to lese:
A tyme to spare, and a tyme to spende:
B A tyme to cutt in peces, & a tyme to sowe together.
A tyme to kepe sylence, & a tyme to speake.
A tyme to loue, and a tyme to hate:
A tyme of warre, and a tyme of peace:
What hath amã els (ỹ doth any thing) but weerynesse & laboure? For as touchinge the trauayle and carefulnesse which god hath geuen vnto men, I se ỹ he hath geuẽ it them, to be exercysed in it. Al this hath he ordened maruelos goodly. to euery thing his du tyme. He hath planted ignorauunce also in ỹ hertes of men, ỹ they shuld not fynde out ỹ ground of his workes, which he doth frõ ỹ beginning ot ỹ ende. So I perceaued, ỹ in these thinges there is no-
C thing better for a man, then to be mery & to do well so lounge as he lyueth.
For al that aman eateth & drincketh he, yee what soeuer a man entoyeth of all his labour, that same is a gyft of god.

I cõsydered also ỹ what soeuer God doth, it cõtinueth for euer, & ỹ nothing cã be put vnto it nor take frõ it: & ỹ god doth it to the intent, ỹ men shuld feare him. The thing ỹ hath bene, is now: & ỹ thing ỹ is for to come, hathe bene a fore tyme, for god restoreth agayne the thinge that was paste. Moreouer, I sawe vnder the sunne vngodlynesse in the steade of iudgement, & iniquite in steade of rightuousnesse. Then thought I in my mynde: God shal seperate the rightuous from the vngodly, & thẽ shalbe the tyme and iudgmente of all councels & worckes. I cõmened w mynne owne herte also concernynge the childzen of men: how God hath chosen them, & yet letteth them apeare. as though they were beastes. for it happeneth vnto men, as it doth vnto beastes, & as the onẽ dyethe, so diethe the other: yee they haue both one maner of byrth, so that (in this) a man hath no prẽmynẽce aboue a beast, but al are subdued vnto vanite. They go al vnto one place, for as they be alof dust, so shal they al turn vnto dust agayne. Who knoweth *the spryte of mã ỹ goeth: vpward, & ỹ breth of the beest that goethe downe to the earth? Wherfore I perceaue, ỹ ther is nothinge better for a man, thẽ to be ioyful in his laboure, for ỹ is hys porcion: But who wyl bryng him to se ỹ thyng that shal come after him?

The notes

*The comẽ translaciõ readeth, whether the spryte of a man goo vpwarde, and the breath of a beaste downe warde.

¶ The mysteries of the innocent. The superfluous labores of men. The child that is poore & wise. &c

The. iiii. Chapter.

SO I turned me, & cõsydred A al ỹ violent wronge ỹ is done vnder the sunne: & behold, the teares of soch as were oppressed, & ther was no man to comfort thẽ or ỹ wolde delyuer & defẽd thẽ frõ ỹ violence of their oppressours. Wherfore I iudged those that are deed, to be more happye thẽ soche as be a lyue: yee hym that is yet vnborne to be better at ease then they both, because he seith not the mysera-ble worckes ỹ are done vnder ỹ sunne.

Agayne

B Againe, I sawe that al trauaile and dilygence of labour was hated of euery man. This is also a vayne thyng, & a vexacyon of mynde. The foole foldeth his handes together, and eatethe vp his owne flesh. One hande full (saith he) is better with rest, then both the handes full with laboure and trauayle. Moreouer, I turned me, ande beholde yet another vanyte vnder the Sonne. Ther is noman, no mo but him selfe alone, hauinge nether chylde nor brother: yet is there no ende of his carefull trauayle, hys eyes can not be satysfyed wyth ryches, (yet doth he not remembre him selfe, & saye:) For whom I do take soche trauayle? For whose pleasure do I thus consume awaye my lyfe? This is also a vayne and mysserable thynge. C Therfore two ar better then one, for they may wel entoythe profyt of their labour. If one of them fal, his companion helpeth him vp agayne: But wo is him that is alone, for yf he fal, he hathnot another to help him vp. Agayne, when two slepe together, they are warme: but how can a body be warme alone? One maye be ouercome, but two may make resistaūce: A thre folde cable is not lyghtlye broken. A poore chylde beyng wyse, is better then an olde kynge, that doteth, and cannot bewarre in tyme to come. D Some one commeth out of prison, & is made a kynge: & another whych is borne in the kyngdom, commeth vnto pouerte. And I perceued, yt all men liuing vnder the sonne, go with ỹ secõde chylde, that commethe vp in the steade of the other. As for the people ỹ haue bene before him, & that come after him, thei ar innumerable: yet is not their ioye ỹ greater thorow him. This is also a vayne thynge & a vexacion of mind. When ỹ cõmest into the house of god, kepe thy fote[a] * & draw ny, [b] * that ỹ mayest heare: ỹ is better then ỹ offerinｇes of fooles, for they know not what euyl they do.

The notes

a * Some read. For he is readier to heare (vnderstãde thy word) thã to receue ỹ sacrifices ỹ foles geue b * Some reade: rather to heare then to geue, as fooles offeringe sacryfice.

C Admonicyon to bewarre of rash communicacion
We ought not to meruel at the oppressiõ of ỹ poor
The couetous is not satysfyed with his ryches.

C The.v. Chapter.

BE not hasty wt thy mouth, & lett not thyne hert speake eny thynge rashlye before god. For God is in heauẽ and thou vpon earthe, therfore let thy wordes be fewe. For where moche carefulnesse is, there are manye dreames: and where many wordes are, there men may heare fooles. * If thou make a vowe vnto God, be not slacke to performe it. As for foolish vowes, he hath no pleasure in them. If thou promyse eny thynge, paye it: for better it is that thou make no vow then that thou shuldest promyse, and not paye. Vse not thy mouth to cause thy flesshe for to synne, that thou saye not before the angell: my foolishnesse is in the fawte: for then God wilbe angrie at thy voyce, & destroye al the workes of thyne handes. And why? were as are many dreames and many wordes, ther are also dyuerse vanyties: but loke ỹ thou feare God. If ỹ seyst the poore to be oppressed & wrongeously dealt wt al, so ỹ equyte and ỹ right of ỹ lawe is wrested in ỹ land: maruel not ỹ at soch iudgment, for one greate man kepethe touch with another, and ỹ myghty helpe thẽselues together. The whole lãd also with ỹ feldes and al ỹ is therin, is in subiection and bondage vnto ỹ kyng He ỹ loueth money, wyll neuer be satisfied with money: & whoso delytethe in riches, shal haue no profit therof. Is not thys also a vayn thyng? Where as moch riches is, ther are many ỹ spend them awaye. And what pleasure more hath he ỹ possesseth them, sauinge ỹ he may loke vpõ them wt his eyes? A labouring mã sleepeth swetely, wether it be little or moch ỹ he eateth: but ỹ aboundaunce of the rich wyl not suffre hym to slepe.

Ye is ther a sore plage, which I haue sene vndr ỹ sunne (namely) riches kepte to ỹ hurt of him ỹ hath them in possession. For oft tymes they perishe wt his greate mysery and trouble: and yf he haue a chylde, it getteth nothynge.

*Job,i.d. Lyke as he came náked out of hys mo i.
Timo. vi.b thers wombe,so goeth he thether agay ne,and carieth nothing awat with him of all hys labour.This is a mysserable plage,that he shal go away euen as he came. What helpeth it him then, that he hath laboured in the wynde?

D All the dayes of hys lyfe also must he eate in the darcke,with greate care-fulnes,sycknesse and sorowe. Therfor me thynk it a better and a fayrer thyn-ge,a man to eate and drynke,and to be refreshed of al hys laboure,that he ta keth vnder the sunne all ỹ dayes of hi s lyfe which god geueth hym,for thys is hys porcion. For vnto whome soeuer God geueth riches,goodes and power, he geueth it hi to entoye it,to take it for his porciõ & to be refreshed of his labur thists now ỹ gift of god. For he thinketh not much how longe he shall lyue for so moch as god fylleth hys herte w gladnesse.

nota
ỹ gift of god

¶ The mysery of the ryche and couetous. The dif ference of a foole and a wyse man.

¶ The.vi.Chapter.

A THere is yet a plage vnder the sonne,& it is a generall thyng amonge men, when God geueth a man ryches, goodes andhonour,so that he wanteth nothyng of al that hys her te can desyre:and yet god geueth hym not leaue to entoy ỹ same,but an other mã spendeth thẽ. This is a vayne thig and a mysserable plage. If a manne be B get an hundred children,and lyue many yeares,so that his dayes are many in nombre,and yet can not entoye hys good neyther be buryed: as for hym I saye that an vntymely byrthe is bett er thẽ he. For he commeth to naught and goeth hys waye into darknes,and his name is forgotten. Moreouer he seythe not the sunne,and knoweth of noe rest nether here nor there. Ye though he ly-ued two thousande yeares, yet hath he no good lyfe. Com not all to one place Al the labour that a manne taketh is for hym selfe,& yet hys desyre is neuer fylled after hys mynde. For what hath the wyse more then the fole? What hel-peth it ỹ poore that he knoweth to wal-D cke before the lyuynge?

The syght of the eyes is better,then ỹ ỹ soule shulde so departe awaye. How be it this is also a vayne thyng and a disquietnesse of mynde. What is more excellent then mã? yet can he not in the lawe get the byctory of him ỹ is migh tier then he: A vayne thynge is it to cast out many wordes, but what hath a man els?

¶ That which passeth our strengthes & wittes ou ght we not to seke after.

¶ The. vii. Chapter.

A EOr who knoweth what is good for man lyuyng,in ỹ dayes of his vayne lyfe, which is but a shadowe?
Or,who wil tel a man what shal happen after him vnder ỹ Sõne?

* A good name is more worth then a *Pro.xxii precious ointment,and the day of dea Cant,iia.
th is better then the daye of byrth.

B It is better to go i to anhouse of mour ryng,then in to a bãcketynge house.
For there is the ende of all men,& he ỹ is lyuyng,taketh it to hert. It is better to be sory then to laugh, for when the countenaunce is heuy, the hert is joy-full. The herte of the wyse is in the mournynge house,but the herte of the folish is in the house of myrth. It is better to geue eare to the chastenig of a wyse man,then to heare the songe of fooles. For the laughing of foles is lyke the crackynge of thornes vnder a pot. And that is but a vayne thynge Who so doeth wronge,maketh a wise man to goo out of his witte,& destroy eth a gentle herte. The ende of a thing is better then the begynnyng. The pa ciẽt of sprete is better then the hye min ded. Be not hastely angri in thy mi de, for wrath resteth in the bosome of a foole. Saye not thou: What is ỹ cause that the dayes of the olde tyme were better,then they that be now? for that were no wyse question. Wysdome is better then ryches,yet moche more worth then,the eye syght. For wysdome defendethe as well as moneye, and the excellente knoweledge and wysdome geueth lyfe Vnto hym ỹ hath in possessiõ: Consider ỹ worcke of God, how that no man cã make ỹ thin ge straight, which he maketh croked.

nota
old ty me

Vse

¶ Vse wel the tyme of prosperite, and remembre ỹ tyme of mysfortune: for god maketh the one by the other, so ỹ a mã can fynd nothing els.

These .ii. thinges also haue I consydred in the tyme of vanyte: ỹ the iust man perisheth for his rightuousnes sake, and the vngodlye lyueth in hys wyckednesse. Therfore be thou nether to rightuous ner ouer wyse, that thou perish not: be neyther to vnrightuous also ner to foolysh, lest thou dye before thy tyme. It is good for the to take hold of this, and not to let ỹ go out of thy hand. For that he feareth God, shal escape them all.

nota thos yt not ouermuch wyse nether ouer holy ỹ doth good

Wysdom geueth more corage vnto the wyse, then ten myghtie men of the citie: * for there is not one iuste vpon erth, that doth good, and synneth not. Take not hede vnto euery worde that is spoken, lest thou here thy seruaunte curse the: for thyn owne hert knoweth, ỹ thou thy selfe also hast oft tymes spoken euel by other men. All these thinges haue I proued because of wisdom, for I thought to be wyse, but she went farther fro me then she was before, yee & so depe that I might not reach vnto her. I aplied my mind also vnto konwledge, and to seke out science, wysdom and vnderstanding: to knowe the foolishnes of the vngodly, and the errour of dotting fooles. And I founde, that a womã is bitterer thẽ death: for she is a very angle, her herte is a net, and her handes are cheynes. Who so pleaseth God shal escape from her, but ỹ sinner wyl be taken wt her.

*xiii Reviii
ii. Par. vi g
Prou xx b
1. John. i d

Beholde (sayeth the preacher) this haue I diligentlye searched out and proued, ỹ I might com by knowledg, which as yet I seke, and fynde it not. Among a thousande men I haue foũd one, but not one woman amounge all. Lo, thys onlye haue I founde, ỹ God made man iust and right, but they seke dyuers soteltyes, where as no mã hath wysdome and vnderstanding, to geue answere ther vnto.

¶ The kynges cõmaundement ought to be obeied Gladnes is one of the chefe thinges vnder ỹ sonne.

¶ The .viii. Chapter.

WYsdom maketh a mans face to shine, but malyce putteth it out of fauour. Kepe the kinges cõmaũdemẽt (I warne the) and the oth that thou hast mad vnto *god. Be not hastye to go out of his sight, & se thou cõtynue in no euel thynge: for whatsoeuer it pleaseth him, that doth he. Like as when a king geueth a charg, hys cõmaundemẽt is mightie Euen so who maye saye vnto hi: what doest thou? Who so kepeth the cõmaũdement, shal fele no harme: but a wyse mans hert discerneth tyme and maner: For euery thing wyl haue oportunitie and iudgement, and thys is the thing that maketh men ful of carfulnes and sorowe. And why? a man knoweth not what is for to come, for who wil tel hi? Nether is there eny man ỹ hath power ouer the sprete, to kepe still ỹ spyrte, nor to haue eny power i ỹ time of deth, it is not he also that can make an ende of the battel, nether maye vngodlynes delyuer him, that medeleth with all.

Prou. xxviii. Iob. ix d

B

All these thynges haue I consydered, and applyed my mynde vnto euery worcke ỹ is vnder the Sonne: how one man hath lordshipe vpon another to his owne harme. For I haue oft sene the vngodly brought to their graues, and fallen downe from the hye & glorious place: in so much ỹ they were forgotten in the cytie, where they were had in so hye and greate reputacion. This is also a vayne thing. Because now that euel worckes are not hastely punyshed, the hert of man geueth him selfe ouer vnto wyckednesse. But though an euel person offend an hundred tymes, and haue a longe lyfe: yet am I sure, that it shal go wel with thẽ that feare God, because they haue him before their eyes. Agayne, as for the vngodly, it shal not be wel with hym, nether shal he prolong his dayes: but euen as a shadowe, so shall he be that feareth not God.

C

Yet is there a vanyte vpõ earth: There be iust mẽ, vnto whom it happeneth, as though they had the worckes of ỹ vngodly: Agayn, ther be vngodly wt whom it goth as though they had ỹ

nota [illegible]

wozks of ỹ ryghtuous. This me thin ke also a vayne thynge. Therfoze I cō mēd gladnes, because a mā hath no bet ter thinge vnder the sun, then to eate & dzincke, and to be merye: foz that shall he haue his labour al the dates of his D lyfe which God geueth hym, vnder the Sunne. When I applyed my minde to learne wysdome, and to know ỹ tra uaile that is in the wozld (and ỹ of such a fashion, ỹ I suffred not myne eyes to slepe nether daye noz nyght (I vnder= stand of al ỹ wozckes of God, that is not possible foz a man, to attayne vnto the wozckes ỹ are done vnder the sunne: and though he bestowe his la= labour to seke them out, yet can he not reach vnto them: ye though a wyse mā woulde vndertake to knowe them, yet might he not fynd them.

The notes.

*Some rede the Goddes: that is. Judges.

¶ A man wotteth not, by the rightwisenes of his owne wozkes, whether he be wozthi of loue oz hate A man ought to lyue merely with his wyf. A pzaise of wysdome.

The .ix. Chapter.

A For al these thinges purpo sed I in my mynde to seke out. The ryghtuous and wyse ye and their[a]*wo zc: kes also are in the hand of God: and[b]*there is no many knoweth ether ỹ loue oz hate of the thynge ỹ he hath befoze hi. It happeneth vnto one as vnto another: It goeth: w ỹ ryghtu ous as w the vngodly: with ỹ good & cleane as with the vncleane: with hi ỹ offereth as with him ỹ offreth not: like as it goeth w ỹ be rtuous, so goeth it also with ỹ sinner. As it happeneth vn to the pertured, so happeneth yt also vnto him ỹ is afraied to be fozswozne. Amonge al thinges ỹ come to passe vn der the sonne, this is a misery, ỹ it hap peneth vnto al a lyke. This is the cause also ỹ the hertes of men are full of wickednesse, and madd foolishnesse is in their hertes as longe as they liue vntyl they dye.

B And whyle as longe as a mā lyueth, he is careles: foz a quicke dogge (saye they) is better thē aded liō: foz they ỹ be lyuyng, knowe ỹ they shal dte: but they ỹ be deed: know nothig, nether deserue they eny moze. Foz their memozial is forgottē, so that they be nether loued, hated noz enuied: nether haue they eny moze parte in the wozld, in al ỹ is don vnder the Sonne. Go thou thy waye then, eate thy bzed w̄ ioye, and dzincke thy wyne with gladnes, foz thy wozc= kes please God[c]*Let thy garmētes be alwaye whyt, & let thy head want none oyntment. Vse thy self, to lyue ioyfully with thy wife whom thou louest, al the dayes of thy lyfe which is but vayne, ỹ god hath geuen the vnder ỹ Sunne al the dayes of thy vanite: foz ỹ is thy pozcion in this lyfe, of all thy laboure and trauayle ỹ thou takest vnder the sonne. Whatsoeuer ỹ takest in hande to do, ỹ do with al thy power: foz amōg ỹ deedw, here as thou goest vnto, there is nether wozcke, councel, knowledge noz wysdome.

C So I turned me vnto other thin= ges vnder the sonne, and I sawe ỹ in running, it helpeth not to be swyft: in battayl it helpeth not to be stronge to fedyng, it helpeth not to be wyse, to ry= ches, it helpeth not to be suttel: to be had in fauour, it helpeth not to be con nyng: but ỹ al lyeth in tyme & foztune. Foz a man knoweth not his tyme, but lyke as the fysshe are take ỹ with angle and as the byzdes are catched wyth ỹ snare. Euen so are men taken in the perlous tyme, when it commeth sodē= ly vpon them.

D Thys wysdome haue I seene also vnder the Sunne, and me thought it a greate theynge.

There was a lytel citie, and a few men within it: so there came a greate kynge and beseged it, and made great bulwarckes agaynste it.

And in the cytie there was founde a pooze man (but he was wyse) whych wythe hys wysdome delyuered the cy= tye: yet was there noebodye, that had eny respecte vnto such a symple man.

Then sayede I, wysdome is better then strengthe. Neuertheless, a symple mannes wysdome is despysed, and hys wozdes are not herde.

A wyse mās councel that is folowed i sylence, is farre aboue the cryeng of a captayne captayne amonge fooles.* For wysdō

*Sap.vi.a iii.Reg.xx. i.Reg.xviii is better then harneſſe: but an vnthrift alone deſtroyeth much good.

The notes.

a *Some reade, ſeruauntes.
b *Some reade: and man knoweth not her loue nor the herte: which is al before him. The ſētence ſignifieth as much, as no mā knoweth wheter God loue or hate any man: Vnderſtand by the righteouſnes of his owne workes.
¶ The dyfferaunce betwene a fole and wyſe man Fortune and happy is that realme which hathe a wyſe prynce.

The.x.Chapter.

A DEed flyes ꝑ corrupte ſwete oyntmente and make it to ſtyncke, are ſomthig more worth then the wyſdome & honoure of a foole. A wiſe mans hert is[a] *vpon the ryght hande, but a fooles herte is vpon the left. A dotynge foole thyncketh, ꝑ euery man doth as foolyſhly as him ſelfe. If a principal ſpyete be geuen the to beare rule, be not neglygent then in thyne office: for ſo ſhall greate wyckednes be put down, as it were with a medecyn,
A nother plage is there, which I haue
B ſene vnder the ſonne: namely, the ignorāunce that is commenly among prynces: in that a foole ſetteth in grete dignite, and the rich are ſet downe beneth
I ſe ſeruauntes ride vpon horſes and prynces goinge vpon their fete as yt were ſeruauntes. * But he ꝑ dyggeth
*Pro.xxvi. Eccl.xxvii. vp a pyt, ſhal fal therin him ſelfe: and who ſo breaketh the hedge, a ſerpente ſhal byt him. Who ſo remoueth ſtones ſhal haue trauayle with al: and he ꝑ heweth wod ſhalbe hurt therwith.

When an yron is blunte, and the poynt not ſharpened, it muſte be whet agayne, and that w̄ might: Euen ſo doth wyſdome folow diligence. A ba-¶ bler of his tonge is no better then a ſerpent ꝑ ſtyngeth without hiſſing. The wordes out of a wyſe mans mouth are gracious, but the lyppes of a foole wil deſtroye him ſelfe. The begynning of his talking is fooliſhnes, and the laſt worde of his moth is greate madnes. A foole is ſo ful of wordes ꝑ a mā can not tel what end he wil make: who wil thē warne hi to make a concluciō. The labour of ꝑfolyſh is greuous vnto thē whyle they knowe not how to go in to the citie.

WO be vnto the (O ꝑ realme, and lande) whoſe kyng is but a chylde, and whoſe prynces ar early at their bācket-
D tes. But wel is the (O thou realme & whoſe king is come of nobles, & whoſe prynces eate in due ſeaſon, for ſtrength & not for luſt. Thorow ſlouthfulnes ꝑ balckes fal downe, and thorowe ydle handes it rūneth in at the houſe. Meat maketh mē to laugh, and wyne maketh them mery: but vnto money are al thinges obediēt. Wiſh ꝑ king no euel i thy thought, and ſpeake no hurt of ꝑ rich in thy preuy chamber: for a bird of the ayre ſhal betraye thy voyce, & with her fethers ſhal ſhe bewraye thy wordes.

a *That is to do all thinges a righte: The notes.
¶ Rycheſſe ought to be diſtributed vnto the nedy.

¶ The.xi.Chapter.

SEnde[a] *thy vittailes ouer
A the waters, & ſo ſhalt thou fynd thē after many yeres Geue it awaye amonng[b] *
ſeuen or eyght, for ꝑ knoweſt not what myſchefe ſhal cō vpō earth, ¶ * When ꝑ cloudes are ful, they pour out rayne vpon the earth. And when ꝑ tree faleth (whether it be toward ꝑ ſouth or North) in what place ſo euer it fal-there it lieth. He ꝑ regardeth ꝑ wynde, ſhal not ſowe: & he ꝑ hath reſpect vnto
B ꝑ cloudes, ſhal not reape. Now like as ꝑ knoweſt not ꝑ waye of the wind, nor howe ꝑ bones are filled in a mothers wombe: Euen ſo ꝑ knoweſt not ꝑ workes of god, which is ꝑ worcke maiſter of al. Ceaſe not ꝑ therfore w̄ thy hādes to ſowe the ſede. Whether it be i ꝑ morning or in the euening: for ꝑ know-¶ eſt not whether this or that ſhal proſpere, and yf they both take, it is the better. The lyght is ſwete, and a pleaſaūt thynge is it for the eyes to loke vpon the Sunne. If a man lyue many yeares, and be glad in them al, let hym remembre the dayes of darcknes, whych ſhall be many: and when they come, al thynges ſhal be but vanyte. Be glad then (O thou yong man) in thy youth, D and let thyne hert be mery in thy yong dayes, folow the ways of thyne owne hert, and the luſt of thyne eyes: but be thou ſure, that God ſhal bryng the in to iudgment for al theſe thynges.

Chap xii

The notes.

a * That is, distribute thy goodes, indyfferently to the poore without regardinge one and not another.

b * That is vnto manye: a certen nōbre for an vncerten.

c * That is, when men haue wherwith they oughte liberally to geue.

¶ From oure youth ought we to consydre and regarde the goodnes of God:

¶ The.xii. Chapter:

A PUt away displeasure oute of thyne herte, and remoue euell from thy body: for thi Chyldehode, and youth is but vanitie. Remember thy maker in thy youthe, or euer the dayes of aduersitie come, and or the yeres drawe nye when thou shalt saye: I haue no pleasure in them before the sunne, the lyght, ỹ moone and starres be darkned, and or the cloudes turne agayne after the raine: when the keapers of the house shall B tremble and when the strong mē shall bowe them selues. When the mylers stande styll: because they be so fewe and whē the syght of the wyndowes shall waxe dymme: when the dores in the stretes shal be shutte, and when the voyce of the myller shalbe layde downe when men shall ryse vp at the voyce of the byrde, and when all the daughters of musyke shalbe brought lawe: when men shall feare in hye places, and be a frayde in the stretes: when the Almond tree shall be despysed, the gresshopper borne oute, and when greate pouertie shal breake in, when a man goth to his C longe home, and the mourners goo about the stretes. Or euer the syluer lace bee taken awaye, and or the golden bande be broken: Or the pot be broken at the well, and the whele vpon the cysterne. Or dust be turned agayne vnto earthe from whence it came, and or the spyryte returne agayn vnto God, which gaue it. All is but vanytye (sayth the Preacher) all is but playne vanytie.

The same Preacher was not wyse alone, but taught the people knoweleg also, he gaue good heade, sought out ỹ D grounde and setforth many parables. His dylygence was to fynde out acceptable woordes, tyght scripture, and the woordes of truth. For the woordes of the wyse are lyke pryckes and nayles that go thorowe, where with men are kepte together: for they are geuen of one shepherd onely.

Therfore be warre (my sonne) that aboue these thou make the not many and innumerable bookes, nor take dyuerse doctrynes in hande, to weerye thy body withall,

Let vs heare the conclusyon of all thynges: Feare God, and kepe hys cōmaundementes, for that toucheth all men: For God shal iudge all worckes and secrete thynges, whether it be good or euell.

¶ The ende of the boke of the Preacher / otherwyse called Ecclesiastes

¶* The Ballet

Of Balettes of Salomon: called in Latyne Canticū Canticorum.

a* That is, the cheke and most excellent Balet as ꝑ latnet of layncles, ꝑ hig of kings, which is as moch to laye after the maner of speaking of the Hebrues as the cheake latnet the chekeking, Wherfore it is to be supposed that among the M. and fyue other songes (of which, ii. Reg. iiii. d.) this hath bene estemed & iudged the cheke and principal.

¶ A mystical deuyce of the spirituall & godlye loue, betwene chryst the spouse, and the church or congregation his spouse. Salomon made this Balade or songe by him selfe & his wyfe the daughter of Pharao, vnder the shadow of him selfe figuring Chryste & vnder the person of his wyfe the Churche

¶ The fyrst chapter.

¶ The voyce of the Churche.

A Cha ꝑ thy mouth wold geue me a kisse, for thy breastes are more pleasaunte thē wyne, and that because of ꝑ good & pleasaunt sauour. Thy name is a swete smellig oitmēt therfore do ꝑ maidens loue ꝑ: yee that moueth me also to runne after the.

¶ The spouselle to her companyons.

The kyng hath brought me i to his priuey chābre We wil be glad & reioice i ꝑ, we thynckе more of thy breastes thē of wine, wel is them ꝑ loue the.

¶ The voyce of ꝑ churche i persecutiō

B I am black (O ye daughters of Ierusalē) lyke as the tentes of the Cedrenes, and as the hangynges of Salomon, but yet am I faire and wel fauoured withal. Maruel not at me ꝑ I am so blacke and how the sunne hath shyned vpon me.

¶ The voyce of the Synagoge.

For when my mothers childrē had euel wil at me, thei made me the keper of the vintard. Thus was I faine to kepe a vyntarde, wych was not myne owne.

¶ The voyce of the church to Chryst.

Tel me (O thou whō my soule loueth, where thou fedest, where ꝑ restest at the none daye lest I go wrong, and come vnto ꝑ flockes of thy cōpanions

¶ Chryst to the Church.

C Yf thou knowest not thy self (O ꝑ fayrest among wemē thou go thy way forth, after the fotsteppes of the shepe, as though thou woldest fede thy gotes bisyde ꝑ shepeherdes tentes. Ther wil I tary for the (my loue) with myne hoost and with my charettes, whiche shalbe no fewer then Pharaos. Then shalthy chekes & thy neck be made fayre, & hanged wt spāges & godly iewels: anecbād of gold wil we make ꝑ wt stluer botons

¶ The voyce of the churche.

When the kyng syteth at the table, he shal smel my Nard: for a bondel of Myrre (O my beloued) lyeth betwixte my brestes. A cluster of grapes of Cypers, or of the vyneyardes of Engaddi art thou vnto me, O my beloued. D ¶ Chryst to the Churche.

O how fayre art thou (my loue) how fayre art thou: thou hast doues eyes.

¶ The Church to Chryst.

O how fayre art ÿ (my beloued) how well fauored arte ÿ: Our bed is decte wt flours, ꝑ stipyngs of our house are of Cedre tree, & our balkes of Cypresse

The. ii. Chapter.

¶ The voyce of Chryst.

A I am the floure of the felde, & lylye of the valleys: as ꝑ rose amonge the thornes, so is my loue amonge the daughters.

¶ The voyce of the church.

Lyke as the apple tree among the trees of the wod, so is my beloued amōg ꝑ sonnes. My delyte is to syt vnder hys shadow, for his frute is swete vnto my throte. He bringeth me in to his wyne seller, and loueth me specially wel. Refresh me with grapes, cōfort me with apples, for I am sick of loue. His lefte hand lyeth vnder my head, and his ryght hande embraceth me.

¶ The voyce of Christ.

I charge you, O ye daughters of Ierusalem) by the Roes & hyndes of ꝑ felde, ꝑ ye wake not vp my loue nor touch her, tyl she be content her selfe. B

¶ The voyce of the Church.

Me thincke I heare ꝑ voyce of my beloued: lo, ther cōmeth he hoppig vpō ꝑ moūtaines, & leapig ouer ꝑ litle hilles.

My beloued is lyke a Roo or a ponge hart. Beholde, he standeth behynde our wall, he taketh in at the wyndowe, and pepeth thorow the grate.

My

My beloued answered & sayd vnto me.

¶ The voyce of Christ.

Arise vp my loue, my doue, my beutyfull, & come: for lo, ỹ winter is now past, & the rayne is away & gone. The D floures are come vp in the felde, ỹ twisting tyme is com, the voyce of ỹ turtle doue is heard in our lande. The figge tree bringeth forth her figges, the vynes bere blossoms, & haue a good smel. Arise vp my loue, my beutyfull, & come (O my doue) out of the caues of the rockes, out of the holes of the wal. O let me se the countenaunce & heare thy voyce, for swete is thy voyce and fayre is thy face.

¶ The voyce against the heritykes.

Get vs the foxes, yee the lytle foxes that hurt ỹ vynes, for our vines beare blossoms.

¶ The voyce of the Churche.

My loue is myne, and I am his (which fedeth among ỹ lilies, vntil the day breake, and tyl ỹ shadowes be gone. Come again prevely (O my beloued) lyke as a Roo or a yong herte vnto the mountaynes.

The .iii. Chapter.

¶ The voyce of the Churche which is chosen out of ỹ Heathen.

A By night in my bedd I sought him whom my soule loueth: yee diligently sought I him, but I found him not. I wil get vp (thought I) & go about the cytte, by on the market & in al ỹ stretes wyl I seke him whō my soule louethe: but when I sought him, I foūde him not. The watchmen that go about the cittie, founde me.

¶ The Churche speakyng of Christe.

B Sawe ye not him whom my soule loueth? So when I was a lytle past thē, I founde him whom my soule loueth. I haue gott en holde vpon him, & wyl not let hym go: vntyl I bring hym into my mothers house, and in to her chābre that bare me.

¶ The voyce of Chryst.

I charge you, O ye daughters of Ierusalem, by the Roes & Hyndes of the, felde that ye wake not vp my loue ner touch her, tyl she be content her self.

¶ The voyce of the Synagoge, marueling in it self at ỹ church of Christ.

Who is this, ỹ cōmeth out of ỹ wyldernesse like pylers of smoke, as it were a smel of Myrre, frankēcense & al maner ipyces of the Apotecary?

C

¶ The voyce of the churche.

Beholde, about Salomons bedstede ther stand .lx. valeaūt men of ỹ mighty i Israel. They behold swerdes euery one, & are expert in warre. Euery man hath his swerd vpon is thigh, because in ỹ night. King Salomon hath made him self a bedsteade of ỹ wod of Libanus, the pylers are of syluer, the couering of golde, the seate of purple, ỹ ground pleasauntly paued for the daughters of Ierusalem.

D

¶ The Church speakyng of Chryst.

Go forth (O ye daughters of Siō) & behold King Salomō in the crowne wherwithe his mother crowned him in the daye of his mariage, & in the daye of ỹ gladnesse of his hert.

¶ The .iiii. Chapter.

¶ The voyce of Chryst.

How fayre arte thou: my loue, how fayre arte thou: thou hast doues eyes, besyde that which lyeth hyd wyn. Thy heary lockes are lyke a flocke of shepe ỹ be clypped, which go fyrst vp from ỹ washinge place: where euery one beareth two twyns, & not one fruteful among them. Thy lyppes are like a rose coloured rybond thy wordes are louely: thy chekes are lyke a pece of a pomgranate besides ỹ which lieth hyd wyn. The necke is like ỹ tower of Dauid buylded with bulwarckes, where vpon they hang a thousande shyldes, yee all the weapens of the gyauntes. Thy two brestes are like two twyns of yonge roes, whiche fede amonge the lylyes.

A

¶ The spouse speaketh to him selfe.

O ỹ I might goto ỹ mountaine of myrre & to the hil of frāckinsēce: tyl ỹ daibreake, & tyl the shadowes be past awaye.

The voice of christ speaking to ỹ church

Thou art al faire, O mi loue, & no spot is ther i ỹ. Come to me frō Libanus, O my spouse, come to me frō Liban⁹: cō soone ỹ next way frō the toppe of Amana, frō ỹ toppe of Sanir & Hermō. frō

the

the lyons dennes, and from the mountaynes of the leopardes.

Thou hast wouñded mi hert, O mi sister, my spouse, thou hast wounded myhert, with one of thyne eyes, & with one chayne of thy necke. O how kayre and louely are thy brestes, my syster, my spouse? Thy brestes are moze pleasaunte then wyne, and the smell of thine oyntementes passethe all spyces. Thy lyppes, O my spouse, droppe as the hony combe, ye mylke and hony, is vnder thy tõge, and the smell of the garmentes is lyke
D the smell of franckinsence. Thou artte a well kepte garden, O my Syster, my spouse, thou art a wel kept waterspryg, a sealed well. The frutes that sproute in the, are lyke aparadise of pomgranates with swete frute: as Cipresse, Nardus, Saffronne, Calmus, and all the trees of Libanus: Myrre, Aloes, ãd all the best spyces. Thou art a well of gardens a well of lyuinge waters, whych renne downe from Lybanus.

¶ Chryst calleth the heathen.

Up thou nozth wynde, come thou south wynde, and blowe vpon my garden that the smell therof maye be caryed on euery syde, ye & my beloued may come into my garden, and eate of & frutes and apples that growe therin:

¶ The. v. chapter.

¶ Chryst speaketh to the church.

A COme into my Garden, O my syster, my spouse: I haue gethered my Myrre, & my spise. I wyl eate my hony & my hony cõbe, I wyl dryncke my wyne and my mylke.

¶ Chryst speaketh to the Appostles.

Eate, O ye frendes, dryncke, and be mery, O ye beloued.

¶ The voyce of the churche.

As I was a slepe, and my hezte wakynge, I hearde the voyce of my beloued, when he knocked.

¶ Chryst to the Church.

Open to me (sayde he) O my syster, my loue, my dooue, my dearelynge: for my heade is full of dewe, and the lockes of my hear are ful of the nyght droppes.

¶ The voyce of the spouselle.

I haue put of my coate, how can I do it on agayne? I haue washed my fete how shall I fele them agayne?

B ¶ The voyce of & church spekigof crist

But when my loue put in his hand at the hole, my hert was moued towarde hym: so that I stode vp to open vnto my beloued. My handes droppyd with Myrre, and & Myrre ranne downe by fingers vpon the lock. Neuertheless when I had opened vnto my beloued he was departed and gone awaye.

Now lyke as afore tyme when he spake, my hert coud not longer refrayne: Euenso now I sought him, but I coude not fynde him: I cryed vpon hym, neuertheless he gaue me no answere.

¶ The Churche complaineth of her persecuters.

So the watchmen that wente about the citye founde me, smote me, & wounded me: Yee they that kept the walles, toke away my garment fro me.

¶ The spouses speketh to her cõpanyõs

I charge you therfor, O ye daughters of Jerusalẽ, yf ye fynd my beloued, & ye tell hym how that I am syck for loue.

C ¶ The voyce of the Synagoge.

Who is thy loue aboue other louers, O thou fayrest among wemẽ? Or what can thy loue do, more thẽ other louers, & thou chargest vs so straytely.

¶ The Churche, answerig of Chryst.

As for my loue, he is whyte and redde coloured, a syngular personne among many thousãdes: his head is the moste fine golde, the lockes of his hearre are bussched, browne as the cuenynge: Hys eyes are as the eies of doues by the water brokes, washen with mylk, and remaining in a plenteous place: His chekes are lyke a garden bedd, wherin the Apoticaries plãt almaner of swete thinges: His lyppes droppe as the floures D of the most principall Myrre, hys handes are full of golde rynges & precyous stones. His body is as the pure yuery, decte ouer with Saphires: Hys legges are as the pyllers of Marbel, set vpon sokettes of golde: His face is as Libanus, and as the Cedre trees: His throte is swete, yee he is altogether louely Soch one is my loue. O ye daughters of Jerusalẽ, soch one is my loue.

¶ The voyce of the Synagoge speaking to the Church.

Whither

Whyther is thy loue gone then(O thou fayrest amonge women) whyther is thy loue departed,that we may seke him with the?

¶The.vi.Chapter.

¶The voyce of the Church.

A MY loue is gone downe into his garden,vnto the swete smellyng beddes,ꝯ he may refresh him selfe in the garden,& gather floures.

My loue is myne,and I am his,which fedeth amonge the lylyes.

¶Christ to the Churche.

Thou art pleasaunte(O my loue) euen as lowlynesse it selfe,thou art fayre as Jerusalem,glorious as an army of men,w̄ their banners.(Turne awaye thyne eyes fro me,for they make me to proude.)Thy heayre lockes are lyke a flocke of goates vpon the mounte

B of Galaad .Thy teth are lyke a flocke of shepe that be clypped, which go out of the washinge place:where euery one beareth two twyns, and not one frutefull amonge them.Thy chekes are like a pece of a pomgranate, besyde that which lyeth hyd within.There are thre score Quenes ,foure score cōcubines & yonge women without nombre.But one is my doue,my derlinge.She is ꝯ ¶ onely beloued of her mother,and heare vnto her that bare her.When the daughters sawe her,they said,she was blessed: Yee the Quenes and concubynes praysed her.

¶The voyce of the Synagoge.

What is she this,that peepeth out as the morning:fayre as the mone,excellente as the sunne,glorious as an armye of mē with their baners.

¶Christ to the Synagoge.

I went downe into the nutte gardē, to se what grew by the brokes, to loke yf the vineyarde flourished, and yf the pomgranates were not shot forth.

D ¶The voyce of the Synagoge.

Then the charettes of the Prince of my people made me sodenly afrayed.

¶The voyce of the Churche callinge agayne the Synagoge.

Turne agayne,turne agayne,O ꝯ Sulamite,turne agayne,turne agayne,ꝯ we maye loke vpon the.

¶The.vii.Chapter.

¶Christ to the Synagoge.

What pleasure haue ye more A in the Sulamite,thā whē she daunceth amonge ꝯmē of warre?

¶Christe to the Churche.

O how pleasaunt are thy treadynges w̄ thy shoes, thou princes daughter? Thy thinges are lyke a fayre iewel,which is wrought by a cōnyng workeman: Thy nauel is lyke a round goblet, whiche is neuer without drinke: Thy wombe is lyke an heape of wheate sett aboute w̄ lylies:Thy two breastes are lyke two twynnes of roūge roes:Thy necke is as it were a tower of yuorye: B thine eyes are like water poles in Hesebon,besyde ꝯ porte of Bathrabbim:thy nose is lyke ꝯ tower of Libanus,which loketh toward Damascus: That heade that standethe vpon the is lyke Carmel:the hearre of thy heade is lyke the kynges purple folden vp in plates.

O how fayre & louely art thou,my C dearlynge,in pleasures? Thy stature is like a date tree,and thy brestes like the grapes.

¶The spouse speakyng of the crosse.

I sayde: I wyll clymme vp into the date tree,& take hold of his braunches

¶The spouse speakynge to the spousesse.

Thy brestes also shalbe as the vyne grapes,the smell of thy nostrels lykeꝯ smel of apples,& thy throte lyke ꝯ best wine.This shalbe pure & cleare for my loue, his lippes & teth shal haue theyr pleasure.There wyll I turne me vnto my loue,& he shal turne hym vnto me.

¶The churche speakyng to Christ.

O come on my loue,let vs go forth in D to ꝯ feld,& take our lodging in the vyllages. In ꝯ morning wyll we rise by tymes,and go se the vyneyarde:yf it be sprōge forth,yf the grapes be growne, & yf the pōgranates be shot out.Ther wyl I geue the my brestes:ther shal ꝯ Mandragoras geue their smel beside oure dores:there,O my loue, haue I kepte vnto the al maner of frutes,both new and olde.

¶The.viii.Chapter.

¶The

¶ The voice of the Patriarches spekynge of Chryst.

A OThat I myght kynde̊ wout, and kysse the, whome I loue as my brother, which suckte my mothers brestes: & that thou woldest not be offended, yf I toke ẏ, and brought ẏ into my mothers house: ẏ thou mighdest teache me, and that I myght geue the drincke of spiced wyne, & of the swete sappe of my pomgranates. His lefte hande lyeth vnder my heade, and hys ryght hand embraceth me.

¶ The voyce of Chryst.

B I charge you, O ye daughters of Jerusalē, ẏ ye wake not vp myloue, nor touch her, tyl she be content her selfe.

¶ The Synagog speakig of ẏ church

What is she this, that cōmeth vp from the wyldernes, and leaneth vpon her loue?

¶ The voyce of ẏ spouse before ẏ spouse selfe.

I am the same that waked the vp amonge the apple trees, where thy mother bare the, where thy mother brought the into ẏ worlde.

¶ The Church speakynge to Chryst.

O set me as a seale vpon thyne hert, any as a seale vpon thyne arme: for loue is mightye as the death, and gelousye as the hell. Her coales are of fyre, & a very flamme of ẏ Lorde: so that many waters are not able to quench loue, nether maye ẏ streames droune it. Yee yf aman wolde geue al the good of his house for loue, he shulde counte it nothynge.

¶ Christ speakynge of the churche to the Synagoge.

When our loue is tolde our ponge sister, whose brestes are not yet growne what shal we do vnto her?

¶ The answere of Christ for ẏ church.

Yf she be a wall, we shall buylde a syluer bowlwerck ther vpon: yf she be a tower, we shal fasté her with borders of Cedre tree.

¶ The church answerethe to the Synagoge.

If I be a wal, & my brestes like towres, then am I as one that hath found fauoure in his syght.

¶ The synagoge speking to ẏ church.

Salomon had a vinyarde at Baal Hamon, thys vineyarde delyuered he vnto the keepers: that euery one for the frute therof shoulde geue hym a thousand peces of syluer.

¶ The voyce of Chryst.

But my vyneyarde, O Salomon, geueth the a thousand, and thre hundreth to the keepers of the frute. Thou that dwellest in the gardens, O let me heare the voyce, that my companions may herken to the same.

¶ The voyce of the church, speaking to Chryst.

O get the awaye, my loue as a roo or a ponge herte vnto the swete smellynge mountaynes.

⚜

¶ The ende of the Ballet of Ballettes of Salomon, called in Latine Canticum Canticorum.

⚜

The Prophetes in Inglysh.

Esay.	Jonas.
Jeremy.	Micheas.
Ezechiel.	Naum.
Daniel.	Habacuc.
Oseas.	Sophony
Joel.	Aggeus.
Amos.	Zacharye.
Abdy.	Malachy.

¶ The boke of the Prophete Esay.

¶ Esaye prophesyeth that the anger of God shall come vpon Jerusalem because of theyr synnes.

¶ The first Chapter.

THe prophecye of Esay the sonne of Amos, whych he shewed vpon Juda & Jerusalem: In the a*time of b*Ozias Jotham, Ahaz, & Jehezekiah, kings of Juda. Heare o heauē herkē O earth, for ỹ Lord speaketh, I haue nourished and brought vp children, and they are fallen away fro me. An ox knoweth hys lorde, and an asse hys masters stal, but Israell knoweth nothynge, my people hath no vnderstandinge. Alas for thys sinfull people, which are expert in blasphemyes, a frowarde generacion, vnnaturall children. They haue forsakē ỹ Lord, they haue prouoked the holy one of Israell vnto anger, and are gone backwarde, wherfore shoulde yee be plaged any more? For they are euer fallyng awaye. The whole* heade is sycke, and the hert is very heuy. b* Frō the sole of the fete vnto the heade ther is no whole parte in al your body: but al at woundes, botches, sores & strepes which can nether be helped, bound vp, molyfyed, nor eased with any oyntmēt.

Your land lyeth waste, your cyties are brent vp, your enemyes deuour youre land, and ye must be fayne to stand, & loke vpon it: and it is desolate, as yt were with enemyes in a battel. Yea ouer* the daughter of Sion is lefte alone lyke a cotage in a vyntard like a watchehoule in time of warre, like a beseged citie. And excepte the lord of Hostes had left vs a fewe a liue: we shoulde haue bene as Sodoma, and like vnto Gomorra.

Heare the word of the Lord ye tyrauntes of Sodoma, and herken vnto the lawe of our god, ỹ people of Gomorra

Why offre yee so many sacrifyces vnto me? I am discontēt for the brent-offrynges of wethers and with the fatnes of fed beastes. I haue no pleasure in the bloude of bullockes, lambes and gootes. Whē ye apere before me, who requyreth you to treade within me porches? Offer me no mo oblacions, for it is but lost laboure. I abhorre your incence, I maye not awaye with youre newmoones, your Sabothes & solempne dates. Your fastings ar also in vayne. I hate your newe holydayes and fastinges, euen fro my very herte They make me weery, I can not abide them. Though ye holde out your handes turne I mine eyes from you. And though ye make many prayes, yet here I nothing at al* for youre handes are ful of bloude.

Wash you, make you cleane, put awaye youre euel thoughtes out of my syght, ceale from doing of euel & violence. Lerne to do right, applye youre selues to equite, delyuer the oppressed, helpe the father lesse to his ryght let, ỹ widdowes complaynt com before you. Now go to (sayth the Lord) we wil talke together. Is it not so? Though your synnes be as read as scarlet, shal they not be whyter then snowe? And though they wer like purple, shal they not be like white wolle? Is it not so? If ye be louing and obedient, ye shall eniope the best thinge that groweth in the land. But if ye be obstynate and rebellyous ye shalbe deuoured with the swerde: for thus the Lorde hath promysed with his owne mouth.

Jerusalem & Juda the prophecy

Of the comming & deth of Christ and of the callyng of the Heathen.

F How happeneth it then that ỹ ryghtuous cyte, whych was full of equyte, is become vnfaythful as an whore? ryghtuousnes dwelt in it, but now murtherers* Thy syluer is turned to drosse, and thy wyne myxt w̄ water. Thy prynces are trayters and companions of theaues, They loue gyftes altogether, & follow rewardes. As for ỹ fatherles, they helpe him not to hys ryght, nether wyll they let the widdowes causes com before them. Therfore speaketh the Lorde God of hostes the mighty one of Israell: ah I must ease me of myne enmyes and auenge me vpon them. And therfore shall I lye my hande vpon the, and burne out thy drosse from the fyneſt ād pureſt, and put out al the lead, and let thy iuges agayne as they were somtyme, and the Senatoures as they were from the begynnyng. Then shalt thou be called the rightuous citie, the fayth full citie. But Sion shall be redemed
G with equytie, and her captiuitie with the ryghtuousnes. For the transgressours and vngodly, and such as are becomme vnfaythfull vnto the Lorde, must altogether be vtterly destroyed.

And except ye be ashamed of the oke trees wherin ye haue solyted, and of the gardens that ye haue chosen: yee shalbe as an oke whose leaues are fallen awaye, and as a garden that hathe no moyſture. And as for the glorye of the thynges it shalbe turned to dryye strawe & he that made thē to a sparcke And they shall both burne together, so that no man shalbe able to quench thē.

The notes

a* Of thys time and of the thynges, done therin, ye haue in the fourth of the kynges from the .xiiii. chap to the .xxi. And in the .ii. of the Chronicles, from the .xxv. Chapter to the .xxxiii.

b* Otherwyse called Azariah. ii. Reg xiiii. c.

c* The heade signyfyeth them that are ordeyned to gouerne the people.

d* From the soule. &c. That is the whole multitude of the people, is there no goodnes.

e* That is, citie & people, as in the Psal. cxxvii. b.

f* The maner of the scripture is, somtyme to call ỹ frowarde and wicked Jewes by the name of straungers and Heathen, because they dyd as wickedlye as did the heathen: As he here calleth them Sodomites. &c. And in. Ezechi. xvi. a He vpbreadeth them of the synefull nacyon, wherof they came, on thys maner. Thy father was an Ammonite. &c.

g* To turn syluer into drosse. ād to myxt wyn with water, is, to deprauе the heuenly worde of God, ād to corrupt the pure iudgement therof. for couetoulnes sake: which thynge was vsed in Paules tyme, as ye may se ii. Corinth. iiii. a. much more now be ye sure.

The .ii. Chapter:

A MOrouer this is the worde, that was opened vnto Esaye, the sonne of Amoz, vpon Juda & Jerusalem. It wyl be also* in proses of tyme: That the hil were the house of the Lorde is buylded, shal be the chefe among hilles, and exalted aboue al ye tel hilles. And al the heathen shal perysshe vnto him, and the multitude of people shal go vnto hi, speaking thus one to another: vp, let vs go to the hyl of the Lorde, and to the house of ỹ god of Jacob: that he maye shewe vs hys waye, and that we maye walke in hys pathes. For the b* lawe shal com out of Sion, and the word of God from Jerusalem, and shal geue sentence amōg the Heathen, and shal reforme the multitude of people: c* So that they shal breke their swerdes and speres to makе sithes, syckles and sawes therof. Frō ỹ tyme forth therfore shal not one people, lift vp weapon agaynst another, nether shal they lern to fight from thence forth. It is to the ỹ I crye (O house of Jacob) vp, let vs walck in the lyght of B the Lord. But thou art scattered abrod with the people (O house of Jacob) for ye go farre beyonde youre fathers, whether it be in Sorceres (whome yee haue as the Philistynes had (or inchalkers of mans birthes, wherof ye haue to many. As soone as your lande was ful of siluer and golde, and no ende of your treasure: so sone as your land was full of stronge horses & and no ende of your charetes: Immediatly was it ful of idoles also uē worckes of your owne handes, which ye your selues haue facioned, and your fingers haue made. There kneleth the man there falleth ỹ man downe before them, so ỹ thou cāst not bringe him awaye frō thence. And C therfore get the soone in to some rocke and hyde the in ỹ grownde frō ỹ sight of the fearefull iudge, and, from the glory of his Maiesty: Which casteth downe ỹ high lokes of presumptuous persōs & bryngeth lowe ỹ pryde of mē, and he only shalbe exalted i that daye For the d* daye of the Lorde of hostes shall

shal go ouer al pryde and presumcyon vpon al thē that exalt them selues, & shal bring them al downe: vpō a high and stoute a* Cedre trees of Libanus and vpon al the okes of Basan vpon al stoute monntaines, vpon al costlye towres and vpon al strong walles vp on al shippes of the see, and vpon eue ry thinge ꝑ is glorious, and pleasaunt to loke vpon.

And it shal bringe downe the pryde of man, & laye mans presumptuousnes ful lowe. and the Lord shal only haue the victory in that daye, But the Idols shal vtterly be roted out. D Men shal crepe in to holes of stone, and in to caues of the earth from the sighte of the fearefull tuge, and from ꝑ glory of his magesty what time as he shal make hī vp to shake the earth. Then shal man cast awaye his goddes of siluer & gold which he neuertheles had made to honour them) vnto Moles and Backes: that he maye the better crepe in to the caues & rockes, and into the cliffes of hard stones from the syght of the feareful tuge & from the glory of his Magestie a* Hebr. In the last dayes: by which is comenly signyfied the time of Christes comming and frō thēce vnto the ende of the World as in Ezech: xxxviii, & Jere. iii. d. and in many onher places.

The notes:

b* The Hebrues take not the lawe onely for the commaundementes but also for al the promyces of God for the prayinges and thankesgeuinges and for al that is contayned the whole old testament.

c* So that they shal breake their swerdes &c. Note here the great innocency of them that dwel in the citie of God, that is, in the Church and congreacion of the faithful: which thinketh it not ynoug to abstayne from battel and robry contencion and strife &c. But do also apply them selues to honest ocupacions and vnfauty craftes, wherwith they may fede not only them selues but other also with thē: which thing is signified by these rud instrumentes, sithes sycles and sawes doing herin accordyng to the counsel of S. Paul which saith let hī ꝑ stole stele no more but let him rather laboure wyth his handes some good thing, that he maye haue to geue vnto him ꝑ nedeth. Ephe. iiii. e.

d* The daye of ꝑ Lord, is, the daye of ꝑ iust iudgment, in which god proueth the concience of euerye man shewyng him self a iust iudge as it is figured of Christ Mala, iii a But who maye abid ꝑ daie of his comming. &c.

e* Cedre trees are very high trees, and in Libanus are they hygher then in any other place: and therfor signifieth he therby the most mighty princes and rulers The xxxi. kinges also ꝑ Josua ouerthrowe as ye reade Josu. xii. dwelled about Libanus. It is an hyl in Syria. After in ꝑ. lx. c

The prophecieth that at the commynge of Christ al strength and power shal be put forth of Jeury

The iii Chapter.

EVery man can eschue a par lō moued in āger, for what doth he wisely: seuin so shal the Lorde of Hostes take a waye from Jerusalem and Juda, al possessions and power, al mea te and dryncke the capitayne of the soudiers, the iudg and the prophete, the wise and the aged man, the worshipful of fyftie yeare olde, and the honourable: the Senatour, and men of vnderstandinge: the masters of craftes and oratours. And I shall geue you chyldern to be your prynces (sayth the Lorde) and babes shall haue the rule of you. One shall euer be doyng vyolence and wrōg to an other. The boye shall presume agaynst the, elder and the vyle persone agaynst the honorable. Ye one shall take a frende of hys owne kynred by thee bosome, and saye a* thou hast clothing thou shale be oure heade, for thou mayest kepe vs from thys fall and parell.

Then shall he sweare and say. I cā not helpe you. Moreouer there is neyther meat nor clothing in my house make me no ruler of the people. For Jerusalem and Juda must decaye, because that both theyr words and councels ar agaynst the Lord they prouoke the presence of his magestie vnto anger. The chaunginge of theyre countenauuce bewrayeth thē: ye they declare their owne synnes them selues as the Sodomites and hide thē not. Woo be vnto their soules for they shall bee hetuely rewarde d. Thē shal they saye ꝑ O happy are ꝑ godly, for they may enioye the frutes of theyr studies, But woo be to the vngodlye and vnrighteuous for theye shalbe rewarded after theyr works. O my pepl b* rybaudes oppresse and ꝑ wemen haue ruler of the O mypeople, thy leaders deceauethe, & treade out the waye of thyfote steppes The Lord is here to cōmen of the matter & standeth to geue iudgment wyth the people. The Lord shal come for the to reason wyth the Senatours & princes of his people & shal saye thus vnto them

thē. It is ye ỹ haue burnt vp my vyneye arde, the robbert of the pooze is in youre house. Wherfoze do ye op pzesse my people, and marre the faces of the innocentes: thus shall the God of Hostes reuple them.

Moreouer thus sayeth ỹ Lozd: Seinge ỹ daughters of Stō are be cō so pzoude, and com in with stretched out neckes, and with vayne wanton eyes: seynge thei come in tryppyngelonycely with their fete: Therfoze shall ỹ Lozde* shaue the heades of ỹ daughters of Sion, and make their bewtyebare in ỹ daye. In that daye shall the Lozd take awaye ỹ gozgtousnes of their apparel, & spanges, cheynes, partlettes, & colares, bracelettes & hoodes, ỹ goolysloured wyde & broderd tatment, bzusches & headbandes, rynges and garlandes, holy daye clothes & vales, kerchues & pynnes, glasses & smockes, bonettes and taches.

And in steade of good smell there shalbe stynck amonge them. And foz their gyrdles there shalbe lowse bandes. And foz wel sett hearre there shalbe baldnes. In stede of a stomacher, a sack cloth, and foz their bewte wytherydnes and sonne burnynge. Their husbandis and their myghtie mē shal perysh with the swerde in battell.

The notes:

a* That is, thou arte better apparelled, and richer then we, helpe vs with fode and other thynges necessarye. All the courses which the pzophete here reciteth, were fulfilled in the destrucion of Jerusalem.

b* Some reade: exactours oz extozcioners. He noteth the couetousnes of pzestes and pzelates. God here calleth the pooze, widdowes, the fatherlesse, and all that are destitute of the comfozte of thys wozlde hys people: whom the pharisees then oppzessed: now pzestes, and suche as falsely boaste themselues to be spirituall: Justly called exactours, in as moch as they require theyz ryghte (as they call it) moaze by meng tradicions, then by the wozd of God: and doo not so seake soules to God, as many foz themselues. Oppzesse, that is, spoyle, pill, and cuen shaue, so that they seāt leaue ought. What house, feld, oz marchaūdise is ther that rendereth them not some what? Whether ther be childeren chzystened, oz mariages made, oz men come to the table of the Lozd: whether the fycke be visited, ther is euer some what required. Farthermoze they are not onely accused to be couetous, but also to be wemen, that is, effiminate and womanly: because they moost fylthely & pdelly spende and wasted that, which they haue scrapped with iudgyng, violence, and moost naughte factions.

c* To shaue the heddes of women is to make thē confounded and ashamed, foz it is a shame to a woman to be shauen. 1. Cozint. xi. a. So that the pzophete herby signifieth, by a bozowed speach, that ỹ Lozde shall make the doughters of syon (by which vnderstande, the wemen of Jurye) confounded and asshamed, and bzinge them to extreame aduersitie and pouertie, and euen to nought. Josephus maketh mencion that Jerusalem, whiche was the chef Cyti therof, was ones so fampyshed ỹ a certeyn woman of the citie ate her owne chylde. Albeit, som vndeestande euen here also by the daughters of syō the townes, vilages, and castels of syon: as it doth indede often signifye in the scriptures.

The .iiii. Chpter.

Foz want of men seuen women desyze to haue one man.

AT that time shall a* their gates mourne & complaīe, and they shal sytt as desolate folck vpon the earth, b Then shal seuen wyues take holde of one man, and saye: we wyl laye al oure meate and clothynge together in comē, only ỹ we may be called thy wyues, and that this shamful repzofe maye be taken from vs. After that tyme shal ỹ c braunche of ỹ lozd be bewtyful and myghtye, and the frute of the earth shalbe fayze and pleasaūt foz those Israelites ỹ shal spzīg therof. Then shal the remnaunt in Sion and the remaūt at Jerusalem be called holye: namelye al such as are wzytten among the lyuing at Jerusalem: what tyme as the Lozd shal wash awaie the desolacion of the daughters of Stō, & pourg the bloud out from Jerusalem with the wynd of his smoke and fyze. Moreouer vpon all the dwellynges of the hyl of Sion and vpon their whole congregacion, shal the Lozd pzouide a cloude and smoke by daye, and the shynyng of a flamyng fyze by nighte: foz al their glozy shalbe pzeserued. And Jerusalem shall be a tabernacle foz a shadome because of hete in the daye tyme, a place & refuge where a mā maye kepe him foz wether and rayne.

The notes

a* The gates shal mourne and complayne, because not onely the soudyers shal perish with the swerd, but also the Judges and geuers of sentence. He taketh the place of iudgment foz the Judges: foz in ỹ Gates was iudgment wont to be geuē. Ruth iiii. Oz, euen the gates shal be destroyed, and no mā shal enter in oz go out therat, foz ỹ gates mourne, if the people be not often sene in them.

b* Then shal vii. wyues &c. The meanyng is. The wycked wemen were not contented with their husbandes, but there shal com such a shercenes of men, ỹ ther shall be skante foz euery seuenth woman one man suche a slaughter shal ther be, ỹ few men shall remayn, and that wemen shal be brought in to captiuite.

c* By this braunche vnderstand Chzist.

The. v. Chapter.

of

Of Christ and his vineyarde, wyth an execracyon of couetousnes and of dronckenes.

A NOw well then, I wil singe vnt beloued frende a songe of his vyneyarde. My beloued frende hath a vyneyarde in a very frutefull plenteous grounde. This he hedged, this he walled rounde about, & plãted it wt goodly grapes. In ỹ myddest of it buylded he atowre, and madea wyne presse therin. And afterwarde when he loked ỹ it shulde bringe him grapes, it brought forth thornes. I shewe yow now my cause (Oye Cytysens of Jerusalem & whole Juda:) Judge I praye you betwixte me, & mi vineyard. Wh=at more coulde haue bene donne for it, that I haue not done? Wherfore then hath it geuen thornes, where I loked to haue had grapes of it?

B Well, I shall tell you how I will do with my vineyard: I will take the b*hedge frõ it, that it maye perysh, & breake downe ỹ wall, that it maye be troden vnder fote. I wyl laye it waste, ỹ it shall nether be twisted nor cut, but beare thornes and breares. I wyl also forbyd the cloudes, that they shall not rayne vpon it. As for the vyneyarde of the Lorde of Hoostes it is the house of Jsraell, and whoole Juda his fayre plãtynge. Of these he loked for equyte but se there is wrõg: for rightuousnesse, lo, It is but mysery.

C Wo be vnto you ỹ ioyne one house to another, & bringe one lande so nigh vnto another, tyll ye can get nomore grounde. Wyll ye dwell vpõ ỹ earth alone? The Lord of Hostes rowndeth me thus in myne eare: shal not many greater & more gorgious houses be so waste, ỹ no mã shal dwell in thẽ? And ten akers of vynes shall geue but a Quarte, and xxx. bushels of sede shall geue but thre. Wo be vnto them that ryse vp early to vse them selues in dronckennes, and yet at nyght are more superfluous wyth wyne. In those cõpantes are harpes and lutes, tabrettes & pypes, and wyne. But they regarde not the worcke of the Lorde, and consydre not the operacion of his handes. Therfor cõmeth my folke also in captyuite, because thei haue no vnderstandyng. Theyr glory shalbe myxte wyth hunger, and their pryde shalbe matred for thyrste. Therfore gapeth hell, and openeth her mouth maruelous wyde: that pryde, boostyng and wysdomme, with soch as reioyse therin, maye descende in to it. D

Thus shall man haue a fall, he shalbe brought lowe, & ỹ hygh lokes of ỹ proude layde downe. But ỹ Lord of Hostes, that holy God: shalbe exalted & vntouched, when he shal declare hys equyte and ryghtuousnesse after this maner: Then shall ỹ lambes eate theyr appointed foder, & shal fede plenteously i the mõtaynes. Woo be vnto vayne persones, that dra we wyckednes vnto thẽ, as it were with a coorde: & synne, as it wer with a cart rop. Which vse to speke on this maner: let hym make haste now, ãd go forth with hys worke, that we may se it. Let the counsel of the holy one of Jsraell come, and dra we nye, that we maye knowe it.

Woo be vnto them that cal euel good, and good euel: which make darcknes lyght, and lyght darcknesse, that make sower swete, and swete sower. Woo be E vnto them that are wyse in their owne sight, and thyncke them selues to haue vnderstandinge. Woo be vnto them, ỹ are connynge men to suppe ouer wyne, and experte to set vp dronkennes. These geue sentence with the vngodly for rewardes, but cõdempne the iust cause of the righteous.

Therfore lyke as fyre lycketh vpp the strawe, and as the flamme consumeth the stubble: Euen so (when theyr rote is full,) theyre blossome shall vanysh awaye lyke dust or smoke: for thei despyse the law of ỹ lord of hostes, & blaspheme the woorde of the holye maker of Jsraell.

Therfore is the wrathe of the Lord kindled also agayn st his people, and he shaketh his hande at them: ye he F shall smyte so, that the hylles shall trẽble: And their karcases shall lye in the open stretes, lyke myre. After all this, the wrath of God shall not ceasse, but he shal stretch his hand wyder. And he shal geue a tokẽ vnto a straũg people, & call vnto the in a farre countre, & beholde, they shal come hastely w̄ spede. There is not one faint nor feble amonge them, no not a slogysshe nor slepery persone. There shall not one of the put of the gyrdle from hys loynes, nor lowse their latched of his shue. Their arowes are sharpe, and their bowes bente Their horse hokes are lyke flinte, and their cartwheles lyke a stormy wynd. Their crye is as it were of alyon, and the roaringe of them lyke lyons whelpes. They shall roare, and hantche vp the praye, and no man shall recouer it or get it from them. In that daye thei shalbe so fearce vpon them, as the see. And if we loke vnto the lande, behold, it shall be all derckennes and sorow if we loke to heauen: beholde, it shall be darcke with carefull desperacion.

The Notes.

a* By the wynepresse vnderstandeth. S. Austine the ministracion of the Word of God in the church.

b* By the hedge and wale is figured the custody of Aungels, wherwith the people of God (whiche is called the vyneyard of the Lorde) was compassed about and defended.

c* To shake or stretche forth hys hande at them, is to prouide and make ready to stryke them, & greuously to punish them for their synnes. As after in the xiiii. g I she stretch forth his hand, who wyl with drawe it agayne.

¶ Esay sawe the glorye of the Lorde, and was sent to prophecye the desolation of Jewrye.

¶ The vi Chapter.

A IN the same yere that kyng Ozeah dyed I sawe a* the Lord sitting vpō an hygh & glorious seate, and hys traine fylled the palace. From aboue stakred the Seraphins, wherof euerī one had six winges. With twaine ech couered hys b*face, with twayn his fete, and with twayne dyd he flye. They cryed all eche one to other on thys maner: holy holy holy, is the Lorde of hostes. The whole world is full of his glory. Yc the geastes and dorpeches moued B at their crienge, and the house was full of smoke. Then I sayde: O wo is mee For I was astonished: that I, whych ā a man of vncleane lyppes, and dwell amonge people that haue vncleane lyppes also) shoulde se the kynge and Lord of hoostes with myne eyes.

The flew one of the Seraphyns vn C to me hauing a whote cole in hys hand, whiche he hadde taken from the aulter wyth the tonges, & touched my mouth, & sayd: lo, this hath touched thy mouth, & thyn vnrighteousnes is take away, & thy synne forgeuen. After this I herde the voyce of the Lorde taking aduysement on this maner: whome shall I sende, & who wylbe our messenger: then I sayd: here am I, send me. And so he sayde: go, and tel this people: *ye shal heare in dede, but ye shal not vnderstā de, ye shall playnely se'& not perceaue. Harden the hart of this people, stoppe their eares, & shut their yes, ỹ they se not w̄ their eyes, heare not w̄ their eares, and vnderstand not with their hertes, and conuerte and be healed.

D Then spake I: Lorde how long? he answered: vntyl the cities be vtterly w̄out inhabitours, and the houses without men, tyll the lande be also desolate, and lye vnbuylded. For the Lord shal take the men farre awaye, so that the lande shall lye waste. Neuertheles, the tenthe parte shall remayne therin, for it shall conuerte and be frutefull. And lykewyse as ỹ Terebintes & Oke trees bryngе forthe their frutes, so shall the holy sedehaue frute.

The notes.

a* That is, some certen glory of the Lorde: and so doth S. Johan full well expounde it in these woordes: such thynges sayde Esaias whē he saw his glorye. &c Johon xii. c.

b* The aungels are counted to haue face, fete, and wynges, although they are in dede without a body or any bodelye membre, because that by the face or eyes we vnderstand knowledge: by the fete, dyligēt seruice. and by the wynges, quick and readye, expedicion, as in Ezechyel. i. b.

¶ The Sirians moue battel agaynst Jerusalem. a virgyn shall beare a Chylde.

¶ The. vii. Chapter.

A IT happened in ỹ tyme of Ahaz ỹ sonne of Johathā, whych was ỹ sōne of Ozias kīg of Juda: ỹ* Razi the kyng of Syria, & Phaketh the sonne of Romeliah, kinge of Israell: wēt vp toward Jerusalem to besege it, but wanne it not. Nowe when the house of Dauid (ỹ is Ahaz) herd word therof, ỹ Syria & Ephraym were confederate together: his herte quaked (ye & the herts of all ook his people) likeas a tre in the felde, that is moued with the wynde.

Then sayde God vnto Esaye: go mete Ahaz (ỹ and thy sonne Sear Jasub) at ỹ head of ỹ ouerpole, in the fotepath by

by the fulleds grounde, and saye vnto hym, take hede to thy selfe and be styll, but feare not, nether be faynt harted, for these two tales: that is: for these two smokynge fyre brandes, the wrath and furiousnes of Razin the Sirian and Romelies sonne: be cause that the king of Sirta Ephraim & Romelies sonne haue wickedly conspired agaynst the, saying: Wewyl goodowne into Juda, vexe them, and brynge them vnder vs. and set a kynge there, euen the sonn of Tabeel. For thus sayeth ỹ Lorde God ther to. It shall not so goo forth, nether come so to passe: for the head cytye of ỹ Sirians is Damascus, but the head of Damascus is Razin. And after fyue & thyrscore yeare, shall Ephraim be no more a people. And the cheefe cytie of Ephraim is Samaria, but the head of Samaria is Romelies sonne. And yf ye beleue not, there shal no rygh te be kepte with you. Moreoure, God spake vnto Ahaz, saying: require a token of the Lorde, thy God, whether it be towarde the depth beneth or towarde the height aboue. Then sayde Ahaz: I wyl requyre none, nether wyl I tempte the Lord. The Lorde answered: Then heare to, ye of ỹ house of Dauid: Is it not ynough for you, that ye be greuous vnto men, but ye must greue my God also? And therfore the Lorde shall geue you a token of hym selfe: Beholde, a virgin shall conceaue and beare a sonne, and shall call his name[a]* Emanuel. Butter and hony shall he eate, that he maye know the euel, and chose the good. But or ener ỹ chylde come to knowledge, to eschue the euell and chose the good: The lande (that thou art so afrayde for) shal be desolate of both her kynges.

The Lorde also shall sende a tyme vpon the, vpon thy people, and vpon thy fathers house (such as neuer came sence the tyme ỹ Ephraim departed frõ Juda) thorow the kyng of ỹ Assirians. For at the same tyme[b]* shall the Lorde whistle for ỹ flies that are about ee the water of Egypt, and for the Bees in the Assirians lande. Thes shall come, and shall lyght al in the valeyes, in ỹ hawtes of stone, vpon all grean thynges, and in all corners.

At the same tyme shal the Lorde [c]* shaue[d]* the heatre of the head and the fete and the beerd cleane of, with ỹ [e]* rasoure ỹ he shal paye them withall beyonde the water: namely, with the king of the Assirians. At the same tyme shal a man liue with a cow, and two shepe.

Then because of the abundaunce of milck, he shal make butter and eate it. So that euerye one which remayneth in the lande, shal eate butter and hony. At the same time al vintardes (though there be a thousand vynes in one, and were sold for a thousand siluerlinges) shalbe turned to breares and thornes. Like as they shal come in to the lande with arowes and bowes, so shall all ỹ land be come breres and thornes. And as for al hilles that now ar hewen downe, thou shalt not come vpon them, for feare of breres and thornes. But ỹ catel shall be dryuen thyther, and the shepe shal fede there.

The notes

a* That is God with vs.

b* That is, shal geue a smal token and bryng the to gether. The Hoste, as wel of Nabuchodonozer as of Sennaherib was of the Assirians, Egipcias, and Indians. The egipcians calleth he flyes, because ther be in Egipt many flyes: and the Assirians bees, because ther is in Assiria abundaunce of bees and honye. By the water of Egypte, he signifieth Nilus.

c* That is, take cleane awaye.

d* That is, the nobles and rulers. And by the heas of the fete and beard, are signified the comenalte, and whatsoeuer is seamely or manly in it.

e* By the rasour that shal pate tyē, vnderstandeth he the kinge of Assur, and the other aboue named.

¶ The deliueraunce of the lande by Emanuel. The stone of offence, at which many shal stomble

¶ The. viii. Chapter.

MOreouer the Lorde sayde vnto me: Take the a greate leafe, & wryte in it, as men do with a penne, that he spede him to robbe, and haste him to spoyle. And immedidtly I called vnto me faythful wytnesses Vrias the preste, and Zacharias the sonne of Barachias. After that went I vnto the Prophetisse, that nowe had conceaued and borne a sonne. Then sayde ỹ Lorde to me: geue him this name: Maherschalal haschbas (that is: a spedie robber: an hasty spoyler). For why, or euer the chylde shal haue knowledg to saye: Abi and Imi, (that is father, and Mother): shall the ryches of Damascus and the substaunce of

of

the prophecy.

of Samaria be taken awaye, thorow the kynge of the Assirians.

B The Lord spake also vnto me, sayinge: for so moch as the people refuseth the stil*renninge water of Silo, and put theyr delyte in Razin & Romelies sonne: Behold, ỹ Lord shal bringe myghtye and greate floudes of water vpon the: namely, ỹ kyng of ỹ Assirias with all his power. Which shall poure out his furiousnes vpon euery man & renne ouer al their banckes. And shal breake i vpon Juda, increasing in power, tyl he gett him bi ỹ throte. He shal fyll also the wydenesse of thy lande b* with hys brode wynges, O Emanuel.

Go together ye people, & gather you, herken to all ye of farre countrees. Mustre you, & gather you: mustre you & gather you, take your coũcel together, yet must youre councel com to nought, go i hande withal, yet shal it not prosp-ere. Excepte Emanuel: (ỹ is god) be w vs. For the Lorde chastised me, & toke

C me by ỹ hãde, & warned me, saying vnto me: that I shuld not walcke i ỹ waie of this people. He sayd moroure: rounde w none of the, whosoeuer sate: ponder people are bounde together. Neuertheles feare them not, nether be afraide

D of the, but sanctyfye ye ỹ Lord of Hostes, lett hym be youre feare & drede. For he is ỹ sanctyfyeng & stoune to stombleat c* ỹ rock to fal vpõ, a snar & net to both ỹ hou ses: to Israel, & the inhabitours of Jerusalẽ. And many shall stomble, fall, and be brokẽ vpon him: yee they shalbe snared and taken. Now laye the witnesses together (sayde the Lorde) & seale ỹ lawe with my disciples. Thus I wayte vpon the Lorde ỹ hath turned his face from the house of Jacob, & I loke vnto him. But lo, as for me, a ỹ children which ỹ Lord hath geuẽ me: we are atokẽ & a wonder in Israel, for the Lorde of Hostes sake, which dwelleth vpõ the hyll of Syon. And therfore yf they saye vnto you: aske councell at ỹ sothesaiers, witches, charmers & conjurers, then make them thys answere: Is there a people eny where, ỹ asketh not councell at his God: whether it be concernynge the dead, or the lyuynge.

If eny man want lyghte, let him lokẽ vpon the lawe and the testymony, whether they speke not after this meanig. If he do not this, he stombleth and suffereth hunger. And if he suffer hunger, he is out of pacience, and blasphemeth his kinge and his God. Then loketh he vpwarde, and downe warde to the earth, and beholde, there is trouble & darckenesse, veration is roũd about hi, and the cloude of errour.

And out of such aduersite, shall he not escape.

The notes

a* He calieth ỹ kyngdom of Daud, which figureth the kyngdome of Christ, the styl rennynge water of Silo: which thing agreth very wel vnto Christe, ỹ was meke and lowly of hert. Mat. xi. & zacha. ix. Behold the kyng commeth vnto the poore and lowly. &c, He rayneth in styl & peasable conciences. Silo is a spring at the fote of the hil of sion: which hath not contynually water: but springeth certen houres and dayes, and commeth with a greate sound by ỹ bothom of the grounde, and ryftes and holes of an hard stony rocke. The maner of speking is borowed, of the despised lytelnes of the water which signifieth the smal estemacion and pouerty of the Christẽ.

b* With his broade wynges, that is, with his hostes of soudiers. So in Ezech. xvii. a is a kinge described, by an eagle that hath greate wynges.

c* Some reade, and as the rocke to faule vpon, to ỹ ii. houses of Israel: a snare and net to ỹ inhabitours of Jerusalem. And they expound the sentence thus The Lord wyl be vnto the. ii. houses of Israel, that is, to the house of Juda and to the houses of the tribes: partly a sanctifieng (by which vnderstand helth and felycite) partly a ston to stomble at. So that some of both the houses shal be sanctifyed, and som shal stomble, but that chefely they of Jerusalem shal be snared. Who shal be sanctified, and who shal stõble and fal, doth S. Peter clerly expound. i. Pet. ii, b saying: vnto you therfore which beleue, he is precious: but vnto thẽ, which beleue not, ỹ stone which ỹ buylders refused, &c

The. ix. Chapter.

The prophecieth of Christis natiuite & dominion,

A Euen lyke as in time past it hath bene wel sene, that ỹ land of zabulon & the land of Nephtali (wher thorow ỹ see waye goeth ouer Jordane into the lande of Galilee) was at ỹ fyrst in lytel trouble, but afterward sore vexed.

Neuertheles the people that haue dwelte in darckenesse, shall se a greate lyght. As for them that dwel in ỹ land of the shadowe of death, vpon thẽ shal the lighe shyne. Shalt thou multyply the people, and not increase ỹ ioye also? They shal reioyce before the euẽ as men make mery in harueste, and as men that haue gotten the victorye, when they deale the spoyle.

For

For thou shalt breake the a*yock of the peoples burthen: the staff of his shoul-
B der and the rodd of his oppressours as in the b*daye at Madian.

Moreouer all temerarious and sedictous poet(yee wher ther is but a cote kylde with bloude)shalbe burnt,& fede ỹ fyre. For vnto vs a child shalbe borne, & vnto vs a sonne shalbe geuen. Upon hys shoulder shall the kyngdome lye,& he shalbe called with his owne name: The wonderous geuer of counceil, ỹ myghtie God, the euerlasting father, ỹ prynce of peace, he shall make no ende to encrease the kyngdome and peace, and shall syt vpon the seate of Dauid and in his kingdom, to set vp the same, to stablish it with equyte and rightu-ousnesse, frō thence forth for euermore. This shal the gelusy of the Lorde of Hostes bringe to passe. The Lord sent C a worde in to Jacob, the same is come in to Israel. And ỹ people also of Ephraim, and they that dwel in Samaria, can saye wyth pryde and hye stomackes, on thys maner: The tyle worckes is fallen downe, but we wil bylde it with harder stoues. The Wolbery timbre is broken, but we shal sett it up agayne w Cedre. Neuertheles, thee Lorde shall prepare Razin the enemy agaynest thē, & so ordre theire aduersaryes, ỹ the Syrians shal laye holde vpon thē before & the Philistines behynde, and so to de-voure Israel wyth open mouth.

After all this, the wrath of the Lord shall not ceasse, but yet hys hande shal be stretched oute styll. For the people tarneth not vnto hym, that chastiseth them, nether do they seke the Lorde of Hostes. Therfore the Lorde shall rote oute of Israell both head and tayle, braunche and twigge in one daye. By ỹ head, is vnderstande the Sena toure and honorable man, & by the tayle, the Prophet that preacheth lyes. For all they whych enfourme the people that thei be in arighte case, soch be dysceauers.

Soch as men thyncke also to be per-fecte amonge these, are but cast awaye.

Therfore shall the Lorde haue no pleasure in their ponge mē, nether fa-oure their fatherlesse & wydowes. For they are all together Ipocrites & wicked, and al their mouthes speake folly. After al this shal not the Lordes
D wrath ceasse, but yet his hande shal be stretched out stil. For ỹ vngodli burne as a fyre in the bryers and thornes: And as it were oute of a fyre in a wodd or a redde bussh, so ascendeth ỹ smoke of their pryde.

For this cause shal the wrath of ỹ Lord of Hostes fal vpon the lande, & the people shalbe consumed, as it were with fire, no mā shal spare his brother. If a mā do turne hi to the right hand, he shal famish, or to the lyft hand to eat, he shal not haue ynough. Euery man shal c*eate the flesh of his owne arme: Manasses shal eate Ephrai, & Ephra im Manasses, they both shal eate Ju da. After al this shal not the Lordes wrath ceasse, but yet shal his hande be stretched out styl.

The notes.

a* This pocke figureth the yock and burthen of ỹ lawe, which so oppressed the people that S. Peter could saye to the Apostles, ỹ nether they ner theire fathers were able to kepe it Actes xv.b. This pock hath Christ broken accordyng to this prophecye of Esay, and vtterly discharged ỹ burthē therof. For we knowe now that God is satisfied and contēted in the bloud of his sonne Christe, and that ỹ many thousandfold punishmentes which are due to oure synnes, are cleane pardoned and forgeuen for ỹ me rites of the same Christe. 1. Johan. ii. a The Hebrues expoūd this of the destruction of the hoste of Se naherib which was done by the Aungel, of whych ye haue after in the, xxxvii, g. And cal the host of ỹ Assirians the yock of the peoples burthen, the staffe of the shoulders rodde of the oppressour, but it is a moare greuous bondage, wherwithe the spirituall Senaherib of whome that Assirian was a certen fi gure and shadowe, bounde vs, and frō which christe hath deliuered vs.

b* By the daye at Madian is meant the daie where in Gedeon with thre. C. men slu an innumerable mul titude of the Madyanytes, as ye reade Iudic. vii

There fought the Lorde for him and delyuered the people from bondage, euen so hath he now deliured vs from the captiuite of the deuel, deeth, and hel by Christ.

c* He eateth the flesh of his owne arme, that taketh awaye the goodes of his nye frēd: and robbeth his kynsman. The meanyng is, that one shal robbe and polle another.

E

The threateneth ỹ oppressours of the poore, and prophecyeth agaynst Sennaherib.

The x Chapter.

A WO be vnto you ỹ make vnrighteous lawes, & deuyse thinges which be to hard for to kepe: wher thorow ỹ poore are oppressed, & euery syde and the innocentes of my people are therwith a* robbed of iudgment: ỹ wyd dowes ma ye be youre praye, and ỹ ye maye robbe ỹ fatherlesse. What wyl ye do in time of the visytacion and destruccyon, that shall come from farre? To whoome wyll yee renne for helpe? or to whom will ye geue your honoure, that he maye kepe it? that ye come not amõge the prysoneres, or lie amonge the deed
B After al this shall not the wrath of the Lorde ceasse, but yet shall his hande be stretched out styll.

Wo be also vnto Assur, whych is A staf of my wrath, in whose hande ys the rod of my punyshment. For I shal sende hym among those ypocryticall people, amonge the peple, ỹ haue deserued my displeasure shall I send him: ỹ he may vtterly robbe them, spoile thẽ, & treade thẽ do wne lyke the myre in the strete. Howbeit his meaning is not so, nether thinketh his hert of this falshyõ. but he ymagyneth only, how he may ouerthorow & destroye moch people for he sa
C ye th: are not my prynces all kynges, Is not b* Calno as easye to winne, as Charchamis? Is it harder to conquere Antiochia then Arphad? is it lighter to ouercome Damascus then Samaria? As wo say: I were able twynne their kyngdom of the Idolaters, and them goddes but not Jerusalem and Samaria. Shal I not do vnto Jerusalem, and their ymages, as I dyd vnto Samaria and their ymages?

Wherfore the Lorde sayeth: As so one as I haue perfourmed my whole worcke vpon the hyl of Syon, and Jerusalem, then wyll I alsoo c* vyset the noble and stoute kyng of Assiria, with his wysdome, and pryde. For he standeth thus in his owne conceate: Thys do I thorow the power of myne owne hãde/and thorow my wysdome: For I am wyse, I ambe that remoue the landes of the people, I robbe their princes, & (like one of the worthyes) I dryue them from their hye seates.

My hand hath founde out the hostes D of the people as were in a nest. And lyke as egges, that were layde here and there are gathered together: So do I gather all countrees. And there is no man that darre be so bold, as to touch a fether, that darre open his mouth, or once whisper.

But doth the axe boost it selfe, agaynst hi that heweth, ther with, or doth the sawe make eny brackynge agaynst hym that ruleth it? That were euen lyke as yf the rod dyd exalte it self, agaynst hym that beareth it: or as thoughe the staff shulde magnifye it selfe, as who saye: it were no wood

Therfore shal the Lord of hoostes send E him pouerte in his richches, and burne vp his power, as it were with a fyre: But the light of Israel shalbe ỹ fyre his sanctuary shalbe the flamme, and it shal kyndel and burn vp his thornes and breres in one daye ye al the glorye of his woodes and feldes shal be consumed w body and soule. As for hym selfe, he shal be as one chased awaye. the trees also of his feld shalbe of such a nomber that a child maye tel them.

After that daye shall the remnaunte of Israell: and such as are escaped out of the house of Jacob, seke nomore comfort at hym that smote them but shal cõforte them selues with faithfulnes and trueth in the Lorde the holy one of Israell. The remnaunt, ye and the Posteritie of Jacob, shall conuerte vnto God the myghtie one. For though ỹ F thy people (O Israell) be as the sande of the sea, yet shall but the remnaunte of them onely conuerte vnto hym. Perfecte is the iudgement of hym that floweth in rightuousnes, and therfor the Lorde of hoostes shall perfectly fulfyll the thinge that he hath determyned in the myddest of the whole worlde. Therfore thus sayth the Lord god of Hoostes: Thou my people, that dwellest in Sion. be not afrayde for the Kinge of the Assyrians, He shall wagge his staf at the and beate the with the rodd as the Egyptians dyd som tyme: But soone after shal my wrath & mine indignacion be fulfilled againste their blasphemyes.

More

Wherfore the Lord of Hostes shal prepare a scourg for him like as was the punishment of Madian vpon ỹ mout of Oreb. And he shal lyft vp his rod ouer the se as he had somtime ouer the Egyptians. Then shal his burthen be take from thy shoulders, and his yock from thy neck, ye the same yocke shall be corrupt for very fatnesse. He shal come to Aiath, and go thorow to ward Migron. But at Machmas shal he muster his Hoste, & go ouer the foorde b*Gabaah shal be theyr resting place

Rhamah shal be afrayed, Gabaah Saul shal flé a waye. The voyce of ỹ noyse of the horses (O daughter Gallim) shalbe herd vnto Ilas and to Anathoth, which also shalbe in trouble. Madmena shal tremble for feare but ỹ cytezynnes of Gabim are manly, yet shalbe remayne at Nob that daye. After that, shal he lyft vp hys hande agaynst the mount Sion, and agaynst ỹ hyl of Jerusalem. But se, the Lord god of Hostes shal take awaye the proude from thence, with feare. He shal hewe downe the proude, and fel the hie myn ded. The thornes of the wod shalbe roted out with yrõ, and Libanus shall haue a myghty fall.

The notes

b*Or passage Vnder stand of Jordan.

The prophesieth of the natiuite of Christ & of his people: of the remnaunt of Israel, and of ỹ faith of the Heathen or gentills.

The.xi. Chapter.

After thys there shall come a rodd forth of the kynred of Jesse, and a blossõe out of his rote. The spyrete of the Lord shall lyght vp on it: the spyrete of wysdom and vnderstandynge: thee spyrete of counsell and strength, the spyrete of knowledge, and of the feare of God: and shal make him feruent in the feare of God.

For he shall not geue sentence after the thyng that shall be brought before his eyes, nether reproue a matter at ỹ fyrst he aryng: but wyth ryghtuousnesse shall he iudge the poore, and withe holynges shal he reprouue the symple of the worlde.

He shall smyte the a*worlde b*wyth the staff of hys mouthe, & wỹ ỹ breath of hys mouth shall he slaye the wicked. Rightuousnesse, shal be the gyrdle of his loynes, treuth and faythfulnesse, the gyrdynge vp of hys raynes. Then shal the wolfe dwell with the lambe, & ỹ Leoparde shal lye downe by the gote Bullockes, Lyons & catell shall kepe company together, so that a lytle childe shall dryue them forth. The cowe & the Bere shal fede together, & their ponges ones shal lye together. The Lyon shal eate straw like the oxe, or ỹ cowe. The chyld whyle he sucketh shal haue a desyre to the serpẽtes nest, & when he is wened he shal put his hãd in to the Cocka tryceden nomã shal do euell to another, nomãshal destroy another, in al ỹ* hyl of my Sãctuary. For ỹ erth shalbe ful of the knowledge of the Lorde, uen as though the water of the se flowed ouer the earth.

Then shal the gentyles enquere after ỹ rote of Jesse (which shalbe set vp for atoken vnto the Gentiles) for his dwellynge shalbe glorious. At the same tyme shal the Lord take in hande againe, to conquere the remnaunt of his people which are left alyue. Frõ the Assirians, Egyptians, Arabians, Morias, Elamites, Caldeyes, Antiochiãs and Ilands of the see. And he shal sett vp atoken among the Gentyles and gather together the dysperssed of Israell, yee & the out castes of Juda from the foure corners of the worlde. The hatred of Ephraim and the envyte of Juda shalbe cleane roted oute. Ephraim shal beare no euell wyll to Juda, & Juda shal not hate Ephraim: but they both together shal fly vpon the shoulders of the Philistines to warde the West, and spoyle them together that dwell towarde the East. The Idumytes and the Moabites shal let their handes fal and the Ammonites shalbe obedient vnto them.

The Lorde also shal cleue the tonges of ỹ Egyptyans see & with amighty wynde shal he lyft vp his hande ouer Nilus, & shal smyt his seuen streames and make men go ouer dryc shod. And thus shal he make a waye for his people, ỹ remayneth frõ ỹ Assiriãs lyke as it happened to the Israelites what time they departed out of ỹ lãd of Egipt

the

The notes.

a* That is worldlye and earthlye men, which seke nothinge but that which is worldly: euē the same which he calleth here wycked.

b* With the staffe of hys mouth &c. that is, wyth ỹ word of preaching, not wyth harnesse, wyl destroye Antichrist. ii. Thes. ii.

c* By the he lok his sanctuarye is sygnifyed vnto vs the Churche of god, as it is said in ỹ Psa. lxvi. c

¶ The song of the Church for the obtayning of ỹ victory and ouer comyng of the worlde.

The. xii. Chapter.

A ND ỹ then thou shalte saye, O lord, I thank ỹ, for thou wast displeased at me, but thou hast restrained thy wrathe, & hast mercy vpon me. Beholde, God is my health, in whome I trust, & am not afrayde. For the lord God is my strength, & my prayse, he also shalbe my refuge. Therfore wt ioye shal ye drawe water out of ỹ a* welles of the Sauioure, & then shal ye saye: Let vs geue thanckes vnto the Lord, & cal vpō his name, & declare his counsels amōg the people, & kepe thē in remēbrauce, for his name is excellēte. O sig prayses vnto ỹ lord, for he doth greate thinges, as it is knowne in all the worlde. Cry out, & be glad, thou ỹ dwellest in Siō, for great is thy prynce: the holy one of Israel.

The notes

a* The welles of the Sauiour are the word of god the doctryne of the gospel and promises of Christe, wherwith trembling souls and afflyct consceyences are refreshed out of these (saieth he) ỹ they shal drawe water, not out of mennes traditions: which are but podelles.

¶ He prophecieth the destruction of Babilon, ỹ captiuite, and the comming agayne of the people.

¶ The. xiii. Chapter.

A THis is ỹ heup a* burthen of Babylon, which is the sonne of Amos dyde. b* Make some tokens to the hie c* hilles, call vnto them, holde vp your hande that the Prince maye go in at the doore, for I wyll sende for my b* debites and my gyauntes (sayeth the Lord) and my wrath I wyl cal for soch, as triumphe in my glory.

With ỹ, me thought I hearde in the mountaines, noyse, like as it had bene of a great people: a rushing, as though the kyngdomes of al nacyons had come together. (And the Lorde of Hostes was ỹ captayne of ỹ whole armye. As they had come not only out of farre countrees, but also from the endes of ỹ heauens: Euen the lorde hym selfe wt the mynysters of his wrath, to destroy the whole lande. Mourne therfore, for the daye of the lorde is at hande, & commeth as a destroyer from the almyghtye. Thē shal al handes beleten downe, and all mens hertes shal melt away, they shal stande in feare, carefulnesse and sorowe shal come vpon them, and they shal haue payne, as a womā ỹ trauayleth wt child c* One shal euer be a basshed of a nother, and their faces f* shal burne lyke the flamme. B

For lo, the day of the Lorde shal come, terrible, full of indygnacyon and wrath, to make the land waste, and to roote out the synne thet of. For the sterres and planetes of heauen shall not geue their lyght, the sunne shalbe quenched in the rysynge, and the moone shal not shyne with hys lyght. And I wil punysh the wickednes of thes* worlde and the synnes of the vngodly. sayth the lorde. The hye stomakes of the proud wil I take awaye and wyll lay downe the boastinge of tyrauntes. I wyll make a man dearer then fyne golde, and a mā to be more worthe, then a golden wedge of Ophyr. C Moreouer, I wyll so shake the heauen that the earth shal remoue out of her place.

Thus shal it go with Babylon i the wrath of the Lord of Hostes in ỹ daye of his feareful indignacion. And Babilon shalbe as an hunted or chase doo and as a flocke wout a shepherde. Euery man shal turne to his owne people, and flee echone into his owne land. Who so is found alone, shal be shutte thorow. And who so gather together shal be destroyed wt the swerd. Their children shal be slayne be fore their eyes, their houses spoyled, and their wyues rauyshed. for lo I shal brig vp the Medes agaynst them which shall not D regard siluer, nor be desirous of golde then shal young mens bowes be knapped asunder. The Medes shal haue no pytie vpon women with chyld, and their faces shal not spare the children. And Babilon (that glory of kigdomes and bewtye of the Caldees honoure shall be destroyed, euen as god destroyed Sodome and Gomorra. It shal neuer be moze inhabited, nether shal there be anye moze dwellyng there, from generacion to generacyon.

shal

The Arabyans shal make no mo tentes ther, nether shal ỹ shepeerdes make their foldes there anye moze: but wild b*beastes shal rye there, and the houses shalbe ful of greate Oules. Estriches shal dwel there, and Apes shal daunse there: the lytle Oules shal crye in the palaces, one after another, and dragons shal be in the pleasaunt parlours. And as for Babelõs tyme it is at hãd, and her dayes maye not be longe absent:

The notes.

a* That, is greuous prophecy combraunce, mischef, and heupe fortune.
b* Some reade: lift vp the baner or standart.
c* Some reade: hyl, and vnderstand therby Babilõ, which (say they) is called an hyl because of the hyghe and ereding sumptuous bulding therof.
d* He calleth the people of Parisia and of Media his debites and his giauntes, because he was disposed by them to ouerthrowe the Babilonians.
e* Som reade euery man shal be abasshed towarde his neighboure. That is, they shalbe so astonyed & amased and so destitut of councel that one shal loke vpon another and be confounded, marueling how they came in such trouble.
f* That is they shalbe soare ashamed, that their faces shalbe as redde as fyre.
g* By the world here is signified Babilon, because of the greatnes therof.
h* By the dwellynge of these beastes in Babylon doth the Prophete meane, that it shal be vtterly destroyed, and becom as desolate as a wildernes: as at ter in ỹ. xxxvii c. Pellicanes, storkes, &c. shal dwel therin.
¶ The retourne of the people from captiuite. The prosperitye of the people of God, and affliccion of their enemyes. The pride of Babylon.

The. xliii. Chapter.

But the Lorde wilbe mercyful vnto Jacob, and wyl take vp Israel agayne, and set thẽ in their owne lande. Straungers shal cleaue vnto them, and get thẽ to the house of Jacob. They shal take the people, and cary them home with them. And the house of Israel shal haue them in possession for seruauntes and maydens in the lande of the Lorde. They shal take those prysoners, whose captyues they had ben afore: and rule those that had oppressed them. When the Lord now shal bringe the to rest, from the trauayle, feare, and harde bõdage that thou wast lade w al: thẽ shalt thou vse this mockage vpõ ỹ king of Babilõ, & saie: How happeneth it that the oppressour leaueth of? Is the golden tribute come to an ende? Vouteles the Lorde hath broken the a*staf of the vngodly, and the scepter of the lordly. Which when he is wroth somtyme the people w durable strockes, and in his wonders he persecuteth them: and taineth thẽ contynually. b* And therfore the whole worlde is now at rest and quyetnesse, and men synge for ioye.

Yee euen the fyre trees and Cedres of Libanus reioyce at thy fal, saying: Now that thou art layd downe, there come no mo vp to destroye vs. c* Hel also trembleth at thy comming, al mighty men and princes of the earth, steppe forth before the. Al kynges of ỹ earth stand vp from ther seates, ỹ they maye al (one after another) synge and speake vnto ỹ. Art thou wounded also as we? art thou become lyke vnto vs? Thy pompe and thy pride is gone downe to hel: Wothes shalbe laide vnder the, & wormes shalbe thy couering.

How art thou fallen from heauẽ (d* O Lucyfer) thou fayre morning child? hast thou gotten a fal euen to ỹ ground, ỹ ỹ (not withstandinge) dydest subdue the people? And yet ỹ thoughtest in thyne herte: I wyl clyme vp into heauen, and make my seate aboue the sterres of god, I wyl syt vpon the glorious mount towarde the North, I wil clyme vp aboue the cloudes, & wyl be like the highest of al. Yet darre I laye ỹ thou shalt be broughte downe to the depe of hel. They ỹ se the, shal narowly loke vpon the, and thincke in them selues, saying: Is this the mã, ỹ brought al landes in feare, and made the kyngdomes afrayde: Is this he that made ỹ world in a maner waste, and laide the cities to the grounde, which let not his prysoners go home?

How happeneth it that the kynges of al people lye, euery on at home i his owne palace, with worshipe, and thou art cast out of thy graue lyke a wylde braunch: like as dead mens raymeent ỹ are shut thorowe with the swerd: as they ỹ go downe to ỹ stones of ỹ depe:

Min. as

as a deade coarse that is troden vnder fete: and art not buryed with them: Euen because that thou hast wasted thy land, and destroied thy people. For the generacion of the wicked shalbe without honour, for euer. There shal away be sought to destroy their children, for their fathers wickednes: they shal not come vp agayne to possesse the lande, & fyl ỹ world ful of castels and townes.

F I wyl stand vp against them (saith the Lord of hostes) and root out the name and generation of Babilon (sayth the Lorde) and will geue it to the, Otters, and wil make water poddels of it. And I wyl sweepe them out with the besome of destruccion, sayeth the Lorde of Hostes. The Lord of Hostes hath sworne an othe, saying it shal come to passe, as I haue determyned: & shalbe fulfylled as I haue deuysed. The Assirians shalbe destroyed in my lande, & vpon my mountaynes wyll I treade them vnder fote. Whete thorowe hys yocke shal come from you, and his burthen shal be take from your shoulders. Thys deuyce hath God taken thorow the whole worlde, and this is his hād stretched out ouer all people. For yf ỹ Lorde of Hostes determē a thing, who wyl disanulle it: And if he stretch forth hys hande, who wyl hold it in againe:

G The same yeare that kynge Ahaz died, God threatened by Esay on this maner: Reioyce not (ỹ whole Palestyna) as though the rod of him that beateth the were broken: for out of the serpentes rote, there shal waxe a kockatrice, and the frute shalbe a fyre worme. But the poore shal fede of the best thynges, and the symple dwell in safetye. Thy rotes wyl I destroy with hōger: and it shal slaye the remnaunt. Wounde yee portes, wepe ye cyties, and feare thou (O whole Palestina) for there shal come frō the north a smoke, whose power no man maye abyde. Who shal then mayntayne the messages of ỹ Gētyles: But ỹ lord stablysheth Sīō & ỹ poore of my people shal put their trust in him.

The notes.

a* By the staffe is vnderstand tyranny, and by the scepter dompnion.

b* Whyle Nabuchodonosor his childrē liued ỹ people were not onlye oppressed, but also kynges and Princes, but when they were ones ryd out of the waye, then was mysery and waylynge ended. By the worlde he signifieth the comens: and by figge trees and ceders, the heades and rulers, as before in the .ii. c.

c* That is euen they that be in hel wil tremble, whē Nabuchodonosor commeth thether. It is figuratly spoken to the further settyng out of the mischef of Nabucodonosor.

d* He compareth the death of Nabuchodonosor to the falling of Lucifer the mornyng sterre, whiche he calleth the childe of the mornyng, because it appereth onely in the mornyng. The meanyng is: No such thinge ought to haue happened vnto thē, that in earth wast lyke the mornyng sterre, which no mā can take out of heauen: And thou that wast so myghtye, that thou destroyedst, what people ỹ woldest and vnto whome it was a pastyme to ouerthrowe nations, hast receaued such measur as ỹ broughtest. Such a like thinge is there in Ezec. xxviii. Against Kyng Tirus.

¶ A prophecy agaynst Moab.

¶ The .xv. Coapter.

THis is the heuy burthē vpon Moab: Ar of Moab was destroyed (as me thought) in the nyght season: The walles of Moab perysshed in the nyght, and vanished away: They wente to Baith and Dibon in ỹ hye places, for to wepe: Moab dyd mourne frō Nebo to Medba: a* All their heades were colled, and al their beardes shauen. In their stretes were they gyrded about with sacke cloth. In al toppes of their houses and stretes, was there nothing, but mournyng and weepyng. Heseboń and Eleale cried, that their voyce was herde vnto Jahaz. The worthyes also of Moab bleared and cryed for very sorow of their myndes: Wo is my herte for Moabs sake: They fled vnto the cyte of Zoar, which is like a faire frutful bullock, they wet vp to Luhith, weping. The waye toward Horonaim was ful of lamentacon for the hurt. The waters of Nimrim were dryed vp, ỹ grasse was wethered herbes destroyed and what necessarye grene thing there was beside. In like maner the thynge that was lefte them of their substaunce, they caryed it by water to Araby. The crie went ouer ỹ whole lande of Moab: from Eglaim vnto Beer, was there nothing but mournynge. The waters of Dimon were full of bloude, for the enemye had sent thither a bonde of men, which as a līō laye a wayte for the remnaunte of the land, and for them that were escaped.

The

a* In tymes past it was a token of mournynge, to shaue the heed and clyppe the beard: and therfor saith the Prophete, that the Moabytes cut awaye their heares, for sorowe and carfulnes. Like thinge haue ye in Jeremy. vii. f. Cut of thyne heare, and cast it awaye. &c.

¶ The destruccion Moab.

¶ The. xvi. Chaptter.

A Then sent the Lordes of the lande a man of warre, frō the rock that lyeth towarde the desert, a* vnto the hyll of the daughter of Syon,

(For as for the b* daughters of Moab they were as it had bene a tremblynge byrde, that is put out of her nest, by ỹ fery of Arnō) which messenger sayde: gather your councel, come to gether, c* couer vs with your shadowe d* i the myddaye, as the nyght doth: hyde the

B chased, and bewraye not them that are fled, let the persecuted Moabites dwel amonge you, be oure open refuge agaynst ỹ destroyer: for the aduersary oppresseth vs, ỹ robber vndoeth vs, & the tyraunt dryueth vs out of oure lande. But the trone of your kingdom is ful of grace, therfore he that sytteth vpon it with kaythfulnesse and truthe in the house of Dauid, & now the thing, and do his dilygence to help shortly, accordyng to equyte and rightuousnes.

As for Moabs pryd shal they answer, it is wel knowen. And al though they be excellent, proude, arrogant, and hye mynded: yet is their strength nothing like. And therfore Moab complayneth vnto Moab, wher thorow they cōe al to mourne: & now that they be smytten, they take their deuyce beneth by ỹ bryncke wal, and make their complaint.

C The suburbes also of Heleb̄ were made waste, & ỹ Prices of ỹ gentiles, hewed downe ỹ vyntardes of Sidma, which were plāted wt noble grapes, & spred vnto Jazer, & went vnto ỹ end of ỹ desert, whose braūches stretched their selues forth beyōd ỹ see. Therfore I mourned for Jazer & for ỹ vynyardes of Sibma wt grete sorow. I poured my teares vpō Heleb̄ & Eleale, for al their sōges were layde downe. i their haruest & gatherig of ther grapes: Mirth & chere was gon out of ỹ feld & vinyardes in so muche ỹ no mā was glad ner sōg. Ther wēt no treder i to ỹ wineprres esse, their mery chere was laid downe. Wherfore my bely rōbled (as it had bene a lute) for moabs sake, & min i ward membres, for the bryck walles sake.

D For it happened thus also: when Moab saw ỹ she was turned vpsyde downe: she went vpō hie in to her Sanctuary, to make her praier there, but she myght not be helped. This is the deuyce, whiche the Lord toke in hande at that tyme agaynst Moab. But now the Lord sayeth thus: In thre yeare shall the power of Moab with their pōpe (whiche is greate) be mynysched, lyke as the burthen of an hyred seruaunte. And as for ỹ remnaunt of thē, they shalbe lesse then a fewe, and not rekened moch worth.

The Notes.

a* That is vnto the kingdom of Israel.
b* That is townes, cyties and vilages.
c* That is, refresh vs that are afflict, and geue vs a place to harbour in d* That is i ỹ most greuous hete of persecutiō. So is ỹ middaie oftē taken, as in the Psal. cxxi the sunne shal not burne the by daye

¶ A prophecy agaynst damascus.

¶ The. xvii. Chapter.

A This is the heuy burthen vp on Damascus: Beholde Damascus shal be no more a cytye, but ā heape of broken stones. The cytyes of Aroer shalbe waste: the cattell shall lye there, & noman shal fraye them awaye. Ephraim shal nomore be strōge, & Damascus shall no more be a kyngdome. And as for the glory of ỹ remnaunt of ỹ Syrians, it shalbe as the glory of ỹ chyldrē of Israel, sayeth the Lorde of Hostes. At that tyme also shall the glory of Jacob be very poore, & his fatnes leane. It shal happē to thē, as whē one shereth in haruest, which cutteth hys hand full with ỹ sickle, & whē one gathereth sheaues together i ỹ valleye, of a* Raphaim, there remayneth yet some eares ouer: Or as when one shaketh ā olyue tree, whych kyndeth but two or thre olyue bernes aboue i ỹ toppe, & foure or fyue i ỹ braunches. Thus ỹ Lord God of Israel hath spokē, Thē shal mā conuerte againe vnto his maker, & turne his eyes to ỹ holy one of Israel. And shall not turne to ỹ aulters ỹ are ỹ worke of his owne handes, neither shall he loke vpon groues & ymages, which his fingers haue wrought. At ỹ same time shal their strōg cities be desolat lik as they were once ỹ for sake plowes & corn, wt they forsoke) for fere of ỹ chyldre of Israel. So shalt ỹ (a Damascus) be desolate, because thou haste forgotten God thy saupour, and haste not called to remembraunce the rock of thy strengthe.

B

Wherfore thou hast also set a fayre plant, and grafted a straung braunch. In the daye when thou dydest plant it, it was greate, and gaue soone ỹ frute of thy sede: But in the day of harueste ỹ shalt reap an heap of sorowes & mysseries

Wo be to the multitud of much people, that rusch in like the see, and to ỹ heape of folcke, that renne ouer al lyke greate waters. For thoughe so manye people encrese as the flowing waters, and though they be armed, yet they fle ferre of, and banysch awaye ỹ lyke dust with the wynde vpon an hyl, and as ỹ whyrle wynde thorow a storme. Though they be fearefull at nyght, yet in ỹ mornyng it is gone with them. Thys is their porcyon, that do vs harm, and heritage of them that robbe vs.

The Notes.

a* Rayhaim, is a valey nye vnto Jerusalem, on ỹ North syde of Jewry: Josue. xviii. & ii. Regu. v.

¶ A prophecy agaynst Egypt.

¶ The. xviii. Chaptter.

A WO be to the land of flyeng schyppes, which is of thys side, ỹ floud of Ethiopia: which sendeth her messag ouer the see in schyppes of reedes vpon the water: and sayeth: goo soone, and do your message vnto a straung and herd folke: to a fearefull people, and to a people that is further thē this: to a desperate and pylled folcke, whose lande is deuyded from vs with ryuers of water. Yee all ye ỹ syt in the compasse of the world, & dwel vpō the earth: when the tokē shalbe geuen vp on the monutaynes, then loke vp: and

B when the Hoorne Bloowethe, thenne herken to, for thus hath the Lord sayd vnto me. I laye me downe, and pōdred the matter in my house, at the Noone day, when it was hote: And there fel a mistyng shower lyke a dew, as it happeneth i Harueste. But ỹ frutes were not yet ripe cut of, & ỹ grapes wer but yōg & grene. Thē one smote of, ỹ grapes wt an hoke, yee he hewed downe also ỹ bowes & ỹ braūches, & did cast thē away. And thus they were layde waste, for ỹ foules of the mountaynes, and for the beastes of the earth together. So that the foules sat ther vpon, & the beastes of ỹ earth wintered there. Then shall there be a present brought vnto the Lorde of Hostes: euē that harde folke, that fearful folke, & that further is then thys: that desperate and pylled folke (whose land is deuyded frō vs wt floudes of water) vnto the place of the name of the Lorde of Hostes: euē vnto the hyll of Syon.

¶ He prophecyeth styll agaynst Egypt.

¶ The. xix. Chapter.

THis is the heuy burthē vp on Egipt: Beholde, the Lorde wyll a*ryde vpon a swyfte cloude, & com into Egypte. And the goddes of Egypt shall tremble at his cōmynge, & the hert of Egypte shall quake wych in her. For thus sayeth the Lord: I wil stere vp the Egypcyans one agaynst another amōge thē selues, so that one shalbe euer agaynst his brother and neyghbour, yee one cyte agaynst another, & one kingdom agaynst another. And Egypt shalbe choked in her selfe. When they aske councel at their goddes, at their Prophets, their sothsaiers & witches: then wyll I bryng their councell to naught. I wyll deliuer Egypt also into the handes of greuous rulers, and a cruell kenge shall haue the rule of them. b* The water of the see shalbe drawne out. Nilus shall syncke awaye, & be drōcke vp. The ryuers also shalbe drawn out, the welles shal decreace and drye awaye. Rede & rush shall fayle, ỹ grasse by the waters syde or vpō the ryuers bāck, ye and whatsoeuer is sowed by the waters, shalbe wythered, destroyed, and brought to naught. The fyshers shal mourne, al soch as cast angles in the water, shall cōplayne, & they that spreade their nettes i the water, shalbe faynt harted. Soch as laboure vpon flax & sylck, shal com to pouerte, & they also that weeue fine worckes. All the poundes of Egypte, all the pollycye of their Moates and dyches shall come to naught.

Yee the vndyscrete princes of Zoan, the coūcell of the wise Senatoures of of Pharao,shal turn to folyshnes: Tho se that darre boast and say of Pharaos behalfe: I am coms of wyse people, I ā come of the olde regall Progeny. But where are now the wyse men? Let them tell the and shew the, what the Lord of Hoostes hath taken in hand against E gypt. Foles are those princes of Zoā, and proude are the Princes of Noph: yee they deceue Egypt with theyr noby litte of their stocke. For the Lorde hath made Egypt droncken with the spyrete of errour, and they shal vse it in al mat=ters: euen lyke as a dronken man goeth spewynge about. For Egipte shall lack good counsel, so that they shal not kno we what to do, nether beginig nor ende nether vpon the lande nor water. Thē shall the Egiptians be lyke vntoo wemē, afrayd and astonyed, at the lyfting vp of the heade, which the Lord of hoo stes shal lyft vp ouer them. The Lande of Juda also shal make the Egyptiās afrayde, who so doth but speake vpō it, shall put them in feare: And that becau se of the counsell, which the Lorde of ho stes hath deuised agaynst them. Then shall the fyue Cities of Egypte speake wyth the Canantes tonge, and sweare by the lorde of hoostes, and Heliopolys shalbe one of them. At the same tyme shall the lorde of Hoostes haue an aul=ter in the myddest of the land of Egypt te, with this title therby. Unto the lord. Thys shal be a token or testymony vn to the Lord of Hostes in the land of E gypt, when they shal crye un to hyw, be cause of those that oppres them: that he shal sende them a Captayne and a sauyoure to delyuer them.

Moreoaer, Egypte shallbe boughte vnto the lord, & the Egiptians also shal know the lord at ỹ same tyme: they shal do hym reuerence with the peace offering es, and with mē at offrynges; they shal promyse hym offrynges: yee and paye hym also. Thus the lord, shall smyte E=gypt, and heale it agoyne: and so shal they turne to the lord, and he shal haue mercy vpon ỹ, and saue them. Thēshal ther be a comen waye out of Egypt in to Assiria. The Assiryans shall come in to Egypt, and the Egypcyans into Assiria. The Egypcians also and the Assirians shall both haue one Goddes seruyce.

Then shal Israel with honoure be the thyrde to Ehipte and Assur. And the Lord of hosts shal blesse them, saying: Blessed is my people of the Egiptiās, Assur is the worcke of my handes, but Israel is myne enherytaunce.

The Notes

a * To ride vpon a swyft cloude is, to viset & punysh quyckely and with expedition: as the cloudes gō swyftly in the ayre from region to regyon.

b * The water of the see shalbe drawen out. &c. Egypt (as storyes shew) receaueth norayne forth of ayre, but is ouer flo wed With the water Nylus at certen times, xiiii, xv. xvi, cubytes hygh from ỹ ground: For yf it increase to any lesse heyght, the countrey eskapeth not a darth, saith Plin. And therfore by the scarsnes and want of water is the desolaion of the lande described. Nilus is here called by diuers names, some tyme the see, some tyme riuers, some tyme welles, some tyme poundes. &c. For that flood runneth. vii. sondry waies, and it is caled the see, not only beause the Hebrues cal al congregaciōs of waters ỹ see, generally: but also because it was of old tyme a constant opinion after the Storyes, that yt hath his original begynnyng from the Ocean se. Ye maye also vnderstand by the dyrnes of Nilue, ỹ it ouerfloued not the lande, contraty to the old accostomed maner therof. Some had leuer haue thys to be figuratly applyed. As there be certen waters of the gospel, wich the holy goost geueth, so are ther also the troublous waters of Egipt, that is, of worldly doctrine. Therfore when the worde of God is ones herde, those waters drye vp: For ỹ holy goost reprehendeth the worlde of tynne, and openeth and declareth the worckes of darknes In those waters do rede & rushe grow, that is, vayne & tryfling worckes, suche as are the worckes of hipocrites, which after the outward shew & apearāce seame grene & fresh, but are with in vayne and nought worth.

Agaynst egipt and Ethiopia

The xx Chapter.

IN the same yere that Thar than cam to Asdod, wher Sargō the king of the Assirians sent hī what tyme as he also beseged Asdod, and wanne it the same season: Then spake the Lorde vnto Esay the sone of Amoz, saying: go & lowse of that sacke cloth from thy loynes, and put of thy shues from thy fete. And so he dyd, goyng nacked and barefote. Thē sayd the Lord: where as my seruaunt Esay goeth nacked and bare fote, it is a tokē and signifieng of ỹ thing, ỹ after thys yeare shal cōe vpō Egipt & Ethiopia. For euen thus shall the Kynge of the Assirians dryue both yong and old, as presoners naked and bare fote, oute of Egitpte and Ethiopia. And shall discouer the shame of Egept. They shall be also at their wyttes ende, and a shamed one of another: the Egypcy ans of the Assyrians, and the Assyrās of the Egipcians, at the sighte of their glory. a* Wherfore, they that dwel in ỹ Ile shal se euē the same daye: behold, this is oure hope, to whome we fled to seke helpe, that we might be delyuered from the kynge of the Assyrians. How wyl we escape.

The notes

a* Some reade: And he that dwelleth i this Ile shal &c. Jerusalem and the lande of Juda is iustly called an Ile, because it was beset rounde about with enemyes and wicked nacyons, as it had bene with the sees: & therfore ought it to haue trusted to the only healpe and ayde of god. The church also is an Ile, that is troubled with diuers stormes, and that by the onely healpe of God is in saftye: For he suffereth not the persecuters to persecut any further, thē the church may suffer, or thē is profytable for it ¶ Agaynst babylon, Idumea Arabia.

¶ The .xxi. Chapter.

A THis is the heuye burthē of the a* waste see: Agreuous vysyon was shewed vnto me, lyke as when a storme of wynd and rayne rusheth in from the wyldernes, that terryble lande. Who so maye deceaue (sayd the voyce) let him deceaue: who so maye dystroye, let him distroye. Up Elam, belege it O Madai, for I wyll stynt al their grouynges. With thys, ỹ reynes of my backe were ful of payne: Panges came vpon me, as vpon a woman in her trauayle. When I herd it/ I was a bashed: & when I loked vp, I was afraide. Myne hert panted, I trēbled for feare. The b* darckenes made me fearful in my mynde.

B Yee soone make ready the table (sayde this voyce) kepe the watch, eate & dryncke: Up ye Captaines, take you to youre shylde, for thus the Lord hathe charged me: go thy waye, & set a watchman, ỹ he may tel what he saeth. And whē he had wayted dylygently he saw two horsemen: the one rydinge vpon an Asse, the other vpon a camel. And the lyō cryed: Lord, I haue stand waytīge al the whole daye/ & haue kept my watch all the nyght. With that cam there one rydyng vpon a charete, which answered, and sayde: Babylon is fallen, she is turned vpsi downe, and all the ymages of her Godes are smytten to ỹ groūd. This (O my felow threschers & andfanners) haue I herd of ỹ lord of Hoostes the God of Israel, to shewe it vnto you.

¶ The heuy burthen of Duma.

One of Seir cryed vnto me: Watchee mā what hast thou espied by night, watchman what hast thou espied by night. ¶ The watchman answered: The daye breaketh on, and the night is commīg: If youre requeste bee earneste, then aske and come agayne.

¶ The heuy burthen of Arabya.

At euen ye shal abide in the wood in the daye towarde Dedanym. Mete the thurste with water (O ye Cytesins of Hema) mete those with bred that ar/ fled. For they shall ruune awaye from the weapen from the drawen sweerde/ from the bent bow/ and from the great battell. For thus hath the Lorde spokē vnto me, ouer ayeare shal al the power of Cedar be gone/ lyke as when the office of the hyred seruaunt goeth oute: And the remnaunt of the good archers of Cedar shalbe very fewe: For the lorde God of israell hath spoken it.

The Notes

a* By the waste see is vnderstande Babilon. It is so called, because of the exceding great cruelnes & tirranny wherwith is exercysed the Jewes.
Hereof is there a Prouerbe: Babylon is a see of euel les, and euen the wast of the see: that is the moost tempestuous and desolat place, and that is lest possible to be sayled thorow.
b* By darckenes here do some vnderstand trybulacion and aduersites as before in the .v.g. If we loke. &c. it shalbe al darknes and sorow.
A Prophecy against Jerusalem.

¶ The xxii Chapter.

THe heuy burthen vppon the a* valley of visions. What hast ỹ there to do/ that thou clymmest vp into the house toppe/ O thou Citie of myracles/ seditious and wylfulle/ seīge/ thy slayne men are neither kylled with swerde, nor dede in battell: for all thy captayns gat them to theyr horses, from the ordynaunce/ yee they are altogether rydden awaye/ and fledde fat of. When I perceaued that/ I say de: awaye fro me that I maye wepe bitterly. Take no labour to persecute me as touchinge the destruction of my people. For this is the daye of the Lorde of Hoostes, wherin he wyl plage, tread downe, and wede out the valley of ¡vysyons and breake down the walles/ wt such a cracke/ that it shall geue a soūde de in the mountaynes.

I sawe the Clampytes take the quyuers to carte & to horse, and ỹ the wales
B were bare frō harnesse. Thy goodly valleys were ful of charettes, the horsemen made them soone to besege the gates. Then was the couerynge of Juda put from thence, and then was sene the sege of the timbre house. There shalt se the ryftes in the walles of the cite of Dauid, wher of there shalbe many. Ye shall gather together the waters of the lower pole, and tell the houses of Jerusalem, & breake of some of them to kepe the walles. And ye shall make a pyt betwixte the two walles of the water
C of ỹolde pole, & nothinge regarde him, that toke it in hande, & made it. And at the same time shal the Lord of Hostes call men to weptinge, mourninge, to bāldnesse and puttynge on of sack cloth. But they to fulfil their lust & wylfulnes, slaughter oxen: they kyll shepe, they eate costly meate, & dryncke wyne, *let vs eate & dryncke/to morow we shall dye. Neuertheless when the Lorde of Hostes heard of it, he sayd yee: yf this wickednes of yours shalbe remitted, ye must dye for it. This hath ỹ Lorde God of hostes spokē Thus sayth the Lorde God of Hostes: Go in to the treasurye vnto Sobna the Gouernoure, & saye vnto him: What hast thou here to do? & from whence comest thou? that thou hast made the a graue here? For D he had caused a costly tombe of stone to be made for hym selfe, & a place to lie in to be hewē out of a rock. Beholde, the Lorde shall cast the out by violence, he wyll deck the of another fashyon, & put vpon the a straunge cloth, he shall carye the ito a farre countre, lyke a bal with his hādes. There shalt thou dye, there shall the pompe of thy charettes haue an ende: thou vyleyn of the house of the Lorde: I wyll shutte the out of thyne office and put thy from thyne estate.

After this wyll I call my seruante Eliakim, the sonne of helkiah, and arraye hym with thy cote, and gyrde him with thy gyrdle, and I wyll geue thee
E power into his hande. He shalbe a father of the citesyns of Jerusalem, & of ỹ

nota
let vs eat & dryncke/to morow we shall dye

kired of: Juda I wil also lat ỹ b*ket of Dauids house vpō his shoulders, & yf he open, no man shall shut: and if he do shut, no mā shall open. I wyll fasten him to a nayle in the place of the moost hyghe faythefulnesse, & he shalbe vpon the glorypous trone of his fathers house. They shal hāg vpōhī al the glory of his fathers house, of ỹ child & childers childreāl aparel smal & gret, al īstrumētes of measure & musyke. This shalcō to passe (sayeth ỹ Lord of Hostes) when the nayle that is fastened to the place of the hyghest faythfulnesse, shalbe plucket of. And when ỹ weght that hangeth vpon it, shall fall, be brokē, & hewen i peces. For the Lord hym selfe hath sayde it.

The notes,

a*Jerusalem is caled the valey of vysiōs; because it had so many seers, that is, prophetes and techers in godes word.
b*By the key is signified autors power as i Apoiii. b This is he. &c, that hath the key. &c.
C A Prophecy agaynst Tyrus, and a promes to restore it agayne.

The .xxiii. Chapter.

N heuy burthen vpō Tyrus/Mourne ye shippes of Tharsis, for she is throwē downe to ỹ grounde, & cōquered of them that are come from Cethim. The indwellers of the Ilandes the marchautes of Sidon, and they that occupyed the see (of whom thou wast ful somtime) are at apointe. For by se were ther frutes brought vn to ỹ, and all maner of corne by water. Thou wast the comen marcket of all people. Sidon is sory for it, yee & all the powre of the see cōplayneth, & sayeth: O ỹ I had neuer traueled with chylde, that I had neuer borne any, that I had nether norysshed boye, ner brought vp daughter.
As soone as Egipte perceaueth it, she B wylbe as sory as Tirus it selfe. Go ouer a*the see, mourne ye that dwel in ỹ Iles. Is not that the glorypous cite, whiche hath bene of longe antiquite? whose netiues dwellyng farre of, commend her so greatly? Who hath deuysed suche thinges vpō Tirus ỹ crowne of al cities, whose marchaūts & capteynes wer ỹ highest & principal of ỹ world

euen

Euen the Lorde of Hostes hath deuy-sed it, ỹ he may put downe all pōpe, & mynysh all the glory of ỹ world. Go thorow thi lande (O thou daughter of the see) as men go ouer the water, and there is not a gyrdle more.

Thus the Lorde that remoueth the kyng, domes, & hath taken in hande a C gaynst that myghtye Canaan to rote it out, hath stretchedout his hand ouer the[b]* see, and sayde: From hence forth shalt thou make no more myrth (O ỹ daughter of Sidon: for thou shalt be put downe of the Cethims. Stande vp therfore, and go where the enemye wyll cary the, where thou shalt also haue norest. Behold (for thine ensample, The Chaldees were soche a people, that noman was lyke them, Assur buylded them: he set vp hys castels and broke them downe agayne. And ther fore mourne (ye shyppes of the see) for youre power shalbe throwne downe.

After that, shall the .lxx. yeares of D Tyrus (cuē as longe as their kynges lyfe was) be forgotte. And after .lxx. yeares, it shall happen to Titus as with an harlot that plaieth vpō a lute, Take thy lute (saye men to her) and go about the cytye, thou art yet an vnknowne wenche, make pastyme with dyuerse balettes, wherby thou mayest cō into acquantaūce. Thus shall it happen after lxx. yeares. The Lorde shall vyset the cytye of Tyrus, and it shall come agayne to her marchaundyse, & shal occuppe wyth al the kyngdomes that be in the worlde. But all her occuppynge and wynnynge shalbe halowed vnto the Lorde. For then shall they laye vpō thyng behynde them nor vpon heapes: but the marchaundyse of Tirus shal belonge vnto the cytesyns of the Lorde, to ỹ feadyng and sustenynge of the hungrye, and to the clothynge of the aged.

The notes.

a* Some reade: into Tharsus. He speaketh vnto the marchauntes of Egypte & to the mar chaūtes of the Iles: ỹ they now get thē to Tharsus, because Tyrus is destroyed, b* He meaneth Tyrus, which standeth in the see.

C A Prophecye vpon the tribulacyon that shall fall vpon the worlde, because of synne.

C The .xxiiii. Chapter.

BEholde, the Lord shall waste A e and plage the worlde, he shall make ỹ face of the earth desolate, & scatre abroade the inhabytoures ther of. Then shall the[a]* Preast be as the people, the master as the seruaūt, ỹ dame lyke ỹ maide, the seler like the bier, nota vsury be that lendeth vpon vsury, like vnto him ỹ borroweth vpō vsury, the creditoure, as the detter. Yee myserably shall the worlde be wasted & clene destroyed. For the Lorde hath so determed in him selfe. The earth shalbe heuye & decaye. The face of ỹ earth shall perish & fall awaye, ỹ proude people of the worlde shall come to naught. For the earth is corrupte of her indwellers.

For why? they haue offended the la- nota
we channged the ordinaunces, and ma changed the ordi de the[b]* euerlasting testament of none naunces efect. And therfore shal the curse deuou re the earthe: for they that dwell theron haue synned, wherfore they shalbe brēt also, and those that remayne, shalbe be ry fewe. The swete wyne shal mourne, B the grapes shalbe weake, and al that ha ue bene merye in herte, shall syghe. The myrth of tabrettes shalbe layde downe, the cheare of the ioyful shal ceasse, and the pleasure of lutes shal haue an ende:
there shall no more wine be dronken w myrth, the beere shall be bytter to thē that dryncke it, the wicked cities shalbe broken downe, all houses shalbe shutt, that no man maye come in.

In the stretes shall there be lyft vp a crye because of wyne, all mens chere shall banysh awaye, and all ioye of the C earth shal passe. Desolacion shal remai ne in ỹ cities, and the gates shalbe smiten wyth wastnes. For It shal happen vnto all Landes and to all people, lyke as when a man smyteth downe the oly-ues/that are left vpon the tre: or seketh after grapes, when the wine getherīg is out. And those same (that remayne) shal lyft vp theyr voyce/ and be glad/ & shall magnifye the glory of the Lorde euen from the see/ and prayse the name of the Lorde God of Israel, in the val eys and Ilondes. We heare songes song to the prayse of the righteous, krō

al

al the endes of the wozlde. Therfoze I muste speake: O myne vnfrutfulnes, O my pouertie. Wo is me, al is full of synners, which offende of purpose and malyce. And therfoze (O thou that dwellest vpõ the earth) there is at hande foz the, feare, pyt and snare. Who so escapeth thy terreble crye, shall fall into the pyt. And yfhe come out of the pyt, he shalbe taken w the snare. Foz the D wyndowes aboue shalbe opned, and the fondacion of the earth shal moue. The earth shall geue a greate crack, it shall haue a soze rupne, & take an hozryble fall. The earth shall stacker lyke a dzoncken man, & be takẽ awaye lyke a tent. Her mysdedes shall lye so heuy vpon her, that she must fal, and neuer ryse vp agayne. At the same tyme shall ỹ Lozd muster together the hye hooste aboue, and the kinges of the wozlde vpon the earth. These shalbe coupled together as pzysoners be, and shalbe shut in one warde and puntished innumerable dayes. The Moone and the Sunne shalbe ashamed when the Lozde of hoostes shall rule them at Jerusalem vpon the mount syon, before and with hys excellent councell.

The notes

b* Some do vnderstande by the euerlasting Testament, not only that whych was made to Abzaham, Isaac, and Jacob: but also the law of nature, which is wzitten in oure hertes. Other vnderstande therby the lawe of charitie. Foz that is no new commãdemẽt, but a cõmaũdemẽt frõ ỹ beginig. The lawe of charitye is ỹ lawe of the spzete. He that loveth hys enighbour hath fulfylled the lawe. Roma. xiii. Gal. v
C I thanke geuyng to God foz hys wozckes.

C The. xxv. Chapter.

A Lozde, thou art my God, I wyl pzayse the, and magnifye thy name: foz thou bzigest maruelous thinges to passe, acozding to thyne olde councels, truly and stedfastly: Thou makest of townes, heapes of stone: & of head cities bzoken walles: The palaces of the wicked destroiest thou out of the citie, that they shal neuer be builded agayne. Therfoze the very rude people muste magnifye the/ and the Cityes of the cruell Heathen muste feare the. Foz thou act the poze mans help, a strenght foz the nedefull in his necessitie,

Thou art a defẽce against euel wether, a shadowe agaynst the heat. But vnto the pzesumptuous, thou art lyke a stõg whyrlewynde, that casteth down the bo
B astinge of the vngodlye: thou kepest mẽ from heate, with the shadow of the cloudes, thou cutest of the bzaunches of Tyrauntes.

Moreouer the Lozde of hoostes shall ones pzepare a feast foz al people vpon the hyll: A plentcous, costly, pleasaunt a* feast of fat and well fed bestes, of swete and moost pure thynges. Upon the b* hyll shall he take awaye the syde vale that hangeth before the face of all people, and the coueryng wherwith all gẽtyles are couered, as foz deathe, he shall vtterly consume it. The Lozd God shal wype away the teares from all faces, & take awaye the confusyon of hys people thozow the whole wozld. Foz the lozde hym selfe hath sayde it.

At the same tyme shall it be sayd: lo, this is our God, in whome we put our trust, and he hath healed vs. This is ỹ Lozd that we haue wayted foz: Let vs
C reioyse and delyte in hys helth. Foz the hande of the Lozde ceaseth vpon this hyll. But Moab shalbe thzesshen down vnder hym, like as the straw is troden vnder fete in a dõg hyl. Foz he shal stretcheout hys hands vpon hym lyke as a swymmer doth to swymme, and wyth ỹ power of hys handes shall he cast downe his pompe. As foz his stõg holds and hye walles: he shal bowe them, cast them downe, and fell them to the gzounde into dust.

The notes

a* By ỹ fest of fat & wel fed bestes, & of swete & moost pure thynges, is betokened the anger and indignacion of God as the scripture doth often signify the same vnder the name of a cuppe zach. xii. a Beholde I wyl make Jerusalem a cuppe of surfet vnto al the people that are rounde about her.
b* By the hyl is meant the hyl of Sion, by whiche is fygured the church There wyl the Lozd iudge, & delyuer vs from al our enemyes. By the vale & coueryng, vnderstand, synne: wherin al men are founde gylty. Roma. iii. Al men haue synned &c. From it hath the Lozd delyuered al men, which beleue that he hath frely done it, of his only mercy foz Christes sake, and not of their desecupynges. Rom. iii, d C I longe of the delyuezaunce of the people.

C The. xxvi. Chapter.

Then

A THen shall thys songe be song in the lande of Juda. We haue a stróg citie, the walles & the ordynaunce shall kepe vs. a* Open the gates, that the good people máye goi, whych laboureth for the trueth. And ꝯ, which art the doar & hast the matter in hãde: shalt pꝛoupde for peace, euẽ the peace that men hope for ĩ the. Hope styl in the Lorde, for in the Lorde God is euerlastynge strength. For whi, it is he, ꝯ bꝛyngeth lowe the hye minded cyteseyns, & casteth downe the pꝛoude cities. He casteth them to the grounde, ye euẽ into the myre, that they maye be troden vnder the fete of the symple, & with the B steppes of the poore. Thou (Lorde) considꝛest the path of the rightuous, whether it be rycht, whether the waye of the rightuous be rycht. Therfore (Lord) we haue a respecte vntoꝯ b* waie of thy iudgementes, tht name & tht rem embꝛaunce retoyse the soule. My soule lusteth after the all the nycht longe, & my mynde hasteth frely to the. For as soone as thy iudgement is knowne to the world, then the inhabytours of the earth lerne ryghtuousnesse. But the vngodli (though he haue receaued grace) yet letneth he not rightuousnes, but in ꝯ place where he is punyshed. he oekendeth, & feareth not the glory of the Lorde. Lorde, they wil not se thyne hye hande, but they shall se it, and be confounded: when thou shalt deuour thẽ with the wꝛath of the people, & with ꝯ fyre of C thyne enemyes. But vnto vs, O Lorde, pꝛoupde for peace: for thou worckest in vs all oure worckes. O Lorde oure God, though soch Lordes haue dompnacion vpon vs as knowe not the: yet graunte, that we may hope only in the: and kepe thy name in remembꝛaunce. The malycyous Tyrauntes when thei dye, are neyther in lyfe nor in the resurrection, for thou visittest them and rootest them out, and destroyest all the memorial of them. Agayne, thou increcest the people, O Lorde, thou increacest ꝯ people, thou shalt be pꝛaysed and magnifyed in all the endes of ꝯ world. The people ꝯ seke vnto the in trouble, ꝯ sam aduersitt whych they complaynofis vn to them a chastening before the. Lyke as a wyfe with chylde (when her trauel cometh vpon her) is ashamed, crieth ād
D suffereth the payne: Euen so are we, O Lorde, in thy sight. We are with chyld, we trauel, and beare, and with the spyrite we bꝛynge forthe health, where thorow the earthe is vndestroyed, and the inhabitours of the world perish not. + b* Dopaĩ

But as for thy c* dead men & ours, that be departed, they are in lyfe andre surrectyon, They lye in the earth, theye wake, and haue joye: for thy dewe is a dew of lyfe and lyght. But the place of the malycyous Tyrauntes, is fallen awaye. So go now my people into thy chamber, and shut the dooꝛe to the, and suffer nowe the twinclinge of an eye, til the wꝛath be ouerpast. For beholde, the Lorde wyll go out of his habitacion, ād visite the wickednes of them that dwel vpon erth. He wyll dyscouer the bloud ꝯ she hath deuoured, she shall neuer hyde them, that she hath murthered.

The notes

a* Open the gates. &c. Loke Psalme cxviii c. He wylleth pꝛeachers to open Chꝛist vnto the people, for he is the dooꝛe thorow whome they must entre Joh. x b* The way of the iudgementes of God is the aflyction and the crosse that withdꝛaweth vs from synne: In thys do the Chꝛisten reioyce. Rom. v. a. We reioyce in tribulacion. &c c* By the dead, here vnderstande the ryghtuous as in ꝯ Ap. xiiii c. Blessed ar ꝯ ded. which here after dye in the Lorde, They shall ryse agayn to lyfe not as the other which are vnrightuous. Joh. v. Dany. xii.

¶ He pꝛophecieth that all realmes shalbe destroyed about the comming of Chꝛyst.

¶ The. xxvii. Chapter.

THen the Lorde wyth hys heuye, great, and longe a* sweard shall
A visite Leuiathã that inuĩcyble serpent: euen b* Leuiathã that croked serpent and shal slay the whalfysh in ꝯ see. At the same time shal men synge of the vyneyarde of Muscatell. ¶ the lorde kepe it, and water it in due season. ¶ watch date & night, ꝯ no mã bꝛeke into it. ¶ beare no euil wil in my mꝛd. Who wyll compell me, that I greatly forget synge al faythfulnes, shuld burnett vp at ones with thornes and busshes. Or who wyl enforce me to kepe or make peace? It wyl come to thys poynt, that Jacob shalbe rooted agayn, & Israell shall be greane, and beare floures, and they shall fyll the whole world with theyr frut

Smyteth

Smyteth he not his smyter, as euel as he is smiten him self: Destroyeth he not the murtherers, as he is murthered? Euery man re compenceth with the measure that he receaueth: He museth vpon hys sooze wynde, as vpon the dayes of extreame heate. and therfore shal the iniquite of Jacob be thus reconsyled. & so shal he take away alȳ frut of his sinnes

As for aulter stones, he shall make them all as stones beaten to poulder: ȳ groues and Idolles shall not stande.

The strong cities shall be desolate, and the fayre cityes shallbe lefte lyke a wyldernes. The catell shall fede and lye there, and the shepe shal eate it vp. Their
D haruest shalbe bzent, their wiues which were theyr beutie when they cam forth; shalbe dekyled for it is a peple without vnderstanding, and therfor he that created them, shall not fauour them, and he that made them, shall not be mercyfull vnto them. In that tyme shall the Lord shute from the swyfte water of Euphrates, vnto the riuer of Egipte. And there shall the chylderen be chosen out one by one. Then shall the great trompette be blowen, soo that those whiche haue bene destroyed in the Assirians lande, and those that ye scattered abzoad in Egypte: shall come and worshyppe the lorde at Jerusalem vpon the holy mount.

The notes.

a* By the swerde of the Lorde is vnderstande the word of God, and the sentence of the euerlastinge Judge. With it is the deuell and the power of Antychryst slayne.

b* Leuiathã betokneth here the deuel after som expositours, Albeit that it properly signifieth a whal, as is sayde, Job. xl. c. Serpentes do also betoken the deuell because of thyr sutelenes and wylynes. Gen. iii. a. The hebrues vnderstãd here by serpens myghti Kynges and Princes.

C Agaynst the pryde of Ephraim, and against false Preastes and preachers.

C The. xxviii. Chapter.

WO be to the crowne of pryde, to the a* dronkẽ Ephraemites, and to the fayding flouer, to the glorye of hys pompe, that is vpon the toppe of the plenteous valley: whyche men be ouerladen wyth wyne. Beholde, the strength and power of the Lorde, shall breake into the land on euerye syde, lyke a tempest of hail, ȳ beareth down strõge holdes, and lyke an horrible, myghti and ouer flowynge water.

And ȳ proude crowne of ȳ dronckẽ Ephraemites, shall be troden vnder fote. And as for ȳ fayding floure, the glori of his pompe, which is vpõ the toppe of the plenteous valley: it, shall happen vnto him, as to an vntymely frute before the haruest come. Which as soone B as it is sene, is by & by deuoured, or euer it come well in a mans hande.

And then shall the Lord of Hostes be a b* ioyfull crowne, and a glorious garlande vnto the remnaunt of his people. Vnto the lowly, he shalbe a spryte of iudgement, and vnto them that dryue awaye the enemyes from the gates, he shalbe a spryte of strẽgth. But they go wrong, by the reason of wyne, they fall a stacker because of strõge drincke. Yee euẽ the prestes and prophetes thẽ selues go amisse, thei are dronken with wine, & weake brained thorow strõg drincke. They erre in sayenge, and in iugdment they fayle. For all tables are so full of vompyte and fyl thines, that no place is cleane. c* What is he amõge thẽ, that C cã teach, instruct or enfourme ȳ chylderen, which are weende frõ suck, or taken from the brestes: of eny other fashion then: Commaunde, that maye be cõmaunded, bid that maye be bydden, forbid that maybe for bydden, kepe backe ȳ may be kept backe, here a lytle, there a litle. And therfore the Lorde also shall speake with lispynge lippes and with a straunge languange vnto this people to whom he spake afore of this maner: This shal bryng rest, yf one refresh the weery, yee this shall bryng rest. But they had no wyll to heare. And therfore the Lorde shall answere their stubbournes, Cõmaunde that may be cõmaunded, byd ȳ maye be bydde, for byd that maybe for bydden, kepe backe ȳ mai bekept back, hex aittlether a litle That they maiego forth, fal backward be broled, snarde & take. Wherfore heare the worde of the Lorde, ye mockers that rule the Lordes people, which is at Jerusalem. For ye cõforte your selues thus: Tush, death & we are at a poynte, and as for hell, we haue made a condycion wyth it, ȳ thought there breake out eny sore plage it shall not come vpon vs:

For

For withdiscreate wyll we escape, and with nymblenes wyll we defende oure selues. Therfore sayth the Lord God: Beholde, I wyll laye a stone in Sion, a great stone, a costly [b]*corner stone for a sure foundacyon: that whoso putteth his trust in him, shal not be confounded. Ryghtuouses wyll I set vp agayne in ỹ balaunce, and iugment in ỹ weightes, The tempest of hayle shall take awaye your refuge, that ye haue to discease withall: & ỹ ouerflowynge waters shal breake downe youre stronge holdes of dissimulacion. Thus the appoyntment ỹ ye haue made w̄ death, shalbe done awaye: and the cōdycion that ye made with hel, shal not stande, When ỹ great destruccion goeth thorow, it shal all to treade you. It shal take you quyte awaye before it. For it shall go forth early in the morynge, and contynue onli that daye & that nyght. And ỹ very feare only shal teach you, whē ye heare it For the bedde shall be so narow that a mā can not lye vpō it: And ỹ couerynge to small, that amā maye not wynde him selfe therin. For the Lorde shall steppe forth as he did vpō & moūte Perazim and shall take on as he dyde vpon the dale of Gabaon: that he maye bringe forth his deuice, [c]*his straunge deuice and fulfyll his worcke, his wonderfull worcke. And therfore make no mockes at it, that youre captiuite increase not: for I haue herde the Lorde of Hostes saye, that there shall come a soden destruccion & plage vpon the whole earth. Take hede, and heare mi voice, pondre and mercke my wordes wel. Goeth not the housbande man euer in due lea son earnestlyto hys lande: he moweth & ploweth his grounde to sowe. And when he hath made it playne, he soweth it w̄ fetches or comyn. He soweth the wheate and Barlye i their place. Milium and Rye also in their place. And that he maie doit rycht, his God teacheth him and sheweth him. For he treadeth not ỹ fytches out with awaine, nether bringeth he the carthare & there ouer the comin, but he threshyth the fytches oute with a flaile, and the comin with a rod. As for ỹ wheate, he grindeth it to make bred ther of, In as moch as he con not bringe it to passe with treadynge out. For nether ỹ bryngynge ỹ the cart wheles make, ner his beastes cangrind it. Thys and soch lyke thynges come of the Lorde of hostes whych is marueilous in coūcel, & great in rightuousnesse.

The notes.

a *Lok after in the next Chapter.

b Joyfull crowne & glorius garmet are here take for ỹ triūphe, honour & rewarde, that we loke for which we shall vndoutedly receaue, by his mercye, graunted in Chriſte. c Some reade: whome teacheth the knowledge & whom wil he cause to vnderstāde his doyce: euen thē that are weened frō milk & taken frō the breastes. For it is comēly sayed. Cō maunde. &c. The same vnder stande by milk, worldly promeses & the pleasures of this worlde. And by thē are taken frō the breastes, they vnderstāde soch as haue left offerring & delaing frā daye to daye. & that now saye no moare, cōmaūde that mai be cōmaunded. &c but do streight waye at the fyrst call folowe the Lorde, not lokynge to be called the secōd time d* Christ is called a corner ston

¶ The destruccion of Jerusalem, Against the cōmaundementes of men

¶ The. xxix. Chapter.

WO be vnto the O Ariel, thou citie that Dauid wāne. Take yet somme yeares, & let som feastes yet passe ouer: then shall Ariell be besieged, so that she shal be heuy and sorowfull, & shal be vnto me euen as a lyō. For I wyl lay sege to the round about, & kepe the in w̄ towers, and graue vp dykes agaynst the. And thou shalt be brought lowe, and speake out of the earth, and thy wordes shall go humbly out of ỹ grounde. Thy voyce shal com out of the earth, lyke the voyce of a witch, & thy talkynge shall groane out of the myre. For the multytude of thyne enemyes [a]* shalbe lyke mealdust. [b]* And the nombre of tyrantes shalbe as the dust that the wynde taketh awaye sodenly. Thou shal be vysited of ỹ Lorde of Hostes with thondre, earthquake, & wyth a greate crack, w̄ the whyrle wynd, tempest, and with the flame of a consuming fyre. But now the multytude of all the people, that went out agayust Ariel: the whole hoste, the stronge holdes, and sege: is lyke adreame which appeareth in the nyght: It is lyke as whē an hungry mā dreameth that he is eating, and when he awaketh, he hath nothynge: lyke as when a thirstie man dreamethe that he is drinkynge, and when he awaketh, he is fainte, and his soule vnpacient,

So

So is the multytude of al people ymu ltre the selues agaīst ỹ hil of Siō. But ye shalbe at your wits end, ye shalbe ab
B ashed: ye shal stacker, & rele to & fro* ye shalbe dzōcke, but not of wyne. Ye shal kal, but not thorou dzōknes: For ỹ lozd shal geue you an hard slepyng spzet, & hold down your eyes: namelt your Pzo phets & heades which shuld se, the shal hecouer. And al visōs shalbe vnto you as the wozdes that stande in a sealed letter, whē one offreth it to a mā that is lerned, & sayeth: rede vs this lettir.
Then he answereth: I cā not rede it, for it is shutt. But ỹ it be geuen to one ỹ is not lerned, or sayde vnto him: rede C this letter: Then sayeth he: I can not reade. Therfore thus sayeth the Lozd:
For so moch as this people draweth nye me w̄ their mouth, & prayseth me hyghly wyth their lyppes (where as th eir herte neuertheles is farre fro me, & the feare which they owe vnto me, ỹ turne they to mens lawes & doctrines) therfor wil I also sheu vnto this peple a maruelos, terrible & gret thig Name ly this:) I wyl destroy ỹ wisdō of their wyse, & ỹ vndstādig of their lerned mē shal perish. Wo be vnto thē ỹ sek so de de, to hyde their ymaginacyō before lor ds, which reherce their coūceis in ỹ dar knes, and sayd: who seith vs, or whokno weth vs: Whych ymagīnacīō of yours is euē as whē ỹ potters clay taketh ad vpsemēt, as though ỹ worke myght saye to the worckmaster: make me not, or as D whē an erthē vessel sayth of ỹ potter: he vndrstādeth not. d* Se ye not ỹ it is hard bi ỹ Libanus shalbe turned in to Charmel, & ỹ Charmel shalbe takē as a wod: Thē shal deaf mē vndrstāde ỹ wozdes of ỹ boke & ỹeyes of, blind shal se without ant cloude or darcknes. The oppzessed shal holde a mery feast in the Lozd, & ỹ poze pepie shal retoyse in ỹ ho ly one of Israel. Thē shall the furyous people ceasse, & ỹ mockers shalbe put a way, al thet ỹ dowzōg shalbe plucked out, soche as laboure to dzaw men vnto sine: & that disceue hī m, which repzoue thē, in ỹ gate, & soch as turne good per sons to vanite. And therfor ỹ Lozd (euē E ỹ defēder of Abzaham) sayth thus vnto ỹ house of Iacob: Now shal not Iacob be ashamed, nor his face cōfoūded, whē he sitteth amōg his chyldzē (whō my hā des hauemade) soch as hal ow mi name amonge thē: ỹ they mai sanctify ỹ holy one of Iacob, and feare the God of Israel: & ỹ they whych a foze tyme were of an erroneous spzet, haue now vnder standynge, and ỹ soch as before could not speake, are now ler ned in my lawe.

a* Shalbe lyke mealedust: that is shalbe so manye, and as vnable to be nombzed as mealedust.

b* And the numbze of tyrauntes shalbe &c. As who shuld saye the most heuy and cruel enemyes ỹ wil be vpon you in amomēt sodenly, might and that quyc-kely be ouercome of the Lozd as the dust is taken a-waye with the wynde: as it happened vnto Senna herib: yet shal it not be so then, but as I wyl nowe shew the: thou shalt be visyted and punished of the Lozd, euen as when al thinges trēble for feare of ỹ thonder which no mā cā eschue: & as whē the earth-quacke cheketh al ỹ there is w̄ an horrible & fereful soūde, a storm & temest shal ouerthzow ỹ: and wyth the flame of fyze shalt thou be deuoured.

c* That is ye shalbe dzōcke ỹe shal not wete what to do, ye shalbe so clene destitut of coūcel: not of the wyne ỹ ye shal dzinck, for ye shal suffer extreme thirst & ỹ wyne of recreācion & mirth shal ye not taste of. Ye shal be feble, & fal as ye go ye shal be rennagates for the confusiō feare, hatt, and perfectiō of al mē: not for dzonckenes or strōge dzinck, which he shal want Some expoūd this sentence of thē ỹ be dzoncken in hipocresy and dyssimulacion: & of them that be full of the rightuoulnes of their owne wozkes.

d* As though he should saye: It is not longe that goodly trees (which are signifyed by Libanus) shal be turned into plaine feldes: And ỹ ỹ playne feldes (which are signified by Charmel) shall become rough and full of bulshes. The tyme that Chzyst shulde come is the shozte tyme that he meaneth, whiche the scripture doth oft call a shozt tyme. Then shall the vnfrutefull, rough, and woseddy heathenesse (Which is vnderstand by Lybanus) be turned vnto the re lygion of Chzystes congregotion or church, and vn to the tru seruyce of the true God (which is vnder stand by Charmell) that frutefull & wel tyled feide.

C A curse agaynst them that forsake the counsel of God and sticke vnto the counsell of men. He threate neth the rest of the people, whiche after the destruc tion of Jer salem wente into Egypt.

C The. xxx. Chapter.

VVo be to those chzynkig chyldze (sayeth ỹ Lozd) which take coūsell, but not at me: whych take awebbe in hande, but not after mi wil: that they maye heape one synne vpon another. That goo down into Egipte (and aske me no counceli) to seke helpe
B at the power of Pharao, and com forte in the shadowe of the Egyptians. But Pharaos helpe shalbe your confusyon, and the comforte i the Egyptians shadowe shalbe youre awne shame. Youre tulers haue bene at Zoan, & youre me straungers com vnto Hanes. But ỹ shall al be ashamed of the pople ỹ may not help you, which shal not bzig you strēgth or com forte, but shame & confu syō. Your beastes haue bozne burthēs vpō their backes towarde the South, thorowe the wate that is full of parell and trouble, because of the lyon & lyonesses, of the Cockatrice and shutynge dragon. Yee the Mules bare youre substaunce, and the Camels brought your tresure vpō their croked backs, vnto a peple ẏ cannot helpe you. For the Egyptians helpe shalbe but bayne and lost. Therfore I tolde you also that your pryde shulde haue an end. Wherfore go hence & wryte thē thys in theyr tables and note it in a boke: ẏ it mai remayne by their posterite, & be styll kept For it is an obstinate people, vnfayth full childeren, chylderen that wyll nott heare the lawe of the Lorde.

They darre saye to the Prophetes: Intromitte your selues with nothing, and vnto the Sothsayers: tel vs of no thyng for to come, but speake frendlye wordes vnto vs, and preache vs fal se thynges. Treade out of the waye, goo out of the path, turne the holy one of Israel from vs. Therfore thus sayth the holy one of Israell: In as moche as ye haue cast of youre bewtie, and cōforted youre selues with power and nymblenes/and put youre confydence therin: therfore shall ye haue thys myscheke agayne for youre destruction and fal, lyke as an hye wale, that falleth because of some ryft (or blast) whose breakinge cometh sodenlye.

And youre destruction shalbe lyke as an erthen pot, which breketh no mā touchinge it, and breaketh so sore, that a man shal not fynde a sheuer of it too fetche fyre in, or to take water wyth all out of the pytte. For the Lord God, euē the holy one of Israell hath promysed thus. With styll sittinge and rest, shall ye be healed, in quyetnesse & hope shall your strenght lye. Notwithstāding ye regarde it not, but ye wyl say: No, for thus ar we constrayned to flē vpon horses, And therfore shall ye flye, we must ryde vpon swyft beastes, and therfore your persecutours shal yet be swyfter. A thousande of you shall flē for one/or at the mooste for fyue, which do but onely geue you euel wordes vntyll ye bee desolate as a shyp mast vpō ā hye moūtayne/and as a beaken vpon an hill.

Yet standeth the Lord waytynge, that he maye haue mercy vpon you, and lyfteth him selfvp, ẏ he may receiue you to grace. For the Lorde God is tyghtuous. Happye are all they that wayte for hym. For thus (O thou people of Syon and ye cytisens of Jerusalem) shall ye neuer be in heuynes, for doutlesse he wyll haue mercy vpon the. As soone as he heareth the voyce of thy crye, he wil helpe the. The Lord geueth you the a*bred of aduersyte, and the water of trouble. But thyne instructer flyeth not farre from ẏ, yf thyne eyes loke vnto thyne instructoure, and thyne eares harken to hys word, that cryeth after the and sayeth: this is the waye, go thys, and turne nether to the ryght hande nor to the lefte.

Moreouer, yf ye destroye the syluer E
workes of your Idoles, and cast away the golden coapes that ye decke them wyth all (as fylthynes) & saye gett you hence: Then wyll he geue rayne to the sede that ye shal sowe in the earth, and geue you breade of the encrease of the earth, so that al shalbe plentuous and aboundaūt. Thy catell also shall he fede in the brode medowes, yet thine oxē and Mules that tyll the grounde, shal eate good fodet, which is purged with ẏ fanne. Goodly ryuers shall flow out of al his moūtaines and hylles. In the daye of the greate slaughter when the towers shal fal, the moone shal shine as ẏ sonne, and the sonne shyne shal be seuen folde, and haue as moche shyne, as in seuen dayes besyde. F

In that daye shal the Lorde bynde vp the brosed sores of his People, and heale their woundes. Beholde the glory of ẏ Lord shal come from farre, his face shall burne, that no man shalbe able to abyde it, his lyppes shal wagge for very indygnacyon, and hys tonge shalbe as a consumynge fyre. Hys breath like a vehemēt floud of water, which goeth vp to the throte. That he maye take awaye the people, which haue turned them selues vnto vanyte, & the bydle of errour, that lyeth in otherfolkes chawes.

But ye shall synge, as ẏ vse is in ẏ night of the holy solempnitie. Ye shal reioyse retoyse frō youre harte, as they ỹ come with the pype, when they go vp to the mount of the Lord, vnto the rock of Israel. The Lord also shal set vp the power of his voyce, & declare hys terrible arme, with hys angry countenaūce, yee and the flame of the consumynge fyre, with earthquake, tempest of wind, & hayle stones. Then shal the Assyrians feare also, because of the voyce of the Lorde, which shall smyte him wyth ỹ rodde. And the same rodde which the Lorde wyl sende vpon him, shal moued the whole foundacyon: with tromper, with noyse of warre and batell to destroye. For he hath prepared ỹ fyre of payne from the beginnynge, yee euen for kynges also. This hath he made depe & wide, ỹ nor fyre and wood innumerable, whith the breath of the Lorde kyndleth, as it were a match of brymstone.

a* The bredde of aduersitye: the water of trouble do sygnifye a lyke full of aduersitie: trouble. Ezech. iiii, d The curseth them that: forsake God, and seke for the helpe of men,

The. xxxi. Chapter.

A WO be vnto them that go downe into Egipte for help, and trust in horses, & comforte them selues in chariottes, because they be many, & in horse men because they be lusty & strōg. But they regarde not ỹ holy one of Israel/ & they aske no questyō at the Lorde. Wher as he neuertheles plageth the wickēd/ & yet goeth not from his worde/ whenne he steppeth forth/ & taketh the victory against the housholde of the frowarde/ & agaynst the helpe of euell doers. Now the Egyptcyans are men/ & not God/ and their horses flesh & not spyrete. And as soone as the Lord stretcheth out his hande/ then shall the helper fall/ and he that shulde haue bene helped & shal al together be destroied. For thus hath the Lord spokēn vnto me: B Lyke as the lyon or lyons whelpe roareth vpō the pray that he hath gotten, and is not afrayed, though the multytud of shepherdes crye out vpon him/ nether abashed for al the heape of thē: So shall the Lorde of Hostes come downe frō the mount of Sion/ & defende his hyll. Like as byrdes flotre aboute their nestes/ so shall the Lord of Hostes kepe, saue and defend and delyuer Jerusalem. Therfore, O ye children of Israell, turne agayne, lyke as ye haue exceaded in your goynge back. C

For in that daye euery man shal caste out his Idols of syluer and gold, whiche ye haue made with your sinful handes. a* Assur also shalbe slayne with ỹ swerde, not with a mans swerde. A swerde shal deuoure him, but not a mānes swede. And he shal flie from the slaughter/ and his seruauntes shalbe takē prysoners. He shal go for feare to hys stronge holdes, and his Princes shall flie from his badge. Thus hath ỹ Lord spoken, whose lyght burneth in Sion. and his fyre in Hierusalem.

The notes

a* Assur shall be slayn with the swerde. &c. The Prophete shuld here seame to prophecy of ỹ greate destruccion that happened vnto Sennaherib. ii, Parali. xxxii. e. &, Esay. xxxvii. g. whiche was done by the swerd of the Aungel, not by the swerd of mān as ye may there se. Sennaherib was the kyng of Assyria, and therfore is the destruccyon of of ỹ Assirians which happened vnder hym sygnyfied by this word Assur: Some (because the Prophet a litel before in the text, moueth the people to forsake Idoles) expounde it thus. Not by oure Idoles, not by our strength, not by manes helpe (which all may be called the swerd of man) shal our spyrytual enemy (which is signified by assure) perysh: but by the power of, God & the inuisible swerde that can not be sene: with which the Aūgel slw Cxxxv, thousand in one nyght. Esai. xxxvii. g

The. xxxii. Chapter.

The condicions of good rulers and Offyces.

BEholde, the kynge shal gouerne after the rule of ryght uousnes, and the princes shal rule accordynge to the balaunce of equite. A He shalbe vnto men, as a defence for ỹ wynde, and as a refuge for the tempest lyke as a ryuer of water in a thurstye place, and the shadowe of a greate rocke in a drye lande. The eyes of the seynge shall not be dymme, and the eares of them that heare shall take dylygent hede. The hert of the vnwyse, shal attayne to knowledge/ and the vnparfite tunge shal speake planely and B distinctly. Then shal the nygard be no more called gentyll/ ner the churle liberal. But ỹ churle wyl be churlyshely minded/ & his hert wyl worcke euel & platy hypocret, & ymagi abhompnacōs agaynst god, to make the huugry leane, and to with holde drynke from the thursty: These ar ỹ perlous weapõs of ỹ couetos, these be his shãful coũcels: ỹ he maye begyle the pooze with discreatful wozkes, yee euen there as he should geue sentence with the pooze. But the lyberal person ymagineth honest thinges, and cõmeth vp with honesty.

C Up (ye rich and ydel cyties), herken vnto my voyce. Ye careless cityes, marke my wozdes. After yeates and dayes shal ye be brought in feare, O ye careless cyttes. For harueste shal be out, & ỹ grapes gathering shall not come. O ye rych ydell cityes ye that feare no parel, ye shalbe abashed and remoued: whenpe se ỹ barennesse. The nakednes and preparyng to warre. Ye shal knock vpon your brestes, because of ỹ pleasaunte feelde, and because of the fruteful vyniard. My people skelde shal bringe thornes and thistels, for in euery house is voluptuousnes: and in the cyties wilfulnes. The palaces also shall be broken/and the greatly occupied cyties desolate. D The towers and bulwarckes shalbe condennes for euermore, the pleasure of Mules shalbe turned to pasture for shepe: vnto the tyme that the spzete be pourde vpon vs from aboue.

Then shall the wyldernes be a fruteful feld and the plenteous felde shalbe tekened for a wodde. Then shal equyte dwell in the desert, and rightousenes in a frutful land.
And the reward of rightousnes shal be peace, and her frute rest and quyetnes/for euer. And my people shal dwel in the ynnes of peace, in my tabernacle and pleasure where there is ynoughe in them al And when the haile falleth, yt shal fall in the wodde and in the cyte. O how happy shal ye be, when yee shal sowe your sede besyde all waters and dzyue thyther the fete of your oxen and asses.

C Thzetenyng agaynst the Assirians. A descrpcyõ of them that shal se the Lozd.

C The. xxxiii. Chapter.

THerfoze, wo be vnto the (O Robber) shalte not thou be robbed also? And vnto the that lateste wayt, as who sayt there shaulde no wayte be layde foz the? Wo vnto the whyche doest hurte, euen so shalt thou be hurte also. And as thou layest wayte/so shall wayte be layde foz the also. A

Lozd be mercyful vnto vs, we wayte foz the. Thyne arme is at apoynt to bestyte vs, but be thou our health in ỹ tyme of trouble. Graunt that the people maye flie at the anger of thy voyce, and that at thyne vpstanding the Gentyls maye be scatred abzoade / and that a* theyze spoyle maye be gathered', as the gresshoppers are comenly gathered together into the pyste. Stand vp Lozd/ thou that dwellest on hy: Let Sion be fylled with equitte and ryghtuousnes Let trueth and faithfulnesse be in her tyme: power, health, wysdome, knoweledge & the fere of God are his treasure. B Beholde, theyr aungels crye wythout, the messaungers of peace wepe bitterli: The stretes are waste, ther walketh no man therin, the appoynctment is broke, the cyties are dispysed, they are not regarded/the desolatcatth is in heuines. Lybanus taketh it but for a spozte, ỹ it is hewen downe: Saron is lyke a wyldernes: Basan & Charmell are turned vpsyde down. And therfoze sayth ỹ Lozde. I wyll, vpnow wyll I get vp, now wyl I arzyse. b* Ye shall conceaue stuble, & beare strawe, & c* your spzet shall be ỹ fyre/ ỹ it may cõsume you: & ỹ people shalbe burnt like lime, & as thornes burne ỹ are hewen of, and cast in ỹ fyre.

Now herken to, ye that are farre of how I do with them, and consydze my glozy, ye that be at hande. The synners at syon are afrayd, a sodden fearfulnes is come vpon the Ipocrites. What is he among vs (say they) that wyll dwell by that consumyng fyre? whyche of vs maye abyde that euerlastinge heate? He that leadeth a godly life (say I) and speaketh the trueth: He that abhorreth to do violence and discreate: he that bepeth hys hand that he touche no reward: whyche stoppeth hys eares, that he heare no councel agaynst the innocent: which which holdeth downe hys eyes, that he se none euel. He it is, that shal dwel on hye whose sauegarde shalbe in ỹ true rocke, to hym shalbe geuen the ryghte true meate and dryncke. His eyes shal se the kynge in his glory: & in the wyde world, and hys hert shal delyte ī the feare of God. * What shal then become of the scrybes? of the Senatours? what of him that teacheth chyldren? There shalt thou not se a people of a straung tunge to haue so diffused a language, that it maye not be vnderstand: nether so straunge a speache, but it shalbe perceaued.

Therfore shal Sion be sene, the head cytye of oure solempne feastes. D

There shall thyne eyes se Jerusalē that glorypous habitacion, the tabernacle ỹ'n euer shal remoue, whose nayles shal neuer be taken out world without ende, whose coardes euerychone shall neuer corrupte: for the glorypous Magesty of the Lorde, shal there be present amonge vs. In that place, where fatye broade ryuers and streames are, shall nether Galey rowe, ner greate shyppe saple. For the lord shalbe our captaine, the Lord shalbe our law geuer, ỹ Lord shalbe our kinge, and he hym selfe shal be our Saupoure. There are the cordes so layd abrod, ỹ they can not be better: The mast set vp of such a fashion, that no banner ner sayle hangeth ther on: but there is dealed greate spoyle, yee lame men runne after the praye. There lieth no man that saieth: I am sycke, but al euell is taken awaye from the people, that dwel ther e.

majesty of ỹ Lorde of ỹ Lorde

The notes

a * Their spoyle, that is, of the Assirians. It should seme that their spoyle was so gathered after that ỹ aungel had destroyed the Hoste of Senaherib. iiii. Reg, xix, g. ii. Para, xxxii. e. Esay. xxxvii. g b * By the conceauyng is vnderstande the thought and ymagynacion, and by the bearynge or bringig forth the worcke. The Assirians thought to take ỹ citye of Jerusalem, but their thought was in vaine and their worcke of none effect. Wherupon they are counted to conceaue stubble and bringe forthe strawe.

c * Your spyrite. &c. That is, your proude thoughtes and Imaginacions shalbe the very fyre that shall deuoure you: and the cause wherfore the lorde shall sende out his aungel to destroye you.

¶ The last destruccion of the Synagoge, i whiche the kyngdome & prestehod of that people was translated to the Churche & congregacion of Christ

¶ The. xxxiiii. Chapter

Come ye Heythen & heare/ take hede ye people. Herke thou earthe and all that is therin: thou round compasse and all that groweth there vppon for the Lorde is angrye with all people, and hys displeasure is kynded agaynst all the multytude of them/ to curse them, and to slaye them. So ỹ their slayn shalbe cast out, and theyr bodyes styncke: that euen the very hylles shalbe wet with the bloude of them. All the starres of heauen shalbe consumed, and the heauen shall fold, together lyke a roll, and al the starres therof shal fall, lyke as the leaues fall from the vines and fygge trees. For my swearde (sayth he) shalbe bathed in heauen, and shall immediatly come downe vpon Idumea, and vpon the people whyche I haue cursed for my vengeaunce. A B

And the Lordes swearde shalbe ful of bloude, and be rusty with the fatnes and bloud of lambes and gootes, wyth the fatnes of the kydneys of wethers. For the Lorde shall kyl a great offerig in Bosra, and in the Land of Idumea: There shall the vnicornes fall wyth ỹ Bulles, (that is with the Gyauntes) & theyr land shalbe washed with bloud, and theyr ground corrupt with fatnes. Unto the also (O Syon) shal come the day of the vengeaunce of God, and the yeare when thyne owne iudgementes shalbe recompenced. The floudes shal be turned to pytch/ and thyne earthe to brymstone, and therwith shal the lande be kyndled, so that it shall not be quenched day nor night: But smoke euermore, and so forth to lye waste. And no mā shall go thorowe thy land for euer: but pellycanes, Storkes, great oules/ and Rauens shal haue it in possession, and dwell therin. C

For God shal spreade out the lyne of desolacion vppon it, and weye it with the stones of emptinesse. Whē kynges are called vpon, there shalbe none, and all princes shalbe away. Thornes shal grow in their palaces, netels, and thistels in their strong holdes, that the dragons may haue their pleasure therin, and that they maye be a courte for Estryches. There shal straunge vysures and monstruous beastes mete one another / & the wilde kepe compacy together. There shal ỹ lampa ye, and haue here lodginge. There shall the hedghoge buylde/digge, be there at home, and bryng forth his yong ones. There shall ỹ kytes cõ together/ech one to his lyke. Seke thorow the scripture of the Lord & rede it. There shal none of these thynges be left out/there shall not one (nether soche lyke) fayle. For what his mouth cõmaundeth, that same doth his spyrite gather together (or fulfylleth.) Upon whomsoeuer the lot falleth/or to whom he dealeth it with the lyne: those shall possesse the enheritaunce from generacyon to generacyon, & dwell therin.

¶ Of thy tyme and kyngdome of Christ.

¶ The .xxxv. Chapter.

A BUt the a*deserte & wylderines shal retoyse / the waste grounde shal be glad/and florysh as ỹ lylly. She shal florysh pleasauntly/and be toyfull/& euer be geuyng of thanckes more & more. For the glory of Libanus, the bewtye of Charmel & Saro shalbe geuẽ her. These shal know the honour of the Lorde/and the mageste of oure God. And therfore strẽgthe ye weake hãdes/& comforte the feble knees. Saie vnto thẽ that are of a fearfull herte: Be of good chere/and feare not. Beholde
B youre God cometh, to take vengeaũce, and to rewarde/God cometh his owne selfe/& wyl delyuer you. Then shal the eyes of ỹ blynd be lyghtened/& ỹ eares of ỹ deafe opened. Then shal the lame man b*leape as an hert/& ỹ dõmemans tunge shall geue thanckes. In the wylderneße also there shal welles spryng, and floudes of water in the desert. The drye grounde shal turne to ryuers/and the thurstye to springes of water. Where as dragõs dwelt afore, there shall grow swete floures and grene russhes. There shalbe fote pathes & comen stretes, this shalbe called c*the holy waye. No vncleane persõ shal go thorow it, for ỹ Lord hymselfe shal go with them ỹ
C waye, and the ignorant shall not erre. There shalbe no lyon, and no raupy thynge beast shall com therin, nor be there but men shal go there fre and safe.

And the redemed of the Lorde shal returne, and come to Sion with thanckesgeuing. Euerlastig toye shal thei haue, pleasure and gladnes shall be amonge them. And as for al sorow and heuynes, it shal banyshed awaye.

The notes

a* By the desert & wylderne is signified the countrey of the heathen, which were without grace, and without the frut of good and vertuous lyuing. psal cvii. d. It is a borowed speach taken of the roughnes and vnfruitfulnes of the wylderne.

b* By this leape is vnderstand the reioyfing, cherfulnes, and quicknes of ỹ spyrite. Canti. ii. b. is there a lyke thing, of the spouse that commeth hoppinge vpon the mountaines. Where he here sayeth, the blynd shalse, the deafe heare, &c. He propheryeth a manyfest sygne of the comming of Christ, and of the callyng of the Gentyls & Heathen & of the kingdom of God in the faithful. Mankinde was deafe to heare the heauenly doctrine of God, dome to prayse hym, lame to mynistre vnto his neighbours, and to preache the gospel, &c. These thinges Christ hath healed whis commyng.

c* The way of the sayntes and faithfull is here called the holy waye.

¶ The .xxxvi. Chapter.

¶ Jerusalem is assaged by Sennaherib, in ỹ time of kyng Hezekiah.

A *IN the .xiiii. yeare of kyng Hezekiah, cã Sennaherib kynge of the Assyrians downe, to laye sege vnto all the stronge cyties of Juda. * And the king of ỹ Assyrians sent Rabsakeh frõ Lachis towarde Jerusalem, agaynst kynge Hezekiah, with agreuous Hoste, which set him bithe condyte of the ouerpole in the way that goeth thorow the fullers lande. And so there cam forth vnto hi Eliakim Helkiahs sonne ỹ Presidẽt, Sobna the Scribe & Joah Asaphs sonne the secretory. And Rabsakeh sayde vnto them: Tell Hezekiah, that ỹ greate king of Assyria sayeth thus vnto him: What presumpcion is this, that thou trustest vnto: Thou thinckest (peraduentur) that thou B hast counsell and power ynough to mayntene this warre: or els wherto trustest thou, that thou castest thy selfe of fro me: lo, ỹ puttest thy trust in abrokẽ stak of rede (I meane Egipt) which he ỹ leaneth vpon, it goeth into his hande & shutteth him thorowe. Euen so is Pharao the kyng of Egypt, vnto all thẽ that trust in him. But yf thou wouldest saie to me: we trust in the Lord our God: A goodly God idede: whose hye places & aulters.

Helekiah toke down, & comaũded Juda and & Jerusalē, to worschyp only before ỹ alter. Abide ỹ, ỹ hast madea cōditiō wt my Lord the kyng ofỹ Assirtās, ỹ he should geue ỹ it. thousādhorses: art ỹ able to set men therup? Seing now that thou cāste not resist the power of the smallest Prynce, that my Lorde hath, how darrest thou trust in the charettes and horsemen of Egypt? Moreouer, thynckest thou that I am come downe hyther, to destroye thys land without the Lordes will? The Lord sayd vntomy, go down into the Land, that ỹmayest destroy it.

Then sayde Eliakim, Sobna and Joah vnto Rabsaketh: speake to vs thi seruaunts (we praye the) in the Syrias language/for we vnderstande it well: And speke not to vs in the Iewes tōg, lest the folke heare, whiche lyeth vpon the wall. Then answered Rabsakeh: Thincke ye, that the kynge sent me to speke thys only vnto you? Hath he not sent me to them also, that lye vpon the wall? ỹ they be not cōpelled to eat their own dōg, drink their oune stale wt you?

And Rabsaketh stode styl, and cried with a lowd voyce in the Iewes tong, and sayde: Now take hede, how ỹ great kyng of the assirians geueth you warnynge. Thus sayth the kynge: Let not Hezekiah disceaue you, for he shall nott be able to delyuer you. Moreouer let not Hesekiah comfort you in the Lord, when he sayth: The lorde without doute shall defend vs & shal not geue ouer thys cytie into the handes of the kyng of the assirians, beleue hym not. But thus sayth the kyng of Assiria: opteyn my fauour, enclyne to me: so may euerman entoye hys vyneyardes and figg tres, & drinke ỹ water of his cisterne: vntil ỹ time ỹ I come my selfe, and bryng you into a land that is lyke your owne, wher in is wheate and wyne, whiche is both sowen with sede/and planted with vyneyardes. Let not Hezekiah disceaue you, when he sayeth vnto you: the Lorde shal delyuer vs. Myght the Goddes of the Gentiles kepe euery mās lande, frō the power of the king of the Assyrians? Wher is the God of Homath & Arphad? Where is the God of Sepharuaim? And who was able to defende Samaria out of my hande? Or whych of al goddes of the landes/hath deliuered the contrie out of my power, so ỹ ỹ Lord shuld delyuer Jerusalem fro my hand? Unto the, Hezekiahs messaungers held their tunges, and answered not one word: for ỹ kyng had charged them, that they shulde geue hym none answere. So came Eliakim Helkiahs sonne the Presidēt, Sobna the scribe, and Joah Asaphs sonne the secretary/ vnto hezekiah with rent clothes, & told him the wordes of Rabsaketh.

¶ Hezekiah humbleth him self before the lord. The armye of Sennaherib is slayne of the Aungell of ỹ Lord: & he him selfe is kylled of his owne sonnes.

¶ The xxxvii. Chapter.

When Hezekiah heard that he rent his clothes, & put on a sack clothe, and went into the temple of ỹ lorde. A

But he sent Eliakim the Presydent, Sobna the Scrybe, wyth the the eldest preastes clothed in sack/ vnto the prophet Esay ỹ sonne of Amoz, and they sayde vnto him: Thus sayeth Hezekiah: This is the day of trouble, of plage, and of wrath: lyke as when a child commeth to the byrth, but the woman hath no power to bryng it forth.

The Lord thy god (no dout) hath wel consydred the wordes of Rabsakeh, whom his Lord the kyng of the Assyrians hath sent to, defye and blaspheame the lyuing God: with suche wordes as the Lord thy God hath heard rycht wel. And therfore lyft vp thy praier for the remnaunt, that yet are left. So the seruauntes of kynge Hezekiah came to Esay.

And Esay gaue them this answere: Saye thus vnto your lord: thus saeth the Lorde: Be not afrayed of the wordes that thou hast herd, wherwith the kyng of the Assyrians, seruauntes haue blasphemed me. Behold, I wyl cause a wynd go ouer him, as sone as he heareth it, he shal go agayne into his countre, there wyl I destroye him with the swerde. Nowe when Rabsakeh returned, he founde the kyng of Assyria laying sege to Lobnah, for he had vnderstad/ ỹ he was departed from Lachis. For there came a rumoure, that Tharhakah kynge of Ethiopia was come forthe to warre agaynst him.

B

And

C And when the kyng of Assyria heard that, he sent other messaugers to king Hezekiah, with this cōmaundemēt:

Saie thus to Hezekiah King of Juda: Let not thi God deceaue the, in whom thou hopest, & sayest: Jerusalē shal not be geuē into the hādes of the kyng of Assyria. For thou knowest wel how the kynges of Assyria haue handled al the landes that thei haue subuerted, and hopest thou to escape? Were the people of the Gentiles (whō mi progenytours cōquered) delyuered at any tyme thorow their goddes? As namely, Gozan/ Haran, Rezeph, & the chyldren of Eden, which dwell at Thalassar. Where is ỹ kyng of Hemah, & ỹ kinge of Arphad, & the king of the cytye Sepharnaim, Ena and Ana? Now when Hezekiah had receaued the letter of the messaungers, & red it, he wēt vp into ỹ house of the Lord & opened the letter before the Lorde. And Hezekiah prayed before ỹ Lorde on this maner: O Lorde of Hostes, thou God of Israel, which dwellest vpon Cherubin. Thou art the God, that only is God of all ỹ kyngdomes of the worlde, for thou only hast created heauē & earth. Encline thine eare Lord & consydre, open thyne eyes, O Lord, & se, & pōdre al ỹ words of Sennaherib, which hath sent hys embassage to blaspheme the liuinge God. It is true, O Lord, that the kynges of Assyria haue conquered all kyngdomes & landes, & cast their goddes in the fyre. Not withstandynge those were noo goddes, but the workes of mens handes, of wod or stone, therfore haue they destroied thē: Delyuer vs then, O Lorde oure God, frō the handes of Sennaherib, that al kingdomes of the earthe mate knowe, that thou only art the Lorde. Then Esay the sonne of Amoz sent vnto Hezekiah, saienge: Thus sayth ỹ Lord God of Israell: Where as thou hast made thy prayer vnto me, as touching Sennaherib, thys is the answere, that the Lorde hath geuē concernyng him: Despised art thou, & mocked, a* Odaughter of Syō) he hath shoke his head at the, Odaughter of Jerusalem. But ỹ Sēnaherib, whō hast ỹ defyed & blasphemed? And against whō hast ỹ lifted vp thy voice, & exalted thy proud lokes eue agaynst the holy one of Isral. Thou w the seruauntes haste blasphemed the Lord, ād thus holdest thou of thy self: I couer the hye motūaynes, and sides of Libanus with my horsemen. And there wyll I cut downe the hye Cedre tres and the fayrest Fyre trees. I wyll vp into the heyght of it, & into ỹchefest of his tymbre woddes. If there be not water, I wyl graue and dryncke. And as for waters of defence/ I shal dri thē vp with the fete of myne Hoste. Yee (sayst thou) hast thou not hearde, what I haue taken in hande, and brought to passe of olde tyme? That same wyl, I do now also: Walke, destroye, and bringe stronge cities vnto heapes of stones. For their inhabitours shalbe lyke lame men, brought in fere and confounded. They shalbe like ỹ grasse and grene herbes in the felde, lyke the hey vpon house toppes. that withereth a fore it be growen vp. E

I know thy wayes, thy goyng forth and thy cōmyng home, ye & thy madnes agaynst me. Therfore thy furyousnesse agaynste me, and thy pryde is come before me. I wyl put b* a ringe in thy nose, and a bridle bit in the chawes of ỹ, & turne ỹ aboute, euen ỹ same waie thou camest. I wyll geue the also this tokē (O Hezekiah (this yere shalt thou eate that is kepte in stoare, ād the nexte yeare such as groweth of hym selfe, ād in ỹ thyrd yeare ye shal sowe and reape, yea ye shall plante vyneyardes, and enioye the frutes therof. F

And such of the house of Juda as are escaped, shal come together, and the remnaunt shal take rote vnderneth, and bryng forth frute aboue. For the escaped shall go out of Jerusalem, and the remnaunt from the mount Syon. And this shall the gelousy of the Lord of hostes bring to passe. Therfore thus saieth the Lorde, concernynge the kyng of ỹ Assyrians: He shall not come in to the cytie, and shall shote no arowe into it, there shall no shilde hurte it, nether shal thei graue aboute it. The same waye that he came, shall he retourne, and not come at this cytie, saieth the Lord. And I will kepe and saue the citie (saieth he) for myne G for myne owne, and for my seruaunte Dauids sake.

*Thus the aungel went forthe, & slwe of the Assirians hoste, an cixxxv. thousand. And when men arose vp early(at Jerusalem:)Behold, al laye full of daede bodyes. So Sennaherib the kynge of the Assyrians brake vp / and dwelt at Ninive. Afterward it chaunsled, as he prayed in the temple of Nesrah his God/that Adramalech & Sarazer his owne sonne slwe hym with ỹ sweard/and fled in to the lande of Ararat. And Asar had on hys sonne regned after him.

*4.Re.xix.g eccli.xlviii,d Tobi i.d i Mach.viii,f ii.Ma.viii.e

The Notes

a* The daughter of Sion doth often sygnyfye the people of pure fayth, which pürelye geueth hede vnto gods word, that was first geuen in the hyl Sion ero xx. Moast men reade thus: O thou vyrgin, daughter of Sion. &c. S. Paul also alludyng vnto this vyrginite calleth the church and congregacion of the faithful a virgin, saying: I haue coupled you vnto one man, to make you a chast virgyn to Chryste ii. Coint. xi a.

Hezekiah is sycke vnto the deathe, but is yet reuiued bi̊ Lord, & lyueth, xv, yeres, after: for wich benefites he geueth thanckes..

The xxxviii. Chapter.

*iiii Re.xxa ci. Ysa.xxxii e

IN longe afore thys, was Hezekiah sick vnto ỹ deth: and the Prophet Esay the sonne of Amoz came vnto him, and sayde: Thus commaundeth the Lord: Set thyne house in ordre: for thou must dye, & shalt not escape. Then Hezekiah turned his face toward the wall, ād prayed vnto the lorde/and sayde: Remembre(O Lord) ỹ I haue walked before the in[a]* treuth and a stedfast hert, and haue done the thing ỹ is pleasaūt to ỹ. And Hezekiah wept sore. Thē said God vnto Esay: go & speke vnto Hezekiah: ỹ Lord God of Dauid thy father sendeth ỹ this word: I haue harde thy prayer, and consyred thy teares: beholde I wyll put fyftene eares mo vnto thy life, and delyuer the and the cytte also, from the hand of the kyng of Assiria, for I wyl defend the citi. And take the this tokē of the Lord/ that he wyll do it, this he hath spoken:

B Beholde, I will returne the shadowe of Ahaz dial/ỹ now is laped out wyth the Sunne, and bryngeit ten degrees backwarde. So the Sunne turned ten degrees backward/ỹ which he was dē scended afore.

Thanckesgeuing, which Hezekiah kynge of Juda wrote, when he had bene sicke, & was recouered.

b* I thought I shulde haue gone to ỹ gates of hell in my best age, and haue wanted the residue of my yeares.

I spake with in my selfe: I shal neuer vtter the Lorde God in this lyfe: I shall neuer se man amonge the dwellers of the worlde. Myne age is folden vp together, and taken awaye fro me, lyke a shepherdes cotage: my lyfe is shewē of, lyke as a weeuer cutteth of his webb.

C

While I was yet takynge my rest, he hewed me of / & made an ende of me in one daye. c* I thought I wolde haue lined vntothe morow/but he brosed mi bones lyke a lyon, and made an ende of me in one daye.

Then chatered I lyke a swalowe/ and lyke a crane, and mourned as a doue.

I lyfte up myne eyes into the heyght: O Lord(sayde I)vyolence is done vnto me, be thou suertye for me.

D

What shal I speke or saye, tha the mai this do: ỹ I may lyue out all my yeares, yee in the bytternesse of my lyfe:

Verely(Lord) men must lyue in bitternesse, & all my lyfe must I passe ouer therin: For thou raysest me vp, and wakest me. But lo, I wyl be wel contēt with this bytternes.

Neuertheles my cōuersacyō hath so pleased the, that thou woldest not make anende of mi lyfe: so ỹ thou hast cast all my synnes behynde thy back.

d* For hell prayseth not the, death dothnot magnyfye the.

c* They ỹ go downe into ỹ graue / prayse not the truethe: but the lyuyng, yee the liuing acknowledge the, like as I do thys daye. The father telleth his chyldren of thy faythfulnesse.

Delyuer vs(O Lord)and we wyl syng prayses in thy house, al ỹ dayes of our life. And Esay sayde: take a playsterof fygges, & laye it vponthe sore, so shal it be whole. Then sayd Hezekiah: O what a great thing is this, that I shal go vp into the house of the Lorde.

The

The Notes

a* Trueth forpurenes, as in the Psal.li.b. But lo, thou haste a pleasure in the truth &c. That is, in purenes: in true and perfecte ryghtuousnes.

b* That is, I thought I shoulde haue gone to my graue, and haue dyed in my best age. &c. The Hebrue word signifyeth both Hell and graue, pyt or dych. That maye ye perceue in Gene, xlii.g. where Jacob sayth, that if any myshortune should happen vnto Ben Jamymin hys Journey into Egypte wyth hys other bretheren, hys graye heade sholde be brought with sorowe vnto his graue: where the comen transl. readeth hel, for graue. As for Hezekiah, he neyther feared hell nor purgatory/as ye may well se by that he a lytell before sayth: Remembre O Lorde, that I haue walcked before the in truth and a stedfast hert, and haue done the thing that is pleasaunte to the: which thynge who so dothe, needeth not to feare any of those two places. Besydes that, the dunce me and sophysters them selues, whych were (as moost lerned men thynke) the Inuentours and Fynders, ye and the verye makers of purgatorye, saye that before the time of Christes commynge, ther was noo such place: so that Hezekiah is by theyr sentence skilled quite of that place: and of hell doth sentence of ỹ worde of God quyte him, which sayth: There is no condempnation to them that are in Christe Jesu. Roman.viii.a

c* I thought I woulde. &c. but he broked my bones lyke a lyon. &c. As who shulde saye: I thought to haue lyued longe: but the Lorde toke me as it had ben a lyon and febled my boones & strenght: and so troubled me with the greuous Panges of my dysease, as though he woulde in one daye haue made an ende of me. Such a greuous sykenes do lerned men thincke that Dauid also laboured with, when he sayde: O Lorde heale me, for all my bones are vexed. Psal vi.a. and. xxxviii, a.

d* For hell prayseth not the. &c, the meanyng is. If I now dye, I can not prayse the in thy temple. For the deade and buryed can not loue and prayse the: with their materyall tonges or hertes. Nether can my death, nor my buryyng, be at thys season for the lettig out of thy glorye. For all the Godly wylbe feared with thy iudgement: And the wicked wyl impute my death to the ouerthrowing of ydolatrye, and to the putting downe of the brasen serpent.

e* They that goo downe into the graue, prayse not thy truth, that is, hope not for the truth of thy worldly promyses, which thou hast promysed vnto such as walcke vndefyledly in thy lawe. Deute.xxviii. They cannot reioyce of theyr health, when all hope of recouering is past. But if thou graunt a man his lyfe, if any man recouer hys sykenes and lyue: he shal acknowledge thy goodnes, euen as I nowe geaue thanckes vnto thee, for the benefytte of my healthe which thou hast restored me.

The.xxxix. Chapter.

¶ Hezekiah is reproued of Esai, because he shewed his treasure vnto the Embasadors of Babylon.

AT ỹ same tyme Merodach Baladam, Balada his sonne kynge of Babilon, sente letters and presentes to Hezekiah.

For he vnderstode howe that he had bene sick, and was recouered agayne. And Hezekiah was glad therof, & shewed thē ỹ cōmodityes of his treasure, of siluer, of gold, of spyces & rotes, of precious oyles, all that was in his cuboordes and treasurihouses. There was not one thyng in Hezekiahs house, ād so thoroweout all hys kyngdom, but he let them se it,

Then came Esaye the Prophete to king Ezekiah, & sayd vnto hym: what haue the men sayde: and frorn whence cam they vnto the? Hezekiah answered they cam out of a farre countre vnto me out of Babylō. Esay sayd: what haue they loked vpon in thyne house? Hezekiah answered: All ỹ is in myne house haue they sene: and there is nothinge in my treasure/but I shewed it them.

Then sayde Esay vnto Hezekiah: Understande the worde of the Lord of Hostes: Beholde the tyme wyll come/ that euery thynge which is in thyne house/and al that they progenytoures haue layde vp in stoare vnto this daye/ shalbe carted to Babylon/and no thinge left behinde. This saieth the Lord: Yee & parte of thy sonnes/that shall come of the/& whō thou shalt get/shalbe carted hēce/& become gelded chamberlaynes in the king of Babylons courte: Then sayde Hezekiah to Esay: Now God prosperе his owne councel/which thou hast told me. He sayde more ouer: So that there be peace and faythfulnesse in my tyme.

The cōmyng of S. John Baptist, The preparacyō of the Apostles. The callynge of the Gentyles.

¶ The.xl. Chapter.

BE of good chere my people/be of good chere (sayeth youre God) cō tort Jerusalem/and tel her: that a* her trauayle is at an ende/that her offence is pardoned/that she hath receaued of the Lordes hande sufficiēt cōpreccyon for all her synnes. A voyce cryeth: Prepare ỹ waye for the Lorde in ỹ wyldernesse/make streyght ỹ path for oure God in the deserte. Let all valleyes be exalted/& euery mountayne and hyll be leyed lowe. What so is croked/ let it be made streyght/& lett the rough places be made playne feldes. b* For ỹ glory of the Lorde shall apeare/and al flesh shall se it, for why/ the mouth of the Lorde hath spoken it.

The

The same voyce speake: Now crye And I sayde: what shal I crye? Then speake it: that all flesh is grasse, and ỹ *al the bewty therof, is as the floure of the felde. When the grasse is withered, the floure falleth awaye. Euen so is the people as grasse, when the breath of the Lord blowēth vpon them. Neuertheless whether the grasse wyther, or the floure fade awaye? Yet the worde of oure God endureth for euer. Moreouer the voyce cried thus: b*Go vp vnto the hyl (O Sion) thou ỹ bringest good tydinges, lyfte vp thy voice w̄ power, O thou preacher Jerusalem Lyft it vp wout feare, and saye vnto ỹ cyties of Juda: Beholde your God, beholde the Lord, eue̅ the Almightie shal come w̄ power, and beare rule w̄ hys arme. Behold, he bryngeth his treasur w̄ hi̅, and hys worckes go before him. He shal fede his flock lyke an herdma̅.

He shal gather the lambes together w̄ his arme, and carye them in hys bosome, and shal kyndely intreate thoseỹ beare yonge.

Who hath holden the waters in his fyst? Who hath measured heaue̅ w̄ his span̄e, and hath comprehended al ỹ earth of the? worlde in thre fingers? Who hath weied ỹ mou̅taies & hilles? Who hath refourmed the mynd of the Lord? Or who is of hys councel to teach hi̅? At whom hath he asked cou̅cel to make hym vnderstand, and to lerne him the waye of iudgemene: to teache him science: and to enstruct him i the waye of vnderstandyng. Beholee, al people are in comparision of hym, as a droppe to a boket full, and are counted as the lest thinge that the balaunce, weyeth.

Behold, the Iles are in comparision of him, as the shadow of the sonne beame. Libanus is not sufficient to mynystre fyre for his offringe, and all the bestes therof are not ynough to one sacrifyce. Al people in comparisyon of hym are rekened as nothing, ye vaine vanyte and emptynesse.

To whom then wyl ye liken God? or what simylitude wyl ye set vp vnto hi̅? Shal ỹ caruer make him a carued ymage? and shall the goldsmyth couer him with golde, or cast hym in to a fourme of siluer plates?

Moreouer shal the ymage maker (that the poore man whych is dysposed, may haue some thyng to set vp also) sekeout & chuse a tre, ỹ is not rotten, & carue ther out an ymage that moueth not? Knowe ye not thys? Hearde ye neuer of it? Hath it not bene preached vnto you sence the begynning? Haue ye not bene enformed of this, sence the foundacion of the earth was layde? That he sytteth vpon the cyrcle of the world, and that al the inhabitours of the worlde are in cōparison of hym, but as grasshoppers? That he'spreadeth out the heauens as a couering that he stretcheth them oute as a tent to dwel in.

That he bringeth princes to nothyng and the iudges of the earth to dust: so that theye be not planted nor sowen agayn neyther their stocke roted agayn in the earth? For as sone as he bloweth vpō them, they wether and fade away, lyke the strawe in a whyrlewynd.

To whome now wil ye lyken me, & whom shal I be like, saith the holy one Lyft vp your eyes on hye, and consyder. Who hath made those thynges, which come out by so greate heapes? & he can cal them al by their names. For there is nothing hyd vnto the greatnes of his power, strength & mighte How may then Jacob thincke, or how maye Israel saye: My wayes are hyd from the Lord, and my God knoweth not of my iudgemētes. Knowe ye ỹ not or hast thou not herd, ỹ the euerlastige God, the Lorde which made al the corners of the earthe, is nother werye nor faynt: and that his wysdom can not be comprehended: but that he geueth strēgth vnto the weery, and power vnto ỹ faynt? Children are weery and faynte, and the strongest men fal: But vnto them that haue the Lord before theyre eyes, shal strength be encreased Aegles wynges shal growe vpon them: Whē they runne, they shal not fail: and whē they go, they shal not be wery.

The notes

a *Her trauel is at ende, that is, the tyme of her captyuite, which dured .lxx. yeres is fynished.

b *The Prophetes cal the glorye of the Lorde, the ryghtuousnes that should be shewed by the gospell wherby we should be come ryghtuous in the sighte of God the father, for his sonne Christes merites.

This

The notes

This glorye shal al flesh se, that is, al men, as well the Jewes as the Gentyls that beleue. Alyke saying haue ye after in the.lx.a The glorye of the lorde shal ryse vpon the.&c.

c* Al the bewtye therof is as the floure.&c. that is, al the good doyng, al the good lyuynge, al the holynes and vertue, al ỹ righteousnes ther, of, & ceteras is of no valure: It dureth no longer then the flour of the felde. Only Christ is our ryghteousnes, and holynes, &c, i, cor i.d.

d* Syon and Jerusalem (by which vnderstandeth ỹ church of the faithful) do preache and bryng good tidynges) that is, shew the grace & health that hath bene long wayted for, and that is now obtayned & geuen by Christ. Mat xia, Luk, ii, b.

C Of ỹ goodnes & mercy of God toward ỹ people

C The.xlt. Chapter

BE stil (ye Ilandes) and herken vnto me. Be strong ye people, Come hyther, and shew your cause, we wil go to the lawe together. Who raiseth vp the iust from the rysing of ỹ Sunne, and calleth hym to go forth: Who casteth downe ỹ people, and subdueth the kynges before him: that he maye throw them al to the ground with his sweard, and scater them lyke stuble with his bowe: He foloweth vp on them, and goeth safely him selfe, & cometh in no fote path with his fete. Who hath made, created, and called ỹ generacion from the begynninge Euē I the Lorde, which am the fyrste, and with the last.

Beholde ye Iles: that ye maye fear, and ye endes of the earthe, that yee maye be abashed, draw nye, and come hither. Euery man hath exorted hys neyghboure, and brother, and bydden hym be strong. The Smyth confirmed the moulder, and the Iron smyth the hammer man, seyeng: It shalbe good, that we fasten thys caste worcke: and then they fastened it with nayles, that it shoulde not be moued. And thou Israel my seruaunt: Jacob my electe sede of Abraham my beloued, whome I led from the endes of the earth by ỹ hand: For I called the from faere and sayde vnto the. Thou shalt be my seruaūt: I haue chosen the, and wyl not caste the away: be not afraied, for I wyll be with the. Loke not behind the, for I wyl be thy god, to strengthe the, helpe the, and to kepe the with this ryght hand of myne.

Behold, all they that resyst the, shal come to confusion and shame: and thyne aduersaries shalbe destroyed & brought to naughte. So that who so seaketh after them, shal not fynd them. Thy destroyers shall perysh, and so shall they C that vndertake to make battel against the. For I thy Lorde and god, wil strēgthen thy tyght hande. Euen I that saye vnto the: Fear not, I wyl helpe ỹ, Be not afrayde thou lytell worme Jacob/and thou despysed Israel for I wil helpe the, say th the Lorde, and the holy one of Israell thyne auenger. Behold, I wyll make the a treadinge cart and a new flayle, that thou mayest thresh & grynde the mountaynes, and bryng ỹ hylles to poulder. Thou shalt fanne them, and the wynde shal carye them away, and the whyrlwynde shall scatter them. But thou shalt reioyse in thee Lorde, and shalt delyt in prayseinge the holy one of Israell.

When the thyrsty and pore seke water and finde none, and when theyr tōg is drye of thyrst: I geue it them saith ỹ Lorde. I ỹ God of Israell forsake thē not. a* I bryng forth floudes in thee hylles/and welles in the playn feldes. b* I turne the wyldernes to ryuers/& the drye lande to condtthes of water. I plante in the waste ground trees of Cedre, Bore/Myrre and Olyues. And in the drye I set Fyrre trees/Elmes/& Hawthornes togetether. All thys do I th at they all together may see and marke/perceue with theyr hertes and consider, that the hande of the Lord maketh these thyngēs, that the holy one of Israell bryngeth them to passe. Stande at youre cause (sayth the Lorde) ād bryge forth youre stroungest grounde cōsceleth the kyng of Jacob. Let the goddes come forth them selues, and shewe vs the thynges that are paste, that they be. Let them declare them vnto vs, that we maye take them to harte, and knowe them thereafter. Ether let them shewe vs thynges for too come and tell vs what shalbe done hereafter: so shall we knowe that they bee goddes. Shew some thyng, ether good or bad, so wyll we other knowledg the same, and tell it out.

de

Behold/ye goddes are of naught, and your maḱyng ys of naught/but abhomynacion hath chosen you. Neuertheles/I haue waked vp one from ẏ North, and he shal com. And an other frō the East, which shal cal vpō my name, and shal come to the Princes, as ẏ Potter to his clayе, and as the Potter treadeth downe the myre. Who tolde that afore: No wyl we confesse and saye / ẏ he is rthghtuous. But there is none ẏ sheweth or declareth any thing, ther is none also that heareth your wordes. Beholde, I wyl fyrste graunte them of Sion and Jerusalem to be Euaungelistes. But when I concydet: there is not one amongethem that prophecieth, nether (when I aske him) that answereth one word. Lo, wicked are thei and vayne wyth thynges also ẏ they take in hande. ye wnyd ar they & emptynes, with theyr ymages together.

The notes

a* I bringe forth floudes in the hilles, &c. In highe places that be easy to se, wher vnto ẏ thursty maye sone come, wil I prepare, not lytel welles, but grete floudes of holy doctryne: and in playne feelds lowe places sprynges and fountaines: that the lame or slouthful shal haue no excuse, but that al ẏ thyrsty may come to the word of lyfe.

b* I turne the wildernes in to ryuers. &c. That is: I make the doctryne of truth so general and so easy to all men, that where as were before waste wayldernesses (by which vnderstande ẏ erroures of the Heathen wherwith they had made all vnfruteful: & dryе (shal now by the grace of the holy goost, be ryuers of the water of verite. Where al was ful of Idolatrye, of abhominacion & of stynking erroues: there shall the hertes of the chosen be watered wyth godly wisdom, thorow the gospel and glad tydinges: & shall be indued with the faithe, wherby they maye both profyte them selues and other: & so shal they be frutefull. Wyldernesys often thus taken, as before in the. xxxv. a

¶ The commyng of Christ and his baptym.

¶ The xlii. Chapter.

A Behold now therfore, this is my seruaunte whome I wyll kepe to my selfe: mine elect, In whome my soule chalbe pacyfied. I wyll geue hym my spyrete, that he maye shew forth iudgemente and equyte amonge the Gentyls.

He shal not be an out cryer, ner an hye mynded person. Hys voyce shall not be hearde in the stretes. A brosted rede shall he not breake, and & the smokyng flax shal he not quench: but faythfully and truly shall he geue iudgement. He shall nether be ouercrene ner hastye, that he maye restore ryghtuousnes vnto ẏ earth: and the Gentyles also shall kepe his lawes. For thus sayeth God the Lorde vnto him (euēhe that made heauens, & spred thē abrode & set forth the earth with her increse: which geueth breath vnto ẏ people that is in it, & to them that dwell therin) I the Lorde haue called the in rightuousnesse, & led the by the hande. Therfore wyl I also defende the, and geue the for a couenaunt of the people, & to be ẏ lyght of ẏ Gentyles. That thoumaiest open the eyes of the blynde, let out the prisoners, & them that lit in darcknesse, out of the dongeon house. I my selfe/ whose name is the Lorde, whych geue my power to none other, nether myne honoure to the Goddes: shew you these newe tydynges, and tell you thē or thei come, for olde thynges also are com to passe.

Synge therfore vnto the Lordes, new songe of thanckes geuynge, blow out his prayse vnto the ende of the world, They that be vpon the see, & al that is therin, prayse him, the Iles & they ẏ dwell in them. Let the wyldernes with her cities lyft vp her voyce, the townes also be ẏ tu Cedar. Let thē be glad that syt vpon rockes of stone: and let thē cry doune from the hy mountaynes: & crybyng hi among the gentyles. The lord shall come forthe as a gyaunte, and take a stommake to him lyke as a fresh man of warre. He shal roare and cry, and ouercome hys enemyes.

I haue long holden my peace (saith the Lorde) shoulde I therfore be styll, & kepe sylence for euer? I wyll crye lyke a trauelyng woman, and once wyll I destroye them and deuoure. I wyll make waste both mountayn and hyll, and dry vp euery grene thig that groweth therein. I wyll drye vp the floudes of water, and dryncke vp the ryuers. I wyll bringe the blynd into a strete, that they knowe not: and leade them into a fote path that they are ignorant in. I shal make darknes lyghte before them, and the thyngthat is croked to be streight.

These thinges will I do, and not forget them. And therfore let them conuerte, and be ashamed earnestlt, that hope in Idoles, and say to fashioned ymages, ye are our godes.

Heare, O ye deaf men, and sharpe your sightes to se (O ye blynde.) But who is blinder, then my seruaunt? Or so deaf, as my* messaungers, whome I sent vnto them? For who is so blind as my people, and they that haue the rule of them? They are lyke, as if thou vnderstoudest much, and kepteste nothing: or yf one herde wel, but were not obedyent. The Lord be mercifull vnto them for his righteousnes sake, that his word might be magnyfied and prayed. But it is a mysch euous and wycked people. Their younge men belõge al to the snare, and shalbe shut into prison houses.

They shal be caryed awaye captyue, and no mã shal lowse them. They shal be troden vnder fote, and no man shall labour to bryng them agayne. But who is he amonge you, that pondereth this in hys mynde, that consyderyeth yt / & taketh yt for a warnig in tyme to cõe?

Who suffred Jacob to be trodden vnder fote, and Israel to be spoyled? Dyd not the Lord? Nowe haue we synned agaynst hi, & haue had no delyte to walcke in hys wayes, nether bene obedyent vnto his lawe. Therfore hath he poured vpon vs hys wrathful displeasure, and strong batel, which maketh vs haue to do on euery side, yet wil we not vnderstande: He burneth vs vp / yet syncketh it not in to our hertes.

The notes

a* Messaungers. He meaneth the hygh prestes, whose had cure of the people. Those shuld haue taght the other, but they were blyndest of all, as Christ declareth in the gospell. Such ther be at all tymes, and shalbe vnto the worldes ende.

¶ God prompteth to sende hys Christ, whych shall delyuer hys people. He forgeueth synnes for hys owne sake.

¶ The. xliii. Chapter.

But now, the Lord hath made the O Jacob, ād he that facyoned ỹ O Israel, saith thus. Feare not, for I wil defend the. I haue called the by name, thou arte myne owne.

When thou wentest in the water, I was by the, ỹ ỹ strõg floudes shuld not pluck the awaye. When thou walckest in the fyre, it shall not burne the, and the flame shal not kindle vpõ the. For I am the Lorde thy God, the holy one of Israel, thy Saupour. I gaue Egypte for thy delyueraunce, the Moryans & the Sabees for the: because thou wastdeare in my sight, & because I set by the, and loued the. I pylled all men for the, and delyuered vp al people for thy sake, that thou shuldest not feare, for I was wyth the. I wyll bryng thy sede from the East, and gather the together from the West. I wyl saye to the North, let go. And to the South, kepe not backe: but bryng me mi sones frõ farre / and my daughters from the endes of the worlde: Namely / all those that be called after mi name: For them haue I created, fashyoned / and made for myne honoure.

Bryng forth that people / whether they haue eyes or be blynde / deafe or haue eares. All nacyons shall come in one / and be gathered ī one people. But which amonge yonder goddes shal declare soche thynges / & tell vs what is to come? Let them bringe their wytnesses / so shal they be fre: for then men shall heare it / & saye / it is truth. But I bring you wytnesse (sayth the Lord) euen those that are mi seruauntes, whom I haue chosen: to the intent ỹe myght be certyfyed and geue me faythfull credēce: yee and to cõsyder / that I am he / before whom there was neuer ani God and that there shalbe none after me. I am only the Lord / and without me is there no Saupour. I geue warnyng / I make whole / I teach you that there shuld be no straung god amonge you. And thys record must ye beare me your selues (sayth the Lord) that I am god. And euen he am I from the beginnig / & there is none that can take any thynge out of my hand. And what I do, cã no man chaunge.

Thus sayeth the Lord the holy one of Israel youre redemer: For youre sake I wyll sende to Babylon / & bryng all the strõgest of them from thence: Namely / the Chaldees that bost thē of their shyps: Euen I the Lord your holy one which haue made Israel, & ā your king Moreouer, thus saith the Lord (euen he that maketh a waye in the see, and a fote path in the myghtye waters: whyche bringeth forth the charetes and horses, the hoste and the power, that they may fal a slepe and neuer ryse, and be extincte, lyke as towe is quenched.

Moreouer

Ye remembre not thynges of old, and regarde nothing that is past. a* Therfore behold, I shall make a newe thynge/and shortly shal it appere: yee shal wel knowe it, I tolde it you afore, but I will tell it you agayne.

I wyl make stretes in the desert, and ryuers of water in the wyldernes. b* The wyld beastes shal worshippe me: the dragon, and the Estryche. For I shal geue water in the wylderneße, and streames in the desert: that I may
D geue dryncke to my people, whome I chose. This people haue I made for my selfe, and they shal* c* showe forth my prayse. For thou (Jacob) wouldest not cal vpō me, but thou haddeste an vnlust toward me, O Israel.

*Thou gauest me not thy younge beastes for burnt offeringes. nether dydest honoure me with thy sacrifyces. Thou boughteste me no deare spice wt thy moneye/nether pouredest the fatte of thy sacrifices vpon me. Howebeit I haue not bene chargeable vnto the in offerynges, nether greuous in incense.

*But thou haste laden me wyth thy synnes, & weeried me with thine vngodlynes.

* Where as I yet am euen he only/that for myne owne selfes sake do awaye thyne offences, and forgette thy synnes: so that I wyll neuer thyncke vpon them. *Put me nowe in remembraunce (for we wyll reason together) and shewe what thou haste for the, to make the quyte.

*Thy fyrst father offended sore, and thy rulers haue synned agaynst me. Therfore I ether suspended, or slue ỹ chefest Princes: I did curse Jacob, & gaue Israel into reproke.

The Notes.

a* Therfore beholde, I shall make a newe thinge. &c. He meaneth that he wyl forsake the Jewes whi he were his owne peo ple, for their offences and cal the Gentyls that were Idolaters, whome he vnderstandeth by the deserte and wyldernes: as before in the .xxxv. & .xli. c.

b* The wilde beastes shal worshippe me the dragon &c. Under the name of these beastes signifieth he also Heathen, which were wylde, rude and beastly, cō ternyng godly knowledge.

These sayth he that he wyl tame by the preachynge of the gospel (which thinge he signifieth by waters and streames) so that they shal not hereafter do hurt in the church, but shal put their shoulders vnder ỹ yocke of faythe, and be ruled with the lawe of charite.

c* To shewe forth the prayse of the Lord, is, to preache the remyssyō of synnes, and the delyueraūce from death and hel, and the geuenes of euerlastinge lyfe by the mercy of God, for Christes sake. Lyke maner of speakynge vseth Dauid in the Psal. xxii. d. where he bearynge the figure of Christe, sayeth: In the myddest of the congregacion wyl I prayse ỹ &c. Thus shoulde the Gentyles and Heathen praise him, which people he chose for hym selfe, as ye maye se in the text: For the Jewes (whiche are signifyed by Jacob) wolde not do it, but their confydence in kepyng of the lawe. Thys doth the Prophet vpbreade them with, in the person of God saying: * Thou gauest me not thy yonge beastes &c. As who should saye: Saye not that thou hast geuen me many sacryfices, both because thou gauest them not only, but vnto thy calues and Baalles and other Idoles: and also because I dyd neuer set greatly by hem, ner greatly requyred thē. They greued me al waies, when the fayth of the deuocīō of the geuers was awaye.

The shepe of thy burntofferinges broughtest thou not vnto me, nether dydest thou glorify me with thy sacrifices, but dydest onely satisfy thine owne superstitions. I compelled the not to worshippe me wyth thine offringes, but be cause thou so redely offredest such thinges vnto Idoles after the maner of the Heathen, I commaunded that they shuld not be offred vnto other goddes, but vnto me, of whose gift ỹ receauest them &c. etera. None of al these thinges profyted me: in as much as thou leftest of the thynges which I chefely requyred righteousnes, fayth, and iudgement. Mat. xxii.

*Thou hast moch more offended me wyth thy sinnes, then that thou canst please me with al these ceremonies: which iustifie not them that do them, ner bringe them into my fauour in lesse than they fyrste be my beloued through fayth. * No maner of idoles, ner the sacryfises of oxen shepe, or goates ner the merytes of thy workes, howe precyous or goodly so euer theybe, do put awaye sinn: But I my selfe alone by my only mercy and grace do pardon them, to al those that beleue that I so do: & do not ones remember them, to thintent to punysh thē: Yee, and I freely forgeue them. Rom. iii. d, I am not bounde vnto the, that haste so often fallen from thy fayth, which I onely regard. *Or elles bringe me in remembraunce, reason thy matter wt me, and shew me, whether thou haue alwayes more prouoked me vnto anger, or I haue ben ouermuch fauorable vnto ỹ: whether I haue euer ben readier to forgeue, then thou to amend.

Thou canst surely neuer bringe any thinge for the, wherby thou mayest iustifie thy cause agaynst me.

*Thou hast not chosen me, but I haue chosen ỹ. I made thy father Adam. Gene. i. d. which streyght wayes transgressed the commaundement. Gene. iii a, b. And Abrahā coulde not be iustified by his workes but by his faith. Rom. iiii. a. As no nother man can: whose whole lyfe is ful of synne euē from their childehod, ye euen he that lyueth but a daye. Jacob was prefarred before Esau, not for his merytes or deseruynges, but by election. Gen. xxv. Ro. ix. b

Thy rulers, or (as some rede) Interpretours, Moyses, and Aaron, were not founde without offence before me, but sinned agaynst me. Numer. xi. e

Therfore not without a cause killed I thy Princes and Prestes of the Sanctuarye, which shulde offer both for themselues and for the people, Hebr. viii.

For no man liuing shalbe iustified in my sight Psal. xxxiii. And the Aungels are not cleane before me. Job, xxv. d. How much lesse then wil I spare thys styffe necked and sturdy people: But I wyl at time conuenyent curse the sunnes of Jacob after ꝑ flesh, which be ont of kynde conserning the spyete, so that they shal be a curse amongest the Heathen: wher as on the other syde, the true and leaful sonnes of Jacob shal be the blessing of al naceons thorow Christ, in whom al the chosen shalbe blessed. Gen. xii. a. and Gala. iii c. Vouchafe, good reader, to rede the text with also shalt ꝑ perceaue to Which part to ok the text, euery part of the note belongeth.

¶ The. xliiii. Chapter.

¶ Christ promyseth to deliuer his church, which he hath redemed. Idoaltry & kneling before ymages &c are confuted.

A SO here now, O Jacob my seruaunt, and Israell whō I haue chosen. For thus sayeth the lord, that made the, fashioned the, and helped the, euen from thy mothers womb: Be not afrayed, O Jacob my seruaũte, thou righteous, whom I haue chosen.

a* For I shal poure water vpon the drye grounde and ryuers vpon ꝑ thurstye. I shall poure my spyete vpon thy sede, and myne encrease vpō thy stock. They shal growe together/lyke as the grasse, and as the wyllies by the waters syde. b* One wyl saye: I am ꝑ lordes. Another wil I cal vnder the name of Jacob. The thirde shal describe wt his hande vnto the Lorde, and geue hi self vnder the name of Israel.

Moreouer, thus hath the Lord spoken: euen the King of Israel, and hys auenger, the Lord of Hostes: I am the B fyrste and the laste, and with out me is there no god. For what is be, that euer was like me, which am frō euerlastig. Let him shwe his name, and do where thorow he may be likened vnto me. Let him tel you forthe playnely thynges, that are past and for to come; yee & that without any feare or stoppe. For haue not I euer told you hytherto, and warned you? Ye can beare me recorde your selues. Is there any god excepte me? or any maker, that I shoulde not know hym?

Wherfore al caruers of Idoles ar but vayne, and their labour lost. They must beare recorde them selues/ ꝑ (seing thei cā nether se nor vnderstād, they shal be confounded. Who shoulde now make a god, or fashion an Idole, that is profitable for nothynge?

Beholde, all the felowshippe of them must be brought to confusyon. Let all the workmasters of them come & stand together from amonge men: they must be abashed and confounded one with a nother. The smyth taketh pyron, & tempereth it with hoate coales, and fashoneth it with hammers, and maketh yt with al ꝑ strength of his armes: ye, sōe tyme he is faynt for very hunger, and so thursty, that he hath no more power. c* The carpenter (or ymage caruer) taketh meat of the tymbre: and spreadeth forth hys lyne: he marketh it wyth som coloure: he playneth it, he tulcth it, and squareth it, and maketh it after the image of a man, and according to the bewtye of a man: that it maye stande in the temple.

C Moreouer, he goeth out to hew downe Cedre trees: He bringeth hom Elmes and Okes, and other tymber of ꝑ wod Or els the Fyre trees which he planted him selfe, and suche as the rayne hath sweled. which wod serueth for men to burne. Of thys he taketh and warmeth him selfe with al: he maketh a fyre, of it to bake bred. And after warde maketh a God there of, to honoure it: and an Idole to knele before it. One pece burneth in the fyre, with another he rosteth flesh/ that he maye eate roste his belye full: wyth the thyrde he warmeth him selfe, and sayeth: Aha, I am wel warmed, I haue bene at the fyre. And of the residue he maketh hym a God, and an Idole for him selfe. He kneleth before it, he worshyppeth it, he prayeth vnto it, and sayeth: delyue me, for thou art my god.

Yet men nether consider ner vnderstand, because their eyes are stopped, ꝑ they can not se: & their hertes, that they can not perceaue. They ponder not in their mides, for thei haue nether knowledg ner vnderstādig, to thynck thus: I haue brent one pece i the fire: I haue baked bred wyth the coales therof, I haue rosted flesh with al, and eaten it: shal I now of the residue make an abhomynacyon, and fall downe before a roten pece of wod?

The

The keppynge of dust, and folischnes of hert hath turned them alyde: so that none of them can haue a fre conscience to thyncke: may not I erre?

Consydre thys (O Jacob and Israell) for thou art my seruaunte. I haue made the that thou myghtest serue me. O Israell, forget me not. As for thyne offences, I dryue them awaye like the cloudes, and thy synnes as the myst. Turne the agayne vnto me, and I wyll delyuer the.

Be glad ye heauens, whome the lorde hath made, let al that is here beneth vpon the earth, be toykull. Reioyce yee mountaynes and woddes, with all the trees that are in you: for the Lorde shal redeme Jacob, and shewe hys glorye vpon Israell. For thus sayth the Lorde thy redemer/euen he that fashioned ỹ from thy mothers wombe: I am the lorde, which do all thinges my selfe alone I only haue spred out the heuens, and I onely haue layd the foundacion of ỹ erth. I destroye the tokens of witches, and make the southsayers go wronge. As for the wyse, I turne them bacwarde, and make theyr connyng folyshnes.

But I set vp the purpose of me seruauntes, and fulfyl* the councel of my messaungers. I saye to Jerusalem: turne agayne: And to the cyties of Juda, be ye buylded agayne: and I repayre theyr decayed pleces. I saye to the grounde: be dry. And I dryye vp thy water floudes. I saye to Cirus: thou art myne herdman: so that he shall fulfyll all thynges after my wyll. I saye to Jerusalem be thou buylded, and to the temple: be thou fast grounded.

The Notes.

a* For I shall powre waters vpon the: &c. By the water and ryuers, vnderstand the grace of God: & by the drye grounde and the thurstye, the gentyles & heathen, which had not ben fylled and watered with the worde of God. Suche alyke sentence is there before in the xliii. c. I wyll make stretes in the deserte. &c.

b* One wyll saye: &c. As who should sayt: here and there, and all the worlde ouer are therof the Lordes people, ye euen amongst the heathen.

c* Let the chrysten here note howlyuely the prophet paynteth out the vanytie of Images. For it is to be feared that oure superstitiō, concerning such thinges, passeth & exceadeth the superstition of the Jewes. Ones euident it is, that the Jewes in oure tyme can in no wyse be persuaded to become Chrystē, so long as we kall downe & knele before ymages. Their answer is that they and we both (if we be of God) shuld in no condicion do any thing that is openly and in so many places forbidden of God The Turckes & Saracenes also mocke vs therfore.

The honoure of God (saye they, and trueth it is) ought we to seke, and to stycke by hys worde: & nether to adde therunto, ner take awaye, nether to swarue to the right hande or to the left: but ernestly to stād by ỹ which is commaunded, & for sake that whyche is forbydden. God graunt vs Chrystē a better trade and conuercacyon of lyuing, then that we should wt our exāple be an offence ether to Jew or Saracō, and an occasion to kepe them frō the faith of chryst: And geue the symple eyes to se and perceue the falsheed of ỹ furrel which for lucre augment their blindnes, & exhort them to such superstition. So be it.

d* That is their preachyng wherewith they coūcel the people.

¶ The delyueraunce of the people by Cyrus. The cōming of Chryst & callyng of the Gentyles.

¶ The, xlv. Chapter.

THus sayeth the Lorde vnto Cyrus his anoynted, whō he leadeth by the right hād: that the people maye fall downe before him: I wyll lowse the gyrdell of Kinges: that they shal open the gates before thy face, and not to shut their dores. I wil go before the / and make the croked streyghte I shal breake the brasen dores, and burst the yron barres. I shal geue the ỹ hyd treasue and the thinge which is secretly kepte that thou maiest knowe, that I the god of Israel haue called the by thy name, and that for Jacob my seruauntes sake, and for Israel my chosen. For I called the by the name, and ordened the or euer thou knowest me: Euen I the Lorde, before whom there is none other: for without me ther is no god. I haue prepared the or euer thou knowest me that it might be knowen from ỹ rysinge of the sunne to the goyng downe of the same/ ỹ al is nothig without me. For I am the Lorde, and there is els none. It is I that created ỹ lyght and darcknes, I make peace and trouble: yee euen I the lorde do all these thynges. a* The heauēs aboue shal dropp downe, and ỹ cloudes shall rayne righteousnes. The earth shal open it selfe, and bringe forth health, & therby shall righteousnes florysh. Euen I the lorde shal bringe it to passe.

¶ Woo be vnto him that chideth with hys maker, the potshard with the Potter: Sayeth the claye to the potter: What makest thou: or thi worke serueth for nothing: Woo be vnto hym ỹ sayth to his father: why begettest ỹ: And to his mother: why beareste thou:

The prophecy.

Thus sayeth the Lorde, euen the holy one and maker of Israel: Aske me of thinges for to cõ, concernyng mi sõnes: and put me in remembraũce, as touchynge the worckes of my hãdes: I haue made the earth, & created man vpon it. Wyth mine handes haue I spred forth heauen/and geuen a cõmaundmẽt for all the Host ther of. I shall wake hym vp w̃ rygh tuousnesse/and ordre al his wayes. He shall buylde my cytye /and lett out my prisoners: and ỹ nether for gyft nor rewardes/sayeth the Lord of Hostes.

¶ The Lorde hath sayde morouer: The occupiers of Egypt/the marchauntes of the Moryans and Sabees/shall cõ vnto the with trybute/they shal folow the, & go with cheines vpon their fete. They shall fall downe before the/and make supplicacion vnto the. For God (w̃ out whõ there is none other God) shall be with the. O how prokoũde art thou O God/thou God and Sauiour of Israel? Confounded be ye/and put to dishonour: goo hence together with shame/all ye that be worckmasters of errour: (that is worshippers of Idols) But Israell shalbe sauid in the Lorde, which is the euerlasting saluacion: They shall not come to shame ner confusyon/worlde with out ende.

For thus sayeth the Lorde: euen he ỹ created heauen/the God that made ỹ earth/ỹ fashioned it, & sett it forth: I haue not made it for naught, but I D made it to be enhabited Euen I ỹ Lorde/without whom there is none other. I haue not spokẽ secretly, nether in darcke places of the earth. It is not for naught, that I sayde vnto the sede of Jacob: seke me. I am the Lord, which whẽ I speake, declareth ỹ thinge that is rygh tuous & true. Let them be gathered & come together, lett them drawe nye hyther, that are escaped of the people: Haue they eny vnder standyng/ that set vp the stockes of their Idols/ & praie vnto a God, ỹ can not help thẽ? Lett men drawe nye, let them come hyther, and aske coũcell one at another, & shewe forth: What is he, that tolde this before? or who spake of it, euer sence ỹ begynnyng? Haue I not ỹ Lord do ne it: wythout whom there is none other god: ỹ true god & Sauiour, and there is els none but I? And therfore turne you vnto me (al ye endes of the earthe) so shall ye be saued, for I am God, and there is els none. I sweare by my selfe: out of my mouth commeth the word of righ tuousnes/ and that maye no man turne: but al knees shal bow vnto me, and al tunges shal swere vnto me, saying: Verely in the Lord is my rygh tuousnes and strength. To him shal men cõe: but al they that thincke scorne of hym, shalbe confounded. And the whole sede of Israel shalbe iustifyed/and praised in the lord.

The notes

a* Some reade, ye heauens, send downe your dew from aboue, and let the cloudes rayne, &c. The prophet declyreth that kinge Cyrus may come, and help the people of Israel vnder Cyrus figuring Christe and vnder Israel the Chyrch. As though he shulde saye: wold God the heuenly powers wolde so geue their grace, as the earthly wolde not refuse to receaue it: so that here after our heauen be not of brasse, for our synnes sake: Deu. xxviii. b but ỹ by Godes grace, the rayne of saluacyon wold fal on vs, righ tuousnes dropp downe from heauen, to make ours hertes fertile and frutful: that Christ our sauioure, which is the righ tuousnes of the chosen, wold com forth of the earth, and bring forth the blossomes of saluacion. This peticion doth the Lord promes to performe, saying: Euen I ỹ Lorde shall bring it to passe.

¶ Idolatrye is reproued. The health that cometh by Christ is prophecied.

¶ The. xlvi. Chapter.

MOreouer a*Bel shal fal and Nabo shalbe broken: A whose images ar a burthẽ for the beastes and cattell, to ouerlade them, and to make them weery.

They shal synck downe/and fal to gethr: for they maye not ease them of their burthen, therfore must they go in to captyuite.

Herken vnto me, O house of Jacob/ and al ye that remayne yet of the housholde of Israell: whom I haue borne frõ your mothers wombe, and bought you vp from youre berth, tyll ye weere growen: I which shal beare you vnto your last age I haue made you, I wil also norysh you bere you and saue you Whom wil ye make me lyke, in fashiõ or ymage, that maye be like him? Ye fooles (no dout) wyl take out siluer B and goulde oute of youre purcys, and weye it, and hyre a goldsmith to make a god of it, that mē maye knele downe and worshippe it. Yet must he be taken on mens shoulders and burne, & set in his place, that he may stande and not moue. Alas that men shuld cry vn to him, which geueth no answere: and delyuereth not the man ỹ calleth vpon him/from his trouble.

Consydre this wel, and be ashamed.
b*Go into youre owne selues (O ye trā nagates). Remembre the thinges whi che are paste, sence the beginning of ỹ world: that I am god, and that there is els no God, ye and that there is noth= ing lyke vnto me.
In the beginning of a thing, I shewe
the ende therof: and I tel before, thīges that are not yet come to passe. Myth one worde is my deuyce accomplished, D and fulfilleth al my pleasur. I call ac* byrd out of ỹ East, and al that I take in hande, oute of farre countreyes, as soon as I cōmaūd, I brīg it hither: as soone as I thincke to deuise a thynge/
I do it.

Heare me, O ye that are of an hie stomacke, but farre from ryghtuouse= nesse, I shall brynge forth my ryghtu ousenesse, It is not farre/and my heal= th shall not tarye longe awaye. I wyll laye health in Sion (and geue Israel my glory.

The notes

a* Bel and Nabo were Idolles of the Babylonīās These sayth the prophete shalbe ouerthrowen bi the hoste of Cirus.

b* Go goo into them selues: is, to take good aduise=mente and call to remembraunce.

c* He meaneth Kynge of Cirus, whych shoulde come swyftlye as a byrde flyeth, and destroye Babylon and set the Israelytes at lybertye. He should fulfyll that whych the lorde hath deuysed and decreed. In him is figured Christe, whych wyth the lyghte of hys worde purgeth the whole worlde of errours and Idolatrye, and setteth the consciences at peace and lybertie. He flyeth swyftely out of the east, that is, out of heauen: wherupon he is called the Daye spryng from on hye. Lu. i. g.

The word of the Lord against Babilon

The. xlvii. Chapter.

BUt as for the (O daughter thou virgin Babylon) a* Thou shalte syt in the duste thou shalte syt vpon the groumde, and not in a trone (O thou mayden of Chaldea) Thou shalt no more be caled tēder and pleasaūt. Thou shalt bring forth the b*querne and grinde meele, put down thi stomacher make bare thi knes and shalt wade thorow the water ryuers.
Thy shame shall be discouered, and thi preuyties shalbe sene. For I wyl auēg me of the, and no man shall lett me: sa= C yeth oure redemer, which is called the Lord of Hostes, the holy one of Israel.
Syt styll, holde thy tunge, and get the into some darcke corner, O daughter Caldea, for thou shalt nomore be caled lady of kyngdomes. I was so wroth with my people, that I punished myne enheritaunce, and gaue them in to thy power. Neuertheles, thou shewedest them no mercy, but euen the very aged mē of them, didest thou oppresse ryght B sore wyth thi lock, and thou thoughtest thus, I shalbe lady for euer. And besyd all that, thou hast not regarded these thinges nether cast, what shulde come after: Heare now therfore, thou wil ful, that sittest so carelesse, and speakest thus in thine herte: I am alone, and wo out me is there none: I shall neuer be wydowe, ner desolate agayne. And yet both these thynges shal come to the vp on one daye in the twynckling of an eye: Namelt wyddowhead, and desola= cyon. They shal mightely fal vpō the/for the multitude of thy witches/and C for the greate heap of thi cōiurers. For thou hast comforted thy selfe in thi dyf ceatfulnes/and hast sayde: No man seyth me. Thyne owne wysdome and connynge hath disceaued the. In that thou hast sayde: I am alone, and with out me there is none. Therfor shal tro= uble come vpon the, and thou shalt not knowe, from whēce it shall aryse. Myf chefe shal fal vpō the, which thou shalt not be able to put of.
A sodayne mysery shal come vpon the,
or euer thou be a warre.

Now go to thy coniuters, and to the multitude of thy witches (whome D thou hast bene acquainted with all frō thy youth) if they maye helpe the/or stre engthen the.
Thou hast hitherto had many coūcels

of

of them/so let thé heauengasars and the beholders of starres come on now and delyuer the:ye and let them shewe, when these new thynges shall com vp on the.

Behold,they shalbe lyke strawe,which yf it be kyndled with fyre,no mā maye tydd it for the vehemence of the flame: And yet it geuet;no synders to warme a man by,ner cleare fyre to syt by.Euē so shal they be vnto ỹ whom thou hast vsed & occuppyd from thy youth.Euery one shall shewe ỹ hys erroneous waie, yet shall none of them defende the.

The notes

a* To syt in the dust,is,to be brought lowe,to be porely arayed & decked,to sytt without pōpe,& to fall from her estate & degre,as it is sayd Jons.iii.c. The Prophete here describeth the destruccyon of Babylō,vnder the fygure of a proude quene:which was delycyously & dentely brought vp,& after fell in to extreame pouerty,mysery & wretchednes.

b* He vnder standeth by the querne,or(as somme reade)mylle:seruyle, poze,& vile estate & condycyō,or ¶ The ypocrycie of ỹ Jewes is repzoued. The Ls, de al one wyl be worshipped,which hath chosen vs and which socoureth vs for his owne sake.

The.xlviii.Chapter.

HEare this, O thou house of Jacob:ye that are caled by the name of Israel/and are come out of one stocke ỹ Juda:which sweare by ỹ name of the Lord,and beare witnesse bi the God of Israel/but not ỹ treuth & ryght which are called fre men of the holy cytie/as they that loke for confor th in ỹ God of Israell/whose name is the Lorde of hostes.

The thinges ỹ I shewed you euer sence the begynnyng:Haue I not brought them to passe/immediatly as thei came out of my mouth/& declarde thē? And they are come?Howbeit I knewe that thou art obstynate/& that thi neck hath[a]* an yron veyne/and ỹ thy browe is of brasse.Neuertheles I haue euer sence ỹ begynning shewed the of thinges for to come/and declared them vnto the/or euer they came to passe: that thou shuldest not saie:mine Idol hath done it/my carued or cast ymage hath shewed it.Heare and consyder all these thinges whether it was ye ỹ prophecied them.

But as for me,I tolde the before atthe begynnynge,new and secrete thinges/ that thou knewest not of:And some done now not of olde tyme,wher of thou neuer herdest,before they were brought to passe:that thou canst not saye:I knewe of them. Moreouer there be somewher of thou hast nether herde ner knowne,nether haue thei bene opened vnto thine eares afore time For I knewe that thou woldest malicyously offende, therfore haue I called the a transgressoure,e uen from thy Mothers wom be:

Neuertheles for my name s sake/I haue withdrawne my wrath, and for mine honours sake I haue ouersene ỹ, so that I haue not rooted the out.[b]* Beholde I haue pourged the,and not for moneye. I haue chosen the in ỹ fyre of pouerte,And that only for myne owne sake,for I geue myne honour to none other,that thou shuldest not despyse me.Herken vnto me O Jacob,& Israel whom I haue called:I am euen he thes, I am ỹ first and the last.My hande is the foundacyon of the earth,& my ryght hande spanneth ouer the heauens.

As soone as I called them they were there.Gather you al together,& herken: Which of yonder goddes hath declared this, that the Lorde wyll do by the kynge of Babylō(whome he loueth & fauoureth)and by ỹ Caldees his arme? I my selfe alone haue tolde you this before. Yee I shall call him and bringe hī forth,& geue hī a prosperous tourneye. Come nye and heare this:haue I spoken eny thynhe darckly sence the begynnynge? when a thynge be gynneth, I am there.

Wherfore the Lorde God with hys spirete hath sent me,And thus saieth the Lorde God thine auenger,the holy one of Israell:I am the Lord thi god,which teach ỹ profitable thinges,& leade ỹ the waye,that thou shuldest go yt ỹ wilt now regared mi cōmaundement, thy weltheynesse shall be as the water streame:and thy rightuousnes as the waues flowynge in the see.Thy sede shallbee lyke as the sandde in the see/ and and the frute of thy body, lyke the gra uell stones therof: Thy name shall not be roted out, nor destroyed before me. Ye shall go away from Babylon, and e scape the Caldees wyth a mery voyce. This shalbe spoken of, declared abrod, and go forth vnto the end of the worlde: so that it shalbe sayde: The Lord hath defended hys seruaũt Jacob/that they suffred no thurste, when they traueled in the wyldernes. He claue the rockes asonder/and the water gusshed out. As for the vngodlye, they haue no peace, sayth the Lord.

The Notes.

a* By this he meaneth that the people of Israell were stubburne, frowarde, rebellious, vntractable, vnruly and shameles.

b* Some reade: Beholde I haue purifyed the: but not as syluer: I haue chosen the out of the fournes of affliction. For my ne owne sake. For myne owne sake haue I done thys: for lyke whome would they pollute me? truly I will not geue my glory to anye other. Herken. &c. The same expound it thus. I wol not suffre the wholly to perysh: for if I had proued and purifyed the as golde and syluer is purifyed, from which all maner of drosse is clensed, ther shuld nothynge haue remayned in the: verye fewe, ye none shulde haue ben saued: But I brought the vnder, & proued the in the fornes of affliction, that is, I wrapped the in captiuyte and bondage in Egypte, from whyche I afterward delyuered the. And thys haue I done for myne owne sake. That is, onely for myn owne name and glorye, of myne owne gentelnes and louing kyndnes, not for any of thy merites & deseruynges which were none at all. For how would ỹ gentyles and heathen haue polluted, defyled, & blasphemed my name, yf I had roted out myne owne people: and so haue made the trueth of the promyses which I had determyned to fulfyll in Chryst, vayne and vntrue: For as well thys prayse of my truthe, as the glory of the blessynge promysed in the sede of Abraham and Dauid, wyl I not geue vnto another people or nacion. The health of the worlde shall come of the Jewes. Joh iiii. and frõ none other. The glad tydinges of health shall the whole worlde receaue of none other then of Chryst, by the preachyng of the Apostles. &c.

The. xlix. Chapter.

Chryst shal gather to getheral nacions be they neuer so farre of.

YEa* Iles, herken vnto me, and take hede ye people frõ farre: The Lord hath called me fro my byrth, & made mencyõ of my name fro mi mothers wombe: *he hath made my mouth lyke a sharpe swerde, vnder the shadowe of hys hande hathe he defended me, and hyd me in hys quyuer, as a good arowe, and sayde vnto me, Thou art my seruaunt Israell, I wyll be honoured in the. Then answerde I: I shall lese my labour, I shall spend my strength in vayne. Neuertheles, I wyll commytte mi cause and mi worke vnto the Lorde my God. And now sayeth the Lorde, euen he ỹ fashionde me fro my mothers whombe to be his seruaunte, that I maye bringe Jacob agayne vnto hi: howbeit, Israel wil not be gathered vnto hi agayne. In whose sygth I am greate, which also is my Lorde, my God and my strength. Let it be but a small thynge, that ỹ art my seruaũt, to sett vp ỹ kynreddes of Jacob, & to restore the destruccion of Israell: yf I make the not also the lyght of the Gentles, ỹ thou mayest be mi healthe vnto the ende of the worlde.

B

More ouer thus sayeth the Lord the auẽger and holy one of Israel, because of ỹ abhorring and despysinge among the Gentiles, concernynge the seruaunt of al them that beare rule: Kinges and prynces shal se, and arise and worshyp/ because of the Lorde that he is faythfull: and because of the holy one of Israell, whych hath chosen the.

And thus sayeth the Lord: *In the tyme apointed wyll I be present with the. *And in the houre of healthy wyl I help the, & delyuer the. I wyl make the a pledge for the people, so that thou shalt helpe vp the earth agayne, and chaleng againe the scatred heritages: That thou mayest say to the presoners: go forth, & to thẽ that are in darkenesse: com in to ỹ light, that they maye fede in the hie wayes, and get their lyuyng in al places. There shal nether hũger ner thurste, heate nor Sũne hurte thẽ. For he that fauoureth them, shal leade thẽ, & geue thẽ dryncke of the sprynge welles. I wyll make wayes vpon all my mountaynes, & my fote pathes shalbe exalted. And beholde, thei shall com frõ farre: lo, some frõ the north and west, some from the south. *Reioyse ye heauens, and synge prayses thou earth: Talke of ioye ye hilles, for God wil cõfort his people, & haue merci vpõ his, ỹ be in trouble. Then shall Syõ saye: * God hath forsakẽ me, and ỹ Lord hath forgottẽ me. *

C

Both

Doth a wife forget ỹ childe of hir wom be, & the sonne who she hath born? And though she do forget, yet wil not I forget the. Beholde, I haue written the vpon mi handes, thi walles are euer in my sight. d* They ỹ haue broke the do wne, shall make haste to build the vp agayne: and they that made the waste shall dwel in the. Lyft vp thine eyes, & loke aboute the: al these shal gather the to gether, & com to ỹ. As truly as I lyue (sayeth the Lord) thou shalt put the all vpon the, as an apparel, and gyrde the to the as a bryde doth her Jewels. As for the lande that lieth desolate, wasted & destroted: it shalbe to narow for them that shal dwell in it. And they that wo ulde deuoure the, shalbe farre awaye.
e* Then the childe who the baren shal bringe forth vnto the, shall saye in thyne eare: this place is to narow, syt nye together, that I maye haue rowme. The shalt thou thinke by thy self: Who ha th begotte me these: seing I am bare & alone, a captiue & an out cast: And who F hath norysshed the vp for me: I am desolate & alone, but fro whence come these: And therfore thus sayeth the Lord God: Beholde, I wyll streth out mine hande to the Gentiles, and sett vp my token to the people They shall bringe the thy sonnes i their lappes, and cary thy doughters vnto the vpo their shoulders. For kinges shalbe tht nourising fathers/and Quenes shalbe thy nour singe mothers. They shall fall be fore the w their faces flat vpon th earth, & lyck vp ỹ dust of thy fete: that thou ma yest knowe, who that I am ỹ Lorde. *
And who so putteth his trust i me, shal not be confoũded. Who spoyleth the gy aũte of his praye: or who taketh the pri-G soner from the myghtye: And therfore thus sayeth the Lorde: The prysoners shalbe taken from the grauntc, and the spoyle delyuered from the violẽte: for I wyll mayntayne thy cause against thyne aduersatyes, and saue tht sones.
And wil fede thine enemies with their awne flesche, and make them dryncke of theyr owne bleoude, as of swete wyne.
And all flesche shal knowe (O Jacob) that I am the Lorde thy Sauyoure, & stroge auenger.

The notes

a* What Jles signify, loke before in the xli. b.

b* He hath made my mouth lyke a sherpe swerde, ỹ is, He hath geuen me the spyrete of sharpe and pythy speach, so that my wordes shal euen cut asonder (as it were) the hertes of the chosen which heare me, & dryue them to repentaunce, and declare the offences of the wycked to be without excuse. Thys doth the spyrete of prophecy, and of true preachyng of the word, Apoc. xix. c c* Doth a wyfe forget the chylde of her wombe. &c. Is who saye/Naye: and no more wyll I do the.

d* That is to say the Gentyles.

e* Some reade yet shall the chylderen of thy barennesse saye in thyne eare. &c, The meanyng is, when thou art most barren, and hast fewest of ỹ faithfull in the (that is to saye, the xii. Apostles, and a few of their disiciples, Jewes borne) by & by shalt thou heare a nuyse, that these are increased to such a noumber, that they shall not fynde place sufficient to dwel in, At the fyrst sermon of Peter were there increased thre thousand. Act. ii, g

The Jewes are repryued, and also called.

The. l. Chapter.

THus sayth the lorde: Wher is the byll of youre a* mothers deuorcement, that I sent vnto her or who is the vlurer, to whome I solde you: Behold, for youre owne offences are ye solde: ād because of youre transgression, is your mother forsaken. For why wolde no mā receaue me: when I came: and when I called, no man gaue me answere. Was my hand clean smyten of, that it myght not helpe: or had I not power to deliuer Lo, at a worde I dryncke vp the see, & of water floudes I make drye land: so ỹ for want of water, The fysh corrupte B and dye of thurste, As for heuen, I clothe it with darkenesse/ and put a sackcloth vpon it.

* The lord god hath geuen me a wel learned tonge, so that I comforte them which are troubled, ye and that in due seasō. He waked myne eare vp betimes in ỹ morning (as the scholmasters do) that I myght herken. The lorde God hath opened myne eare, therfore can I not saye naye, nor wythdrawe my selfe/ but I offre my back vnto the smyters, and my chekes to the nyppers. I turn not my face from shame and spyttyng, C for the lord God, helpeth me, therfooze shall I not be confonded. I haue hardened my face lyke a flynte stone, for I am sure, that I shall not come to cōfusion. Myne aduocate speaketh for me, who wyll then goo with me to lawe: Let vs stande one agaynst another: yf there be any that wyll reason with me, let hym come here forth to me. Behold,

the

the Lord god standeth by me, what is he that can condemne me? lo, they shall D be al lyke as an olde cloth, whiche the mothes shal eate vp.

Therfore who so feareth the Lorde among you, let him heare the voyce of his seruaunt. Who so walketh in darknes/and no lyght shyneth vpon him, let him hope in the Lorde, and hold hi by his god. But take hede, b* ye haue al kyndled a fyre, and gyrded yourselues with the flame: Ye walck in ỹ glist tyng of your owne fyre, & in the flame that ye haue kyndled. This cometh vn to you fro my hande, namely ỹ ye shall slepe in sorowe.

The notes

a* God was not the cause why the congregacyō of the Jewes (which is vnderstande by mother, & was once hys spouse) was diuorced and forsaken: but their owne offences dyuorced thē, and was ỹ cause why they were solde to the vsurer, and geuen ouer i to the handes of the Gentyles or Heathen, and sparpled amongest the Medyans, Persyans, Babilonyans, Grecyans, & Romaynes.

b* As who saye: ye your selues haue kyndled the fyre of my vengaunce, with youre offences: I was nō causer therof: ye must therfore suffer the punyshement therto belongyng. For it commeth of youre owne deserupng that I so laye my hande vpon you & punyshe you.

¶ The .li. Chapter.

¶ Cōsolacīō & cōforth is promysed vnto ỹ faithfull.

A HErken vnto me, ye ỹ holde of rightuousnes, ye ỹ seke the Lord. Take hede vnto the stone, whereout ye are hewē, ād to the graue wher out ye are dygged. Consydre Abraham your father/and Sara that bare you: how that I called him alone, prospered him wel, and encreased him: how the Lord comforted Syon', and repayred all her decaye: makyng her deserte as a paradyce, and her wyldernes as ỹ garden of the Lord. Myrthe and ioye was there, thanckesgeuyng and the vo
B yce of prayse. Haue respect vnto me thē, O my people/and leye thine eare to me: for a lawe and an ordinaunce shall go forth fro me/to lighten the Gentyles. It is herde by/ that my health and my ryghtuousnes shal go forth/& ỹ people shalbe ordred with myne arme.

The Ilandes (that is the gentiles) shal hope in me/and put their trust in myne arme. Lyft vp your eyes toward heauen/& loke vpon the earth beneth. For the heauens shall vanysh awaye lyke smoke, and the earthe shall teare like a cloth, and they that dwel therin, shall perishe in lyke maner. But my helthe endureth for euer, and my ryghtuousnes shall not ceasse. Therfore herken vnto me, yee that haue pleasure in tightuousnes, thou people that beareste my lawe in thyne herte. Feare not the curse of men, be not afrayd of theyr blasphemyes and reuplynges: for wormes and Mothes shall eate them vp lyke cloth and woll. But my rightuousnes shall endure for euer, and my sauing helth from genaracion to generacion. Wake vp, wake vp, and be strong: O thou a* arm of the Lord: wake vp, lyke as in times past, euer & sence the worlde beganne.

Art not thou he, that hast wounded ỹ proude Lucifer, and hewen the dragon in peces? Art not thou euen he, whyche hast dryed vp the depe of the see, which hast made playne the see grounde, that the delyuered myghte goo thorow? That the redemed of the Lorde, whych turned agayne, myght come wyth ioye vnto syon, ther to endur for euer? That myrth and gladnesse might be w̄ them: that sorowe and woo myghte flee from them? Ye I, I am euen he/that in all thynges geueth you consolacyon.

What arte thou then, that feareste a mortall man, the chylde of man, whych goeth awaye as doth the flouze? And forgetteste the Lorde that made the, ỹ spreade out the heuens, and layd the fō dacion of the earth. But thou arte euer afrayde for the spyght of thyn oppressor, which is redye to do hayme: Where is the wrath of the oppressor? it commeth on fast/ it maketh haste to appeare: It
E shall not perysh, that yt shoulde not be able to destroye, nether shal it fayle for faute of nourisshynge. I am the Lorde thy God, that make the sea to be styl, and to rage: whose name is the lord of hostes. I shal put my word also in thy mooth, and defende the with the turnyng of my hande: that thou mayest plante the heuens, and ley the foundacions of the earth, and say vnto Syon: thou art my people.

Awake/awake, and stande vp, O
F Jerusa

Jerusalem, thou that from ỹ hand of ỹ Lord, hast dronken out the b* cuppe of his wrath: thou that hast supped of, & sucked out the stombringe cuppe to the botome. For amõge all the sonnes whom thou hast begotten, there is not one that maye holde the vp: and not one to leade the by the hande, of all the sones that thou hast norysshed. Both the sethynges are happende vnto the. but who is sory for it. Yee, destruccion, wastynge, hungre and swerde: but who hath conforted the? Thy sonnes lye comfortles at ỹ heade of euery strete lyke a tame venysõ, & are ful of ỹ terrible wrath of the Lorde, & puntschmẽt of thy God. D And therfore thou miserable & dronkẽ (how be it not wt wyn) hear this: Thus sayeth thy Lorde: thy Lorde & God, the defender of his people: Beholde, I wil take ỹ stombring cuppe out of thy hande, euen ỹ cuppe wt the dregges of mi wrath: ỹ from hence forth thou shalt neuer drinke it more, & wil put it in their hande ỹ trouble ỹt whiche haue spoken to thy soule: stoupe downe, that wem a ye go ouer the: make thi body eauen wt the grounde, and as ỹ strete to go vpõ.

The notes

a* The arme of the Lord here sygnyfyeth Chryste/ and the redempcion of the world and the putting a waye of errours/ that commeth by hym. For thys prayeth the prophet that it maye come.

b* The cuppe of the lordes wrath signifyeth the affliction that we suffre, because we haue done against the wyll of the Lorde: and the vengeaunce that he taketh of hys: for theyr offences: Psal. lxxv. b

¶ A consolation and comforth to the peple of God

¶ The .lii. Chapter.

A Vp Syon vp, take thy strength vnto the: put on thyne honest rayment O Jerusalem, thou cytye of the holy one. For from thys tyme forth, there shall no vncircumcysed ner vn cleane person come in the. Shake the from the dust, aryse and stande vp, O Jerusalem. Pluck out thy neck frõ the bonde, O thou captyue daughter Syon. For thou sayeth ỹ Lorde: ye are solde for naught, therfore shall ye be redemed also with out eny mony.

For thus hath ỹ Lorde sayde: My people wente downe afore tyme in to Egipte, there to be straungers. After ward dyd the king of the Assyrians oppresse them, for naught. And now what prof yt is it to me (sayth the Lord) ỹ my people is frely carted awaye, & brought in to heuynes by their rulers, and my a* name euer styll blasphemed: sayeth the Lorde. B But ỹ my people maye knowe my name, I my selfe wyll speache ỉthat daye. Beholde, here am I. O howbewtifull are ỹ fethe of the Embassetoure/ ỹ bringeth ỹmessage frõ the moũtaiu, apyroclameth peace; that bringeth good tydinges, & preacheth helath, & sayeth vnto Sion: Thi God is the king. Thi watchmẽ shal lyft vp their voyce, with loude voyce shall they preach of hym: for thei shal se him present, when ỹ Lord shall come agayne to Sion.

Be glad, O thou desolate Jerusalem, & reioyce together: for the Lord wil comforte his people, he wyll deliuer Jerusalem. The Lord wil make beare b* his holy arme, & shew it forth in ỹ syght of all the Gẽtiles, & all the endes of the earth shall se the sauyng health of oure God. Away, away get you out frõ thẽce and touch no vncle ane thynge. Go oute frõ amonge soch. And be cleane, ye ỹ bare ỹ c* vessell of the Lord. But ye shal not go out with sedicion, ner make hast as they ỹ fle awaye: for the Lorde shal go before you, & the God of Israel shal kepe the watch.

Beholde, my seruaunt shall deale wysely, therfore shal hebe magnyfyed, exalted and greatly honourde. Lyke as ỹ multitude shal wõdre vpõ him, becaus b* his face shalbe so deformed & not as amans face, & his bewtie lyke noman: Euen so shall the multytude of the Gẽtyles loke vnto him, & the kinges shal shut their mouthes before hi. For they that haue not bene tolde of him, shal se hi, and they ỹ herde nothig of him shal beholde him.

The notes

a* Of blasphemyng or dishonouring hys name, & what it signifyeth, ye shall fynde in Ezechi. xxxvi: e.

b* hys holy arme, for the ayde and helpe that is donne by hys holy worde: It wyll the Lorde make bare, that is open and declare and geue the belefe therof to all the Gentyles and heathen, no tonly to the Jewes. Psal. xcviii. a. Some rede the lorde hath made bare the arme of hys holy one. & c, they vnderstande thereby the strenghte, power, and vertue of Chryst.

c* That is to wete after the Chalde the vessell that was borne into babylon and brought from thence agayne. Some rede harnes. They vnderstand therby the lawe and the goodnesse and mercye of God How and what harnes the chrysten shulde beare (for vnto vs is it spoken as wel as vnto the Jues) doth sayut Paul teache vs in the pystle to the Ephesiãs

the

the.vi.Chapter,c.
d* Hys face shalbe so deformed and not as a mans face.&c. That is hys vysage shalbe more deformed then other mennes: and hys bewtye fowler then the bewty of the sonnes of men. The Whole sentence meaneth, that many men shalbe astonyed when they shal se Christ our sauioure (which was erstwhile beutiful before al the sonnes of men. Psalme.xlv.a) so wyckedly and violently intreted of the Jewes: spit vpon, skourged, crowned with thorn, and al be dlou died: yee and greatlyer humbled, contemned, & dispised, then euer was anye mortal man.

¶ The.liii. Chapter.

¶ He prophecieth cupdenly of the passion of oure Sauiour Jesus Christ.

A * Ut who geueth credence vnto our preaching? Or to whō is the arme of ỹ lorde knowen, he shal grow before the Lord lyke as a dra unche, and as a rote in a dry ground/ he shal haue nether bewty nor fauour: When we loke vpon him, there shalbe no fayrnesse: we shal haue no lust vnto him. He shalbe the most symple, and de spysed of al: which yet hath good expe rience of sorowes and infirmyties.

We shal reken him so simple and so vyle, that we shal hyde our faces from hym. How be it (of a truth) he only taketh awaye oure infirmite, and beareth our payne: Yet we shal iudg him, as though he were plaged and cast do wne of God: where as he (not with sta- B dyng) shall be wounded for oure offences, and smitten for our wickednes. For the payne of our punishment shal be layde vpon him, and with his strypes shal we be healed.

Askor vs, we go al astrate (lyke shepe) euery one a* turneth his own way. But thorow hym, the lord pardoneth al our sinnes. He shal be pained and troubled, and shal not open his mouth. He shal be led as a shepe to be slayne, yet shall he be as styl as a lambe before the shearer, and not open his mouth.

He shal be had awaye/ his cause not herde, and without eny iudgmēt: Whose generacion yet no man maye nombre/ whē he shalbe cut of from the b* grōnd C of the lyuing: Which punishment shal go vpon him/ for the transgression of my people. His graue shalbe geuen him with the condempned, and his cru cifyeng w̄ ỹ theues. Where as he dyd neuer violēce ner vnryght/ nether hath ther ben eny disceatfulnes i his mouth.

Yet hath it pleased the Lorde to smyte him with in firmyte, that when he had made hys soule an offeryng for synne, he might se lōg last ynge sed. And this deuice of the Lord shal prosperc in his hande. With trauayle and laboure of his soul, shal he obtain gret ryches My rightuous seruaūt shal w̄ his wysdō iustifye & delyuer ỹ multitude, for he shall bear awaye their synnes. Therfore wyll I geue hi the multitude for hys parte/ & he shal deuyde the strōge spoyle. because he shal geue ouer his soule to death, * & shalbe rekened amonge ỹ trāsgressours, which neuertheles shal take awaye the synnes of the multitude, and make intercessyon for the mysdoers.

The notes.

a* To turne oure owne waye, is, to do our owne wylles, & to satysfye our owne appetytes & to be geuē vp i to our owne hertes luste: as it is sayde Psal lxxxi.c. I geue them vp. &c.

b* The grōnd or lande of the lyuynge is no nother thynge than thys present lyfe, & the ground or lande wher in we lyue. Psal. cxlii. b. D

¶ Of the greate dominion of Chryst. The indignacion of God endureth but a shorte space, but his mercy is euerlasting.

¶ The.liiii. Chapter.

Therfore be glad now, thou barē ỹ bearest not. Reioyce, singe and be mery, thou ỹ A art not with chylde: For ỹ desolath hath moo childrē, then the maried wyfe, sayeth ỹ Lorde. Make thy tente wyder, and spreade out the hanginges of thyne habytaciō: spare not, laie forth thi coardes, and make fast thy stakes: for thou shalt breke out on the tyght syde and on the left, & thy sede shall haue the Gētyles in possessyon, and dwel in the desolate cities Fear not, for thou shalt not be cōfounded: Be not ashamed, for thou shalte not come to confusyon. Yee thou shalt forget the shame of thi youth, and shalt not remembre ỹ dishonoure of thy widowhead. For he ỹ made the, shalbe thi Lord and husband (whose name is the Lorde of hostes) & thyne auēger shalbe euē the holy one of Israel, ỹ Lorde of the whole worlde. For the Lorde shall call the, being as a desolate sorowfull woman, & as a yonge wyfe ỹ hath broken her wedlocke: sayeth thy God.

A lytle whyle haue I forsaken the, but with grete mercifulnes shal I take the vp vnto me. When I was angry, I hyd my face from the for a litle season/ but thorow euerlasting goodnes shall
C I pardon the saith the Lord thyne aué ger. * And this must be vnto me as the water of Noe: for as lyke I haue swo-rne that I wyl not bringe the water of Noe eny more vpō ẏ world: so haue I swor̄e that I wyl neuer be angrye w the ner reproue the: The mountaynes shal remoue, and the hylles shall fauil downe: but my louing kindnesse shall not moue, and the bonde of my peace shal not fal downe from the, sayeth the Lord thy merciful louer. Behold thou pore/ vexed, and dispysed: I wyl make thy walles of precyous stones, and the foundacion of Saphires/ thy win dowes of Chrystalle/ thy gates of fyne cleare stone, and thy borders of plesaūt stones * Yt children shal al be taught of God, and I wyl geue them plentu-
D ousnes of peace. In rightuousnes shalt thou be grounded, and be farre from oppression: for the which thou needest not be afrayed, nether for hindraunce for it shal not come nye the. Behold/ the aleaunte that was farre from the, shal dwel with the: and he that was ſōe tyme a straunger vnto the, shalbe ioy-ned with the. Behold/ I make ẏ smith that bloweth the coales in the fyre/ & he maketh a wepō after his handy wor kes. I make also ẏ waster to destroye but al the weapons ẏ are made against the, shal not prosper. And as for al tunges, that shal resist thein tudgmēt, ẏ shalt ouercōe thē & condempne the. This is the heritag of the Lordes ser uauntes, and the righteousnes that they shal haue of me, saith the Lord.

C Consolacion & comforth to the people. The frut and profet of the word of God.

C The. lv. Chapter.

A COme to the[a] * waters al ye ẏ be thursty, and ye that haue no money. Come, bye that ye maye haue to eate. Come bye[b] * wyne and my lck, without any money, or money wor th. Wherfore do ye laye out your mo-ney, for ẏ thing that fedeth not/ & spēde your labour about the thinge that sa-tisfyeth you not.

But herke rather vnto me, and ye shal eate of ẏ best, and your soule shal haue her pleasure in plentuousnes. Encline your eres and com vnto me, take hede, and your soule shal lyue. For I wyl make an euerlasting couenant w you, euen the sure mercyes of Dauid.

B Beholde, I shal geue him for a wit-nes amōg the folcke, for a Prynce and Captaynes vnto the people. Lo, thou shalt[c] * cal an vnknowen people: and a people that had no knowledge of the, shal runne vnto the: because of ẏ Lord thy God/ the holy one of Israel, which glorifieth the. Seke the Lorde whyle he maye be founde/ and call vpon hym whyle he is nye. Let the vngodly man forsake hys wayes and the vnrighte-ous his immaginactions/ and turne a-gayne vnto the Lord: so shal he be mer cyful vnto him: and to our god, for he
C is redy to forgeue. For thus sayeth the Lord: my thoughtes are not your tho-ughtes/ and youre wayes are not my wayes/ but as farre as the heauens ar heier then the earth, so farre do my wa yes exceade yours/ and my thoughtes yours.

And lyke as the rayne and snowe com meth downe from heauen, and turneth not thyther agayne / but watereth the earth/ maketh it fruitfull and grene/ ẏ it maye geue corne and bread vnto the sower: So the word also that commeth out of my mouth shal not turne againe voyde vnto me/ but shall accomplisshe my wil and prosper in the thing, wher
D to I sende it * And so shal ye goo forth with ioye, and be led with peace. The mountaines and hilles shal sing with you for ioye/ and al the trees of ẏ felde shal clappe their handes. For thornes/ ther shal growe. Fyre trees, and the Myrre tre in the stede of briers. And this shall be done to the prayse of the Lord, and for an euerlastyng token that shal not be taken awaye.

The Notes.

a * Of these waters ye haue in the Psal. xxiii. a b * The word of god is called wine and milck: wine because it reioysethe the herte, in that it pacifieth ẏ conscience, & setteth it at rest: Milck because it nory sheth & increaseth the lytle ones & young ones in the faith, as ye haue in. i. Pet. ii. a And as new born babe

bes desire the reasonable milck, &c c* To cal here, is, by preaching to bringe to the fayth. By the vnknowen people vnderstand ỹ heathē
* In the kyngdome of Christ & of the iustice of faith do we alwayes lyue in the ioye of the spirite: yet though the thinges of this world be agaynst vs.
¶ An exhortacion to iudgement & ryghtuousnes, & to the spyrytual kepinge of the Sabboth. Against Shepherdes that deuoure their flock.

¶ The.lvi. Chapter.

THus saieth the Lord: kepe equyte, and do ryghte, for my sauing health shall cō shortly, and my rightuousnes shalbe opened. Blessed is the man that doth this, and the mās childe which kepeth the same. He that taketh hede, ỹ he vnhalow not ỹ Sabboth (that is) he that kepeth hym selfe that he do no euel. Then shall not the straunger, which cleaueth to the Lord/ saye: Alas the Lord hath shut me clene out from his people. Nether shal the gelded man saye: lo, I am a drie tre.
For thus sayeth the Lord/ first vnto ỹ gelded ỹ kepeth mi Sabboth: Namely ỹ holdeth greatly of the thing that pleaseth me, and kepeth my couenaunt: Vnto them wyl I geue in my housholde & with in my walles, a better heritage & name then if they had bene called sonnes and daughters. I wyll geue them an euerlasting name, that shal not perysh. Agayne, he sayeth vnto the straūgers that are dysposed to sticke to the Lord, to serue him, and to loue his name: That they shal be no bonde men. And al they, which kepe them selues, ỹ they vnhalow not the Sabboth, namely, that they fulfyl my couenaunt: Thē wil I bring to my holye mountayne, & make them ioyful in my house of prayer. Their burnt offrynges and sacrifyces shal be accpeted vpō myne aulter for my house shalbe an house of prayer for al people.

Thus saieth the lorde god which gathereth together the scatered of Israel: ¶ I wyl bring yet another congregacīō to him. Al the beastes of the felde, and all the beastes of the wod, shal come to deuoure him. For his* watchmen are al blinde, they haue al together no vnderstanding, they ar al domme dogges not being able to barke, they are slepery: slogtish ar they, and lye snorīg: they are shāeles doges, ỹ be neuer satisfied:

The shepherdes also in like maner haue no vnderstandig but euery man turneth his owne waye, euery one after hys owne couetousnes with all hys power. Come (say they) I wyll fetch wyne, soo shall we fil our selues, that we maye be drōcke. And do to morow, like as today ye, and much more.

The notes
a* By these blynde watchmen, vnderstand the cheefe Priestes, the Scribes and pharises. & wich were the peruerters and deprauers of the lawe of god. These for fylthy lucres sake abolyshed the true seruice of God: and were the cheefe causers of the forsakyng of Israell. They were slouthfull, and sought not that wich was for the edyficacion of the people, and for the glory of God: but that which was for their owne priuate profyt and pleasure. They were slouthfull to rote out vice and to plante vertue, and dronken in the profounde and depenesse of ignorance, of pridenes of lecherousnes, and of pryde. As ofte as the prelates of the people, bishopes, Abbates: and they that auaunte them selues for religious be such there hange tha grete scourge ouer ỹ whole flocke of Christ.

The lvii. Chapter.

¶ The Iewes are rebuked for their iniury done to Christ.

BUt in the meane season the rightuous perisshethe, and no man regardeth it in his herte, Good godly people are taken awaye, and no man consydreth it. Namely: that the ryghtuous is conueyed awaye thorow the wicked: that he hym selfe might be in rest, lye quietly vpon his bedde, and lyue after his owne pleasur. Come hether ther fore ye Charmers children, * ye sonnes of the aduonterer and the whor: Wher in take ye youre pleasure? Vpon whome gape ye wyth youre mouth, and blere out youe tonge? Are ye not chyldren of adboutery and, a sede of dissimulacion? Ye take your pleasure vnder the okes/ and vnder all grene trees the childe beinge slayne in the valleyes, and dennes of stone, thy parte shallbe with the stony rockes by the ryuer: Ye euen these shalbe thy parte. For there thou hast powred meate and drinck offerynges vn to them. Shulde I ouerse that Thou hast māde thy bed vpon hy moūtaynes, thou wentst vp thether, and there hast thou slayne sacrifyces. Behīde the dores and postes hast thow set vp thy remembraunce.

When thou haddest discouered thy selfe to another then me, when thou wēt test downe and made thy bedde wyder (ꝯ is) when thou diddest carue the certeyne of yonder ydolles, louedest theyr couches: where thou sawest them.

Thou wentest streight to Kinges with oyle and diuerse oyntmentes (that is) ꝯ hast sente thy messaungers farre of/ and yet art thou fallen into the pyt therby. Thou hast had trouble for ꝯ multitued of thyne owne wayes, yet saydest thow neuer: I wyll leaue of. Thou thinkeste to haue lyfe (or health) of thy selfe, and therfore thou beleuest not that thou arte sycke. For when wylt thou be abashed or feare seyng, thou hast broken the promyse / and remembrest not me nether hast me in thyn hert? Thynckest thou, that I also wyll holde me Peace (as afore time) that thou feareste me not Yee verely I wyl declare thy goodnes and thy worckes but they shall not profyt the when thou cryest lett the chosen heape delyuer thee. But the wynde shall take them all awaye and carye them in the ayre. Neuertheles, they that put theyr trust in me/ shall enherite the lande, and haue my holy hyll in possession,

And therfore thus he sayth: Make redy, make ready, and clense the streat/ take vp what ye can out of the waye ꝯ leadeth to my people. For thus sayethe the hye and excellent/ euen he that dwelleth in euerlastingnesse, whose name is the holy one: * I dwell hye aboue and in the sanctuary, and with hym also that D is of a contrite and humble spyrite: that I maye heale a troubled mynde and a contrite herte: For I chyde not euer, & am not wroth without ende. But the blastinge goth fro me, though I make the breath. I am wroth wythe hym for his couetousnes and lust. I smite him, I hyde me/ and am angry, when he turneth hym selfe, and foloweth the bywaye of hys owne hert. But if I may se his tyght waye agayne I make him whole/ I leade hym and restore hi vnto thē whome he maketh ioyfull, and that were sory for him. I make the frutes of thankesgeuig. I geue peace vnto them that are farre of and to thē that are nye say I the Lord, that make hym whole: But the Wycked are lyke the ragynge see, that can not rest / whose waterfo-meth with the myre and grauel. Euen so the wycked haue no peace, sayeth my God.

¶ The Lord, by the mouth of the Prophete (repro ueth the people for their fastynges, whych were full of hypocrefy.

¶ The. lviii. Chapter.

AND therefore crye now, as loud as thou canst. Leaue not of / lifte vp thy voyce lyke a trompet, and shewe my people their offences, & the house of Jacob their synnes: For they seke me dayly and wyl knowe my wayes, euen as it were a people ꝯ dyd ryght/ and had not forsaken the statutes of their god. ¶ They argue with me concernyng right iudgement, and wyl pleate at ꝯ lawe with their god. Wher fore fast we (say they) and thou seyeste it not: we put our lyues to straytnes, and thou regardest it not: nota

Behold, when ye * fast, poure luste temaineth styl: for ye do no lesse bfolēce to your detters: lo ye fast to stryke and debate, and to smyte hym wyth youre fist that speaketh vnto you. B vigmanly

Ye fast not (as some tyme (that youre voyce might be heard aboue. Thincke ye this fast pleseth me, that a mā shuld chasten hym selfe for a daye/ and to wrythe his head aboute lyke an hoke in an hearry cloth and, to lye vpon ꝯ earth Should that be called fastyng, or aday that pleaseth the lord? But this fastynge pleaseth not me, tyl the time be ꝯ lowse him out of bondag, that is in thi- C daughter: that thou breake the ooth of wicked bargynnes, that thou let ꝯ oppressed go fre, and take from them al maner of burthens: It pleaseth not me, tyl thou deale thy bread to thy hongrye, and bryng ꝯ poore fatherles home into thy house, when thou seist the naked that thou couer hym, & hyde not thy face from thine owne flesh.

Then shal thy light breake forth as the morynge, and thy health florysshe tyght shortly: thy rightuousnes shall D go before the, and the glorye of ꝯ lord e shal embrace the.

Then yf thou calleste, the lorde shal answere the: if thou cryest, he shal saye: heare I am. Yef thou layest awaye thy thy burthens, and holdest thi fingers, and ceasest from blasphemous talking, yf thou hast compassion vpon the hongry, and refreshest the troubled soule: Then shal thy light springe out in the darcknes, & thy darcknes shalbe as ỹ noone daye. The Lord shal euer be thy gyde, and satisfi the desyre of thyne hert, and fyl thy bones with mayre, Thou shalt be like a frech watred garde, and lyke ỹ fountayne of water, that neuer leaueth running. Then the places that haue euer bene waste, shal be buylded of the: there shalt thou laye a foundacion for many kynredes. Thou shalte bee called the maker vp of hedges, and the buylder againe of ỹ waye of the Sabboth.

D nota yf tryuo ỹ fote

Yee yf thou turne thy fete from the Sabboth, so that thou do not the thing which pleaseth thy selfe in my holi dai: then shalt thou be called vnto ỹ pleasaunte, holy, and, glorypus Sabboth of the Lord, where thou shalt be in honoure: so ỹ thou do not after thine owne ymagynacion, neyther seke thine owne wyll, ner speake thyne owne wordes. Then shalt thou haue thy pleasure in the Lord, which shal cary ỹ hye aboue the earth, and fede the wyth the herytage of Jacob the father: for ỹ Lordes owne mouth hath so promysed.

The notes

a * This fast remaynyth yet among the cristen, for true chastenyng of the body and abstenyng frō vice wyl We yet nether vnderstande ner heare of: but stil thincke w the Jewes both that we do god a greate pleasure when we faste, and also that we then fast, whn we abstayne from one thing & fyll oure belyes w another. And verely in this thing doth our superstition excede the superstition of the Jewes. For we neuer reade that they euer toke it for a fast, to obtayn frō flesh, and eate ether flesh or white meate (as they cal it) a Beholde, the Lordes hand is not so shortened ỹ it can not help, nether is his eare so stopped that it mate not heare. But your misdedes haue seperated you from youre God, & your sinnes hyde his face from you/ ỹ he heareth you not. For your hādes ar defyled with blood, and your fyngers with vnrighteousnes: Your lippes speake lesinges, and your tong letteth out wickednes. No man regardeth righteousnes, and no mā iudgeth truly. Euery man hopeth in vayne thynges, and imageneth dysceate, conceaueth werines, and bringeth forth euel: They * brede cockatrice egges, & weue the spyders webb. * Who so eateth of their egges, dieth. * But if one treade vpon them, there commeth vp a serpent. * Their webbe maketh no cloth and they maye not couer them with their labour. * Their dedes are the dedes of wickednes, and ỹ worcke of robbery is in their handes. Their fete runne to euel, and they make hast to shed innocent bloud. Their councels are wicked councels, harme & destruccion are in their wayes. But the waye of peace they knowe not. In their goynges is no equite, their wayes are so croked, that who so euer goeth therin, knoweth nothyng of peace.

¶ The Lord is myghty to saue, and ready to heare our requestes.

¶ The. lix. Chapter.

nota innocent blo

And this is the cause ỹ equite is so farre from vs, and that righteousnes commeth not nye vs. We loke for lyghte, lo it is darckenesse: for the morenyng shyne, se, we walck in the darcke. We grope like the blind vpon ỹ wall, we grope euen as one ỹ hath non eyes. We stomble at the none daye, as though it were toward night: i the fallyng places, lyke men that are half deed. We roare al like Beares, and mourne styl like doues. We loke for equite, but there is none; for healthe, but it is farre from vs. For our offences are manye before the, and our synnes testifie agaynst vs. Yee we must confesse ỹ we offēd, and knowledg that we do amis: Namely transgresse and dissemble agaynst the Lorde, and fall awaye from oure God: vsyng presumptuous and traditious ymaginacions, and castyng false matters in our hertes. And therfore is equyte gone aspde, and righteousnes standeth farre of: truth is fallē downe in the strete & ỹ thing ỹ is plain & opē, may not be shewed. Yee ỹ trueth is laide in prison, and he ỹ departeth hym self from euel, must be spoyled.

C

When the Lord saw this, it displeased him sore, that ther was no where eny equyte. He sawe also/ that there was no man, whiche had pitie therof/oz was greued at it. And he hild him by his owne power, and cleaued to his owne righteousnes.* He put ryghtuos nes vpon hi foz a brest plate, and set the helmet of healthe vpon his heed. He put on wrathe in steade of clothing, and to-ke gelousye aboute hym foz a Cloake: (lyke as when a man goeth wrothfully to recompence hys enemyes, and too be aduenged of hys aduersaries.) Namelye, that he myghte recompence and rewarde the Ilandes wherthorowe the name of ỹ lozd might be feared, from ỹ rysynge of the sunne: and hys magesty, D vnto the goyng downe of the same.

Foz he shall come as a violent water streame, which the wynd of the lozd hath moued. But vnto Syon ther shall come a redemer, & vnto thē in Jacob ỹ turne frō wickednes, sayth the Lozd. I wyl make thys couenaunt w thē (saith ỹ lozde(: My spzete ỹ is come vpon the,
& the wozdes which I haue put in thy mouth, shal neuer go out of thi mouth, noz out of ỹ mouth of thy childers chil drē, frō this tyme forth foz euermoze.

The notes

a* To bzede cokatryce egges/is/to go aboute that which is mischeuous and wycked. And to weue, ỹ spyders webb/is, to go aboute vayne and tryflynge thynges, whyche are of noo valure: although they seame neuer so excellent vnto the doers.

* He that eateth of a cokatryce egge dyeth so they that delyte in euell wozckes, oz that consente vnto them shall perish.

* And yf a man at vnware, treade on theyr egges, & so presse out the cokatryce, & be touched, he shalbe kylled of her: euen so shall the thoughtes of the euell bzynge them to death.

* As nomān maketh clothes of ỹ spyders web, so shal wicked wozckes enryche no man, noz profyt him in the daye of iudgemente, when we must go in vntoo the feast in the weddynge garment, Math. xxii. b

* By the deades of wickednes vnderstand gyle-full and craftie dedes: And by the deads of robberi, violente and tiranno us deades. The texte sayth ỹ theyr dedes are the deades of robbery because they helpe no man with theyr handes. But do rather to be a begyle the pooze: so are they wythout charitie, ye so fele they not what charytie requyreth on thē.

¶ A consolacion and comfozthe to Jerusalem.

The lx. Chapter

And therfoz get ỹ vp betyme foz thi light cometh & ỹglory of ỹ Lozd shal rise vp vpon the. Foz lo, whyle the darcknes & cloud couereth ỹ erth & ỹ the people, ỹ lozd shall shewe the lyght, & your glozy shal be sene in ỹ. The gentyles shalcome to thy lyght and kynges to the bzightnes that spzingeth fozthe vpon the. Lyft vp thyne eyes, and looke rounde aboute the: All these gather them selues, and come to ỹ Sonnes shall come vnto ỹ frō farre, & doughters shall gather them selues to the on euery syde. When thou seist this, ỹ shalt marueil exceadingly, and thyne hert shalbe opened: when the power of ỹ se shallbe cōuerted vnto the (ỹ is) when the strength of the Gentyles shal come vnto the. The multitude of B Camels shal couer ỹ, the dzomedaries of Madiā & Epha. All they of Saba shal come, bzinginge golde & incense, & shewing the pzayse of the Lozde. All ỹ catel of Cedar shalbe gathered vnto ỹ the rāmes of Nabatoth shall serue the, to be offred vpon mine aulter which I haue chosen/ & i the house of my glozy which I haue garnyshed. a* But what are these that flie here lyke the cloudes, & as the doues flienge to their wyndo-wes? The Iles also shall gather them vnto me/and specially the shippes of ỹ see: that they maye bzyng the sōnes frō farre/and their syluer and their golde with them/vnto the name of the Lozde thi God/vnto the holy one of Israell/ ỹ hath glozyfied the. Straūgers shall buylde vp thy wales/and their kinges shal do the seruyce. Foz when I am C angrie/I smyte the: & when it pleaseth me/I pardon the. Thi gates shal stāde open styl, both daye and night, & neuer be shut, that the hooste of the Gentiles maie come, and that their kinges maie be bzought vnto the. Foz euery people & kyngdome that serueth not the, shall pezische, and be distroyed w the swerde. The glozy of libanus shal come vnto the: b* fyre trees, Bores & Cedre to-gether, to garnish ỹ place of my Sanctuary, foz I wyll glozifye the place of my fete. Wozouer those shall come knelyng vnto the, ỹ haue bered the: & all they that despised the, shall fal downe at thy fote. Thou shalt be called the citie of the Lozde, the holy Syō of Israell. Because thou hast ben forsaken & hated/so that noman went thozow ỹ: I wyl make the glozyous foz euer, and euer/& ioyful throw out al posteritees Thou shalt sucke the mylck of ỹ Gentiles/and kinges bzestes shal fede the. And thou shalt knowe that I the Lozde am thy Sauyoure and defender, the D

mygh

myghty one of Jacob.
For brasse, wyll I geue the golde, and for syluer: for wod brasse, and for stones syon. I wyl make peace thy ruler, and ryghtuousnes thine officer.
Violence and robberye shall neuer be herde of in thy land, nether harme and destruccyon with in thy borders. Thy walles shalbe called healthe, and thy gates the praise of god. * The Sunne shal neuer be thy daye light/ & ỹ lighte of ỹ Moone shal neuer shyne vnto ỹ: but ỹ lord hi self shalbe thyne euerlasting lyght/ & thy God shalbe thy glory.
* Thy Sunne shal neuer go downe, thy Moone shall not be taken awaie/ B for the Lord him selfe shalbe thy euerlastig lyght, & thy sorowful dayes shalbe rewarded the. Thy people shalbe al godly/ and possesse the lande for euer: ỹ flour, of my planting, the worck of mi handes, wherof I wyl reioyce. The yongest and lest shal growin to a thousande/ and the symplest in to a stronge people. I the Lorde shal shortly bryng thy thyng to passe in his tyme.

The Notes.

a * In these wordes is the readynes and promtnes of them that obey the word of god declared. As though he shuld saye: Euē as fast as the cloudes comes go, and as swyftely as doues flie to their nest so roū dily wil the faithful leaue al and couple thē selues to the church, at the voyce of Christ & of his teachers.
b * By the fyre trees & such lyke are signified Pryn ces & rulers ỹ gouerne ỹ people, as before in ỹ .ii. c
As who shuld say: euē the most excellent mē shalbe adioyned vnto ỹ church, & healpe much to the furtheraunce therof.
¶ He prophecyeth that Christ shalbe annoynted, & sent to preache.

¶ The .lxi. Chapter.

A * The spyrete of the lord god is w̄ me, for the Lord hath anoynted me/ & sent me/ to preach good tydings vnto the poore, ỹ I myght bring vp the woūded hertes, I mthgt preach delyueraunce to ỹ captyue, and open ỹ prison to them that are bounde: that I myght declare ỹ acceptable yeare of ỹ Lord, and the daye of the vengeaunce of our God: that I myght comforte al them that are in heuynesse/ ỹ I myght geue vnto them that mourn in Sion, bewty in the stede of ashes/ ioyful oynt ment for sighinge, the pleasaunte raymēt for an heuye mynde: That they myght be called excellent in ryghtuousnes/ a plantynge of the Lorde for him to reioyce in.
They shal buylde the longe rough wyldernes, and set vp the olde deserte. They shal repayre ỹ waste places, and such as haue bene boyd thorow out many generacyōs. Straungers shal stād and fede your cattel, and ỹ Aleauntes shalbe your plowmen and reapers.
But ye shalbe named the prestes of the Lorde, and men shal cal you the seruauntes of oure god.
Ye shal enioye the goodes of the Gentiles and triumph in their substaunce: For your grete reproof and shame, shal they haue ioye that ye mate haue part with them, For they shall haue double possessiō in their land, and euerlasting B ioye shalbe with them. For I ỹ Lorde, which loue right & hate robbery (though it were offred me) shal make their worckes ful of faythfulnes, and make an euerlasting couenaunt with them.
Their sede also & their generacion shalbe knowne among the gentiles, & amonge the people. Al they that se the shal knowe ỹ they are ỹ hye blessed sed of ỹ Lord. And therfore I am toyful in ỹ Lord, & my soul reioyseth in my god. For he shal put vpon me the a * garmēt of healeth, and couer me with the mātle of ryghtuousnes. He shal deck me lyke a bryde grome, & as bryd ỹ hath her apparel vpō her. For like as ỹ groūd bringeth forth frut, & as the gardē shutteth forth sede: So shal ỹ lord god cause ryghtuousnes, and the feare of god to flourish forth before al the Heathen.

The notes

The garment of healeth is faith that worketh charitie: which is called the weddinge garment. Mat. xxii. b. This garment (sayth ỹ Prophet) that christ put vpon the Church. For all that beleue in God: shalbe saued thorow Christ. and be hys beloued children by election & iustified by his bloud. Eph. i. b.
¶ A prophecy of the comming of Christe

¶ The .lxii. Chapter.

For syons sake therfore wil I not holde my tong, and for Jerusalēs sake I wyll not ceasse: vntil their ryghtuousnes breke forth as ỹ shyning light, and their helth as a burnig lāpe Then shall the Gentyles se thy ryghtuousnes ād al kynges thy glory. Thou shalte be named with a newe name, which the mouthe of the Lorde shal shew. Thou shalte be a crowne in the hande of the Lorde, and a gloryous garlande in in the hande of thy God. From thys tyme forth thou shalt neuer be called the forsake, & thy land shal nomore be called wyldernes. But ỹ shalt be called a* Hephzibah, and thy land b* Beula: for the Lord loueth the, and thy land shal be inhabyted. And lyke as a yong mā taketh a doughter to mariage, so shall GOD marye hym selfe vnto thy sonnes. And as a Brydgrome is gladde of hys Bryde, so shall GOD reioyse ouer the.

C I wyll set watchmen vpon thy wales (O Ierusalem) which shall nether cesse day nor night to preache the lord. And ye also shall not keape hym close, nor leaue to speake of hym vntyll Ierusalem be set vp, and made the prayse of the worlde. The Lorde hath sworne by his right hand, and hys stronge arme, that from thence forthe he will not geue thy corne to be meate for thyne enemies/ nor thy wyne wherin thou hast laboured) to be drinck for the *straungers. But they that haue gathered in the corne, shall eate it, and geue thanckes to the Lorde: and they that haue borne in the vyne, shall drinke it in the court of my sanctuary.

D Stande back, and departe asunder, ye that stande vnder the gate: make rome ye people, repayre the stretes, and take away the stones, and set out a token for the people. Beholde, the Lorde proclamed in ỹ endes of the worlde: * tel the Daughter syon: se, thy saluation cōmeth, beholde, he bryngeth hys treasure with hym, & his workes go before hi For they whō ỹ lord deliuereth, shalbe called the holy people: and as for the, ỹ shalte be named the greatly occuppyed/ and not the forsaken.

The notes.

a* That is, my pleasure in her.
b* ỹ is the maryed. For ỹ church is spouse of ỹ lord
*Ebr. Straungechylderen.

Of the redemption promysed to the people.

The lxiii. Chapter.

A WHat is he this, ỹ commeth from Edom, with stayned reade clothes of Bosra: (which is so costlye cloth) & cōmeth i so nimbli wt al his strength: I am he that teacheth ryghtuousnes, and am of power to helpe.

Wherfore then is thy clothinge read/ and thy raiment lyke hys that treadeth in the wyne presse? I haue trodden the presse my selfe alone, and of all people/ there was not one with me. Thus haue I trodde downe myne enemyes in my wrath, and set mi fete vpon them in mi indignacyon: And their bloude sprang vpon my cloothes, and so haue I stayned al my rayment. For the daye of vengeaunce that I haue taken in hand/ and the yeare of my delyueraunce is come. I loked aboute me, & there was no man to shewe me eny helpe. I felt downe and no man helde me vp. Thē I helde me by myne owne arme/ and my feruētnesse sustayned me. And thus haue I troden downe the people in my wrath/ and bathed them in my displeasure: In so moch ỹ I haue shed theyr bloude vpon the earth. nota wrath & displeasure

I wyl declare the goodnesse of the Lorde/ye and the prayse of the lorde for al that he hath geuen vs/ for the greate good that he hath done for Israell: which he hath gyuen them of his owne fauoure, and according to the multytude of hys louyng kyndesses. For he sayde: These no doute wyl be my people/ and no chrystyng children/ and so he was their sauyoure. In theyr troubles he forsoke them not, but the angel that went forth from his presence deliuered them: Of vere loue and kindnesse that he had vnto them, redemed he them. He hath borne them/ and caried them vp euer/lence the worlde begāne. But after they prouoked hym to wrath and vexed hys holy mynde, he was their enemye, and fought agaynst thē him selfe. Yet remembred he ỹ olde tyme of Moses and hys people: How he brought them from the water of the see, as a shepherde doth wyth hys shepe: how he had geuen his holy spirite amonge thē: how he had led Moses by the right hande wyth hys glorious arme: how he had deuided the water before thē (wherby he gat him selfe an euerlasting name) how he led them i the depe, as an horse is led in the plaine, that thei shulde not stomble. The spirite of the Lord led thē, as a tame beast goeth in the felde.

D

G

D

Thus

Thus (O God) haste thou led thy people, to make thy selfe a glozyous
D name with al.
*Loke downe then from heauen, and beholde the dwellyng place of thy sanctuarye and thy glozy. ¶ How is it, ỹ thy gelously, thy strength, the multitud of thy mercies and thy louing kindnesse, wyl not be entreted of vs: Yet art thou our father: Foz Abzaham knoweth vs not, nether is Israel acquaynted with vs. But thou Lozd art our father and redemer, and thy name is euerlasting O Lozd wherfoze hast thou led vs out of the waye: wherfoze hast thou herdened our hertes, that we feare the not: Be at one with vs agayne/ foz thy seruauntes sake that are of the generacõ of thin heritage. Thy people hath had but litle of thy Sanctuary in possessyõ, foz our enemyes haue taken it in: And we are become euen as we were from ỹ begynnynge: but thou art not their lozde, foz they haue not called vpon thi name.

¶ The pzophet (vnder the person of the Iewes) bewayleth their exyle & bannishment. Manes right wisnes is lik a cloth fyled wyth the floures of a woman.

¶ The .lxiiii. Chapter.

O that thou woldest cleue ỹ heauen in sonder, and come downe: that the mountaynes myght melte awaye at thy pzesence, lyke as at an hote fyze: and that the malycyous myght boyle, as ỹ water doth vpon the fyz: Wherby thy name myght be knowne amõge thyne enemyes, and that the Gentiles might trẽble befoze the. That thou mightest come downe w̃ thy wonderous straũge wozckes, then shulde ỹ hylles melt at thy pzesence. Foz sence the begynnynge of the wozld there was none (except thou O God) that hearde oz perceaued, *nether hath ant eye sene what thou dost foz them, that put theiz trust in the. Thou helpest hi ỹ doth rigB ht wyth cherefulnesse, and them that thynke vpon thy wayes. But lo, thou art angrye, foz we offende/ and haue B bene euer in synne) * and there is not one whole.
We are al as an vncleane thing, & al our righteousnesses are as the clothes stained with ỹ floures of a womã: we fall euerychone as the leafe, foz oure synnes cary vs away lyke ỹ wynde. There is no man that calleth vpon thi name, that standeth vp to take holde by the. Therfoze hidest thou thi face from vs, & consumest vs, be cause of our sinnes. But now O Lozde, thou father of ou- G tes: *we are the claye, and thou art our potter, and we al are the wozcke of thy handes. Be not to foze dyspleased (O Lozde) & kepe not our offences to long in thi remembzaunce, but considze that we al are thy people. The cytyes of thy Sanctuary lye waste, Syõ is a wylderneße, and Jerusalem a desert. Oure holi house which is oute bewtys where our fathers praised the, is bzent vp: yee all oure cõmoditties and pleasures are wasted awaye. Wilt thou not be intreated (lozde) foz all this: Wylt thou holde thi peace, and scourge vs so foze:

¶ The keiycytye of Jerusalem, and the callynge of the Heathen.

¶ The .lxv. Chapter.

*Hey shall seke me, that hither to haue not asked foz A me: thei shal finde me, that hytherto haue not sought me. Then shal I saye immedtatly to the people that neuer called vpon my name: I am here, I am here: Foz thus long haue I euer holden out my handes to an vnfaythfull people/ that go not the ryght waye, but after their owne ymaginacyõs: To a people ỹ is euer dekying me to my face * they make their oblacyons in gardens, and their smoke vppon Aulters of bzicke, they lurke amonge the graues, and lye in the dẽnes allnight.

*They eat swynesflesh, and vncleane bzoth is i their vessels. If thou cõmest nye thẽ, thei saye: touch me not, foz B I am holyer then thou. All these men when I am angry, shalbe turned to smoke and fyze, that shall burne foz euer. Beholde it is wzyten befoze my face, I shal not be kozgotte, but recõpensed. * I shal reward it thẽ into their bosome: I meane youre mysdedes, and the mysdedes of your fathers together (sayth ỹ lozd Lorde) which have made smokes vpō the mountaynes, and blaspheamed me vpon the hylles: therfore wil I mesure their old dedes into their bosō againe.

The prophecy.

Moreouer thus sayeth the Lorde: lyke as when one wold gather holt grapes, men saie vnto him: breake it not of for it is holy: euē so wyll I do also for mi seruaūtes sakes, that I will not destroye them all. But I wil take a sede out of Jacob, and out of Juda one, to take possession of my hyll. My chosen shall possesse these thinges, and mi seruauntes shal dwell there. Saron shalbe a shepefolde, and ỹ valley of Achor shal geue the stallynge for the catell of my people, that seare me. *But as for you, ye are they, that haue forsaken the Lorde, and forgotten my holy hyl. Ye haue set vp an aulter vnto fortune, and geuen rych drinckofferings vnto treasure. Therfore wyll I nombre you with the swerde, that ye shal be destroyed all together. For when I called, no man gaue me answere: when I spake, ye herkende not vnto me, but did whickednes before myne eyes, and chose the thynge that pleased me not. Therfore thus sayeth the Lorde God: Be holde, my seruauntes shal eate, but ye shal haue honger. Beholde, my seruauntes shal drincke, but ye shal suffre thurste. Beholde, my seruanntes shal be mery, but ye shal be confounded. Beholde, mi seruauntes shal reioyce for very quyetenesse of hert: But ye shal crye for sorow of hert, and complayne for veration of mynde. Youre name shal not be sworn by amonge mi chosen, for God the Lorde shal slaye you, & call his seruauntes by an othere name. Who so reioyseth vpon earth, shal reioyse in ỹ true God: And who so sweareth vpon earth, shal sweare in the true God. For the olde emnyte shall be forgotten / and taken awaye oute of my syght. For lo, I shal make a new heauen, and a new earth. And as for the olde, they shal neuer be thought vpon, ner kepte in mynde: but men shalbe glad and euermore reioyse, for the thinges, that I shal do.
For why: Beholde, I shal make a ioyfull Jerusalā, yee I mi self wil *reioyse with Jerusalem, and be glad with my people: And the voyce of weppynge and waylyng shal not be herde in her/ from thēce forth. *There shall neuer be chylde ner olde man, ỹ haue not their ful dayes But whē the chylde cometh to an hūdreth yeare olde * it shal dye. *And yf he that is an hūdreth ye are of age dowrōge, he shalbe cursed. Thei shalt builde houses, and dwel in them: they shal plante vyneyards, and eate ỹ frute of them. They shal not buylde, & another possesse: they shal not plante, & another earte: But the lyfe of my people shalbe lyke a tre, and so shal the worcke of their handes.
My chosen shall lyue longe, they shall not laboure in vayne, ner begett wyth trouble: for they are the hye blessed sede of the Lorde, and their frutes with thē. And it shalbe, that or euer they call/ I shal answere them. Whyle they are yet but thincking how to speake, I shal heare them. *The wolff and the lam be shal fede together, and ỹ lion shal eate haye lyke the bullock. *But earth shalbe the serpentes meate. There shal no man hurte ner slaye another, in al my holy hil/ sayeth the Lorde.

The notes,

a* God is conuted to reioyce when the people folowyth his minde and wyl, and that he therfore doeth them good, and geueth them his benefytes. A like saying haue ye in Jere. xxxij. g. I wyl haue a lust & pleasure to do them good. &c.
b* There shal nether be child nor olde man. &c. The meaning is: There shal no man be delyted in the vayne hope of this mortal lyfe. They that be but euen younge of age, that haue profeted in faith and holy workes, and that loue not thys presente lyfe shall thinke them selues oldeynough: And that for the cōtemplacion & desire of the lyfe to come, whiche they knowe right wel shalbe much better.
c* Some read He shalbe counted ynough.
d* And yf he that is an hudreth yeare of age. &c
The prophet meaneth hereby ỹ all though the wycked come to an exceding great age, yet thinke they ỹ they haue not lyued ynough, so shal their dampnacyon be the greater.
e* The wolfe and the lambe shal fede together, &c. The meanyng is, that the moost wicked and cruell men shal at the commig of Christ agre with ỹ good & pesable: And that the Gentiles (which for their beastly lyuinge, are often signified vnder the name of beastes) shalbe at vnyte withe the faithful, and ỹ one lyue louingly e with the other Wout stryfe. The very same saying haue ye before in the xi. a & b f* But earth shalbe the serpentes meate, ỹ is, with earth shal ỹ serpē be content, & nether sting mā, nor hurt him wyth her venom.

The.lxvi. Chapter.

God dwelleth not in temples made by mannes hande. He despyseth sacrifices done without mercy & fayth. God comforteth them that ar troubled for his sake. Among the Christen, the Sabboth is contynuall.

Thus

satisfied.

Ye shall taste, and haue delite in the plenteousnesse of her power. For thus sayeth the Lorde: beholde, I wyll lete peace in to her, lyke a water floude, and the myght of the Heythen lyke a flowynge streame. Then shall ye be borne vpon her sydes, and be ioyful vpon her knees. For like as a chylde is comforted of his mother, so shal I comfort you, and ye shalbe comforted in Ierusalem. And when ye se thys; youre herte shall reioyse, and youre bones shall florysh lyke an herbe.

D

Thus shall the hande of the Lorde be knowne amonge his seruauntes/ and his indignacyon amonge hys enemyes. For beholde, the Lorde shal com with fyre, and hys charet shall be like a whyrl wynde, that he maye recõpence his vengeance in hys wrath and his indignacyon wyth the flame of fyre. For the Lorde shall iudge all flesh with the fyre and wyth his swerd, and there shal be a greate nombre slaine of the Lord. Soch as haue made them selues holy and cleane in the gardens/ and those that haue eaten swyne flesh, myce, and other abhomynacyons, shall be taken awaye together, sayeth the Lorde. For I wyll come to gather al people and tõges wyth their workes and imaginacyons: these shal com, and se my glory. Unto thẽ shall I geue a token, and sende certaine of them (that be deliuered) amõg the Gentiles: in to Celycia, Affrica and Libya (where men can handle bowes) in to Italy also and Grekelande.

The Iles farre of, that haue not herde speake of me, & haue not sene my glory, shal preach my prayse amonge the Gentiles and shal bryng al youre brethren for an offrynge vnto the Lorde, out of all people, vpon horses, charrettes and horle litters, vpon Mules and cartes to Ierusalem my holy hyl (sayeth the Lorde) lyke as the chyldren of Israel bryng the offrynge in clean vessels, to the house of ỹ Lorde.

E

And I shall take out certayne of thẽ for to be Preastes and Leuytes, sayeth the Lorde.

A THus sayeth the Lord, Heauen is my sete, and the earth is my fote stole. * Where shall now the house stande that ye wyll buylde vnto me? And wher shalbe ỹ place, ỹ I wyll dwel in? As for these thinges my hand hath made them al, and they are al created, sayeth the Lorde. Which of them shal I then regarde? Euen hym that is of a lowly troubled spyrete, and stãdeth in awe of my wordes. For who so slayeth an oxe for me/ doth me so greate dishonoure, as he that kylleth a man. He that kylleth a shepe for me/ choketh a dog. He ỹ brigeth me meat offriges, offreth swynes blud: Who so maketh me a memorial of in cense prayseth the thinge that is vnright. Yet take they soch wayes i hande, and their soule delyteth in these abominacyons.

Therfore wyll I also haue pleasure in laughynge thẽ to scorne, & the thing that they feare, wyll I bringe vpõ thẽ. For whẽ I called, no mã gaue answer: when I spake they woelde not heare: But did wickednesse before mine eyes, and chose ỹ thinges that displease me. Heare the worde of God all ye, that feare the thing which he speaketh Youre brethrẽ that hate you, and cast you out for my names sake, saye: Lett the Lord magnyfye him self, that we maye se youre gladnesse, and yet they shalbe confounded.

B

For as touchyng thecytie and the tempel. I heare the voyce of the Lord/ that wyl re warde, and recompence his enemyes: lyke as when a wyfe bryngeth forth a man chyld, or euer she suffre the payne of the byrth and anguysh ofe the trauayle. Who euer herde or sawe soch thynges? doth the grounde beare in one daye? or are the people borne all at once, as Syon beareth her sõnes: For thus sayeth the Lord: Am I he that maketh other to beare, and beare not my self? Am not I he that beareth, and maketh baren: sayeth thy God. Reioise with Ieru salem, and be glad wyth her/ al ye that loue her. Be ioiful wyth her/ al ye that mourned for her. For ye shal sucke cõforte out of her brestes, and be

C

for

THus sayeth the Lord, Heauen is my sete, and the earth is my fote stole. * Where shall now the house stande that ye will buylde vnto me? And wher shalbe ỹ place, ỹ I wyll dwell in? As for these thinges my hand hath made them al, and they are al created, sayeth the Lorde. Which of them shal I then regarde? Euen hym that is of a lowly troubled spyrete, and stãdeth in awe of my wordes. For who so slayeth an oxe for me/doth me so greate dishonoure, as he that kylleth a man. He that kylleth a shepe for me/ choketh a dog. He ỹ brigeth me meat offriges, offreth swynes blud: Who so maketh me a memorial of in cense prayseth the thinge that is vnright. Yet take they soch wayes i hande, and their soule delyteth in these abominacyons.

Therfore wyll I also haue pleasure
B in laughynge thẽ to scorne, & the thing that they feare, wyll I bringe vpõ thẽ. For whẽ I called, no mã gaue answer: when I spake they woelde not heare: But did wickednesse before mine eyes, and chose ỹ thinges that displease me. Heare the worde of God all ye, that feare the thing which he speaketh Youre brethrẽ that hate you, and cast you out for my names sake, saye: Lett the Lord magnyfye him self, that we maye se youre gladnesse, and yet they shalbe confounded.

For as touchyng thecytte and the tempel. I heare the voyce of the Lord/ that wyl re warde, and recompence his enemyes: lyke as when a wyfe bryngeth forth a man chyld, or euer she suffre the payne of the byrth and anguysh ofe
C the trauayle. Who euer herde or sawe soch thynges? doth the grounde beare in one daye? or are the people borne all at once, as Syon beareth her sõnes: For thus sayeth the Lord: Am I he that maketh other to beare, and beare not my self? Am not I he that beareth, and maketh baren: sayeth thy God. Reioise with Jerusalem, and be glad wyth her/ al ye that loue her. Be ioiful wyth her/ al ye that mourned for her. For ye shal sucke cõforte out of her brestes, and be satisfied.

Ye shall taste, and haue delite in the plenteousnesse of her power. For thus sayeth the Lorde: beholde, I wyll lete peace in to her, lyke a water floude, and the myght of the Heythen lyke a flowynge streame. Then shall ye be borne vpon her sydes, and be ioyful vpon
D her knees. For like as a chylde is comforted of his mother, so shal I comfort you, and ye shalbe comforted in Jerusalem. And when ye se thys; youre herte shall reioyse, and youre bones shall florysh lyke an herbe.

Thus shall the hande of the Lorde be knowne amonge his seruauntes/ and his indignacyon amonge hys enemyes. For beholde, the Lorde shal com with fyre, and hys charet shall be like a whyrl wynde, that he maye recõpence his vengeance in hys wrath and his indignacyon wyth the flame of fyre. For the Lorde shall iudge all flesh with the fyre and wyth his swerd, and there shal be a greate nombre slaine of the Lord. Soch as haue made them selues holy and cleane in the gardens/ and those that haue eaten swyne flesh, myce, and other abhomynacyons, shall be taken awaye together, sayeth the Lorde. For I wyll come to gather al people and tõges wyth their workes and imaginacyons: these shal com, and se my glory. Unto thẽ shall I geue a token, and sende certaine of them (that be deliuered) amõg the Gentiles: in to Celycia, Affrica and Libya (where men can handle bowes) in to Italy also and Grekelande.

The Iles farre of, that haue not herde speake of me, & haue not sene my glory, shal preach my prayse amonge
E the Gentiles and shal bryng al youre brethren for an offrynge vnto the Lorde, out of all people, vpon horses, charrettes and horle litters, vpon Mules and cartes to Jerusalem my holy hyl (sayeth the Lorde) lyke as the chyldren of Israel bryng the offrynge in clean vessels, to the house of ỹ Lorde.

And I shall take out certayne of thẽ for to be Preastes and Leuytes, sayeth the Lorde.

for

For lyke as the new heauen and the new earth whiche I wyl make, shall be fast stablysshed by me: (saith the Lord) So shall youre seade and youre name continue[b]* and there shalbe a new mone for the other, ād a new Sabbath for the other, and al *flesh shall comme to worshippe before me (sayth the Lorde) And they shall go forth and loke vpon the carions of them that haue trāgressed agaynst me for theyr wormes shall not dye, neither shall theyr fyre be quenched, and all fleshe shall abhorre them.

The notes

a* Where shall now the house stande. &c. as whoo shulde saye: wherto make ye me a temple of mannes handy worcke, which rule the whole worlde: Hether to haue I suffred the temple to kepe you Jewes in a certen maner of instruction and obedyence: and chose you one place for youre seruice, to thyntente that ye shuld not fall to the Idolles of the Gentyles. But now wyll I haue all ydolles banished, and for Jewrye wyll I chalenge vnto me the whole worlde, for one people all the dwellers vpon the earthe whyche shalbe my worshippers in spyryte and i truth.

Johan. iiii. I wyll not be superstitiously worshypped wyth sacrefyces and ceremonies in the temple, but with rightuousnes, with fayth, and wyth ỹ spyrete. The same longe that the prophete here lyngeth in the latter ende of hys prophecy, lange he before in the begynnyng euen in the fyrst Chapter. Let ỹ chrysten note these .ii. Chapters (I meane the fyrste and the last) well, and then shall they perceaue howe greately God abhorreth such Ipocrytische worckes done wout faith, although they seme and apeare outwardly to bee moost godly.

b* That is, there shalbe a perpetuall feast and a perpetuall rest. They shall not then kepe theyr Saboth after the maner of the Jewes, nor make difference betwene day and daye: but they shall kepe a continuall Sabboth, and neuer do scruple worcke, that is, sines. Then shall they alwayes be in the tēple, that is, alwayes shall they prayse God in spyrete and truth, as wel in aduersitie as in prosperyti. They shall nether renne vnto ydols nor any creatures, but shal worshyppe the Lorde onely.

*By all flesh here vnderstand the Chrysten.

The ende of the Boke of the Prophet Esay

¶ The boke of

The Prophete Jeremye.

¶ The stock of Jeremye, and in what tyme he prophecyed. He excuseth himselfe & wold refuse the office of a Prophet, because he is younge and vnexpert He is teught of ỹ Lord, & becometh bolde. God openeth vnto him, that the destrucciō of the Jewes, by the babilonians, is at hand. Jeremy is commaunded to speake the word of God vnto ỹ Jewes without feare.

¶ The fyrst Chapter.

THese are the Sermons of Jeremye the sōne of Helkiah the prest, one of thē that dwelt at Anathoth in the land of Ben Jamin: when the Lorde had fyrst spokē with him/[a]* in the tyme of Josiah the sonne of Amon king of Juda, i the .xiii. yeare of of his kyngdome: and so durying vnto the time of Jehoakim the sonne of Josiah kynge of Juda, & vntyl the .xi. yeares of Zedekiah ỹ sōne of Josiah kynge of Juda were ended: when Jerusalem was taken/euen in ỹ fyfth Moneth. The word of the Lord spake thus vnto me: Before I fashioned the in thy mothirs wombe, I dyd knowe ỹ And or euer thou wast borne, [b]* I sanctified the, and ordened the, to be a Prophet vnto the people.

A

Then sayde I: Oh Lorde God, I am vnmete, for I am yet but younge.

And the Lord answered me thus: Saie not so, I am to ponge: For thou shalte goo to al that I shal sende the vnto, & whatsoeuer I commaunde the, ỹ shalt thou speake. Be not afrayed of their faces, for I wylbe with the, to delyuer ỹ, sayeth the lord.

B

And with that, the lorde stretched out his hand, and touched my mouth, and sayde moreouer vnto me. Beholde I put my wordes in thy mouth, & this daye do I set the ouer the people and kyndomes: that thou mayest rote oute, breake of, destroye and make wast: and that thou mayest buylde vp and plant

After this, the Lorde speake vnto me saying:

For lyke as the new heauen and the new earth whiche I wyl make, shall be fast stablysshed by me: (saith the Lord) So shall youre seade and youre name continue[b]* and there shalbe a new mone for the other, ād a new Sabbath for the other, and al *flesh shall comme to worshippe before me (sayth the Lorde) And they shall go forth and loke vpon the carions of them that haue trāgressed agaynst me for theyr wormes shall not dye, neither shall theyr fyre be quenched, and all fleshe shall abhorre them.

The notes

a* Where shall now the house stande. &c. as whoo shulde saye: wherto make ye me a temple of mannes handy worcke, which rule the whole worlde: Hether to haue I suffred the temple to kepe you Jewes in a certen maner of instruction and obedyence: and chose you one place for youre seruice, to thyntente that ye shuld not fall to the Idolles of the Gentyles. But now wyll I haue all ydolles banished, and for Jewrye wyll I chalenge vnto me the whole worlde, for one people all the dwellers vpon the earthe whyche shalbe my worshippers in spyryte and i truth.

Johan. iiii. I wyll not be superstitiously worshypped wyth sacrefyces and ceremonies in the temple, but with rightuousnes, with fayth, and wyth ỹ spyrete. The same longe that the prophete here lyngeth in the latter ende of hys prophecy, lange he before in the begynnyng euen in the fyrst Chapter. Let ỹ chrysten note these .ii. Chapters (I meane the fyrste and the last) well, and then shall they perceaue howe greately God abhorreth such Ipocrytische worckes done wout faith, although they seme and apeare outwardly to bee moost godly.

b* That is, there shalbe a perpetuall feast and a perpetuall rest. They shall not then kepe theyr Saboth after the maner of the Jewes, nor make difference betwene day and daye: but they shall kepe a continuall Sabboth, and neuer do scruple worcke, that is, sines. Then shall they alwayes be in the tēple, that is, alwayes shall they prayse God in spyrete and truth, as wel in aduersitie as in prosperyti. They shall nether renne vnto ydols nor any creatures, but shal worshyppe the Lorde onely.

*By all flesh here vnderstand the Chrysten.

The ende of the Boke of the Prophet Esay

¶ The boke of

The Prophete Jeremye.

¶ The stock of Jeremye, and in what tyme he prophecyed. He excuseth himselfe & wold refuse the office of a Prophet, because he is younge and vnexpert He is teught of ỹ Lord, & becometh bolde. God openeth vnto him, that the destrucciō of the Jewes, by the babilonians, is at hand. Jeremy is commaunded to speake the word of God vnto ỹ Jewes without feare.

¶ The fyrst Chapter.

THese are the Sermons of Jeremye the sōne of Helkiah the prest, one of thē that dwelt at Anathoth in the land of Ben Jamin: when the Lorde had fyrst spokē with him/[a]* in the tyme of Josiah the sonne of Amon king of Juda, i the .xiii. yeare of of his kyngdome: and so durying vnto the time of Jehoakim the sonne of Josiah kynge of Juda, & vntyl the .xi. yeares of Zedekiah ỹ sōne of Josiah kynge of Juda were ended: when Jerusalem was taken/euen in ỹ fyfth Moneth. The word of the Lord spake thus vnto me: Before I fashioned the in thy mothirs wombe, I dyd knowe ỹ And or euer thou wast borne, [b]* I sanctified the, and ordened the, to be a Prophet vnto the people.

A

Then sayde I: Oh Lorde God, I am vnmete, for I am yet but younge.

And the Lord answered me thus: Saie not so, I am to ponge: For thou shalte goo to al that I shal sende the vnto, & whatsoeuer I commaunde the, ỹ shalt thou speake. Be not afrayed of their faces, for I wylbe with the, to delyuer ỹ, sayeth the lord.

B

And with that, the lorde stretched out his hand, and touched my mouth, and sayde moreouer vnto me. Beholde I put my wordes in thy mouth, & this daye do I set the ouer the people and kyndomes: that thou mayest rote oute, breake of, destroye and make wast: and that thou mayest buylde vp and plant

After this, the Lorde speake vnto me saying:

sayinge: Jeremy, what seyste thou? And I sayde: I se a walkynge rodde. Then sayde the Lorde: thou hast sene right, for I wyl watch diligently vpō my word, to performe it.

D It happened after warde, that the Lord spake to me agayne, and sayde: what seyst thou? And I sayde: I do se a seething pot, loking from out of the north hether warde.

Then sayde the Lord vnto me: Out of the north shal come a plage vpon al the dwellers of the lande. For lo, I wyl cal al the officers of the kingdoms of the north (sayeth the Lord.) And theye shal come, and euerye one shall set hys seate in the gates of Jerusalem / and in al their wales round about and thorow al the cities of Juda. And thorow them shal I declare my iudgemēt vpon all the wyckednesse of those men ỹ haue forsaken me: that haue offred vnto straunge goddes and worshypped the workes of their owne handes.

And therfore *gyrd vp thy loynes aryse / and tel them al, that I geue the in commaundement. Feare them not, I wyl not haue the to be afrayed of thē For beholde, thys daye do I make the a stronge fensed towne, an yron pyler / and a wall of stele agaynste the whole lande, agaynst the kynges and myghtie men of Juda, agaynst the prestes & C people of the lande. They shal fyght agaynst the, but they shal not be able to ouercom the: for I am with the, to deliuer the, sayth the Lord.

The notes.

a *It is a necessary thynge to the vnderstandinge of the Prophetes, to knowe the Storyes of the tymes wherin they prophecyed. The storyes of Jeremyes tyme ye haue in the fourth of the Kinges, frō the .xxi. chapter to the ende of the boke: and in the seconde of the Chronycles, from the .xxxiii. chapt to ỹ ende alsō He prophecied a boute .xli. yeares.

b *I sanctified the. &c. That is, I dedicated, chose appoynted, prepared, set the a syde, to be a prophete vnto the people So in Joh. x. g Saye ye then vnto hym, whom the father hath sanctified. &c. that is, hath chosen &c.

c *For a Prophet or preacher to gyrd vp his loynes, is boldely and constantly to resyste the false opynyones and doctryne of the wycked, seuen to empryse in them the worde of truth (which engendreth hate, whether they wyl or no: and that not ones or twyse, vntyl such tyme as they other amende, or elles w are angry and furyous with it: Ye and then to set more by the commaundement of the Lord thē by ỹ power and tyrranny of this worlde: not to set by ỹ threatenynges of rulers, which can do nothing but that which god permitteth & suffreth thē: therfore ar they not to be feared of an obedient and faythful seruaūt of the Lorde.

God reherceth his benefytes done vnto ỹ Jewes. Agaynst Prestes & Prophetes, or preachers that cōtemne & despyse God: The Jewes are destroyed, because they forsoke God, & be cause they ranne a whore huntyng after Idoles.

The.ii. Chapter.

Moreouer, the worde of the Lord cōmaūded me thus: Go thy waye, crye in the eares of Jerusalem, and saie: Thus saieth the Lorde: I remembre the for the kindnesse of thy youth, and be cause of thy stedfast loue: in that thou folowdest me thorow the wyldernesse, in an vntylled lande. Thou Israell wast halowed vnto the Lorde, and so was his fyrst frutes. All they that deuoured Israel offended: myschefe fell vpon them, sayeth the Lorde. Heare therfore the worde of the Lorde, O thou house of Jacob, and all the generacion of the house of Israel. Thus sayeth the lorde vnto you. What vnfayth fulnesse founde youre fathers in me, that they went so farre awaie fro me, falling to lightnesse, and beynge so vayne? Thei thought not in their hertes: Where haue we left ỹ lord, that brought vs oute of ỹ lande of Egypte, that led vs thorow ỹ wilderneſſe / thorowe a deserte and rough land, thorowe a drye and a deedly lāde / yee a lande that no man had gone thorowe, & wher in no man had dwelt. And when I had brought you into a pleasaūt welbuilded lande, that ye myght entoye the frutes and al the cōmodyties of the same: ye went forth and defyled my lande, and brought myn heritage to abhominacyon.

The Prestes thē selues sayde not once: Where is the lorde? They that haue ỹ law in their hāds, know me not: The shepherds offēd agaynst me. The prophets do seruyce vnto Baal, and folowe soch thynges as shal bring them no profyt. Wherefore I am constrayned (sayeth the lorde) to make my complaynte vpō you, and vpon youre childrē. Go in to the Iles of Cethim / and loke wel: sende vnto Cedar / take diligent hede: and se / whether soch thinges be done there / wether the Gentiles them selues deale so falsly and vntruly with their goddes (which yet are no goddes in dede) But my people hath geuen ouer their hye honour, for a thing ỹ may not help thé

Be astonished (O ye heauens) be a frayde, and abashed at suche a thynge, sayeth ỹ Lord. For my people hath don two euels. They haue forsaken me the wel of the water of lyfe, and digged thé pyttes, yee vyle and broken pyttes ỹ holde no water. Is Israel a bonde seruaunt, or one of the household? Why is he then so spoyled? Why do they roare and crye then vpon hym, as a lion? They haue made his lande waste, his cyties are so brent vp, that there is nó mã dwelling in thé. Ye the childrẽ of * Noph & taphnes haue defiled thy neck.

C Commeth not this vnto the, because thou hast forsaken the Lorde thy God, euer sence he led the by the waye? And what hast thou now to do in the strete of Egypt? to drincke foule water? Ether, what makest thou in the way to Assiria? To drincke water of the floud Thyne owne wyckednes shal teproue the, and thy turninge awaye shal condemne the: that thou mayest know and vnderstande, howe euel and hurtfull a thinge it is / that thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God, and not feared him, sayeth the lord god of Hostes.

I haue euer broken the yock of old, and burst thy bondes: yet sayst thou, I wil no more serue, but (lyke an harlot) thou runnest about vpon al hye hilles, and among al grene trees where as I planted the out of noble grapes & good rotes. How art thou troden then in to a bitter, vnfrutful, and straung grape? Yee and ỹ so sore: ỹ though thou wash the with. b * Nitrus and make thy selfe to sauour with that swete smelling herbe of Bozith: yet in my sighte thou art stayned with thy wickednesse / sayeth ỹ Lord thy God.

E Saye not now: I am not vncleane and I haue not folowed the goddes. Loke vpon thyne owne wayes in wodes / valleyes & dénes: so shalt ỹ know what ỹ hast done. Thou art like swift Dromedary / ỹ goyth easly his wate: & thy wãtones is like a wyld Asse, ỹ vseth ỹ wyldernes / & ỹ snoffeth & bloweth at his will. Who can tame the? All they ỹ seke the shal not fayle, but fynde the in thyne owne vnclennes.

Thou kepest thy fote from nakednes, and thy throte from thyrste / and thynckest thus in thy selfe: tush: I wyll take no sorow, I wyll loue the straũge goddes, and hange vpon them.

Lyke as a theefe that is taken wyth the dede cõmeth to shame, euẽ so is the house of Israell come to confusion: the comen people, theyr kings and rulers, theyr prestes and Prophetes. For they saye to a stocke thou art my Father, and to a stone: thou hast begoten me, ye they haue turned theyr backe vpon me, and not theyr face / but in the tyme of theyre trouble / when they saye, stande vp, and helpe vs / I shall answere them: Where are now thy Gods / that thou hast made the? let them stand vp / and helpe ỹ in tyme of nede? for loke how many cityes ỹ hast (O Juda) so many Gods hast thou also.

F Wherfore then wyll yè goo to lawe with me / seing ye all are synners agaynste me, sayth the Lord? It is but lost labour, that I smyte your chylderen, for they receaue not my correction. Youre owne swerde destroyeth your Prophetes, like a deuouring lyon. If ye be the people of the Lorde, then herken vnto hys worde am I then become a wyldernes vnto the people of Israell? or a lãde that hath no lyghte? Wherfor sayth my people then: we are fallen of, ãd we wyl com nomore vnto the? Doth a mayde forget her rayment / or a Bryde her stomacher? And doth my people forget me so longe? Why boastest thou thy wayes so hyly e (to obtayn fauoure ther thorowe) when thou, haste yet stayned them with blasphemyes?

G Upon thy wynges is found ỹ bloude of poore and innocent people, and ỹ not in corners and holes only, but openlye in all these places. Yet darest ỹ say: I ã gyltlesse: Tush, his wrath can not come vpon me. Beholde, I wyl reason wt the because ỹ darest say: I haue not offended. O how euell wyll it be for ỹ, to abyde it: when it shalbe knowen: howe ofte thou hast gone backward? For thou shalt be confounded as well as Egipt / as of ỹ Assirians: ye thou shalte go thy waye from them, and smyte thyne handes together vpon thy head.

Because

Because the lord shal bring that confydence and hope of thyne to naughte/ and thou shalt not prospere with al.

The notes

a* Noph and Taphnes were two of the chefe cyttes of Egypt, wherin the Hebrewes put their truste, but in vayne.

b* Nitrus is a kynd of salte good to wash clothes in, and the body also.

C God being mercyful calleth vnto repentaūce his people, which he had forsaken for their whoredom with Idoles. Heerhorteth Israel vnto repentaūce, prompting them shepardes that shuld haue the true knowledg of god. The returne of Israel vnto god, confessyng their offence.

C The.iii. Chapter.

A COmenly/when a man putteth awaye his wife, & she goeth from him/and marieth with another, then the question is: shulde he resorte vnto her eny moze after that? Is not this feld thē defyled and vnclean? But as for the/a* thou hast playde the harlot with many louers/ yet turne agayne to me/ saith ỹ lord. Lift vp thine eyes, on euery side, and loke, yf thou be not defyled. Thou hast wayted for thē in the stretes, and as a murtherer in ỹ wildernes. Thorow thy whordom and shamefull blasphemyes, is the land defyled.

This is the cause, that the rayne/ & euenyng dewe hath ceased. Thou haste gotten the an whores forehead, & cāst not be ashamed. Els woldest thou sai vnto me: O mi father, thou art he that hast brought me vp, and led me fro my youth: Wylt thou then put me away, & cast me of for euer? Or wilt thou withdraw thy self cleane fro me? Neuertheles, thou speakest suche wordes, but ỹ art euer doinge worse and worse.

B * The lord sayd also vnto me: in the tyme of Josiah the kynge: Hast thou sene what that shrinkinge Israel had done? how she hath runne vp vpon all the hylles, and amonge al thicke trees, and there played the harlot: haste thou sene also (when she had done all thys) how I sayde vnto her: that she should turne agayne vnto me, and yet she is not returned? Juda ỹ vnfaithful sister of hers also saw this: Namely, that after I had wel sene the aduoutry of the shrynckynge harlot Israell / I put her awaye, and gaue her a byll of deuorcement.

For all this, her vnfaythful syster Juda was not a shamed, but went backe and played the whore also. Yee and the noyse of her whordom hath defiled the whole lande. For she hath cōmitted her aduoutrye with stones & stockes.

Neuertheles/ her vnfaithful sister Juda is not turned vnto me againe w her whole hert/ but faynedly/ sayth the Lord. And the Lord sayde vnto me. The backslyder Israel is more righteous/ then the vnfaithful Juda. & there fore go preache these wordes towarde the north, and saye: Thou shrynkynge Israel/ turne agayne (sayeth the Lord) and I wyl not turn my face from you, for I am mercyful, sayth the Lord/ and I wyl not alwaye beare displeasure agaynst the: but on this condicion, that thou know thy greate blasphemy: Namely/ that thou hast vnfaythfully forsaken the lord thy god/ and hast made thy selfe partaker of straunge goddes vnder all grene trees, but haste had no wyl to heare my voyce, saieth the lord.

D * O ye shrinkyng children, turne agayne/ sayeth the lorde: and I wyl be maryed with you. For I wyl take one out of the cytie, and two out of one generacion from amonge you, and bring you out of Sion: and wyl geue you herdmen after myne owne mynde, which shal fede you with lernynge and wysdome. Moreouer/ when ye be increased & multiplied in the lande, then (saith the lord) there shal no more boost be made of the arcke of the lordes Testament: Noman shal thinke vpō it, nether shal any man make mencyon of it: for from thence forth it shall nether be vysyted, ner honoured with gyftes.

Then shal Jerusalem be called the Lordes seate, and all Heathen shall be gathered vnto yt / for the name of the Lordes sake, whyche shall be set vp at Jerusalem.

And from that tyme forth, they shall folowe noe more the ymagynacyon of their owne frowarde herte.

E Then those that be of the house of Juda shal go vnto ỹ house of Israell and they shal come together out of the North, into the same land that I haue geuen your fathers.

I have cherished also, howe I toke yͤ vp being but a childe, and gaue the a pleasaunt laude for thyne heritage, ye and a goodly Host of the heathen: and how I commaunded the, that thou shuldest *call me father onely, and not to shrincke fro me.

But lyke as a woman kayleth her louer/so are ye vnfaithfull vnto me(O ye house of Israel(saieth the lord. And therfore the voyce of the childzen of Israel was herd on euery side, wepinge & watlig: for they haue defiled their way, and for gotten god their lorde.

G O ye shrinking childzen/turne agayne(sayinge: lo/we are thyne, for thou art the Lord our god) And so shal I heale your backturnynges. The hilles fall, and al the hye pryde of the mountaynes, but the health of Israell standeth only vpon god our lorde.

Confusion hath deuoured oure fathers labour from our youth vp: yee their shepe and bullockes, their sõnes and daughters. So do we also slepe in our confusion, and shame couereth vs: for we and our fathers from our youth vp vnto this daye haue synned agaist the Lorde oure God, and haue not obeyed the voyce of the lord our god.

The notes

a * That is, thou hast loued, worshiped, and serued many Idoles of the gentiles, in hilles, wodes, valeyes fildes, and in many other places as we often rede in the Byble: and hast forsaken me thy husband, contrary to the maner of honest maried wemẽ, wherfore thou art worthy to be deuorced. Yet turne and repent & forthincke the earnestly, & I wyl not stick to receaue the agayne.

¶ The true repẽtaunce or returnyng to God. He exorteth to the circumcision of the hert. The destruccion of Iewry is prophecyed, for the malyce of their hertes.

¶ The.iiii. Chapter.

A IScaell if thou wylt turne the/then turne vnto me, sayth the Lorde. And if thou wylt put away thyne abhominacions out of my sight, thou shalt not be moued: And shalt swear: The Lorde lyueth: in trueth/in equitie and ryghtuousnes: and all people shalbe fortunable and joyful in hi. For thus sayth the Lorde, to all Juda and Jerusalem: plowe your lande, and sowe not among the thornes.

B Be circumcised in the Lord, and cut away the forskinne of youre hertes, al ye of Juda, and al the indwellers of Jerusalem: that my indignatyon breake not out lyke fyre, and kindle, so that no man maye quench it, because of the wickednes of youre ymaginacions.

Preach in Juda and Jerusalem, cry oute and speake: blowe the trompettes in the lande crye that euery man maye heare, and saye: Gather you to gether/ and we wyl go into strong cities. Set vp the token in syon/spede you, and make no tarienge: for I wyll bringe a great plage, and a greate destruction from the North. For the spoyler of the Gentyles is broken vp from his place, as a lion out of his denne, that he maye make the lande waste, and destroye the cyties, so that no man maye dwel therin. Wherfore gyrde your selues aboute w sackcloth, a* mourne and wepe, for thee fearfull wrath of the Lorde shall not be withdrawen from you.

C At the same tyme (sayth the Lorde) the hert of the king and of the Princes shalbe gone, the prestes shalbe astonesshed, and the Prophetes shalbe sore afrayed. Then sayde I: O Lorde God, hast thou thé deceaued this people & Jerusalem, saying: ye shall haue peace, & now the swearde goeth thorowe theyr lyues? Then shall it be sayde to the people and to Jerusalem: b* there cometh a mayne wynde from the north thorow the waye of my people, but nether to fanne, nor to clense.

D c* After that shall there come vntoo me a stronge wynde, & then wyll I also geue sentence vpon them. For lo, hecõmeth down lyk as a cloud, & his charettes are lyke a stormy wynde: Hys horsemẽ are swyfter thẽ yͤ Aegle. Wo vnto vs, for we are destroyed: O Jerusalem, wasch thyne hert frõ wickednes, yͤ thou mayst be helped. Howe longe shall thy noysome thoughtes remayne w̃ thee?

For a voyce from Dan and from yͤ hyll of Ephraym speaketh out, and telleth a destruction. Beholde, the Heathẽ geue Jerusalem warning, and preach vnto her, that her destroyers are comming from farre countrees.

They

They tell the cities of Juda the same also, they shall geue them warnyng in euery place, lyke as the watchmen in ỹ felde. For they haue prouoked me too wrath, sayth the lorde.

Thy wayes and thy thoughtes, haue brought the vnto thys, thys is thyne owne wickednes and dislobedience/ that hath possessed in thyne herte: Ah my bely/ ah my bely, (shalte thou crie) how is my hert so sore: mi hert panteth within me, I cannot be styl, for I haue harde the crycng of the trompettes, ād peales of warre.

They crye murther vpon murther. the whole lande shall perysh. Immedyatly my tentes were destroyed, and my hanghinges, in the twincklynge of an eye: Howe longe shall I see the tokens of warre, and heare the noyse of the trompettes.

F Neuertheles, this shall come vpon the because my people is become foolysh, & hath vtterly no vnderstanding. They are the chylderen of folyshnes, and wout any dyscretion. To do euel, they haue wytt ynough: but to do wel, they haue no wysdomme. I haue loked vpon the earth/ and se, it is waste and voyd. I loked towarde heauen, and it had no shyne.

I beheld the mountaynes, and they trembled, and all the hylles were in a feare. I loked about me, and ther was no body, and all the byrdes of the ayer were away. I marked wel, and the plowed feld was become waste: ye all their cities were broken downe at the presence of the Lorde, and indignation of his wrath.

For thus hath the Lorde sayde: The G whole lande shalbe desolate, yet wyll I not then haue done. And therfore let the earthe mourne, and let the heauen be sorye aboue: for the thynge that I haue purposed and taken vppon me to do, shall not repente me, and I wil not go from it. The whole lande shall flee, for the noyse of the horsmen and bowemen: they shal runne into dennes, into woddes, and clymme vp the stony rockes. All the Cities shalbe voyde, and no man dwellyng therin.

What wylt thou now do, thou beinge destroyed? For though thou clothest thy self with scarlet, and deckest the wō golde: though thou paynctest thy face with coloures, yet shalt thou trym thy selfe in vayne.

For those that hytherto haue bene thy greate fauourers, shal abhorre the, and go about to slaye the. For (my thincke) I heare a noyse, lyke as it were of a woman trauelyng, or one labouryng of her fyrst chylde: Euen the voyce of ỹ daughter Siō, that casteth out her armes and sowneth, sayng: Ah wo is me, how sore vexed and faynt is my herte, for them that are slayne?

The notes.

a* To mourne in the Scripture sygnifieth somtyme to make an vnmeasurable and greuous lamētacion, as when a man for vnpacience and greefe, smyteth his owne body, rentcth his clothes, teareth his heārre. ꝛc. So in Math. xxiiii. c. And then shal al the kinredes of the earth mourne.

b* Some reade the dyre wynd cometh out of the hyghplaces of the wyldernesse, by the waye of ỹ daughter of my people ꝛc. They vnderstand by ỹ wind the king of Egypt: And by the waye of his people ỹ waye which heled his people, when they came forth of Egipt: which was through the wyldernes. Exod xiii. d c* After that shal ther come vnto me a strong wind ꝛc. By this wynd is vnderstande the kynge of Babylon and his armye.

¶ In Jewry is there no ryghtwes or faythful men found/ ether amongest the people, or the rulers, for whose sake the Lord shuld spare the cytie: wherfore Jewry is destroyed of the Assyrians.

¶ The. v. Chapter.

A Loke thorowe Jerusalem, beholde and se: Seke thorow her stretes also withi, yf ye can fynde one manne that doth equal & right or laboreth to be faithful: & I shal spare him (sayeth the Lord) For though they can saye: the Lord liueth, yet do they sweare to disceaue: Where as thou (O Lord) a* lokest onely vpon fayth and truth.

Thou hast scourged them, but thei toke no repentaunce: thou hast corrects them for amendment, but they refused thy correccion. They made their faces harder thē a stone, & wold not amende.

B Therfore I thought in my self: per aduenture they ar so simple and foolish that they vnderstande nothyng of the Lordes waye/ and iudgmentes of our god. Therfore wyl I go vnto their heades and rulers, and talcke with thē: yf they knowe the waye of the Lord, & the iudgementes of our god.

But these (in lyke maner) haue broken thee yock, and burste the bandes in sonder.

b * Wherfore a lyon out of the wodd shal hurte them, and a wolfe in the euenynge shal destroye them. The cat of the mountayne shal lye lurkyng bi their cyties, to teare in peces al them, that cõ therout. For their offences are many/ & their departynge awaye is greate.

C Shulde I then for al this haue mercy vpon the? Thy chyldren haue forsaken me, & sworne by thẽ that are no goddes. And albeit they were bounde to me in marryage, yet thei fell to aduouttrie, and haunted harlottes houses.

nota

In the desyre of vnclenly lust they are become lyke the stoned horse, euery mã neyeth at his neyghbours wyfe: Shulde I not correcte this, saieth the Lord. Shulde I not be auẽged of euery people, that is lyke vnto this? Clymme vp vpon their walles, beate them downe/ but destroye them not vtterly: c * cut of their braũches, because they are not the Lordes. For vnfaythfully hath the house of Israel and Juda forsaken me, sayeth the Lorde. They haue denyed the Lorde and sayde: it is not he: Tush, ther shal no mis fortune come vpõ vs, we shall se nether swearde ner hõger. As for the wattyng of the Prophetes/ thei take it but for wynde, yee there is none of these/ whych wil tell them/ that soche thynges shal happẽ vnto them. Wherefore thus sayth the Lord god of Hostes: because ye speake soch wordes, beholde: D The wordes that are in thy mouth wyl I turne to fyre/ and make the people to be wod, that it maye consume them.

Lo, I wil bringe a people vpon you from farre, O house of Israel (sayeth the Lorde) a myghtye people/ an olde people, a people whose speach thou knowest not, nether vnderstãdest what thei saye. Their arowes are sodayn death/ yee they them selues be very giaũtes. This people shal eate vp thy frute and thy meate/ yee they shall deuoure thy sõnes and thy daughters, thy shepe and thy bullockes.

They shall eate vp thy grapes and fygges. As for thy strong and wel fenced cyties, wherein thou dydest truste/ they shal destroy them with the swerd.

Neuertheles I wyl not then haue don w you, sayeth the lorde. But yf they saye: wherfore doth the lorde our God al thys vnto vs:

Then answere them: because, y like as ye haue forsaken me, and serued str C aunge goddes in your owne land, euẽ so shall ye serue other goddes also in a straunge land. Preache this vnto the house of Jacob, and crie it out in Juda, and saye thus: Heare this (thou folysh and vndiscrete people) * ye haue eyes, but ye se not: eares haue ye, but ye heare not.

Feare ye not me, sayeth the Lorde? F Are ye not al shamed, to loke me in the face? which bynd the see with the sand so that it can not passe his boundes: For though it rage, yet can it do nothinge, and though the waues therof do well, yet maye they not go ouer.

But this people hath a false and an obstynate herte, they are departed and gone awaye fro me. They thincke not in their hertes: O let vs feare the lord oure God/ that geueth vs rayne b * early and late, when nede is: which kepeth euer styll the haruest for vs early:

Neuertheles your misdeades haue turned these from you, and your synnes haue robbed you her of. For amõge my people are founde wycked personnes, that preuely laye snares & wait for men, to take them and destroye thẽ. And lyke as a net is full of byrdes, so are their houses ful of that which they haue gotten with falsched and dysceat/ Hereof commeth their great substaunce and ryches, here of are they fat and welthy, and are runne awaye fro me with shameful blasphemyes. G

They mynystre not the lawe/ they make no ende of the fatherlesses cause they iudge not the poore accordyng to equyte.

Shoulde I not punische these thinges, sayeth the Lorde? shoulde I not be auẽged of al soch peple, as those be? Horyble and greuouse thinges are don in the lande.

The Prophetes teache falsely/ and the preastes folowe them/ and my people hath pleasure therin. What wyll wyl come therof at the laste.

The notes

a* The loking of God is his approuinge alowing, as it is layde in Gene.iiii.d
b* Wherfor a lyon &c vnder the nam of these beests is sygnyfyed the kinge of Babylon
c* That is make awaie the wycked people of theyr citie.
d *Of the early and latter rayne. Loke in the pistle of James.v.Chapter.b, ¶ The synnes for which Jerusalem is afflyct Uncircumcyled eares. Couetousnes. Disceat. The lord reiecteth the sacrifices of the Jewes. The commynge of the Babilonians is prophecied agayne.

¶ The.vi.Chapter

A COme out of Jerusalem, ye strouge childeren of Benjamin: blow vp the trompettes ye Tecuites, set vp a token vnto Bethcarem/ for a plage and a great mysery pepeth out from the North.

I wyll lyken the daughter Sion to a fayre and tendre woman and to her shall come the shepherdes with theyre flockes. Their tentes shall they pytche vonde aboute her, and euerye one shall fede *them that are vnder his hande.

Make battel against her, shal they say Aryse, let vs go vp, whyle it is yet day

B Alas, the daye goth awaye, and thee nyght shadowes fall downe: Arise, let vs go vp bi nyght/ and destroy her stronge holdes/ for thus hathe the Lorde of hostes commaunded.

Hew down her trees/ and set vp bulwarkes agaynste Jerusalem: This is the citie that must be punished, for in her is all malicyousnes. Lyke as a condyte aboundeth in water/ euen so thys citie aboundeth in wickednes. Robery and vnrightuousnes is hard in her, sorow and woundes are euer there in myn syght. Amende the (O Jerusalem) lest I withdrawe my herte from the, and make the desolate: and thy lande also, that no man dwell in it. For thys sayth thee

C Lorde of hoostes: a* The residue of Israell shalbe gathered together, as thee remnaunt of grapes.

And therfore turne thine hande agayne into the balket, like the grape gatherer. But vnto whoome shall I speake, whome shall I warne that he maye take heede? Their eares are so vncircumcised, that they maye not heare.

Beholde they take the word of God but for a scorne, and haue no lust therto:

And therfore b* I am so ful of thine indignacion (O Lorde) that I maye suffer no longer. Shede out thy wrath vpon the childrē that are without, and vpon al yong men. Yee the man must be taken prysoner wythe the wyfe, and the aged with the crepel. Their houses wyth their landes and wyues shall be turned to straūgers, whē I stretch out myne hande vpon the inhabitours of this lande, sayeth the lorde. For from y leest vnto the most/ they hange al vpō couetousnes: and from the prophet vnto the prest, they go all about with falsheed and lyes.

D And besyde that, they heale yhurt of mypeople with swet wordes, sayeng: peace peace, when there is no peace at all. Therfore they must be ashamed, for they haue commytted abhomynacion. But how shuld they be ashamed/ when they knowe nothyng/ neither of shame ner good nurture? And therfore they shal fall amounge the slayne, and in the houre when I shal vysyte them, they shal be brought downe, sayeth the Lorde.

Thus sayeth the Lord: go in to the stretes, consyder and make inquysycion for the olde waye: and if it be the good and right waye, then go therin, that ye maye fynde rest for your soules. But they saye: we wyl not walcke ther in, and I wyl set watchmen ouer you/ and therfore take hede vnto the voice of the trompet. But they saye: we wyll not take hede. Heare therfore ye Gentyls/ and y congregacion shalt know/ what I haue deserued for them. Here thou earthe also: beholde/ I wyl cause a plage to com vpon this people, euen the frut of theyr owne ymaginacions:

E For they haue not bene obedient vnto my wordes and to my lawe, but abhorred them. Wherfore bring ye myncence from Saba, and swet smellynge Calamus from farre countrees: Your burnt offrynges displease me, & I reioyce not in your sacrifices.

And therfore thus sayeth the Lord: beholde, I wyl make this people fal, & ther shal fal from amōg them y father with the children, one neyghbour shal perish with another.

Moreouer

FMoreouer, thus sayeth the Lorde: Behold, there shall come a people frō the North, and a greate people shall arise from the endes of ẏ earth, wt bowes & wt dartes shall they be weapened: It is a rough and fearce people, an vnmerciful people: their voice roreth like the see, they ryde vpon horses wel apoīted to the batel agaynst the/O daughter Sion. Thē shal this citye be herd Oure armes are feble, heupnes and sorowe is come vpon vs, as vpon a woman trauelyng with chylde: No man go forth into the feld, no man com vp on the hy strete: for the swerd and feare of the enemye shalbe on euery side.

Wherfore, gyrd a sack cloth aboute the (O thou daughter of my people) sprynkle thy self with asches/moreouer I wepe bytterly, as vpon thy only beloued sonne: For the destroyer shal sodēly fall vpon vs. The haue I set for a prouer of my herd people, to seke out & to trye their wayes. For they are vnfaithful and fallen awaye, they hange vpon filthy lucre, they ar cleane brasse and yron, for they hurt and destroye euery man. The bellous are brent in the fyre, the lead is consumed / the melter melteth in vayne, for the euel is not taken awaye from them. Therfore shall they be called naughty syluer, because the Lord hath cast them out.

The notes

*Some reade: in his place: or his parte.

a*By the preaching of the word shal the chosen be gathered vnto christ, although the nombre of thē be but very few.

b*That is I cannot but power out ẏ heuy sentēce of thy word agaynst them.

¶Jeremy is commaunded to shew vnto the people the word of God, whych trusteth in the outwarde seruyce of the temple, ẏ healpeth nothing. The euelles that shal happē to ẏ Jewes for the despyte of their Prophetes. Sacrifices doth not the Lorde chefely requyre of ẏ Jewes, but that they shuld obey his word. Copheth.

The vii. Chapter

AThese are the wordes ẏ god spake vnto Jeremy: Stande vnder the gates of the Lordes house, and crie out these wordes there, wyth a loude voyce, and saye: Heare the word of the Lorde all ye of Juda / that go in at this dore, to honoure the Lorde: Thus sayethe the Lorde of Hostes the God of Jsraell.

Amende youre wayes and youre counsels and I wyll lete you dwell in thys place. Trust not i false lienge wordes, saienge: here is the temple of the Lord, here is the temple of the Lorde, here is the temple of the lorde.

*For if ye wyl amende youre wayes and councels, yf ye wyll iudge right betwyxte a man and hys neghboure: if ye wyl not oppresse the straunger, the fatherles and the wyddowe: yf ye wyll not shede innocēt bloude in this place, if ye wyl not cleue to straunge goddes to youre owne destrucciō, then wil I let you dwell in this place, yee i the lande that I gaue afore tyme vnto your fathers for euer. But take heade, ye trust in councels, that begyle you and do you no good. For whēye haue stollen, murthured, committed aduoutrie, and periury: When ye haue offred vnto Baal, folowynge straunge and vnknowne goddes: Then come ye, and stande before me in thys house, (which hath my name geuen vnto it and say: Tush, we ar absolued quyte, though we haue done al these abhominacyons.

*What e think you thys house that beareth mi nam, ys a denne of theues? And these thinges are not done priuely, but before myne eyes, sayeth the Lord: Go to my place in *Siloh/ whervnto I gaue my name afore tyme/ and loke wel what I dyd to the same place for ẏ wyckednes of my people of Jsraell. And now/ though ye haue done al these dedes (sayeth the Lord) and I my self rose vp euer bi times to warne you, and to comen wyth you/ yet wolde ye not here me: I called/ ye wolde not answere. And therfore euen as I haue done vnto Siloh/ so wyl I do to this house/ ẏ my name is geuē vnto (and that ye put youre trust in)ye vnto the place ẏ I haue geuen to you & your fathers. And I shal thrust you out of my sight, as I haue caste oute all youre brethren the whole sede of a*Ephraim.

DTherfore thou shalte not praye for this people, thou shalt nether geue thākes, not byd prayer for them: thou shalt make no intercession too mee for them for in no wyse wyll I heare the, Seyst thou not what they do in the cyttes of Juda

Juda, & with out Jerusalem: The chyldꝛē gather sticks, the fathers kyndle the fyꝛe, ỹ mothers kneade ỹ dowghe/ to bake cakes foꝛ the quene of heauen. They poure out dꝛinkoffrynges vnto straūge goddes, to pꝛouoke me vnto wꝛath: How be it they hurte not me (saieth the Lorde) but rather confounde, & shame them selues.

And therfoꝛe thus saieth ỹ Lorde God: beholde, my wꝛath and my indignacion shalbe poured out vpō this place, vpon men & catell vpon ỹ trees in ỹ felde & al frute of ỹ lande, & it shal burne so, ỹ no mā mate quench it. Thus saieth the Lorde of Hostes, the God of Israel: Yee heape vp your burnt offrynges, with youre sacrifyces/ & eate the flesshe. But Whē I brought youre fathers out of Egypt/ I spake no woꝛde vnto thēm of burntoffrynges & sacrifices: but this I commaunded thē, saynge: herken & obeye my voyce/ and I shalbe youre God and ye shal be my people: so ỹ ye walcke in al ỹ wayes, which I haue cōmaūded you, that ye may pꝛospeer.

But they were not obediēt, they inclyned not theyꝛ eares there vnto/ but went after their owne ymaginacyōs & after the mocyōs of their owne wicked herte, & so turned them selues awaye, & conuerted not vnto me. And this haue they done/ frō the tyme that youre fathers came out of Egipt, vnto this daye.

Neuertheles, I sent vnto them my seruauntes al the pꝛophetes: I rose vp early & sent them woꝛde/ yet wolde thei not herken, ne offre me their eares but were obstynate & woꝛse then theyr fathers. And thou shalt now speake al these woꝛdes vnto them/ but they shal not heare ỹ: thou shalt cry vpō thē/ but they shall not answere ỹ. Therfoꝛ shalt thou saye vnto them: this is the people ỹ nether heareth ỹ voyce of ỹ loꝛd their god, ner receueth his coꝛrectiō. Faithfulnes & truth is clean routed out of their mouth.

Wherfoꝛe cut of thyne hearte, and cast it awaye, take vp a complaynte in the whole land, foꝛ the loꝛd shal cast awaye, & scater the people that he is displeased wall. Foꝛ ỹ chyldꝛen of Juda haue done euel in my sight, saith ỹ Lorde. They haue set vp their abhomynacyōs, in ỹ house ỹ hath my name, & haue defyled it. They haue also builded an auiteter at b* Topheth, which is in the valey of ỹ chyldꝛen of Hennom: that they myght burne their sonnes and daughters, which I neuer commaunded them, nether came it euer in my thought. And therfoꝛe beholde, the dayes shal come (sayeth the Lorde) that it shal no moꝛe be called Topheth, oꝛ the valley of the chyldꝛen of Hennom, but the valleye of the slaynge, foꝛ in Topheth, they shal be buryed, because they shal els haue no rowme. Ye the deed bodyes of this people shalbe eaten vp of the foules of the ayꝛe and wilde beastes of the earth, & no man shal fraye them awaye. And as foꝛ the voyce of myꝛth and gladnes of the cyties of Juda, and Jerusalem c* the voyce of the bꝛydgrome and of the bꝛyde: I will make them ceasse, foꝛ the land shalbe desolate.

The Notes.

a* He vnderstaudeth ỹ x. tribe of Israel whose kynge dome was deuyded, fel to Jeroboam, the Ephraite iii Reg. xi. c. k. g.

b* Topheth is a valley whervnto al ỹ deed bodyes & fylthines of Jerusalem were caried & wher Idolaters offred their chidꝛen to Moloch.

c* That ỹ piping and al ỹ pastime ỹ is vsed befoꝛe brides and bꝛidgromes, at their mariages.

¶ The destruction of ỹ Jewes. The Lorde moueth the people to amēdmēt, reckenyng vp their sinnes He repꝛehendeth the liuing doctrin of ỹ Pꝛophetes & Pꝛestes, and their couetousnes, also.

¶ The. viii. Chapter.

T the same tyme saieth ỹ Lorde the bones of the Kinges of Juda, the bones of his pꝛinces, the bones of ỹ pꝛestes and pꝛophetes, yee and the bones of the cytisens of Jerusalem/ shalbe bꝛought out of their gꝛaues and layde against the Sunne, the Moone and al the heauenly hoost: whome they loued, whom they serued whō they ranne after / whom they sought & woꝛshipped. They shal nether be gathered together ner buryed / but shall lie vpō ỹ erth, to their shāe & dispitige.

And all they ỹ remayne of this wycked generatiō/ shal desire rather to die thē to liue: whersoeuer they remaine, & wher as I scater thē/ saith ỹ Lorde of hostes. This shalt ỹ saie vnto thē also: Thus saieth ỹ Lorde, do mē fal so: ỹ they ariſe not vp againe:

And

And turne they so farre awat, that thei neuer conuerte: Wherfore then is this people and Jerusalem gone so farre backe, that they turne not agayne. They are euer the longer the moare obstinate, and wyll not be conuerted.

For I haue loked, and consydered: but ther is no man that speaketh a good worde: there is noo man that taketh repentaunce for hys sinne, that wyll so much as saye wherfore haue I done this: but euery manne (as sone as hee is turned backe) runneth forth styll, lyke a wylde horse in a battell. The storke knoweth his appointed tyme, the Turteldoue, the swalow and the crane consydre the tyme of their trauaile: but my people wil not k nowe ỹ time of the punishemente of the lorde. How darre ye saye then: we aze wyse, we haue the lawe of the Lorde amonge vs: Beholde the diseatfull penne of the scribes, setteth forth lies: therfore shal the wyse be confounded they shalbe afraid and taken: for lo, they haue cast out the worde of the Lord: what wysdomme cā then be amonge them: Wherfor, I wil geue their wyues vnto alyauntes/and their feldes to destroyers.

For from the lowest vnto the hyest, they folowe all fylthye lucre: and from the prophet vnto the preast, they deale all wyth lyes. Neuertheleſſe, they heale the hurte of my people wyth swete wordes, sayenge: peace/ peace where there is no peace, at all.

Fye for shame/howe abhominable thynges do they: and yet they be not ashamed/yee they knowe of no shame.

Wherfore in the tyme of their visitacion, they shall fall amonge the dead bodyes/sayth the Lorde.

a*Moreouer I wyl gather them in (sayth the Lorde) so that there shall not be one grape vpon the vyne/nether one fygge vpon the fygge tree, and the leaues shalbe plucte of.

Then wyl I cause them to departe, and saye: why prolong we the tyme: Lett vs gather our selues together, ād go into the stronge Cytie/ there shall we be in reste: For the Lorde oure God hath put vs to sylence, and b*geuen vs water myxt wyth gale, to drynke: because wt haue synned agaynst hym.

We loked for peace, and we keare not the better, we wayted for the tyme of health, and lo/ here is nothing but trouble.

Then shall the noyse of his Horses be hearde from Dan, the whole lande shall be afrayde at the neyenge of hys stronge horses: for they shal go in, and deuoure the lande, wyth all that is in it: the Cyties, and those that dwell ther in. Moreouer, c* I will sende Cokatrices and serpentes amonge you (whiche wyl not be charmed) and they shall byte you, sayth the Lorde.

Sorow is come vpon me, and heuynes vexeth my hertt: for lo the voyce of the crieng of my people is hard from a farre countre: Is not the Lord in syon? Is not the kynge in her? Wherfore the haue they greued me (shall the Lorde saye) wtth their Images & folysh straūge fashions? The harueſt is gone, the sommer hath an ende, and we are not helped. I am sore vexed, because of the hurte of my people: I am heuy and ashed, for there is noo more Treakle at Galaad, and there is no physycian, & can heale the hurte of my people.

The Notes.

a*Moreouer I wyl gather thē in. &c. The meanig is: I will gather the Jewes from al the partes of Jewry vnto Jerusalem. Ther shal no fygge, grape, or other frute remayne in the vyllages or felds: and so shal they haue no lust to abyde ther, but shalbe fayne to flye to the citi. Thyther caused he thē to flie, and there also famished them and deliuered them in to their enemies handes. Such pūishment had their synnes deserued.

b*Hath geuen vs water mixt with gal to drincke, that is, hath wrapped vs in mysery and wretched thraldome.

c*I wyl sende Cockatrices and serpents. &c. That is, I wyl bringe among you a fearce compani of soudiers, with whose deadly arrowes and dartes. &c. Ye shalbe slayne euen as though ye shuld perish with ỹ strokes or venemous bytinges of Cockatrices and serpentes.

The complaynt & bewayling of the prophet, for the malice of ỹ people. In ỹ knowledg of god ought we onely to reioyce. The vncircumcisiō of the hert.

The.ix. Chapter.

Who wyll geue my heade water ynoughe, and a wel of teares for myne eyes: that I maye wepe nyght and day, for the slaughter of my people.

Wolde

Would God that I had a cotage some where farre frō folcke, that I myght leaue my people, & goo from them: for they be al aduouterers and a shryncky nge sorte. They bende their tonges lyke bowes, to shute out lyes: As for ỹ trueth, they maye nothynge awaye wt al in the worlde. For they go frō one
B wickednes to another, & holde nothing of me, sayeth the Lorde.

Ye one must kepe him self frō another, no man may safely trust hys owne brother: for one brother vndermyneth another, & one neyghboure begyleth another. Ye one dissembleth with another, & they deale with no truth. They haue practised their tonges to lye, & taken greate paynes to do myschefe. They haue set their stole in the middest of discease, and for very dyssemblynge false hede they wyll not know me, sayeth the Lorde. Therfore thus sayeth the Lorde of Hostes: beholde, I will melte thē, & trie them, for what shulde I els do to my people? Their tonges are lyke sharpe arowes, to speake disceate. With
C they? mouth they speake peaceably to their neighboure, but preuely they late wayte for hym. Shulde I not punysh them for these thynges, sayeth the Lorde? Or shulde I not be auenged of any soche people as this? Upon the mountaynes wyll I take vp a lamentacion & sorowful crye, and a mournynge vpon the fayre playnes of the wylderues: Namely, how they are so brente vp, that no man goeth there any moore: Yee a man shal not heare one beast crie there. Birdes and catel are al gone frō thēce. I wyll make Jerusalem also an heape of stones, and a denne of venymous wormes. And I wyl make ỹ cyties of D Juda so waste/that noman shal dwell therin. What man is so wyse) as to vnderstande this? Or to whom hath the Lord spokē by mouth, that he may shewe this, and say: O thou lande, why perysheth thou so? Wherfore art thou so brent vp, and lyke a wyldernesse, that no man goeth thorow? Yee the Lorde hym self toolde the same vntoo them, that forsoke hys lawe, and kepte not ỹ thinge that he gaue them in cōmaundemēt neither lyued therafter: but folowed the wyckednes of their owne hertes, and serued stra ūg goddes, as their fathers taught them.

Therfore, thus sayeth the Lorde of Hostes, the God of Israel: Beholde, I wil fede thys people with wormwod, and geue them gale to drynk. I wyl scatter them also amōge the Heathen, whom nether they ner their fathers haue knowne: and I wyl sende a swearde amonge them, to persecute them, vntyl I bringe them to naught. Moreouer, thus sayeth the Lorde of Hostes: Loke that ye call for mournyng wyues, and send for wise wemen: that they come shortly, and synge a mournynge songe of you: that the seares may fall out of oure eyes, and ỹ oure eye lyddes maye gushe out of water.

For there is a lamentable noise hearde
F of Syon: O how are we so sore destroyed? O how ar we so pyteously confounded? We must forsake oure owne natural countre, and we are shot out of our owne lodgynges Yet he are the worde of the Lord (O ye wemen) and let your eares regard the wordes of his mouth: that ye may lerne youre daughters to mourne, and that euery one may teach her neyghboureſſe, to make lamentacyon: Namely thus: Death is clymmyng vp in at oure wyndowes he is come in to oure houses, to destroye the chylde before the doore, and the yonge man in the strete.

But tell thou playnly, thus sayeth the Lorde: The deed bodies of men shall lye vpon the grounde, as the donge vpon the felde, and as the heye after the mower, and there shalbe no man to take them vp. Moreouer, thus sayeth the lorde: Let not the wyse man reioyse in hys wysdome/ner the stronge man in hys strength/ nether the ryche man in hys ryches: But who so wyl reioyse, let hym reioyse in this/that he vnderstandeth, and knoweth me: for I am the lorde, which do mercy, equyte and ryghtuousnes vpon the earth. Therfore haue I pleasure in soch thinges, sayeth the lorde. Beholde, the tyme cōmeth (sayeth the lord) that I wyll vysete * all them, whose foreskynne is vncircumcysed.

The

The Egipcians, the Jewes / the Edomytes, the Ammonites, the Moabytes and the shaué Madianites, that dwell in the wyldernes. For all the gentyles are vncyrcumcysed in the flesshe / but all the howse of Israell are vncyrcumcysed in the herte.

The notes

a ✱All, that is as wel the Jewes as the Gentyles: for the one is as fre as the other. The Jewes are euell as well as the heathen, as touching the herte, although they be circumcysed as touching the flesshe Therfore are they here reckened among the vncyrcumcysed.

¶ The constellacions of the starres are not to be feared. Of the wekenes of Idoles, and of the power of God. Of euell curates.

¶ The.x. Chapter.

A HEare the word of the lord, that he speaketh vnto the, O thou house of Israell: Thus sayeth the Lorde: Ye shal not lerne after the maner of the Heathen and ye shal not be afrayd for the tokens of heauen, for the Heathen ar afrayed of such: yee all the customes and lawes of the Gentyles are nothing, but vayne: They hewe downe a tree in the wod w the handes of the wycked man / and fasshyō it with the axe: they couer it ouer with golde or syluer, they fasten it w nayles and hāmers, that it moue not. It standeth as styf as a palme tree / yt can nether speake nor go, but muste be borne. Be not ye afrayde of such, for they can do nether good nether euell.

But there is none like vnto the, O Lorde, and greate is the name of thy power. Who wold not feare the? Or what Kynge of the Gentyles wold not obeye the?

B For amonge al the wyse men of the Gentyles, and in al their kyngdomes, there is none that maye be lykened vnto ỹ. They are altogether vnlerned and vnwyse. All theyr connynge is but vanyte: namely, wod, syluer / whych is brought out of Tharsis, and beatē to plates and golde from Ophir, a worke that is made wyth the hande of the craftesman and the caster / clothed wyth yelowe sylcke and scarlette euen so is the worcke of their wyse men altogether. But the Lorde is a tru God, a lyuyng God, and an euer lastyng kyng. Ik he be wroth, the earth shaketh: all ỹ Gētyles may not abyde hys idignacō

‡ As for their goddes, it maye well be sayde of them: they are goddes, that made nether heauen ner earth: therfore shal thei perysh from the earth, and frō all thynges vnder heauē But (as for oure God) he made the earth with his power, and with his wysdome hath he finished the whole cōpasse of ỹ worlde, with his discrecion hathe he spred out the heauēs. At his voyce ỹ waters C gather in the ayre, he draweth vp the cloudes from the vttermost partes of ỹ earth: he turneth lyghtenyng to rayne / and bryngeth forth the windes out of their treasures: His wysdome maketh all men fooles. And cōfounded be all casters of ymages, for that they cast, is but a vayne thynge, and hath no lyfe. The vaine craftesmen with their worckes, that thei in their vanite haue made, shall perish one with another in the tyme of vysytacion. Neuertheles, Jacobes portion is not soch: but it is he, that hath made al thynges, and Israel is the rodd of his inheritaunce: The Lorde of Hostes is his name. Put awaye thyne vnclennesse oute of the land, thou that art in the stronge cities. For thus sayeth the lorde: Beholde / I wil now thrust out the inhabitours of this land a greate way of, and trouble them of soch a fashion, that they shall no more be founde.

Alas / how am I hurte? Alas, how pain D ekull are my scourges vnto me? For I consyder this sorow by my selfe, and I must suffre it. My tabernacle is destroyed, and all mi coardes are brokē, my children are gone from me, and can noo where be founde. Now haue I none to spreade out my tente / or to set vp my hangynges. For the herdmen haue done foolishly / that they haue not sought the lord. Therfore haue they dealt vnwysely with theyr catell / and all are scatred abrode. Beholde / the noyse is harde at hande / and greate sedicyon out of the northe to make the cyties of Juda a wyldernesse / and a dwellinge place for Dragōs.

Now I knowe (O lorde) that it is not in mās power to ordre his owne wales, or oz to rule hys owne kepes and goyn-ges. Therfoze chasten thou vs, O lozd, but with fauour and not in thy wzath, bzynge vs not vtterli to naught.

Poure out thine indignacō rather vpō the Gentiles, that knowe the not, & vp on the people that cal not on thy name:
And that because they haue consumed/deuoured and destroyed Jacob, & haue coted out hys glozye.

The notes

‡ The verse is wzytte in Chald to shew by þ Jew-es to the Gētiles of Chalde their confusion.
¶ A curse of thē that obey not the wozd of goddes pzomes. The people of Juda folowing the kepes of their fathers, wozshippeth straūg Goddes. The lozd sayeth þ he wyll not heare the Jewes, and fozbyddeth also Jeremy to pzay foz them.

¶ The .xi. Chapter.

A THis is another Sermon, whych the Lozd commaun
ded Jeremy foz to pzeach/saying: Heare the wozdes of the couenaunt, and spea ke vnto al Juda, and to all them that dwel at Jerusalem. And saye thou vn to them: Thus sayeth the Lozd god of Israel: Cursed be euery on that is not obedyent vnto the wozdes of thys couenaunt: which I commaunded vnto your fathers, what tyme as I bzought them out of Egipt, from the a* pzon foz nace, saying: Be obedient vnto my vo yce, and do accozding to al that I com maunde you: so shal ye be my people, & I wyl be your god/ and wyll kepe my pzomesse, þ I haue swozne vnto youre fathers: Namely, þ I wolde geue them a lande which floweth with mylck and hony, as ye se, it is come to passe vnto this daye. Then answered I, and say ed. Amen, It is euen so Lozde, as thou sayest.

B Then the Lozde sayde vnto me a-gayne: pzeach this in the cities of Juda and rounde about Jerusalem, and saye: Heare the wozdes of this couuenaunt/ þ ye maye kepe them. Foz I haue diligentlye exozted your fathers, euer sence the tyme that I bzought thē out of the Lande of Egypte, vnto this day. I gaue them warning by tymes:
saynge herken vnto my voyce: Neuer theles, they wuolde not obeye me, noz encline their eares vnto me, but folow ed the wycked ymagynacyons of theyz owne hertes.

And therfoze haue I accused them as trangressours of all the wozdes of this conuenaunt, that I gaue them to kepe, whych thei (not with vnder standinge)
haue not kepte.

And the Lozde sayde vnto me: It is foūde out, that whole Israell and al these citizens of Jerusalem ar gone ba cke. They haue turned them selues to the blasphemyes of their foze fathers, whych had no lust to heare my wozde.
Euen like wyse haue these also folowed straunge goddes, and wozshypped thē.
The house of Israel and Juda haue bz okē mi couenaunt, which I made with their fathers.

¶ Therfoze thus sayeth the Lozde: Be C hold, I wil sende a plage amonge you, whych ye shal not be able to escape: and though ye crie vnto me, I wil not heare
you. Then shal the townes of Juda & the cytezyns of Jerusalem go, and call vpō their goddes vnto whom they ma de their oblacions: but they ar not able to helpe them in tyme of their trouble.
Foz as many cyties as thou hast, O Ju da, so many Goddes hast thou also:
And loke how many stretes there be in the (O Jerusalem) so many shame full aulters haue ye sett vp, to offre vpō the vnto Baal. But pzate not thou foz this people, byd netherpzayse ner pzayer foz them, foz though they crye vnto me in their trouble, yet wil I not heare them.

b* O thou beloued, why doest thou so shamefull greate blasphemyes in my house: seuē as though that holy flesh mi ght absolue the, specially when thou hast made thy boost of thy wyckednes? The Lozde called the a grene olyue tre, a fay re one, a frutefull one, a goodly one: but nowe that theare is a cōtrary repozte of the abzode/ he wyll burne the vp/ and destroye thy bzaunches. Foz the Lozde of hostes that planted the hath deuysed a plage foz the (O thou house of Israel & Juda) foz þ euell that ye haue done to pzouoke him to wzath/ in that ye dyd se D ruyce vnto Baal. Thys (O lozde) haue
I lerned of the/ & vnder stāde it, foz þ hast shewed me their imaginacōs. But I (as a meke lambe) was caried awaye to be slayne: not knowinge, þ they had deuised soch a councell agaynst me say inge: We wil destroye his meate with c*wod, and dryue him out of the d*lād of the lyuinge: that his name shal neuer be thought vpon. Therfore I wil beseche the nowe (O lorde of hoostes) ỹ rightuous iudge, thou that tryest the reynes and the hertes: let me se the auenged of thé, for vnto the haue I cō-mitted my cause. The lord therfore spake thus of ỹ citezines of Anathoth, ỹ sought to slay me, saying: Preach not vnto vs in the name of the lord, or els thou shalt dye of our handes. Thus (

I sayd) spake the Lord of hoostes.
Beholde, I wil vyset you. Your yong men shal perish with the swerde, your sonnes and your daughters shal vtter ly dye of honger, so that none shall re-mayne. For vpon the tytezyns of Ana hoth wyll brynge a plage, the yeat of their visitacion.

The notes

a* Egypt was vnto them an yron fornace, for the greate anguysh, greke, sorow, and carfulnes of hert, whiche they ther suffred. iii. Reg. iiii. c b* He speaketh vnto the Iewes, which in their synagog worshiped many and diuers Idoles: therbi blasphemed god: And yet thought they to haue rede med their wickednes vp the offrynges of their bullockes: fleshly sacrifices, which ar here called holy flesh

c* Wodd, vnderstand: venomed: poysond. Some expound herby the wod of the crosse and of afflictiō which ỹ wycked deuysed to wrap the prophet in, for his tellinge of the truth.

d* What the land of the lyuing signyfieth is shewed in Esay: liii. c

¶ The Prophet marueleth greatly at the prosperitye of the wicked, although he confesse God to be ryghtuous. The Iewes are forsaken of the Lorde. He speaketh against Curates and preachers that seduce the people. The Lord threteneth destruction vnto the nacions that bordерd vpō Jewry, whych troubled and vexed it.

¶ The. xii. Chapter.

A Lord, thou art more righ tuous, then ỹ I shold dispu te with ỹ: Neuertheles, let me talke with the in thyn-ges reasonable. *How happeneth it, that the waye of the vngodly is so prosperous: and ỹ it goeth so wel wt thē, which (wout eny shame) offēd & liue in wickednes: ỹ plātest thē they take rote, they grow, & bring forth frut. They boost much of ỹ, yet doest ỹ not punish thē. But ỹ Lord (to whō I am wel knowne (thou ỹ hast sene, & pro ued my herte take thē awaye, like as a flock is caried to ỹ slauter house, and a pointe them for the daye of slaughter.
How long shal ỹ land mourne, and al
the herbes of the feld perish, for ỹ wic kednes of them that dwel therin.
The catell & ỹ byrdes are gone, yet sayd they: tush god wyl not destroye vs vterly

a* Seing thou art weery in tuning with the fote men, how wilt thou then runne with horses? In a peaceable lure lāde thou mayest be safe, but how wilt thou do in the furyous pryde of Jordane? For thy brethren and thy kynred haue altogether despised the, and cryed out vpon the in thine absence. Beleue them not, though they speake fayre wo rdes to the. As for me (saye I) I haue forsaken myne owne dwellyng place, & left myne heretage. My lyfe also that I loue so well, haue I geuen in to the handes of myne enemyes. Myne hery tage is be come vnto me, as a Lyon in the wod, It cried out vpon me, therfor haue I forsaken it. Myne heretage is vnto me, as a speckled birde/a birde of diuerse colours is vpon it. Go hence/ and gather all the beastes of the felde together, that they maye eate it vp.

Diuerse herdmen haue brokē down my vyneyarde, and troden vpon my porcyō. Of my pleasaunt porciō, they haue made a wildernes and deserte. They haue layd it waste: and now ỹ it is wast, it sygheth vnto me. Yee the whole lande lyeth waste, and no mā re gardeth it. The destroyers come ouer the herth euery waye, for the swearde of the lorde shal consume from the one ende of the lande to the other/ and no flesh shall haue rest. They shall sowe wheate, and reepe thornes. They shal take heritage in possession, but it shal do them no good. And ye shalbe confo unded of youre owne wynnynges, bec ause of the greate wrath of the Lorde. Thus sayeth the lorde vpon all myne euell neighbours, that laye hande on myne heretage, whych I haue geuen my people of Israel: Beholde/ I wyll pluck them (namely Israel) out of their lande/ and put out the house of Juda frō amonge thē. And when I haue toted thē out, I wylbe at one with them agayne, & wil haue mercy vpō thē: & bryng thē agayne, euery man to his owne heritag, & i to his land. And yf they namely ỹ trouble mi people) willerne ỹ waies of thē, to sweare by myname: ỹ lord

Lorde lyueth (lyke as they lerned my people to sweare by Baall) then shall they be rekened amonge my people.
But yf they wyl not obeye, then wyll I rote out the same folcke / and destroye them/sayeth the Lord.

The notes.

a * Thus spake the wycked of ỹ prophet, by ỹ waie of rebuke. As though they had sayde by a parable. When thou wast but in a litle towne, thou couldest not beare the persecucion of thine owne cytesinnes & houshold folckes: How wylt thou then beare ỹ princes and chefrulers of Juda, and the Nobles of Jerusalem? And after, by the pesable sure land is understand Anathoth & by the fryde of Jordan Jerusalē. The lytel riuer of Anathoth is not to cōpared to ỹ greate, flowing streames of Jordan. If he wer dispysed of his owne auditours, howe shulde he be heard of other, & those greater and excellenter?
C The destruccyō of the Jewes is prefygured, & their spacyng abroade. Why Israel was receaued to be the people of god, and why they were forsakē.

C The. xiii. Chapter.

A MOrouer, thus sayde the Lorde vnto me: goe thy waye, a* and get the a lynen breche, and gyrde it aboute thy loynes, and lett it not be wet. Then I got me a breche, accordynge to the commaundemente of the Lorde, and put it aboute my loynes.
After thys/ the lorde spake vnto me a gayne: Take the breche that thou hast prepared and put aboute the / and get the vp, and go vnto Euphrates, and hyde it in a hoole of the rocke.
So went I/ and hydde it, as the lorde comaunded me. And it happened long after thys, that the Lorde spake vnto me: Vp, and get the to the Euphrates/ and fet the breche from thence, whiche
B I commaunded the to hyde there.
Then went I to Euphrates, and dygged vp, and toke the breach from the place where I had hid it: and beholde the breche, was corrupt, so that it was profitable for nothyng.

Then sayd the lorde vnto me: thus sayeth the Lord: Euen so wyll I corrupte the pryd of Juda, & the hye mynde of Jerusalē. This people is a wicked people, they wyll not heare my worde, they folow the wicked imaginacyōs of their owne hert, and hang vpō straūge gods, thē haue they serued & worshiped & therfore they shalbe as this breche, ỹ serueth for nothig. For as straitly as a breche cleueth vpō a mās loines, so straitly did I bind ỹ whole house of Israel & ỹ whole house of Juda vnto me, saith ỹ lorde & they myght be my peple: that thei might haue a glorious name: that thei myght be in honoure: but they wolde not obeye me. Therfore laye thys tydle before them/ and saye: Thus sayeth the Lorde God of Israel: Euery pot shalbe fylled with wyne. And they shal saye: thincke thou we know not/ that euery pot shalbe fyled with wyne? Then shalt thou saye vnto them: Thus sayeth the Lorde: Beholde, I shall fyll al the inhabytours of this lande with dronckēnes, the kynges that syt vpon Dauids stole, the Priestes and Prophetes, with al that dwel at Jerusalem. And I wil shute them one against another, ye the fathers against the sonnes/ sayeth the Lorde.

I wil not pardone them, I wil not spare them/ ner haue pitie vpon them: D but destroye them. Be obediēt/ geue eare, take no disdayne at it, for it ys the Lorde him selfe that speaketh. Honoure the lorde youre god herein, or he take hys lyght from you, and or euer youre fere stomble in darcknesse at the hyll: lest when ye loke for the lyght, he turne it in to the shadowe and darcknesse of death. But if ye wil not heare me, that geue you secrete warnynge, I wil mourne fro my whole hert for youre stubbornesse. Pyteously wil I wepe, and the teares shal gusshe out of myne eyes. For the lordes flocke shal be caryed awaye captyue. Tell the kynge and the rulers: Humble youre selues/ sett you downe lowe, for the crowne of youre glory shal fall from your head. The cyties towarde the south shalbe shut vp, and no man shal open them. E Al Juda shal be carted awaie captiue, so that none shal remayne.

Lyft vp youre eyes, and beholde them/ that come from the North: Like a fat flocke shal they fal vpō ỹ. To whom wilt ỹ make thy mone, when they come vpō the? for thou hast taught thē thy selfe/ and made them maisters ouer the. Shal not sorowe come vpon the, as on a woman trauailing with child? And if thou woldest sate then in thyne herte: Wherfore cō these thinges vpō me? Euen for the multitude of thy blasphemyes, shall thy hinder partes and

The prophecy.

thy fete be discuered,
For like as the man of Inde mate chaunge hys skynne, and the cat of ỹ moũtayne her spottes: so maye ye that be exercysed in euel, do good. Therfore wil I scater you, lyke as the stoble that is taken awaye with the south wynde.
This shal be your porcion, and the porcyon of your measur, wherwith ye shal be rewarded of me, saith the Lorde: because ye haue forgotten me, and put your trust in disceatful thinges. Therfore shal I turne thy clothes ouer thy hed, and discouer thy thyghes, that thy preuitties maye be sene, thy aduoutrye, thy deedly malice, thy beastlynes and thy shameful whordome. For vpon ỹ feeldes and hylles. I haue sene thy abhomynacions. Wo be vnto the (O Jerusalẽ) whẽ wilt ỹ euer be clẽsedeny mo

The notes.

a* A prophecy don by an outward sygne, as it is saide in .iii. reg. xi. e. k.

¶ Of the derth ỹ shulde come in Jewry. The prayer of the people asking mercy of the Lord. The vnfaithful people ar not heard. Of prayer, fastynge, & of fauice prophets that seduce the people.

¶ The .xiiii. Chapter.

THe word of the Lord shewed vnto Jeremy, concernynge the derth of the frutes Juda shall mourne, men shal not go much mor thorow hys gates: the land shalbe nomore had in reputacion, and the crie of Jerusalem shal breake out. The lordes shal sende their seruauntes to fetch water/ and when they come to the welles/ they shal finde no water/ but shal cary their vessels home emty. They shalbe ashamed and confounded/ and shal couer their heades. For the ground shall be dried vp, because there commeth no raine vpon it. The plowmen also shal be ashamed/ and shal couer their heedes. The Hynd shal forsake the ponge fawne, ỹ he bringeth forth in ỹ feld because there shalbe no grasse. The wylde Asses shal stãd in the mosse/ & draw in their wynd lyke the dragons/ their eyes shal fayle for want of grasse.

Doutles our owne wickednesse reward vs. But Lord do ỹ accordyng to thy name, though our transgressiõs & sinnes be many. For thou art the comfort & helpe of Israel i ỹ time of trouble a* Why wylte ỹ be a straunger in the Lande, and as one that goeth ouer the felde/ and commeth in onli to remaine for a nyght? Why wylt thou make thy selfe a cowarde, and as it were a gyaunt that yet maye not helpe? b* For thou art ours (O Lorde) and we beare thy name, therfore forsake vs not.

Then spake the Lord, concernynge this people that haue pleasure to go so humbly wyth theyr fete, and leaue not of, and therfore displease the Lorde: in so moch, that he wil now bring againe to remẽbraunce al their misdedes, and punysh all theie synnes. Ye euen thus sayde the Lorde vnto me: Thou shalt not praye to do this people good. For though thei fast, I wil not heare their prayers. And though they offre burnt offrynges and sacrifices, yet wil not I accepte them. For I wyl destroye them with the sweard, honger and pestilence. Then answerde I: O Lorde God/ the prophetes saie vnto them: Tush, ye shal se no sweard, and no honger shal come vpõ you, but the Lord shal geue you continu al rest in this place.

And the Lorde sayde vnto me: The prophetes preach lies vnto them in my name. I haue not spoken wyth them/ nether gaue I them ent charge, nether dyd I sende them: yet thei preach vnto you false visiõs, charmyng vanite, disceatfulnesse of their owne hert. Therfore thus saith the Lord: As for those prophetes ỹ preach in my name/ whõ I neuertheles hauenot sent) & ỹ say: tush, there shal nether batel ner honger be in this land: With sword & wt hõger shal those prophetes perish, & the people to whom they haue preached shalbe cast out of Jerusalem, dye of honger, & be slaine with the sword (and there shalbe no man to burie them) both they & their wyues, their sõnes & their daughters. For thus wil I poure their wikednes vpon thẽ. This shalt thou saie also vnto them: Myne eyes shall wepe without ceassyng daye and night. For my people shalbe destroyed wt greate harme & shal perish wt a greate plage. For if I go into ỹ feld, lo, it lieth full of slayn men: Yf I come into the citye, lo/ they be al famished of honger.

Yee

ye they? prophetes also and prests, shalbe led into an vnknowen lande.

Hast thou then vtterly forsake Iuda? (sayde I) Doest thou so abhorre syon? Or hast thou so plaged vs, that we can be healed nomore? We loked for peace, and there commeth no good: for ỹ tyme of healthe, and lo, here is nothyng but trouble. We knoweleg (O lord) al our mysdedes, and the synnes of our fathers, that we haue offended the. Be not displeased, O Lord, for thy names sake, forget not thy louyng kyndnes: Remembre the trone of thyne honoure, breke not the couenant, that thou hast made wyth vs: Are there any amonge the goddes of the Gentyles, that sende rayne or geue the showers of heauen? Doest not thou it O Lorde our God, in whome we trust? yee Lorde/ thow doest all these thynges, a* Why wylt thou be as a straunger. As who say. Thou behauest thy selfe vnto vs as a straunger, or as a waye fereng man: for thou settest not by vs, ner dyspolest thy strenghtes to helpe vs.

The notes.

b* Some reade, but thou, O Lorde, art in the myd dest of vs, and thy name is called on, of vs.

¶ The Lord wil not heare Moses or Aaron, if thei praye for the people, but wyl wrappe them in many myseryes. The cause of suche gret myseries.

¶ The. xv. Chapter.

Then spake the Lorde vnto me, and sayd: Though moses and Samuell stode before me, yet haue I no herte to thys peple. Dryue thẽ a waye, that they maye goo oute of my syghte. And if they saye vnto the: Whether shall we go? Then tell them: The Lorde geueth you thys answere: Some vnto death, some to the swerde, some to hunger, some to captiuitye. For I wyl bringe foure plages vppon thẽ sayth the Lorde. The swerde shall straungle them, the dogges shal deuoure them, the foules of the ayre, ãd beastes of the earth shal eate them vp/ And destroy them. I wyll scatter them about also in all kindomes and landes eobe plaged/ because of Manasseh thee sonne of hesekias Kynge of Juda, for the thin ges that he dyd in Jerusalem.

B Who shal then haue pity vppon the/ O Jerusalem? Who shalbe sory for thee? Or who shall make intercession, to obtayne peace for the? seynge thou goeste fro me, and turnedest backwarde, sayth the Lorde? Therfore I wyll stretche out myne hande against the, to destroy the, and I wyl not be intreated. I wil scatre the abroade with the fanne on euery syde of the land: I wyl waste my people and destroye them, for they haue had no luste to turne from their owne waye. I wyll make their wydowes mo in nombre, then the sandes, of thee se. Upon the mothers of their children. I shall bringe a destroyer in the noone daye. Sodenly and vnawares/ shall I sende a feare vpon their cities. She that hath borne vii. children, shall haue none, her herte shall be full of sorowe.

The sunne shall fayle her in the clere daye, when she shall be confounded and fayntte for very heuenesse: As for those that remayne, I will delyuer thẽ vnto the swearde of their enemyes, sayeth the Lord. O mother, alas that euer thou dyddest beare me, an enemye and hated of the whol land: Though I neuer lente ner receaued vpon vsury, yet all men speake euell vpon me. And the Lord answered me: Lede not I the thẽ vnto good? Come not I to thee, when thou art in trouble: and helpe the, whẽ thyne enemye oppresseth the? Doth one yron hurte an other, or one metall ỹ commyth from the North, another? As for youre riches and treasure/ I wyl geue them out into a praye, not for anye money, but becaus of all your sinnes, that ye haue done in all your coastes. D And I wyll bringe you with youre enemyes into a land/ that ye know not: for the fyre that is kindle in my indignation/ shall burne you vp.

O Lorde (sayde I then) thou knowest all thynges, therfore remembre me, and viset me/ delyuer me from my persecuters: Receaue not my cause in thy long wrath, yee thou knowest ỹ for thy sake I suffre rebuke. When I hadde found thy word I eat them vp gredily they haue made my hert Joyfull and glad. For I cal vpon thy name/ O lorde God of hostes. I dwel not among ỹ scorners, neyther is mydelyte therein: but I dwel only in the feare of thy hãde, for ỹ hast fyled me wyth bytternes.

Shal my heupnesse endure forever? Are my plages then so grete, that they maye neuer be healed? Wylt thou be as a water, ẏ falleth, and can not contynue? Upon these wordes, thus laid the lord vnto me: If thou wilt turne agayne, I shal set the in my seruyce: and if thou wylt take out the thinge ẏ is precious from the vyle, thou shalte be euē as myne owne mouth. They shall conuert vnto the, but turne not thou vnto them: and so shal I make the a strong wal of stele agaynst this people. They shal fyght against the, but they shal not preuaile. For I my selfe wil be w̄ the, to helpe the, and delyuer the, saieth the lord. And I wyl rid the out of the handes of the wycked, and deliuer the out of the hand of Tirauntes.

The prophecieth the mysery of the Jewes. He sheweth, that the worshiping of Idoles & the contēpt of Gods law, is the cause of their misery. He prophecieth ẏ captiuity of Babilō, & their deliueraūce frō thēce againe. The calling of ẏ Gēt ils.

The.xvi. Chapter.

Moreouer, thus sayde the Lord vnto me: Thou shalt take thee no wyfe, ner beget chyldren in this place. For of the chylderen that are borne in this place, of theyr mothers that haue born thē, & of their fathers that haue begotten them in this lande, thus sayth the Lord: They shall dye an horryble death, no man shall mourne for them, ner bury thē, but they shal lye as donge/ vpō the earth. They shal perysh thorow the sweard, and hunger and theyr bodyes shalbe meate for thee foules of the ayre, & beasts of the earth. Agayne thus saith ẏ lord: Go not vnto them, that come together for to mourne and wepe, for I haue taken my peace from this people (sayth the Lorde) ye my fauoure and my mercy. And in this lande shall they dye, olde and yonge, ād shal not be buryed, no man shall bewepe them, no manne shall clyppe or shaue hym selfe for them.

There shall not one visite an other, to mourne wyth them for their dede, or to cōfort them. One shall not offre another the cuppe of consolation, to forgette theyr heupnesse for father and mother.

Thou shalt not go into their feast house, to sytt downe, moche lesse to eate or drynke with them. For thus sayth the Lorde of hostes, the God of Israel: a* Beholde, I shal take awat out of this place, the voyce of myrth and gladnes, the voyce of the bryde grome and of ẏ bryde: yee and that in youre dayes, ẏ ye may se it.

Now when thou shewest thys people all these wordes/ and they say vnto the: Wherfore hath the Lord deuysed all this great plage for vs? Or what is the offence and synne, that we haue done against the Lorde oure God? Then make thou them this answere: Because youre fathers haue forsaken me (sayth the Lorde) & haue cleued vnto straunge goddes, whom they haue honoured and worshipped: but me haue they forsaken/ād haue not kept my lawe. And ye with your shamefull blasphemyes, haue exceaded the wyckednes of youre fathers. For euery one of you, foloweth the froward and euell ymagynation of hys owne herte/ and is not obedient vnto me.

C

Therfore wil I cast you out of this lande, into a land that ye and your fathers knowe not: and there shall ye serue straunge goddes daye and nyght, there wyll I shewe you no fauour. Behold (sayth the Lord) the dayes are cōme, ẏt shall nomore be sayd: The lord liueth, which brought ẏ childrēof Israel out of ẏ land of Egypt: but, it shall be sayde/ the Lorde liueth, that brought the chyldren of Israel from the north, and from all landes where I had scatred them. For I wyl bring them agayne into thi lande, that I gaue theyr fathers.

D

Behold (sayth the Lorde) I wyll sēde out many b* fyshers to take them, & after that wyll I sende out many hunters to hunte them out from all mountaynes and hylles ād out of the caues of stones. For myne eyes beholde all theyr wayes, and they cannot be hydd from my face, nether can theyr wycked dedes be kepte close oute of my syghte. But fyrst wyll I sufficientlye rewarde theyr shamefull blasphemyes & synnes wherwith they haue defyled my lande:

Na

Namely, with their stincking Idoles and abhominactons, wherewyth they haue fylled mine heritage. O lord, my strength/my powet, and refug in time of teouble. The Gentyles shal com vn to the krō ẏ endes of ẏ world/& sai: Ue rely our fathers haue cleaued vnto lyes, their Idoles are but vayne and vn profitabe. How can a man make those his goddes, which are not able to bego odes. And therfore I wyll ones teache them, saieth the Lord, I wyll shew thē my hande & my power, that they maye know, that my name is the lord.

nota Idoles

The notes

a* The maner of the Prophetes comēly, is, first vt terly to condemne, & after to relace & comfort ẏ faythful, as Jeremy doth here in this chapter, & as it is vsed the whole scripture thorow.

b* By these fishers ar vnderstand ẏ hostes, by wh om the lord scourged ẏ Jewes, & fished away their rulers. At foure sōdry draughtes wer foure of their kiges takē & at euery time som of ẏ chef of ẏ peple wā al but at ẏ last in ẏ tyme of zedekiah was al therest of ẏ people hunted out of those cruel hūters ẏ Cha ldes. iiii. Reg. xxv. a. &. Reade ẏ note in ẏ, xxii. cha. folowyng, at ẏ letter c.

¶ The frowardnes of ẏ Jewes. Cursed be those that put their confidēce in man, & those blessed that trust to God. Manes hert is wycked. God is ẏ searcher of ẏ hert. The lyuyng waters are forsakē. The halowing of ẏ Sabboth is commaunded.

¶ The. xvii. Chapter.

A YOur sinne (O ye of ẏ trybe of Juda) is wrytten in the table of youre hertes, and grauen so vpon the endes of youre alters wt a pen of yron & wan adamāt clawe: ẏ your chil dren also maye thincke vpon your aui ters, woddes/thicke trees/hye hilles/ mountaynes & feldes. Wherfore, I wyl make al your substaunce and trea sure be spoiled, for the greate sinne ẏ ye haue don vpō your hie places thorow out al the coostes of your lande. Ye shal be cast out also from the heritage, that I gaue you.

And I wyl subdue vnder ẏ heuy bon dage of your enemies, in a land that ye know not. For ye haue minystred fyre to my indignacion, which shall burne euermore. Thus saith the lord: Cursed be the man ẏ putteth his trust in man/ and a* that taketh flesh for hys arme: and he, whose hert departeth frō ẏ lord He shalbe lyke the heeth, that groweth in the wildernes.

B As for the good thing that is for to cō, he shal not se it: but dwel ī a dry te place of the wyldernes, in a salt and vnoccu pied land. * O blessed is the man, that putteth his trust in ẏ Lord, and whose hope is the Lord himself. * For he shal be as a tre/ that is plāted by the water syde; which spreadeth out the rote vn to moystnesse, whom the heate can not harme, when it commeth, but his leues are grene. And though there grow but lytle frute because of drouth / yet is he not carefull, but he neuer leaueth of to bringe forth frute. Amonge all thinges lyuing, man hath the most disceateful and vnserchable hert.

nota O blessed the man that putteth ẏ tanfor ẏ for he shal

Who shal then know it? Euen I ẏ lord seazch out the grounde of ẏ hert, & trye the reines, & reward euery man ac cording to his wayes, & according to ẏ frut of his councels.

nota Doctr

The disceatfull maketh a nest, but bryngeth forth no yong: He cōmeth by ryches but not rightuously. In ẏ mid dest of his lyfe must he leaue thē behid him, & at ẏ last be founde a very foole.

But ẏ (O Lorde) whose trone is moste glorious, excellēt & of most antyquite, which dwelest i ẏ place of our holy rest: Thou art the cōfort of Israel. All they ẏ forsake the shalbe cōfoūded: al thei ẏ depart frō the, shalbe wrytten in earth, for they haue forsaken the lord, the very condyte of the waters of lyfe:

D Heale me, O lord, & I shalbe whole: saue ẏ me/ & I shall be saued/ for thou art my prayse. Behold, these men saye vnto me: Where is the word of ẏ lord? Let it come. Where as I neuertheles ledyng the flock in thy wayes, haue cō pelled none by violence. For I neuer desired eny mans deeth/ this knowest thou wel. My wordes also were right before the. Be not now terrible vnto me, O lord, for thou art he in whom I hope, when I am in parel. Let my per secuters be cōfoūded, but not me: let thē be afraied, & not me. Thou shalt bring vpō thē ẏ tyme of their plage, & shalt destroye them right sore.

Agayne / thus hath the lord sayde vnto me: Go and stande vnder ẏ gate where thorow ẏ people and the kinges of Juda go out and in/ yee vnder al ẏ gates of Jerusalem, and say vnto thē, Heare the word of the lorde, ye kynges

of

of Juda,and althou people of Juda & al ye cities ins of Jerusalē,that go thoꝛow this gate: Thus the Loꝛd cōmaū deth: Take hede foꝛ your lyues,that ye cary no burthen vpon you in the Sabboth,to bꝛinge it thoꝛow the gates of Jerusalem: ye shall beare no burthen also oute of your houses in the Sabboth.[b]* Ye shall do no labour therin, but halow the Saboth,as I cōmaū ded youre fathers. How be it they obeyed me not, nether harkened they vnto me:but were obstinate and stubburne/ and neither obeyed me, noꝛ receiued my coꝛrection. Neuertheles/if ye will here me(saieth the Loꝛd)and beare no burthen in to the cytye thoꝛowe this gate vpon the Sabboth: Ye wyll halow the Sabboth / so that ye do no woꝛcke therin:then shal there go thoꝛow ẏ gates of this citye, kynges and pꝛinces/ that shall syt vpon the stole of Dauid: They shal be caryed vpon charettes,& ryde vpon hoꝛses, both they and their pꝛynces. Yee whole Juda and all the cytesyns of Jerusalem shall go beare thoꝛow,and this cytie shal euer be the moꝛe and moꝛe inhabited. There shall come men also from the cyties of Juda from about Jerusalem, and from the land of Ben Jamin,from the playne feldes/from the mountaynes & from ẏ wyldernes:which shal bꝛinge burntoffeꝛinges,sacrifices/ oblacions/ and incense,and offer vp thanckesgeuyng in the house of the loꝛd. But yf ye wil not be obedient vnto me,to halow ẏ Sabboth,so ẏ ye wyll beare your burthens thoꝛow the gates of Jerusalem vpon ẏ Sabboth: Then shal I set fyꝛe vpon ẏ gates of Jerusalem,and it shall burne vp the houses of Jerusalem/& no man shal be able to quenche it.

The notes

a* That taketh flesh foꝛ his arme, his, ẏ puteth his trust in any thing but in the Loꝛd.

b* Ye shal do no labour therin, but halow the Sabboth as I cōmaunded your fathers .&c. The foundacion of the fayth, is, to beleue Godds pꝛomeses, & that he made ẏ whole woꝛld, & doth also gouern it & further ẏ he knoweth and wil iudg al thinges .&c. These thinges did the lawe requyꝛe in keping of ẏ Sabboth, to cōfesse both vn woꝛd and sygne: and to geue diligent hede to ẏ hering & interpꝛeting of the lawe to thinck of ẏ glozy of god, & to releue ẏ faithful soule with ẏ fodder of the woꝛd, to ministre occasion also vnto the simple ẏ they likewise might attempt such thinges in their houses amongest their houshold folckes, to be pitiful ouer the werynes of such neighbours as laboured soare al ẏ weke lōge, & release them to attend & geue hede to ẏ exercyses of the spꝛete & to ẏ consolacion & cōfoꝛting of their neighboures: not only to abstaine from outwarde woꝛkes, and fulfyl their appetites and lustes, foꝛ ẏ dyd ẏ loꝛd foꝛbyd. The Sabboth shuld be applyed to the leaful seruing of God, not to synfulnes & wātones. It is cōmaunded to be sanctyfyed, not to be polluted and defiled w naughtynes. To god alone must we also kepe it, and cal on his name: other godes oꝛ goddes felowes ought we not to enquere of, ner fal downe vnto them. But when such occasiōs come as turne our rest in to occupaciō and labour, thē ought we to remembꝛe ẏ ẏ Sabboth was ozdened foꝛ man, not man foꝛ ẏ Sabboth. Marc. ii. d. so that in ẏ meane season/ the feare of god & ẏ charite toward our neighbour (which ar the cheif & pꝛyncypal thinges in ẏ obseruacion of ẏ Sabboth) be not lyghtelye regarded.

The .xviii. Chapter.

God sheweth, by ẏ example of a potter, that it is in his powꝛ to destroy the dispysers of his woꝛd, & to help thē agayne when they amend. The conspiracie of the Jewes against Jeremy. His plaint against his aduersaꝛies.

THis is another communicaciō, that God had with Jeremy, saying: Arise, and go downe & to the Potters house/ and there shal I tel the moꝛe of my minde. Now whē I cā to the Potters house/ I found him mākyng his woꝛke vpon a whele. The vessel that the Potter made of clay, bꝛeke among his handes: So he beganne a new, & made another vessell, accoꝛding to his minde. Then said the Loꝛd thus vnto me: Maye not I do with you, as this Potter doth, O ye house of Israel/ sayeth the Loꝛd? Behōlde, ye house of Israel: ye are in my hande/ euen as the claye in the Potters hande.

When I take in hande to rote out & to destroye, oꝛ to waste awaye eny people oꝛ kingdom: if that people (against whom I haue thus deuysed) conuerte from their wickednes: Immediatlye/ I[a]* repent of the plage, that I deuised to bꝛynge vpon the. Agayne When I take in hande, to buylde, oꝛ to plante a people oꝛ a kingdome: yf ẏ same people do euell before me/ and heare not my voyce: ymmediatly, I repent of the good, that I deuise to do foꝛ them. Speake now therfoꝛe vnto whole Juda/ and to them that dwell at Jerusalem: Thus sayth the Loꝛd: Behold, I am deuising a plage foꝛ you, and ā taking a thyng in hande against you. Therfoꝛ let euery man turne from hys euel waye, take vpon you the thinge that is good, and do right. But they saye: No moꝛe of this, we wyll folowe

we our owne ymaginacions, and doe uery man according to ỹ wylfulnes of his owne mynde.

Therfore thus sayth the Lorde: Aske among the heathen, yf any man hath harde such horrible thinges, as the daughter of Sion hath done. Shal not the snowe (that melteth vpon the stony rocks of Libanus) moyste the feldes? Or may the sprynges of of watersbe so grauen awaye, that they runne no more, geue moystnes/nor make frutefull? But my people hath so forgotten me, that thei haue made sacrifice vnto vayne Goddes. And whyle they folowed their owne wayes, they are come oute of the hye strete/& gone into a fote way not vsed to be troden. Wherthorow they haue brought theyr lande into an euerlastinge wildernes and scorne: So that whosoeuer trauaylethe thereby, shalbe abassched, and wagge theyr heades, with an East wynde wyll I scatter them, before theyr ennemyes. And when their destruction cometh, I wyll turne my backvpon them/ but not my face. Then sayd they: come, let vs ymagyne something a gainst this Jeremy. Ye thys dyd euen the prestes/to whom the lawe was committed: the Senatoures, that were the wyseste: & the prophetes, which wanted not the word of god. Come (sayde they) let vs cutt oute his tonge, and let vs not regarde hys wordes. Consydre me/ O Lord, and heare the voyce of myne enemyes. Do they not recompence euell for good, when they dig a pyt for my soul? Remembre, how that I stode before the, to speake for thē, & toturn awai thi wrath frō thē

Therfore let their chyldrē dye of hūger, & let thē be oppressed wt the swerd. Let theyr wyues be robbed of theyr children, & become wyddowes: let theyr husbandes be slayne, let theyr yong mē bee kylled wt the swearde in ỹ felde. Let ỹ noyse be herd out of theyr houses, whē the murtherer cōmeth sodenly vpō thē: For they haue dygged a pytte to take me, & laid snares for my fete. yet lorde, ỹ knowest all their coūcell, ỹ they haue deuised, to slaye me: & therfore forgeue thē not their wickednes, & let not their synne be put out of thy syghte: but lett them be iudged before the, as the gylti. This shalt thou do vnto them in thes tyme of thy indygnation.

The notes

a* The repentaunce of God is, the chaunginge of hys deade, as ye haue i. Reg. xv. c.

¶ He prophecieth the destruction of Jerusalem, for the contempt and despysynge of the worde of God.

¶ The. xix. Chapter

MOreouer, thus sayd ỹ Lord vnto Jeremy: go thy way, & bye the an erthen pytcher, and brīge forth the Senatours, and chefe prestes into the valleye of the chylderen of Hennom, which lyeth before the porte that is made of bryck/ and shewe them there the wordes, that I shall tell the/ & say thus vnto thē: Heare the worde of the Lorde, ye kynges of Juda/ & ye cytesyns of Jerusalem: Thus sayth ỹ Lorde of hostes the God of Israell: beholde/ I wyll brynge such a plage vpon thys place, that the eares of all ỹ heare it, shall glowe. And that because thei haue forsakēme, & vnhaloued this place, ād haue offred in it vnto straūge goddes: whome nether they, theyr fathers, nor the kynges of Juda haue known. They haue fylled thys place also with the bloude of innocents, for they haue set vp an alter vnto Ball/ to burne theyr chylderen for a burnt offringe vnto Ball, which I nether commaunded, nor charged them/ nether thought once therupon.

Beholde therfore, the tyme commeth (sayth the Lorde) that thys place shall nomore be called a* Topheth, nor thee valley of the chyldren of Hennam but ỹ valley of slaghter. For in thys place wyll I slaye the Senatours of Juda and Jerusalem, & kyll them downe wt the swerde in the syght of theyr ennemyes, and of them that seake theyre lyues: And theyr ded carcases wyll I geue to be meate for the foules of the ayre/ and beastes of the felde. And I wyll make thys citie so desolate, and despysed: that who so goeth therby shall bee abassched ād feast vpon her, because of all her plages.

I wyl fede them also wt the flesh of theyr sonnes & their daughters. Ye euery one shall eate vp another in the besegyng & straytnes/ wherwt their enemyes (ỹ seke their lyues) shal kepe thē & and

And the pytcher chalte thou breake in the syght of the men, that chalbe wyth the, and saye vnto them: Thus sayeth the lord of hostes: Euen so wyl I destroy thys people and citye: as a Potter breaketh a vessel, that cā not be made whole agayne.

In Topheth chal they be buryed, for they shal haue none other place. Thus wyl I do vnto this place also, saieth ỹ Lord, and to them that dwel therin: ye I wyll do to this citi, as vnto Topheth (For the houses of Jerusalem and the houses of the kynges of Juda are defiled, lyke as Topheth) because of al the houses, in whose Parlers they did D sacrifice vnto al the hooste of heauen, and poured out drincke offrynges vnto straunge goddes. And so Jeremye cām from Topheth, wher the lord had sent hym to prophecye, and stode in the courte of the house of the Lord, and spake to all the people: Thus sayeth the Lord of hoostes the god of Israel: Beholde, I wyl bringe vpon this cytie & vpon euery towne about it/al the plages that I haue deuised against them: for they haue ben obstinate, and wold not obeye my warninges.

The notes

a * Of Topheth ye haue before in the .vii. g.

¶ Jeremy is smitten and cast in to prison, for preachyng of the word of god. He prophecyeth ỹ captyuyte of Babilon. He complaineth that he is a mockyng stock, for the word of god. He is compelled by the spyrite to preache the word, wyl he wyl he not.

¶ The .xx. Chapter

A When a* Phashur the prest the sonne of Emer, chef in the house of the lord, herd Jeremi preache so stedfastly: he smote Jeremy, & put him in the stockes, that are by the hye gate of Ben Jamin, in the house of the Lord. The next daye folowing Phashur brought Jeremye out of the stockes agayne. Then sayde Jeremy vnto hi The Lord chal cal the no more Phashur (that is excellent and increasynge) but Magor (that is fearefull and afrayed (euery where. For thus sayeth the Lord: behold, I wyl make the a frayed, the thy self/and al that fauour the which shall perishe with the swerde of their enemyes, euen before thy face.

And I wyl geue whole Juda vnder the power of the kyng of Babylon which shall carye some vnto Babylon prysoners, and slaye some with the swerd. Moreouer/all the substaunce of thys lande, all theyr precious and gorgious workes, all costlynes/and all the treasure of the kynges of Juda: wyll I geue into the handes of theyr enemyes, whych shal spoyle them, and cary them vnto Babylon. But as for the (O Phashur) thou shalt be caryed vnto Babylon with all thyne housholde, and to Babylon shalt thou come, where thou shalte dye, and be buryed: thou and all thy lauourers, to whome thou hast preached lyes. O Lord, thou makest me weake/ but thou refreshest me, and makest me stronge agayne. All the daye longe am I despysed, and lauged to scorne of euery man: because I haue nowe preached longe against malicious tyranny, and shewed thē of destruction. For the which cause they cast the word of the Lord in my teeth, and take me euer to the worst.

Wherfore/ I thought from hence C forth, not to speake of hym: nor to preach any more in his name. But the worde was a very burnyng fyre in my herte and in my bones, which when I wolde haue stoped/ I might not. For why, I herd so many derisions and blasphemyes, ye euen of myne owne companyons/and of such as were conuersaunte wyth me: which wente aboute/to make me afrayde, sayeng: Upon him, lett vs go vpon hym, to feare hym & make hym hold his tong: that we may ouercome him, and be auenged of him

But the Lorde stoode by me, lyke a myghty gyaunte: therfore my persecuters fell/and coulde do nothynge. They shalbe sore confounded/for they haue done vnwysely, they shall haue an euerlastyng shame. And nowe, O Lord of Hostes, thou rightuous sercher (which knoweste the reynes and the verye hertes:) let me se them punished, for vnto the I commit my cause.

Synge vnto the Lorde/and prayse hym, for he hathe deliuered the soule of the oppressed/from the hande of the violent. b* Curled be the daye/ wherin I was borne: vnhappye be the day wher

D

in

in my mother broght me forth. Cursed be the man, that brought my father tydyngs, to make hym glad, sayeng: thou haste gotten a sonne. Let it happē vnto that man as to the cities whiche the Lorde turned vpsyde doowne (when he had hearde longe the wicked rumoure of them) because he slewe me not, as sone as I came out of my mothers womb, and because my mother was not my graue her selfe, that the byrth myghte not haue come oute / but remayned styll in her. Wherfore came I forth of my mothers wombe: To haue experience of laboure and sorowe: and to leade my lyfe with shame:

The notes.

a * Thys Phashur was the hye bysshop of the temple, the ringleader of false prophetes, the chefe herytaker, that is, the ouerthrower of true godlynes The dignitie of Pristhode, geuen vnto hym he abused. For he taught not and reproued by the woordes but feared the Godly wyth cruelitie, he is not the greater man that stryketh / but he is the stronger that is stryken, he not onely stroke but also pyysoned hi that withstoud him not, but pacientlyloked for the helpe of God. It is no newe thynge (ye may se) for Bysshoppes to persecute the prophetes of the Lorde, for theyr preaching of the truth & constancy, b * What is signifyed by curling of the day is shewed in Job. iii. a. Thys sentence and other lyke are not to be taken as examples of impacience in holy men, but as the confessi on of the frayltie of man cō playnyng thus vnto hym that only can helpe and cā forth them.

¶ The prophecyeth that zedekyah shalbe taken, ād the citie burned.

¶ The. xxi. Chapter.

THese are the woordes ỹ the Lorde spake vnto Jeremy what time as Kynge zedekiah sēt vnto him Pashur the sonne of Melchiah / and Sophoniah the sonne of Maasiah preest sayinge: Aske councell at the Lorde (we pray the of oure behalfe / for Nabuchodonoser the Kynge of Babylon besegeth vs, yf the Lorde (peraduenture) wil deale with vs, accordinge to hys maruelos power, and take hym from vs,

Then spake Jeremye. Geue zedekiah this answere. Thus sayth the Lord god of Israel: behold, I wyl turnback the weapons that ye haue in your handes, wherwith ye fight against the kinge of Babylon, and the Caldees which besege you round about the wales, and I wyll bringe them together into thee myddest of this citte, and I my selfe wyll fyght agaynst you, with an oustretched hand, and with a mighty arme, in great displeasur and terrible wrath: & wyl smite them / that dwel in this citee: bothe men and cattell shall dye of ỹ pestilence.

And after this (saith the Lorde) I shal delyuer zedekiah the king of Juda, and his seruaunts, his people (and such as are escaped in the citye, from ỹ pestilence / swearde, and honger) into ỹ power of nabuchodonosor king of Babylon: yee into the handes of their enemyes, in to the handes of those that folow vpon their liues, which shal smite them with the sword: they shal not pitye them, they shal not spare them, they shal haue no mercy vpon them. C

And vnto this people thou shalt saye: Thus saieth the Lorde: * behold, I laie before you the waye of lyfe and deeth. Who so abydeth in this cytte / shall perysche. ether with the swerd / with honger, or with pestilence. But who so goethe out to holde on the Chaldes part, ỹ besege it, he shal saue his life, and a * shal wynne his soule for a pray. For I haue set my face agaynst this cytte (sayeth ỹ lorde) to plage it / and do it no good.

It muste be geuen in to the hande of the kyng of Babylon, and be brent with fyre.

And the house of the kynge of Juda, saye thus: Heare the word of the lorde (O thou house of Dauid) for thus saith the lord: Minister rightousne and that sone, delyuer the oppressed frō violent power: or euer my terryble wrathe breake oute lyke a fyre, and burne so, ỹ no man maye quench it, because of the wickednes of your imaginacyōs Behold (saieth the lord) I wyl cōe vpō you, ỹ dwel in ỹ valleis, rocks and feldes, & saie: Tush: who wyl make vs afrayed: or who wil come into our houses: For I wil vyset you (saith ỹ lorde) because of ỹ wickednes of your inuēcyōs, & wyl kindle such a fire i your wod, as shal consume al / ỹ is about you. D a * Shall wynne his soule for a praye, that is, shall escape daunger: It is alone with that which goethe before he shall take hys lyfe: hys soule that is, hys lyfe, shalbe vnto hym as a pray: because he shuld vtterly haue loste it, if he had bydden in Jerusalem: and by flying vnto the Chaldees he shuld wynne it, euē as a man wynneth a pray in battell.

The notes

Ye

Cheerhorteth the kynge of Juda to iudgemente, & ryghtoulnes. Why Jerusalem is brought into captiuitie. The death of Salum the sunne of Josua, is prophecyed.

The.xxii. Chapter.

A THus sayde the Lorde also: Goo downe into the house of the king of Juda/and speake there these wordes, and saye: Heare the worde of ỹ Lorde, thou kyng of Juda that sytteste in the kyngly seate of Dauid: thou and thy seruauntes and thy people/that go in and out at this gate. Thus the LORDE commaundeth: kepe equitie and ryghtuousnes/delyuer the oppressed from the power of the violente: do not greue nor oppresse the straũger, the fatherles nor the wyddowe/and shede no innocent bloude in this place.

B And if ye kepe these thinges faythfully, then shall there come in at the dore of thys house kings, to syt vpon Dauids seat: they shalbe caried in Charets and vpon horses, both they and their seruauntes/and their people. But if ye wyll not be obedient vnto these cõmaundementes, I sweare by myne owne selfe (sayth the Lorde) thys house shalbe waste. For thus hath the Lorde spoken vpon the kynges house of Juda: Thou art the head, as Galaad is in Lybanus: What wylt thou saye of it, yf I make the not so wast (and thy cities also) that no man shal dwel therin: I wil prepare a destroyer with hys weapons for the, to hewe downe thy speciall Cedre trees: and to caste them in the fyre

And all the people that go by this C citie shall speake one to an other: wherfore hath the Lorde don thus vnto this noble cyty: Then shall yt be answered, because they haue broken the couenaunt of the Lorde their God, and haue worshipped and serued straunge Goddes, Mourne not ouer the dead, and be not wo for them, but be sory for hym that departethe awaye: for he commethe not agayne, and seeth his native countre nomore. For thus sayth the Lorde/ as touchyng a Selum the sonne of Josyah kynge of Juda, which raygned after hys father/and is caried out of this place: He shal neuer com hither againe for he shall dye in the place, wherunto he is led captiue, and shal se this lande nomore. Wo worth him, that buyldeth hys house wyth vnryghtuousnes, and his parlers with the good that he hath gotten by violence: which neuer recompenseth his neyghbours laboure, nor payeth him his hyre. He thynckethin him selfe: I wyl buylde me a wyde house, and gorgeous parlers: He causeth windowes to be hewen therin, and the sylynges and geastes maketh he of Cedre, and paynteth them with zenober. Thinckest thou to raigne, now that ỹ prouokest me to wrath wyth the Cedre trees?

D Dyd not thy father eate and drincke and prospere well, as longe as he dealt with equite and ryghtuousnesse? Yee when he helped the oppressed and poore to their ryght then prospered he well.

From whence came this, but onli because he had me before his eyes, sayeth the Lord. Neuertheles, as for thine eyes and thyne hert/they loke vpon couetousnesse, to shede innocent bloude, to do wrongand violence. And therfore, thus E sayeth the Lorde agaynst Jehoakym, the sonne of Josiah kyng of Juda: They shal not mourne for him (as they vse to do) alas brother, alas syster: nether shal they say vnto hi: Alas syr, alas for that noble prynce. But as an Asse shal he be buryed, corrupt and be caste without the gates of Jerusalem.

Clymme vp the hil of Libanus (O thou daughter Sion) lyfte vp thy voyce vpon Basan/ crye from all partes: for al thy louers are destroyed. I gaue ỹ warnyng, whyle ỹ wast yet in prosperite. But thou saydest: I wyl not here. And this maner hast thou vsed frõ thy youthe, that thou woldest neuer heare my voyce. Al thy herdmen shalbe dryuen wyth the wynde, and thy derlinges F shalbe caryed away into captiue: Thẽ shalt thou be brought to shame and cõfusyon, because of all thy wyckednes: thou that dwellest vpon Libanus, & makest thy neste in the Cedre trees. O how greate shal thy mournyng be, when thy sorowes com vpon the, as a woman trauelyng with childe?

As truly as I lyue (sayeth ỹ lord

Though

Though[b]* Conantah ỹ sonne of Jehoakim kyng of Juda were the syguet of my right hand/yet wil I pluck him of: And I wil geue the in to the power of them that seke to slay the, and in to ỹ power of them that thou feareste: into the power of Nabuchodonosor ỹ king of Babilon, and into the power of the Caldees. Moreouer, I wyll sende the, and thy mother that beare the/ in to a straung land, wher ye were not borne, and there shal ye dye. But as for the land that ye wil desire to return vnto, ye shal neuer come at it agayne. Thys man Conantah shalbe lyke an ymage robbed and toren in peses, whych pleaseth no man, for al his apparrel. Wherfore both he and his sede shalbe sent awaie, and cast out into a land, that thei know not.

O thou earth, earth, earth: heare the word of the Lord: Wryte this man amonge the outlawes, for no prosperyte shal this man haue al his lyfe long. Nether shall eny of his sede be so happye, as to syt vpon the seate of Dauid, and to beare rule in Juda.

The notes

a* Some vnderstand here bi Selū al the sonnes of Josiah. And verely they were al takē prysoners wt greate shame, & dyed out of Jerusalem ye out of the lande of Israel, & were buryed without ỹ honoure due vnto Kinges. Fyrst Jehoahaz (whom manye thynke to be specyaly signifyed by Selum) was brought into Egipte & ther he died. iiii. Reg. xxiii. g And his brother Eliaki which came in his stede was taken of Nabuchodonosor, & fetered & brought to Babylon. Par. xxxvi. a Whose successoure. Jehoacin was also brought to babilō, & his mother to. iiii. Reg. xxiiii. c. At the last his vncle zedekiah thrugh hys falshed both to god & man, betrayed ỹ whole kyngdome & was also brought to Babylon, & there had his chyldren slaine, before his face, & his owne eyes put out. iiii. Reg. xxv b. All this whole lamentable busines shuld Jeremi seame to note here in few wordes. If any man thinck this prophecy to belong only to Jehoahaz withhim wyl I not striue.

b* Otherwise, Jehoacin iiii. Reg. xxiiii. b & also Jeconiah, Mat. i.

C Hye speketh against enel Curates ỹ make hauock of ỹ flock of ỹ lord. Of ỹ conuersion of ỹ remnaūt of ỹ Jewes to ỹ faith. The cōmig of ỹ true shepard Christ is prophesied.

Agaynst false prophetes, Whē a prophet preacheth ỹ word of God, God, cōuerteth ỹ herts of the hearers Agaynst Prophetes ỹ preache lyes vnder the name of god. The miracles of false Prophetes.

C The. xxiii. Chapter.

A WO be vnto the shephardes, that destroy, and scattre my flocke. saieth the lorde. Wherfor, this ỹ cōmaūdement of the Lorde God of Israell/ vnto the shepherdes that fede my people: Ye scatre and thrust out my flocke, and loke not vpon them. Therfore now wyl I visit the wickednes of your ymagynactions, saieth the Lord: And wyl gather together the[a]* remnaunt of my flocke, from all landes that I had dryuen them vnto/ and wyl bryng them agayne to their pastures, ỹ they maye grow and increase. I wil set shepardes also ouer them, which shall fede them. They shall nomore feare & dred, for there shal non of them be lost saieth the lord. Behold, the tyme commeth, saith the Lord, ỹ I wyl rayse vp the ryghtuous braunch of Dauid, which shall rule/ and discusse matters wt wysdom/ & shal set vp equyte and righ tousnes againe in the earth, B

In his tyme shall Juda be saued & Israel shal dwel without feare. And this is the name that they shall cal hi: euen the lord our righteousmaker. And therfore beholde, the tyme cōmeth saieth the lord/ ỹ it shal no more be sayde: the Lord lyueth, which brought the childzen of Israell out of the lande of Egipt: But the lorde lyueth, which broughte forth, and led the sede of the house of Israel/ out of ỹ North lande/ and from al countreis where I had scatered them, and they shal dwell in their owne land agayne.

My herte breaketh in my body because of the false prophetes, al my bones shake: I am become lyke a dronken man (ỹ by the reason of wyne can take no rest) for very feare of the lorde, and of his holye wordes: because the lande is ful of aduouterers, where thorow it is destroyed and mourneth, and ỹ pleasaunt pastures of the deserte are dryed vp. Yee the waye that men take, is wycked, and their gouernaunce is nothynge lyke the holy worde of the lord: For the prophetes and the preestes themselues are poluted ypocrites, and their wickednes haue I found in my house saieth the lorde. Wherfore/ their waye shalbe slipery in the darcknes, wherin they maye stacker and fal. For I wyll bringe a plage vpon them, euen the yeares of their visytacyon, saith ỹ Lord. I haue sene foly among the prophetes of Samaria, that thei preached for Baal, and disceaued my people of Israel.

D

The prophecy

I haue sene also among the Prophetes of Jerusalem, foule aduoutry/and presumptuous lyes. They take the most shamfull men by the hand, flatteting them, so ꝑ they cā not returne frō their wickednes: All these with their cytezyns are vnto me, as Sodom, and as the inhabitours of Gomorre.

Jerem.xxiii.b Therefore thus sayeth the lorde of Hostes concernyng the prophetes: Beholde/ I wyl fede them with wormwod and make thē drynck the water of gal For from the prophetes of Jerusalē is the sycknes of ypocrisy com in to al the land.

Nota Nota Note not the prophetes D Jerem. xxviii & xxviii.b

And therfore the lord of Hostes geueth you this warnyng: Heare not the words of the prophetes that preach vnto you/ & deceaue you: for thei speake ꝯ meanyng of their owne hert, & not out of the mouth of the lorde. They saye vnto them, that despyce me: The lorde hath spoken it: Tush ye shal prosper ryght wel. And vnto al them/ ꝯ walck after the lust of their owne herte, they saye: Tush there shal no misfortune happen you. For who hath sytten in ꝯ councel of the lord, that he hath herd & vnderstand, what he is about to do? Who hath marked his deuise, & herde it? Behold the stormy wether of the Lord (that is, his indignacion) shal go forthand shal fal downe vpon the hed of the vngodly. And the wrath of the lord shall not turne agayne/ vntyll he performe and fulfyl the thought of his hart. And in the latter dayes yee shall know his meanyng.

Jerem.xii.a Sophon.i.c

nota sent not sent ꝯ prophets

I haue not sent these Prophets (saieth the Lorde) and yet they ranne. I haue not spokē to thē, and yet they preched. But yf they had contynued i my counsel and herd my wordes: they had turned my people from their euell wayes and wycked imaginacions. Am I then God ꝯ seethe but the thinge, which is nye at hande, and not that is far of, saieth the Lord? Maye eny man hyde hym selfe, that I shal not se hym? sayeth the Lorde?

E Jere.xiiii.b nota yf they had Do not I fulfyl heauen and earthe? sayeth the Lorde? I haue herd wel ynough/ what the prophetes saye, that preache lyes in my name, sayinge: I haue dreamed, I haue dreamed. How longe wyl this contynue in the prophetes hertes, to tel lyes, and to preache the craftye sutletye of their owne herte? Whose purpose is (with the dreames that euery one tel) to make my people forget my name, as their fore fathers dyd/ when Baal came vp. The prophet that hath a dreame, let him tel it: and he that vnderstandeth my word, let hym shewe it faythfully.

For what hath chaffe and wheate to do to gether, sayeth the Lorde? Is not my word lyke a fire, saieth the lord, and lyke an hammer, that breaketh ꝯ hard stone? Therfore thus sayeth the lorde: beholde/ I wil vpon the prophetes, b* ꝯ steal my word priuely from euery mā. Behold, here am I, saith ꝯ lord) against the prophetes, that take vpon their tūges to speake: The lord hath sayde it. Behold, here am I (saieth the Lord) agaynst those prophetes, that darre prophesy lyes and disceue my people with their vanytes, and myracles, whom I neuer sent, nor cōmaunded them. Thei shal do this people grete harme sayth the lord.

F

Yf this people, ether ent prophet or preest aske ꝯ, and saie: what is the c* burthen of the Lord? Thou shalt saye vnto them: What burthen? Therfore wil I cast you fro me (saieth the lorde) because ye your selues are a burthen. And the prophet, preste or people that vseth thys terme (the burthenne of the Lord) him wyl I visit/ and his house also.

But thus shal ye saye, euerye one to another: What answeare hathe the Lorde geuen? or what is the lordes commaundemente?

And as for the burthen of the Lorde/ ye shall speake nomore of yt: for euerye wans owne worde is his burthen, because yee haue altred the wordes of the lyuynge God the Lorde of Hostes our God,

G nota ꝯ wordes ꝯ lyuynge

Thus shal euery man saye to ꝯ prophetes: what answere hath the Lord geuen thei? Or what, sayeth the Lorde?

And

And not once to name the burthen of the Lord. Therfore thus sayeth ỹ lord: For so much as ye haue vsed thys terme (the burthen of the Lord) where as I notwithstanding sent vnto you, and forbade you to speake of the Lordes burthen.

Beholde therfore, I wyl repute you as a burthen/ and wyl cast you out of my presence: yee and the cytie also, that I gaue you and your fathers: and wil bring you to an euerlastynge confusyō, and in to such a sham, as shal neuer be forgotten.

The notes

a* The faithful people are called remnauntes, because they are but few in nombre: as it appereth. Esay. x. e f, Mat. xx. b b* That stele my name, ỹ is, ỹ shew I my name, and ther thing which I haue not commaunded.

c* That is the prophecy: heuy word of the lord Esa xiii. a Abac. i. a

The. xxiiii. Chapter.

¶ The vysion of the. ii. pannyers of fygges The fyrst vysion signifieth that part of the people shuld be brought agayne frō captiuite. The second, that zedekiah and the rest of the people shulde be destroyed.

THe lord shewed me a vysyon: Behold, there stode two maundes of fygges before the Temple of the lord, after that Nabuchodonosor kyng of Babilō had led away captiue Jechoneah ỹ sonne of Jehoaim kynge of Juda, the mightymen also of Juda w̄ the worckmasters, and conning mē of Jerusalem, vnto Babilon. In the one maund were very good fyges, euen lyke as those that be first ripe. In the other maunde were very naughtye fyges, which might not be eaten, they were so euel. Then sayd the lord vnto me: what seyst thou Jeremy? I sayde: fyges, wherof some be very good, and some so euell, that noe man maye eate them.

Then came the word of the lorde vnto me, after this maner: Thus saith the lord the god of Israel; like as thou knowest ỹ good fyges, so shal I know the men led awaye, whom I haue sente out of this place in to the lande of the Caldees/ for their profyte: and wyll set many eyes vpō them for the best, for I wyl bring them agayne into his lande, I wyl vuyld them vp and not breake them downe: I wyl plāt them/ and not rote them out. And I wyl geue the an hert to know, how that I am the lord. They shalbe my people, and I wyll be their God/ for they shall returne vnto me w̄ their whole hert.

And lyke as thou knowest the naughtye fyges, whych may not be eatē, they are so euel: Euen so wyl I sayeth the Lord (let Zedekiah the kyng of Juda/ (ye and al his princes, and the residue of Jerusalem that remayne ouer i this lande, and them also that dwel in Egypte) to be vexed and plaged in all kyngdomes and landes. And wyll make them to be a reproffe/ a comen byworde, a laughyng stocke and shame, in al the places, wher I shal scatre thē. I wyl send the sweard, hongre and pestilence among them, vntil I haue clene consumed them out of the lande, ỹ I gaue vnto them and their fathers.

¶ Jeremy prophecyeth that they shalbe in captiuyte lxx. yeares, because they contempted: dyspysed ỹ word of God. He sheweth ỹ after lxx. yeares the Babylonyās shuld be destroyed. The destruccio of al nacions is prophecyed. He moueth the Prestes of ỹ nacions to waylyng.

The. xxv. Chapter.

A Sermon that was geuen vnto Jeremy, vpon all the people of Juda: In ỹ fourthe yeare of Jehoakim the sonne of Josiah kynge of Juda, that was in the fyrste yeare of Nabuchodonosor kyng of Babilon. Which sermō, Jeremy the prophet made vnto all the people of Juda/ and to al the inhabitours of Jerusalē, on this maner.

From the. xiii. yeare of Josiah the sonne of Amon kynge of Juda/ vnto this present daye (that is euē. xxiii. yeares (the word of the lorde hath bene cōmitted vnto me. And so haue I spokē to you, I haue risen vp earlye, I haue geuen you warnynge in Season, but ye wold not heare me. Though the lorde hath sent his seruaunt, al the prophetes vnto you in season: Yet wold ye not obeye, ye wold not encline your eares to heare.

He sayde: turne agayne euery mā frō his euel waye, & frō your wicked ymaginacions, and so shall ye dwell forever in the lande/ that the Lorde promysed

Sl.ii your

you and youre forefathers: And go not after straūge goddes, serue them nott, worshypp them not, and anger me not with the worckes of youre handes: thē wyll not I punische you. Neuertheles/ ye wolde not heare me (sayth the lorde) but haue defied me withe the worckes of youre handes, to your owne greate harme.

Wherfore thus sayth the Lorde of Hoostes: because, ye haue not harkned vnto me worde, lo I wyll sende oute, and call for all the people, that dwel in the north, sayth the lorde, and wyll prepare Nabuchodonosor ỹ king of Babilō my seruaunt/ and wyll bryng thē vpon this lande, and vpon all that dwel therin, and vpon all the people that are aboute them/ and wyll vtterly rote thē oute. I wyll make of them a wyldernesse / a mockage, and a continuall desserte.

C Moreouer/ I wyll take from them the  voyce of gladnesse and solace/ ỹ voyce of the bridegrom and the bryde, the voyce of the annoynted, wythe the creatures: and thys whole lande shal become a wyldernes and they shall serue the salde people, and the king of Babylon/ thre score yeares and ten. Whē the .lxx. yeares are expyred, I wyll visite also the wyckednes of the kynge of Babylon & his people sayth the Lord: yee and the lande of the Caldees, & will make it a perpetuall wyldernesse and wyll fulfyll all my wordes vpon that Lāde, which I haue deuised agaynste it: ye all that is written in thys boke, whiche Jeremy hath prophecyed of al all people/ so that they also shalbe subdued vnto dyuers nacions and greate kynges, for I wyll recompence them a cording to theyr dedes and worckes of theyr owne handes.

nota Job. xxxiiii b

D Esay. li. and Psal. lxxv. b

For thus hath the lorde God of Israell spoken vnto me: Take thys wyne cuppe of indignation fro my hande/ ỹ thou mayst cause al the people, to whō I send the, for to dryncke of it/ that whē they haue droncken thereof, they maye be mad and out of theyr wyttes, when the swerde commeth, that I wyll sende amonge them. Then toke I the cuppe from the lordes hāde, and made al the people drynche therof, vnto whom the lord had sent me.

But fyrst the citie of Jerusalem, ād al the Cities of Juda/ theyr kynges & prynces: to make them desolate, waste, despised and cursed accordingas it is come to passe thys day: ye and pharao the kynge of Egypte/ his seruauntes hys prynces and his people altogether, one with anotherand all kinges of the lā de of Hus, all kinges of the philistines land, Ascalon, Azah, Accaron, and the remnaūt of Asdod / the Edomites, the Moabites and the ammonites: All the kyngs of Tyrus and Sydon: the kinges of the Iles, that are beyond the se Dedan, Thema, Buz and the shauen Ismaelytes: all the kinges of Arabye, (& generally) al the kynges that dwell in the deserte: al the kynges of Zamry, all the kynges of Elam, all the kinges of the Medes, al kynges towarde the North, whether they be farre or ny/ euery one with his neyghbours: Yea and all the kingdoms that are vpon the whole earth the kinge of Sezach/ sayde he, shall dryncke with them also.

E

And saye thou vnto them: Thys is the commaundemente of the Lorde of hoostes the God of Israell: Dryncke & be dronken/ spewe and fall, that ye neuer ryse: and that thorow the swerd, which I wyll send among you. But yf thei wyll not receaue the cuppe of thy hand, and dryncke it, then tell them: Thus doth the Lorde of hostes threaten you: dryncke it ye shal and that shortly. For lo, I beginne to plage the citi, that my name is geuen vnto: Thynke ye then, that I wyll leaue you vnpunished: ye shall not go quite. For why, I cal for a swearde vpō all the inhabytours of the earth, sayth the lorde of hoostes.

F

Jerem. xlix. & Ezechi. ix. b. i. Pete. iiii. c

Therfore tell them all these wordes, and saye vnto them: The lord shal cry from aboue, and let hys voyce be herde from hys holy habitacion, With a grete noyse shall he crye from hys court ye gall. He shall geue a great voyce (lyke the grape gatherers) and the sound therof shalbe hearde vnto the endes of the worlde. For the lorde hath a iugemente to geue vpon al people, and wyll hold his courte of iustice wyth all flesche and

Joel. iii. c Amos. i. a punish

punith the vngodlye, sayth the lorde.

For thus saieth the lord of hoostes. Beholde, a myserable plage shall goo from one people to another, and agret stormy water shal aryse from al the endes of the earth. And the same daye shal the lorde hi selfe slay thē, from one ende of the earth to another. There shal no mone be made for eny of thē none gathered vp/ none buried: but shall lye as dung vpon the ground.

G Jerem. xxv.d

Mourne (O ye shepardes) and cry sprynkle your selues with ashes, O ye rammes of the flock: for ỹ tyme of your slaughter is fulfilled/ and ye shall fall like vessels connyngly made for pleasure.

The shephardes shal haue no waie to fle, and the rammes of the flock shal not escape. Then shal the shepardes crye horriblye, and the rammes of the flock shal mourne: for the Lord shal cōsume their pasture/ and their beste feldes shal lye deed because of the horrible wrath of the Lord. They shal forsake their foldes lyke as a lyō: for their landes shalbe wast because of ỹ wrat of the destroyer, and because of his fearefull indignacion.

Psal. xlviii.

The notes

a *By these things are vnderstand ỹ pastyme, ỹ' prosperitie ỹ abundaūce of worldly thinges. Al these wold ỹ Lord take away frō the Jewes. Jer vii. g. x. i ¶ Jeremy moueth the people to amendemet. He is taken of the Prophetes and Priestes, & brought to iudgement, he being accused before the Princes and sweareth, that he had preched only the wordes of god The rulers and the people deliuer Jeremy agaynst the willes of ỹ Priestes & prophetes: after ỹ example of hezekiah, which had deliuered Micheah, ỹ had preached ỹ same thinges that Jeremy had preched Uziah ỹ Prophete is killed of Jehoakim, contrary to the wyl of god.

The. xxvi. Chapter.

A In the begynning of ỹ reygne of Jehoakim ỹ sonne of Josiah kyng of Juda, came this worde from the Lorde, saying; Thus sayeth the Lord: Stande in the courte of ỹ lordes house, & speke vnto al thē which (out of ỹ cites of Juda) cō to do worship i ỹ lordes house/ all ỹ wordes ỹ I cōmaūd ỹ to sai. Loke ỹ ỹ kepe not one word back, if (peraduētur) they wil hark ken, & turne euery mā from his wycked waie ỹ I maye also a *repent of ỹ plage which I haue determed to bring vpon thē because of their wycked inuēcions.

And after thys maner shalt thou speake vnto thē; Thus sayeth the Lorde: yf ye wyll not obey me, to walke in my Lawes, which I haue geuen you, and to heare the wordes of my seruauntes/ the Prophetes, whom I sent vnto you rysing vp timely and styll sending: Yf ye wyll not followe them (I saye) then wyll I doo to thys Houle, as I dide vnto Siloh/ and wyll make thys City to be abhorred of all the People of the earth. And the preests, the prophetes and all the people hearde Jeremye preache these wordes in the house of ỹ Lorde.

B

Now, when he had spoken out all ỹ wordes, that the Lorde commaunded hī to preache vnto all the people, then the preestes/ the prophetes and all the people toke holde vpon him, ād sayde: thou shalt dye. How darrest thou be so bold, as to saye in the name of the lorde. It shal happen to thys house as it dyd vnto Siloh: and thys cytie shalbe so waste, that no man shall dwell therin. G

And when al the people were gathered aboute Jeremye in the house of the lord, the Princes of Juda herd of this rumoure, and they came lone out of the kynges palace into the houle of the lorde, and sate them down before the newe dore of the lord. Thē spake the preestes and the prophetes vnto the rulers/ ād to all the peple, these wordes: This mā is worthy to dye, for he hath preached agaynst this citie, as ye your selues haue herde wyth youre eares. D

Nota

iiii. Re. xv. & Jere. xxvi. b

John. xix. a

Thē sayd Jeremy vnto the rulers and to all the people: The Lord hathe sent me to preach agaynst thys house & agaynst thys cittie, al the wordes that ye haue haue herde. Therfore amende youre wayes and youre aduisementes and be obedient vnto the voyce of the Lorde youre God: so shall the Lorde repent of the plage, that he had deuysed against you. As we as for me: I am in youre handes, do with me as ye thynke expedient and good. But thys shal ye knowe: yf ye put me to death, ye shal make your selues/ thys cite and all the inhabitours therof, guilty of innocent bloude. For thys is of a truth: that the Lord hath sent me vnto you, to speke all these wordes in your eares.

Nota

Matth. xxiiii. c

Then sayde the rulers and ỹ people vnto the prestes and prophetes: This man maye not be condemned to death for he hath preached vnto vs in ỹ name of the Lord our god. The Elders also of the land stode vp/and sayd thus vn Micheas.a to al the people: Micheah the Morasthite/which was a prophet vnder Ezekiah kyng of Juda spake to al ỹ people of Juda: Thus saieth the Lord of f hostes: Sion shalbe plowed like a feld
Micheas.iii.c Jerusalem shalbe an heape of stones and the hil of the Lordes house shalbe turned to an hye wod. Nowe did Ezekiah the king of Juda and the people of Juda put him to death for this? No verely, but rather feared the Lorde, & made their prater vnto him. For the which cause also the lord repented of ỹ plage that he had deuised agaynst them.

Should we thē do such a shameful dede agaynst our soules? There was a prophet also, that preached sy fly in ỹ name of the lorde, called Uriah the sonne g of Semeiah of Cariathiarim: this mā preached also agaynst this cytye and agaynst this lande, accordinge to al as Jeremy sateth. Now when Joachim iii,Re,xxii,d the king wyth al the estates and prynces had herd his wordes, the king wēt ii,Reg,xix,a about to slay him: When Uriah perceiued ỹ he was afraid, and fled, & departed in to egipt.
Matth.i.c

Then Joachim the king sent seruauntes into the lande of Egipt Namely: Elnathan the sonne of Achabor and certeyne men with him into Egipt which fetched Uriah out of egipt, and broughte hym vnto kinge Joachim that slew him wt the sweard, and caste hys deed body into the comen peoples graue But Ahikam the son of Saphā helped Jeremy, that he came not into ỹ handes of the people to be slayne.

The notes

 The lord repenteth him of ỹ plage ỹ he wold send when he auengeth it not, but ordereth & forgeueth it: & synners amēd, & forthinck their offences. Gene vi.b.i.Re.xv.c

¶ Jeremy at ỹ commaundement of the Lord, sendeth bondes to the kyng of Juda, and to the other kynges that were ny, wherby they are monished to become subyectes vnto Nabuchodonosor, He warneth the people and ỹ Kinges & rulers, that they beleue not false prophetes

¶ The.xxviii. Chapter

A In the begynning of ỹ reygne of Joachym the sunne of Josiah kyng of Juda came this woorde vnto Jeremy from the Lord which spake thus vnto me: Make the bondes and chaynes, and put them about thy necke, and sende them to the kynge of Edom, the king of Moab. the kinge of Ammon, the kynge of Tyrus, and to the kinge of Sydon: and that by the messengers which shal come to Jerusalem vnto Zedekiah the kinge of Juda and byd them saye vnto theyr maisters, Thus saith the Lord of hostes: the god of Israel speake thus vnto your masters: I am he that made the earthe the men, and the catell that are vppon the ground, with my great power and outstretched arme and haue geuē it vn to whome it pleaseth me. And now wyl
B I delyuer all these landes into the power of Nabuchodonosor the kinge of Babylon my seruaunte. The beastes also of the felde shall I geue hym, to do hym seruice, and all people shall serue hym, and hys sonne and hys chyldes chylderen, vntyll the tyme of the same lande be come also: yee many people and greate kynges shall serue hym,

Eccle.x.a
Judich.xi.d
Jere.xxvii.a.
Danie.iiii.c
Jerem.xxv.b
Jerem.xxii.b
xxviii.a.Ad xlii.c

Moreouer, that people and kingdome which wyll not serue Nabuchodonosor/and that wyll not put theyr neckes vnder the yoke of the kyng of Babylon: the same people wyll I vyset wt the swerde with honger, with pestylence/vntyll I haue consumed thē in hys handes sayth the Lorde. And therfore folowe not youre prophetes/sothesayers/expounders of dreames, charmers & wytches/which say vnto you, ye shal not serue the kyng of Babylon. For they preach you lyes/to bring you fare from your lande, and that I myght cast you out and destroy you. But the people that put theyr neckes vnder the yocke of the kinge of Babylon, and serue the kynge of Babylon. and serue hī those wyll I let remayne styll in theyr owne lande (sayeth the Lorde) and they shall occuppye it, and dwell therin.

Jere.xxvii.c xxix.b

All these thynges tolde I Zedekiah ¶ the kyng of Juda and sayd. Put your Jer.xxxviii.c neckes vnder the yocke of the kyng of Babylon

Babylon, and serue hi and his people/ that ye maye lyue Why wilt thou and thy people perysh with the swearde, w hongre/with pestylence: lyke as ỹ lozd hath deuysed koz al peple, that wil not serue the king of Babilon: Therkoze
Jere, xxiii:c, Jerem, xxix b geue no eare vnto those Prophetes (ỹ tell you: Ye shal not serue the kyng of Babilon) koz they preache you lyes. ne ther haue I sent them, saieth the Lozd how be it they are bolde/falsely to pro phecy in my name: that I myght the so ner dryue you out/ and that ye myght
D perish wyth your preachers. I spake to the Prestes also, and to all the people: Thus sayeth the Lozde: Heare not the wozdes of those Prophetes/that preache vnto you/and saye: Behold/the a* vessels of the lozdes house shal shortly be brought hyther agayne from Babi lon: For they prophecy lyes vnto you. Here them not/but serue the king of Babilon, that ye maye lyue. Wherkoze wyl ye make thys citye to be dest royed: b* But yf they be true Prophe tes in very dede, and yf the wozd of the Lozd be commytted vnto them, thẽ let thẽ praye the lozde of hostes that the rẽ naunt of the ornamentes (which are in the house of the lozd, and remayne yet i the house of the kyng of Juda and at Jerusalem) be not caryed to Babylon also. Foz thus hath the Lozd of hostes spoken concernyng the pyllers, ỹ lauer ohe ieate and the residue of the ornamẽ tes that yet remayne in this citye/wht ch Nabuchodonosoz the king of Babi lon toke not when he caried awaye Je chontah the sonne of Jehoakim kyng of Juda/with all the power of Juda & Jerusalem, krom Jerusalem vnto Ba bylon, ca ptyue.

Yea thus hath the Lozd of hoostes the god of Israel spoken, as touching the residue of the ornamentes of the Lozdes house/of the kyng of Judaes house/and of Jerusalem: They shal be caryed vnto Babylon / and there they shal remayne: vntyl I vyset them sayeth the Lozde. Then will I bryng them hyther agayne. And this was done in the same yeare: euen in the be gynning of ỹ reigne of zedekiah kyng of Juda.

The notes.

a * That is to wet, those vessels ỹwer caried awai with Jeconiah

b * But if they be tru pzophtes, Marke ỹ trupzophe tes & such as lene to ỹ wozd may w pzaier mitygate the vengaunce that god thzeteneth: But ỹ false pzo phetes & pzechers as thy leane to lyes & pzeche no no ther thing, so is their pzaier vane & frutles.

¶ The false pzopheey of Hananiah the Pzophet. Jeremye sheweth that the pzopheepe of hananiah is false, by the exãple of theother Pzophetes he beig inspired the lozd repzoueth hananiah. pzopheeying his deth.

¶ The .xxviii. Chapter.

BVt in the fourth yeate of ỹ I raygne of zedekiah kynge of Juda, in the fyft month it happened/that Hanani ah the Sonne of Assur, the pzophet of Gabaon, spake to me in the house of the Lozd, in the pzesence of the pzestes and all the people, and sayde. Thus sayeth the lozde of hostes ỹ god of Israel: I haue broken the yock of ỹ king of Babilon, and after two yeare wil I bzing agayne into this place, al the ornamentes of the Lozdes house/ that Nabuchodonosoz king of Babilõ caryed awaye from this place vnto Ba bylon. Yea I wil bzing agayne Jecho niah the sonne of Jehoakim the kyng of Juda hym self, w all the pzesoners of Juda (ỹ are caried vnto Babylon euen into the place, sayeth the lozd, foz I wil breake the yock of the kynge of Babylon.

Thus the pzophet Jeremy gaue an B swere vnto the pzophet Hananiah/be foze the pzestes, and be foze al ỹ people that were pzesent in the house of ỹ lozd And the pzophet Jeremie saide: Amen the lozd do ỹ, and graunte the thynge, which thou haste pzophecyed: that he maye bzinge agayne all the ornamen tes of the Lozdes house, and restoze all the pzesoners from Babilon in to the place. Neuertheles, herken thou also what I wil saye, that thou and all the people maye heat: The pzophetes ỹ were befoze vs i tymes past, which pzo phecyed of warre, oz troble, oz pestilẽce ether of peace, vpon manye nacyons & grete kigdomes/wered pzoued by this (yf god had send thẽ in very dede) whẽ the thing come to passe, which that pzo phet tolde befoze. C

And Hananiah the pzophet toke ỹ chayne

The prophecy

Deu, xviii.d
Num xviia

chayne from the Prophete Jeremyes neck, and brake it and with that sayde Hananiah, that al the peple migh heare: Thus hath the lord spoken, euē so wyll I breake the yocke of Nabuchodonosor kyng of Babilon/ frō ỹ neck of al nacions, yea and that within this two yeres. And so the prophet Jeremy went his waye. Now after that that Hananiah the prophete had taken the chayne frō the prophet Jeremyes neck and broken it: The word of the Lorde came vnto the prophet Jeremy sayēg:

D Go/ and tell Hananiah these wordes: Thus sayeth the Lord: Thou hast broken the chayne of wod, but in stead of wod thou shalt make chaynes of yron. For thus sayeth the lorde of hoostes ỹ god of Israel: I wyl put a yock of yrō vpō the neck of al this people that thei maye serue Nabuchodonosor the king of Babilon, yea and so shal they do. And I wyl geue him the beastes in the felde. Then sayde the prophet Jeremy vnto the prophet Hananiah: Heare me (I pray thee) Hananiah: The Lorde hath not sēt thee/ but thou bringest this people into a false beleke. And therfore thus sayeth the Lord: behold I wil sēd out of the land, and within a yere thou shalt dye because thou hast falsly spoken agaynste the lorde. So Hananiah the prophet dyed the same yeare in the seuenth Moneth.

Jerem.xix.e

¶ The pystle of Jeremy, sent vnto them that were in captyuite in Babylon. He prophecieth their returne from captiuite after. lxx, yeares. He prophecyeth the destruction of the kynge and of the people that remayned in Jerusalem. He threateneth. ii. Prophetes that seduced the people. The death of Semeia ỹ Nehelampte is prophecied.

¶ The. xxix. Chapter.

A THis is the Copy of ỹ letter that Jeremy the prophete sent from Jerusalem vnto the presoners: the Senatours, prestes, prophetes, and all the people, whome Nabuchodonosor had led vnto Babylon, after that tyme that kynge Jechoniah, and his Quene/ his chamberlaynes the princes of Juda and Jerusalem the workemasters of Jerusalem were departed thyther.

Which letter Elasah the sonne of Saphan and Gamariah the sonne of Helkiah dyd beare, whom Zedekiah ỹ kyng of Juda sent vnto Babilon to Nabuchodonosor the kyng of Babilon: these were the wordes of Jeremyes letter.

Thus hath the Lorde of hoostes ỹ god of Israel spoken vnto al the presoners, that were led from Jerusalem vnto Babilon: buylde you houses to dwel therin: plant you gardēs, that ye maye enioye the frutes therof, take you wyues to beare you sonnes and daughters; prouyde wyues for your sonnes, and husbandes for youre daughters, that they get sonnes and daughters & that ye maye multyply their. Laboure not to be fewe, but seke after peace and prosperite of the citye wherin ye be presoners, and praye vnto god for it. For in the place therof, shal your place be. For thus sayeth the lorde of hoostes the god of Israel: Let not those prophetes and soth sayers that be among you disceaue you: and beleue not your owne dreames. For why, they preache you lyes in my name/ & I haue not sēt them sayeth the lorde.

But thus sayeth the lorde. When ye haue fulfilled, lxx yeares at Babilō I wyl bring you home/ and of myne owne goodnes I wyl cary you hither agayne vnto this place. For I knowe what I haue deuysed for you sayeth the lorde. My thoughtes are to geue you peace, & not trouble (which I geue you all tedi) and ỹ ye might haue hope agayne. Ye shal crye vnto me, ye shal go and call vpon me, and I shall heare you.

Ye shall seke me and fynde me/ Yea, yf so be ỹ ye seke me with youre whole harte, I wyll be founde of you (sayeth the Lord, and wyll deliuer you out of prison/ and gather you together agayne out of al places wherin I haue scatred you/ saith ỹ lord & wyl bring you agayn to the same place, frō whence I caused you to be caryed away captyue.

But where as ye saye, that a* God hath raysed you vp prophets at Babilon' Thus hath the lorde spoken (concernynge the kynge that sytteth in the stoole of Dauid, and al the peple that dwel in thys citye, youre brethren that are not gone with you in to captiuyte)

Thus

Thus (I saye) speaketh the Lorde of hooſtes: Behold, I wil send a sweard honger and peſtilence vpon them, and wyll make them lyke vntymely kyges/ that maye not be eaten for bitternes: And I wyl persecut them with ỹ swearde, with honger and death:

I wyl delyuer them vp to be vexed of al Kingdomes, to be curſed / abhorred, laughed to scorne, and put to confuſion of al the people, amonge whome I haue scatred them: that because they haue not bene obedient vnto my commaundementes (sayth the Lord) which I sent vnto them by my seruauntes ỹ prophetes. I stode vp early, and sente vnto them/ but they wolde not heare/ sayeth the Lorde. Heare therfore the worde of the Lord, all ye prisoners, whō I sente from Jerusalem vnto Babilon, Thus hathe the lorde of hooſtes ỹ god of Israel spoken of Ahab the son of Colatah, and of zedekiah/ ỹ sonne of Maasiah, which prophecieth lyes vnto you in my name: Behold/ I wyl delyuer thē in to the hand of Nabuchodonosor the kyng of Babilon, that he maie slay thē before your eyes. And al the prisoners of Juda that are in Babilon, shal take vpon them this terme of curſing/ and saye: Now God do vnto the/ as he did vnto zedekiah & Ahab, whom ỹ kinge of Babilon rosted in the fyre, because they sinned shamefully in Israel.

For they haue not only defiled their neighbours wyues, but also preached lieng wordes in my name, which I haue not commaunded them. This I testify, and assure, sayeth the Lord. But as for Semeiah ỹ Nehelamite thou shalt speake vnto him: Thus sayeth ỹ lorde of hooſtes the God of Israel: Because thou hast seled letters vnder thy name, vnto all the people that is at Jerusalem, & to Sophoniah the sonne of Maasiah ỹ prest, yee and sent them to all ỹ prestes: wherin thou wrytest thus vnto him: The Lord hath ordened the to be prest in steade of Jehoiada the prest, ỹ thou shuldest be the chefe in the house of the lord aboue al prophets, and prechers, and that thou mightest put thē in prison, or in the stockes. How happeneth it then, that thou haste not repro-

note proceadyng wordes in my name

iiii, Reg, xi, a
ii, par, xxiii, a

ued Jeremy of Anathoth, which neuer leaueth of his prophecyeng. And beside al this/ he hath sent vs word vnto Babylon, and tolde vs playnely, that our captiuite shal long endure; ỹ we shuld buyld vs houses to dwel therin, and to Plante vs Gardens that we might enioye the frutes therof. Which letter Sophoniah ỹ prest dyd reade, and let Jeremy the prophet heare it.

Then came the word of the lord vn to Jermy, saying: Sende worde toall them that be i captiuite, on this maner Thus hath the lord spoken concernige Semeiah the Nehelamite: Because ỹ Semeiah hath prophecyed vnto you without my commyssiō/ and brought you into a false hope, therfore thus the lord doth certyfye you: Behold, I wyl visit Semiah the Nehelamite, & his sede: so that none of his shall remayne amonge this people, and none of them shal see the good, that I wyl do for thys people, sayeth the Lorde. For he hathe preached falsely of the lord.

G Jere, xxviii, e

The notes

a * Such prophetes as preached vnto them ỹ thynges which they were desirous of, dyd they gretly allowe: yee euen after they came to Babylon In the they reioyced, as thoughe they had bene sent of the Lord, * yet were they indeade false Prophetes. But Ezechiel the tru prophet of the lord, which preached the contrary did they persecut. By the false prophetes they said: God hath sent vs Prophetes. * their doctrine dyd they heare and folow. But the true Prophet dyd they mocke * laugh to scorne: * wold vs ther beleue his doctryne, ner geue eare vnto it.

¶ The returne of the people from Babilō. God by his chastenyng sheweth that the people is sinful ¶ destructyon of the enemies of Israel.

¶ The .xxx. Chapter

THese are the wordes/ that the Lorde shewed vnto Jeremye/ saynge: Thus sayeth the Lorde God of Israell: Wryte vp dylygently al the wordes/ that I haue spoken vnto the, in a boke. A

For lo/ the tyme commeth (sayeth the Lorde) that I wyl bryng agayne the prisoners of my people of Israell and Juda/ sayethe the Lorde: For I wyl restore them vnto ỹ land/ that I gaue to their fathers, and they shal haue ỹ in possession.

Agayne/ these wordes spake the lord

the prophecy.

Lorde, concerning Israell and Juda: Thus layth the Lorde: We heare a terrible cry, fere adisquietnes. For what els doth this sygnyfy, that I se: Namely, that all strong men smyte, every mã his hand vpon hys loynes/as a womã in the payne of her trauaile. Who euer saw a mã traueli wyth chyld: Enquere thereafter, & see. Yee all theyr faces are maruelous pale.

B Alas for thys daye, which is so drea defull/that none may be lyk ened vnto it: & alas for the tyme of Jacobs trouble, from the whych he shall yet be delyuered. For in that daye: sayth the lord, I wyl take hys yocke from of thy neck, and breake thy bondes. They shall no more serue straunge Gods vnder him/ but they shall do seruice vnto GOD theyr Lord/and to Dauid theyr king, whom I wyll rayse vp vnto thẽ. * And as for thy O my seruaunt Jacob feare not (sayth the Lord) and be not afrayd, O Israell. For, lo, I wyll helpe the also from farre, and thy sede from the lãde of theyr captiuitie.

And Jacob shall turne agayne/ he shalbe in rest and haue a prosperous li C fe/and no man shall make him afrayd For I am with the, to helpe the/ sayth the Lorde. And though I shall destroy all the people, amonge whome I haue scatered the/yet wyl I not destroy the/ but correcte the, and that with discretion. For I knowe that thou arte in no wyse without faute. Therfor thus say the lorde: I am sory for thy hurte and woundes. There is no man to meddle with thy cause: or to bynde vp thy wũdes: there maye no man helpe the.

All thy louers haue forgotten the/ ãd care nothing for the. For I haue geuen the a cruell strooke, and chastened the roughly: and that for the multitude of thy mysdedes, and synnes I haue had the ouerhande. Why makest thou moone for my harme: I my selfe haue pytye of thy sorowe, but for the multitude of thy mysdoedes and synnes, I haue done thys vnto the.

D And therfore all they that deuoure the, shalbe deuoured, and all thyne enemyes shalbe led into captiuitie. All thet that make the waste, shalbe wasted the selues: ãd all they that robbe the, wyll I make also to be robbed. For I wyll geue the thy helth again and make the woundes whole/ sayth the Lord: because they reuyled the/ as one cast awaye and dispised, O Sion.

E For thus sayth the Lorde: Behold, I wyll sette vp Jacobs tentes agayn/ and defende his dwelling place. The citie shalbe buylded in her olde estate, & the house shall haue theyr tyght e foundacion. And out of them shall go thanckesgeuing, and the voyce of loye.

I wyll multiplye thẽ, and they shal not mynishe: I shall endue them wyth honour, and no man shall subdu them. Theyr Childeren shalbe as afore tyme, and theyr congregation shall continue in my syght. And all those that vexe them, wyll I vysite.

A captayne also shall come of them, and a prynce shal spryng out from the myddest of them: hym wyll I chaleng to my selfe, and he shall come vnto me For what is he, that geuethe ouer hys hert to come vnto me: sayth the Lorde: Ye shalbe my people also, and I wilbe F youre God. Beholde, on the other syde shal the wrathe of the Lord breake out as a stormy water/as a myghtie whirlewynde: and shall fall vppon the heades of the vngodly.

The terrible displeasure of the lorde shall not leaue of, vntyl he haue done, & perfourmed the intent of hys herte, which in the a* latter dayes ye shall vnderstande. At the same tyme (sayth the lorde) shall I be the god of all thee generacions of Israell, and they shall be my people.

The notes.

a* Of the latter dayes and what they sygnify ye haue in Esa. ii. a.

The prophecieth that the people of Israell shalbe restored againe vnto theyr prosperiti. To be turned from synne is the gyfte of God. The byrth of Christ is prophecied. All the wicked shall dye in theyr wickednes. The newe testament and couenaunt is prophecied. The Christen are taught and instructe of the Lorde. Oure Synnes shall so be remitted, that they shal not ones be thought on. God promyseth that he wyll cast of the Jewes. The buylding agayne of Jerusalem.

The. xxxi. Chapter.

THus sayth the lord: The people of Israell whiche escaped in the wylderne sfrom the swerd, foun A de grace to come into theyr reste. Euen so so shall the Lorde now also appeare vnto me from farre/and say I loue thee Ezech.xvi.b wyth an euerlastinge loue, therfore do I spreade my mercye before thee. I wyll repayre thee agayn (O thou doughter of Israell) that thou mayest be fast and sure. Thou shalt take thy tabrettes agayne/and go forth with them, that leade the daunce.

Thou shalte plante vynes agayne vpon the hylles of Samaria: and the grape gatherers shall plante and synge

And when it is time, the watchmē
Esay.lii.a vpon the mount of Ephraim shal cry, Aryse, let vs go vnto Sion to our lorde God: for thus saythe the lorde: Reioyse
B with gladnes, because of Jacob cry vnto the head of the gentyles: spake out, synge, and saye. The lorde shall delyuer hys people/the remnant of Israel and make them whole. Beholde I wil bringe them agayne from. oute of the north lande and gather them from the endes of the worlde with the blynd, ād lame that art amonge them/wythe the women that be great wyth chylde, and suche as be also delyuered: and the company of them that come agayne, shalbe greate,

They departed from hence in heuynes, but wyth ioye wyl I bringe them hyther agayne. I wil leade them by the ryuers of water in a streyght way, where they shal not stomble: For I wylbee Israels father, and Ephraym shall be Deut.xxxii.a Gen.xlviii.d my fyrst borne.

Heare ỹ worde of the lorde, O ye gentyles: preache in the Iles that lye far of and saye he that hath scatered Israell, shal gather hym togetheragayn, ād shal kepe him as a shepherde doth hys flocke: for the Lorde shal redeame Jacob/and rid him from the hand of the violente. And they shal come, and reioyse vpon the hyll of Sion, and shall haue plenteousnes of goodes, whyche the lorde shall geue them: Namely, wheate, wyne, oyle, younge shepe and calues. And theyr conscyence shalbe as a well watered garden, for they shall nomore be hungrye.

Then shall the mayde reioyce in ỹ
C daunce, ye both yonge and old folkes. For I wyl turne their sorow into gladnesse, and wil comfort them & make them ioyful, euen from their hartes. I wyll poure plentuousnes vpon the hartes of the prestes, and my people shall be satisfyed wyth good thynges, saye th the lord.

Thus sayeth the lorde: *The voice of heuynes, wepīg and lamentacion came vp into heauen: euen of Rachell mourninge for her chyldren, and would not be comforted because they were awaye. *Jere.xxxi.f Matth.ii.c

But now saieth the lorde: leaue of from wepīg and crycg, withold thine eyes from tearcs, for thy labour shall be rewarded, saith the lorde. And they shall come agayne oute of the lande of their enemyes: Yea euen thy posteritee shall haue consolacyon in thys (sayeth the Lord) that thy children shal com agayne into their owne lande.

Moreouer I herde Ephrayme, that was led away captyue/ complayne on this maner: O Lord/thou hast correct me/and thy chastenīge haue I receaued, as an vntamed calfe. Conuert ỹ me, and I shall be conuerted, for thou art my lord god: Yee as soone as thou turnest me, I shal reformme my self: & when I vnderstande, I shall* smyte vpon my thygh. For verely I haue cōmytted shameful thynges · O let my youth beare this reproffe and confusiō

Upō this complaīt, I thought this by my selfe: is not Ephraime my deare sonne? Is he not the child, with whom I haue had al myrth and pastime? For sence the tyme that I first commened with him, I haue hym euer in remembraunce: therefore my herte dryueth me vnto him, gladly and louyngly wyl I haue mercy vpon him, sayth the lorde. Get the watchmē, prouyde teachers for the, set thine hert vpon the right waye that thou shuldest walcke, and turne agayn, O thou daughter of Israel, turn agayn to these cityes of thine. Howe long wylt thou go astraye / O ỹ chrinkingedauhter? For the lorde wyl worke a newe thynge vpon earth; b* A woman shall cōpasse a man. D

For thus sayeth the lorde of hooste the God of Israel: It wyl come therto

that

that when I haue brought Juda out of captiuitie/these woordes shalbe hard in the lande and in hys cities: Thee Lorde/which is the faire brydegrome of righteousnes, make the frutefull/ O thou holy hyll: And there shal dwel Juda/and all her cyties, the shepherdes and husbandmen: For I shall feade the hungrye soule, and refresh al faint hertes. When I herde thys I came a gaine to my self, and mused, lyke as I had bene waked out of a swete slepe.

Behold, (sayth the Lord) the dayes come, that I wyl sowe the house of Israel & the house of Juda/ wt mē & wt ca tell. Yet it shall come therto, that lyke as I haue gone about in tymes past to rote them out, to scater them, to breake them downe, to destroy them and chasten them: Euen so wyll I also go dily gētly aboute, to buyld them vp agayn and to plante them, sayth the Lorde.

Then shall it no more be sayde: the fathers haue eaten a sower grape, ād ỹ childerens teeth are set on edge: for euery one shall dye for hys owne myslede, so that who so eateth a sowr grape, hys teeth shalbe set on edge.

Behold, the dayes come (sayth the Lorde) that I wyll make a newe coue-
F naunte with the house of Israell and withe the house of Juda; not after thee couenaunt that I made with theyr fathers, when I toke them by the hande, and led them oute of the land of Egypte: which couenaunt they brake, wherfore I punished them sore, sayth the lord. But this shalbe the couenaunt that I wyll make with the house of Israel after those dayes, sayth the Lorde: I wyl plante my lawe in the inwarde partes of them, and write it in theyr hertes, ād wyll be theyr God, and they shalbe my people.

And from thence forthe shall no mā teache his neighbour or his brother ād say: knowe the lorde: But they shall al knowe mee, from the lowest vnto thee hyest, sayth the Lorde. For I wyll forgeue theyr misdedes, and wyl neuer remembre theyr synnes any more. Thus sayth the Lorde which gaue the sunne to be a lyght for the daye, and the moone and starres to shyne in the nyght: whych moueth the see, so that the floudes therof ware fearce: his name is the Lord of hostes. Lyke as this ordinaūce shal neuer be taken out of my sighte, sayth the Lorde: So shall the sede of Israell neuer ceesse/but alwaye be a people before me:

Moreouer, thus sayth the the Lorde: lyke as the heauen aboue cannot be me G asured, and as the foundacions of thee earth beneth maye not be sought out: So shall I also not cast out the whole sede of Israell, for that they haue committed, sayth the lorde. Beholde the dayes come sayth the lorde, that the citie of the lord shalbe enlarged from the toure of Hananeell, vnto the gate of thee corner wall. From thence shal the tyght measure be taken before her vnto ỹ hyll toppe of Gareb, and shall come about Gaath/ and the whole valley of ỹ dead carcases, and of the asshes/ and al Ceremoth vnto the broke of Cedron: & from thence vnto the corner of the hors gate toward the east, where as the sāctuary of the lorde also shalbe set. And when it is nowe buylded, and set vp of this fashyon, it shall neuer be broken, nor cast downe any more.

The notes.

a * To smyte vpon the thyge is a token of greefe. He meaneth that when the Lord geueth hym vnderstanding, he shall come to repentaunce, and forthynke hys euell conuersacion.

b * This do they comenly expound of the redempty on of Israell, by the simplytude of a woman seaching her husbande. As though the Prophet had sayde: The people of Israell, after they haue of longe tyme forsaken theyr spouse God, shal yet at the last returne and embrace hym with the armes of faithe, charitie, and obedience. &c. Some expounde it of ỹ virgyn Mary: And some of the church the spouse of Chryst.

¶ Jeremye is cast into prison, because he prophecyeth that the cytye should be taken of the kyng of Babylon, by the felde that Jeremy bought at the cōmaūdement of the Lorde, is sygnyfyed, that the People shulde come agayne to theyr owne possession. The people of God are his seruaūts, & he is their Lord. To feare Godis goddes gyfte, to thintent that sinnes maye be eschued.

¶ The. xxxii. Chapter.

THese woordes spake the lord vnto Jeremy, in the tenthe yeare of Zedekiah kyng of Juda, which was the. xviii yeare of Nabuchodonosor, A what time as the kinge of Babylons hooste layed syege at Jerusalem. But Jeremye the Proppete laye bounde in the courte in the prysone, whych was in

the

the kyng of Judaes house: wher zedekiah the kyng of Juda caused him to be layed, because he had preched of this maner: Thus saith the lorde: Behold, I wyl delyuer thys cite in to the handes of the kyng of Babilon, which shal take it. As for zedekiah the kyng of Juda, he shall not be able to escape the Caldees, but surely he shall come into the handes of the kyng of Babilō: which shall speake with him mouth to mouth, and one of them shal loke another in the face. And zedekiah shalbe carted vnto Babilon/ and there shal he be vntyl the tyme that I viset him, saith the Lorde. But yf thou takest in hande to fight agaynst ỹ Caldes/ thou shalt not prospere.

Ja. xxxiiii. a xxvii, a, xxx. a viii.a

B And Jeremy sayde: Thus hath the Lord spoken vnto me: Behold, Hananeel the sonne of Selum thyn Uncles sonne shal come vnto the/ and requyre the to redeme the land/ that lyeth in Anathoth vnto thy selfe: for by reason of kinred it is thy parte to redeme it, and to bye it out.

Z And so Hananeel myne vncls sōne came to me in the courte of ỹ prison (according to the word of the Lord (& sayd vnto me: Bye my lande (I praye the) ỹ lyeth in Anathoth in ỹ countre of Ben Jamin: for by heretage ỹ hast ryghte to lowse it out of thy selfe, wherfore redeme it. Then I perceaued/ that thys was the commaundment of the Lord/ and so I lowsed the lande from Hananeel of Anathoth, myne Uncles sonne, and weyed him ther the money: euen seuen sycles, & ten syluer pens.

Leuitl, xxv, d Num xxviiā xxvi, ā Ruth iiii, a

I caused him also to make me a writting, and to seale it, and called recorde therby, and weyed him ther the monet vpon the weightes. So I toke the euidence with the copie (when it was orderly sealed and red ouer) and Igaue the euidence vnto Baruch the sonne of Neriah the sonne of Maaslah in the sight of Hananeel my cosen, and in the presence of the wytnesse that he named in the euidence/ and before al the Jewes that were therby in the court of the prison.

C I charged Baruch also before them saying: The Lord of Hostes the god of Israel cōmaundeth the, to take this sealed euidence wt the copie, and to laie it in an erthen vessel, that it maye longe contynue.

For the Lord of Hostes the god of Israel hath determed/ that houses, feldes and vyneyardes shall be possessed agayne in this land.

Now when I had delyuered ỹ euidence vnto Baruch the sonne of Neriah, I besought the lord, saying: O lord God, It is thou ỹ hast made heauen & earth wt thy gret power and hie arme, and there is nothing to hard for the. Thou shewest mercy vpon thousādes ỹ recompencest the wickednes of the fathers, in to the bosome of the children ỹ come after them.

D Jere, xxviii, e

Thou art the greate and mighty God, whose name is the Lord of Hostes: greate in councell, and infinyte in thought: Thyne eyes loke vpon al the wayes of mens children, to rewarde euery one after his waye/ and accordig to ỹ frutes of his inuencyons: Thou hast done greate tokens and wonders in the land of Egipt (as we se this daye vpon the people of Israel & vpō thole men: to make thy name greate, as it is come to passe this daye: Thou hast brought thy people of Israel out of ỹ lād of Egipt, wt tokens, wt wonders, with a mighty hand, wt a stretched out arme & wt greate terrybienes: & hast geuen thē this land, lyke as ỹ haddest promyled vnto their fathers: Namely, that ỹ woldest geue them a lande, that floweth wt mylck and hony.

E

Now when they came therin, & possessed it, they folowed not thy voice, & walked not i thy law: but al ỹ thou cōmaundest them to do, ỹ haue they not done and therfor come al these plages vpon them.

Behold there are bullwerckes made now agaynst the cytie, to take it: and yt shall be wonne of the Caldees that besege yt/ wyth swerde/ wyth honger and deathe/ and loke what thou haste spokenne/ that same shall come vpon them.

F

For lo, al thynges are present vnto the: Yet saist thou vnto me (O lord God) and commaundste me, ỹ I shal lowse a pece of land vnto my self, and take wytnes therto; and yet in ỹ mene season the cytie is delyuered into the power of the Caldees.

Then came the word of the lord vnto me, sayeng: Behold, I am the Lord god of all flesshe/is there eny thyng to herde for me? Therfore thus sayde ỹ Lord: behold, I shal delyuer thys citye into ỹ power of ỹ Caldees, & in to ỹ power of Nabuchodonosor ỹ kig of babylon, they shal take it in: For the Caldees shal come, and wynne this cytie/ and set fyre vpon it, and burne it: with the gorgeous houses, in whose parlers they haue made sacrifice vnto Baal & poured drinck offringes vnto straung goddes, to prouoke me vnto wrath.

Jerem. xxb. b & xxix. b.

For seynge the chyldren of Israell, and chyldren of Juda haue wroughte wyckednes before me euer from their youth vp/what haue they els don, but prouoked me with the workes of there owne handes? saieth the Lord?

Or, what hath this cytye bene els, but a prouokig of mi wrath, euer sence the daye that I buylded it, vnto thys houre? Wherein I caste it oute of my syght because of the greate blasphemyes of the chyldren of Israel and Juda which they haue done to prouoke me: yea they, their Kynges, their prynces/ their Preastes their Prophetes, whole Juda/ & al the cytesyns of Jerusalem. Whē I stode vp early, & taught them and instructe them, theye turned their backes to me, and not their faces.

F Jeremi. xi. d

They wold not heare to be reformed and correcte. They haue set their Gods in the house, ỹis halowed vnto my name/to defyle it. They haue buylded hy places for Baal in the valey of the childzen of Hennom, to bowe their sonnes and daughters vnto Moloch; which I neuer commaunded them, neither, came yt euer in my thoughte / to make Juda synne wyth such abhomynacion.

Jer. vii, d, & d

Moreouer thus hathe the Lorde god of Israel spoken, concerning this cytie, which (as ye your selues confesse shalbe delyuered in to the hand of the Kynge of Babylon, when yt is wonne with the swearde, wyth honger and with pestilence. Behold, I wyl gather them together frō al lādes / wherin I haue scatred them in my wrath, in my feare full and greate displeasure: and wyll bryng them agayne vnto thys place, where they shall dwell safelye. And they shall be my people, and I wyll be their god.

Deute. xxx. a

And I wyll geue them one herte and one waye, that they maye feare me al the dayes of their lyfe, that they ād their chyldren after them maye prospere. And I wyl set vp an euerlastyng couenaunt with them, Namely: that I wyl neuer ceasse to do them good, and that I wyl put my fere in their hertes so that they shall not runne awaye frō me.

& Psalm. xxxii. e

nota

I wyll

put my fere in to their hartes

Yea I wyl haue a lust and plesure to do thē good, & faithfully to plāt thē in this land wt al my whole hert, ād wt al my soule,

For thus sayeth the Lord: lyke as I haue brought al this greate plage vpon thys people: so wyl I also bring vp on them all the good, that I haue promysed them. And men shal haue their possessions in this land, wherof ye say now, that it shal nether be inhabited of people ner of catel but be delyuered in to the hands of the Caldees: Yea land shalbe bought for money, and euydēce made ther vpon and sealed before wytnes in the court of Ben Jamin & roūd about Jerusalem: in the cyties of Juda in ỹ cyties that are vpon the mountaynes, and in them ỹ lye beneth, yea & in the cityes ỹ are in ỹ desert. For I wyl bring their preseners hither agayne/ sayeth the Lord.

nota

synnes

¶ The prophet is monished of the lord, to pray for the delyueraunce of ỹ people, whych the Lord promiseth, God forgeueth sinnes & doth graciously to ỹ people, for his owne renowne. Of ỹ birth of Chryste. The kingdom of christ in the church shal neuer be ended.

The. xxxiii. Chapter.

Moreouer the word of the Lord camē vnto Jeremy on this maner/ when he was yet bounde in the courte of the preson: Thus sayeth the Lorde, whych fulfylleth the thynge that he speaketh, the Lorde which performeth the thynge that he taketh

A Jerem, xx, a xxxii, a,

in

in hand:euen he,whose name is ỹ lord:
*Ero,xiiij.d i,Re,viij.b thou hast*cryed vnto me, and I haue herd the: I haue shewed greate & hye thing,which were vnknowē vnto you

Thus(I saye)spake the Lord god of Israel,concernig the houses of this cytie,and the houses of the kynges of Juda:that they shalbe broken thorow the ordinaunce and wepens/ when the Caldees came to besege them:and they shalbe filled with the deed karcases of men,whom I wyl slate in my wrathe & displeasure:when I turne my face frō this cyti/because of al her wickednes: Behold/(sayeth the Lord,I wyl heale their woundes and make thē whole: I wyll open them the treasure of peace and truth.

And I wyl returne the captiuyte of Juda and Israel:and wyl set them vp agayne/as they were afore. From all myscedes(wherin they haue offended against me) I wyl clense them. And al their blasphemies which thei haue don agaynst me,whē they regarded me not/ I wyl forgeue them.

And thys shall get me a name,a prayse and honoure/among al people
B of the earth,which shal heare al ỹ good that I wyll shewe vnto them: yea they shalbe afrayed and astonied at ỹ good dedes and benefytes,that I wil do for them. Moreouer thus sayeth the Lord In this place,wherof ye saye ỹ yt shall be a wyldernes,where in nether people ner catel shal dwel:in like maner in the cyties of Juda and without Jerusalē (which also shalbe so void,that nether ner cattel shal dwel ther)Shal ỹ voice of gladnes be herd agayn the voyce of the bridgrome and of the bryde/the voyce of them that shal synge: Praise the lord of Hostes, for he is louynge & hys mercy endureth for euer) and the voyce of them that shal offer vp gyftes in the house of the lord. For I wil restore the captiuyte of this land/as it was afore,sayeth the Lord. Thus sayeth the Lorde of hostes It shal com yet therto,that in this land,which is void from me and catel, and in the cyties of ỹ land,ther shalbe set vp shepardes cotages:in the cyties vpon the mountaynes:and in the cytyes that lye vpon ỹ playne,and in the desert.

In the land of Ben Jamin,and in the keles of Jerusalem,and in the cyties Juda,shall the shepe be nombred agayne,vnder the hand of him that telleth them,sayth the Lord.Behold/ the tyme commeth/the lord,that I wil performe that good thing, which I haue promysed vnto the house of Israel and to the house of Juda. In those dayes and at ỹ same tyme/ I wyl bring forth vnto Dauid,the braunche of ryghtuousnes,and he shal do equite and righ tuousnesse in the lande. In those dates shal Juda be helped, and Jerusalem shal dwel safe and he that shal call her is euen god our rightuous maker.
C Jerem.xliij.a
For thys the Lorde promiseth:Dauid shall neuer want one / to syt vpon the stole of the house of Israel:nether shal the prestes and leuites want one to offer alwaye before me burntoffeinges/ to kyndle the meatoffrynges,ād to prepare the sacrifyces.

And the worde of the lord came vnto Jeremy after this maner:Thus sayeth the lord:Maye the couenaunt whi
D Gene.viii.b ch I haue made with daye and nyghte be broken/that there shuld not be date and night in due season: Then maye my couenaunt also be broken,which I made wyth Dauid my seruaūt, and so he not to haue a sonne to reigne in his Trone.So shal al the prestes,and Leuytes neuer fayle,but serue me. For Gene.xv,a,v xxii,c lyke as the starres of heauen may not be nombred, nether the sande of the see measured:so wyl I multiplye ỹ sede of Dauid my seruannt, & of the Leuytes my myntsters.

Moreouer,the word of the Lord came to Jeremy,saying: Consydreste ỹ not what thys peple speaketh: Two kiredes(saye they)had ỹ lord chosē, & those same two hath he cast awaye. For so farre is my peple come/ ỹ they haue no hope to come to gether eny more,ād to be one peple againe. Therfore thus saith ỹ lord: If I haue made no couenaūt wt daye & nyght, & geuē no statut vnto heuē & earth:thē wil I also cast away ỹ sede of dauid my seruaūt: so ỹ I wil take no price out of his sede,to rule the posterite of Abrahā, Isaac & Jacob

But yet I wyll turne agayne theyr captiuitye, and be mercyfull vnto them.

¶ He threateneth the cytie and kyng Zedekiah also shalbe geuen into the handes of the kyng of Babylon he rebuketh them that bring vnyght such of theyr brethren into captyuyty as were pardoned to god at theyr lyberte.

¶ The .xxxiiii. Chapter.

A THese are the wordes which the Lorde spake vnto Jeremy what time as Nabuchodonosor the kinge of Babylon, and all hys hoostes (out of al the kingdomes that were vnder hys power) and all his people fought against Jerusalem and al the cities therof. Thus saith the Lord God of Israell: Goo and speake to zedekyah the kynge of Juda, and tell hym: The Lorde sendeth the thys worde: Behold I wyll delyuer this cyte into the hand of the king of Babylon: he shall burne it/ and thou shalt not escape hys hands but shalt be led away prysoner, and delyuered into hys power, Thou shalte loke the kynge of Babylon in the face, and he shall speake with the mouth to mouth, & then shalt thou go to Babylō Yet heare the worde of the Lorde O zedekiah, thou kig of Juda: Thus saith the Lorde vnto the: Thou shalt not be slayne with the swearde but shalt dy in peace. Lyke as thy forefathers, the kynges, thy progenytours, were brent, soo shalte thou be brente also, and in the mornynge, they shal say: Oh Lord. For thus haue I determyned, sayth ỹ Lord

B Then spake Jeremy the prophete all these wordes vnto Sedekiah king of Juda in Jerusalem what time as thee kynge of Babylons hoste besieged Jerusalem and the remnaunt of the cytis Namely, Lachis & Azecah, whych yet remayned of the strong defēced cities of Juda. These are wordes that the Lorde spake vnto Jeremy the prophet, whē Sedekiah was agreed with al the people at Jerusalem: that there shulde be proclaimed a lyberte so that euery man shulde se this seruaunt and hand mayde go free, an hebrue & hebruesse, and no Jewe to holde his brother as a bōdmā Now as they had cōsented, euē so they were obedient, & let them go free. But afterwarde they repented, and toke agayne the seruauntes and hand mayd ens, whom they had let go free & so made them bond agayne.

For the which cause the worde of ỹ Lord came vnto Jeremy from the lord hym selfe, saying: Thus saieth the lord God of Israel: * I made a couenaunt with your fathers, whē I brought thē out of Egipt/ (that they shuld nomore be bondmen) saying When seuen yeares are out, euery man shal let his bought seruaunte an Hebrue go free, yf he haue serued hym syx yeares, But your fathers obeyed me not & herkened not vnto me: As for you, ye were now turned, and did right before me, in that ye proclaymed/ euery man to let his neyboure go free, and in that ye made a couenaunt before me, ī the temple that beareth my name: But yet ye haue tuened your selues agayne ād, blasphemed my name: In thys/ that euery man hath requyred his seruaunt and handmaydē agaynst whom ye had let go quyt ād free, and compelled them to serue you agayne, and to be your bond men. And therfore thus sayeth the Lord: ye haue not obeyed me, euery man to proclaime fredom vnto his brother & neyghbour wherfore/ I cal you vnto a fredom, saieth the lord; euen vnto the sweard, to pestilence, and to the honger/ and wyll make you to be palged in al the kyngdomes of the earth Yee those men that haue broken my couenaunte, and not kept the wordes of my appoyntmente which they made before me: when they hewed the calfe in two/ and when there went thorow the to halfes therof The Princes of Juda, the Princes of Jerusalem, the gelded men, the Prestes and all ỹ people of ỹ lande, whych went thorow the two sydes of the calfe.

Those men wyl I geue into the powre of their enemyes/ and in to the handes of them ỹ folow vpon ther lyues.

And their deed bodyes shal be mete for ỹ foules of ỹ ayre, & bestes of ỹ feld As for zedekiah ỹ king of Juda & hys Princes, I wyl delyuer thē in to ỹ power of their enemies, & of thē ỹ desire to slaye thē, & into ỹ hād of the king of babylons host, a* whych now is departed frō you: But thorow my cōmaūdemēt (saieth the Lord) they shal com agayn

be

bekoze thys Cytie, they shall fyghte agaínste it, wynne it/and burne it. Wo zeouer wyll lay the Cyties of Juda so waste, ẏ no mand shall dwell therin.

The notes

a * The Babylonians were departed from them to go against the Egiptians, whom when they had vãguished, they returned to fyght against Jerusalem ¶ He pzopoundeth th obedience of the Rechabiteo & therbyconfouuõeth the pzyde of the Jewes. The commãdemen of Jonadab, the father of the Rechabits. He thzeatneth punyshment vnto the rebellious Jews He pzomyseth pzosperite vnto the Rachebits foz ther obedeenc vneo theyz father.

The.xxxv.Chapter.

a THe wozdes which the Loz de spake vnto Jeremi, inỹ reigne of Jehoakym thee sune of Josiah king of Juda, are these Goo vnto the glit,Wes,x,c, house of the Rechabites. And cal them oute/and bzinge them, to the house of into some comodious place: and geue them wyne to dzyncke, Then tooke I Jaasaniah the sunne of Jeremy the sonne of Habesyniah, and his bretheren & and all his sonns aud the whole houshold of the rechabites; & bzought thẽ to the house of the Lozde/into the closet of the chyldezen of hanan the sonne of Jegedalyah the man of god: whych was by the closet of the Pzices, that is aboue the closet of Maasiah the sonne of Sylum, which is the cheake of thee treasure. And bekoze the sonnes of thee B kinred of the rechabytes, I sett pottes full of wyne, and cuppes and sayede vnto them: Dzincke wyne. But they sayd: we dzinke no wyne/foz Jonadab Jerem.xxxvb the sonne of Rechab out father cõmañded vs, saying: ye and your sõnes shall neuer dzincke wyne, buylde no hou:es sowe no seade, plante no vynes, yea/ ye shall haue no vynepardes: but foz all your tyme ye shal dwell in tentes/that ye maye lyue longe in the lande wherin ye be straungers.

Thus haue we obeyd the commañdement of Jonadab the son of Rechab oure father, in al that he hath charged vs, and so we dzincke no wyne all oure lyfe longe: we/noz oure wyues, oure sõnes and oure dougheers. Neither buyld we any house to dwell eherin/we haue also amonge vs neyther vynepardes/ ner cozneland to sowe: but we dwell in tẽtes we obeye, and do accozding vnto all that Jonadab oure father commanded vs.

But now that Nabuchodonosoz ẏ kynge of Babylon came vp into thee lande, we sayde, come/let vs go to Jerusalem, that we may escape the hoost C of the Chaldees and the Assirians: and so we dwell nowe at Jerusalem. Then came the wozde of the Lozd vnto Jeremy/saying: Thus sayth the Lozd of hoostes the God ot Israel: Go and tell whole Juda and all the inhabitoures of Jerusalem: wyll ye not be refozmed to obeye my wozdes: sayth the Lozde. The wozdes which Jonadab the son of Rechab commaunded his sonnes, that they shulde dzincke no wyne, are faste and surely kepte: for vnto thys day they dzyncke no wyne but obey theyz fathers commaundemente. But as foz me, I haue stand vp early, I haue spoken vnto you; and geuen you earneste warning: and yet haue ye not bene obedient vnto mee. Ye I haue sent my seruauntes, all the pzophtes vnto you I rose vs eazlye, and sent you wozde asying: O turne you euerye man from his wycked waye: amende your lyues, and go not after straunge Goddes to wozshyppe them: that ye maye continue in the lande whyche I haue geuen vnto you and youre fathers/but ye wold neyther heare me, noz folowe me. Jere,xviii,a xxv,a, i.

The chyldern of Jonadab Rechabs sonne haue stedfastly kept theyz fathers D commaundement, that he gaue thẽ, but thys people is not obedient vnto mee And therfoze thus sayth the Lozde of hoostes the God of Israell: Behold I wyll bzinge vpon Juda and vpon euery one that dwelleth in Jerusalem, all the trouble that I haue deuised agaínste them. Foz I haue spoken vnto thẽ but they wolde not folowe: I haue calleb vnto them neuertheles they wolde geue me ur answere, Jeremy also spake vnto the houshold of the Rechabytes Thus sayth the Lozde of hoostes thee God of Israell: foz so moch as ye haue obeyed the commaundemente of Jonadab youre father, and kepte all his pzeceptes, and done accozding vnto all that he hath bydden you: Therfoze thus Ieronym. li. c. contra Iouin. & Ioseph. li. v. de Antiq. & Hieron. vii. li.

Thus all that sayeth the Lord of Hostes/ the God of Israel. Jonadab the sonne of Rechab shal not kayle, but haue one out of his stock, to stand alwaye before me.

¶ Baruch wryteth (as Jeremy endicteth) ỹ boke of the curses agaynst Juda & Israel. He is sent with ỹ boke vnto the peple, & redeth it before them. al. He is called before ỹ rulers & readeth it before thē also. ¶ The rulers shew vnto ỹ king ỹ wordes of ỹ boke Jehudi taketh the boke, & redeth a lytle of it, & after casteth it in ỹ fire. There is another written, at the commaundemēt of ỹ Lord.

¶ The. xxxvi. Chapter.

A

In the fourth yeare of Jeoakim the sonne of Josyah kynge of Juda, came the word of the Lord vnto Jeremy, saying: Take a boke and wryte therin al the wordes, that I haue spoken to the/ to Israel, to Juda and to al ỹ people, from the tyme that I began for to speake vnto thee (in the raygne of Josiah vnto this day: That when the house of Juda heareth of the plage, which I haue deuysed for them they maye peraduenture turne e uerye man frō his wycked waye that I maie forgeue their offences and synnes.

Then dyd Jeremy cal Baruch the sonne of Neriah, and Baruch wrote in the boke at the mouth of Jeremy/ all ỹ wordes of the Lorde which he had spoken vnto hym. And Jeremy commaunded Baruch, saying: I am in prison, so that I maye not come to the house of the Lord: therfore go thou thyther, and reade the boke, that thou hast wrytten at my mouth: Namelye, the worde of ỹ Lord, and rede them in the Lordes house vpon the fastyng daye: that ỹ peple whole Juda, and al they that come out of the cytyes/ may heare. Peraduenture they wyll praye mekely before the face of the Lorde, and turne euery one from his wycked wate. For grete is ỹ wrath & displeasure, ỹ the Lord hath taken a gaynst this people.

So Baruch ỹ sonne of Neriah did accordyng vnto al that Jeremy the prophet commaunded hym, reading ỹ wordes of the Lorde out of the boke in the Lordes house. And this was done in ỹ fyfthe yeare of Jehoakim the sonne of Josiah kyng of Juda, in ỹ. ix. moneth when it was cōmaunded/ ỹ al the people of Jerusalem should fast before the Lord, & they also ỹ were come frō ỹ cytyes of Juda vnto Jerusalem.

Then red Baruch the wordes of Jeremy out of the boke wi the house of ỹ lord, out of the treasury of Gamariah ỹ sonne of Saphan the Scryb which is beside ỹ hyer lofte of the new doore of the Lordes house: ỹ al ỹ peple might heare. Now whē Michaeah the sōne of Gamariah the sōne of saphā had herde al the wordes of ỹ lord out of ỹ boke he went downe to the kinges palace into ỹ scrib chābre/ for ther al the prynces were set: Elisama ther Scrybe, Dalatah ỹ sōne of Semei, Elnathan ỹ sōne of Achabor, Gamariah ỹ sōne of Saphan, Zedekiah the sonne of Hananiah/ & al ỹ prynces. And Michaeah tolde thē al the wordes, ỹ he heard Baruch rede out of the boke before the people. Jerem xxxvi. & xxvii.

Then al the prynces sent Jehudi ỹ sō of Nathaniah, ỹ sōne of Selamiah the sōne of Chusi, vnto Baruch, saying: Take i thine hād the boke, wherout ỹ hast red before al the people & cōe. So Baruch the sonne of Neriah toke the boke i his hand & cam vnto them. And they said vnto hi: Sit downe, & rede ỹ boke ỹ we may here also. So Baruch red, ỹ they might here. Now whē they had herde al the wordes/ they were abashed one vpō another/ & said vnto Baruch: We wil certifie ỹ king of al these wordes. And they exampned Baruch/ saying: tel vs/ how dydest ỹ writ al these wordes out of his mouth? Then Baruch answered them: He spake al these wordes vnto me wt his mouth & I alone was wt him/ & wrote them in ỹ boke.

Then sayde ỹ Prynces vnto Baruch: Go thy way, & hide the wt Jeremy, so ỹ no mā know wher ye be. And they went in to the kyng to the court. But they kepte the boke in the chambre of Elisama the Scrybe, and tolde ỹ king al the wordes that he myght heare.

So the kyng sent Jehudi to fetch him the boke, which he brought out of Elisama the scrybes chābre. And Jehudi red it, that the kyng and al the prynces which were about him might here. Now the kynge sate in the wynter House, for yt was the. ix. Moneth/ and there was

was a good fyze bekoze hym: and when Jehudi hod red thze oz four leaues the reok, he cut the boke in peaces w a pen knyfe, and caste it into the fyze vpon ẏ hert/ vntyll the booke was all bzent in the fyze vpon the harth.

Yet no man was abashed thereof/ oz rente his clothes: nether the kinge hi self, noz his seruaunts, though they har de all these wozdes. Neuertheles Elna than,/ Dalatath, & Gamariah besoug- ht the kynge that he would not burne the boke: Notwithstanding the kyng wolde not heare them but commaũdrd Jerahmeell the sonne of Amelech Sa raiah the sonne of Ezryell/ and Sela- meah the sonne of Abdyell, to lay han- des vpon Baruch the scribe/ and vpon Jeremy the prophet: but the Lozd kep te them out of syght. After now that the kynge had bzente the boke, and the ler mons which baruch wzot at the mouth of Jeremy, ẏ wozd of the Lozd came vn to Jeremy, saying: take an other boke and wzite in it all the kozsayde sermons that were wzitten in the fyzste booke, whiche Jehoakim the kinge of Juda hath bzente.

And tell Jehokim the kynge of Ju da: thus sayethe the Lozde: thou haste bzente the boke and thoughtest within thy selfe: Why hast thou wzytten thet in that ẏ king of Babylon shal come ād make this lãde wast so that he shal ma ke both people and cattell to be out of it: Therfoze thus the Lozde sayeth of Jehoakim the kinge of Juda: theare shall none of hys generation syt vpon the thzone of Dauid. Hys deade cozpse shalbe cast out, that the heat of the day and the frost of the nyght maye come v pon hym and I wyl vtsyte the wycked nes of him, of his seade, and of his ser- uauntes. Moreouer all the euel that I haue promised them (though they herd me not) wyll Ibzynge vpon them vpō the inhabytours of Jerusalem. ād vpō all Juda. Then toke Jeremy an other boke and gaue it Baruch the Scrybe the sunne of Neriah, which wzote ther in out of the mouthe of Jeremye: all ẏ sermons that were in the fyzst boke wh iche Jehoaki ẏ' king of Juda did burne And ther were added vnto them many mo sermons, then bekoze.

Sedekias succedeth Cononiah He sendeth vnto Jeremy to pzaye foz hym. Jeremye goynge into the land of Ben Jamyn is taken he is beaten. and put in pzeson. he is delyuered by king zedekiah.

The. xxxvii. Chapter.

ZEdekiahh the sunne of Jo siah, whych was made kin ge thorow Nabuchodono- soz kynge of Babylon, reg ned in the land of Juda, in the steade of Cononiah the sunne of Je hoakim. But nether he noz hys seruañ tes not the people in the lande woulde obeye the woozdes of the Lozde, which he spak by the pzophet Jeremy. Neuer theles zedekiah the kingsēte Jehucall the sonne of Selemiah/ and Sophoni ah the sonne of Maasiah the pzest to ẏ pzophet Jeremy, saying: O pzay thou vnto the Lozd oure god foz vs. Nowe Jeremye walked fre among the people at that time, and was not put in pzysō as yet. Pharaos host was come out of Egipt which when the caldes ẏ beseged Jerusalē perceued/ they departed frō theēce. Then came the wozd of the Lozd vnto Jeremye the pzophet, saiynge: Thus sayth the Lozde God of Israell thys answeare shall yee geaue to thee kyng of Juda that sent you vnto mee foz councell: Beholde Pharaos hoo- ste whiche is come fozthe to helpe you, shall returne to Egypte in to hys ow- ne lande: but the Caldees shall come agayne/ and fyghgt agaynst this cytye wynne it, & set fyze vpon it. Foz thus sayeth the Lozde a* dysceaue not youre owne myndes thynking on this maner: tush/ ẏ Chaldees go now their wayfrom vs; no, they shal not go their waye. Foz though ye had slayne the whole host of the Caldees, that besege you, and euery one of the slayn laye in his tent, yet shuld they stande vp, and set fyze vpon thys cytie, now when the host of the Caldes was bzoken vp frō, Jerusalem/ foz feare of the Egypcias armye, Jeremy went out of Jerusalem toward the lande of Ben Jamin b* to do certeyne busynes there amonge the people. And when he came vnder Ben Jamyns pozte/ there was a pozter, cal led Jeriah, the sonne of Selemiah the sonne of Hananiah/ whyche fell vpon hym/ and toke hym saiyng: thy myndes is to runne to the Caldees.

nota

Jere. xviii. a xxv. a.

The sayde Jeremy: It is not so, I go not to the Caldees. Neuertheles Jeriah wolde not beleue hym, but brought Jeremy bownde before the Princes. Wherfore the Prynces were angry w Jeremy/causyng hym to be beaten, and to be lated in pryson in the house of Jonathas ỹ scrybe. For he was ỹ ruler of the preson. Thus was Jeremye put in to the dungyn and pryson, and so laye there a long tyme. Then Zedekiah the kyng sent for hym, and called hym, and asked hym quyetly in his owne house/ saying: thynckest thou thys busynes (ỹ now is in hand) commeth of the Lorde Jeremy answered: ye that it doth: and ỹ (said he) shalt be deliuered in to ỹ king of Babilons power.

D Moreouer. Jeremy said vnto king Zedekiah: What haue I offended agaynst the, agaynst thy seruauntes or against this people that ye haue caused me to be put in preson? Where ar your prophtes which haue prophecyed vnto you and sayd/ that the king of Babylon shuld not come agaynst you and this lande? And therfore heare now, O my Lord the kyng: let my prayer be accepte before the, and send me nomore in to the house of Jonathas the Scribe, that I dye not there. Then Zedekiah ỹ kyng commaunded to put Jeremy in the fore entry of the preson/ and dayly to be geuen hym cake of bread, and eis no dighte meat, vntyl al the bred in the cyte was c*eaten vp. Thus Jeremy remayned in ỹ forentre of the pryson.

The notes.

a *Some reade: lyft not vp your affectyonn, sayng: The Chaldes. &c b *Some reade to deuyd the possessyō in the midest of ỹ peple. They vnderstand herby the deuysion of terrē landes, with his kynfolkes at Anothoth. Other rede: to seperate (vnderstād him self) because he was in the middest of ỹ peple that is, to thintēto depart forth of ỹ middest of his people. They think ỹ he wold haue fled, for fere of persecutyon, c *Of this wants scarsnes. which was in the seuenth yeare of Zedekiah vnto the. ix. day of the. iiii. moneth ye rede after in ỹ xlii & iiii. Re. xxv

¶ By the motyon of ỹ rulers Jeremy is put into a dōgē. At ỹ request of Abedmelech ỹ Chaumberlain ỹ king cōmaūdeth Jeremy to be brought forthe of the Dōgeon Jeremy sheweth ỹ king how he myght escape deth

¶ The. xxxviii. Chapter.

Saphatiah the sōne of Mathan, Godoliah the sōne of Phashur/ Jucal the sonne of Selemiah/ and Phashur the sonne of Melchiah perceued the wordes/ that Jeremy had spoken vnto al the people, namelye on this maner: Thus sayeth the Lord: Who so remayneth in thys cytte, shall perysh/ ether wyth the sweard, with hōger or wthe pestylence: But who so falleth vnto ỹ Caldees, shal escape/ *winnig his soule for a pray/ and shal liue. For thus sayeth the lorde Thys cytie (no dout) must be deliuerd in to ỹ power of the kyng of Babyon, and he also shal wynne it. Then sayde the princes vnto the kyng: Syr, we beseche you let thys man be put to deathe, for thus he discorageth the handes of the soudyers that be in thys cytye, and the hādes of al the people/ when he speketh suche wordes vntd them. Thys man verely e laboureth not for peace of the people/ B but myschef. Zedekiah the kyng answered and said: lo/ he is in your handes, for the kyng maye deny you nothyng. Then toke they Jeremy, and cast hym into the dongion of Melchiah the sōne of Hamelech, that dwelt in the fore entre of the preson. And they let downe Jeremy w coardes into a dongeon, wher there was no water, but myer. So Jeremy stack fast in the myre. Now whē Abedmelech the Morян beyng a chāberleine in the kings court, vnderstode that they had cast Jeremy in to the dōgeon: he wente out of the kinges house and spake to the kyng, (whych thē sate vndet the poorte of Ben Jamin) these wordes: My Lorde the kyng wher as these men medle with Jeremy the propet, they do hym wrong: Namely that they haue put him in prison, there to dy of honger, for there is no more bred in the cytie. Then the king comaunded Abedmylech the morян & said. Take krō hence. xxx. men whom thou wilt, & drawe vp Jeremy the prohete out of the dongeon, before he dye. So Abedmelech toke the men w hī & went to the house of Amalech, and there vnder an almery he gat old rages and worne clowtes and let them downe by a cord into the dongeon to Jeremy.

dongeon

D And Abedmelech the Moryan sayd vnto the prophet Jeremy: O put these tagges and cloutes vnder thine arme holes/betwyxt them and the coardes & Jeremy did so. So they drewe vp Jeremy with cordes and toke him out of the dongeon, & he remayned in the fore entrye of the prison. Then zedekiah the kyng sent ād caused Jeremy ỹ prophet be called vnto him, in to the thirde entrye, that was by the house of the lord And the king sayd vnto Jeremy: I wil aske the somewhat but hyde nothyng fro me: Then Jeremy answered zedekiah: Yf I be plaine vnto thee, thou wylt cause me suffre death: yf I geue ỹ councel, thou wilt not folow me. So ỹ kynge swore an ooth secretly vnto Jeremy, saying: As truly as the Lord lyueth, that made vs these soules/ I wil not slaye the/ner geue the in to the handes of them that seke after thy lyfe.

Jere, xxvii

E Then sayde Jeremy vnto zedekyah: Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes the god of Israell, If (case be) that thou wylt go forth vnto the kynge of Babylons princes, thou shalt saue thy lyfe/ and thys cytie shal not be brēt ye both thou and thy household shall escape with your lyues. But yf thou wylt not goo forth to the kyng of Babilons prices/ then shal thys cytye be delyuered into the handes of the Caldees which shall set fyre vpon it, and thou shalte not be able to escape them. And zedekiah sayd vnto Jeremy I am afrayd for the Jewes, that are fled vnto the Caldees, leste I come in their hādes & so they to haue me in derysion.

Jere, xxviii.a

But Jeremy answered: No they F shal not betraye the: O herke vnto the voice of the Lord (I beseche the (which I speake vnto the/ so shalt thou be wel and saue thy life. But yf thou wilt not go forth, the Lorde hath tolde me thys playnely Behold, al the wemen that are left in the kyng of Judas house, shal go out to the kyng of Babylons prices For they thinck that thou art disceued and that the men whome thou dydeste put thy trust, haue gotten the vnder/ and sett thy fete faste in the myre/ and gone their waye from the

Therfore al thy wyues with their chyldrē shal fle vnto the Caldes, and thou shalt not escape their hādes, but shalte be the kyng of Babylons prisoner, ād thys cytie shal be brent Then sayd ezekyah vnto Jeremy: loke that no body G know of these wordes, and thou shalte not dye. But yt the prynces persecut, ỹ I haue talked wt the/ and com vnto ỹ sayeng: O speke, what saide the kynge to the? hyd yt not from vs, and we wil not put the to deth. Tel vs (we praye the) what sayde the kyng to the? Se ỹ geue them this answere: I haue humbly besought the kyng that he wil lete me ly no more in Jehonathans house ỹ I dye not there: Then cam al the prīces vnto Jeremy/ and asked hym, And he told them/ after the maner as ỹ kyng bad him. Then they held their pece, for they perceaued nothing. So Jeremye abode styl in the fore entry of the prisō vntyll the daye that Jerusalem was wonne:

¶ Nabuchodonosor besegeth Jerusalem zedekiah flyeth. he is taken of the Chaldees. Hys sonnes are slayn. Hys eyes are thrust out, Jeremy is prouyded for Abedmelech is delyuered frō ỹ captyuite, because her onlydense that hé hath in god.

¶ The. xxxix. Chapter

Jere, xxii, b, iiii, Reg. xxv

NOw when the cytie of Jerusalem was taken, for inỹ ix. yeare of zedekiah king of Juda in the tenth Moneth, came Nabuchodonosor the king of Babylon and al hys hoste, and beseged Jerusalem. And in the xi. yeare of zedekiah in the fourth Moneth the. ix. day of the Moneth, he brake into the cytie). Then al the prynces of the kyng of Babylon, came in/ & set them downe vnder the porte: Nergel Sarezer, Samegarnabo/ Sarsachim Rabsaris Neregel Sarezer, Rybmag wyth al the other prynces of the kyng of Babylon. And when zedekiah the kyng of Juda with his soudiers sawe them, they fled, and departed out of the cytie be nyght thorowe the kinges garden, and thorowe the poorte that is betwene the two wales, and so they went towarde the wyldernes.

But the Caldees Host folowed fast after them, and toke zedekiah in the

felde

felde of Jericho/and brought him pry soner to Nabuchodonosor the kyng o f Babylon vnto Reblath, that lyeth in the lande of Hemath wher he gaue iud gement vpon him. So the king of Ba bylon cauled the chylderen of Sedekiah ād al the nobles of Juda to be slain before his face at Rablath. And made zedekiahs etes to be put out and boūd bym with chaynes/ & sent hī to Babylō

C Moreouer, the Chaldees brente vp iiii,Re,xxxq, the kinges palace with the other hou-Jere,xxxii:d ses of the people, and brake downe the walles of Jerusalem. As for the rema naunt of the people that were in the citie/ and such as were com to help them (whatsoeuer was left of the comen sor te) Nabusaradan the cheke capteyne ca ryed them to Babylon. But Nabusara dan the cheke capteyn let the rascal peo ple (and those that had nothyng) dwell styl in the land of Juda, and gaue thē vyneyardes and corne feldes at the same tyme. Nabuchodonosor also the kynge of Babilon gaue Nabusaradan the cheke capteyne a charge concerning Jeremye, sayinge: take and cherysh hī & make much of hī: se ÿ do hīno harme, but intreate hī after hys owne desyre.

So Nabusaradan the cheke captayn, Nabusasban the cheke chamberlayne/ Nergalsarezer the treasurer: and al the kynge of Babylons Lordes, sente for Jeremy/ and cauled hym to be let oute Jer.xxxviii.d of the fore entreye of the presonne, and committed hym vnto godoliah the son ne of Ahicam the soune of of Saphan that shulde carye hym home, and so he D dwelt amonge the people.
Jerem.xl.b

Now whyl Jeremy lay yet bounde in the fore entry of the pryson/ the wor de of the Lorde came vnto him, saying go and tell Abedmelech the Moxian: Thus sayth the Lorde of Hoostes thee god of Israell: beholde, the cruell and sharpe plage that I haue deuised for thys citie wyll I bringe vpon thē, ÿ ÿ shalt se it but I wyll delyuer the (saith the lord) & ÿ shalt not com in the hādes of those men whome thou fearest. For doutles I wyll saue the, so that ÿ shalt not perysh with the swerd: but thy lyfe shalbe saued, and that because thou ha ste put thy trust in me sayth the lorde.

C Jeremy hath lycēce to go whyther he wyll. He dwelleth with the people that remayneth at Jerusa lem ouer whom Godoliah ruleth. Johanan prophe syeth deth vnto Godoliah.

C The.xx. Chapter

THys is the maner howe the Lorde intreated Jeremye, when Nabuzaradan ÿ chef Captayne had let him goo fre from Ramah, whyther he had led him bounde amonge all the presoners, that were caryed from Jeru salem and Juda vnto Babilon. The cheke Captaine called for Jeremy, and said vnto him: The lord thy god spake mightely before of the misery vpō this place: Now the Lord hath sent it/ and performed it as he had promysed: For ye haue synned agaynst the Lord, and haue not bene obediēt vnto his voice therfor commeth this plage vpon you Behold, I lowse the bounde from the handes this daye: if thou wylt now go with me vnto Babilon/ vp then: for I wyl se to the, and proupd for the: But yf thou wylt not go wt me to Babylon then remayne here. Behold al the land is at my wyl, loke where thou thinkest conuenient and good for the to abyde there dwel if thou canst not be content to dwel alone, then remayne with Go- doliah the sonne of Ahicam, the sonne of Saphan: whom the kyng of Baby lon hath made gouernoure ouer the cy ties of Juda, and dwel with hī amōge the people, or remayne where so euer it pleaseth the. So the chef Captayne gaue him his expences wt a reward, ād let him go. Then wente Jeremye vnto Jere.xxxix.e Godoliah the sonne of Ahikam to Maz sphah, and dwelt there wyth hym am- onge the people that were lefte in the lande.

A Jere,xliii. a Josu,xviii,d

B Gene,xlii.b, Tobi.i,b iiii,Re,xv,d

Now when the captaynes of ÿ host of Juda (whiche wt their felowes were C scatred abrode on euery syde in ÿ land vnderstand ÿ the kyng of Babilō had made godoliah, ÿ sonne of Ahicam go uernour in ÿ land, and ÿ mā/ wyfe and chyld, yea & the poore mē in the land (ÿ were not led captyue to Babilō) shuld be vnder his iurisdictiō: They cam to Godoliah vnto Mazphah: Namely, Ismael ÿ son of Nathaniah, Johanā & Jonathah ÿ sōsof careah Sareah ÿ son of The

of Thanhometh, the sonnes of Ophat the Netophatite, Jesantah the sonne of Maachati/with theyr companions And Godoliah the sonne of Ahicam ỹ sonne of Saphan, swozen vnto the, ād xli.Re,xxv.c theyz kelowes on thys maner: Be not afrayed to serue the Caldees/dwell in ỹ lande and do the king of Babylon seruice, so shall ye pzospere. Beholde, I dwell at Mazphah to be an officer in the Caldees behalfe, and to satesfy such as come to vs. Therfoz gather you wine, cozne and oyle, & kepe them in your ware houses, and dwell in your Cities that ye haue in keppnge.

D Yee all the Jewes also that dwelte in Moab vnder the Ammonites, in Idumea and in all the countrees/ when they herde, that the kynge of Babylon had made Godoliah the sonne of Ahycam the sonne of Saphan, gouernour vpon them that were lest in Juda: All the Jewes (I saye) returned out of all places where they were fled vnto: and came into the lande of Juda to Godoliah vnto Mazphah, ād gathered wyne and other frutes, and that very much.

Moreouer Johanan the sonne of Careah and all the capteynes of the hoste, that were scatetd on euery syde in ỹ lande came to Godolyah in Mazphah, and sayde vnto hi: knowest thou notte that Baall is king of the Ammonites & hath sent Ismael the sonne of Nathantah, to slaye the? But Godoliah the sõne of Ahicam beleued them not. Then sayd Johanan the sonne of Careah vnto Godolyah in Mazphah these wozdes secretly: Let me go, I pzaye the, ād I wyll slaye Ismael, the sunne of Nathaniah, so that no bodye shall knowe it. Wherfoze wyll he kyl the, that all ỹ Jewes which resozte vnto the myghte be scatered, and the remnaunt In Juda perysche? Then sayde Godoliah the sonne of Ahikam to Johanan the sonne of Careah: Thou shalt not do it, foz they are but lyes/ ỹ men say of Ismael

¶ Ismael kylleth Godoliah gilefully, & many other with hym. Johanan foloweth after Ismael:

¶ The.xli. Chapter.

A xliii,Re,xxvd BVt in the seuenth moneth it happened that Ismael the sunne of Nathaniah the son of Elysama (one of the kinges bloude) came wyth them that were greatest about the kynge, ād ten men that were swozn with him: vn to Godolyah the Sonne of Ahicam to Mazphah, and are there togethez. And Ismael the sonne of Nathantah wt the those ten men that were swozne to hym starte vp, and smote Godoliah the sonne of Ahikam the sũne of Saphan w the swerde, and slewe hym / whome the kyng of Babylon had made gouernor of the lande. Ismaell also slewe all the Jewes that were wythe Godolyah at Mazphah, and all the Caldees that he founde there wayting vpon him.

The next daye after that he had slayne Godolyah (the matter was yet vnknowen) there came certeine men from Sichem, from Siloh and Samaria, to the numbze of .lxxx. which had shauē theyr beerdes, rente theyze clothes/ and were all heupe, bzingynge meate ofterynges, and incense in theyze hand/ to offer it in the house of the Lozd. And Ismahell the sonne of Nathaniah wēt B fozth of Mazphah wepyng to mete thē Now when he met them, he sayde: goo youre waye to Godolyah the sonne of Ahicam, ād when they came in the mid dest of the citt, Ismael the sunne of Nathantah (w thē that were swozne vnto hym) slewe them, euen at the myddeste of the pyt. Amonge the. lxxx men ther were ten, that sayd vnto Ismaell: Oh slay vs not foz we haue yet a great tresure in the felde, of wheate, barley/ oyle and hony. So he spared them and slu them not wyth theyr bzetheren. Now the pyt wherin Ismael dyd caste the dede bodyes of the men (whome he slewe xliii,Re,xxv,c because of Godolyah) had kynge Asa caused to be made, foz feare of Baasa the kynge of Israel, & the same pyt did Ismaell fyll with sleyne men. As for ỹ remnaunt of thee People, the kynges doughters & al ỹ people ỹ were yet left at Mazphah vpō whō Nabusaradā ỹ cheke captain had made godoliah ỹ sō of Ahicā gouernour: Ismael ỹ sõne of Nathantah caryed thē away pzisoners toward ỹ amonites. But whē Johanā the sonne of Careah and al they which had bene Capteynes ouer the kynges hoste w hi, herde of all the wyckednes that that Ismaell the sonne of Nathaniah had done: they toke their companions, and went oute for to fyght with Ismaell the sonne of Nathaniah, and found hym by the water of Rabym in Gabaon. Now when all the people whom Ismael ledde captiue, sawe Johanan ỹ sonne of Careah and all the capteynes of the hooste, they were glad. So al the people that Ismaell had caryed awaye from Mazphah were brought agayne

Gene. xliii. f. 1. Reg, xxx. b

D And when they returned, they came to Johanan the sonne of Careah. But Ismael the sonne of Nathaniah fledde from Johanan wt eyght of his sworne cõpanyõs & went to ỹ Amonytes. Then Johanan the sonne of Careah/ and all the captaines of the hoste that were wt hym, toke the remnaunte of the people, whom Ismael the sonne of Nathaniah had led away (when he had slayn Godoliyah the sonne of Ahikam) whome they also had reskued from hym: fightinge men Women and Chylderen, and geldedmen, whome they brought agayne from Gabaon and wente from thence & sate them downe at Geruth Camaam/ whych lyeth besyde Bethlehem, that they myght go into Egipte for feare of ỹ Chaldees: of whome they were afrayde because that Ismaell the sonne of Nathaniah had slain Godoliyah Ahikams sonne whom the King of Babylon had made gouernoure in the lande.

Jerem. xli. a

¶ The Capteynes aske counceil of Jeremye what they ought to do, Jeremy monysheth the remnaunt of the people not to go into Egypte.

¶ The. xlii. Chapter.

A SO al the rulers, and Johanan the sonne of Careah/ Jezaniah the sonne of Osaiah came with al the people from the least vnto the moost and sayde vnto Jeremy the prophet: O heare our peticion, that thou mayest pray for vs vnto the Lorde thy God, and for thy remnaunt wherof there be very fewe lefte of manye, as thou seest vs: that the Lorde thy God maye shewe we vs a waye to go in and tel vs what we shulde do. Then Jeremye the Prophet sayd vnto the: I haue herd you

Jerem. xxi. d
Jer. xxxvii. a

Beholde: I wyll praye vnto God your lorde, as ye haue requyred me: and loke what answere the Lorde geueth you/ I shal certifi you, therof, & kepe nothing backe from you. And they sayde vntoo Jeremy: The Lorde of truth and faythfulnes be oure recorde, that we wyll do all that the Lorde thy god commaunded vs, whether it be good or euel, We wyl hercke vnto thy voyce of our lorde god to whom we sende the that we may prospeare, when we haue folowed the voyce of the Lorde oure god.

Josu. f, e
1, Mach, d
Jere, xlii, d.

And after ten dayes came the woorde of the Lorde vnto Jeremy. Then called he Johanan the sonne of Kareah, & al the captaynes of the people that were with hym: yea and all the people tõ the least to the moost, and sayde vntoo them: Thus sayth the lorde god of Israell vnto whome ye sente mee/ to laye forth youre prayers before hym: Yf ye wyll dwell in this land, I shall buylde you vp, and not breake you downe: I shall plante you, and not rote you oute for I am pacifyed/ as concernynge the trouble that I haue done to you. Fear not the kynge of Babylon/ of whom ye stande in awe: O be not afrayd of hym sayth the Lorde: for I wylbe with you/ to helpe you, and delyuer you from hys handes I wyl pardon you, I wyll haue mercy vpon you and brig you agayne into your owne lande.

B

Neuertheles, yf ye purpose not to dwel in this land, nor to folow the voyce of the Lorde your God, but wyll say thus, we wyll not dwell here, but go into Egipte: where we shal nether se warre, heare the noyse of battell, nor suffre honger there wyll we dwell. Wherfore heare now the worde of the lorde, O ye remnaunt of Juda. Thus sayeth the Lorde of hostes the god of Israell: Yf ye be wholy purposed to go into Egypt and to be there as straungers: the swerde that ye fere, shall ouertake you in Egypte: and the honger wherof ye be here afrayed shall hange vpon you into Egypte, and there ye shall dye. For all thei, that of set purpose vndertak to go into Egipte, there to easie them selues of theyr mysery/ shal perysh with the swerde with honger and pestilence: not one of them shall remayne, there shall none escape ỹ plage, that I wyl bring vpon them. For thus sayeth the Lord of hoostes the God of Israell: lyke as my wrath and indignacyon is com vp on the inhabytours of Jerusalem / so shal my displeasur go furth vpon you also, yf ye go into Egypt: For there ye D shalbe reuyled, abhorred, brought to shame and confusion; and as for thys place ye shal neuer se it more. The lord forbyddeth you (Oye remnaunt of Juda) ỹ ye shal not go into Egypt. And forget not that I haue warned you er nestly this day, els shal ye begile your selues. For ye sent me vnto the Lorde your God, and sayde: O praye thou ỹ Lorde our god for vs: and loke what answere the Lorde our god geueth ỹ, that bring vs agayne, and we shal do therafter. Nowe haue I shewed / ād declared vnto you the voyce of the Lord your god, for the which cause he hath sent me to you. If ye wyl not folow it, be sure / that ye shal perysh with the sweard, with honger and pestylēce euen in the same place, wher your lust was to go and dwell:

C

one

¶ Johanan carryeth the remnaunt of ỹ people into Egypt, contrary to the mind of Jeremy. Jeremy prophecyeth, ỹ distruction of Egypt

The. xliii. Chapter.

A NOwe when, Jeremy had ended al the wordes of the Lord god vnto the people (for their sakes to whome God had sent him) Azariah the sonne of Osaiah, and Johanā the sonne of Kareah with al the proud personnes, sayd vnto Jeremye: Thou lyest the Lord our god hath not sent ỹ to speake vnto vs, that we shulde not go into Egypte, and dwell there: But Baruch the sōne of Neriah prouoketh thee agaist vs, that he might bryng vs into the captiuitie of the chaldees, that they might slee vs and carye vs awaye preseners vnto Babylon.

So Johanan the sonne of Kare-
B ah / and all the captaynes of the hoost / and al the people folowed not the com maūdement of the Lorde: Namely, to dwel in the lande of Juda. But Johanan ỹ sonne of Kareah, & al the captaynes of the hoost caryed awaye all the remnaunt in Juda, that were come to gether agayne frō the Heythen (amōg whom they had ben scatred) to dwel in the land of Juda: Men wemē / childrē the kynges daughters, all those that Nabuzaradan the chefe captayne had left with Godolyah the sonne of Ahikam. They caryed awaye also the pro
C phet Jeremy, Baruch the sonne of Neriah, and so came into Egypt: for they were not obedyēt / vnto the cōmaūdemēt of god. Thus came they to Thaphnis. And in Thaphnis the worde of the Lorde happened vnto Jeremye, saying: Take great stones in thyne hand / and hyde them in the bryck wall vnder the dore of Pharaos house in Thaphnis, ỹ al the men of Juda maye se / and saye vnto them: thus sayeth the Lord of hoostes the god of Israel: Be hold, I wyll send and call for Nabu- Jerem. xlvi chodonosor the kyng of Babylon my seruaunt, and wyll set hys seate vpon these stones ỹ I haue hyd / and he shal spreade his tent ouer them. And whē he commeth / he shal smyte the land of D Egypt with slaughter, with presōmēt and wyth the sweard. He shal set fyre vpon the temples of the Egyptyans goddes, and burne them vp, and take them selues prysoners. Morouer he shal araye him sefe wt the lande of Egypt, lyke as a shepard putteth on his cote, and shall depart hys waye from thēce in peace. The pyllers also of the tempe of the Sunne that is in Egipt: shal he breake in peces, and burne the temples of the Egiptians goddes.

¶ Hereprouyeth ỹ people for their Idolatry. They that set light by the threatenyng of the Lord, are chastened. The distructyō of Egipt: the Jewes therin is prophecyed.

The. xliiii. Chapter.

THis is the worde that was
A shewed to Jeremy concernyng al the Jewes / which dwelt in Egipte: at Magdal, at Thaphnis, at Māphis, and in the Land of Patures. Thus sayeth the Lorde of hoostes the God of Israel: ye haue sene al the mysery that I haue brought vpon Jerusalem, and vpon al the cytyes of Juda lo that thys daye they are desolate: ād no man dwelling therein: and that be cause of ỹ gret blasphemies, which they committed, to prouoke me vnto anger: in that they wente backe to do sacrifice/ and worschippe vnto straunge goddes: whō neyther they nor ye, nor your fathers haue knowen. How be it, I sēt vnto them my seruauntes all the prophetes: I rose vp early, I sent vnto thē, and gaue them warninge: O doo noo such abominable things, & thinges ỹ I hate. But they wold not follow ner herkē, to turne frō theyr wickednes, & to do no more sacrifice vnto straunge Gods.

The Prophecy

Interxv, a xxix.c.

Wherfore myne indignation and
B wrath was kyndled, and it brente vp ỹ cities of Juda, the feldes with the stretes of Jerusalem so that they were made waste and desolate, as it is come to passe this daye. Now therfore thus sayethe the lorde of hoostes the God of Israell: how happeneth it, that ye doo so greate euel vnto your owne soules, thus to destroye the men and women/ chyldren and Babes of Juda: so that none of you is left, because ye prouoke me vnto wrathe wyth the woorckes of youre owne handes: when ye offre vn to straunge goddes in thee lande of Egipte wher as ye be gone to dwel: that ye mighte vtterlye perisshe, and that ye myght be reuyled and shamefully intreated of al nacions. Or haue ye now forgotten the wyckednes of your forefathers, the wyckednes of the kynges of Juda and their wiues, the wyckednes that ye youre selues and your wyues haue done in the land of Juda, in the cytie and in the land of Jerusaleme
C Yet are ye not sory this date, ye fere not nether walke ye in my lawe and in my commaundementes, ỹ I haue geuē vn to you and your forefathers.

Therfore thus sayeth ỹ Lord of hostes the god of Israel: I am stedfastly aduised and determined/ to punysche you, and to rote out al Juda. As for ỹ remnaunt of Juda that purposit went in to Egipt, there to ease them of their misery: I wil take them & they shal al be destroied. In ỹ land of Egypt shal they perisshe being consumed with the sweard and with honger. For from the least vnto the moost they shall perisshe with the swerd and wyth honger. Wo ouer they shalbe reuyled, abhorred, shamed, and confounded. For I wyll visite them that dwel in Egipte, as I haue visited Jerusalem: with the swerde, wyth honger and wyth pestilence: So that none of the remnaunt of Juda, which are gone to dwell in Egypte shal be left to come agayn into ỹ lande of Juda although they thinke to come thether agayn, & to dwel ther. For none shal com agayn, but such as are fled away. Then al the men which knew that theyr wyues had offred vnto straū-
Amos, ix. b

D ge goddes, and a great lorte of wyues that stode there, yea and al the people that dwelt there in Egipte in the cytie of Patures/ and swered Jeremye, and sayde: as for the wordes ỹ ỹ hast spoke vnto vs in the name of the Lorde/ we wyll in no wyse heare them: but what soeuer goeth out of our owne mouthe, that wyl we do: We wyll do sacrifice, Jeremvii, d ād offre oblations vnto the Quene of heauē: like as we and our forefathers, oure kinges & our heades haue done in ỹ cities of Juda, & in ỹ stretes & feldes of Jerusalē. For thē had we plēte ouisnes of vitayles/ thē were we in prosperity, & no mysfortune came vpō vs.

But sens we left, to offre and to do sacrifice vnto the Quene of heauē, we haue had scarcenes of all thynges, & perysh wt the swerde and honger. Last of all, when wee wemen dyd sacrifice and offred vnto the quene of heauen/ dyd we make her cakes and poure vn to her drinkofferinges to do her seruice, without our husbandes wylles?

Then sayd Jeremy vnto al ỹ people, to the men, to the wemen and to al the folck, which had geuē hī ỹ answer: Did not the Lord remēbre ỹ sacrifices ỹ ye your forfathers, your kinges & rulers (& al the peple) haue offred in the cyties of Juda, in the stretes & land of Jerusalē? & hath he not cōsydered this in hys mynde: in so moch, that the lord might no lenger suffre ỹ wickednes of your inuēcīōs, & ỹ abhominable thinges which he did? Is not your lād desolat & layd ye & abhorred, so ỹ no mā dwelleth therin enye more, as it is come to passe this day.

Dyd

Dyd not al this happen vnto you/because ye made such sacrifyce/& synned agaynst the Lord: Ye haue not folowed his voyce, to walke in his lawe in his ordinaunces and statutes.

Yea this is the cause, that all mysfortune happē vnto you, as it is com to passe this daye. Moreouer, Jeremy spake vnto al the people and to al the women; Heaze the wozde of the Lozde al Juda, ye that be in ỹ land of Egipt Thus sayeth the Lozde of Hostes the God of Israel: Ye and your wyues haue spoken wyth your owne mouth, the thynge that yee haue fulfylled in dede.

Yea thus haue ye said: We wil not fayle, but do the thyng that pleaseth vs: we wyl do sacrifice and poure out drinckoffringes to the Quene of heauen. Purposly haue ye set vp youre owne good meanynges, and hastely haue ye fulfylled your owne intent. And therfoze, heare the wozd of ỹ lozd al Juda/ye that dwell in the lande of Egypt.

Behold, I haue swozn by my grete name, sayeth the Lozd/ that my name shal not be rehersed thozow eny mans mouth of Juda, in all the lande of Egypt: to saye: The lozd god lyueth, foz I wyl watche, to plage them, and not foz their wealth. And al the men of Juda that be in the lande of Egypt/ shal perysh with the sweard and with honger, vntyl they be vtterly destroyed.

Neuertheles, those that fled away foz the sweard, shal come agayne into the land of Juda, but there shal be very fewe of them. And al the remnaunt of Juda, that ar gone into egipt, ther to dwel, shal know whose wozdes shal be found true: theirs oz myne.

Take this foz a token that I wyl visette you in this place, sayethe the LORD, and that ye maye knowe how that I (without dout) wil perfozme my purpose vpon you to punisshe you. Behold, sayeth the lozd I wyl delyuer Pharao Hophzea king of egipt into the handes of his enemyes, that seke after his lyfe: euen as I gaue Zedekiah the kyng of Juda in to the hãdes of Nabuchodonozoz kyng of Babylon, which sought after his life.

¶ Baruch is repzoued of Jeremy.

The.xlv.Chapter.

THese are the wozdes that Jeremy the pzophet spake vnto Baruch the sonne of Neriah, after that he had wzitten these Sermons into a boke at the mouth of Jeremy, In the fourth yere of Jehoakim the sõne of Josiah kyng of Juda. A Jere.xxxvi.a

Thus saieth the Lozd God of Israel vnto thee, O Baruch: In so much as thou thoughtest thus when ỹ wast wzyting/ Woo is me, the Lozd hath geuen me payne foz my trauayle: I haue weerted my selfe with syghyng & shall I finde no rest: Therfoze tell him, O Jeremy, that the Lozd saith thus: Behold, The thing that I haue buylded wyl I breake downe agayne/ and rote out the thing, that I haue planted, yea this whole land. And seekest thou yet promocyõ? Loke not foz it, and desire it not. Foz I wyl bzing a miserable plage vpon al flesh sayeth the lozde. But thy life wil I geue thee foz a pzey where so euer thou goest.

¶ He pzophecyeth the destruction of Egipt. Deliueraunce is pzomised to Israell.

¶ The.xlvi.Chapter

HEre folow the wozdes of ỹ Lozd to the pzophet Jeremy, whych he spake vnto the Gentyles. These wozdes folowing pzeached he to the Egipcyans concernyng ỹ Host of Pharao Necho kynge of Egipte, when he was in Charcamis beside ỹ water of Euphzates: what tyme as Nabuchodonozoz the kyng of Babylon slew him/ In the fourthe yeare of Jehoakim the sonne of Josiah king of Juda. A Eclay.xix.d. xxx.a

Ye make ready buckeler and schild ye goo furth to fyght: Ye harnesse your hozses, and set your selues vpon them. Ye set youre sallettes faste on, ye bzynge fozth speares, ye scoure your swerds, & put õ your bzestplates.

But alas how happeneth it, that I se you so afrayed: why shrink ye back wherfo ze are your wozthyes slayne:

Ye thet runne so fast awaye/that none of them loketh behynde hym. Fearfulnesse is fallen vpō euerychone of thē sayeth the Lorde: The lightest of foote shall not flee away, and the worthyes shall not escape.

B Towarde the north by the water of Euphrates, they shall stomble and fal. But what is he thys, that swelleth vp as it weare a floude roarynge and ragyng lyke the streames of water? It is Egipte that ryseth vp lyke the flood & casteth out the waters with so great noyse.

For they saye: We wyll go vp, and wyll couer the earth: we wyll destroye the cyttes/with them that dwel therin Get you to horsebacke/ roll furthe the Charettes, come forth ye worthyes, ye morians, ye Lybians wyth youre buc
C lers/ye Lydeans with your bowes: so shall thys daye be vnto the lorde God of hostes, a day of vengeaunce/that he maye aduenge hym of hys Ennemyes. The swearde shall deuoure/it shāl be satisfyed and bathed in theyr bloud a* For the lord god of hostes shall haue a slayne offering toward the north by the water of Euphrates. Go vp, O Galaad, and bringe tryacle vnto thee daughter of Egypte.

But in vayne shalt thou go to chirurgery, for thi wound shal not be stopped. The Hethen shal heare of thy shame, and the lande shalbe ful of thy cōfuston: For one stronge man shal stōble vpon another/ howe then shoulde they not fall bothe together

These are the wordes that the lord
D spake to the prophete Jeremy, concernynge the hooste of nabuchodonosor ỹ kinge of Babylon which was sent to destroye the land of Egypte: Preache out thorowōw the lande of Egypte/ and cause it to be proclaymed at Magdol, Memphys and Taphnis/and saye: Stande styll, make thee redye, for the swerd shall consume the round about

How happeneth it that thy myghtie worthyes, are fallē? why stode they not fast? euen because the Lorde thrust thē downe. The slaughter was greate, for one fell euer styll vpon an other, One cryed vpon an other: Uplet vs go a gayne to our owne people, and to oure owne naturall countre, from the swerde of oure enemyes.

Crye euen there/O Pharao kinge of Egipte/the tyme wyll bringe seditton. As truly as I lyue (sayth the king E whose name is the Lord of hoostes) it shall come as the mount of Tabor/and as Lybanus, if it stode in the see. O ỹ daughter of Egypt make redy to flie For Memphis shalbe voyde and desolate so that no man shall dwell therin b* The lande of egypte is lyke a goodly fayre calfe, but one shal come out of the northe to pricke her forwarde. c* Her wagted soudiers that be with her, are lyke fat calues.

They also shall fle away together and not abyde: for the Daye of theyr slaughter and the time of theyr visitacion: shal come vpon them.

The crye of their enemies shal make a noyse/as the blast of a trompet. For F they shal enter in with their hooste, and come with axes, as it were hewers downe of wod. And they shal cut downe her wod, sayeth the Lord/without entiscretiō. For they shal be mo in nōbre then the grashoppers, so that no man shalbe able to tel them. The daughter of Egypt shalbe confounded/ whē she shalbe delyuered into the handes of ỹ people of the north.

Moreouer thus sayeth the lord of hoostes the God of Israel: Beholde I wyl visit that restlesse people of Alexandria/ Pharao and Egipt, yea bothe their Goddes and their kynges: euen Pharao and al thē that put their trust in hym. Yea I wyl delyuer them into the handes of those, that seke after their lyues Namely, into the power of Nabuchodonosor the kyng of Babylon, and into the power of hys seruauntes. And after al these thinges it shalbe inhabited, as a fore tyme, sayeth the Lord.

But be thou afrayed (O my seruaunt Jacob) fear not thou, O Israel. For lo, I wyl helpe the frō farre, and thy seade from the lande of thy captiuyte. Jacob also shal come agayne, and be in rest: he shalbe ryche, and no man shal do hym harme.

Feare

Feare thou not (O Jacob my seruaũt) saieth the Lord, for I am with thee: ãd wil destroy al nacions, among whome I haue scatred the.
Neuertheles I wyl not consume thee, but chasten thee and correcte the: yea and that with discrecion: nether wyl I spare the as one that were fautles.

The notes

a* The Caldees killed the Egipcyans, at ẏ flouod of Euphrates, which was toward ẏ North: where as yet their host was wonderous greate, and ther horses & charettes many. But the greater their host was, the more cruel was their slaughter: so dyd the Lord punish theyr wickednes, geuing them into the handes of the Caldees: & therfore calleth the Prophet, the daye of their slaughter, the day of ẏ lords vẽgaunce, & them a slayne offring of the Lord.
b* As though he sayde. Hytherto (O Egipt) hast ẏ bene as a goodly fayre calf, for thyne habundaũce of riches. Therfore as bullokes and orẽ are strong w̃ hornetes & pricked forward w̃ goades (or as som cal them gaddes) so shal the Babylonias sting & prick the, & driue the to flight and ouerthrow the. By him ẏ shuld come out of the North, is vnderstande the king of Babilon & his hoost.
* Her wayged soudiers &c. The meninge is, that ẏ hyred host of ẏ Egipcians gathered of the coastes ẏ bordred theron, shulde be feazfull & weake: & more deynty and delicious, then strong & manful, as mã fattened like stalle oxen: so ẏ they shuld also flie w̃ the Egipcians, when their misery drew nyg, & whẽ ẏ daye of thyr vysitacio & punishmẽt shuld come.

¶ The. xlviii. Chapter.

A THese are the wordes, that the Lorde spake vnto Jeremye the Prophete agaynste the Philistines/ before that Pharaoo smote the cytie of Azah. Thus sayeth the Lorde: Beholde, there shall waters aryse oute of the North: and shal growe to a greate floude, runninge ouer and couerynge the lande, the cityes, and them that dwel therein.
And the men shal crye, and al they that dwel in the lande, shal mourne at the noyse and stampyng of their strõg hareed horses, al the shakyng of their charettes and at the rombleyng of the wheles.
The fathers shal not loke to theyr chyldren, so feable and werye shal theyr hãdes be: at the same tyme, when he shall B be there/ to destroye the whole land of the Philystines. He shal make waste bothe. Tyrus, Sidon and al other that are sworne vnto them.

For the Lorde wyll destroye all Palestina/ and the other Iles, that be deuyded from the countre. Baldnesse is come vpon Azah, Ascalon wyth her other valleys shal kepee her peace.
How long wylt thou slaye, O thou swearde of the lorde? Turne agayne into thy sheeth, rest, and leaue of. But howe can it ceasse, when the Lord himselfe hath geuen him a charge against Ascalon/ and rayled it vp against the cyties of the see coast?

¶ The word of ẏ Lord agaynst the Moabytes.

¶ The. xlviii. Chapter.

A THus sayeth the Lorde of hoostes the God of Israell agaynste Moab: Wo be to the cytye of Nabo, for it shal be layde waste, brought to confusion and taken. A Esay. xv. A. xvi. a. xxv, b. ezech. xxv. b Sophõ. ii. b. Iosue. xiiii. c
Yea thy stronge cytie of Kariathsarim shalbe brought to shame, and afrayde: Moab shal nomore be had in honoure: Wycked councell shalbe taken vpon Hesebon. Come (shal they saye) let vs rote theym oute, that they maye be nomore among the nomber of the Gentyls, yea that they maye nomore be thought vpon: Thus the swearde shal persecute thè: A voyce shal crye from Horonaim with greate wastyng ãd destrucciõ, is Moab made desolate.
And thys crye shalbe hard in al her cyties. At the goynge vp vnto Luyth there shall aryse a lamentacyon: and downe towarde Horonaim, there shal be herde a cruel and a deedly crye: Get you awaye, saue youre lyues and be lyke unto the heeth in the wyldernes. B
For because thou haste trusted in thy stronge holdes and treasure/ thou shal be taken a* Chamos wyth hys prestes and prynces shal goo awaye into captyuite.
The destroyer shall come vpon al cyties, none shal escape. The valleyes shalbe destroyed/ and the feldes shalbe layde waste: lyke as the Lorde hath determed.
b* Make a token vnto Moab, that she get her awaye spedely: for her cyties shalbe made so desolat, that no mã shal dwelltherin.

* Cursed be he ꝑ doth the worcke of ꝑ Lorde negligently, & cursed be he that kepeth backe his swerde from shedding of bloude.

Moab hath euer ben rich and careless from her youth vp, & she hath sytten and taken her ease with her treasure. She was neuer yet put oute of one vessell into an other (that is) she neuer went away into captiuite, therfore her taste remayneth, and her sauour is not yet chaunged.

But lo, the time commeth, sayth the Lorde, that I shal send her trussers to trusse her vp, to prepare and season her vessels: yea her tanckerdes ratel, and shake to and fro. And Moab shalbe a shamed of Chamos/lyk as Israel was ashamed of Bethell, wherein she put her trust.

Wherfore doo ye thyncke thus: we are mightie and stronge men of war? Moab shalbe destroyed, and her cities brent vp: her cholen yong men, shalbe slayne, sayth the King, wh ose name is the Lorde of hoostes. The destruction of Moab commeth on a pace, and her fall is at hande.

All her neyghbours shall mourne for her, and all they that knowe her name, shall say: O how happeneth it, that the stronge staf, and the goodly rodde, is thus brokē? And thou doughter Dibon/ come downe from thy glory/and syt in pouertye. For he that destroyeth Moab/shall come vp to the also, & breake downe thy stronge holdes.

And thou that dwellest in Aroer, get the to to the strete/and loke about the: aske them that are fledde and escaped, and saye: what thing is happened? O, Moab is confounded and ouercome.

Mourne and crye, tell it out at Arnon, that Moab is destroyed. And misery shal come vpon the playne lande; Namely/vpon Holon/and Jahazah: vpon Mephaath and Dibon, vppon Nabo and the house of Deblathaim, vpon Cariathiarim and Bethgamul, vpon Bethmaon and Carioth, vpon Bozra, and all the cytyes in the lande of Moab, whether they lye farre or neare.

The horne of Moab shalbe smytte downe, and her arme broken, sayeth the lorde. Make her droncken, for she magnyfyed her selfe aboue the Lorde, that men maye clappe theyr handes at her vompyte, & that she also may be lauged to scorne. O Israell, shalte thou not laugh hym to scorne, wen he is taken amonge theues? Yea because of thy woordes that thou haste spoken a- Num xxviii gainst him, thou shalt be dryuen awai. Yea Moabites shall leaue the cytyes, and dwell in rockes of stone/and become lyke dowues, that make theyr nestes in holes.

As for Moabs pryde, we haue herde of it, she is very hye mynded. I knowe her stoutnesse, her boastinge, her arrogancy, and the pryde of her stomack/ sayeth the Lorde. For her furiousnes maye neyther vpholde her with strenght nor dede. Therfor shal they mourninge be made for Moab/and euerye mā shall cry, for Moabs sake: a lamētacion shalbe made to the men, that stāde vpon the wall. So wyll I mourne for the also, O Jazer, and for thee, O thou vyneyarde of Sabamah.

Thy wyne braunches shall come ouer the sea, and the braunches of Jazer but vnto thee see the destroyer shal brake vnto the harueste and grape gatherynge: Myrth and cheare shalbe taken awaye from the tymbre feld, and from the whole lande of Moab.

There shalbe no swete wyne in the presse/the treader shall haue no stomake to crye, ye there shalbe none to crye vnto him: which afore tyme were heard from Helebon to Eleale and Jahaz, whych lyfted vp theyr voyce from Zoar vnto Horonaym, that bullock of .iii. yere old. The waters also of Nemrim shalbe dryed vp.

Moreouer I wyll make Moab cease (sayth the Lord) from the offerings and censing that she hath made vntoo her Goddes in hye places. Wherfore my herte mourneth for Moab, lyke a croude playenge an heuye songe: and for the mens sake of the brycke wall my hert morneth also, euen as a pype ꝑ pypeth peth a doleful song: for they shalbe very few/and destroyed.

All heades shalbe shauen, and al beardes clypped of: al handes bound/and al lothes girded about with sak cloth.

Upon al the house toppes and stretes of Moab, there shalbe mourning: For I wil breake Moab lyke an vnprofitable vessel, saith the Lord. O how ferful is she? O how mourneth she? O how doth Moab hãg down her head/ and is ashamed? Thus shal Moab be a laghyng stock, and had in derysyon of al them, that be rounde about her.

Deu.xxviiic Iere.xlvi.d For thus sayeth the Lord. Behold/ the enemy shal com flieng as an aegle, and spreade his winges vpon Moab.

They shal clyme ouer the wales/and wynne the strõg holdes. Then ỹ mighty mens hertes in Moab shalbe lykeỹ hert of a woman trauelyng w̃ childe.

Iere.xlv.d. G And Moab shalbe made so desolat that she shalbe nomore a peple, because she hathe set vp her selfe agaynste the lord. Feare/pit, and snare shal com vpon ỹ (O Moab) sayeth the lord. Who so escapeth the fere, shal fal in the pyt/ and who so getteth out of the pyt, shal

Iay.xliii.e. be taken in the snare.

For I wyl bring a yeare of visitacyon vpõ Moab, sayeth the lord. They that are able to flie/ shal stand vnder ỹ shadow of Heselon. For there shal go a fyre out of Heselon, and a flame frõ Sion, and shal burne vp that proude peple of Moab, both before & behynd.

Wo be vnto the (O Moab) for ỹ peple of Chamos shalt perish: Ye thy sõnes & daughters shalbe led awaye captyue. Yet at ỹ last wyl I bring Moab out of captiuite agayne/ sayeth ỹ lord. thus farre of the plage of Moab.

The notes

a* Chamos in the name of the Idole and god of ỹ Moabytes.

b* After the Greke. Some reade: Geue a flower or winges.

c* The Hebr, expound this of ỹ Caldes, ỹ they shulde haste to destroy ỹ whole kingdom of ỹ Moabytes: as though ỹ text shuld mene thus much: cursed be he ỹ neclygẽtly performeth ỹ vẽgeaũce of ỹ lord, ỹ spareth these most wycked Moabytes, and that w̃holdeth his swerd frõ sheding of their bloud.

¶ The word of ỹ Lord against ỹ amonites, against Idumea, Damascus, Cedar & Elam.

¶ The.xlix. Chapter.

AS concernyng the Amonites, thus the Lord sayeth: Hath Israell no chyldren, or is he without an heyre? Why hath youre kyng thẽ taken God in? wherfore doth his people dwel in hys cyties? Beholde ther fore/ the tyme commeth (sayeth ỹ lord) that I wyl bryng a noyse of warre in to Rabah of the amonytes. Yahel shalbe desolat, and her cytis brent vp: and the Israelites shalbe lordes ouer those that had them in possession afore, sayeth the lord. Helebon shal mourne/ for it shalbe roted out of the grounde, sayeth the Lord. The cyties of Rabah shal crye out, and gyrde them selues wyth sack cloth: they shal morne, & tunne about the wales: for their kyng shal be led awaye presoner: yee his prestes and princes with him.

A ezech.xxi.b & xxb.a Amos.i.a

B Wherfore trustest thou in the watersstremes that flew to and fro, O thou fearce daughter: and thinkest thou art so safe (by reasõ of thy treasure) that no man shal come to the?

Beholde, I wyl bryng a feare vpon the, saieth the Lord god of hoostes, from al those that be aboute ỹ: so that ye shalbe scatered euery man from another, and no man shall gather them together agayne ỹ be fled. But after ỹ/ I wil bring the Ammonites also oute of captiuite agayne.

Upon the Edomites hath the lorde of hoostes spoken on thys maner: Is there no more wysdome in Theman? Is there no more good councel amõg his peple? Is their wisdom thẽ turned cleane to naught? Get you hence, turne your backes, crepe downe in toỹ depe, O ye cytyzines of Dedan.

For I wyll bryng destruccyon vppon Esau, yee and thee daye of hys vysytacyon. If the grape gatherers come vpon thee, shoulde they nott leaue some grapes? yf the nyght robbers came vpon thee/ shoulde they not take so much as they thought were ynough?

But I wyl make Esau bare, and discouer couer his secretes, so that he shall not be able to hyde them. Hys sede shall be wasted away ye hys bretheren and his neyghbours, and he him selfe shal not be lefte behynde.

Jere.xlvb, Ezec.ix.b i.Petr.iiii.c

Thou shalt leaue thy fatherles chil dren behynd thee/ and I wyl kepe thē and thy wyddowes shal take theyr com forth in me. For thus hath the Lorde spoken: Behold, they that men thought were vnmeate to drincke of the cuppe, haue dron cken with the fyrst: and thin kest thou then to be free?

No, no: thou shalt nether be quite nor free, but thou must drinck also: For why/ I haue swornc by my selfe (sayth the lorde) that Bozrah shall become a wyldernesse, an open shame a laughī ge stocke and cursynge: and her cities shalbe a continuall deserte.

D For I am perfectlye informed of the Lorde, that he hath sent a message al redy vnto the heathen. Gather you together/ and go forthe against them: make you redy to the battayle, for lo: I wyll make the but smal among the Heathen, and lytle regarded amo ung men.

Abyd.ia eſay.xlvii.b. Jere.xlviiid

Thy hye stommake and the pryde of thy hert haue deseaued the, because thou wylt dwell in the houses of stony rockes, and haue the hye mountans in possessiō. Neuertheles though thy nest were as hye as the Egles/ yet wyll I cast the downe, sayth the lorde. More ouer Idumea shalbe a wildernes: who so goeth by yt, shalbe abashed. & wōder at all her myser able plages. Lyke as Sodome, Gomor, and the cittes that laye there about, were turned vpsyde downe (sayth the Lord) so shall no bo dy dwell in Idumea/ and no man shal haue his habitacion there. Behold/ lyke as the lyon commeth vp from the plesaunt medowes of Jordane vnto the grene pastures of Etham, so wyl I dryue hym, and make hym runne aga ynst her. But who is the yong man that I wyl ordeyne therto? Who is ly ke vnto me? What is he that wyl stry ue wyth me? What shepherd maye stā de in my handes?

Therfore heare the councell of the Lorde/ that he hath taken vpon Idu mea: and hys purpose that he hath de uyſed vpon the Citezins of Theman: The least of the flocke shal teare them in peces, and loke what fayre thing th= ey haue, they shall make it waste, and them selues also. At the noyse of theyre fall the earthe shall quake, the crye of theyr voyce shalbe herde vnto the red see. Behold, the enemye shall come ād fle vp hyther like as it were an Egle: and spreade his wynges vpon Bozrah. Then shall the hertes of the worthyes in Edom, be as the harte of a woman trauelynge of chylde. Upon Damas= cus, Hemad and arphad shall come cō= fusyon, for they shall heare euell tydin ges: they shalbe tossed to and fro lyke the see that cannot stande styll. Da= mascus shal be sore afrayde, and shal flie, trembleyng shal come vpon her. So row and payne shall ouertake her as a woman traueling of chylde. But how should so worshyppfull and glorious a cytye bee forsaken? heare therfore: her yonge men shall fall in the stretes, ād al her men of war shal be taken away in that tyme, sayeth the Lord of hostes, I wyl kyndle a fyre in the lande of da mascus, which shal consume the palace of Benhadad.

As for Cedar and the kyngdomme of hazor, whome Nabuchodonosor the kynge of Babylon smote downe/ thee Lorde hath spoken thus vpon them: Aryse, and get you vp vnto Cedar, ād destroye the people towarde the easte. Theyr tentes and theyre flockes shall they take away/ yee theyr hangynges and theyr vessell. Theyr camels also shal they cary away with them. They shal come about them on euery syde w a fearfull crye.

Fle, get you sone awaye, crepe into caues, that ye may dwell there: Dye in habitours of hazor, sayth the Lord; for Nabuchodonosor the kinge of Baby= lon hathe holden a Councell concer= ning you, & concluded his deuyse agai nst you. Arise, and get you vp against yonder rich and careleſſe people (saith the Lord) which haue nether gates ner dooze barres, and that dwel not toge= ther. Theyr camels shalbe stolen/ ād the droues of theyr catel driuē away.

Moreouer

Wherefore, these that be shauen wyll I scattre to warde al the wyndes / and bringe them to destruction: yee ād that thorow their owne kamplyers, sayeth ỹ Lord. Hazor also shalbe a dwellingfor Dragons, and an euerlasting wylder nesse: so that no body shal dwel there / and no man shal haue ther hys habitacion.

These are the wordes / that ỹ Lord spake to the prophete Jeremy concernynge Elam, in the begynninge of the reygne of Zedekiah kynge of Juda.

G Thus sayeth the lorde of hoostes: Beholde, I wyl[b] *breake the bow of Elā and take away their strength: and vpon Elam I wyl bringe the foure windes from the foure quarters of heuen and wyl scatre them agaynst the same foure wyndes. And ther shalbe no people, but some of Elam shal fle vnto thē For I wil cause Elam to be afraied of their enmies, and of thē that seke their lyues: and wil bringe vpon thē the indignacion of my wrath, sayth the lord / And I wil persecut them with ỹ swerd so long til I haue brought them to naught. I wyl set[c] *my stole in Elam / I wyl destroye both the king and ỹ princes from thence, sayeth the lord. But in processe of tyme, I wil bring Elam out out of captyuytie agayne, sayth the Lord.

The Notes.

a* By this young man do some vnderstand Alexander the greate conquerar, which ouercame al lādes.

b* The Elamites were good bowmen in battel: ād therfore is their bow prophecied to be broken.

c* By which is meant that they shuld be ouercom i battel of their enemies & scatred abrode vnto the foure coastes of the erth:

¶ The prophecieth the destruction of Babilon & ỹ deliueraūce of Israel, which was in captiuitie.

¶ The. L. Chapter

THe wordes that the Lorde spake vnto the prophet Jeremy / cōcernig Babilon, & the land of the Caldees: preach among the Gentils, let youre voice be hearde, make a token: crye oute, keape no sylence, but saye: Babylon shalbe wonne, Bel shalbe cō founded, and Merodach shalbe ouercome.

A Yea their goddes shalbe brought to shame and their images shal stande in feare. For out of the north ther shal come a people agaynst her, which shal make her lande so waste that no bodye shal dwel therin: nether man nor beast for they shalfle and depart from thence a* In those dayes and at that tyme sayeth the lord, the children of Israel shal come / they and thy children of Juda / weping and making haste, and shal seke the Lorde their God. They shal aske the way to Siō, thither shal they turne their faces, and come and hange vpon the in a couenaūt that neuer shal be broken.

My people hath bene a lost flocke my shepardes haue disceaued them, & haue made them go astraye vpon the hilles. They haue gone from the mountayne to the lytle hil, and forgotten their folde. All they that came vpon them, haue deuoured them: and their enemyes sayde: We haue made no frute againste theym, for they haue displeased the Lord, yea euen the lord whiche is the bewtye of their ryghtuousnes, ād that defended ther fathers. Yet shal ye fle from Babylon, and departe out of the land of the Caldees, & ye shalbe as ỹ rommes that go before the flocke. For lo, I wyl wake vp an hooste of people from the northen land, and bringe them vpon Babylon these shal laye sege to it, and wynne it. Their arowes shal not mysse, lyke as a connyng archar shuteth not wrong. Jere. L.

And the Caldees shal be spoyled, and al they that spoyle them, shalbe satysfyed, sayeth the Lorde: Because ye were so cheareful and glad, to treade downe myne heretage, and fulfylled youre pleasures, as the calues in the grasse: and trymphed ouer them lyke the bulles / when yt had gotten the victory. Your mothers shalbe soe confounded, and they that bare you, shal come to shame. She shalbe the leaste set by among the nacyons, boyd, wast, and dryed vp. No man shal be able to dwel there, for the feare of the Lorde / but she shal be whole desolate. Esay. xl. bis

Al

All they that goo by Babylon / shall stand stil and be abashed/& shal wonder at al her plages.

¶ Go forth in your aray against Babilō round about al ye that cā handel bowes: shoute at her, spare no arowes, for she hath synned agaynst the lord. Cry out vpon her, vpon her, agaynste her rounde about: she shal yelde her selfe, her foundacions shal fal, and her walles shal come downe, for it shalbe the vengeaunce of the Lord. Yea vengeaunce shall be taken of her / and as she hath done, so shal she be dealt wal. They shal rote out ỹ sower from Babylon, and hym that handleth the sycle in haruest. For feare of the sweard of the enemy, euery man shal get hym to his owne people, and euery mā shal flye to his owne lond. Israel is a scatered flocke, the Lyons haue dysperssed them. First the kyng of the Assyrias deuoured them / last of al this Nabuchodonosor king of Babilon hath broken al their bones.

Jere. l, viii, b
xix b xlix, c
Exodi, xxi, b
Leuit, xxiiii d
Joel, iii, b iiii, Re, xvii Esay, x, a iiii, Re, xx b

Therfore thus sayeth the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel: Beholde / I wyl viset the king of Babilon and his kyngdome / as I haue vysited ỹ king of the Assyrians: and wyl bring Israel agayne to his pleasaunt pasture, that he maye fede vpon Charmel and Basan / and be satisfyed vpon the mount of Ephraim and Galad. In those dayes and at the same tyme (sayeth ỹ lord) yf the offence of Israel be sought for / there shal none be found: yf men enquire for the synne of Juda / ther shal be none: for I wyl be mercyfull vnto them / whome I suffer to remayne ouer.

D iiii, Re, xix
Esay, xiiii, c

Go downe (O thou auenger) into the enmyes land / and vysit them that dwel therin: downe with them / & smite them vpon the backes sayeth the lord: do accordyng to al that I haue commaunded thee. There is gone aboute the lande a crye of a slaughter and greate murther, namelye on thys maner: Howe happeneth it / that the hammerre of the whole worlde is thus broken and broked in sonder? How chaunceth it / that Babylon is become a wildernes among the Heathen on thys maner? I my selfe haue layed wayte for thee, and thou arte taken: vnawarres art thou trapped & snared: For why / thou hast prouoked ỹ lord vnto anger: The lord hath opened hys house of ordinaunce, and brought furth the weapons of hys wrath. For the thynge that is done in the lande of the Chaldees, it is the Lord of Hostes worcke.

These thinges shall come vpon her at the last / that shal breake into her prive chambre, they shall leaue her as bare as stones, that be layde together in heapes. They shall so destroye her / ỹ nothyng shalbe lefte. They shall slaye al theyr mighti souldiers and put thē to death. Woo be vnto them, for the dat and time of theyr visitacion is at hande. Me thincke I heare already a cry of them that be fled and escaped oute of ỹ lande of babylon, which shewe in Syon the vengeaunce of the Lorde oure God, the vengeaūce of hys temple: yea & voyce of them that crye agaynste babylon call vp all the archers agaynste Babylon, pytche youre tentes rounde about her that none escape. Recompense her as she hath deserued: and according as she hath don / so deale with her agayne: for she hath set vp her selfe agaynst the lorde, agaynst the holye one of Israell. Therfore shal her yong mē fall down in the stretes and all her mē of warre shalbe rooted out in that dat sayth the Lorde. Beholde I speake vnto thee (O thou proude) sayth the lord God of hoostes, for thy daye shall come euen the time of thy visitacion: And ỹ proude shall stomble and fall, and noo man shall helpe hym vp. I wyll burne vp hys cities with fyre, and it shal consume all that is round about him.

¶ Thus sayth the lorde of hoostes: The chyldern of Israel and Juda suffred violence together. All they that haue them in Captyuitye, keape them faste, and wyll not let them goo: but theyre aduenger and redemer is mighty, whose name is the lord of hoostes: he shall maintayne theyr cause / he shall make the lande shake, and iudge them that dwell therein, one with another.

¶ The sweard shal come vpon the Chaldees

dees/saieth the lorde/vpon them that dwel in Babilon/vpon their princes/ and vpon their wise men: The swerd vpō their sothsaiers. as for those(thei shal become fooles.) The sweard vpō their worthyes, so that they shal stand in feare: The sweard vpon their horsemen ād charettes/and vpon al ỹ commen people that dwel vnder them: so that they shall become b*like wemen: The swerde vp on their treasure, so ỹ it shalbe stollen awaie: The swerd vp on their waters, so that they shalbe dried vp: For the land worshippeth images, and delyteth in straunge wonderful thinges. Therfor shal wild bestes, Apes, and Estriches dwel therin: for there shal neuer mā dwel there, nether shal eny man haue his habitaciō there for euermore. Like as God destroyed Jerem.l.b Deu.xxviiii Sodome and Gomorre/with the cityes that laie there about, saieth ỹlorde: So shall no man dwel there also, neyther shal eny man haue there his habitacion. Behold, ther shal come a peple from the North, with a greate bounde of men and many Kinges shall stande vp from the endes of the earth: They beare bowes & buckelers, cruel ar they & vnmercyful.

Their voyce roareth lyke the ragig see/they ride vpon horses, and com weG poned to fight agaynst thee: O Babylon. As soone as the kyng of Babilon hereth tel of them, his hādes shal waxe feble: Sorow and heuynes shal come vpon him, as a womā traueling wyth child. Behold, Like as the lion cōmeth Jerem.xlix.c vp from the pleasaūt medowes of Jordane vnto the grene pastures of Ethan/so wyl I driue them forth/& make them run against her. But whom shal Job.xli.a I chose out, ād ordeu to such a thinge For who is like me, or who wil stryue with me: or what shepard maye stande against me? Therfore here the cōcell that the lord hath geuen vpon Babylon, ānd the deuice that he hath taken vpon the land of the Caldees. The leest amonge the peple shal tere them in peces/and loke what pleasaunt thing they haue they shal laye it waste.

The noyse at the wynnynge of Babylon shal moue the earth, & the cyte shal be herd among ỹ Gentils.

The notes

a*Here prophecyeth he the comming agayne of ỹ people from the captiuite of Babylon, after ỹ generall lysence geuen them of kyng Cyrus. ii. Pa. xxvi g. xi Esdr. i a b*Which cyte out in tyme of theyr traueling.

How Babilon shuld be ouerthrowen. Jeremy geueth his boke to Saraiah.

The.li. Chapter.

THus hath the lord sayde: beholde, I wyl raise vp a perlous wind against Babylon and her citezens, that beare euel wil againste me. A Jerem.xxv.b

I wil sende also into Babilon fanners, a*to fāne her out, and to destroy her lande: for i the daye of her trouble they shalbe a bout her on euery syde: Moreouer, the lorde hath saide vnto ỹ bow men, and to them that clime ouer the wales in brest plates: Ye shal not spare her yonge men, kil downe al her hoost. Thus the slayne shal fal downe in the land of the Caldes, and the wounded i the stretes As for Israel and Juda, they shall not be forsaken of their Jerem.l.d God/of the lorde of Hostes, of ỹ holy one of Israel: no, though they haue killed al their lande ful of synne. Flye a Esay.xlviii.d waye from Babilon/ euery man saue his life. Let no man holde his tunge to her wyckednes, for the tyme of Jerem.xxv.e the Lordes vengeaunce is come/ yea he shal rewarde her agayne.

Babylon hath byne in the Lordes hande a golden cuppe, that maketh al landes droncken. Of her wine haue al people droncken, therfore are they out of their wittes. But sodenly is Babilon falen, and destroyed. Murne for her, bringe plasters for her woundes if she mate peraduenture be healed agayne.

We wolde haue made Babilon whole (saye they) but she is not recouered. Therfore wyl we let her alone, and go euery man into his owne contre. For her iudgemente ys come into heauen/ and is gone vp to the cloudes.

And therefore come one, we wil shew Spon the worcke of the; Lorde oure God;

Wake

Wake sharpe the arowes, and fyll the quyuers, for the lord shal rayse vp the spyrete of ỹ king of ỹ Meedes, which hath alredy a desyre to destroy Babylõ.

This shalbe the vengeaunce of the Lorde, and the vengeaunce of his temple.

Set vp tokens vpon the walles of Babylon, make your watch strong, let your watch men in araye, yee hold pryue watches: and yet for all that shall the lord go furth wt ỹ deuice, which he hath takẽ vpõ thẽ ỹ dwel in Babilõ:

O thou that dwellest by the greate waters, O thou that hast so greate tresure and riches, thyne ende is come: & the rekening of thy winninges. The Lord of hoostes hath sworne by hi'selfe that he wyl ouer whelme the with men lyke gresshoppers in numbre/ which wt a corage shall crie. Alarum Alarum against thee. Yee euen the Lord of hostes, that with his powr made the earth wyth his wysdom prepared the round worlde/ and with his discrecyon spred out the heauens. As soone as he letteth his voyce be herd the waters in ỹ ayer waxe fierce: He draweth vp the cloudes from the endes of thearth. He turneth the lyghtenynges to rayne, he bringeth the windes out of their secret places. By ỹ reason of wysdom, al men are become fooles. Confounded be all the casters of ymages for the thing ỹ they make is but disceate, and hath no breath. Vayne is it and worthy to be laughed at and in the tyme of vysitacyon it shal perish.

Neuertheles, the portion of Jacob is none suche but he that made al thinges, whose name is ỹ Lord of hoostes, he is the rodde of his enheritaunce.

Thou breakest my weapons of warre and yet thorow thee I haue scatered ỹ nacyons and kyngdomes: Thorowe thee haue I scatred horse ãd horsemẽ/ yee the charrettes, and such as sate vpon them, thorow the I haue scatred mẽ and women, olde and yong, bacheler & mayden. Thorow the I haue scatered the shepard and hys flock, the husbãd man and hys catel, the prynces and the rulers.

Therfore wyll I reward the cytye of Babylon and al her citesyns the Caldees, wt al ỹ euel which they haue don vnto Syon yea that yee youre selues shal se it, saieth the Lord. Beholde, I come vpon the (thou b* noysome hyll) sayeth the Lord thou that destroyest al landes. I wyl stretch out my hande ouer thee/ and cast thee downe from ỹ stony rockes ãd wyl make thee a brent hyll so that nether corner stones, ner pinnacles, ner foundacion stones shall be taken enymore out of thee, but waste desolat shalt thou lie for euer more, saieth the Lorde.

Set vp a token in the land blowe the trompettes amonge the Heithen / prouoke the nacyons agaynst her, call the kyngdomes of Ararat, Mennt, ãd Aschanes agaynst her, numbre out Caphsar agaynst her, bringe as greate a sorte of horses agaynst her, as yf they were gresshoppers. Prepare agaynste theim the people of the Meedes wyth their kinges prynces & al their chefe rulers, yea and the whole lande that is vnderthem. The lande also shal shake and be afrayed, whẽ the deuice of the lorde shall come forth agaynste Babylon, to make the lande of Babylon so waste, that no man shall dwell eny more therin. The Worthyes of Babylon shal leaue ỹ battel, and kepe theym selues in stronge holdes, their strength hath fayled them. they shalbe lyke weimen. Their dwellynge places shalbe brent vp, their barres shall be broken. One purseuaunt shall mete another, yea one poste shal come by another, to bryng the kynge of Babilõ tydinges that his citte is taken in on euery side, the foordes occupyed / the fennes brent vp, and the soudiers sore afrayed. D

For thus saieth the lord of hoostes the god of Israel: the daughter of Babylon hath bene in her tyme like as a threshing floore but shortely shall her haruest com. Nabuchodonosor ỹ king of Babylon hath deuoured and destroyed me, he hath made me an empty vessel. He swalowed me vp lyke a dragõ, and filled hys belly with my delycates he hath cast me out, he hath taken my substaunce awaye and the thing that was Judicu. ii c; iii. Reg. xi, c.

note for Jeroboam

Amos, vi. c. Jerem. xxii a Jeremy. x. b.

Psa. cxxxv b

Esay. xliiii. c Baruch vi a was left me hath he caryed vnto Babylon/sayeth the daughter that dwelleth in Sion: yea and my bloude also vnto the Caldes, saieth Jerusalem. Therfore thus sayeth the Lord: Beholde, I E wyll defend, thy cause/and aueng the: I wyl dryng vp her see/& drye vp her water springes.

Babilon shall become an heape of stones & dwelyng place for dragons/a fearfulnes and wondryng, because no man dwelleth there. They shal roare together lyke lyons, and as thy ponge lyons when they be angrie, so shal they bende them selues. In their heart I shal set drincke before them/ and they shalbe dronken for ioye: Then shal they slepe an euerlasting slepe, and neuer wake, saieth the Lord: I shal carye thē downe to be slayne like shepe, lyke wethers and gootes. O, how was Sesach wonne: O, how was the glory of the whole land taken? how happeneth it, that Babilon is so wondred at amonge the Heathen? The see is risē ouer Babilō, and hath couered her with his greate waues: Her cyties are layde waste, the land lieth vnbuilded & void: it is alone where no man dwelleth, ād wher no man traueleth thorow. Moreouer/ I wyl viset Bel at Babylon: and the thing that he hath swalowed vp, ỹ same shal I plucke out of his mouth. The Gentyls also shal runne nomore vnto him, yea and the walles of Babilon shal fal.

O my people, come out of Babilō, that euery man maye saue his lyfe, frō the fearefull wrath of the Lorde. Be not faynteherted, and feare not at euery rumore that shalbe herd in the lād; for euery yere bringeth newe tydinges yea straunge wickednes and lordship. And lo, the tyme commeth that I wyl visit the ymages of Babylon, and the whole land shalbe confounded, ye and her slayne shal lye in ỹ middest of her. Heauen and earth w al that is therin, shal reioice ouer Babilon, when the destroyers shal come vpon her from the North, sayeth the Lord.

F Lyke as Babylon hath beaten downe and slaine many of Israel, so shal there fal many, and be slayne in al her kyngdome. Ye that haue escaped the swearde, haste you, stande not styll, remembre the lord afarre of: and thinche vpon Jerusalem, for we wer ashamed to heare the blasphemies: Oure faces were couered with shame, because the straunge aleauntes came into the Sanctuary of the Lord. Wherfore behold (saieth the lorde) the tyme commeth/ that I wyl vyset the ymages of Babylon/ and thorowe the whole lāde they shal morne and fal. Though Babylon clyme vp into heauen, and kepte her power an hye: yet shal I sende her destroyers, saieth the Lorde.

A pyteous crye shalbe heard from Babilon, and a grete misery from the lande of the Caldees: when the Lorde destroyeth them, and when he dryueth out the hye stomacke and proude bosting, wherwith they haue bene as furious as the waues of greate waters flowdes, and made great crakes with their wordes. For the destroyers shal come vpon her (euen vpon Babilon) whiche shal take her worthyes, and breke their *bowes: for god is disposed to aueng him selfe vpon them, and sufficientlye to recompence them. Ye (saieth ỹ lord) I wyl make their Prynces, their wyse men, their chef rulers and al their worthyes, drōcken: so that they shall slepe an euerlasting slepe/ and neuer wake: Thus saieth the king, whose name is the lord of hostes. G

Moreouer, thus saieth the lord of Hostes: The thycke wal of Babilon shalbe broken/ & her proud gates shal be brent vp. And the thing that the gentiles and the people haue wrought with greate trauayle and labour, shal come to naught and be consumed in ỹ fyre.

Thys is the charge that Jeremye gaue vnto Sariah the sonne of Neriah, the sonne of Maaliah, when he wēt coward Babilō with Zedekiah ỹ king of Juda/ in the .iiii. yere of his raigne. Now this Sariah was a peaceable Prince. Jeremy wrote in a boke al the mysterye that shuld come vpon Babylon, yee and all these sermones that be wryten agaynste Babylon, and gaue Sariah thys charge: When thou

Esay, xxi, c

Jere. li. b

Jerem. l. a. Esay. xl vi, a Dani, xiiii d

Jeremy. l c

when thou commest vnto Babilon, se that thou reade these wordes, and saie: O lord/thou art determed to rote out this place, so that nether people ner catel shal dwel there eny more, but to lie waste for euer: and when thou hast red out the boke/ bynde a ston to it, & cast it in the myddeste of Euphrates, and saye: Euen thus shal Babilon syncke, and be thurste downe with the burthē of trouble, that I wyl bringe vpō her: so that she shall neuer come vp agayne. Thus farre are the preachinges of Jeremy.

The Notes.

a* Euen as men kanne corne when it is thrashed b* By this noysom hill is vnderstand Babilon. Why Babylon is called an hyl, is before shewed in Jere.li.a c* Bowes, for strengthes, as in Osee.ib, Where he called the strengthes of men of warre the bowes of Israel
A ¶ Hye repeteth ꝑ taking of zedekiah. Jerusalem is take ̄ of ꝑ Chaldes. zedekiahs sonnes ar kiled before his face, & his eyes put out. The cyties burned. The temple is spoiled & robbed. They ꝑ wer left in Jerusale ̄ ar caried to babilon: king Jehoiaki is brought forth of prison, & fed like a king,

¶ The.lii. Chapter.

Zedekiah was.xxi.yere old, when he was made kynge, and he raigned.xi.yeare in Jerusalem. His mothers name was Hamutal, Jeremies daughter of Lobnah. He lyued wickedly before the Lord euen as Iehoiakim dyd. Wherfore the lord was angry at Jerusalem and Juda, so lōge tyl he had cast them out of his presēce. And zedekiah fel from the king of Babylon. But in the.ix.yere of his raigne In the tenth Moneth, the tenth day of the Moneth it happened, that Nabuchodonosor the kyng of Babilon with al his Hoost came before Jerusalem/ and beseged it/ and made them bulwarkes round about it. And this besegig of the cytie endured vnto the.xi. yeare of kyng zedekias.

Jere.xxix, a. iiii.Re.xxv a

B Jere.xxxviii xxxix.a

And in the fourth Moneth, the.ix daye of the Moneth, there was so grete honger in the cytie: that there wer/ nomore vytayles for the people of the lande. So al the soudyers brake away and fled out of the cytie by nyght thorow the waye of the porte betwene the two wales by the kynges garden.

Nowe the caldes had compassed the cytye rownde aboute/ yet wente these menne their waye toward the wilderneße.

And so the Caldes folowed vpon them, and toke zedekiah the king in ꝑ feide of Jerycho/ when his hoost was runne from hym. So they caryed the kynge awaye prisoner to Reblah, vnto the kyng of Babilon in the lande of Hemath/ wher he gaue iudgement vpon him. Jer.xxxix.xlvi

The kinge of Babylon also caused zedekiahs sonnes to be slayne before his face, ye and put al the princes of Juda to death at Reblaeh. Moreouer he put out the eyes of zedekiah, caused him to be bound wite chaines, to be caryed vnto Babilon & let him lye i prison, tyl he dyed. C

Now the tenth daye of the fifth moneth in the ix yeare of Nabuchodonosor kyng of Babylon, Nabusaradan the cheke captaine and the kyng of Babylons seruaūts came vnto Jerusalē, and brent vp the house of the Lord. He brent vp also the kynges palace, all ꝑ houses and al the gorgeous buildinges in Jerusalem. And the wole Hoost of the Caldes that were with the cheke Captayne/ brake downe al the walles of Jerusalem round about.

As for the poore people and suche folke as yet was left in the cytie, which also were fallē to the kyng of Babilō, ye and what people as yet remayned Nabusaradā the Cheke captayne caryed them away prisoners. But the pore people of the countrey, dyd Nabusaradā the cheke Captayne leaue in ꝑ lāde, to occupy the vyntardes and feldes. The Caldes also brake the brasen pylers that were in ꝑ house of ꝑ Lord, ye the seate and the brasen lauer that was in the house of the Lorde: And caryed all the metall of theym vnto Babylon. D

They toke awaye also the Cauldrōs, shouels, flesh hokes, sprinklers, spones & al the brasen vessell ꝑ was occupyed in the seruyce: Wyth the basens, colepannes, sprynckiers, pottes, candelstyckes, spones and cuppes: where-

of

E of some were of golde, and some of syl uer.

The cheke Capteyne toke also the two pyllers, the lauer ỹ, xii. brasē bullockes that stode vnder the seate/ whych kyng Salomon made in the house of the Lord: & all the vessell conteyned so much metal/ ỹ it might not be weyed. For euery pyller was xviii. cubites hye and the rope ỹ went about it, was. xii. cubites/ and foure fyngers thicke and rounde. Now vpon the rope were brasen knoppes, and euery knop was fiue cubites hye: and vppon the knoppes were hoopes, and pomgranates roūd about of cleane brasse.

iii. Re. vi. b

After thys maner were both the pillers fashioned with the pomgranates, whereof there were an hundred. xcvi which hanged vpon the hoopes round aboute. The cheke Capteyne also toke Sarias the hye preste, and Sophonias that was cheafe nexte hym, and the thre kepers of ỹ treasury. He toke out of the cytie a chamberlayn which was a capteyne of the souldiers/ and seuen men that were the kinges seruauntes, which were foūd in the cytie: and Sephera capteyne that vsed to muster ỹ men of warre: with. lx men of the contre ỹ were taken in the citie. These Nabuzaradan the cheke Capteyne toke/ & caryed thē to the kinge of Babilon vnto Reblath, and the kynge of Babylō caused them to be put to deathe at Reblath in the lande of Hemath. And thus Juda was ledde awaye captiue, out of his owne land. This is the summe of the people, whome Nabuchodonosor ledde away captiue.

In the seuenth yere of hys reygne, he caryed awaye of the Jewes / thyrtie thousande, and three and twentye. In ỹ. xviii. yere/ Nabuchodonosor caryed away from Jerusalem eyght hundred and xxxii. personnes. In the. xviii yere of Nabuchodonosor, Nabuzaradan the cheke Capteyne/ toke awaye seuen hundred and. xlv. Jewes prysoners. The whole summe of al the pryseners, is foure thoulande and syx hundred.

In the. xxxvii. yeare after that Jehoacin the kynge of Juda was caried away in ỹ. xxv. day of the. xii. Moneth, Euilmerodach kinge of Babylon (the same yeare that he reygned) gaue Jehoacin the kyng of Juda hys pardon, and let hym oute of pryson, and spake louyngly to hym. And set his trone aboue the trones of the other kynges that were with hym in Babylon. He chaunged also the clothes of his Prison, yea, & he did eate with hym al his lyfe longe. And he had a continuall lyuynge geuen hym of the kynge of Babilon, euery day a certeyne thinge allowed him all the dayes of his lyfe, vntyll he dyed.

Lxxiii

The ende of the boke of the Prophete Jeremy.

E of some were of golde, and some of syl uer.

The cheke Capteyne toke also the two pyllers, the lauer ỹ, xii. brasē bullockes that stode vnder the seate/ whych kyng Salomon made in the house of the Lord: & all the vessell conteyned so much metal/ ỹ it might not be weyed. For euery pyller was xviii. cubites hye and the rope ỹ went about it, was. xii. cubites/ and foure fyngers thicke and rounde. Now vpon the rope were brasen knoppes, and euery knop was fiue cubites hye: and vppon the knoppes were hoopes, and pomgranates roūd about of cleane brasse.

iii. Re. vi. b

After thys maner were both the pillers fashioned with the pomgranates, whereof there were an hundred. xcvi which hanged vpon the hoopes round aboute. The cheke Capteyne also toke Sarias the hye preste, and Sophonias that was cheafe nexte hym, and the thre kepers of ỹ treasury. He toke out of the cytie a chamberlayn which was a capteyne of the souldiers/ and seuen men that were the kinges seruauntes, which were foūd in the cytie: and Sephera capteyne that vsed to muster ỹ men of warre: with. lx men of the contre ỹ were taken in the citie. These Nabuzaradan the cheke Capteyne toke/ & caryed thē to the kinge of Babilon vnto Reblath, and the kynge of Babylō caused them to be put to deathe at Reblath in the lande of Hemath. And thus Juda was ledde awaye captiue, out of his owne land. This is the summe of the people, whome Nabuchodonosor ledde away captiue.

In the seuenth yere of hys reygne, he caryed awaye of the Jewes / thyrtie thousande, and three and twentye. In ỹ. xviii. yere/ Nabuchodonosor caryed away from Jerusalem eyght hundred and xxxii. personnes. In the. xviii yere of Nabuchodonosor, Nabuzaradan the cheke Capteyne/ toke awaye seuen hundred and. xlv. Jewes prysoners. The whole summe of al the pryseners, is foure thoulande and syx hundred.

In the. xxxvii. yeare after that Jehoacin the kynge of Juda was caried away in ỹ. xxv. day of the. xii. Moneth, Euilmerodach kinge of Babylon (the same yeare that he reygned) gaue Jehoacin the kyng of Juda hys pardon, and let hym oute of pryson, and spake louyngly to hym. And set his trone aboue the trones of the other kynges that were with hym in Babylon. He chaunged also the clothes of his Prison, yea, & he did eate with hym al his lyfe longe. And he had a continuall lyuynge geuen hym of the kynge of Babilon, euery day a certeyne thinge allowed him all the dayes of his lyfe, vntyll he dyed.

Lxxiii

The ende of the boke of the Prophete Jeremy.

The lamentacy-ons of Jeremy.

IT happened/ after Israell was brought into captyuite and Jerusalem destroyed, that Jeremy the Prophet sate wepyng, and sorowfully bewayled Jerusalem: and syghynge and hewlynge with an heuy and woful hert, sayde:

The Notes

*These wordes are reade in the .lxx. Interpreters, but not in the Hebrue.

The fyrst Chapter.

Aleph.

A ti, Re, tiii, b. iiii, Re, xv, a

ALas, how sytteth the cytye so desolate/ that some tyme was ful of people? How is she become lyke a wedow/ which was ỹ lady of al nacyons? How is she brought vnder tribute, that ruled al landes.

Beth.

She wepeth sore in the night, so ỹ the teris tũne downe her chekes for amõg al her louers, ther is none ỹ geueth her any cõfortye her next frendes abhorre her, and are become her enemyes.

Gimel

Juda is take prysõer, because she was defiled: and for seruig so many straũg goddes/ she dwelleth now among the heythen. She fyndeth no rest, all they that persecuted her, toke her, and so she dwelleth among her enemies.

Daleth.

B The stretes of Sió, mourned because no mã cõmeth more to ỹ solempne feastes Al her gates ar desolat, her prestes make lamẽtacõ/ her matdẽs ar carefull, & she her self is i greate heuines.

He.

Her enemyes are fallẽ vpon her head/ and haue put her to shame: because ỹ Lord hath chastened her for her greate wickednes: her chyldre are ledde away captiue before their enemy.

Vau.

All the bewty of the daughter of Syon is away/ her prynces are become lyke wethers that fynde no pasture. They ar dryuen awaye before their enemie/ so ỹ they haue no more power.

Zain.

Now doth Jerusalem remembre ỹ tyme of her misery and disobediẽce, ye the tope and plesure that she hath had in tymes past: seyng her people is brought doune thorow the power of their enemye, and there is no man for to helpe her: her enemies stand loking at her & laugh her Sabboth dayes to scorne.

Heth.

Jerusalẽ synned euer more & more/ therfore is she come in decaye. All they that had her in honour, dispise her: for they haue sene her fylthynesse. Yee she syghyth/ and is ashamed of her selfe.

Teth.

Her skyrtes are defyled, she remembred not what wold folow: therfore is her fall so greate, and there ys no man to comforte her. O Lorde, consydre my trouble, for myne enemy hathe the vpperhande.

Jod.

The enemy hath put his hand to all the precyous thynges that she had, D yea euen before her eyes came ỹ Heathen in and out of ỹ Sanctuary whõ thou (neuertheles) hast forbiddẽ to com within thy congregacion.

Caph.

All her peoplẽ seke their bred wyth heuynes and loke what precyous thyng euery man hath, that geueth he for meate, to saue hys lyfe: Consydre, O Lord, and se, how vyle I am become.

Lamed.

O ye al that go fore by, behold and se, yf ther be any sorow like vnto mine, wherwith the Lord had troubled me in the daye of his fearful wrath.

Mem.

From aboue hath he sẽt downe a fyre in to my bones and chastened me he hath laied a net for my fete, and thrown me wyd open: he hath mad me desolate, so that I must euer be mournig.

Nun.

E The yock of my trangressyõ is cõe at at the last, with his hand hath he take it vp/and put it about my neck. My strength is gone; the lord hath delyuered me in to those handes, wherout I can not quyt my selfe.

Samech.

The lord hath destroyed al the myghtie men/that were in me. He hath proclaymed a feast/to slaughter al my best men. The lord hath trode downe ỹ daughter of Juda, like as it were i a wyne presse.

Ain.

Therfore do I wepe/and myne eyes gusche out of water: for the comfort that shulde quycke me, is farre fro me

My chyldren are dryuen awaye, for why? the enemye hath gotten the ouer hande.

F

Phe.

Sion casteth out her handes/ and there is no man to comforte her. The lord hathe layed the enemyes round about Jacob, & Jerusalem is as it were a menstruous woman / in ỹ myddest of them.

Zade.

The lord is ryghtuous, for I haue prouoked his *coũteaũce vnto anger. O take hede all ye people, and cõsidre my heauines: My maidens & mi yong men are led awaye into captiuitee.

Koph.

I called for my louers (but they begyled me) for my Prestes and counsellers, but they perished: euen whyle they sought for meate, to saue their lyues.

Res.

Consydre (O lord) how I am troubled, my wombe is disquyeted, my hert turneth about in me, and I am full of heuynes. The swearde hurteth me without/& with in I am lyke vnto death.

Sin.

They heare my mournig, but there is none that wyl comfort me. Al myne enemyes haue heard of my trouble, and ar glad therof, because thou hast done it. But thou shalt bryng forth the tyme, when they also shalbe like vnto me

Thau.

From thee shal com al their aduersytee: thou shalt pluck them away eue as thou hast plucked me, because of al my wickednes. For my sorow is very greate, and my hert is heauy.

The Notes.

*Some reade: commaundement. It is in Hebrew, mouth, that is, saiyng or aduyse

The. ii. Chapter.

Aleph.

ALas, how hath the lord darkened the daughter of Sion so sore in his wrath? As for the honoure of Israel, He hath caste it downe from heauen: How happeneth it/ ỹ he remembred not his owne fote stole when he was angry?

A Thren. iiii. b

Beth.

The Lord hath cast downe all the glory of Jacob without any fauoure: al the stronge places of the daughter Juda, hath he broken in his wrath, & throwne them downe to the grounde: her kyngdome and her Prynces hath he suspended.

Gimel.

In the wrath of his indignacyon he hath broke al the *horne of Israel he hath wythdrawen his ryghte hand fro the enemy: yea a flame of fyre is kynded in Jacob, and hath cõsumed vp all round about.

Daleth.

He hath bent his bowe lyke an enemy, he hath fastened his ryght hãde as an aduersary: and euery thyng that was pleasaunt to se, he hath smytte it downe. He hath poured out his wrath lyke a fyre, into the tabernacle of the daughter of Sion.

B

He.

The lord is become lyke as it were an enemy, he hath cast downe Israel & al his places: yea, al his strong holdes hath he destroyed, and fylled the daughter of Juda with muche sorow & heuynes.

Vau.

Her tabernacle (which was lyke a gardene of pleasure) hath he destroyed her hie solẽpne festes hath he put downe. The lord hath brought it so to pas ỹ the hie solempne festes & sabbothes i Sion, are cleane forgotten. In his hie yndignacion hath he made the kyng & prestes to be despysed.

Zain

The lord hath forsaken hys owne aulter, and is wroth with his owne sãctu-C ary and hath geuen the wales of their toures into the handes of the enemy.
Theyr enemies made a noyse in ỹ hou se of the Lorde, as it had bene in a solẽ pne feast daye.

Heth.

The Lorde thought to breake dow-ne the wales of the doughter Sion, b* he spredde out hys lyne, and drewe not in his hande, tyll he hadde destroyed them. Therfore mourne the turrettes and the broken walles together.

Teth.

Her Portes are caste downe to the grounde, her Barres are broken and smyten in sonder: her kinge and Princes/are caryed away to the Gentyles.
They haue nether law nor prophetes, ner yet any vysyon from the Lorde.

Jod.

c* The senatours of the doughter Syon syt vpon the ground in sylence:
they haue strowed asches vpon theyr he ades, and gyrded them selues with sac kloth. The maydens of Jerusalem hã ge downe theyr heades to the ground.

Caph.

D Myne eyes begin to fayle me tho-row weping/my bodye is disquieted, my leuer is poure vppon the earth, for the greate hurte of my people / seynge the chylderen and Babes dyd swowne in the stretes of the cytie.

Lamed,

Euen when they spake to theyr mothers: wher is meate and drynke? for whyle they so sayde, they fell downe in the stretes of the cytie, lyke as they had bene wounded, and some dyed in their mothers bosome.

Mem.

What shall I saye of thee/O thou E doughter Jerusalem/to whom shal I lyken thee? To whome shall I compa re thee, O thou doughter Syon, to com fort thee with all? Thy hurte is lyke a mayne sea/who maye heale thee?

Nun.

Thy Prophetes haue looked oute vayne and folysh thinges for thee, thet haue not shewed thee of thy wikednes to kepe thee from captiuitie; but haue ouerladen thee, and thorow falshed scã terd thee abroade.

Samech.

All they that go by thee, clappe theyr handes at thee: hyssinge and wag gyng theyr heades vpon the dougter Jerusalem; and saye: Is this the cittie that men call so fayre, whertn the who le lande reioyceth?

Ain.

All thyne enemyes gape vpon thee, whysperyng and bytyng theyr teth, sat-tynge: let vs deuoure, for the tyme that we loked for, is come: wee haue founde and sene it.

Phe.

The Lorde hath fulfylled the thin F g, that he was purposed to do: and per formed that he hadde decreed long agoo: he hath destroyed and not spared.
He hath caused thyne aduersary to tri umphouer the, and set vp the horne of thyne enemye.

Zade

Let thyne herte d* crye vnto the Lorde/O thou cite of the doughter Si on: let thy teares runne downe lyke a ryuer daye and nyght: rest not and let not the apple of thyne eye leaue of.

Koph.

Stande vp and make thy prayer in the first watch of the night pour out thyne herte lyke water before the lord:
lyfte vp thyne handes, for the lyues of thy ponge chylderen, that dye of hunger in the streates.

Res.

Beholde, O Lorde/and consydre, why hast thou gethered me vp so clea- G
ne? Shall the wemen then eate their o wne fruite, euen chylderen of a spanne longe? shal the prestes then & Prophe tes be slayne thus in the sanctuarye of the Lorde.

Sin.

Yonge and old lye behinde the stretes b pon the grounde, my maydens & yong men are slayne with the swerd,: whom thou in the day of thy wrathful indig nacion hast put to death: ye euen thou hast put them to death, and not spared them.

Thau.

My neybours that ar round about me

me/hast thou called,as it wer to a fest daye.so that in the daye of the Lordes wrath non escaped,nether was eny lefte behind.Those that I had brought vp & norished,hath mine enemy destroied

The notes.

a*Horne here signifieth strength power nobilite & dominō:which al the lord by his iust auēgmēt toke from the kyngdome of the Jewes & from Jerusalē
b*As carpēters spred out their lynes to buyld walles,houses & other things:so had god spred out his lyne to destroy Jerusalem & Jewry,and to bring thē to perfect subiectcyon.For þ signifieth þ spreding out of the lyne,as it is said.ii.Reg.vii.a. It is a dyssomply tud borowed of carpētes.
c*Where þ Judges of Jerusalē were wont to sytt honorably & gorgously vpon goodly seates & geue sētence in the gates,nowe lye they vpon the grounde slayne,& in þ gates is nothyng but silēce.& stylnes.
d*Of cryēg what it signifyeth in the scryptures haue in Exod,xiiii.d,& in þ; xvii.Psal,b

¶ The.iii Chapter.

Aleph.

A I Am the man, that (thorow þ rod of his wrath) haue experyence of mysery.

He droue me forth,and led me:yea into darkenes, but not in the lyght.

Against me only he turneth his hād, and layeth it euer vpon me.

Beth.

My flesh & my skyne hath he made olde,and my bones hath he bruised.

He hath builded rounde about me, and closed me in with a*gall and trauaile.

He hath set me in darknes/ as they that be deed forcuer.

Gymel.

He hath so hedged me in,that I cā not get out,and hath layed heuy lynckes vpon me.

B Though I crie and call piteously, yet shereth he not my prayer.

He hath stopped vp my wayes with foure squared stones/and made my pathes croked.

Daleth.

He layeth wayte for me like a Bere, and as a lyon in a hole.

He hath mazred my wayes,and broken me in peses,he hath laide me wast al together.

He hath bent hys bowe,and made me as it were a marke to shote at.

He.

The arowes of his quyuer hath he shot,euen into my raynes.

I am laughed to scorne for all my people/they make songes vpon me al the daye long.

He hath filled me with bitternesse/ and geuen me wormwod to drynked,

Vau.

He hath smitten my teth in peses, & rolled me in the dust.

He hath put my soule out of rest, I forget al good thynges. ¶

I thought in my selfe: I am vndō, there is no hope for me in the Lord.

Zain.

O remembre yet my misery and my trouble,the wormwod and the gal.

Yea thou shalt remembre them,for my soule melteth awaye in me.

Whyle I consydre these thynges in my hert, I get a hope agayne.

Heth.

Namely,that the mercyes of þ lord are not cleane gone/and that his louing kyndnesse ceasseth not.

Hys faythfulnes is greate/and renueth it selfe as the mourning.

The lord is my porcyon,sayeth my soule,therfore wyl I hope in him.

Teth.

O how good is the lord vnto them/ that put their trust in hym/ and to the soule that seketh after hym.

O how good is it w̄ stylnes to wait and tary,for the health of the lord.

O how good is it for a man,to take the youk vpon him from his youth vp Iod.

He sitteth alone,he holdeth him still, and dwelleth quetly by him selfe.

He layeth his face vpon the earth/ if(percase)there happē to be any hope.

He offereth his cheke to the smiter, he wyl be content with reproues.

Caph.

For the lord will not forsake forcuer.

But though he do cast of,yet accordinge to the multitud of his mercyes) he receaueth to grace agayne.

For he doth not plage,and cast out the childzen of men from his hert.

Lamed.

To treade al the prysoners of the earth vnder his fete.

To moue the iudgment of manne

be

before the most hy ghest.

To condemne a man in his cause: The lord hath no pleasure in suche thi ges.

Nem.

E b* What is he then that sayeth: there should some thing be done without the lordes commaundement?

Out of the mouth of the most hygh est goeth not euell and good.

Wherfore than murmureth the lyuing man? let hym murmure at hys owne synne.

Nun.

Let vs loke well vppon oure owne wayes, and remembre oure selues/and turne agayne to the lorde.

Let vs lyft vp our hertes with our handes vnto the lorde that is in heauẽ

We haue bene dissemblers and haue offended/wylt thou therfore not be intreated?

Samech

Thou hast couered vs in thy wrath, and persecuted vs/thou hast slayne vs without any fauoure,

Thou haste hydde thy self in a clou de: yͤ our prayer should not go thorow.

Thou hast made vs outcastes, and to be dispysed amonge the heathen

Ain

All out enemies gape vpon vs.

Feare and snare is come vpon vs, yea, despyte and destruction.

Whole riuers of water gushe oute of myne Eyes, for the greate hurte of my people.

Phe.

Myne eyes runne, and cannot ceasse, for there is no rest

O Lord, When wylt yͤ loke downe from heauen and consydre?

Myne eye breaketh my hert: because of all the doughters of my citie.

Zade.

Myne enemyes hunted me out sherpely, lyke a byrde/yea, and that without a cause.

They haue put downe my lyfe into a pytte/ and layed a stone vpon me

They haue poured water vpon my head, then thought I, nowe I am vndone.

Koph.

I called vpõ thy name, O lord, out of the depe pytte.

Thou haste hearde my voyce, and hast not turned awaye thyne eares frõ my syghing and crienge.

Thou hast enclyned thy selfe vnto me: when I called vpon thee and hast sayde: feare not.

Res.

Thou (O Lorde) hast mayntayned the cause of my soule, and hast redemed my lyfe.

O lorde thou hast sene my blasphe- G mers, take thou my cause vpon thee.

Thou haste well consydered howe they goo about to doo me harme/and that all theyr councels are agaynste me

Sin.

Thou haste herde all theyr despyteful wordes (O Lorde) yea and al theyr Imagynacions agaynste me.

The lyppes of myne enemies, and theire deuises that they take againste me, al the day longe.

Thou seest also theyr syttinge downe and theyr rysynge vppe, they make theyr songes of nothyng, but of me.

Thau

Rewarde them (O lorde) accordyng to the workes of theyr hãdes.

Geue them the thynge, that theyr owne herte is afrayd of/euen thy curse.

Persecute them (O Lord) with thyne indygnation/and rote them out frõ vnder the heauen

The notes.

a* Galle, for sorowfulnes: as in the Psal, lxix. they gaue me galle to eate, &c, That is they that should haue conforted me dyd me moch greke, and augmẽted my sorowes, as if one shuld geue bytter meates to hym that is hungrye. Howbeit that prophecy was also fulfylled in our sauiour Chryste. of whome Dauid was therin a figure as sainct Mathew teacheth in the .xxvii. Chapiter

b* By thys it is manifest that al aduersitie (which men call euell) is sent of God, although he suffer no suche euel (as we cal it) but yͤ which he knoweth to be necessarye & meadefull, & wherout he worketh some good thing. That cõ he only do, which only is thorouly wise & perfecte good. Alyke sayinge is there in Amos, iii. b. Cõmeth ther any plage in a citie. & c

The .iiii. Chapter.

Aleph.

A

How is the gold become so dimme? How is yͤ good ly coloure so sore chaũged and yͤ stones of yͤ sanctuary thus scatred in the corner of every strete?

Beth

Beth.

The chylderen of Sion that were alwayes in honoure/and clothed with the moſt pꝛecious golde:how are they nowe become lyke the earthen veſſels whych be made with the potters hand

Gymell.

The Lampes geue theyꝛ ponge ones to ſucke with bare bꝛeſtes:but the doughter of my People is cruell, and dwellethe in the wyldernelle:lyke the Eſtriches.

Daleth

The tonges of the ſucking childeren,cleue to the rouke of theyꝛ mouthes foꝛ very thyꝛſt.

The pong chyldꝛen aſke bꝛead,but there is no man that geueth it them.

He.

They that were wont to fare delycately/ perith in the ſtreates:they that afoꝛe wer bꝛought vp in purple,make nowe muche of donge.

Vau

The ſynne of the daughert of my people is become greater then the wickednes of Sodome,that ſodeinly was deſtroyd,and not taken with handes.

B Gene. xix.c

zain.

Her abſtepners(oꝛ Nazarees) were whyter then the ſnowe oꝛ mylke:theire coloure was freſht read as the Cozall, thyꝛ beutie lyke the Saphire.

Heth.

But now theyꝛ faces are very blacke: In ſo much that thou ſholdeſt not knowe them in the ſtretes. Theyꝛ ſkin cleueth to theyꝛ bones,it is withered & become lyke a dꝛye ſtocke.

Teth.

They that be ſlayn with the ſwerd, ar happier then ſuche as dye of hunger,& perych away ſa mylhing foꝛ the frutes of the felde.

Plal.,cii.a

Jod

The women whyche of nature are pytefull,haue ſodden theyꝛ owne chil deren with theyꝛ owne handes that they might be theyꝛ meat,in ỹ miſerable deſtructiõ of ỹ daughter of my people.

Deu.xxviiii. iiii.Re.vi.f, Treu, ii,e

Caph

The Lozd hath perfouꝛmed hys he vy wꝛath:he hath poured out the furiouſnes of hys dyſpleaſure. He hathe kyndled a fyꝛe in Syon, whyche hathe conſumed the foundacion therof.

Lamed

Nether the kinges of the earth,ner all the inhabytaurs of the wooꝛld, woide haue beleued that the ennemye and aduerſary ſhould haue come in at the gates of the citie of Hieruſalem.

Wem.

C

Whych neuertheles is com to paſſe foꝛ the ſynnes of her pꝛophetes,and foꝛ the wickednes of her pꝛeſtes that haue ſhed innocentes bloude within her.

Nun.

So that theſe blinde men went ſtõbling in the ſtretes,and ſtayned them ſelues with bloude/ whiche eis would touche no bloudy cloth,

Samech,

But they cryed vnto euery man:ſie theſtaining,away,get you hẽce/touch it not. Ye (ſayde they)ye muſt be bꝛent ye muſt dwell amonge the Gentyles,& byde no lenger here.

Ain.

The countenaunce of the loꝛd hath banyſhed them and ſhall neuer loke moꝛe vpõ them:foꝛ they them ſelues neither reganded the pꝛyeſtes,noꝛ pytied the elders.

Phe.

Wherfoꝛ yet our eyes faile vs,whyle we loke foꝛ vaine helpe:ſeing we be euer wayting vpon a people,that can dous no good.

Plal.,cii.a

zade.

They laye ſo ſharpe wayte foꝛ vs, that we cannot go ſafe vpon the ſtreates: foꝛ oure ende is come,oure dayes are fulfylled,our ende is here. D

Koph.

Oure perſecuters are ſwyfter then the Aegles of the ayꝛe,they folowed vpon vs ouer the mountaynes,and layde wayte foꝛ vs in the wyldernes.

Res.

The very bꝛeth of our mouth: euen the anoynted Lozde hym ſelfe ſhall be taken in oure ſynnes of whom we ſay Under hys ſhadowe we ſhalbe pꝛeſerued among the heythen.

Sin.

And thou (O daughter Edom)that dwelleſt in the lande of Hus, bee glad

and

Beth.

The chylderen of Sion that were alwayes in honoure/and clothed with the moſt pꝛecious golde:how are they nowe become lyke the earthen veſſels whych be made with the potters hand

Gymell.

The Lampes geue theyꝛ ponge ones to ſucke with bare bꝛeſtes:but the doughter of my People is cruell, and dwellethe in the wyldernelle:lyke the Eſtriches.

Daleth

The tonges of the ſucking childeren,cleue to the rouke of theyꝛ mouthes foꝛ very thyꝛſt.

The pong chyldꝛen aſke bꝛead,but there is no man that geueth it them.

He.

They that were wont to fare delycately/ perith in the ſtreates:they that afoꝛe wer bꝛought vp in purple,make nowe muche of donge.

Vau

The ſynne of the daughert of my people is become greater then the wickednes of Sodome,that ſodeinly was deſtroyd,and not taken with handes.

B Gene. xix.c

zain.

Her abſtepners(oꝛ Nazarees) were whyter then the ſnowe oꝛ mylke:theire coloure was freſht read as the Cozall, thyꝛ beutie lyke the Saphire.

Heth.

But now theyꝛ faces are very blacke: In ſo much that thou ſholdeſt not knowe them in the ſtretes. Theyꝛ ſkin cleueth to theyꝛ bones,it is withered & become lyke a dꝛye ſtocke.

Teth.

They that be ſlayn with the ſwerd, ar happier then ſuche as dye of hunger,& perych away ſa mylhing foꝛ the frutes of the felde.

Plal.,cii.a

Jod

The women whyche of nature are pytefull,haue ſodden theyꝛ owne chil deren with theyꝛ owne handes that they might be theyꝛ meat,in ỹ miſerable deſtructiõ of ỹ daughter of my people.

Deu.xxviiii. iiii.Re.vi.f, Treu, ii,e

Caph

The Lozd hath perfouꝛmed hys he vy wꝛath:he hath poured out the furiouſnes of hys dyſpleaſure. He hathe kyndled a fyꝛe in Syon, whyche hathe conſumed the foundacion therof.

Lamed

Nether the kinges of the earth,ner all the inhabytaurs of the wooꝛld, woide haue beleued that the ennemye and aduerſary ſhould haue come in at the gates of the citie of Hieruſalem.

Wem.

C

Whych neuertheles is com to paſſe foꝛ the ſynnes of her pꝛophetes,and foꝛ the wickednes of her pꝛeſtes that haue ſhed innocentes bloude within her.

Nun.

So that theſe blinde men went ſtõbling in the ſtretes,and ſtayned them ſelues with bloude/ whiche eis would touche no bloudy cloth,

Samech,

But they cryed vnto euery man:ſie theſtaining,away,get you hẽce/touch it not. Ye (ſayde they)ye muſt be bꝛent ye muſt dwell amonge the Gentyles,& byde no lenger here.

Ain.

The countenaunce of the loꝛd hath banyſhed them and ſhall neuer loke moꝛe vpõ them:foꝛ they them ſelues neither reganded the pꝛyeſtes,noꝛ pytied the elders.

Phe.

Wherfoꝛ yet our eyes faile vs,whyle we loke foꝛ vaine helpe:ſeing we be euer wayting vpon a people,that can dous no good.

Plal.,cii.a

zade.

They laye ſo ſharpe wayte foꝛ vs, that we cannot go ſafe vpon the ſtreates: foꝛ oure ende is come,oure dayes are fulfylled,our ende is here. D

Koph.

Oure perſecuters are ſwyfter then the Aegles of the ayꝛe,they folowed vpon vs ouer the mountaynes,and layde wayte foꝛ vs in the wyldernes.

Res.

The very bꝛeth of our mouth: euen the anoynted Lozde hym ſelfe ſhall be taken in oure ſynnes of whom we ſay Under hys ſhadowe we ſhalbe pꝛeſerued among the heythen.

Sin.

And thou (O daughter Edom)that dwelleſt in the lande of Hus, bee glad

and & reioyce: for the cuppe shal come vnto thee also, which, whā thou soppest of, ỹ shalt be dronken.

Thau.

Thy sinne is wel punished (O thou daughter Sion) he shal not suffer ỹ to be caryed away any more. But thy wickednes (O daughter Edom) shal he by set ād for thy sinnes sake, he shal leade thee into captiuitee.

¶ The .v. Chapter.

¶ The prayer of Jeremy

A GIue to remembraunce (O Lorde) what we haue suffred, consyder and se oure confusion. Oure enheritaūce is turned to the straungers, and our houses to the aleaun tes. We are becom careful and fatherlesse, and our mothers are as the wydowes. We are faine to drink our owne water, for money is our owne wod must we bye w̄ money. Our neckes are vnder persecution, we are wery, and haue no rest.

B Afore time we yelded our selues to the Egyptians / and now to the Assiryans, onely that we myghte haue bread enough. Our fathers (which are gon) haue sinned, and we must beare theyr wyckednesse. Seruauntes haue ỹ rule of vs / and no man delyuereth vs oute of their handes. We must get our liuing with perel of our liues, because of the drouth of the wyldernesse.

Jere. xxxi, e. Ezech, viiia

Oure skinne is as it had bene hēt in an ouen / for very sore honger. The wyues are rauyshed in Sion, and the maydēs in the cyties of Juda. The prynces are hanged vp with the hand of the enemyes, they haue not spared ỹ olde sage men / they haue taken yonge mens lyues from them / and the boyes ar hanged vp vpon trees. The elders C syt no more vnder the gates, and ỹ pōge men vse nomore playyng of Musyke. The ioye of our hert is gone, our mery quere is turned into mourning. The garland of our head is fallen: alas, that euer we sinned so sore.

Therfore our hert is ful of heuynesse, and our eyes dymme: because of the hyl of Sion that is destroyed. Insomuch, that the foxes runne vpon it. But thou, O Lord, that remaynest for D euermore, and thy seate, world w̄ oute ende: wherfor wilt thou stil forget vs, and forsake vs so long? O Lord, turne thou vs vnto thee, and so shal we be turned. Renue our dates as in old tymes, for ỹ hast banyshed vs nowe longe ynoughe, and hast bene sore displeased at vs.

¶ The ende of the Lamentacion of Jeremy.

¶ The boke of the Prophete Ezechiel.

¶ The time wherin Ezechiel prophecied, & in what place. His offyring & office. The vision of ỹ foure beastes. The visiō of ỹ wheles. The visiō of ỹ throne, & of ỹ Image aboue ỹ throne.

¶ The fyrst Chapter.

IT chaunced in ỹ .xxx. yeare the fyfthe daye of the .iiii. A Moneth, ỹ I was among the prisoners by the riuer of Cobar: * where the heauens opened, and I sawe a vysion of God. Now the fyfth daye of ỹ moneth made out the fifth yeare of kyng Joachins captyuite. At the same tyme came the word of the Lord vnto Ezechiel ỹ sonne of Buzi the Preste, in the lande of the Caldees by the water of Cobar, where the hande of the Lord came vpō hym.

And I loked, and behold a stormy wynd cam out of ỹ North with a great cloud ful of fyre, which with his glister lyghtened al rounnde aboute.

And

& reioyce: for the cuppe shal come vnto thee also, which, whā thou soppest of, ỹ shalt be dronken.

Thau.

Thy sinne is wel punished (O thou daughter Sion) he shal not suffer ỹ to be caryed away any more. But thy wickednes (O daughter Edom) shal he by set ād for thy sinnes sake, he shal leade thee into captiuitee.

¶ The .v. Chapter.

¶ The prayer of Jeremy

A GIue to remembraunce (O Lorde) what we haue suffred, consyder and se oure confusion. Oure enheritaūce is turned to the straungers, and our houses to the aleaun tes. We are becom careful and fatherlesse, and our mothers are as the wydowes. We are faine to drink our owne water, for money is our owne wod must we bye w̄ money. Our neckes are vnder persecution, we are wery, and haue no rest.

B Afore time we yelded our selues to the Egyptians / and now to the Assiryans, onely that we myghte haue bread enough. Our fathers (which are gon) haue sinned, and we must beare theyr wyckednesse. Seruauntes haue ỹ rule of vs / and no man delyuereth vs oute of their handes. We must get our liuing with perel of our liues, because of the drouth of the wyldernesse.

Jere. xxxi, e. Ezech, viiia

Oure skinne is as it had bene hēt in an ouen / for very sore honger. The wyues are rauyshed in Sion, and the maydēs in the cyties of Juda. The prynces are hanged vp with the hand of the enemyes, they haue not spared ỹ olde sage men / they haue taken yonge mens lyues from them / and the boyes ar hanged vp vpon trees. The elders C syt no more vnder the gates, and ỹ pōge men vse nomore playyng of Musyke. The ioye of our hert is gone, our mery quere is turned into mourning. The garland of our head is fallen: alas, that euer we sinned so sore.

Therfore our hert is ful of heuynesse, and our eyes dymme: because of the hyl of Sion that is destroyed. Insomuch, that the foxes runne vpon it. But thou, O Lord, that remaynest for D euermore, and thy seate, world w̄ oute ende: wherfor wilt thou stil forget vs, and forsake vs so long? O Lord, turne thou vs vnto thee, and so shal we be turned. Renue our dates as in old tymes, for ỹ hast banyshed vs nowe longe ynoughe, and hast bene sore displeased at vs.

¶ The ende of the Lamentacion of Jeremy.

¶ The boke of the Prophete Ezechiel.

¶ The time wherin Ezechiel prophecied, & in what place. His offyring & office. The vision of ỹ foure beastes. The visiō of ỹ wheles. The visiō of ỹ throne, & of ỹ Image aboue ỹ throne.

¶ The fyrst Chapter.

IT chaunced in ỹ .xxx. yeare the fyfthe daye of the .iiii. A Moneth, ỹ I was among the prisoners by the riuer of Cobar: * where the heauens opened, and I sawe a vysion of God. Now the fyfth daye of ỹ moneth made out the fifth yeare of kyng Joachins captyuite. At the same tyme came the word of the Lord vnto Ezechiel ỹ sonne of Buzi the Preste, in the lande of the Caldees by the water of Cobar, where the hande of the Lord came vpō hym.

And I loked, and behold a stormy wynd cam out of ỹ North with a great cloud ful of fyre, which with his glister lyghtened al rounnde aboute.

And

And in the middes of the fire it was al cleare, & as it were the lykenes of foure beastes, whiche were fashioned lyke a man: sauing, that euery one had foure faces and foure wynges.

Theyr legges were streyghte/but theyr fete were lyke bullockes fete, and they glystred, as it had bene fayre scoured metal. Under theyr winges vpō al the foure corners they had mens handes. Theyr faces and their winges were towarde the foure cornets: yet were the wynges so, that one neuer touched another. When they wente, they turned them not aboute: but echeone went streyght forwarde.

C Upon the right syde of these foure, theyr faces were like the face of a man, ād the face of a lyon: But vpon the left syde/ they had the face of an Oxe/ and the fact of an Aegle. Theyr faces also and theyr wyngs were spred out a boue: so that two winges of one touched euer two wynges of another / & with the other they couered theyr bodi Euerypone when it went it went streyghte forwarde. Where as the spirite led them/thither they went/ad turned not aboute in theyr goynge'

D The fashiōn and countenaunce of the beastes was lyke hoate coales of fire/euen as though burning cressettes had, bene amonge the beastes: and the fyre gaue a glystre, and oute of the fyre there went lightenynge. When the beastes went forward and backward, one would haue thought it had lyghtned. Now when I had well consydered the beastes, I sawe a worke of wheles vpon the earth with foure faces also lyke the beastes.

The fashyon and worck of ỹ wheles was lyke the sea. The four wheles were ioyned and made (to loke vpō) as it had ben one whele in an other. Whē one went forward, they went al foure, and turned them not about in their going. They were large, greate and horryble to loke vpon. Theyr bodies were E full of eyes round about them al four.

When the beastes went, the wheles wente also wyth them: And whē the beastes lyft thē selues vp from the earth, the wheles were lyft vp also, Whether soeuer the spirite went/thyther went they also, and the wheles were lyft vp/ & followed thē: for the spirite of lyfe was in the wheles. When the beastes went forth/stode styl, or lift thē selues vpfrō the earth: thē the wheles also went, stode styll: and were lyft vp/ for the breth of lyfe was in the wheles.

Aboue ouer the heades of the beasts there was a fyrmamnet, which was fashionned as it had ben of the moost pure Christal, and that was spredde oute aboue vpon their heades: vnder the same fyrmament were theyr wynges layde abroade, one towarde an other, and two wynges couered the body of euery beast. And whē they wēt forth, I herd the noyse of theyr wynges, lyke the noyse of great waters, as it had bene the voyce of the great God, and a rushing together as it were of an host of men. G And when they stode styl, they let downe theyr winges. Now when they stod styll, and had letten downe theyr wynges, it thondered in the fyrmament that was aboue theyre heades. About ỹ fyrmament that was ouer theyr heades/ there was the fashion of a seate, as it had bene made of Saphyr. Upon ỹ seate ther sate one lyke a man. I beheld him, and he was lyke a cleare lyght, as it had bene all of fyre wythin from his loynes vpwarde.

And beneth when I loked vppon hym vnder the loynes, me thought he was lyke a shining fyre, that geueth light on euery syde. Yea the shyne and glystre that lightened round aboute/ was lyke a raynebowe, which in a rayny day appeareth in the cloudes. Euē so was the symilitude, wherin the glory of the Lorde appeared. When I sawe it, I fell vppon my face, and herkened vnto the voyce of hym that spake.

Thenotes.

a * Where the heauens were opened, that is, where there were misteryes opened from heauen. Steuen also the fyrst martyr sawe the heauens open and Iesus standing on the righ: hand. &c, Act, vii g. So are the heauens open in the faith of the beleuer, that he seith God in hys glorye. The heauens are counted in the scripture to be open when a manyfest vysion, reuelacion, sygne or token is shewed of God vnto mān. Math, iii, d, Mar, i, b b* The holy goost or spyrete of God, after his manifold gifts and operations, hath many names, he is called the spyrete of the father, the spreate of ꝑ sunne, the spyrete of lyfe, the spyrete of truth the spyrete of sanctification, of promesse, of counceil, of stre ght. &c.

The prophete is sende to cal agayn the people frō theyr errour.

¶ The.ii. Chapter.

A And then sayde he vnto me: Stande vp vpon thy fete (O thou sonne of man) ād I wyll talke with thee.

Ezech.i,iii.d And as he was comeninge wine, the spyret cam into me, and setme vp vpon my fete: so that I marcked ꝯ thynge, that he sayde vnto me. And he sayde: Beholde, thou sonne of man, I wyll sende thee to the chylderen of Is-

B rael, to those runnagates and obstinate people: for they haue taken parte agaynst me, and are runne awaye from me: bothe they and theyre forefathers vnto this daye.

Exo.xxxii,a Yea I wyll sende the vnto a people that haue rough vysages and styf stomakes: vnto whome thou shalt saye ō this maner: This the Lorde god hym self hath spoken/that whether they be obedient or noo (for it is a frowarde housholde) they maye knowe yet that there hathe bene a Prophete amonge them.

C Therfore (thou sonne of man) fear them not/nether be afrayde of their wordes: for they shall rebell against thee, and despise thee. Yea thou

Jeremy,i.c shalt dwel among scorpions: but feat not theyr woordes, be not abashed at theyr lokes/ for it is a frowarde housholde.

So that thou speake my wordes vnto them / whether they be obediente or not, for they are obstinate. Therfore,

D thou son of man, obey thou al things / that I saye vnto thee/and be not thou stifnecked/lyke as they ar a styfnecked housholde. Open thy mouth and eate that I geue thee.

Apo,v,a So as I was lokinge vp, behold, there was sent vnto me an hande/wherin was a closed boke: and the hande opened it before me, and it was wrtten within & without, ful of careful mournynges: alas, and wo.

¶ The prophete being fedde wyth the woorde of god, and with the constaunt boldnesse of the spyrete is sent vnto the people that were in captiueti. The punishment of a curate that sheweth not the people theyr synnes.

The.iii. Chapter.

A Fter this sayde he vnto me: ℣ Thou sonne of man/eate that what soeuer it be: yee eate that closed boke and go thy waye/and speake vnto the chylderen of Israel so I opened my mouthe/and he gaue me the boke for to eate/and sayde vnto me: ꝯ sonne of man, thy bely shal eate/& thy bowels be fylled with the boke that I geue thee. Then dyd I eate thee boke, ād it was in my mouth sweter thē hony.

Jerem.xv,a Apo.x,a

Psal.xix,b Psal.Cxix. Apo.x,d,

And he sayde vnto me: thou sonne of man, get thee fone vnto the house of Israell, and shewe them the woordes that I commaunde thee: for I send ꝯ not to the People that hathe straunge vnknowen, or harde speache, but vnto the house of Israell: Not to manye nations, which haue diuerse speaches and harde languages, whose woordes thou vnderstandest not: Neuertheles, yf I sent the tothose people, they wolde folowe thee: But the house of Israel wyll not folowe thee, for they wyll not folowme: yea all the house of Israell haue styf foreheades and harde hartes. Beholde therfore I wyl make thy face preuale against theyr faces, & harden thy forehead agaynste theyr foreheades: so that thy forehead shalbee harder then an adamant or flinte stone that thou mayest feare them the lesse/& be lesse afrayede, of them, for they are a froward housholde.

Jeremy.i:s ℣

Jone,iii,a

Wiche.iii:b

esaye,xxx.b

He said moreouer vnto me: thou ſō ne of man, take dilygente heade wyth thyne eares, to the woordes that I speke vnto the/fasten them in thyne hert: and goo too the pryſoners of the people, speake vnto them, and saye on this maner: Thus the Lorde god hath spoken: whether ye heaze, or heare not. With that the spyrete toke me vp. And I harde the noyse of a greate ruschynge and remouinge of the moost blessed glory of the lorde out of hys place.

¶

I herd also the noyse of the wynges of the beastes, ꝯ ruſhed one against another, eze,viii,a x a

another: Yea and the ratlynge of the wheles/ that were by them, whyche rus chynge and noyse was very greate.

C Now when the spyete toke me vp, and caried me awaye/ I went with an heuy and a sorowful mynd/but ỹ hād of the Lorde comforted me right sone

And so in the beginning of the moneth Abib, I came to the pyysoners, that dwelt by ỹ water of Cobar, & remayned in that place, wher they were: And so continued I among thē seuē dayes, being very sorye.

And when the seuen dayes were expyred/ the Lorde sayd vnto me: Thou sonne of mā, I haue made the a* watchman vnto the house of Israell: b* therfore take good hede to these wordes and geue them warning at my cōmaūdement.

If I saye vnto thee, concerninge ỹ vngodly man, that (without doubt) he must dye, ād thou geuest hym not warD nynge, nor speakest vnto hym, that he maye turne from his euell way/ and so to lyue: Then shall the same vngodly man dye in his owne vnrighteousnes but hys bloude wyll I require of thyne hande. Neuertheles if thou geue warninge vnto the wycked/ and he yet forsake not his vngodlynes: thē shall he dye in hys owne wyckednes, but ỹ hast discharged thy soule.

Now if a righteous man go from hys righteousnes, and do the thinge ỹ is euel: I wyll laye a stombling blocke before hym, and he shall dye, because thou hast not geuen hym warning: yea dye shall he in hys owne synne, so that the dedes, which he did before shal not be thought vpō: but his bloud wil I require of thyne hande.

Neuertheles, yf thou exhortest the righteous, that he synne not, ād so the righteous do not synne: then shall he lyue/ because he hath receaued thy warnynge, and thou haste discharged thy soule. And there came the hande of the LordE vpon me/ and he sayde vnto me: Stande vp, and go into the felde/ that I maye talcke there with thee.

So when I had rysen vp, and gone forthe into the felde: Behold/ the glory of the lorde stode there, lyke as I sawe it afore by the water of Cobar.

Then fell I downe vpon my face, and the spyete came into me, which set me vpon my fete, and sayde thus vnto me: Go thy way, and spaere thy selfe in thine house. Behold, (O thou sonne of man) there shall chaynes be brought for thee, to bynde thee with all, so that thou shalt not escape out of them. And I wyll make thy tonge cleue so to the rofe of thy mouth/ ỹ thou shalt be dō-me, and not be as a chyder wyth them: for it is an obstinate housholde.

But when I speake vnto the, then open thy mouth, and saye: Thus saith the Lord God: who so heareth, let him heare: who so wyll not, let hym leaue: for it is an obstinate housholde.

The Notes

a* By this watchman are figured bisshoppes, prestes, and preachers, which must take the occasion of their speaking and exhorting at the mouth of god, and speake not in their owne, but in hys name.
b* Some reade: thou shalt herken vnto the worde of my mouth, and shalt monysh them frō out of me.

C The besege of the cytie of Ierusalem is signifyed ỉ The longe continuaūce of the captiuitie of Israell. An hunger is prophecyed to come in the captiuitie.

C The. iiii. Chapter.

THou sonne of man, a* take a tile stone, and laye it before that, & describe vpon it the citi of Ierusalē: how it is beseged, how bulwarckes ād great diches are graue on euery syde of it: describe also tentes/ and an host of mē rounde about it.

Moreouer/ take an yron panne, ād set it betwyxt thee and the cytie/ in stede of an yron wall. Then set thy face towarde it, besege it, and laye ordinaūce agaynste it, to wynne it. This shall be a token vnto the house of Israell. But thou shalt slepe vpō the left syde/ and lay the synne of the house of Israell vpon thee. Certayne dayes apointed thou shalt slepe vpon that syde/ & bere theyr sinnes. Neuertheles, I will appoynt thee a time (to put of theyr sinnes (and the numbre of the dayes: Three hundred ād. xc. dayes must thou beare the wickednes of the house of Israell.

when thou hast fulfylled these dayes lye downe agayne, and slepe vpon thy right syde. xl. dayes. and beare the synnes of the house of Juda.

A day for a yeare, a day (I saye) for a yeare, wyll I euer laye vpon thee. Therfor set now thy face against that beseged Jerusalem, and discouer thyne arme, that thou mayest prophecye agaynst it.

Beholde, I wyll laye chaynes vpō thee, that thou shalt not turne thee frō me, one syde to an other, tyll thou hast ended the dayes of thy sege.

¶ Wherfore/take vnto thee wheate, barley, beanes, grofell sede, Milium and fytches: and put these together in a vessel, and make thee loaues of bred therof/according to the numbre of the dayes that thou must lye vpon thy syde: that thou mayest haue breade to eate, for thre hundred and. xc. dayes.

And the meate that thou eatest, shal haue a certen weyght appoynted, namelye twentye syckles euerye daye. Thys appoynted Meate, shalte thou eate daylye, from the beginning to the ende.

Thou shalt drincke also a certayne measure of water: Namelye/the sixte parte of an Hin shalt thou drinke dayly from the beginninge vnto the ende. Barley cakes shalt thou eat/ yet shalt thou fyrst stryke them ouer with mans donge/that they maye see it. And with that sayde the Lorde: Euen thus shall the chylderen of Israell eate theyr defiled bread in the middes of the gentiles, among whome I will scatter thē.

Then sayde I: Oh Lord God: Behold/my soule was yet neuer stained: for, frō my youth vp vnto thys houre I did neuer eate of a deade carcase/or of that which was slayne of wylde beastes/nether came there euer any vncleane fleash in my mouth

Whet vnto he answered me, ād sayde: well than, I wyl graunt thee to take cowes donge, for the donge of a mā and to stryke the bread ouer wyth all, before them.

And he sayde vnto me: Beholde ỹ sonne of man, I wyll mynische all the prouision of bread in Jerusalem, so ỹ they shall wepe theyr breade, and eate it with scarcenesse. But as for water/ they shal haue a very lytle measur therof to drincke. And when they haue no more breade nor water, one shalbee destroyed with an other, and famyshe away for theyr wickednes.

The notes

a* Thys is a prophecy done by an outwarde signe as in Jeremy. xiii. a. When the people are vnworthy of the worde of God, then are the Prophetes cōmaunded to vse such visible signes as here to paynte out Jerusalem and the besegyng therof in a tyle stone.

¶ The ryddle of the hearres, by which is sygnified the destructyon of the people. The causes of the anger of God towarde the people, The Lorde discloseth the ryddle of the hearres

¶ The. v. Chapter.

Thou sonne of mā, take ỹ thē a sherpe knyfe, namely a rasoure. Take that, and shaue the hearre of thy hede and beerde: then take ỹ scoales and the weyght / and diuyde the hearre asunder, and burne the .iii. parte therof in the fyre in the myddeste of the cyti/ād cut the other thyrd parte in peces with a knyfe. As for the thyrde parte that remayneth caste it in the wynde/and then shewe the bare knife.

Yet afterwarde take a lytle of the same, and binde it in thy cote lappe. Then take a cuttesye of it, and cast it in the middest of the fyre, and burne it in the fyre. Out of the same fyre shal there go a flāme vppon the whole house of Israel. Moreouer thus sayd the Lorde God: This same is Jerusalem. I set her in the mydeste of the hethen and nacion: that ar roūd aboute her/but shee hathe despised my iudgementes more then the gentyles them selues: and broken my commaundementes more then the nacions/that lye rounde about her: For they haue cast out myne ordynaunces/ and not walcked in my lawes: Therfore, thus sayth the Lord God: for so much as ye with youre wickednes farre exceade ỹ heathen that dwell rounde about you (For ye haue not walcked in my lawes nether haue ye kepte my ordinaunces) Therfore thus sayth the lorde God:

I wyll also come vpon thee, for in the mydst of thee wil I syt in iudgmēt,

in

in the syght of the heathen, & wyl hãdle thee of luche a fashion, as I neuer did before / and as I neuer wyll do from ỹ tyme fuzth, and that because of al thyne abhominacyons.

For euen the fathers shall be fayne to eate their owne sonnes, and the sõnes their owne fathers. Suche a court wyl I kepe in thee / and the whole remnaũt wil I scatter into al the wyndes.

Deu. xxviiii. Tren. iiii. e iiii. Ks. xvi. f

Wo herfore as truly as I lyue (sayeth the lozd God) seyng thou hast defyled my Sanctuary / wyth al maner of abhominations and wõ al thy shamful offences: For thys cause wil I also destroie thee. Myne eye shal not ouerse ỹ, neyther wil I spare thee.

One third parte within the e shall dye of the pestilence and of honger: Another thirde parte shalbe slaine downe round about the / wõ the seward: The other third part ỹ remaineth / wil I scatre abzod toward al the wides / & dzaw out the swerd after them. Thus I wil perfozme my indignacion and set my wzath against them, & ease my self. So that when I haue fulfylled myne anger against them, they shal knowe ỹ I am the lozd, which with a feruẽt gelousy haue spoken it. Mozeouer I wil make thee wast and abhozred, before al the Heathen that dwel about thee and in the sight of al them, that go by the: so that when I punish thee in my wzath / in mine anger, and wõ the plage of my whote displeasure, thou shalt be a very abhominacion, shame, a gasing and wondzing stock / among the Heathen ỹ lye about thee. Euen I the Lozd haue spoken it, and it shal come to pas / whẽ I shote among them the perlous dartes of honger, which shalbe but death: Yea therfore shal I shote them, because I wyl destroy you. I wyl encrese hõger & mynish al the pzouision of bzed among you.

D

Ezech. xiii. e

Plages and misery wil I send you yea and wyld beastes also to destroye you. Pestilence and bloudshedig shal cõe vpon you, & the swaerd wil I bzige ouer you. Euen I the Lozd haue saide it.

¶ Oze sheweth ỹ the peple shalbe plaged foz ỹ synne of Idolatri. He pzophecieth ỹ repẽtance of the remnaũte of the people, & their deliuerannce.

The destruction of the Hzoward is pzophesied.

¶ The. vi. Chapter.

AND the wozd of the Lozde came vnto me, sayig: thou sonne of man, turne thy face to the mountaines of Israel / that thou mayest pzophecie vnto them, and saye: Heare the wozd of the lozd god / O ye mountaynes of Israel: Thus hath the lozd god spoken to the mountaynes, hilles, valleys and dales.

Ezec. xxxvi. e

Behold / I wyl bzing a swerd ouer you / and destroye your hye places: I wyl cast downe your altars, and bzeke doune your temples. Your slayne men wyl I laye before youre goddes, and ỹ deed carcases of the chyldzen of Israel wyl I caste before their ymages / youre boones wyll I destroye rounde about youre aulters / and dwellynge places.

The cyties shalbe desolate, the hil chapels layde waste: youre altars destroyed, and bzoke: your gods cast downe, and taken awaye, youre Temples laid euen wyth the ground, your owne wozckes cleane roted out.

B

Youre slayne men shal lye among you, that ye maye lerne to knowe, how ỹ I am the Lozd. Those that among you haue escaped the swerd, wyl I leade among the Gentils, foz I wyl scatter you among the naciõs. And they ỹ escape from you, shal thincke vpon me among the Heathen where they shalbe in captiuitie.

Baru. iii. k.

As foz that whozyshe and vnkaythful herte of theirs, wherewyth they tũne awaye from me, I wyll breake it: yea and put oute those eyes of theyrs / that commytte foznycation wyth their Idoles.

Then shall they be ashamed, and displeased with their selues, foz ỹ wyckednes and abhominaciõs, which they haue done: and shall lerne to knowe / how that it is not in vayne / that I the lozd spake / to bzynge such misery vpõ them.

The Lozde sayde mozeouer vnto me: Smyte thyne handes together / ãd stampe wyth thy fete / and saye:

Who worth al the abhominacions and wickednesses of the House of Israell, for because of them/they shall perysshe with the swearde, with hunger, and wt pestilẽce. Who so is farre of/shall dye of the pestilence: he that is nie at hand shall perysh with the swearde: and the other that are beseged, shal dye of hunger.

Thus wyll I satisfy my wrathfull displeasure vpon them: And so shal ye learne to knowe, that I am the Lorde, when your slayn men lye among your goddes, and about your aultars: vpon all hye hylles and toppes of mountaynes, among all grene trees/among al thyck okes: euen in the places / where they did sacrifyce to all theyr Idoles I will stretch mine hand out vpõ thẽ, and wyl make the land waste so that it shal lye desolate and voyde, from the wyldernesse of Diblathah forth, thorow al theyr habitacions: to learne them for to knowe, that I am the lorde.

¶ The ende of all the lande of Israell shall sodenly come. The cause of the destruction therof. The prophete is commaunded to shewe the summe of the euelles that are at hande.

¶ The. vii. Chapter.

THe worde of the Lord came vnto me on this maner: Thee I cal/O thou son of man. Thus sayeth the lorde god vnto the lande of Israel:/The ende commeth/ye verely the ende commeth vppon all the foure cornees of the Earth.

But now shal the ende come vpon thee: For I wyll sende my wrath vpon thee, and wil punysh thee: according to thy wayes and reward thee after al thy abhomtnacions.

Myne eye shall not ouerse thee, nether wyl I spare the: but reward thee, accor dingto thy wais, & declare thy abhomt nacyons. Then shall ye know, that I am the Lorde.

Thus sayth the Lord God: Behol= de, one mysetye and plage commeth vpon an other: the ende is here. The en de (I say) that wayteth for thee, is co= me already/the houre is come against B thee/that dwelleth in the lande

The tymẽ is at hande, the daye of sedicton is hard by, and no glad tidin ges vpon the mountaynes. Therfore, I wyll shortly poure out my sore dys= pleasure ouer thee, ād fulfyl my wrath vpon thee. I wyll iudg thee after thy wayes, and recompense thee all thy ab hominacions.

Myne eye shall not ouerse thee, ney ther wyll I spare thee: but reward the after thy wayes, and shewe thy abho= mynacions, to learne you for to know, how that I am the lorde that smyteth. Beholde, the daye is here, the daye is come, the houre is runne out, a ỹ rod flowrysheth. wylfulnes wareth greane, malycious violence is growen vpand the vngodlye waxen to a staf. Yet shal there no complaint be made for them, nor for the trouble that shall comme of these thinges.

The tyme commeth/the day draw eth nye: Who so byeth, let him not re= joyse he that selleth/let him not be sorr for why. Trouble shall comme in the middest of al reste: so that the seller shal not come agayne to the byer / for ney= ther of them both shal lyue. For the vi syon shall come so greatly ouer all, th= at it shall not be hyndered: No man al so with his wickednes shall be able to saue his owne lyfe. The trompet= tes shall ye blowe/and make you all ready/but no man shall go to the bat= tel. for I am wroth with all the whole multitude.

The swearde shalbe without, pesti lence and hunger within, so that who so is in thee felde/shalbe slayne withe the swearde: and he that is in the cytte, shall perysh with hunger and Pesty lence.

And such as escape & flie from amon D ge them, shalbe vpon the hylles, lyke as the doues in the feld: euery one shal be afrayed, because of his own wycked nes.

All handes shallbe let downe, and all knees shal be weake as the water: They shal gyrde them selues with sac cloth feare shal fall vpon them.

Their faces shalbee con= founded, *and their heades balde, th= eyr syluer shall lye in the streates, and their gold shall be dispised: *ye their syluer

*Sopho.id Eccl.v. Pro,vi.a

syluer and gold make not deuoure the, in the daye of the fearful wrath of the Lorde.

They shall not satisfye their hongry soules/nether fyl their em pty bellyes therwith. For it is be come their owne decate thorow their wickednes: because they made therof not only costly Jewels for their pompe and pryd, but also abomtnable tmags & Idoles.

For thys cause wyll I make them to be abhorred. Moreouer, I wyll geue it tntothe handes of ỹ straũgers to be spoyled: and to the wycked, for to be robbed, and they shal destroye it. My face wyl I turne from them/ my treasure shalbe defiled. for the theues shal go tnto it, and suspende it. I wyl make cleane riddaunce, for the lande is whole defyled w̃ vntightuous iudgment of tnnocent bloude, and the cyte is ful of abhomtnactons. Wherfore, I wyl brig the most cruel tyrauntes frõ among ỹ Heathẽ, to take their houses in possessin. I wyl make the pompe of the proudé to ceas, and they shal take in their Sãctuary.

When this trouble commeth, thei shal seke peace, but they shall haue none. One myscheke and sorow shal folowe another, and one rumoure shal come after another: Then shal they seke vysyons in vayne at their Prophtes. The lawe shalbe gone from the prestes, ãd wysdome from the elders. The kynge shal mourne, the Prynces shalbe clothed with heuynes/and the handes of the people in the landeshal tremble for feare. I wyl do vnto them after their owne wayes, and accordynge to their owne iudgmentes wyll I iudge them: to lerne them for to knowe/that I am the Lorde.

The Notes

a* The rode signifieth. This rodde signifieth the kyng of Babilon, which was in his flowers, and this cheke pride should euen now come to destroye Jerusalem.

¶ In appperaunce of ỹ similytud of god Ezechiel is brought vnto Jerusalẽ in the spyrte, The Lorde sheweth ỹ Prophete ỹ Idolatryes of the house of Israel, and chefly of the Prestes.

¶ The.viii. Chapter.

IT happened, that in ỹ sixt yeare the fyfth daye of the syxte moneth I sat in my house, and the Lordes of the councel of Juda w̃ me, and the hande of the Lord god fel euẽ there vpon me. And as I loked vp, I saw as it were a lycknes of fyre frõ his loynes downe warde/and from his lotnes vpwarde it shyned meruelous clere. This similitude stretched out an hande, and toke me by the hearye lockes of my head, and the spyrte lift me vp betwixte heauen and earth: and God brought me in a vysion to Jerusalem, into the entry of the a* inner porte that lyeth toward the North: there stod an ymage, with whom he that hath al thynges in his power, was very wroth.

And beholde, the glorye of ỹ God of Israel was in the same place: euẽ as I had sene it afore in the felde.

And he saide vnto me: Thou sonne of man/ O lift vp thine eyes, and loke towarde the north, and beholde: beside the port northward, there was an aulter made vnto ỹ ymage of prouocatiõ on ỹ very entrig i. And he said further more vnto me: Thou sonne of man/ seist thou what thes do? Seist thou the greate abhomtnacyons ỹ the house of Israel commit in thys place: which ought not to be done in my sãctuary? But turne the about, and thou shalt se yet greater abhomtnactons. And with that brought he me to the courte gate: and when I loked/behold, there was a dore. And he sayde vnto me: Go thy waye in, and loke what wycked abhomtnacyons they do there. So I wẽt in/and sawe: and beholde, there were al maner ymages of wormes & beasts al Idoles and abhomynacyons of the house of Israel paynted euery one rounde about the wall.

There stodde also before the ymages. lxx. Lordes of the councell of the house of Israell: and in the myddeste of them stode Jaazanyah the sonne of Saphan:

And euerye one of them had a censoure in hys hande/and out of the incense, there wente a smoke, as yt had beue a cloude.

Then sayde he vnto me: Thou sõne of man, hast thou sene what the Senatours of the house of Israel on secretly euery one in his chãbre? For they saie: Tush the lord seyeth vs not, the lorde regardeth not the worlde. And he sayd vnto me: Turne ẏ yet agayne, & thou shalt se the greate abhomnaciõs that they do. And wyth that he brought me to the dore of the porte of the Lordes house, towarde the north. And behold there sate women mournynge for[b*] Thamus. Then saide he vnto me: hast thou sene thys, thou sonne of mã? Turne the about, and thou shalt se yet greater abhominacyons. And so he brought me into the inwarde court of the lordes house, betwyxte the fore entre and the aultar, there were fyue ãd twenty men, that turned their backes vpon the temple of the lord, & their faces toward the east, & these worshipped the sonne.

worshipped
ge Sonne

And he sayd vnto me: hast ẏ sene this thou sonne of man? Thynketh the house of Israel/that it is but a tryfle, to do these abhominacyons? Should they fyl the lande ful of wyckednes, ãd vndertake to prouoke me vnto ãger? Yea and purposly to cast vp their noses vpon me?

Therfore wyl I also do somthynge in my wrothful displeasure, so ẏ myne eye shal not ouer se them, nether wyl I spare them. Yea and though they crie in myne eares wt a loud voyce, yet wyl I not heare them.

The notes.

a* The hyll Sion was walled roũd about and that wall whych compassed it was called the outwarde wall: About the temple was there another wall, that was called the in warde wall: whych al thoughe it were out warde from the tẽple, yet was it in warde from the wal whych compassed the hyl The space betwene the in warde wall and the temple, was called the inner courte. Ther in were many portes, and in the north porte ther of was Ezechiel set: for that place was holy, and ther in dyd they vse to worshyp God: but with the fylthynes of this hateful ymage of Baal (whiche the Prophet here calleth the ymage of prouocaciõ bycause it prouoked the Lorde to vengeaunce) hadde they defyled it: as superstycion doth comẽly defile euẽ the most holiest thinges, and soch as appeare most godlyest

b* That is after S. Hierom, Adonides Amasius which was Venus fayrest sonne (and which is fayned to haue ryssen from deeth to lyfe) which fable the women of Jewrye dyd celebrate and holde solempne both with mirth and teares. Some saie that it was an Image whych was made to wepe by crafte. Before this Image did women also bewayle their separacion from their louers, & reioyced when they obtayned them agayne.

¶ The destructyõ of Idolatars, & the conuersacyõ of the ryghwes. They that shalbe saued are marcked. They that are vnmarked are slayne. A cõplaint of the Prophet for the destruction of the people

¶ Their Chapter.

HE cryed also wyth a loude voyce in myne eares/saiyng Come here ye rulers of the cytie, euery man wyth hys wepened hand to ẏ slaughter. Then came there sixe men out of ẏ strete of the vpper porte towarde the north/and euerye man a wepen in hys hande to the slaughter. Ther was one amongest them, that had on hym a lynen rayment/& a writers pynckehorne by hys syde. A

These went in/and stode besyd the brasen ruler: for the glory of the Lord was gone awaye from the Cherub/ & was come downe to the threshold of ẏ house, and he called the man that had the lynen rayment vpon hym/and the writers pynck horne by hys syde/and ẏ Lorde sayde vnto hym: Go thy waye thorow the cytye of Jerusalem/and set this marke. Thau vpon the foreheades of thẽ that mourn and are sory for al the abhomynacyons, that bee done therin. B

Exõ.xl.e Nume.ix.e iii.Re.viiib

And to the other, he saide that I might heare: Go ye after hym thorow the cite: slay, ouerse none, spare none: kyll & destroie both olde men and yonge, maydens/chyldren and wyues. C

But as for those, ẏ haue this marke Thau vpon them: se that ye touch thẽ not/and begynne at my Sanctuary. +

Jere.xxv:b. xlix. i.Pete.iiii.c

Then they beganne at the elders, whiche were in the tẽple, for he had sayde vnto them: Wo when ye haue defyled the temple, and filled the courtes wyth the slayne, then goo youre waye forth.

So they wente out & slewe doune thorow the cyte. Now when they had done the slaughter, and I yet escaped I fel doune vpon my face, and cryed/ saiyng O Lord/wylt thou thẽ destroy al the residu of Israel, in thy fore displeasure, that thou hast poured vpon Jerusalem. D

Then saide he vnto me: The wickednes of the house of Israell and Juda, is very great: so that the land is full of bloude, and the citie full of vnfaythfulnesse: For they say. Tush, the Lord regardeth not the earth, he seyth vs not. Therfore wyll I vppon them, myne eye shall not ouerse them, neyther wyll I spare them, but wyll recompense theyr wyckednesse vpon theyr heades. And beholde the mā that had the lynnen rayment vpon hym and the writers pynckhorne by hys syde: tolde all the matter how it happened: ād sayde: Lorde/as thou hast commaunded me/so I haue done.

Job.xxbii. Esay.c xix.c Ecci.xviii,d nota Zuſp

C Of the man that toke whote burning coles oute of the mydle of the wheles & of the cherubyns, in token of the burnyng of Jerusalem. A rehersall of the vision of the wheles, of the beastes, and of the cherubyns.

The.x Chapter.

A AND as I loked, beholde /in the fyrmamente that was aboue the cherubyns there appeared the symilytude of a stole of Saphyr vpon them Then sayde he that sate therein/ to hym that had the lynen rayment vpon hym: crepe in betwene the wheles that are vnder the cherubyns, and take thyne hand full of hoate coles out from betwene the Cherubyns and caste them ouer the cyte And he crepte in that I myght se.

Now the Cherubins stode vpon the ryght syde of the house: when the manne went in and the cloude fylled the ynnermer courte. But the glorye of the Lorde remoued from the cherubyns, and came vpon the thresholde of the house, so that the temple was full of cloudes / and the courte was full of the shyne of the Lordes glory. Yea and the sounde of the cherubyns wynges was heard into the fore courte/lyke as it had beene the voyce of the almyghtye God/when he speaketh. Now/when he had bydden the man that was clothed in lynen, to go and take the hoate coales frō the myddest of the wheles, whych were vnder the cherubyns. he wente and stode besyde the wheles. Thē the one Cherub reached forth hys hande from vnder the Cherubins, vnto the fyer that was betwene the cherubyns, and toke therof, and gaue it vntoo hym that had on the lynen rayment in hys hande; whych toke it and went out. And vnder the wynges of the Cherubyns, there appeared the lykenes of a manshand. I sawe also four wheles besyd the Cherubis so that by euery cherub ther stode a whele. And the wheles were (to loke vppon) after the fashyō of the precyous stone of Tharsys. yet. vnto the syght) were theye fashyoned and lyke as yf one whele had bene in an other.

When they went forthe/they wente all foure together/ not turnynge aboute in theyr goynge: but where the fyrst wente, thether went they after alsoo /so that they turned not about in theyr goynge. Theyr whole bodyes, theyr backs/theyr handes and wynges, yea and the wheles also were all full of eyes rounde aboute them all foure. And I hearde hym call ỹ wheeles (Galgall, that is) a rounde boule. Euery one of them had foure faces: so that the one face was the face of a Cherub, the seconde of a man, the thyrde of a lyon, the fourth of an Aegle. and they were lyfted vp aboue. Thys is the beaste that I sawe at the water of Cobar. Now when the cherubins went, the wheles wēt with them, and when the Cherubyns shoke theyr wynges to lyfte them selues vpwarde/ the wheles remayned not behynd but were wyth them also. Shortly whē they stode, these stod also. And when they were lyft vp, the wheles wer lyft vp also wyth them/for the spyrete of lyfe was in the wheles.

Then the glorye of the Lorde was lyfte vp from the thresholde of the temple/and remayned vpon the Cherubyns And the Cherubyns flackred with theyr wynges and lyft theym selues vp from the earthe, so that I sawe when they wēt and the wheles wyth them. And they stode at the East syde of the poorte that ys in the house of the Lorde. So the glorye of the Lord was vpon them.

Thys is the Beast that I sawe vnder the god of Israel/by the water of cobar. And I perceaued, that it was ỹ cherubyns. Euery one had foure faces, and euery one four wynges/and vnder theyr wynges/as it were mens haundes.

Now

Now the figure of theyr faces was, euē as I had seue them, by the water of Cobar, and so was the countenaunce of thē: Euery one in hys goinge went streyght forwarde.

¶ Who they were that seduced the people of Israel. Agaynst these he prophecieth, shewinge thē how they shalbe dispersed abroade. The renewinge of the hert cōmeth of God, otherwise can we not walke in his commaundementes. He threateneth them that leane vnto theyr owne counsels.

The.xi. Chapter.

MOreouer, the spyrete of the Lord lyft me vp and brought me vnto the Easte port of the Lordes house. And beholde there were.xxv. men vnder the dore, amonge whome I sawe Jaazaniah the sonne of Azur, and Pheltiah the sonne of Banaiah, ꝑ rulers of the people. Then sayde the Lorde vnto me: Thou sonne of man: these men ymagyne mischefe, and a wycked counsell take they in thys cytie, saying: tush, ther is no destructyon at hande, lette vs buylde houses: this Jerusalem is the cauldron and we be the flesh. Therfore shalt thou prophecy vnto them, ye prophecy shaltte thou vnto them, O sonne of man. And with that fell the spyrete of the Lorde vpon me, and sayd vnto me: Speake, thus sayeth the Lorde: On thys maner haue
B ye spoken (O ye house of Israel) and I know the ymaginacions of your hertes Many one haue ye murthered in thys cytye, and fylled the stretes full of the slayne. Therfore, thus saith the Lorde God: The slayne men that ye haue layde on the ground in thys cytie, are the flesshe, & thys cytie is the cauldron: But I wyll bryng you out of it: ye haue drawen out Ezec.xxiiii.a Mat.xxvi.e, the sweardе, euen so wyll I also brynge a sweard ouer you, sayth the Lord god. I wyll dryue you oute of thys cytie and delyuer you into youre enemies haude, and wyl condempne you. Ye shalbe slayne in all the coastes of Israell/ I wylbe aueuged of you, to lerne you for to knowe, that I am the Lord. Thys cytie shal not be your cauldron, neyther shall ye be the flesh therin: but in the coastes of Israell wyll I punysshe you, that ye maye Leui.xviii.a Deuter.xii.d knowe that I am the Lord: in whose cōmaundementes ye haue not walcked edde, nor kept hys lawes: but haue done after the customes of the Hethen, that lie rounde about you.

Now when I preached, Pheltiah ꝑ sonne of Banaiah dyed. Then fell I downe vppon my face, and cryed wyth a lowde voyce: O Lord God, wylte thou then vtterlye destroye all the remaunte in Israel: and so the worde of the Lord came to me in this maner: thou sonne of man: thy brethren, thy kynskolcke, and the whole house of Juda, which dwel at Jerusalem, saye: they be gone farre frō the Lorde, but the lande is geuen vs in possessyon. Therfore tell them, thus sayeth the Lorde God: I wyll sende you far of among the Gentyles, and scattre you among the nacions, and I wyll hallow you but a lytle, in the landes where you shall come. Tell them also thus sayeth the Lorde God: I wyll gather you agayne oute of the nacions, and bryng you from the countrees wheare you be scattred and wyll gyue you the lande of Israel agayne: thyther shall ye com. And as for al impediments, and all your abominacions: I wyll take them awaye.

And I wyll geue you one herte, and I wyll plante a new spyrete within your bowels. That stonye herte wyll I take out of youre body, and geue you a *flesshly herte: that ye maye walcke in my commaundemēts, and kepe myne ordynaunces, and do them that ye maye be my people, and I your God. But loke whose hertes are dysposed to folowe theyr abhominacyons and wicked lyuynges: those mens dedes wyll I bryng vpon theyre owne heades, sayth the Lord God. After thys dyd the cherubins lyft vp theyr wīges, and the wheles wente with them, ād the glorye of the Lorde was vpon them. So the glory of the Lorde went vp frō the middest of the city, and stode vpon ꝑ mount of the citye toward the Est. But the wynde toke me vp and in a vysyon, (which came by the spyrete of God) it brought me agayne into Caldea amonge the prisoners. Then the vision that I hadde sene vanished away from me. So I spake vnto the prysoners all the wordes of the Lorde whych he had shewed me.

D Jere.xxxiii.c Ezec.xxxvi.c

flesshly herte

The notes.

* That is a mylde, softe, and tractable herte.

¶ The

¶ The parable of ỹ vessels of the captyuptye. The exposycyon of the parable, by which the taking of Kyng zedekiah is signified. Another parable wher by ỹ distresse of honger and thyrst is signified.

¶ The.xii. Chapter.

THe word of the lorde came vnto me/saynge: Thou sonne of man, thou dwellest in ỹ middest of a frow ard houshold which haue eyes to se/ and yet se not: eares haue they to heare/ād yet heare they not, for they are an obstinate houshold. Therfore(O thou sonne of man) make thy geare redy to flye/ād go forth by katte daye light, that they maye se. Yea, euen in their sight shalt thou go from thy place to another place: yf per aduenture they wyl consydre, that they be an vnobedient houshold. Thy gear that thou hast made redy to flight with al, shalte thou beare out by kayre date light, that they maye see: and B thou thy selfe shalt go forth also at euē in their sight/as a mā doth whē he flitteth. Dygge thorow the wal, that they maie se, and beare thorowe it the same thing/ ỹ thou takest vp in their sight. As for thy self thou shalt go forth in ỹ darcke. Hide thy face that thou se not ỹ earth, for I haue made the a shewtokē vnto the house of Israel.

Now as the Lord commaunded me so I dyd: the gere that I had made redy, brought I out by date. At euen I brake downe an hole thorow the wal wt my hand & when it was darcke, I toke the gere vpon my shoulders, and bare them out in their sight.

And in the morning, came ỹ word of the lord vnto me, saying: Thou sonne of man, ik Israel ỹ froward hou C sholde aske the/and saye: what doest ỹ there? Then tel them: Thus saieth the Lord god: This punishment toucheth the chefe rulers at Jerusalem, and all the house of Israell, that dwel amōge them: Tel them I am your shewtoken lyke as I haue done, so shal it happen vnto you: Flyt shal ye also, and go into captiuite. The chefest that is amōg you shall lade his shoulders i ỹ darke and get him away. He shal breake downe the wal/to carye stuf there tho-row: He shall couer his face, that he see not the grounde/with his eyes. My lyne wyl I spread out vpon him, and catch him in my net/ and carye him to Babilon, in the lande of the Caldees: which he shal not se, and yet shal hedie there. As for al hys helpers/and al his Hostes, that be about him/ I wyl scatre thē toward al the wyndes/ād draw e out a swerd after them. So whē I haue scatred them among the Heathē, and strowed theym in the landes, they shal know, that I am the Lord. But I wyl leaue a lytle numbre of thē frō the sweard, hunger and pestilence: to tel al their abhominacions amonge ỹ D heathen, where they come/ ỹ they maye know, how ỹ I am the lord.

Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me saynge: Thou sonne of man: wyth a fearful trembling shalt ỹ eat thy bred, with carefulnes ād sorow shalt thou drynke thy water. And vnto the people of the landa, speake thou on this maner: Thus saieth the Lord god/to them that dwel in Jerusalem, and to the land of Israel: Ye, shal eate your bred wt sorow, and drinke youre water with heuynesse. Ye the land with the fulnes therof shalbe laid wast for the wyckednes of them that dwell therin. And the cyties that now be wel occuppyed/ shalbe voyde, and the lande desolate that ye maye know/how ỹ I am the Lord.

Yet came the word of the Lord vn- E to me/saynge: Thou sonne of man what maner of by worde is that, which ye vse in the land of Israel, saying: Tush/seyng that the dayes are so slack in commynge, al the vysions ar of none effecte: Tel them therfore thus saieth the lord god: I wyl make ỹ by worde to ceasse/ so that it shal no more be cōmonly vsed in Israel.

But say this vnto them: The daies are at hand/that euery thig which hath ben prophecied/ shalbe fulfylled. Ther shal no vysiō be in vaine/nether any prophecy faile among the childrē of Israel: For it is ỸE ỹ lord, that spake it ād whatsoeuer Ỹ lord speake it shal be performed, and not be slack in commynge.

Yea

Yea euen in youre dayes (O ye frowarde housholde) wil I deuise somthig, and bringe it to passe, sayeth the lorde God. And the worde of the Lorde cam vnto me, saying: Beholde, thou sonne of man: The house of Israell saye in this maner: Tush as for the vision that he hath sene, it wylbe many a day or it come to passe: Is it farre of yet, ỹ thynge that he prophecyeth. Therfore saye vnto them: Thus sayth the lorde God: All my wordes shall no more be slacke: Loke what I speake, that same shall come to passe, sayth the Lord.

¶ The worde of the lord agaynst false prophetes, whiche teache the people the cõcels of theyr own hertes.

¶ The.xiii. Chapter.

a THe worde of the Lorde came vnto me saying: Thou sonne of man. Speke prophecye agaynste those prophetes, that preache in Israell: and saye thou vnto them that prophecy out of theyr owne herts: Heare the worde of the lorde, thus sayeth the Lord God: Wo be vnto those folysshe prophetes, that folowe theyr owne spret, and speke wher they se nothing.

a* O Israel, thy prophets are lyke the foxes vpon the dyrte felde: For they stãde not in the gappes nether make they an hedge for the house of Israell/ that men myght abyde the parel in the day of the Lorde. Vayne thinges they see/ and tell lyes/ to mayntayne theyr preachinges with all. The lorde (saye they) hath spoken it/ whan in very deede the Lord hath not sent them. Vayne vysions haue ye sene, and spoken false prophecies/ when ye saye: the Lorde hath spoken it where as I neuer sayde it.

b Therfor/ thus sayth the Lord god: Because your woordes be vayne/ and ye seke out lyes: Behold, I wyll vpon you, sayeth the Lorde. Wyne handes shall come vpon the prophetes that loke out vayne thynges, & preache lyes: they shall not be in the councell of my people/ nor writen in the boke of ỹ house of Israell/ nether shall they come in the lande of Israell: ỹ ye maye knowe/ how ỹ I am the Lorde God. And ỹ for this cause: they haue deceaued my people/ and tolde them of peace/ where no peace was. One setteth vp a wall, and they dawb it with louse clay. Therfor tell them which dawbe it with vntempered morter, that it shall fall. For there shall come a great shower of rayne, great stones shall fall vppon it, and a sore storme of wynde shal breake it, so shall the wall come downe. Shall it not then be sayde vnto you: Where is now the morter, that ye dawbed it with all: Therfor thus saith the Lord god: I wyll breake out in my wrothful displeasure with a stormye wynde, so that in myne anger ther shall come a myghtye shower of rayne, and hayle stones in my wrath, to destroye with all.

As for the walle that ye haue dawbed withe vntempered morter, I wyll breke it downe, make it euen with the grounde: so that the foundacion there of shall remoue, and it shall fal, yea & ye your selues shall perysh in the middest therof: to lerne you for to knowe, that I am the Lord. Thus wyll I perfourme my wrath vpon this wall, and vppon them that haue dawbed it with vntempered morter, and then wyll I saye vnto you: The wall is gone, and the dawbers are awaye. These are the prophetes of Israell/ which prophecye vnto the cytie of Jerusalem, and loke out vysions of peace for them, where as no peace is, sayth the Lord God. Wher fore (O thou sonne of man) set thy face against the daughters of thy people, which prophecy out of theyr owne hertes: and speake thou prophecy against them, and saye: Thus sayth the Lorde God: Wo be vnto you, ỹ sowe pyllows vnder all arme holes, and bolsters vnder the heades both of yonge and olde, to catch soules withall. For when ye haue gotten the soules of my people in your captiuitie/ ye promyse thẽ lyke, ãd dishonour me to my people, for an hãdfull of barley, and for a pece of breade: when ye kyl the soules of them, that dye not, and promes lyfe to them/ that lyue not. Thus ye dyssemble with my people, that beleueth your lyes.

Wherfor thus saith the Lord god: Behold, I wyll also vpon the pyllowes wherwithe ye catche the soules intleting: then will I take from youre armes

Matth.vii.c

C

Lnota vntempred morter

D

Esa.v.c Miche.iii.g

Jere.viii:b

mes/and let the soules go/that ye catch in flieng. Your bolsters also wil I teare in peces / and delyuer my people out of your hand: so that they shal cõe no moze in your handes to be spoiled/ and ye shal know that I am the Lozd.

they shall cõe no more in yõr hands

Seing that ẅ your lyes ye discõfozt the hert of the rightuous, whom I haue not discõfozted, Againe: Foz so much as ye cozage the hand of the wycked/so that he maye not turne frõ his wicked waye/ and lyue: therfoze shall ye spye out nomoze vanyte, noz pzophecy your owne gessinges: foz I wil delyuer my peple out of your hand, that ye maie know, how that I am the Lozd.

Ose,iiii,b

The Notes

O Israel, thy pzophetes. &c, a* The pzeachers of mens tradicions doth ỹ pzophet compare vnto foxes which kepte a ceruyce of God, & encrese ceremonies: & teache a waye to plese God, by such wozkes as they enrych thẽselues ẅ. By ỹ hedge here maye ye vnderstãd pzaier don in cayth.

¶ The Lozd denieth his wozd to the peple foz their sinnes sake, The dispysers of ỹ wozd do the ỹ lozde some time deceue by fálse pzophets, Acomfozth of thẽ that fled vnto Babilon.

¶ The .xiiii. Chapter.

Gezech,xx,a. THer resozted vnto me certayne of the elders of Israel/and sate downe by me. Then came the wozd of ỹ lozd vnto me, sayig: Thou sonne of mã, these men beare their Idoles in their hertes, and go purposly vp on the stombling blocke of their owne wickednes: hou dare they then aske coũcel at me? Therfoze speake vnto them/ and say, thus sayeth the lozd God: Euery man of the house of Israel that beareth his Idoles in hys hert, purposig to stomble in his owne wickednes, ãd commeth to a Pzophet/to enquere any thinge at me by him: vnto that mã wil I the Lozd my selfe geue answere, accozding to the multitude of his Idols: that the house of Israll maye be snared in their owne hertes/because they be cleane gone fro me/foz their Idols sakes.

Wherfoze, tel the house of Israel: thus sayeth ỹ lozd god: Be conuerted/ fozsake your Idoles, and turne youre faces from al your abhomnacions.

Foz euery man, (whether he be of the house of Israelo, a straunger, that sogouerneth in Israel) which departeth fro me, and taketh Idols in his hert, purposing to go stil stombling in hys owne wycked nesse, and commeth to a Pzophet, foz to aske councel at me thorow him: vnto that man wil I ỹ lozde geue answere, by myne owne selfe. I wyl set my face against that man, and wyl make him to be an example foz other, yea and a cõmen by wozde: & wil rote him out of my people, that he may know how that I am the lozd.

iii.Re,xvii,d Job.xii.

And if that pzophet be dysceaued/ when he telleth hym a wozd: then I the lozd my selfe haue disceaued that Pzophet, and wyl stretch fozth mine hand vpõ him, to rote him out of my people of Israel: and they both shalbe punished foz their wickednes. Accozdinge to the synne of him that asketh, shall the Pzophete be: ỹ the house of Israel be led no moze fro me thozow errout, ãd be no moze defiled in their wickednes: but that they maie be my people, and I their God, sayeth the lozd god. And the wozd of the lozd came vnto me saying: Thou sõne of man, when the lãde sinneth against me, and goeth fozth in wickednes: I wil stretch out mine hãd vpon it/ and destroye all the pzouision of their bzed and sende death vpõ thẽ/ to destroye man and beast in the land. And though Noe, Daniell and Job these thze men were amonge them, yet shal theye in their rightuousnes delyuer but their owne soules, sayeth ỹ lozd God.

Yf I bzinge noysome beastes into the lande, to waste it vp, and it be so desolate/that no man maie go therin foz beastes: Yf these thze men also were in the lande / as trulye as I lyue (sayeth the Lozd god) they shal saue neither sonnes noz daughtes, but be only deleuered them selues: and as foz the lande, it shalbe wast.

Oz, yf I bzing a sweard into the lande, and charge it to go thozow the land: so ỹ, I slaye downe mã & beast i te, and yf these three men were therin: As truly as I liue (sayeth the lord God) they shal delyuer nether sonnes nor doughters, but onlt besaued them selues. If I send a pestylence into the lande/ and poure out my sore indignacio vp on it in bloud/ so that I rote out of yt booth man and beast, and yf Noe, Daniel and Job were therin: as trulye as I leue (sayeth the lorde god) they shall delyuer nether sonnes nor daugethrs, but saue their owne soules in their ryghtuousns. Moreouer, thus sayeth the Lord God: Though I send my soure troublous plages vpō Jerusalē: the sweard honger, perolus beastes, ād pestilence/ to destroie mā & beast out of it: yet shall therebe a remnaunt saued therin, which shal bring forth their sōnes and daughters.

Behold, they shal come forth vnto you/ and ye shal se their wate, and what they take in hand, and ye shalbe comforted, as touchyng al the plages that I haue brought vpon Jerusalem. They shal comfort you, when ye se ther wate and worckees: and ye shal knowe that it is not without a cause, that I haue done so against Jerusalem, as I dyd/ saieth the lord God.

As the vnprofitable wod of ỹ vyne tre is cast into ỹ fyre, so sayeth he ỹ, Jerusalem shalbe brent.

The. xv. Chapter.

THe word of the lord cam vnto me, saying: Thou sonne of man: What cōmeth of ỹ vyne amōg al other trees of the vyne stocke amonge all other tymber of the groaue? Do mē take wod of it, to make any worcke w al? Or mate there anaple be made of it, to hang any thing vpon? Behold, it is cast in the fyre to be brent, the fire cōsumeth both the endes of it, ỹ middeste is brēt to all thes. Is it mete thē for any worcke? No.

Seing then, that it was mete for no work/ being whole: moch les may ther any thing be made of it, when the fyre hath consumed and brent yt.

And therfore thus saieth ỹ lord god: Lyk as I cast the vyne into ỹ fyre for to be brēt, as other trees of ỹ wod: Euen so wyl I do with them that dwell in Jerusalem, and set my face agaynst thē: they shal go out from the fyre, ād yet ỹ fyre shal consume them.

Then shal ye know/ that I am the Lord/ when I set my face agaynst thē, and make the land waste: because they haue so sore offended, sayeth the Lorde God.

The prophet entēdyng to speake of ỹ abhominacyons of Jerusalem: doth fyrst shew ỹ benefites of God toward it. Jerusalē is reproued of vnkindnes, for her fornicacyō w Idoles. He iustifyeth ỹ wyckednes of other people in cōparyson of the synnes of Jerusalē, The cause of ỹ abhominacyōs into wh ich ỹ Sodomites fell. Mersye is promysed to the repentaunte.

The. xvi. Chapter.

AGayne, the word of ỹ lorde spake vnto me, saig: Thou sonne of man, shew thy cytye of Jerusalē their abhominacyons, and sate: thus sayeth the Lord god vnto Jerusalem: Thy progeny and kynred came out of the land of [a]* Canaan/ thy father was an Amorite, thy mother a Cethyte. In ỹ daye of thy birth whē thou wast borne, the string of thy [b]* nauell was not cut of: thou waste not bathed in water to make the cleane. Thou wast nether rubbed with salt, nor swedded in cloutes: No man regarded ỹ so much, as to do any of these thinges for the, or to shew ỹ such fauour, but thou wast vtterly cast out vpon the feld, yea despysed waste thou in the daye of thy byrth.

Thē cam I by ỹ/ and sawe ỹ trodē doune i thine owne bloud & sayd vnto ỹ: thou shalt be pourged frō thine owne bloud, from thyne owne bloud (I saye) shalt thou be clensed.

So I planted ỹ/ as the blossom of thy felde: thou art growen vp, and waxen greate: thou hast gotten a meruelous pleasaūt beauty, thy brestes are come vp/ thy hearre ys Goodlye growen/ where as thou wast naked and bare afore.

Now when I went by thee, and loked vpon thee: Behold, thy tyme was come, yea euen the tyme to bow the.

Then

Then spred I my clothes ouer thee to co uer thy dishonestye: yea, I made an othe vnto thee, and maryed my self with thee (sayeth the lorde God) and so thou becamest myne owne. Then washed I thee with water, and pourged thy blonde frō thee. I annoynted thee wyth oyle, I gaue thee the chaunge of raymentes, I made thy shues of Tarus lether: I girthed thee aboute with white sylcke, I clothed thee wyth kerchues. I decked thee wyth costly apparell, I put rynges vppon thy fyngers, a chayne about thy necke, spanges vpon thy forehead, eare ringes vpon thyne eares, and set a beutyfull crowne vpon thyne heade. Thus wast thou decte wyth siluer and golde, and thy raymēt was of fyne whyte sylke, of nedle worck and of dyuerse colowres.

Thou dyddest eate nothing but symnels hony and oyle: maruelous goodlye wast thou and beutyfull, yea euen a very Quene wast thou. In so much that thy ☞ bewty was spoken of amonge the Heythen, for thou wast exellent in my bewtye, whych I put vpon thee sayeth the Lorde God: But thou hast put confidēce in thyne owne bewtye, and played the harlot when thou haddest gotten thee a name. Thou hast commynted whordom wyth al that weute by thee, and hast fulfylled theyr desyres: yea thou hast taken thy garmentes of dyuers couloures and deckte thy ne aultars therwyth, whearevpon thou myght fulfyl thyne whordom of suche a fashyon, as neuer was domme ner shalbe. The goodly ornamentes and Jewels whych I gaue thee of myne owne gold and syluer, hast thou taken, and made the mens ymages therof, and committed whordome with all.

Thy garmentes of diuers coloures hast thou taken, and dect them therwith myne oyle and icense hast thou set before them. My meate whych I gaue them as symnels oyle and hony: (to feade the, withall) that haste thou set before theme for a swete sauour. And this came also to passe, sayth the Lord God: Thou hast taken thyne owne sonnes and daughters whome thou haddest begotten vnto me, all these hast thou offred vp vnto them, to be theyr meate. Is thys but a small whordom of thyne (thinckest thou?) that thou slayest my chyldren, and geuest thē ouer to be brēt vnto thē? And yet in al thy abhominacions and whordomme, thou hast not remēbred the days of thy youth how naked and bare thou waste at that tyme, and troaden downe in thyne owne bloude. After all these thy wickednesses (wo wo vnto thee sayth the Lorde) thou hast buylded thy stewes and brodel houses in euery place ye at the head of euery streat hast thou buylded thee an aulter.

Thou haste made thy bewtye to be abhorred/ thou haste layed out thy legges to euery one that cameby, and multiplyed thyne whordome. Thou hast committed fornicacyon wᵗ the Egiptianes thy neyghboures, which had moche fleȳ and thus hast thou vsed thyne whoredome, to anger me.

Behold, I wyll stretche oute myne hande ouer thee, and wyll mynisshe thy stoare of fode, and delyuer thee ouer into the wylles of the phyllystines thyne enemyes whiche are ashamed of thy abhominable waye. Thou haste played the whor also with the Assiryas, whych might not satisfye the. Yea thou hast played the harlot, and not had ynough. Thus hast thou styll committed thy fornicacyon from the Lande of Canaan vnto the Chaldees, and yet thy lust not sanctifyed How should I circumcise thyne hert sayeth the Lord God, seyng thou doeste all these things, ȳ precious whore, buldīng the stewes at the heade of euery stret, ād thy brodell houses in al places? Thou haste not bene as an other whoore, that maketh boast of her wīnyng but as a wife that breaketh wedlocke, and taketh ōther in steade of her husband. Gyftes are geuen to all other whores, but thou geueste rewardes vnto all thy louers, and offreste them gyftes, to come vnto thee oute of all places, and to committe fornicacyon with thee. It is come to passe with thee in thy whordomes contrarye to the vse of other women, yea ther hath no suche fornication bene cōmytted after thee seyng that thou profredst gyftes vnto other, and no rewarde is geuen thee, thys is a contrary thynge.

Therfore heare the worde of the lorde, O thou harlot: thus sayeth the lorde God. Forso muche as thou haste spente thy monye, ād dyscouered thy shame, tho sow thy whordome wyth all thy louers, and wyth all the Idoles of thy abomina cyons in the bloud of thy chylderen whō thou hast geuen them: Beholde therfore

I wyl gather together all thy louers, vn to whome ÿ hast made thy self cōmon: ye and all them whome thou fauourest and euery one that thou hatest, and wyll dis-couer thy shame before them, that they al maye se thy fylthynes.

E Moreouer I wyl iudge thee as a bre
ker of wedlocke and a murtherer, and recompense the thyne own bloud in wrath and gelously. I wyll geue thee ouer into theyre power that shall breake downe thy stewes, and destroye thy brodell hou ses: they shal stryp the out of thy clothes all thy fayre and bewtifull Jewels shall they take from thee, and so let the sit naked and bare: yea they shall bringe thee commen people vpon thee. whyche shall stone thee ād slaye the downe with theyr swerdes. they shall burn vp theyr houses and punysh the in the syght of many wo men. Thus wyll I make thy whordome to ceasse, so that thou shalt geue out no mo rewardes.

Should I make my wrath to be stil?
take my gelousy from thee, be content ād
F no more to be dyspleased: seyng thou re-membrest not the dayes of thy youth but thou hast prouoked me to wrath in all these thynges: behold therfor, I wyll bri ge thyne owne wayes vpon thyne heade sayeth the Lorde God, Howbeit I neuer dyd vnto thee accordyng to thy wyc kednes and all thy abhompnacyons. Be holde, all they that vse cōmon prouerbes shal vse thys prouerbe also agaynst thee:
Suche a mother suche a daughter.

Thou arte euen thy mothers owne doughter that hath cast of her husband & her chylderen. Yea thou art the syster of thy systers, whych forsoke theyr husban des and theyr chylderen. Youre mother is a Cethyte, and your father an Ammo rit. Thyne eldest syster is Samaria, she and her doughters that dwell vpon thy left hande.

But thy youngest syster that dwelleth on thy tyght hande, is Sodoma ād her doughters. Yet haste thou not walc ked after theyr wayes, nor don after their abhominacions: but in all thy wayes ÿ hast bene more corrupt then they. As tru ly as I lyue, sayth the Lorde God; So-doma thy syster wyth her doughters, ha th not done so euel, as thou and thy dou ghters. Beholde, the synnes of thy sister Sodoma were these: Pryde, fulnes of meate, aboūdaūce & ydlenes: these thyn-ges had she and her doughters. Besydes that, they reached not theyre hande to the poore and nedye; but were proude and dyd abhominable thyngs before me, ther fore I toke them awaye, whē I had sene
it. Nether hath Samarya done halfe of thy synnes, yea thou hast exceaded thē in wyckednes: In so much that in comparison of all the abominacyons whych thou hast don, thou hast made thy systers good women.

As for theyr captiuitye. Namely the captiuitie of Sodoma and her doughters, the captiuyti of Samaria and her doughters, I wyll bringe them agayne so wyll I also bringe agayne thy capty uitie among them, that thou mayest take thyne owne confusyon vpon thee, and be ashamed of all that thou hast done, ād to comforte them. Thus thy systers, na mely Sodoma and her doughters, Sa maria and her doughters wyth thy selfe and thy daughters, shalbe brought agai ne to youre old estate. when thou waste in thy pryde, & before thy wickednes cam to lyght thou wouldest not here speke of thy syster Sodoma vntyl the tyme that the Syrians with al theyr townes, & the philystines, wythe all that lye rounde about theym brought thee to shame and confusyon that thou mightest bere thine owne fylthynes and abhominacions, say eth the Lorde.

For thus sayth the lord God: I shoul de (by ryghte) deale wythe thee as thowe haste done, thou haste dispysed the othe and broken the couenaunt. Neuertheles
I wyl remembre the couenant that I ha ue made wt thee in thy youth, in so much that it shalbe an euerlasting couenaunt so that thou also remembre thy wayes & be ashamed of thē; then shalt thou recea-ue of me thy elder & yonger systers whō
I wyll make thy doughters and that besyde the couenaunt. And so I wyll retine

Jere.xxxi.c, Hebre,viii,b nue my couenaunte wyth thee, that thou mayest knowe that I am the lord: that ỹ mayest thynck vpon it, be alhamed/ād excuse thyne owne confusyon no more: when I haue forgeuen thee/alỹ thou hast done, sayth the Lorde God.

nota to be ashamed and speke no more

The notes.

a ✱ Wherfore he vpbreadeth vnto the Jewes ỹ name of straunge nations is before layde in ỹ.i cha. of Esa.c

b ✱ Nauel may sygnyfy the delyres ād delectations of man, which ar heled by the word and fere of god: as it is said Prouer.iii.b, But feare the lord ād depart from euel, so shal thy nauel be whole.&c

The learned expound this whole sentence of the tribulation that Israel suffred in egipt & after amongest the Chaldes. After the deth of Joseph, when Pharao knew them not. Exody.i, were they most abiect and vyle, and no man had compassyon on them Then was the daye of their byrth. And in lyke case after the destruction of Jerusalem and in their imprisonment at Babylon. At both these tymes were they motherles and helpelesse, concerning the rowne strength: but were yet cared for of god and receaued by hys mercy, The prophet borroweth his fashion of speaking of the maner of mothers, after the byrth of their chyldren: which fyrst dresse ther naueles and wash thē with salt, & thē swedle thē, &c. Such helpe had Israel none in their aduersyties in Egipt and Babilon but laye ouerwhelmed in their fylthynes and myseryes, and were regarded as bal eardes and vnmotherly intreated of al men. There was no man but onli god that toke thought for thē or holpe them: & that dyd he only of his mere mercy, without any of theyr deserynges.

c ✱ By this bewty are sygnified the gyftes and graces that the Lord had geuen to his people, whiche neuertheles was an Idolatez and worshiped other goddes, or worshypped god after another maner ād waye then he had commaunded them: which thing is signified by theyr forny catyon, as in Esa, viii.b & after in the.xxii.a

The parable of the twoo Aegles sygnifyeth that Sedekiah which contrari to his oth had forsaken the frendshyp of Nabuchodonosor, turned hym selfe to the kyng of Egypte. and therfore perysshed In expo sityon of the parable. A prophecy of Chryst

The xvii. Chapter.

A THe worde of the lorde came vnto me, sayenge. Thou sõne of man put forth a darke speaking and a parable, vnto the house of Israell, and saye. Thus sayeth the Lorde God: There came a great a ✱ Aegle wyth greate wiges, ye wyth myghtie long wynges, and full of fethers of dyuerse coloures, vpon the mount of Libanus / and toke a braūche from a Cedre tree, and brake of the toppe of hys twygge, and caryed it into the lande of Canaan, and set it in a Cytye of marchauntes.

He toke also the braunch of the lande/ and planted it in a fruitful ground, he brought it vnto grete waters / and set it as a wyllye tree therby. Then did it growe, and was a greate vyne stocke, but lowe by the grounde: thus there came of it a vyne, and it brought forth blossomes, and spred out braunches.

But there was another Aegle, a greate one, which had greate wynges and many fethers: and beholde, the roates of thys vyne had an hunger after him, & spred out his braunches toward hym, to water his frutes: Neuertheles it was planted vpon a good ground besyde greate waters: so that (by reason) it shoulde haue brought out braunches and frut, and haue bene a goodly vyne. Speake thou therfore, thus saith ỹ lord god: Shal this vyne prospere: shal not his rotes be plucked out his frut be broken of, his grene braūches wythere and fade awaye: yea wout ether stronge arme or many peple, shal it be pluked vp by the rotes. Beholde, it was planted; shal it prospere therfore? Shal it not be dryed vp and withered, yea euē in the shuting of his blossomes, as soone as the east winde bloweth?

Moreouer, the word of the lord came vnto me sayng: Speake to that froward household: know ye not, what these thynges do sygnify? Tel thē: Behold, the kyng of Babilon came to Jerusalem, and toke the kynge and hys Princes, and ledd them to Babilon.

He toke of the kynges sede/ & made a couenaūt with hym, and toke an oth of hym: The Princes of the lande toke he wyth him also, that the land myght be holden in subiectyon/ and not to rebelle, but kepe the couenaunt, and fulfyl it. But he fel from him, and sent his Embassadoures into Egipte that he might haue horses and muche people. Shulde that prospere? Shuld he be kept safe, that doth such thyng as? Or should he escape, that breaketh his couenaunt? As truly as I lyue sayeth the Lord god: he shal dye at Babylon, in the place where the king dwelleth, ỹ made hym kynge: whose othe he hathe despysed, and whose couenaūt he hath broken. Neither shal Pharao wyth hys greate hoste and multitud of peple mayntayne him in the warre: When they cast vp dyches, and set vp bulwarkes to destroy muche people, for lenge he hath dispysed the othe and broken ỹ couenaunt (where as he yet gaue hys hande therupon) and done al those thinges, he shal not escape.

All, his

F Therfore thus sayeth the Lorde God: As truly as I lyue, I wyl bring myne othe that he hath despysed, & my couenaunte that he hath broken, vpon hys owne hand. I wyll cast my net aboute hym, and catche hym in my yarne. To Babylon wyl I carry hym, there wyl I punish hym, because of the greate offence that he made me. As for those that flé from him out of ỹ hoste, they shalbe slayne with the swearde. The residue shalbe scattered toward all the wyndes: And ye shall knowe, that I the Lorde haue spoken it.

Thus sayeth the lorde God: I will G also take* a braunche from an hie Cedre tree, and wyl set it and take the vppermost twygge, that yet is but tender and plant it vpon an hye hyl: Namely vpon the hye hil of Syon wyl I plãt it: that it maye bryuge forth twygges and geue frute, and be a greate Cedre tree: So that all maner of foules maye a byde in yt/and make theyr nestes vnder the shadowe of hys braunches.

And all the trees of the felde shall know that I the Lorde haue brought downe the hye tree, and set the low tree vp: that I haue dried vp the grene tre, and made the dry tree to florysche. Euen I the lord that spake it/haue also brought it to pas.

The notes

a *By this braunche vnderstand our ladye, and, by the hye Cedre tree the trybe of Juda, of whyche she came: by the vppermoste twygg is vnderstãd chryst: by the hyl of Sion is figured the church.

¶ He sheweth that euery man shal beare gis owne sonne. To hym that amendeth, is saluacyon promysed, Death is prophecyed to the rightwesse which turneth backe from the right waye

The.xviii. Chapter.

The worde of the lorde came vnto me, on thys maner: what meane yee by thys cõmon prouerbe, that yee vse in the lande of Israell saying: The fathers haue eatẽ soure grapes, and the chyldrens teth are set on edge. As truly as I lyue sayeth the lorde God, ye shall vse thys by worde nomore in Israel. I

Beholde, all soules are myne. Like as the father is myne, so is the sonne myne also. The soule that synneth, shal dye. If a man be godly, and do the thynge that is equal and right, he eateth not vpõ the hilles, he lyfteth not hys eyes vp to the Idols of Israel: he defyleth not his neyghbours wife he medleth with no menstruous womã he greueth no body: he geueth his detter his pledge agayne: he taketh none other mans good by violence: he parteth his meate with the hongrie: he clotheth the naked: he lendeth nothig vpon vsury: he taketh nothing ouer: he wdraweth his hande from doinge wrõg he handleth faithfully betwixt man & man: he walketh in my commaundementes and kepeth my lawes, and performeth them faithfully: This is a righteous man, he shal surely lyue sayeth the lorde god. B

If he now get a sonne, that is a murtherer, a sheder of bloude: yf he do one of these thinges (though he do not al) he eateth vp the hilles: he defileth his neighboures wife, he greueth the poore and nedy: he robbeth and spoyleth: he geueth not the detter his pledge agayne, he lyfteth vp his eyes vnto Idols, and medleth with abhominable thynges: he lendeth vpon vsurye/and taketh more ouer: Shal thys man lyue? He shal not lyue.

Seynge he hath done al these abhompnacions, he shal dye & his bloude shal be vpon him. C

Nowe yf thys manne get a sonne also/that seyeth all hys fathers sinnes, whyche he hath done: and feareth, neyther doth suche lyke: Namelye, he eteth not vpõ ỹ mountaynes: he lyfteth not hys

C Jeze. xxxi. e. ezech. xviii. a hys eyes vp to the Idoles of Israell: he defyleth not hys neighbours wife: he vexeth no man: he kepeth no mans pledge: he nether spoyleth, nor robbeth eny man, he dealeth hys meate wyth the hungrye: he clotheth the naked: he oppresseth not the poore: he receaueth no vsury, nor ani thynge ouer: he kepeth my lawes/ and walcketh in my cõmaundementes:

Thys man shal not dye in hys fathers synne/ but shall lyue wythout fayle. As for hys father: because he oppressed and spoyled hys brother, and dyd wyckedly amonge hys people, lo, he is deed in hys awne synne. And yet saye ye, Wherfore then shoulde not this sonne beare hys fathers synne? Therfor, be cause the sonne hath done equitie and ryght, & hath kept al my cõmaundementes, and done them, therfore shall he lyue in dede. The same soule that synneth, shall dye. The sonne shal not beare the fathers offence nether shal the father beare the sonnes offence. The ryghteousnes of ỹ ryghtuous shal be vpon hym, and the wyckednes of the wycked shalbe vpon hym selfe also. But yf the vngodly wyl turne awaye from al hys synnes that he hath done, and kepe all my commaundementes, and do the thynge that is equall and ryght. doutles he shal lyue, and not dye. As for all hys synnes that he dyd before, they* shal not be thought vpon: but in hys ryghteousnes that he hath done, he shal lyue. For, haue I eny pleasure in the death of a synner, sayth the Lord God: but rather that he conuerte, and lyue? Agayne. Yf the ryghteous turne away frõ hys ryghteousnes, and do iniquitee, according to all the abhominacyons, that the wycked man dothe, shall he lyue? All the ryghteousnes that he hath done, shal not be thought vpon, but in the faulte that he hath offended with al and in the synne that he hath done, he shall dye.

And yet say ye, Tush the waye of the F Lorde is not in dyfferẽt. Heare therfore ye house of Israel/ Is not my way ryghte? Or, are not youre wayes rather wycked? When a ryghteous man turneth awaye from hys ryghteousnesse, and medleth wyth vngodlynes: he muste dye therin. Yea, for the vnryghteousnesse that he hath done, must he dye. Agayne when the wycked man turneth away frõ his wickednesse that he hath done, & doth the thynge whiche is equall and ryghte, he shal saue hys soule alyue. For in so muche as he remembreth hym selfe and turneth hym from all the vngodlynesse that he hathe vsed, he shall lyue, and not dye.

And yet sayethe the house of Israell: G
Tush, the way of the Lord is not equal Are my wayes vnright, o ye house of Israel? Are not youre wayes rather vnequall? As for me, I wyll iudge euery mã according to hys wayes, O ye house of of Israell, sayethe the Lorde God. Wherfore be conuerted, and turne you cleane from all youre wyckednesse, so shall there no synne do to you harme. Cast away from you, all youre vngodlynesse / that ye haue done, make you new hertes, and a newe spyrete. Wherfore wyll ye dye, O ye house of Israell? seynge I haue noo pleasure in the death of hym that dyeth, sayth the Lord God? Turne you then ãd ye shall lyue.

The notes

a *Shall not be thought vpon. The sophysters haue a prope solucion for thys texte and suche lyke, which testifye that God so forgeueth that he wyll not after cal agayn hys forgeuenes and punishe. True it is (say they) God forgeueth the synne, but not the punyshement due vnto the synne. Seuen yeares punishemente (as they prate) muste we abyde in Purgatorye for euery synne, when it is forgeuen. If thys be not to mocke wyth God and hys holy worde, I wote not what is mockage. If God can and do (as they affyrme) geue me punyshement due vnto my synne, so that he nether geue me to much ner to lytle payne therfore, and yet not ons thynke on my synne, surelye he hath a wonderfull remẽbraunce. And that he wyll not thynche on it thereof doth here openly affyrme. By thys sophistry might the kynge geue a man hys pardon for theft and after hange hym vp. For he myght saye. Syr I for gaue youre theft but not youre hangynge whyche is due vnto your theft. Such pardon wolde they vse lothe to haue that fyrst ymagyned it. If the kynge whiche is but a man, be moare faythfull then to dealo with hys prysoners whome he forgeueth: How should god then whych is our heauenly father, and whych is euen goodnes it selfe, haue suche a subtel, fayned and vnperfect forgeuenes, that should after punysh e. But thereof wyll I nowe speake no more, least ye should happely smell, that thys solucion were ymagyned to pycke mens purses, throw masse pence, Dirige grotes, Trẽtales, Yeare myndes, moneth myndes &c. because that although God cã and maye forgeue synne, yet must suche thynges obtayn the forgeuenes of the punyshment due thervnto: Or that the prestes benefyces were not sufficiente for them to lyue on, without suche pyllage, or yet that the poore people could by any other meane be mycked from that thynge wherwyth they, their wyfes, theyr housholdes and Chyldren should lyue.

The xix. Chapter.

The captiuyte of Jehoahas & of Jehoiachin, is sig nifyed by the lyons whelpes, and by the lyon. He letteth out the prosperitie of the citye of Jerusalē that is paste and the myserye therof that is present

BUt mourne thou for the prīces of Israel, and saye: Wherfore layed thy mother that lyoneesse among the lyons and norysshed her yong ones amonge the lyons whelpes? One of her whelpes she brought vp, and it became a lyon: it lerned to spoyle, and to deuoure folke. The heathen herde of hym/ and toke hym in theyr nettes, ād brought hym in chaynes vnto the lande of Egypte.

Now when the damme sawe, that all her hope and comforth was awaye, she toke an other of her whelpes, and made a lyon of hym: which wente amonge the lyons/and became a fyerce lyon: learned to spoyle and to deuour folke: he destroyed theyr palaces, and made theyr cities waste. In so much that the whole lande, and euery thyng therin wer vtterly desolate, thorow the verye voyce of hys roa-
B ryng.

Thē came the heathen together on euery syde out of al countres agaynst hym/ layed theyr nettes for hym, and toke hym in their pytte. So they bounde hi wyth chaynes & brought hi to the kyng of babylon: whych put hi in prison, ỳ hys voyce shoulde no more be hearde vppon the mountaynes of Israell. As for thy Mother she is lyke a vyne in thy bloude, plāted by the waters syde: her frutes and braunches are growen oute of many waters: her stalckes were so strong, that mē myght haue made staues therof for offycers: she grue so hye in her stalckes.

So when men sawe that she exceaded the heyght and multytude of her braunches, she was roted out in displeasure & cast downe to the ground. The East wynde dryed vp her frute, her strounge
C stalckes were broken of/ wythered and brent in the fyre. But now she is planted in the wyldernesse/in a drye and thurstye grounde.

And ther is a fyer gone out of her stalkes which hath brent vp her braunches and her frute: so that she hathe no moo stronge stalckes, to be staues for offycers. Thys is a pytyous and miserable thinge.

¶ The Lord denieth that he will answere thē whē they pray, for ỳ offense of vnkindnes which he here obiecteth. He promiseth ỳ his people shal returne from captyuite. By the wodd that should be brent is signified the burning of Jerusalem.

¶ The. xx. Chapter.

IN the .vii. yeare the .x. daye of the .v. moneth, yt happened/that certaine of A the elders of Israel came vnto me, for to aske counsel at the Lorde, and sate them downe by me. Then came the worde of the Lorde vnto me on thys maner: Thou sonne of man: speake vnto the elders of Israel, and saye vnto them: Thus sayeth the Lord god: Are ye come hyther to aske any thinge at me? As truly as I lyue (sayeth the lorde) I wil geue you no answer.

Wylt thou not reproue them (thou sonne of mā) wylt thou not reproue them? Shewe theym the abhompynacyons of their forefathers, and tel thē: Thus sayeth the lord god: In the daye when I chose Israel, and lyfte vp myne hād vpon the sede of the house of Jacob/ and shewed my selfe vnto them in the lande of Egypte: Yea when I lyfte vp myne hande ouer theym, and sayde: I am the Lordes youre God, euen in the daye that I lyfte vp myne hande ouer them/ to breake them oute of the land of Egipt, into a lande that D I had prouided for them/which flow-eth with mylcke and honye/ and is a pleasaunte lande amonge all other.

Then sayde I vnto them: Cast awaye euerye Manne the abhompynacyones that he hath before hym, and defyle not youre selues wyth the Idolles of Egypte, for I am the lord your god.

But they rebelled agaynst e me/ and would not folow me: to cast awaye euery euery man the abhominacyons of hys eyes, and to forsake the Idoles of Egypte. Then I made me to poure my indygnacyon ouer them, and to satisfye my wrath vpon them: yee euen in the mydd est of the lande of Egypte. But I wolde not do it, for my names sake: that it shuld not be vnhalowed before ỹ Hethē amōge whom they dwelt, and amonge whom I shewed my self vnto them that I would bringe them out of the lande of Egypte. Now when I had caryed them out of the lande of Egypte, and brought them in to the wyldernesse: I gaue them my commaundementes, and shewed them my lawes: whych who so kepeth shall lyue in them. I gaue them also my holy dayes (to be a token betwixte me and thē) and ther by to know that I am the Lord, whych halowcth them. And yet the house of Israell rebelled agaynst me in the wyldernes. They would de not walcke in my commaundements, they haue caste awaye my lawes (whych who so kepeth) should lyue in them, and my Sabboth dayes haue they greatlye ℄ vnhalowed.

Then I made me to poure out my Indignacyon vppon them and to consume them in the wyldernesse, Yet I wolde not do it for my names sake: leaste it shoulde be dishonoured before the heathen from the whych I had caryed them away, but I swore vnto them in the wildernes, that I wolde not bring them in to the lande, whych I gaue them. A land that floweth wyth mylcke and hony, ād is a pleasure of all landes: and that because they refused my lawes, and walked not in my commaundementes, but had vnhalowed my Sabboths, for their hert was gone after theyr Idoles. Neuertheles myne eye spared them, so that I wolde not vtterlye slaye them and consume them in the wyldernes. Moreouer I saye vnto theyr sonnes in the wyldernesse walcke not in the statutes of youre forefathers, kepe not theyr ordynaunces ād defyle not your selfes with theyr ydoles for I am the Lorde your God. But walke in my statutes, kepe my lawes and do them, halowe my sabbothes: for they are a token betwyxte me and you, ỹ ye maye knowe how that I am the Lord.

Notwythstandynge, theyr sonnes rebelled agaynste me also: they walcked not in my statutes they kept not my lawes to fulfyl them (whych he that doth shal lyue in them) nether halowed they my Sabboth dayes. Then I made me agayne to poure out my indygnacion ouer thē and to satisfie my wrathe vppon them in the wyldernesse. Neuertheless I wythdrewe my hande for my names sake, lest it shuld be vnhalowed amonge the Heathē before whom I had brought them forth. I lyft vp myne hande ouer them also in the wyldernesse, that I wolde scatre thē amonge the Heathen, and strowe them amongthe nacyons: because they had not kepte my lawes, but cast aside my commaūdemētes, vnhalowed my sabbothes and lyft vp theyr eyes to theyr fathers Idoles. Wherfore I gaue them also commaundemētes not good, and lawes thorow the whych they shulde not lyue, and I vnhalowed them in theyr awne gyftes (when I appoynted for my selfe all theyr fyrstborne, to make thē desolate that they myght know, how that I am the Lorde

Therfore (O thou sonne of man) tel ℄
the house of Israel, thus sayeth the Lorde God: Beside all thys, youre forefathers haue yet blasphemed me more, and greatly offended agaynst me. For after I had brought them into the lande, that I promysed to geue thē, when they sawe euerye hye hyll and all the thycke trees: they made there, theyre Offrynges, and prouoked me wythe theyre oblacyons, makyng swete sauoures there and poured out theyr drinckoffringes. Then I asked them: what haue ye to do wyth all that ye go thyther: And therfore is it called the hye place vnto thys daye.

Wherfore, speake vnto the house of Israel: Thus sayeth the Lorde God Yee are euē as vnclene as youre forefathers and cōmytte whordome also wyth theyr abhominacyons. In all youre ydoles, where vnto ye bringe youre oblacyons: and to whose honour ye burne your chyldren: ye defile yourselues, euen vnto this daye, how darre ye then come/ and aske any question at me: O ye housholde of Israel:

As

As truly as I lyue (saieth the Lord God) ye get no answere of me: and as for the thynge that ye go about, it shal not come to passe, where as ye saye: we wyl be as the Heathē, and do as other people in the lande, wod and stone wil we worshippe.

As truly as I lyue saieth the Lord God, I my selfe wyll rule you wyth a myghtye hand, & a stretched out arme and with indignacio poured out ouer
F you: and wyl bringe you out of the nacyons and landes, wherin ye are scatered: ād gather you together & a mighty hande/with a stretched out arme & with indignacyō poured out vpō you: and wyl bringe you into the wylderness of the people, & there I wyl reason with you face to face. Like as I punyshed your forefathers i ꝑ wildernes so wyll I punishe you also/ saieth the Lorde god. I wyl bringe you vnder my iurysdictyon, and vnder the bonde of the couenaunt. The forsakers also and the transgressours wyll I take from among you, and bring them out of the lande of your habitacion: as for the lande of Israel, they shal not come in it/that they maye knowe, how that I am the Lord.

Go to now thē (saith the Lord god) ye house of Israel, cast awaye, and de-Ezec.xxi.d Ezec.xiiii.u stroye euerye manne his Idoles: then shal ye here me, and nomore blaspheme my hole name with your offrynges and Idoles. But vpon my holy hill, euen vpon the hye hyl of Israel shall all the house of Israell and al that is in the lande, worshippe me: and in the same place wyl I fauour thē and there wyl I requyre your heauy of frynges/and the fyrst fyndinges of your oblacyons, wyth al youre holye thynges.

Deuter.xii.a xiiii.b

I wyl accepte your swet sauoure when I bring you from the nacyons/ and gather you to gether out of the lādes, wherin ye be scatered: that I maie be halowed in you before the Heathen
G and that ye maye know, that I am the Lorde, whiche hath brought you into the lande of Israell: yea into the same land, ꝑ I swore to geue vnto your fore fathers. There shal ye call to remembraunce your owne wales and al your ymaginacions, wherein ye haue bene defyled: and ye shalbe displeased wyth youre owne selues, for al your wickednes, that ye haue done. And ye shall know that I am the Lord: when I entrete you after my name, not after your wicked wayes, nor accordinge to youre corrupt workes: O ye house of Israell saieth the lord.

Moreouer, the word of the lord cāe vnto me, saynge, thou sonne of man/ set thy face toward the south, and speke to the south wynd and saye to the wod toward the south: Heare the word of ꝑ Lord, thus saith the lord god: Behold I wyl kindle a fyre in thee that shal cō sume thee *greene trees withe ꝑ Dye No mā shalbe able to quēch his flame but al that loketh *from the southe to the north, shalbe brent therein: and all flesh shal se that I the Lord haue kyndled it, so that no man maye quenche it. Then sayde I: O Lord/ they wyl sate of me. Tush, they are but fables/ that he telleth.

The notes.

a* By the grene trees vnderstand the sayntes & holy ones, and by the dri, symers: so that the godly shal by death escape captiuite, and ꝑ wicked be sēd vnto euerlasting payne.

b* From the southe to the north, that is, from Jerusalem to babylon.

¶ He threateneth the swerd, that is to saie, destruction to the cytie of Jerusalem. He sheweth the fall of kyng zedekiah. He is commaunded to prophecy the destruction of the children of Ammon. After the slaughter of other, at the last the Lord threateneth death vnto Nabuchodonosor himselfe.

¶ The .xxi. Chapter.

THe worde of the Lord cam vnto me/ saynge: Thou sonne of man, set thy face towarde Jerusalem, speke agaynst the Sanctuary, & prophecy ag aynst the land of Israel: saye to the lande of Israel: Thus sayeth the Lord God: Beholde/ I wyl vpon thee/ and wyl drawe my sweard out of the sheth, and rote out of the both ꝑ ryghtuous and the wycked/ therefore shal my swearde go out of his sheathe agaynst al flesche from the north to the south that al flesh maye know, howe ꝑ I the Lorde haue drawen my swearde out of the sheath, and it shal not be put in agayne.

Moreouer

B Mourne therfore (O thou sone of man) that thy loynes crack with al, ye mourne bytterly for them: And yf thei saye wher fore mournest thou, Then tell them, for the tydynges that cõmeth, at the whych all hertes shall melt, all handes shallbe letten downe/all stomackes shal faynte, and all knees shall waxe feble. Beholde, it cõmmeth and shalbe fulfylled, sayeth the Lorde God.

Agayne the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saynge: Thou sonne of man, prophecye, and speake: Thus sayeth the Lorde God: speake, the swearde is sharpened and well scoured. Sharpened is it for the slaughter, and scoured that it maye be bryght. a* O, the destroyẽge C staf of my sonne, shall brynge downe all wodde. He hath put hys swearde to the dyghtynge, that good holde maye be taken of it. Thys swearde is sharpened and dyght, that it maye be geuẽ in to the hande of the man slayer. Cri (O thou sonne of man) and howle, for thys swearde shall smyte my people, and all the rulers in Israel/whych wyth my people shall be slayne downe to the grounde thorow thys swearde. Smyte thou vpon thy thyghe, for wherfore shuld not the plage and staf of iudgmẽt come? Prophecye thou sonne of man, and smyte thine D Handes together: make the swearde two edged, yea make it three edged, that manslayers swearde, that sweard of the grate slaughter, whych shal smyte them, euen in theyr preuye chambres: to make them abasshed and faynte at the hertes, and in all gates to make sõ of them fall. O how bryght and sherpe is it, how wel dyght and mete for the slaughter. Gette thee to some place alone, eyther vpon ỹ the ryght hande, or on the lefte, whether soeuer thy face turneth. I wyl smyte my hãdes together also ãd satisfy my wroth full indignacyon. Euen I the Lorde haue sayd it.

The worde of the Lord came yet vn to me agayne sayenge: Thou sonne of manne, make thee twoo streates, that the swearde of the KYNGE of Babylone maye come. Bothe these streates shall goo oute of one Lande. Hee shall sette hym vp a Place, at the heade of the streate shall hee chose hym oute a corner.

Make the a streate, that the swerde may come toward Rabah of the Ammonytes and to the strong Cytie of Jerusalem. for the Kynge of Babylon shall stande in the turnynge of the way, at the heade of these two stretes: to aske councell at the sothsayers, castynge the lottes wythe hys arowes, to aske counsell at the Idoles, and to loke in the lyuer. But the sothesaynge shall poynte to the ryghte syde vpon Jerusalem, that he maye set me of warre, to smyte it with a greate noyse to crye oute Alarum/ to set batell Rammes agaynste the geates, to graue vp dytches, and to make thee bulwarckes.

E Leuit.xix.f and xx.a. Deu.xviii.b

Neuertheles/as for the sothsaying/ they shall holde it but for vanytye/ euen as though a iest were told them: yea and they them selues remembre theyr wickednes, so that by ryght they muste be taken and wonne. Therfore sayeth the Lorde F God. For so muche as ye youre selues shewe youre offence, and haue opened youre wickednes so that in all your workes men maye se youre synnes: ye a in so muche (I saye) that ye youre selues haue made mencion therof ye shalbe taken by vyolence.

O thou shamefull wycked gyde of Israell whose daye is come: euen the tyme that wickednesse shall haue an ende: Thus sayeth the Lorde God: take away the myzze/and put of the crowne, and so is it awaye: the humble is exalted, and ỹ proude brought lowe. Punysh, punyshe yea punysh them wyl I, and destroy thẽ and that shall not be fulfylled vntyll hee come, to whome the iudgemente belongethe, and to whoome I haue geuen it And thou (O sonne of manne) prophecy, and speake.

Thus sayeth the Lorde GOD to the Chylderen of Ammon and to theyr blasphemye, speake thou: The swearde, the swerd, is drawẽ forth alredy to ỹ slaughter and scoured that it glystreth, because thou haste looked thee oute vanytyes, and Prophecyed lyes, that it may come vppon thy Necke/lyke as vppon the other Ungoddlye, whyche bee Slayne

Jerem.xlix.c Ezech.xxi.a Amos.i,c: G whose

whose day came, when theyr wickednesse was full.

Though it were putt̄ agayne into the sheake: yet wyll I punysshe thee/ in the lande where thou wast norysshed and borne, and poure my indignacō vpon thee & wyl blow vpon thee in the fyre of my wrath, and delyuer the vnto cruell people, which are lerned to destroye.
Thou shalte fede the fyre and the bloude shall be shedde in the Lande / that thou mayest be putte oute of remembraunce.
Euen I the Lorde haue spoken it.

The notes

a* Some reade: shall we reioyse our selues: he despiseth the staffe of my sonne, and al wod. The caldees readeth, the trybe of my sonne: that is to saye: the tribe of Juda. Or shall the staffe of my sonne despyse all wood: That is, shall the trybe of Juda despyse all the other.

¶ The worde of the Lorde agaynst Jerusalem for man slaughter, and geuynge due honour vnto theyr fathers & mothers, and other wickednes; Of the wicked doctryne of the false prophetes and pyrestes, & of theyr vnsaciable couetousnes. The tyranny of rulers. The wyckednes of the people:

The.xxii. Chapter.

A MOreouer, the worde of the Lord came vnto me/ and sayd: Thou Sonne of man/ wylte thou not reproue thys bloudthyrsty cytie? Shew them theyr abhominacyons, and tel the: Thus sayth the Lorde God; O thou cytie/ that sheddest bloude in the myddeste of thee, that thy tyme maye come also: and makest thee Idoles to defyle thee wyth all. Thou haste made thy selfe gylty, in the bloude that thou hast shed: and defyled thee in the Idoles whiche thou haste made. Thou hast caused thy dayes to drawe nye, & made the tyme of thy yeares to come. Therfore wyl I make thee to be
B confounded among the heathen, and too be despysed in al the lādes whether they be nye or farre from the/ they shall laugh thee to scorne, thou that haste gotten thee so foule a name/ and art full of myschef. Behold/ ỹ rulers of Israel haue brought euery man hys power, to shed bloude in thee. In the haue they dispysed father ād Mother/ in thee haue they oppressed the straunger/ in thee haue they vexed ỹ widowe and the fatherles. Thou hast despised my sanctuary ād vnhallowed my Sabboth. Murtherers ar ther in thee/ that shede bloude/ and eate vpon the hylles, and in thee they vse vnhappynesse.
In thee haue they dyscouered their fathers shame, in the haue they vexed womē in theyr syckenesse. C Euery man hath dealte shamfully wyth hys neyghbours wyfe, and abhominably defyled hys daughter in lawe. In thee hath euery man forced hys awne syster, euen hys fathers daughter: yea gyftes haue bene receaued in thee, to shede bloud. Thou hast taken vsury and encrease, thou hast oppressed thy neighbours by extorcion, and forgotten me, sayeth the Lorde God. Beholde/ I haue smytten* my handes vpon thy couetousnesse, that thou hast vsed, and vpon the bloude whych hath bene shed in thee. Is thy herte able to endure it, or may thy handes defende them selues in the tyme that I shall bringe vpon thee? Euen I the Lorde that speake it, wyll bryng it also to passe. I wyll scatre thee among the Heathē, and strow the about in the Landes, and wyll cause thy fylthynesse to ceasse out of thee: yea, and I wyll haue the in possessyon in the syght of the Heathen, that thou mayest knowe, that I am the Lorde.

And the worde of the Lorde came vn
D to me, saynge: Thou sonne of man, the house of Israel is turned to drosse. All they that should be brasse, tynne, yron, & leade, are in the fyre becom drosse. Therfore, thus sayeth the Lorde God: For so moche as ye all are turned in to drosse, beholde: I wyll bringe you together vn to Jerusalem, lyke as syluer, brasse, yrō, tynne and leade are put together in the fourhace, and the fyre blowē there vnder to melt them: Euen so wil I gather you put you in together, and melt you in my wrath and indygnacyon. I wyll bringe you together, and kyndle the fyre of my cruell displeasure vnder you, that ye maye be melted therin.
Lyke as the syluer is melted in the fyre so shal ye also be melted therin: that yee maye knowe, how that I the Lorde haue poured my wrath vpon you.

And the worde of the Lorde came vnto me saynge: Thou sonne of man, tell her her: Thou art an vncleane lãd, which is not rayned vpon in the daye of the cruel wrath: the Prophetes that are in ỹ, are swozne together to deuoure soules, lyke as a roarynge Lyon, that lyeth by his praye. They receaue ryches and good, and make manye widdowes in thee. Thy prestes breake my law, & defile my Sanctuary. They put no difference betwene ỹ holy & vnholy neyther discerne betwen the clean & vncleane: they turne their eyes fro my sabbothes, & I am vnhalowed amõg them. Thy rulers in thee are like rauyshyng wolues, to shede bloude, and to destroy soules, for their owne couetous lucre.

Deu, vi.

nota thy prophets brek my lawe.

As for thy Prophetes, they dawbe with vntempred clyaye/they se vanityes, & prophecy lyes vnto them/satynge: the Lorde god sayeth so/ where as ỹ Lord hath not spoken. The people in ỹ land vseth wicked extortyon and robbery. They vexe the poore and nedy and oppresse the straunger agaynst ryght. And I sought in the lande for a man/ that wolde make vp the hedge/and set hym selfe in the gappe before me in the landes behalfe, that I shoulde not vtterly destroy it: but I could find none. Therfore wyl I poure oute my cruell displeasure vpon them, and burne thẽ in ỹ fyre of my wrath: their owne wayes wil I recompense vpon their hedes saieth the lord god.

nota hypocrytes prophesy lyes

The notes.

* That is to wyt in token of greate wofulnes.
¶ Of the fornicatiõ, that is to saye, of ỹ Idolatry of Samaria & Jerusalẽ, vnder ỹ names of Oholah & Oholibah. In comparision of Samaria he sheweth that ỹ fornicatiõ of Jerusalẽ is ỹ filthier. The destructyon of Jerusalẽ is prophesied: The aduoutry of both the whores is founde out. Their destruction.

¶ The .xxiii. Chapter.

A Exõ. xx. e

THe word of the Lord came vnto me/satynge: Thou sõne of mã, there were two wemẽ, that had one mother These (whẽ they were yõge begonne to playe the harlottes in Egipt. There were their breastes broused and the pappes of their maydenheade destroyed. The eldest of them was called * Oholah and her yongeste sister ỹ * Oholibah. These two were mine, & bare sonnes and daughters. Their names were, Samaria, and that was Oholah: and Jerusalẽ, & that was Oholibah. As for Oholah she begonne to go a whoryng, when I had takẽ her to me. She was set on fyre vpon her louers the Assirians, whiche had to do wt her, euen the prynces & lordes, that were decked in costly araye: faire yong men, lusty ryders of horses. ¶ B

Thus thorow her whordome, she cleued vnto al the yonge men of Assyria: Yea she was madde vpon them, and defyled her selfe with al their Idoles. Neyther ceassed she from the fornycacyon, that she vsed with the Egtpcyans: for in her youth they lay wyth her they broused the breastes of her maydẽhead/and poured their whordom vpõ her. Wherfore, I delyuered her into ỹ handes of her louers/euen the Assyryans, whom she so loued. These discouered her shame, toke her sõnes & daughters, and slew her with the sweard: An euel name gat she of al people, ãd they punyshed her.

Her syster Oholibah sawe this, & destroyed her selfe wt inordynate loue, more then she/and exceaded her syster i whordome: she loued the Assirians (whiche also laye with her) namely, the prynces & greate lordes, that were clothed wt all maner of gorgeous apparrel, all lusty horsmen and fayre yong personnes. ¶ Then I sawe, that they both were defiled alyke. C

But she increased styl in whordõe For when she sawe men painted vpon the wall, the ymages of the Chaldees set forth with fresh colours, wyth faire gyrdles aboute them, and goodlye bonettes vpon their heades, lokynge al lyke Prynces (after the maner of the Babylonyans and Caldees in their owne lande, where they be borne) immediatly, as soone as she sawe them, she brent in loue vpõ thẽ/and sent messaungers for them into the lande of ỹ Caldees.

Nowe whẽ ỹ Babylonyans came to her, they laye wyth her/ and defyled her with their whordome, and so was she polluted wyth them.

And

And when her lust was abated frō thē, her whordome and shame was discouered and sene: then my herte forsoke her lyke as my herte was gone from her syster also. Neuertheles she vsed her whordome euer the lenger the more/ & remembred ỹ dayes of her youth/ wher in she had played the harlot in the lād of Egipt: she brent in lust vpon them, whose flesh was like the flesh of Asses, and their lead lyke the sede of horses.

Thus thou hast renued the fylthy nesse of thy youth/ when thy louers brosed thy pappes, and matred thy breastes in Egypt.

Therfore (O Oholibah) thus sayeth the Lorde god) I wyll rayse vp my louers (with whom thou hast satisfiedthi lust) agaynste the, and gather them together rounde about the: namely, the Babilonians, and al the caldees: Pecod/ Schoa and Coa, with al the Assyrians: al yonge and fayre louers: prynces and lordes, knyghtes and gentylmen, which be al good horsemē: These shal come vpon the with horses, charrettes, and a greate multitude of people which shalbe harnessed aboute the on euery side/ with brestplates, sheldes & helmettes. I wyll punische thee before them, yea they them selues shal punish thee, according to their owne iudgmēt I wyl put my gelosy vpō thee/ so that they shal deale cruelly with thee. They shal cut of thy nose and thyne eares, & the remnaūt shal fal thorow the swerd They shal cary awaye thy sonnes and daughters, & the residue shalbe brent in the fyre. They shal stryp the oute of thy clothes/ād cary thy costly Jewels awaye with them.

Thus wyl I make an end of thy filthynes and whordome/ which ỹ hast brought out of the lande of Egypt: so that thou shalte turne thyne eyes no more after them/ and easte thy mynde nomore vpon Egipt.

For thus sayth the Lord: behold/ I wyl delyuer thee into the hādes of thē whō thou hatest: yea euen in the handes of them/ with whome thou hast fulfylled thy lust, which shal deale cruelly with the. Al thy labour shal they take with them that leaue the naked and bare, & thus the shame of thy filthy whordom shal come to lyght. All these thynges shall happen vnto thee, because of thy whordome, wich thou hast vsed amōg the Gentyls, with whose Idoles thou hast defyled thy selfe. Thou hast walked in the waye of thy syster/ therfore wyll I geue thee her cuppe in thy hande.

Thus sayeth the lorde God: Thou shalt dryncke of thy systers cuppe, how depe and far soeuer it be to the bottom Thou shalt be laughed to scorne & had as gretely ī derisiō, as is possible: thou shalt be ful of dronkēes & sorow, for ỹ cuppe of thy sister Samaria is a cup of destruccion and wastynge: the same shalt thou drincke, and suppe it out euen to ỹ dragges, yea ỹ shalt eate vp ỹ brokē peces of it, & so teare thyne owne brests: For euen I haue spoken it, sayeth the lorde god. 6

Therfore thus sayeth the Lorde god: For so much as thou hast forgotten me/ and cast me a syd, so beare now thyne owne fylthynes and whordome.

The Lorde sayde moreouer vnto me: Thou sonne of man wylt thou not reproue Oholah and Oholibah? Shew them their abominacyons: namely, ỹ they haue broken their wedlock, & stayned their handes with blood: yea euen wt their Idoles haue they committed aduoutry, and offred them their owne childzen (to be deuoured) whome they had borne vnto me.

Yea and this haue they done vnto me also they haue defyled my Sanctuary in that same daye, and haue vnhalowed my sabboth. For when they had slayne their childzen for their Idoles, they came the same daye into my Sanctuary to defyle it.

Lo, thys haue they done in my house Beside al this/ thou sent thy messangers for men oute of farre countrees/ and when they came hast bathed, & immed and set forthe thy selfe of the best fashion: Thou settest vpon a goodly bed, and a table spred before the: where vpon thou hast set myne incense and myne oyle.

Then was there greate cheare: wh vpon theyr handes, & set glorious crownes vpon theyr heades: then thoughte I no doubte, these men wyll vse theyr harlotry also wyth yonder olde whore. And they went into her: as vnto a common harlot: Euen so went they also to Oholah and Oholibah those fylthye women.

Leuit.xx.b Ezech:xvi,d

O ye all that loue vertue and rygh-tuousnes/iudge them, punysh them, as aduouterers and Murtherers ought to be iudged and punyshed. For they are breakers of wedlocke/& the bloude is in their handes. Wherfore thus sayeth the Lord God: bringe a great multitude of people vpon them, and make them be scattered and spoyled: These shall stone them, and goare them wyth theyr swordes. They shall slaye theyre sonnes and doughters, and burne vp theyr houses wyth fyre.

Thus wyll I destroye all suche fylthynes oute of the lande: that all women may lerne, not todo after your vnclenes. And so they shall laye youre fylthynesse vpon your owne selues, and ye shalbe punyshed for the synnes, that ye haue committed with youre Idoles: and ye shall knowe that I am the Lorde.

Eze,xviii,a: Ezech,xi,b.

Theprouerb of the fryenge pot.

They proueth the fryeng of Jerusalem by a parable of a fethynge potte. The parable of Ezechyels wife beynge deade, whych he after expounde th.

The.xxiiii. Chapter.

AN the.ix.yeare, in the.x. moneth, the.x.daye of the Moneth, came the woorde of the Lorde vnto me, sayinge:

O thou sonne of man, wryte vp the name of thys day, yea euen ỹ hour of thys presente daye: when the kynge of Babylon set him self agaynst Jerusalem Shewe that obstinate household a parable, and speake vnto them: Thus sayeth the Lorde God: Get thee a potte, set it on and poure water vnto it: put all the peces togethet in it, al the good peces: the loyne and the shoulder, and fyll it wyth the best bones. Take one of the beste sheape, and an heap of bones withall let it boyle well and let the bones sethe well therin.

B Naum,iii,c, Aqacur,ii.a,

Wyth that sayde the Lorde God on thys maner: Woo be vnto the bloudy cyty of the potte, whervpon the rustynes hangeth, and ys not yet scoured away. Take oute the peaces that are in it, one after another: there neade not lottes to be caste therfore, for the bloude is yet in it. Upon a playne drye stone hath she pourcd it, & not vpon the ground, that it myght be couered wyth dust. And therfore haue I letten her poure her bloude, vpon a playne drye stonye rocke, because it shoulde not be hyd, ād that I myght bryng my wrath full indygnacyon and vengeaunce vpon her.

C

Wherfor/thus sayth the Lord god: Wo, wo be vnto that bloudthyrstye cytye/ for whom I wyll prepare a heape of wod beare thou the bones together/kyndle ỹ the fyre sethe the flesshe, let al be well sodden, that the bones maye be sucte oute. Moreouer/set the pot emptye vppon the coales, that it may be warme, and the metell hote: that the fylth and rustynes may be consumed. But it wyll not go of, there D is so muche of it/ỹ rustynes must be brēt oute. Thy fylthynes is abhominable, for I would haue clensed thee/but thou woldest not be clensed. Thou canst not be purged from thyne vnclennesse, tyll I haue poured my wratfull indignacion vpon ỹ Euen I the Lorde haue so deuised: Yea, it is come therto alreadye, that I wyll do it. I wyll not go backe, I wyll not spare, I wyll not bee intreated but accordynge to thy wayes and Imaginacyons, thou shalt be punyshed, sayth the Lorde God.

E

And the woorde of the Lorde cam vnto me sayinge: Thou sonne of man, beholde I wyll take awaye* the pleasure of thyne eyes with a plage: yet shalt thou neyther mourne, nor weape/nor water thi chekes therfore: thou mayest mourne by thy selfe alone/ but vse no deadly lamentacyon. Holde on thy bonet/and put on thi shues vpon thi fete couer not thy face/and eate no mourners bred. So I spake vnto the people by tymes in the morynge, and at euē mi wyfe dyed, then vpon the next morow, I dyd as I was commaunded. And the people sayde vnto me: wylt thou not tell vs/what that signifieth, which thou doest? I answered them, the woorde of the Lorde came vnto me, sayinge. Tel the house of Israel, thus sayeth the Lorde god: beholde I wyll suspende my sanctuary, euen the glory of your power, the pleasure of your eyes, and the thinge that ye loue: youre sonnes and daughters whom ye haue left/ shal fal thorow the swerde.

F

Like as I haue done/ so shal ye do also Ye shal not hid your faces, ye shal eate no mourners bred: your bonnettes shal ye haue vpon your heades, and shoes vpon your fete. Ye shall nether morne ner wepe, but in your sinnes ye shalbe sorouful, and one repent with another Thus Ezechiel is your shewtoken. For loke as he hath done, so, when this commeth) ye shal do also: that ye may lerne to know that I am the Lord God.

But beholde, O thou soune of manne

G In the daye when I take from them their power, their ioye and honoure) ye luste of their eyes, the burthen of their bodyes: namely/ their sonnes and daughters: Then shal there one escape and come vnto thee, for to shew thee. In that daye shal thy mouth be opened/ to them wh che is escapped that thou mayeste speake, and be no more dom me: Yea and thou shalt be their shew token, that they maye know, how that I am the Lord.

The word of ye Lord vpon the sonnes of Ammō which reioyced at the fal of Jerusalē. Against Moab or Moec. Against Idumea. Agaynst ye Philystines

The .xxv. Chapter.

The worde of the lord came vnto me, saying: Thou sōne of man/ set thy face agaA ezec.xxi.d, Jere.xlix.a vnst the Amonites, prophecye vpon them, and say vnto the amonites: heare the word of the Lord god. Thus sayeth the Lord god: For so much as thou speakest ouer my Sanctuary. Aha/ I trow it be nowe suspended: and ouer the lande of Israel, I trow it be now desolate: yea and ouer the house of Juda/ I trow they be now led awaye prisonets: Behold, I wyl delyuer the to the people of the east, that they maye haue in possession these shal set their castels and houses in the. They shal eate thy frute, and drincke vp thy milcke. As for

* That is Philadelphia *Rabath, I wil make of it a stal for camels, and of Ammon a shepfolde: and ye shal know, that I am the lord.

For thus sayeth the Lord god: In

B so muche as thou haste clapped wyth thine handes, and stamped with ye fete, yee reioyced in thyne herte ouer ye land of Israel wtch despyte: beholde, I wil stretch out myne hande ouer thee also, & delyuer thee, to be spoyled of ye Heathē, and rote thee out from among the people, and cause thee to be destroyed oute of al landes: yea I wyl make thee to be layde waste, that thou mayest know, ye I am the Lord. Esay.xv.xvi Esa.xlviii,a Sopho,ii,b

Thus sayeth the lord god: For so much as Moab and Seir do saye: As for the house of Juda, it is but like as al other Gentiles be; Therfore behold I wyl make the cityes of Moab weapenlesse, and taken awaie their strēgth their cytyes and cheke coastes of their land, which are the pleasures of the cōtre: As namely. Bethiesimoth, Baalemeon and Cariathaim: these wyll I open vnto them of the easte, ye they mate fall vpon the Ammonites: & wyll geue it them in possession: so that the Ammonites shal nomore be had in remembraunce among the Heathen. Eue thus wyl I punish Moab also, ye they maye knowe, how ye I am ye lord. C

Moreouer, thus sayeth the Lorde god: Because that Edom hath auēged and eased hym selfe vpon the house of Juda, therfore thus sayeth the Lorde: I wyl reach out myne hand vpon Edō and take awaye man and beast out of it. From Theman vnto Dedan wyl I make it desolat, they shalbe slayn wt ye swerd. Thorow my peple of Israel will I auenge me again vpon Edom: they shal hādle hym, accordeig to my wrath & indignacion, so that they shal know my vengeaunce, sayeth the lord god. Esay.xxxiiii& Jerem,xix.b Ezec,xxxii,e & xxxv,a Psal,cxxxvie Gene,xxxv,d i, Mach:v,a

Thus sayeth the Lord god: For as much as the Philistines haue done this D namely taken vengaunce wt dispitful stomackes, and of an olde euel will sett them selues to destroye: Therfore thus sayeth the Lorde god: Beholde, I wyl stretche out myne hand ouer the Philistines, and destroye the destroyer, and cause al the remnaunt of the sea coaste to perysh. A greate vengeauce wyll I take vpon them, and punish them cruelly that they maye knowe, how that I am the lord, which haue auenged me of them.

He

The prophecyeth that tyrus shalbe ouerthrowen because it reioyced at ỹ destruction of Jerusalem. The wondring and astonishment of the marchauntes, for the desolation of Tyrus.

The xxvi. Chapter.

A IT happened/ ỹ in the.xi. yeare the fyrst daye of the Moneth, the word of the Lord cam vnto me, sayynge: thou sonne of man, because that Tyre hath spoken vpon Jerusalem: A ha/ nowe I trow the portes of the people be brokē/ and she turned vnto me, for I haue destroyed my helpfull. Yea therfore sayeth the Lorde God: Beholde O Tyre I wyll vpon thee, I wyl bryng a greate multytude of people against thee, lyke as when the sea aryseth with his waues: These shal breake the walles of Tyre / and caste downe her towres: I wil scrape the grounde from her and make her a bare stone: yea as the dryenge place where the fyshers hang vp their nettes by the seaside. Euen I haue spoken it, sayeth the lord God.

B The gētils shal spoyle her: her daughters vpon the felde shall perish wt the sweard, that they maye know howe ỹ I am the lord.

For thus sayeth the Lord god: Behold, I wyl bringe hither Nabuchodonosor (which is the Kyng of Babylō/ & a Kyng of Kynges from the north) vpon Tyre, with horses, charettes, horsmē and wyth a grete multitude of people. The daughters that are in the lande/ shal be slaye with the sweard: but against thee, he shal make bulwarkes and graue vp dyches about thee, and lyfte vp hys shylde agaynst thee.

Hys slynges and batelrammes shal he prepare for thy walles, ād wyth his weapens breake downe thy towres. The dust of his horses shal couer thee they shalbe so many: thy walles shall shake at the noyse of the horsemen, charettes and wheles: when he commeth to thy portes, as men do in to an open cytie. With the hoffes of hys horsse fete, shal he treade doun al thy stretes.

C He shall slaye thy people with the sweard/ and breake downe the pyllers of thy strength. They shal waste awaye thy ryches, and spoyle thy marchaundyse. Thy walles shal they breake downe, and destroye thy houses of pleasure. Thy stones, thy tymbre and foūdacyons shal they cast in the water. Thus wyl I bryng the melody of thy songes/ andỹ voyce of thy mynstrelsy to an ende/ so that they shall nomore be herd. I wil make a bare stone of the/ yea a dryeng place for nettes/ & shalt neuer be buylded agayne. For euen I the Lord haue spoken it/ sayth the Lord God: thus hath the lord god spoken concerning Tyre. The Iles shall be moued at the noyse of thy fal/ and at the crye of the slayne/ that shal be murthered in thee: All kinges of the sea shal come downe from their seates regal: they shal laye awaye their robes and put of their costly clothing. Yea with tremblig shal they be clothed, they shal syt vpon the grounde: they shal be afraied at thy sodeu fal, and be abashed at thee.

They shal mourne for thee, and say vnto thee: O thou noble cite, that hast bene so greately occupied of olde, thou D that hast bene the strongest vpon ỹ sea wt thine inhabitours, of whome al mē stode in feare: How art thou now so vterly destroyed? Now at the tyme of thy fal the inhabitours of the Iles/ yea and the Iles them selues, shal stand in feare at thine ende. For thus sayeth ỹ Lord God: whē I make thee a desolate citie (as other cities be that nomā dwel in) & when I bryng the depe vpon ỹ that greate waters mate couer thee, thē wil I cast the doun vnto them, that descende into the pitte vnto a people that hath bene longe dead, and set thee in a lande that is beneth, lyke the olde wildernes wt thē which go doune to their graues, so that no man shal dwel more in thee. And I wil make thee to be no more in honour, in the land of the liuing I wyll make an ende of thee/ and thou shalt be gone. Though thou be sought for, yet shalt thou not be found forever more, sayeth the Lord god.

C The Prophet is moued to bewaile the desolacyō of Tyrus. He setteth out the praise of Tirus for the hauntyng of marchauntes therto.

The. xxvii. Chapter.

A THe worde of the Lord came vnto me, saynge. O thou sonn of man, make a lamen table cō playute vpon Tire, and saye vpon Tyre, whych is a porte of the see, that occuppeth wyth moch people, and many Iles: thus speaketh the Lorde God: O Tyre, thou hast sayd: what? I am a noble cytye: thy borders are in the myddest of the see, and thy buylders haue made the maruelous goodly. All thy tables haue they made of Cypre trees of the mount Sanyr. From Lybanus haue they taken Cedre trees, to make the maste: and the Okes of Basan to make the rowers.

Thy boordes haue they made of yuery, and of costly wod out of the Ile of Cethym Thy sayle was of whyte small nedle worcke out of the lande of Egypt, B to hange vpon thy mast: and thy hangynges of yolow sylcke purple, out of the Iles of * Elysah. They of Sydon and Arnad were thi mariners, and the wisest in Tyre were thy shyppmasters. The eldest and wysest at Gebal were they, that mended and stopped thi shyppes. All shyppes of the see wyth their shipmen occuppyed their marchaūdyes in the. The Perses, Lydians and Lybiās were in thyne hoost, and helped the to fyght: these hanged vp theyr shyldes and helmettes wyth the, these set forth thy bewty. They of Arnad were wyth thyne hoost rounde about thy walles, and were thy watchmen vpon thy towres, these hāged vp theyr shyldes round aboute thy walles, and made thee maruelous goodly. Thatsys occuppyed wyth the i all maner of wares, in sylver, yron, tynne and lead, C and made thy market greater Iauan, Tubal and Mesech were thy marchaūtes, whych brought the men, and ouuain entes of metal for thy occuppenge. They of the house of Thogarma brought vnto the at the tyme of thy marte, horse horsmen & mules. They of Dedan were thy marchauntes: and many other Iles that occuppyed wyth the, brought the wethers, elephant bones and Paicockes for a present. The Syryans occuppyed with the, because of thy dyuerse worckes, and increased thy marchaundyes, wyth Smaragdes, wyth scarlet, wyth nedle worke with white lynen cloth, with silcke and with Chrystal.

Iuda and the lande of Israel occupied with the, and brought vnto thy markettes, wheate, balme, hony oyle & triacle. Damascus vsed also marcaūdises wt the, in the best wine and whyt wol because thy occuppenge was so greate and thy wares so many. Dan, Iauan, and Meusall haue brought vnto thy markettes, yron redy made wt * Casia and Calamus according to thyr occuppenge. Dedan occupied with the, in fayre tapestry worcke and quilchyns: Arabiah & all the princes of Ceder haue occupied wyth the, in shepe, weteers and goates. D

The marchauntes of Seba and Rema haue occupied also with the, in all costly spices, in al precyous stones & golde whych they brought vnto thy marc kettes.

Haran, Chene and Eden, the marchaūtes of Saba, Assiria and Chelmad were al doers wyth thee, In costly raymēt of yelow sylcke and nedle worcke (very precyous, and therfore pacte and bounde together wyth roopes) Yee and in cedre wood, at the time of thy marckettes. The shyppes of tharsis were the chefe of thy occupieng.

Thus thou art ful and in gret worshyppe, euen in the myddest of the sea. Thy mariners were euer bringing vn to thee out of mani waters. But the east wynde shal ouerbeare the into the middest of the se so that thy wares, thy marchaundyes, thy rytchers thy maryners thy shyppmasters, thy helpers, thy occuppyers (that brought the thynges necessarye) the men of warre that are in thee, E ye and all thy commons shall perysche in te myddeste of the sea, in the daye of thy fall. Thy suburbes shall shake at the loude crye of thy shypmen. All whyrry men, and all matyners vpon the see, shall leape out of their boates, & set them selues vpon the lande. They shall lyfe vp theyr voyce because of the, and make a lamentable crye. They shall cast dust vpon theyr heades, and lye downe in the asshes. They shall shaue them selues, and put sacke cloth vpon them for thy sake.

They shal mourne for thee wyth hertfull sorowe and heuy lamentacions yea theyr chylderen also shall weape for thee. Alas what cyty hath so ben destroyed in the sea as Tyre is? When thy wares and marchaundyes came frō the seas thou gauest all people ynough. The kynges of the earth hast thou made ryche/ thorow the multitude of thy wares and occupying: But thou art now cast down into the depe of the sea, all thy resorte of people is perysshed wyth thee.

All they that dwell in the Iles are abashed at thee, all theyr kinges are afrayd yea theyr faces haue chaunged colour. The marchauntes of the nacyons wonder at thee: In that thou arte so cleane brought to naughte / and commest noo more by.

¶ The worde of God agaynste the kynge of Tyrus for hys pryde. Daniel. The prophete is moued to bewayle the kynge of Tyrus. The worde of the Lorde agaynst Sydon: The lord promyseth that he wyll gather together the chylderen of Israell.

¶ The .xxviii. Chapter.

A Ezre, xxvi xvii, Esay. xiiii. c

THe worde of the Lorde came vnto me, sayinge Thou sonne of man, tell the Prynce of Tyre: Thus sayth the Lorde god: because thou hast a proude herte and haste sayde I am a God, I haue my seat in the myddest of the Sea lyke a God, where as thou art but a mā and not God and yet standeste in thyne owne concept, that thou art God Behold de thou thynckest thy self wyser then daniell, that there is no secretes hyd from thee.

B Wyth thy wysdome and thy vnderstandyng, thou hast gotten thee great welthines, and gathered treasure of syluer and golde. Wyth thy greate wysdomme and occupyenge, hast thou encreased thy power/ and because of thy grete ryches, thy hert is proude.

Therfore thus sayth the Lorde god For so much as thou haste lyft vp thyne herte, as though thou were God: Behold I wyll bryng enemyes vppon thee euē the tyrauntes of the heathen: these shall draw out theyr swerdes vpon thy bewty/ and wysdome, and shal defyle thy glory They shall cast thee downe to the pytte so that thou shalt dye in the myddeste of the sea as they that be slayne. Let se, if ỹ wylt say then (before them that sley thee, I am God: where as thou art but a man and not God) in the handes of them that slaye the, Dye shalte thou, euen.* as the vncyrcumcysed in the handes of the enemyes: for I my selfe haue spoken it, sayeth the Lorde God.

C Moreouer, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, sayinge: Thou sonne of man/ make a lamentable complaynt ouer the kynge of Tyre/ and tel him: Thus sayeth the Lorde God: Thou art a seale of a lyckneſſe, ful of wysdome and excellent beuty. Thou haste bene in the pleasaunt gardē of God/ thou art decte wyth all maner of precyous stones: wyth Ruby, Topas, Chrystal, Jacyncte Onyx, Jaspys, Saphyr, Smaragde, Carbuncle, and golde. Thy bewty and the holes that be in thee were set forth in the daye of thy creacyon. Thou art a fayre Cherub, stretched wyde out for to couer.

D I haue sett thee vpon the holy mount of God: there hast thou bene and walked monge the fayre glyst eryuge stones. From the time of thy creacyon thou hast bene ryght excellent, tyl wyckednesse was found in thee. Because of thi greate marchaundyse, thy hert is full of wyckednesse, and thou hast offended. Therfore wyl I cast the from the mount of God/ O thou couerynge Cherub) and destroy thee among the glysteryng stones.

E Thy hert was proude in thi fayre beuty and thorow thy beuty thou hast destroyed thy wysdome. I wyll cast the downe to the grounde and that in the syght of kynges. Thou hast defiled thy Sanctuary, with the great wickednesse of thy vnryghtuous occuppenge. I wyl bryng a fyre from the myddest of thee, to consume the, and wyll make the to asshes/ in the syght of al them that loke vpon the. All they that haue bene acquaynted wt the among the Heathen shalbe abashed at thee: seyng thou art so cleue brought to naught, and commest no more vp.

And the word of the Lord cam vnto me sayeng: Thou sonne of man, set thy face agaynst Sydon. Prophetye vpō it and speake: Thus sayeth the Lorde God: Beholde o Sydon I wyll vpon ỹ, & get me honoure in the: that it may be knowē howe that I am the LORDE. Ioel. iii. a

It happened in the xi. yeare, vpon the seuenth daye of the first Moneth/ that the Lordes worde came vnto me, sayeng: Beholde thou sonne of man/ I wyl breake the arme of Pharao kig of Egipt: and lo it shal not be bounde vp to be healed, nether shal any plaistre be layd vpō it, for to ease it, or to make it so strong as to holde a swerde: Therfore, thus sayeth the Lord god: Behold I wyl vpon Pharao ỹ king of Egipt and bruse his strōg arme (yet is it but a broken one) and wyl smyte the swerd
C out of hys hande.

As for the Egyptyans I wyl scatre them among the Heathen/ & strow them in the landes aboute. Agayne, I wyl strength the arme of the kynge of Babtlō, & geue hym my sweard in hys hād: but I wyl breake Pharaos arme so ỹ he shal holde it before hī piteously like a wounded man.

Yea I wyl stablish the king of Babylons arme, and ỹ armes of Pharao shal fal downe: that it may be knowne that I am the Lorde, whych gaue the kynge of Babylon my sweard in hys hande, that he maye drawe it out vpō the land of Egipt: and when I scatre ỹ Egyptians amonge the Gentyls, and strowe them in the landes about, they maie know, that I am the lord.

¶ A comparison of ỹ prosperitie of Pharao with the prosperite of the Assirias. He prophecieth alike destruction vpon them bothe.

The. xxxi. Chapter.

A Moreouer, it happened in the xi yeare the fyrst date of the third Moneth that the worde of the Lord came vnto me saynge: Thou sonne of man speake vnto Pharao the king of Egipt, and to al his people: Whom art thou lyke in thy greatnes? Behold Assur was lyke a Cedre tre vpon the mount of Libanus with fayre braunches: So thycke, that he gaue shadowes and shot out very hygh. Hys toppe reached vnto the cloudes. The waters made hym greate, and the depe set hym vpon hye. Round about the rotes of hym rāne there floudes of water, he sent out hys lytle ryuers vnto all the trees of the felde.

Therfore was he hyer then al the trees of the felde, and thorow the multitude of waters that he sent from him, he obtained manye longe braunches. Al foules of the ayre made their nestes in hys braūches, vnder his bowes gēdred B al these beastes of the felde and vnder his shadow dwelt al people. Fayre ād beutiful was he in hys greatnes and in the length of his braūches, for his rote stode beside greate waters. No Cedre tre might hide him: In the pleasaunte garden of god, there was no fayre tree lyke hys braunches/ the playne trees were not like the bowes of him. Al the trees in the garden of god might not be compared vnto him in his beuty, so fayre and goodly had I made hym wt the multitude of his braunches: Inso much that al the trees in the pleasaunt garden of God/ had enuie at him.

Therfore, thus sayeth the Lorde god: for so much as he hath lift vp him self so hye, and stretched his toppe into the cloudes/ and seing his hert is proude in his highnes: C I wyl deliuer him into the handes of the *myghtiest amonge the Heathen, which shal rote him oute According to hys wyckednes wyll I cast him awaye, the enemies shal destrope hym, and the myghtye men of the Heathen shall so scater him, that hys braunches shall lye vpon al mountaynes and in al valleyes: his bowes shal be broken downe to the grounde thorow out the lande. Then al the people of the lande shal go from his shadows and forsake him. When he is fallen, al the foules of the ayre shal syt vpon hi, and al wilde bestes of the feld shal go about amonge his braunches: so ỹ frō henseforth, no tree in the water shal attayne to his hyghnesse, nor reache hys toppe vnto the cloudes, nether shall any tre of the water stande so hye, as he hath done. For vnto death shal they al be deliuered vnder the earthe, and goo downe to the graue, lyke other men.

Moreouer thus saith the lord god In the daye when he goeth downe to the graue I wyll cause a lamentacion to be made. I wyl couer the depe vpon him. I wyl staunche his floudes, and the greate waters shalbe restraigned.

ezechy xxix. xxxi. xxxii.

I shall cause lybanus to be sorowfull for hys sake, and all the trees of the feld shal be smytten. I wyll make the heathen sha ke at the sounde of hys fall when I caste hym downe to hel, wyth them that descen de into the pytte. All the trees of Eden & all the chosen and best trees of Lybanus ye and all they that are planted vpon the waters shall mourne wyth hym also in ỹ lower habytacions: for they shall go dow ne to Hell wythe hym, vnto them th at bee slayn w ỹ swerd, whych dwelt afor vnder ỹ shadow of hys arme among the hethen. To whom shalt thou be lykned that art so glorious and great amon the trees of E den? Yet arte thou caste do wne vnder the Earthe (amounge thee Trees of E= den) where thou must lye among the vn cyrcumcised. wyth them that be slayne w the swearde. Euen thus is it wyth Pha= rao.

¶ The prophet is commaũded to bewayle Pharao the kynge of egypte. He prophesyeth that destructiõ shall come vnto egipte thorow the kyng of Babylõ.

The xxxii. Chapter.

A IN the. xii. yeare/the fyrst day of the. xii. Moneth the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, sayinge: Thou sonne of man take vpp a lamentacyon vpon Pharao the kynge of Egypt, and saye vnto hym. Thou art reputed as a lyon of the Hea= then, and as a whalfysh in the sea. Thou castest thy waters about thee/ thou trou blest the waters w thy fete and stampest in theyr floudes. Thus sayeth the Lorde God I wyll spreade my net ouer thee na mely, a greate multitude of people, these shall dryue the into my yatne for I wyll caste thee vppon the lande and let the lye vpon the feld, that all the foules of the ay re may sitt vpon thee: I wyll geue all the beastes of the fealde ynough of the. Thy flesh wyll I cast vpon the hylles and fyll the valleyes wyth thy hyghnesse. I wyll water the land wyth the aboundaunce of B thy bloude, euen to the mountaynes and the valleyes shalbe full of thee. When thou arte put oute, I wyll couer the hea= uen, and make hys starres dymme. I wil spreade a cloude ouer the Sunne, and ỹ Moone shall not geue her lyghte. All the lightes of heaue wil I put out o uer the, and bring darcknes vpon thy lande/ sayeth the Lord God. I wyl trouble the hertes of many people, whē I bryng thy destruccion amonge the Heathen/ & countrees, whō thou knou est not.

Yea I wyl make many people wyth C their kinges so afrayed thorowe thee ỹ their hearte shal stand vp, whē I shake my swearde at their faces. Sodenly shal they be astonied, euery man i hym selfe at the daye of thy fall.

For thus sayeth the lorde god: the kynge of Babilons swearde shal com vpon ther/ w the swordes of the wor= thies wyl I smite downe the people. All they that be mightie among ỹ Gen tyls, shal waste the proud pompe of E gipt, and brenge downe al her people. All the cattel also of Egipte will I dest roy/ that they shal commomore vpon ỹ waters: so that neyther mans fote nor beastes clawe, shall sterre theym anye more.

Then wyl I make their waters clere, and cause their floudes to runne lyke oyle/ sayeth the Lorde god: When I make the lande of Egipt desolate/ & when the countre, with al that is therī shalbe layde waste: and when I smite al them which dwelī it/ that they maie know that I am the lord. Thys is the mourninge, that the daughters of the Heathē shal make: Yea a sorow and lamentacō shal they take vp/ vp= D on Egypt and al her people, sayeth ỹ lord god.

In the. xii. yeare, the xv. daye of ỹ Moneth/ cam ỹ word of the lord vnto me/ saynge: Thou sonne of man. Take vp a lamentacion vpon the peo ple of Egipt, and cast them downe, yee and the mightye people of the Heathe also, euen wyth them that dwel benethe and with them that go downen tu to the graue. Downe (how fayre so euer thou be) and late thee with the vncircumcised Amonge those that be slayne with the sword, shall they lye.

The swearde ys geuen all ready, he shall be drawen forthe and all hys people.

The

The nyghtie worthyes and hys helpers that be gone downe and lye with the vncyrcumcysed and wyth them that be slayn wyth the swerde shall speake to hym oute of the hell.

Assur is there also wyth hys company, and theyr graues rounde about e, which were slayne and fell all wyth the swerde/whose graues lye besyde hym in ỹ low pytte. Hys commons are buryed rounde aboute hys grauesal together wounded and slayne wythe the swerde, whych men aforetyme brought feare into the land of the lyuing.

There is Elam also wyth al hys people, and theyr graues rounde about: which all beynge wounded and slayne wythe the swearde are goone downe vncyrcumcysed vnder the earth, whych neuertheles somtyme brought feare into the laude of the lyuyng: for the which they beare their shame, wyth the other that begone downe to the graue.

Theyr buryall is geuen them and al theyr people amonge them that be slayne Theyr graues ar roũd about althẽ which be vncyrcumcised, and wyth them that be slayne with the swerde: for seynge that in tymes paste they made the lande of the lyuyng afrayed, they must nowe beare their owne shame wyth them that goo downe to the pytte/ and lye among them that be slayne.

There is Mesech also and Tubal, & theyr people, and theyr graues rounde about. These al ar amõg alvncyrcũcysed, & them that be slayn with the swerd, because afore tyme they made the lande of the lyuynge afrayed.

D Should not they then lye also among the worthyes, and vncyrcumcysed Gyaũtes: whych wyth theyr weapons are gone downe to hell: whose swerdes are layd vnder theyr heades, whose wyckednesse is vpon theyr bones: because that as worthyes, they haue brought feare into the lande of the lyuynge: yea among the vncyrcumcysed shalt thou be destroyed, and sleape wythe them, that perysshed thorowe the swearde

There is the lande of Edom, wyth her kynges and Prynces also, whyche wyth theyre strenght are layde by them that were slayne wyth the swerde, ye amonge the vncyrcumcysed and them whyche are gone downe into the pytte. Moreouer there be al the prynces of the northe, wyth all ỹ Sidonyans whyche are gone downe to the slayne.

Wyth theyr feare and strenght they ar come to confusyon: and lye there vncyrcũcised, amonge those that be slayne wyth ỹ swearde: and beare theyr owne shame wt them that be gone down to the pyt. Now when Pharao seyth thys, he shall be comforted ouer all hys people, that is slayne wyth the swearde. Both Pharao and all hys hooste, sayth the Lorde God. For I haue geuen my feare in the Laude of the lyuyng: But Pharao and all hys people shall lye amonge the vncyrcumcysed, and among them that be slayn wyth the swerde, sayth the Lord God. Jeremy, xlixb

¶ He setteth out the office of a curat that preacheth the Gospell, & ee strengtheneth them that dyspayre, and boldneth them wyth the promes of mercy. As ỹ former ryghtuousnes helpeth not the ryghtuous, yf he geue hymselfe agayne to synne: so the synnes done before are not imputed to the wycked that amendeth. The worde of the Lord agaynst the remnaunte of the people. Agaynste the mockers of the wordes of the prophete.

¶ The .xxxiii. Chapter.

AGayne, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying: Thou sonne of man, Speke to the chylderen of thy people, and tell them: Whan I sende a swearde vpon a land yf the people of the lande take a man of theyre countree and set hym to be theyr watchman, that same man (whan he seeth the swerde come vpõ the lande) shall blowe the trompet, & warne the people. A

If a man nowe heare the noyse of the trompet and wyll not be warned, and the swearde come and take hym awaye: hys bloude shall be vpon hys owne head: for he herde the sounde of the trompet, & wolde not take heade, therfore hys bloude be vpon hym. But yf he wyll receaue warnyng he shall saue hys lyfe. Agayn, yf the watchman se the swearde come and shewe it not wyth the trompet so that the peple is not warned: yf the swearde come then, and take any man from amonge them/ ỹ same shalbe taken awaye in hys owne sinne, but hys bloude wyll I requyre of the watchmans hande, B

And

And nowe (O thou sonne of man) I haue made thee a watchmā vnto the house of Israell, that where as thou heareste any thyng out of my mouthe, thou mayst warne them on my behalfe. If I saye vnto the wycked, thou wycked, thou shalte surely dye: and thou geuest hym not warnyng/that he may beware of hys vngodly waye: then shall the wycked dye in his owne synne/but hys bloude wyl I requyre of thy hand. Neuertheles yf thou warn the wycked of hys waye, to turne from it, where as he yet wyll not be turned from it, then shall he dye because of hys synne, but thou hast delyuered thy soule.

Therfore (O thou sonne of man) speke vnto the house of Israel. Ye say thus: Our offences & synnes lay vpō vs/& we be corrupt in them: how shold we then be restored vnto lyfe? Tell them: As trulye as I lyue, sayeth the Lord God, I haue no pleasure in the death of a wycked/but much rather that the wycked turne from hys wāye ād lyue. Turne you/ turne you from youre vngodly wayes, O ye of the house of Israell. Oh, wherfore wyll ye dye?

Thou sonne of man, tell the chyldren of thy people: The ryghtuousnes of the righteous shall not saue hym, whan soeuer he turneth his way vnfaithfuly. Agai the wykednes of the wyked shal not hurt hym, whan soeuer he conuerteth from his vngodlynes.

And the righteousnes of the ryghtuous shall not saue hys lyfe, whan soeuer he synneth.

If I saye vnto the ryghtuous, that he shall surely lyue, and so he trust to hys owne ryghtuousnesse, and do synne, then shall hys righteousnesse be no moare thought vpon/but in the wykednes that he hath done he shall dye, Agayne yf I saye vnto the wycked, thou shalte surelye dye, and so he turne from hys synnes/ ād do the thynge that is lawful and ryghte/ in so much that the same wycked man gegeueth the pledge agayn restoreth that he had taken away by robbery, walke in the commaundementes of lyfe, and dothe no wrounge/ then shall hee surelye Lyue and not dye. Yea the Sinnes that he hathe doone, * shall neuer bee thought vpon, for in so muche as he doth now the thyng that is lawful and ryght, he shall lyue. And yet the chyldren of the people saye: Tush, the waye of the Lord is not ryght, where as theyr owne way is rather vnryght.

When the ryghtuous turneth from hys ryghtuousnes, and dothe the thynge that is wycked, he shall dye therfore. But yf the wycked turne from his wyckednes, doynge the thynge that is Lawfull and ryghte, he shall lyue therfore. Yet ye saye: the waye of the Lorde is not equall. O ye house of Israell/ I wyll iudge euery one of you after hys wayes.

In the .xii. yeare the .v. daye of the .x. moneth of our captyuitye, it happened that one which was fled out of Jerusalem, came vnto me, and sayde: the cytye is destroyed.

Now the hande of the Lorde had beene vpon me the euenyng afore thys mā (whych was escaped) came vnto me, and had opened mi mouth, vntyl the morning that he cam to me: ye he opned my mouth, so that I was nomore domme. Then came the worde of the Lorde vnto mee, and sayde:

Thou Sonne of manne, these that dwell in the wasted Lande of Israel, say: Abraham was but one mann, and he had the lande in possessyon: nowe are we many, and the lande is geuen vs to possesse also. And therfore tell them. Thus sayth the Lord: In the bloude haue ye eaten, youre eyes haue ye lyfte vp to Idoles, & haue shed bloude: shal ye then haue thelā de in possessyon.

Ye leane vpon the swoordes, ye worke abhomynacyons, euerye one defyleth hys neyghbours wyfe: and shall ye then possesse the lande?

Saye thou these woordes vnto them. Thus sayeth tee Lorde god: b* As truly as I lyue, al ye that dwell in thys wildernes, shalbe slayne wythe the swoorde: what soeuer is vpon the feld wyl I geue vnto the beastes to be deuoured, those that be in stronge holdes and dennes/ shall dye of the pestylence. For I wyll make the lande so desolate and waste, ād the Pompe of her streynght shall comme to an ende.

The

The mountaynes in Israel shal be so waste that noman shall trauayle therby.

G ezec.xxv.c. Then shall they lerne to know, that I am the Lord, when I make the lād waste and desolate, because of all their abhominacyons, that they haue wrought. And thou sonne of mā, the chyldrē of the people that talketh of thee, by ỹ walesa i ỹ dores of their houses, sayīg one to another: Come, let vs heare, what worde is gone forth from ỹ lord: These come vnto thee, after the maner of a greate people: yea my people sytt downe before thee, & heare the wordes, but they do not therafter: for in their mouthes they shewe theym selues / as though they were feruent / but their hert goeth after their owne couetouse lucre. And as a balet that hath a swete tune, and is pleasaunt to syng, so shalt thou be vnto thē: thy wordes shal they heare, but they wyl not do therafter.

When thys cometh to passe (for lo, it commeth in dede) thē shal they knowe, that there hath bene a prophet amōge them.

nota Do not

The notes

a * How the Sophesters and ỹ vngodly mock this text, loke before in ỹ. xviii. Chapter, b * As truly as I liue, is an othe which the Lorde commenly vseth, when he promiseth any thing. Nume xiiii, d e

C Against Byshoppes and curates that dispise ỹ flock of Christ, & seake their owne, The Lord saith that he wyl vpset his dispersed flock, & gather thē to gether. He prouoketh the malice of certen of the flock. He promiseth ỹ true shepārd Christ, and with him peace.

C The. xxxiii. Chapter.

A ezech. viii. a. Jere. xxiii. b & xxiii, a

AND the worde of the Lorde cam vnto me, sayīg: Thou sonne of man, prophecye against the shepardes of Israel, prophecye and speake vnto them: Thus sayeth the lord god: Woo be vnto the shepardes of Israell, that fede them selues. Should not the shepardes fede the flockes?

Ye haue eaten vp my fatt / ye haue clothed you wt the wol: the best fedde haue ye slayne, but the flocke haue yee not norished. The weake haue ye not holden vp, the sicke haue ye not healed: Tee broken haue yee not bounde to gether / the oute castes haue yee not brought agayne: the lost haue ye not sought, but churlishly ād cruelly haue ye ruled them. Thus are they scatered here and there with out a shepard: ye al the beastes of the felde deuoure thē and they go astraye. 1. Pet. v, d

My shepe go wandring vpon al mountaynes and vpon euery hye hyl. Ye they be scatered abrode in al feldes, and there is no mā, that careth for thē, or seketh after them. Therfore O ye shepardes, heare the worde of the lord. Thus sayeth the Lorde god: As truly as I liue, for so much as my shepe are robbed, and deuoured of all the wylde beastes of the feld, hauing no shepard: and seing that my shepardes take no regarde of my shepe, but fede theim selues only, and not my shepe: Therfore heare the word of the lord O ye shepardes: Thus saith the lord god: Behold, I my selfe will vpon the shepardes, ād require my shepe from their handes, & make them cease from dettinge of my shepe: yea the shepardes shal fede them selues no more: For I wyll delyuer my shepe out of their mouthes, so that they shal not deuoure them after thys. For thus sayeth the Lorde god: Behold, I wyl loke to my shepe my selfe, and seke them. nota Behold saith ỹ lord

C Like as the shepārde amonge the flock seketh after the shepe that are scatered abrade, euen so wyll I seke after my shepe, and gather them together out of al places, here they haue bene scatered in the cloudy and darke daye. I wyl bryng them out from al people, and gather them togther out of all landes.

I wyl brynge them into their owne lande and / fede theym vpon the mountaynes of Israel, by the ryuers, and in al the places of the countre. I wil fede them in right good pastures and vpō the hye mountaynes of Israell shall there folde be. There shal they lye in good folde, and in a fat pasture shall they fede: euen vpon the mountaynes of Israel. F

I wyll fede my shepe my selfe, and bryng them to their rest, sayeth ỹ lord god. Suche as be lost, wyl I seke: such as go astraye, wyll I bryng agayne

suche

suche as be wounded, wyll I bynde vp/ such as be weake, wyll I make stronge: soch as be fat and wel lykyng, those wil I preserue, and fede the wyth the thinge that is laufull. And as for you(O my shepe, sayeth the Lorde God/ I wyll put a dyfference amonge the shepe, amonge the wethers and the goates. Was it not ynough for you, to eate vp the good pasture, but ye must treade downe the resydu or your pasture wyth your fete also? Was it not ynough for you to dryncke cleare water, but ye must trou ble the ressydue also wyth youre fete? Thus my shepe must be fayne to eate the thinge, that ye haue troden downe wyth youre fete, and to drincke it, that ye with youre fete haue defyled. Therfore thus sayeth
C the Lorde God vnto them: Beholde, I wyll seuer the fatt shepe from the leane: for so moch as ye haue shot the weake shepe vpon the sydes and shoulders and cumme vpon them wyth youre hornes, so longe tyll ye haue vtterly scatred the abrode. I wyll helpe my shepe, so that they shal nomore be spoyled: yea I wyll dysceme one shepe from another. I wyll rayse vp vnto them one only shepherde: euen my seruaunt a* Dauid, he shal fede them, and he shal be theyr shepherde. I the Lorde wyl be theyr God/ and my seruaunte Dauyd shallbe there prynce. Euen I the Lorde haue spoken it.

Moreouer, I wyl make a couenaunt of peace wythe theym, and dryue all euel beastes out of the land: so that they may dwel safely in the wyldernesse, and slepe in the woddes. Good fortune and prosperytee wyl I geue them, and vnto all that be rounde aboute my hyl. A prosperous shower and rayne wyll I sende them in due season, that the trees in the wodde maye bryng forth theyr frutes, and the grounde her increase. they shall be safe in theyr land/ and shal knowe,
D that I am the Lord, whych haue broken theyr yocke, and delyuered them oute of the handes of those, that helde them in subiection.

They shal no more be spoyled of the heathen, nor deuoured wyth the beastes of the lande: but safely shall they dwell, and no man shall fraye them. I wyll set vp an excellent plante for the so that they shall suffre no more hunger in the lande, nether beare reprofe of the heathen, any more. Thus shall they vnderstande/ that I the lord theyr God am wyth them and that they(euen the house of Israel) are my people sayth the lord God. Ye men are my flocke, ye are the shepe of my pasture/ and I am your god sayth the Lorde God.

The notes.

a* Christ here and in many other places is called Dauid, because he was loked for of the Jewes to sit on the seate of Dauid, after in the xxxviii.

C The destruction that shalcome on the hyll Seir that is, on the Idumeans because they troubled the people of the Lord.

The.xxxv.Chapter.

Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying: Thou sonne of man, turne thy face towarde the mount Seir, prophecy vpon it: and saye vnto it: Thus sayth the lorde god/ Beholde O thou mount Seir) I wyll vpon thee, I wyll reache out myne hand ouer thee, yea wast and desolate wyll I make thee. Thy cytyes wyll I breake downe, and thou shalte lye voyde that thou mayest knowe how that I am the Lorde. For so moch as thou beareste an olde enemytye agaynst the chylderen of Isral & w a cruel hand hast made the afrayd, what tyme as they were troubled and punished for theyr synne Therfore, a* as truly as I lyue, sayeth the Lorde God I wyll prepare thee vnto bloude/ yea bloude shall folowe vpon thee: seing thou layest wayte for blonde, therfore shall bloude persecute thee. Thus wil I make the mounte Seir desolate and waste and bryng to passe, that ther shal no man goo thether nor come from thense. Hys mountaynes wyll I fyll wythe hys slayne men: thy hylles, dales and valeys shal ly ful/ of the that are slayne w the swearde. I wyll make thee a perpetuall wyldernes/ so that no man shall dwel in thy cyties that ye maye knowe howe that I am the Lorde.

And because thou hast sayd what/ b* both these nacyons and bothe these landes must be myne, and I wyll haue them in possessyon, where as the Lorde was there. Therfore, thus saieth the Lorde god: As truly as I lyue, I wyl handle thee accordynge to thy wrath and gelousy, lyke as thou hast dealt cruelly w̄ them, that I maye be knowen among them/how I haue punished thee. Yea and that thou also mayest be sure, ẏ I the Lord haue hearde al thy despitefull wordes, which thou hast spoken agaīst the mountaynes of Israel, saynge: lo, they ar made wa ste, & geuen vs to deuoure. Thus w̄ your mouthes ye haue made your boost agaynste me, yea and multyplied your proud wordes agaīst me, which I haue heard altogether. Wherevnto, thus saieth the lord god, when the whole worlde is in wealthe, then wil I make thee waste. And lyke as thou (O mount Seyr) wast glad, because the heritage of the house of Israel was destroyed: euen so wyl I do vnto thee also/that thou and whole Edō shalbe destroyed, and know that I am the lord.

CC there

The notes.

a * As before in the .xxxiii. Chap. k

b * That is to wete, Juda and Israel.

¶ He promiseth deliueraūce from ẏ Gentiles vnto Israel. The benefites done vnto the Jewes are to be ascribed to the mercy of God, not vnto theyr deseruinges. God renueth our hertes ẏ we may walke in his commaundementes.

The xxxvi. Chapter.

A Thou sonne of man, prophecye vpon the Mountaynes of Israel/& speauke: Heare the worde of the Lord / O ye mountaynes of Israel: Thus sayeth the Lord God: Because your enemye hathe sayde vpon you: A ha, ẏ hie euerlastige places are now become ours: Prophecy therfore, and speake: Thus sayeth the Lorde God: Seynge yee be wasted and troaden downe on euery side, and become a possessyon vnto the residue of the Gentiles, whyche haue brought you in to mens mouthes and vnto an euil name amonge the people. Therfore heare the worde of the Lorde god, O ye mountaynes of Israel: Thus sayeth the Lorde God vnto the mountaynes ād hylles, dalleyes and dales, to the void wyldernes and desolate cytyes, which are spoyled and had in derysion on euery side, amonge the residue of the Heathen. Yea, euen thus sayeth the Lorde God: In ẏ fyre of my gelousy haue I taken a deuyse/agaīste ẏ residue of ẏ Gentyles/and agaynst al Edom; whiche haue taken in my lande vnto them selfes for a possession: wiche also reioyced from their whole herte with a dyspytefull stomacke, to waste it, and to spoyle it.

Prophesy therfor vpon the lande of Israel, speake vnto the mountaines and hilles, to valleyes and dales, thus sayeth the lord god: Behold (this haue I deuysed in my gelowsye and terrible wrath): For so muche as ye suffred reprof of the Heathen/therfor thus sayeth the Lorde God: I haue swore, ẏ the Gentyles which lye about you/shal beare youre confusyon them selfes. And as for you (O mountaynes of Israel) ye shal shut out youre braunches and bryng forth your frute to my people of Israel/for it is harde by, that yt wyl come. Beholde, I come vnto you and vnto you wyll I turne me, that ye maie be tylled and sowen.

I wyl send you muche people/which shalbe al of the house of Israel: the cytyes shalbe inhabited/and the decated places shalbe repayred agayne. I wyl prouyde you wyth muche people and catell, which shall increase and bryng frute. I will restoore you also to your old estate & shewe you more kyndnesse then euer ye had before: wherby ye shal knowe, that I am the Lord.

Yea/ people wyll I sende vnto you/ (O my folk of Israel) which shal haue thee in possessyon, & thou shalt be their inhertaunce so that thou shalt nomore be withoue them. Agayne, thus sayeth the lorde God: For so muche as they saye vnto you: thou art an eater vp of men, and a waster of thy people: therfor thou shalt eate no men, nether destroie thy people any more, sayeth the Lorde God. And I wyl not suffre thee, for to beare thine owne confusion amonge ẏ Gentiles from henceforth. Thou shalte not beare the reproffe of the nacions, nor caste out thyne owne people any more, sayeth the Lorde God.

Moreouer the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, sayyng: O thou sonne of man when then house of Israel dwelt vpon theyr awne groūd they defiled them selues wyth ther awne wayes and ymagynacyons: so ỹ in my syght theyr wayes was lyke the vncleanesse of a menstruous woman. Wherfore I poured my wrothful displeasure vpon thē, because of the bloude that they had shed in the lande/ and because of theyr Idols, wherwyth they had defyled thē selues. I scatred them also among the Heathen, so that they were strowed about in the landes. Accordyng to theyr wayes and after theyr awne inuencyons, so dyd I punysh them.

Now when they were gone vnto the Heathen, and came in amonge them, thei *dyshonoured my holy name: so that it was sayde of them: Are these the people of God, and must go out of theyr awne lande? Then spared I my holy name, whych the house of Israel had dyshonored amonge the Gentyles, to whom thei came. Therfore tell the house of Israel: Thus sayeth the Lorde God: I do not thys for your sakes (O house of Israel) but for my holy names sake, whyche ye dyshonoured among the Heathen, when ye came to them. Therfore, I wyll hallow my grete name agayne/ whych amōge the Gentyles is euell spoken of: for ye youre selues haue dyshonoured it among thē. And the Gentyles shal know that I am the Lorde, whan I am honoured in you before theyr eyes/ sayeth the Lorde God.

As for you, I wyll take you from among the Heathen, and gather you together out of all countres, and bryng you agayne in to your awne land. Then wil I poure cleare water vpon you, and ye shalbe clene: Yea from all youre vnclennesse and frō all your Idols shal I clense you. A new herte also wyl I geue you, and a new spyrete wyll I put in to you. As for that stonye hart/ I wyll take it out of your body, and geue you a fleshly herte. I wyl geue my spyrite amōg you and cause you to walcke in my commaūdementes, to keepe my lawes, and to fulfyll them.

And so ye shal dwell in the lande/ that I gaue to your forefathers, and ye shal be my people, and I wyl be your god. I wyl helpe you out of al vnclennesse. I wyl cal for the corne and wyl encrese it, and I wyl let you haue no hunger. I wyl multyply the frutes of the trees and the increase of the felde for you, so that ye shall beare no more reproffe of honger among the heathē. Then shal ye remembre your owne wicked waies and your immaginacions, which were not good so that ye shal take displesure at youre owne selues, by reasō of your synnes and abhominacyons.

But I wyl not do this for your sakes (sayeth the Lord god) be ye sure of it. Therfore, O ye house of Israel, be ashamed of youre synnes. Moreouer, thus sayeth the Lorde God: what tyme as I shal clense you from al youre offences, then wyl I make the cytyes to be occupyed againe and wyl repayre ye places that be decayed. The desolate lande shal be buylded agayn, which afore tyme layd waste in the syght of al them that went by. Then shal it be sayde: this waste lande is become lyke a garden of pleasur, and the boyde, desolate and broken downe cytyes, are now stronge, and fensed againe. Then the residue of the Heathen ỹ lie round about you/ shal know that I am ỹ lord which repayre that was broken doune & plante agayne, that was made wast Euē I the Lord haue spoken it/ and wyl do it in dede.

Thus sayeth the Lord God: I wyl yet once be found agayne of the house of Israel, and do this for them: I shall encrease them as a flocke of men.

Lyke as the holye flocke and the flocke of Jerusalem are in the hye solempne feastes: so shal also the wylde wasted cyties be filled with flockes of men: and they shal know that I am ỹ Lord.

¶ Prophecyeth the bringing againe of the peple being in captiuitee. He sheweth the vnyon of ỹ ten tribes with the two. Christ is the kyng of ỹ Christen people alone, and the only euerlasting shepard therof.

¶ The .xxxvii. Chapter.

The prophecye

A THe hande of the Lorde came vpon me, and caryed me out in the spryte of the Lorde/ād set me doune in a playne feld that laye full of boones/ and he ledde me rounde aboute by them: and beholde, the bones that laye vpō the feld were verye manye, and maruelous drye also. Then sayd he vnto me: Thou sonne of man: thynckest thou these bones maye lyue agayne? He answered: O Lorde god thou knowest. And he sayde vnto me: prophecy thou vpon these bones, ād speake vnto the: Ye drye bones, heare the word of the Lorde. Thus sayeth the Lorde God vnto these bones: Beholde I wyll putt
B breath into you, that ye may lyue: I wyl geue you synowes, and make flesh grow vppon you / and couer yow ouer wythe skynne: and so geue you breathe/ that ye Geneſi. ii.b. maye Lyue, and knowe, that I am the Lorde.

So I prophecyed, as he had cōmaunded me. And as I was prophecying there came a noyse ād a great mocyon, so that i.Kor.xv.a, the bones ranne euery one to an other. Now whē I had loked, behold, they had synowes/ and flesh grewe vpon them: ād aboue they were couered wyth skynne, but there was no breath in them. Then sayde he vnto me: Thou sonne of man/ prophecy thou to warde the wynde: prophecy, and speake to the wynde: Thus sayth the Lord God: Come O thou ayer from the foure wyndes, and blowe vpon these slayne, that they may be restored to
C lyfe. So I prophecyed, as he had commaunded me: then came the breathe into them/ and they receaued lyfe, and stoode vp vpon theyr fete a maruelous great sorte

Moreouer, he sayde vnto me: Thou sonne of man, these bones are the whole house of Israell. Beholde they saye: Our bones are dryed vp, our hope is gone, we are cleane cut of. Therfor prophecy thou and speake vnto them: Thus sayeth the Lorde God: Beholde, I wyll open your graues (O my People) and take you out Ezec.xxxvii.b of youre sepulchres, and bryng you into
D the lande of Israell agayne. So shall ye knowe that I am the Lorde, when I opē youre graues and brynge you out of thē Wy spryte also wyll I put in you and ye shall lyue: I wyll set you agayne in youre owne lande, and ye shall kowe, ȳ I am the lorde which haue sayde it, and fulfylled it tu dede.

The worde of the Lord came vnto me/ saynge: Thou sonne of man take a stycke and wrȳte vpon it Unto Juda, and to the chylderen of Israell hys cōpanyons. Then take another sticke, & wrȳte vpon it Unto Joseph the stocke of Ephraym, and to all the houshold of Israell hys companions. And than, take both these together in thyne hād, so shall there be one sticke therof. Now
E ȳ the chylderen of thy people saye vnto thee: wylt thou shewe vs, what thou meanest by these? Then geue them this answer: thus sayeth the lorde God: Beholde, I will take the stocke of Joseph Ezec.i.b which is in the hande of Ephraim and of the trybes of Israel his felowes, ād will put them to the stocke of Juda, ād make thē one stocke, & they shall be one in my hand. And the two sticks wher vpon thou wrytest, shalte thou haue in thyne hande that they maye se, and saye vnto them.

Thus sayth the lorde God, beholde,
F I wyll take awaye the Chyldren of Israel frō among the Heathē/ vnto whō they be gone, & wil gather thē together on euery syde/ & bryng thē againe into their owne lande: yea, I wil make one people of thē in the land/ vpon ȳ mountaines of Israel, ād they shal haue but one kyng. They shal no more be two peoples from hense forth, nether be dyuyded into two kyngdoms: they shal also defile thē selues nomore wt their abhominations, Idoles ād al their wycked doinges. I wyl help thē out of all their dwelling places, wherin they haue sined: & wil so clense thē, that they shal be my people, and I their God.

David my seruaūt shalbe their kyng
G Eze.xxxiii.b John.x.b. & they al shal haue one shepard only. They shal walcke in my lawes, & my commaundementes shall they bothe keape and fulfill. They shall dwel in the lād, ȳ I gaue vnto Jacob my seruaūt, where as your fathers also haue dwelt. Yea euē i the same lād shal they, their chyldren/ & their childers childrē dwel for euer more: and my seruaunt David shalbe their euerlasting prince.

Moreouer

Moreouer I wyl make a bond of peace wyth theym, whyche shalbe vnto them an euerlastinge couenaunt. I wyl satle them also/ and multiply them, my sanctuary wyll I set among them for euermore. My dwellyng shalbe wyth them yea I wylbe theyr God/and they shall be my people. Thus the Heathen also shall knowe/ that I the Lorde am the holy maker of Israell: when my sanctuary shal be amonge them for euermore Heprophecyeth that, Gog and Magog shall come wyth an appoynted hoste into the lande of promes Theyr intent. He rehearseth that the comming of gog was before prophecyed of the prophetes. The destruction of hym.

The xxxviii. Chapter.

AND the worde of the Lord came vnto me, satyng: thou sonne of man, turne thy face towarde Gog in the Lande of Magog Whyche is the chefe prynce at Mesech and Tubal: prophecy agaynste hym, and saye: Thus sayeth the Lord god: O Gog thou chefe Prynce Mesech and Tuball: Beholde I wyll vpon thee and wyl turne thee aboute/and put a bytt in thy chawes: I wyll bringe thee forth & al thyne hoost both horse and horsmen, whyche be all weaponed of the best fashyon: A great people, that handle altogether speares shyldes and swerdes: the Perses, Moryans and wythe sheim the Lybians, whyche all beare shyldes and helmettes Gomer and all his hostes: the houle of Thogorma out of the north quarters and al hys hoostes/yea and muche people wyth thee.

Therfor prepare thee, sett thy selfe in araye with all thy people, that ar cõe vnto thee by heapes, and be thou their defence. After many dayes thou shalte be visited, and in the latter yeres thou shalt come into the lande that hath ben destroyed with the swearde, and nowe is replenished agayne wyth dyuerse people vpon the Mountaynes of Israell, which haue longe lyen waste. Yea, they be brought out of the nations, ād dwel all safe. Thou shalt com vp lyke a storme weather, to couer the lande, and as it were a darcke cloude: thou withe all thyne hostes, and a great multitude of people with thee.

Moreouer, thus sayeth the Lorde God: At the same tyme shal manye thynges come into thy mynde, so that thou shalt ymagyne myscheife, & saye: I wyl vp to yonder playne lande, seig they syt at ease, and dwel so safely (for they dwel all without any walles, they haue neither barres nor dores) to spoile them to robbe them, to laye hande vpõ their so wel inhabited wyldernesses: agaynst that people, that is gathered together from amonge the Heathen, whiche haue gotten cattell and good, and dwel in the myddest of the lande. The shal Saba, and Dedan/and the merchauntes of Tharsis with al their worthyes saye vnto thee: Art thou come to robbe? Hast thou gathered thy people together, because thou wilt spoyle? to take syluer and gold? to cary awaye cattell and good? and to haue a greate preye?

Therfore/O thou sonne of man, ỹ shalt prophecy and saye vnto Gog: Thus sayeth the lorde god: In that daye thou shalt know, that my people of Israel dwelleth safe: and shalt com from thy place out of the north partes thou and muche people with thee/ whiche ryde vpon horses, whereof there is a grete multitude ād an innumetable sorte: yea thou shalt come vpon my people of Israell, as a cloude to couer the lande. This shal come to passe in ỹ latter dayes. I wyll bringe thee vp into my lande, that the Heathen maye know me, when I get me honour vpon thee O Gog, before their eyes.

Thus sayeth the lord God: Thou art he, of whome I haue spoken afore tyme, by my seruauntes the prophetes of Israel, whyche prophecyed in those dayes and yeares, that I shoulde bring thee vpon theym.

At the same tyme, when Gog commeth vp into the lande of Israel (sayeth the Lorde God) shal my indygnacyon go forth in my wrath. For in my gelowsye and hote displeasure I haue deuysed, that there shal be a greate trouble in the lande of Israel at that tyme The very fyshes in the sea, the foules of the ayre, the beastes of the feld/and al the men that are vpõ the earth, shal tremble for feare of me.

The prophecye

The hylles also shalbe turned vp syde downe, the stayres of stone shall fall/ and al walles shall syncke to the grounde. I wyll call for a sweardе vpon them in all my mountaynes, sayeth the Lorde God: so that euery mans swerde shall be vpon another. With pestilence and bloud wyl I punysh hym: stormye rayne and hayle stones, fyre and brymstone/ wyll I cause to rayne vpon hym and all hys heape, ye and vpon al that great people that is wt hym. Thus wyll I be magnyfyed, honored and knowen among the heathē: that they maye be sure, howe that I am the Lorde.

He sheweth the destruction of Gog and Magog. The graue of gog and of hys host, He prophecyeth that gog and hys company shalbe deuoured of byrdes and beastes. Wherfore the house of Israell is wasted, Theyr bryngynge agayne from captyuitee is promysed.

The.xxxix. Chapter.

THerfor O thou sonne of mā prophecy agaynst Gog, and speake: Thus sayth the lord God: Behold O Gog: thou chefe prince at Mesech and Tuball/ I wyll vpon thee / & turne thee aboute, and catye thee forth, & leade thee from the north partes, and bryng thee vp to the mountaynes of Israell. As for thy bowe I wyll smyte it out of thy left hād and cast thyne arowes out of thy tyghte hand. Thou wythall thyne heape, and al the people that is wyth thee/ must fal vpon the moūtaynes of Israel. Then wil I geue thee vnto the foules and wylde beastes of the felde, to be deuoured: there must thou lye vpon the felde: for euen I the Lorde haue spoken it, sayeth the Lord God.

Into Magog and amonge those that syt so careles in the Iles: wyll I sende a fyre, and they shall know, that I am ỹ lorde. I wyll make also the name of my holynes to be knowen among my people of Israell: and I wyl not let my holy name be euell spoken of any more: but the very heathen also shall knowe, that I ā the Lorde, the holy one of Israel. Behold it commeth and shalbe fulfylled in dede sayeth the Lorde God. Thys is the daye wherof I haue spoken.

They that dwell in the cytyes of Israell shal go forthe and set fyre vpon the weapons, and burne them: shyldes/ bowes and arowes/ bylles and clubbes: seuen yeares shall they be burnynge therof, so that they shall els bryng no stykes frō the feld, nether haue nede to hew downe, eny out of the wodde: For they shal haue weapons enow to burne. They shall robbe those that robbed them, and spoile those that spoyled them sayeth the Lord God. Nota a place to be buryed in in Israell

At the same tyme wyll I geue vnto Gog, a place to be buryed in, in Israell: euen the valley where thorow men go from the east to ỹ sea ward. Those that trauayle therby/ shall abhorre it. There shall Gog and al hys people be buryed: ād it shalbe called the valley of the people of Gog. Seuen monethes long shal the house of Israell be buryenge of them that they maye clense the lande. Yea all the people of the lande shall burie them. O, it shall be a glorious daye, when I gett me that honoure, sayeth the Lorde God. They shall ordene men also to be dede buryers, euer goynge thorowe the land/ and appoynt them certayn places to bury those in, whych remayne vpon ỹ felde, that the lande maye be clensed. From ende to ende shal they seke, and ỹ vii. monethes longe. Now those that go thorow the land where they se a mās bone they shall set vp a token by it/ tyll the deed buryers haue buryed it also, in the valley of the people of Gog. And the name of the cytye shalbe called, *Hamonah: Thus shal they make ỹ lande clene Nota A mās Bone

And thou sonne of man: thus sayeth ỹ lord God: Speake vnto al the foules and euery byrd, yea and to all the wylde beastes of the felde: heape you togethet and come, gather you rounde aboute vpon my slaughter that I haue slayne for you: euen a greate slaughter vpon the mountaynes of Israell: eate flesh, and dryncke bloude, Ye shall eate the flesh of the worthyes, and dryncke the bloude of the prynces of the lande: of the wethers, of the lambes, of the goates, and of the oxen that be all slayne at Basan. Eate the fat your belyfull, and dryncke bloud, tyll ye be Dronckē of the Slaughter, whiche I haue slayn vnto you.

Fyll

Fyll you at my table, wyth hozses and strong hozsemen: with captaynes and all men of warre, sayeth the lozde god.

I wyl bzynge my glozy also amõg the Gentiles, that al the Heathen maye se my iudgemene, that I haue kepte, & my hande whyche I haue layde vpon them: ỹ the house of Israel may knowe, how that I am the Lozde theyr God/ from that daye fozth. And the Heathen shal knowe, that wher as the house of Israel were led into captiuitee: it was foz their wickednes sake/ because they offended me.

Foz the which cause I hyd my face from them, and delyuered them into ỹ handes of their enemyes ỹ they might al be slayne with the sweard. Accozdig to their vncleneslle and vnfaithful dealynges, so haue I entreated them/ and hyd my face from them. Therfoze thus sayeth the Lozde God: Now wyl I bzynge agayne the captyues of Iacob and haue mercye vpon the whole house of Israel, and be gelous foz my holy names sake. All theyr confusyon and offence that they haue done against me/ shal be taken awaye: and so safely shall they dwel in their lande, that no man shal make them afrayed. And when I haue bzought them againe frõ among the people, when I haue gathered them together out of their enemies landes, and am praysed in them before many Heathen: then shal they knowe, that I am the Lozde their god, whiche suffred them to be led into captiuytee among ỹ heathẽ, but now haue bzought them agayne into their owne lãd, & not left one of them ponder.

After that, wyl I hyd my face no mozе from them/ but wyl poure out my spzite vpon the house of Israel, sayeth the Lozde God.

¶ The restooring of the cytye & of the temple that was to come, is shewed vnto the Pzophete

¶ The xl. Chapter.

IN the. xxv. yeare of oure captyuitee, in the beginig of the yeare, the. x. daye of the moneth: that is ỹ xiiii. yeare, after that ỹ cite was smitten downe: the same daye came the hand of the Lozd vpon me, & caried me fozth: cuẽ in ỹ lãd of Israell bzought he me in the Vysyones of GOD and set me downe vppon a maruelous hye mountayne, wherupon there was a buyldyng (as it had bene of a Cytie) toward the nozth.

Thether he earyed me, and behold there was a manne/ whose symilytude was lyke bzasse whyche had a thzede of flaxe in hys hande, and a meterodde also. He stode in the dooze, ãd sayd vnto me: marke wel wyth thyne eyes, herckẽ to wyth thine eares, ãd fasten it in thine herte, what soeuer I shall shewe thee: foz to thintẽt that they might be shewed thee, therefoze arte thou bzought hether. And what soeuer thou seest/ thou shalt certify the house of Israell therof.

Behõlde there was a wall on the outsyd round about the house: the mete rodde that he hadd in hys hande was sixe cubites longe and a spanne. So he measured the bzeadthe of the buyldyng, which was a meterodde/ and the heyght also a meterod. Then came he vnto the east dooze, and went vp the stayres and measured the postes of the dooze wherof euery one was a meterod thick. Euery chambet was a meterod longe and bzode: betwene the chambers wer fyue cubites. The post of the dooze wyn the porche, was one meterodde. He measured also the porche of the vnnermer dooze, whych conteyned a meterod. Then mesured he the entry of the dooze that conteyned eyght cubytes, and his pyllers two cubytes: & this entry stode inwarde.

The chambers of the dooze east ward were thze on euery side: alike bzode ãd lõge. The pyllers also ỹ stode of both the sides/ wer of one mesure. After this he measured ỹ widnes of ỹ dooze which was. x. cubites, & ỹ heyth of ỹ dooze xiii cubites. The edge befoze ỹ chambers was one cubite bzode vpõ both ỹ sides and the chãbers six cubytes wid of eyther syde. He measured the dooze frõ the rigge of one chãbze to another, whose wydnes was xxv. cubytes, & one dooze stod againg another. He made pillers also lx cubytes hye, rouñd about ỹ courte dooze Before ỹ inward part vnto ỹ fozedooze enery of ỹ innermar dooze, were L. cubites. The chambers & their pillers with round

round about vnto ỹ doze, had syde wynddowes: So had ỹ foze entres also, whose wyndowes went roundeaboute wythe in. And vpon the pyllers there stode date trees.

Then brought he me in to the foze courte, where as were chambres and paued wozckes, made in the foze Courte round about. xxx. chambres vpon one pa D ued wozcke. Now the paued wozcke was a longe besyde the dozes/ and that was the lower paued wozcke. After this he measured the breadth from the lower doze, vnto the vttermer courte of the out syde, whych had an. C. cubytes vpon the east and the nozth parte. And the doze in the vttermost courte towarde the nozth measured he after the lenght and bredth:
hys thze chambres also on ether syde/ wh hys pyllers and foze entryes: whych had euen the measure of the fyrst doze. Hys heyght was fifti cubytes, the bredth xxv cubytes: hys wyndowes and pozches wh hys date tres, had euen lyke measure as the doze towarde the east: there were. viii steppes to go vp vpon, and theyr pozche be foze them. Now the doze of the vttr mer court stode streyght ouer agaynst ỹ doze, that was towarde the nozth east.
From one doze to another, he measured,
C. cubytes.

After that he brought me to the south syde, where there stoode a doze towarde the south: whose pyllers and pozches he measured/ these had the fyrst measure:
and wyth theire pozches they had wyndowes round aboute, lyke the fyrst wyndowes. The heygth was. l, cubytes, the bredth. xxv. wyth steppes to go vp vpō:
hys pozche stode befoze hym, wyth hys pyllers and date tres on eyther syde. And the doze of the innermer courte stode to-warde the southe/ and he measured from one dooze to another an Hundred Cuby-tes. So he brought me in to the yn nermer courte thozowe the Dooze of the south syde: whych he measured, and it had the measure a foze sayde. In lyke maner hys Chambres pyllers, and foze entryes, had euen the foze sayde measure also.
And he had wyth hys pozches roundea boute, wyndowes of. L cubytes heygh a xxv. cubites brode. The pozches round about were. xxv. cubytes long, x. v. cubi-tes brode. And hys pozche reached vnto the vttermost courte: vpon hys pyllers ther were date trees, and, viii. steppes to go vp vpon.

He brought me also into the inmost court vpon the east syde and measured the doze acozdyng to the measure afoze sayde His chambers/ pyllers, and poz ches had euen the same measure as the fyrst had: ād wyth hys pozches he had windowes rounde aboute. The heygth was. l. cubites, the bredth xxv. cubites:
hys pozches reached vnto the vttermost courte: hys pyllers also had date trees on eyther syde/ and viii steppes to goo vp vpon. And he brought me to the nozthe dooze, and measured it whych al so had the fozesayd measure. Hys cham bers/ pyllers and pozches had wyndowes rounde aboute: whose heyght was
L. cubites/ and the bredth xxv. hys pil lers stode towarde the vttermost court and. vpon them both were date trees ād viii steppes to go vp vpon. Ther stode a chambze also, whose intraunce was at the doze pyllers/ and ther the burnt offrynges were washed.

In the doze pozche, there stode on either syde two tables foz the slaught-ynges: To slepe the burntofferinges/synneofferinges and trespaceoffrynges therupon. And on the out syde as men go fozthe to the nozth doze, there stode two tables. Foure tables stod on ether syde of the doze. viii. tables wher vpon they slaughted. Foure tables were of hewen stone foz the burntoffrynges a cubyte and a halfe longe and brode/and one cubite hie wherupon were lai ed the vessels and oznamentes, whych were vsed to be the burnte and slayne offrynges, when they were slaughted.
And within, there were hokes foure fin gers brode/ fastened rounde about/ to hange flesh vpon, and vpon the tables was layed the offringe flesh. On the outside of the innermer doze/ were the singers chambers in the inward court beside the nozth doze ouer against the South. There stode one also, beside ỹ east doze nozthwarde.

And he saide vnto me: This chāmbze on the nozth syde belōgeth to ỹ pzestes that kepe the habytatyon: And thys toward toward the nozth, is the Pzestes that 1.Para.xxiiii. waytе vpon the aultar whyche be the xvi.Reg.ii,k sonnes of Sadoch, that do seruyce be-foze the Lozd in steade of the chyldzen of Leui. So he mesured the foze court which had in length an. C cubytes, ād as much in bzedth by the foute cozners

Now the aulter stode befoze the houle And he bzought me to the foze entre of ỹ houle & mesured ỹ walls by the entre doze which were fyue cubites long on ether syde. The thicknes also of the doze on either syde, was thze cubytes.
The length of the pozche was. xx. cubytes, the bzedth. xi. cubites, and vpon steppes wente men vp to yt: By the walles also wer Pillers/on either syde
one.

The dispozycion and deuyse of buyldig again
the temple, & of the other thinges ther to belōging

The. xli. Chapter.

AFter thys he bzoughte me to the temple, and mesured the postes: which were of bothe the sides. vi cubites thicke, accozding to ỹ wyd nesse of the tabernacle. The bzedth of the doze was. x cubytes and the wal les of the doze on eyther syde fiue cubytes. He mesured the length therof, which conteyned. xl cubytes/and the bzedth. xx. Then went he in, and mea sured the doze postes, whyche were two cubytes thicke: but the doze it self was syxe cubytes and the bzedthe of ỹ doze was. vii. cubytes. He mesured the lengthe and bzedth therof, whych were euery one. xx. cubytes, befoze the tēple

And he sayde vnto me: this is the holyest of al. He mesured also the wal of the houle, which was syxe cubytes.
The chambzes that stode round about the houle, wer euery one foure cubytes wyde, and one stode hard vpō another wherof there were. xxxiii. And there stode postes beneth by the walles roūd about the houle, to beare them thē vp:
but in the wall of the houle they were not fastened. The syde chambzes were the hyer, the wyder / and hadd steppes thozow theym round about the houle B Thus was'pt wyder aboue, that from the lowest, men myght go to the hyeste and myddle chambzes.

I sawe also that the houle was very hie rounde aboute. The foundacyon of the fyxe chambzes was a metterodde (that is syxe cubytes) bzode. The thycknesse of ỹ syde wall wythout, conteined fiue cubi-tes, and so dyd the out wall of the chambzes in the houle.

Betweene the chambers, was the wide nes xx. cubytes rounde about the houle.
The chambze dozes stode ouer agaynst the outwall, the one doze was towarde the nozth, the other towarde the South:
and the thyckneſſe of the outwall was.
v. cubytes rounde about. Now the buyl dynge that was separated towarde the west/was. lxx. cubytes wyde: the wall of the buyldyng was. v. cubytes thycke round about, and the length foure scoze cubytes and ten. So he measured the houle whych was an. C. cubytes long & the separated buyldyng wt the wal were an. c. cubytes long also. The wyndues be-foze the houle & of it that was separated towarde the East, was an. C. cubytes.

And he measured the length of the buyldynge befoze and behynde wyth ỹ chambers vpon both the sydes: & it con- C teyned ā. C. cubytes. The ynnermer tem ple, the pozche of the foze court, the syde postes, these thze had syde wyndowes, & pyllers rounde aboute ouer agaynst the postes, from the grounde vp to the windowes. The wyndowes thē selues were syled ouer wyth bozdes: and thus was it aboue the doze, vnto the ynmost houle and wyth out also. Ye the whole wall on euery syde both wythin and wythout was syled ouer wyth greate bozdes.
There were Cherubyns and date trees made also, so that one date tre stode euer bewyxte two Cherubyns. One Cherub had two faces/the face of a man loking a syde towarde the date tre, and a lyons face on the other syde. Thus was it made rounde aboute in al the houle. Ye the Cherubyns and date trees were made D from the ground vp aboue the doze, and so stode they also vpon the wall of the temple.

The bypostes of the temple were foure squared, and the fashyon of the Sanctuary was euē as it appered vnto
me

me a foze in the vysyon. The table was of wodde, thze cubytes hye and two cubytes longe: hys cornezs/the lengthe and the walles were of wodde.
And he sayd vnto me: Thys is the table that shall stande befoze the Lozde. The temple and the holyest of al had either of them two dozes and euery doze had two lytle wyckettes whyche were folden in one vpon another, on euery syde two.
And vpon the dozes of the temple there were mad Cherubyns & date trees, lykeas vpon the walles: a greate thycke balke of wodde was befoze on the out syde of the pozch. Upon both the sydes of the walles of the pozche, theare were made deape wyndowes and date trees, hauyng beames and balkes/lyke as the house had.

¶ Of the chambres of the temple foz the Preastes & the holy thynges.

The.xlii. Chapter.

Then caryed he me out into the foze court to warde the nozth, and brought me into the chambze that stod euer agaynst ꝑ backe buyldyng nozth warde, which had the length of an C. cubytes, whose doze turned towarde the nozth. The wideneſſe cõteyned. L. cubytes ouer agaynst the. xx. cubytes of the ynnermer courte, & agaynste the paued wozk that was in the foze court. Beside al these thze, there stode pyllers, one ouer agaynst another. And befoze thys chambze there was a place of x. cubytes wyde, and wyth in was awaye of one cubyte wyde, and theyr dozes towarde the nozth. Thus the hyest chambzes were alwaye narower then the lowest and myddelmost of the buyldyng: foz they bare chambze vpon chambze, and stode thze together one vpon another not hauyng pyllers lyke the foze court: therfoz were they smaller then those beneth and in the myddest, to recken from the ground vpwarde.
The wall wyth out that stode by ꝑ chambzes towarde the vttermost court vpon the foze syde of the chambzes, was L. cubytes long: foz the length of ꝑ vttermost chambzes in the foze court was L. cubytes also: but the length therof befoze the temple was an C. cubytes.
These chambzes had vnder them an intraunce of the easte syde, whereby a man myght go into thē out of the foze court, thozow the thycke wall of the foze court towarde the east ryght ouer agaynst the separated buyldynge. Befoze the same buylding vpon this syde ther were chambers also whych had awaye vnto them. lyke as the chambers on the nozth side of the same length and wydeneſſe.
Theyr intraunce/fashyon and dozes were also of the same maner. Yea euen lyke as the other chamberdozes were, so were those also of the south syde. And befoze the way toward the syngers steppes on the east syde there stode a doze to go in at. Then sayde he vnto me: the chambers towarde the Nozthe and the southe whych stande befoze the backe buyldyng those be holye habitations, wherein the pryestes that do seruice befoze the Lozde must eate the mooste holy offrynges: and there must they laye the mooste holy offrynges: meatofferynges, synneofferynges & trespasse offrynges/foz it is an holy place. When the pryestes come therin, they shall not go oute into the foze courte: but (seyng they be holye) they shall leaue the clothes of theyr ministracion, and put on other garmēts, when they haue any thyng to do wyth the people.
Now when he had measured all the ynnemer, house, he brought me fozth thozowe the east pozte and measured the same rounde aboute. He measured the east syde wyth the meterodde, whych round about conteyned v. C. meteroddes. And ꝑ nozth syde measured he whych cõtayned rounde aboute euen so muche. The other two sydes also to warde, the southe and ꝑ west (whych he also measured) conteyned eyther of them. v. C. meteroddes. So he measured all the four sydes where there went a wal round about. v. C meterods long, & as broade also/whych separated the holye from the vnholy.

Heseyth the glozye of God goynge into the temple, from whence it had befoze departed. He mencyoneth the Idolatryeof the chylderen of Israell, foz which they were consumed and broughte to nought. He is commaunded to call them agayne to repentaunce.

The

The.xlvii.Chapter.

A SO he brought me to the dore, that turneth towarde the east. Beholde then came the glory of the God of Israell from oute of the east, whose voyce was lyke a great noyse of waters/ and the earth was lyghtened wythe hys glorye. Hys sight to loke vpon/was lyke the fyrst that I sawe, when I wente in, what tyme as the cytye should haue ben destroyed: ād lyke the vysion that I saw by the water of Cobar. Then fel I vpon my face, but the glorye of the Lorde came into the house thorow the east dooze. So a wynd toke me vp/and brought me into the vtterme court, and behold the house was full of the glorye of the Lorde.

B I herde one speakinge vnto me out of the house, and there stode one by me, that sayde vnto me: O thou sonne of man/ thys towne is my sete, & the place of my fotesteppes, wher as I wyl dwel amōg ẏ chyldren of Israel for euermore, so that the house of Israell shall noo more defyle my holye name, neyther they nor theyr kynges thorowe theyre whordome, thorow theyr hye places & thorow ẏ dead bodys of theyr kyngs: whych haue buylded theyr thresholdes in maner herdvpon my thresholdes/and theyre postes almooste at my postes/so that there is but a bare wall betwyxte me and them. Thus haue they defyled my holy name wyth their abhominacions, that they haue committed Wherfore I haue destroyed them in my wrath. But now they shal put away their whordome and the dead bodyes of theyr kynges oute of my syghte, that I maye dwell among them for euermore. Therfore (O thou sonne of man) shewe thou the houshoulde of Israell a temple, that they maye be ashamed of theyr wyckednes, and measure thē selues an example thereat.

C And when they bee ashamed of all theyr worckes then shew them the forme & fashyon of the temple: the cōmyng in, ẏ goyng oute, al the maner and descryptiō thereof: yea al the vses and ordynaunces of it, that they maye keepe and fulfyll all the facyons and customes thereof.

Thys is the descryption of the house, Aboue vppon the Mounte roundeabout all the corners/ it shalbe the holyest of all. Behold, that is the descryptyon and fashyon of the house. Thys is the measure of the aultar (after the tru cubyte/whych is a paume longer then another cubyte) hys bottome in the myddest was a cubyte longe and wyde, and the ledge that wente rounde about it, was a spanne broade. This is the height of the aultar: from the grounde to the lower steppes to ẏ lenght is two cubites and the bredth one cubite, and from ẏ lower steppes of the hygher are foure cubites, and the bredth but one cubite.

The aultar was foure cubytes hye and from the Aultar vpwarde stoode foure hornes/ād it was xii. cubites lōg and. xii, cubites brode vppon the foure corners. The couertnge of the aultars was xiiii. cubites long and broade vpon the foure corners, and the ledge ẏ wente rounde about/had halfe a cubyte: and the bottom therof round about one cubyte/hys steppes stode towarde the east. And he sayde vnto me.

D Thou sonne of man, thus sayth the lorde GOD: These are the ordinaunces and lawes of the Aultar, in the day when it is made to offre burntoffrynges/ and to sprynckle bloude therupon. To the preistes, to the Leuites that be of the sede of Sadoch/and treade before me to do me seruice, sayth the lorde God: Unto these geue thou a yong bullock/for a synne offrynge: and take the bloude of hym and sprynckle hys four hornes wythal and the four corners of the aulter couerynge: with the ledge that goeth round aboute, here wyth shalt thou cleense it, and reconcyle it. Thou shalt take the bullocke also of the Synneoffrynge/and burne hym in a sondry place without the sanctuary.

E The nexte daye, take a goot bucke wythout blemmyshe for a synneoffring to reconcyle the Aulter withe all, lyke as it was reconcyled wyth the bullock. Now when thou hast made it cleane, then offre a yong bullock without blemysh and a ramme out of the flocke without blemish also. Offer them before the lorde, and let the preest cast salt therupon and geue them so vnto the lorde for a burnt offring.

Seuen

Seuen dayes shalt thou bringe, euery daye a goot buck. A yonge bullocke & a ramme of the flocke (bothe without ble myssh) shal they offer. Seuen daies shal they reconcile & clense the alter, & offer vpon it. When these dayes are expyred/then vpon ỹ. viii. daye and so forth, the prestes shal offer their burnt offrynges and healthe offrynges vpon the aulter: So wyll I be mercyfull vnto you/sayeth the Lorde God.

¶ He sheweth what dore of the temple is shut. He is cõmaunded to vpbraide the people with their offence. The vncircuncysed in hert & in the flesh. Who ar to be admitted to the serues of ỹ tẽple, and who to be refused. He sheweth what prests he wold haue admitted into the holy place, and also their office.

The xliiii. Chapter.

AFter this, he brought me a gayne to the outward dore of the Sanctuarye on the Easte syde, and that was shut. Then sayde the Lord vnto me: This dore shalbe styl shut, & not opened for eny mã to go thorowe it but only for the lord God of Israel: yea he shal go thorow it, els shall it be shut stil. The prince hi selfe shal cõe thorow it/that he maye eate breade before the Lord. At the porche shal he come in, & there shal he go out agayne. Then brought he me to the dore, vpõ ỹ north syde of ỹ house. And as I loked about me, beholde, the glorye of the lord fylled ỹ house: and I fel down vpon my face. So the Lord spake vntome: O ỹ sonne of mã, a*faste this to thyne hert beholde, and take dyligent heade to all that I wyl saye vnto thee/ concerning al the ordinaunces of the lorde and al his lawes: ponder wel with thine hert the cõmyng in of ỹ house & the goinge forth of ỹ sãctuary: & tel ỹ obstinat house holde of Israel: Thus sayeth ỹ lorde god: O house of Israell/ye haue now done ynough, with al youre abhominacyons, seynge that ye haue brought te in to my Sanctuary straungers, hauynge vncyrcumcysed Heartes and flesshe, where thorowe my Sanctuarye is defyled, whẽ ye offre me bread, fat, & blode.

Thus with al youre abhominacyons ye haue broken my couenaunt/ & not kepe the holy ordinaces of my sãctuary: but set kepers of my Sanctuary, euen after your owne minde. Therfor thus sayeth the lord god: Of al the straungers that dwel among the chyldren of Israel/no straũger (whose hert and flesh is not circumcised) shal com within my Sanctuary: No nor the Leuites that be gone back fro me, & haue disceaued the people of Israel with al errours/going after their ydoles: therfore shall they beare their owne wyckednes. Shulde they be set and ordened to mynystre vnder the dores of the house of my sanctuary: And to do seruice in ỹ house: to slaye burntofferigs and sacrifices for the people: to stande before them, and to serue them: seynge the seruyce ỹ they do them, is before ther Idols, and cause the house of Israel to stomble thorow their wickednes For ỹ which cause I haue pluckte out myne hand ouer them (saieth the Lord) for ỹ now they muste beare their owne iniquitye, and not to com nye me, to serue me with their presthod, in my Sanctuary, and mooste holyest of al: ỹ they mate bere their owne shame and abhominacyons, whiche they haue donne. Shoulde I vse them to be porters of the house, and to all the seruyce that is done therin: but the prestes the Leuites the sonnes of Sadoch, that kepte the holy ordynaunces of my Sanctuarye when the chylderen of Israeli were gone fro me shall come to me to do me seruyce, to stande before me, and to offre me the fat ãd the bloud/saieth the lord God.

They shal go into my sanctuarye and treade before my table/to doo me seruice, and to wayte vpon myne ordynaunces Now when they go in at thee dores of the vnnermer court, they shal put on lynen clothes, so that no wolly ne come vpon them, whyle they do seruice vnder the dores of the vnnermer court & wtin. They shal haue fayre linneu bonettes vpon theyr heade and lynen breches vpon theyr loynes/which in theyr labor they shal not put about them: And when they go forthe to the People into the outwarde courte: they shall put of the clothes / wherein they haue ministred and laye them in the habytacion of the Sanctuarye and put on other apparell, leaste they vnhalowe the people with theyr clothes.

F Leuitti,xlv,f, and,xx,a,a

They shall not shaue theyr heades, nor nourysshe the bushe of theyre hearte but rounde theyr heades onely. All the Prestes that go into the vtmost courte shall dryncke no wyne. They shal mary

Leuitte,-,-, Olei,a,iii,a no wyddow, nether one that is put from her husbande: but a maide of the sede of the house of Israell, or a wyddowe, that hath had a pryest before.

They shall shewe my people the dyfference betwene the holy and vnholy, betwyxte the cleane and vncleane. G If anye dyscorde aryse, they shal dyscerne it/and geue sentence after my iudgementes. My solēpne feastes, my lawes and ordynaunces shal they keape/and halowe my Sabbothes. They shal come at no dead person to defyle them selues (excepte it be father or mother, sonne or daughter, brother or syster that hathe had yet no Husband) in suche they maye be defyled.

And when he is clensed, there shal be reckened vnto hym seuen Dayes: and yf he go into the sanctuarye agayne to do seruice, he shall bryngc a synne offryng sayeth the Lorde God. They shal haue āheritage: yea I my selfe wylbe theyr herytage/els shal ye geue them no possessyon in Israeel, for I am theyr possessiō. The meateofferyng, synneofferynge, ād trespasse offrynge shal they eate, and euery Dedicate thynge in Israell shall be theyrs. The fyrst lynges of al the fyrst frutes, and all ire wyll offerynges shalbe the Pryestes.

Ye shall geue vnto the Pryest also the fyrstlynges of youre dowe, that GOD maye prospere the resydue. But noo deade carcon shall the pryeste eate/ nor suche as is deuoured of wyld bestes fowles or catell.

The Notes.

a* That is: consydre or ymmagyne thys in thyne herte.

¶ Out of all the land of promes are there separate iiii. porcions of whych the fyrst is geuen to the prestes and to the temple, the second to the leuytes, the thyrde to the cytye, the fourth to the prynce. An exhortacion to the heades of Israell. Of iust weyghtes and measures. Of fyrst frutes. &c.

¶ The. xlv. Chapter.

When ye deuyde the lande by the lot, ye shal put aside one parte for the Lord to be holy from otheyr landes: namely xxv. M. meteroddes longe, A Eze.xlviii.b

& x. M. brode. This shalbe holy, as wide as it is rounde aboute. Of thys parte there shall belonge vnto ỹ Sanctuary v. C. meteroddes in all the foure corners and. l. cubytes wyde rounde aboute to ỹ suburbes. And frō this measure/namely of xxv. M meteroddes longe, and x. M brode, thou shalt measure, wherin the Sanctuary and the holyest of all maye stande.

The resydue of that holy grounde shall be the prestes, whych do seruyce in the Sanctuary of the Lorde, and goo in before the Lorde to serue hym/that they maye haue rowme to dwell in.

As for the Sanctuary, it shall stande B for it selfe: and to the Leuytes that serue in the house, there shalbe geuen. xx, habytacyons, of the xxv. M. length and. x. M breadth: ye shal geue also vnto the cytie a possessyon of. v. M, meteroddes brode and. xxv. M. longe, besyde the parte of the Sāctuary: that shal be for the whole house of Israel. Upon both the sydes of the Sanctuaryes part/and by the cytye there shalbe geuen vnto the prynce what soeuer lyeth ouer against the cytye, as farre as reacheth westward & eastwarde C whych shalbe as long as one parte, from the west vnto the east.

This shalbe his awne lande in Israel/that my prynces be no more chargeable vnto my people. And such as remaineth yet ouer in the lande shalbe geuen to ỹ house of Israel accordynge to their trybes. Thus sayeth the Lorde God: O ye prynces, ye haue now oppressed and destroyed ynough: now leaue of, handle now accordyng to the thynge, that is equall ād lauful: and thrust out my people no more sayeth the Lorde God. Ye shal haue a true weyght, a true[a]* Ephah and a true[b]* Bath. The Ephah and the Bath shalbe a lyke. One Bath shall cōteyne the tenth parte of an Homer and D so shall one Ephah do. Theyr measure shall be after the Homer. One Sycle maketh. xx. Geras. [c]* So. xx, Sycles, ād. xxv and. xv. Sycles make a poundes

This is the heaueoffrige/that ye shal geue to be heaued,namely,ỹ.xvi parte of anEphah,out of an Homer ofwater and the.xvi.parte of an Ephah, out of an Homer of barley. The oyle shalbe measured with the Bath:euen the tent parte of one Bath out of a *Coz.

Ten Bathes make one Homer:for one Homer kylleth ten Bathes. And one lambe from two hondzeth shep out of the pasture of Israel,for a meatoffering,burnt offering and healthoffering to reconcyle them/sayeth the lozde god.

All the people of the lande shall geue this heaue offeryng with a fre wyl.

Agayne,it shalbe the pzinces part to offer burntoffrynges,meat offerynges and dzinckeofferinges vnto the Lozde G in the holydayes,new Mones/Sabothes,and in al hie fastesof the house of Israel. The synoffering,meateoffrynge burntoffering and healthoffering shall he geue/ to reconcyle the house of Israel. Thus sayeth the Lozd God: The fyrst day of the first moneth thou shalt take a yong bullock without blemish, and clense the sanctuary: So the prieste shall take of the bloude of the synofferyng,and spryncle it vpon the postes of the house,and vpō the foure cozners of the aultar,with the dozeposles of the ynnermer courte. And thus shalt thou do also the seuenth date of the moneth (for suche as haue sinned of ignozaūce oz beynge dysceaued) to reconcyle the house Wal. Upon the.xiiii daye of the moneth ye shal kepe Easter. Seuen dayes shal the feast contynue,wherein there shal no sower noz leuened bzead be eaten.

Upon the same date shall the pzince geue for him self and for al his people of the lande,a bullock for a synofferyng And in the feaste of the seuen dayes he shal offre euery date a bullock & a ram, that are without blemish,for a burntofferyng vnto the lozd:and an he goote dayly for a synofferyng. For the meate offrynges/he shal geue euer an Ephah to a bullocke,an Ephah to a ram, & an Hen of oyle to an Ephah. Upon the xv daye of the seuenthe Moneth,he shall kepe the seuen dayes holy one after another,euen as the other seuen dayes: wyth the synne offrynge/ burntoffrynge. meate offryng,and wyth the oyle.

The Notes.

a ✡ Ephah is a measure of dzye thinges.
b * Bath is a measure of moyste thynges.
c * So xx.sycles,and ,xv. and ,xxv, make a pounde That is.xl,sycles make a pounde. Howbeit euerye one of these numbers was wonte to haue hys pzoper name alone, d * Coz and Homer are both one.
¶ The sacrypice of the Sabboth and of the newe moone, Thozow whych dozes they must go in,oz cō out of the temple,&c.

¶ The.xlvi.Chapter.

THus sayeth the lozde God: The dooze of the ynnermer courte toward the east,shal be shut the vi wozck dayes but in the sabboth & in the day of the newe Moone, it shalbe opened. Thē shal the pzynce cōe vnder the dooze pozche,and stande still wout by the dooze cheke. So ỹ pzestes shall offre vp hys burnte and healthe offerynges. And he shal wozshyppe at the dooze poste,and go hys waye forthe agayne, but the dooze shall no moze bee shut tyll the euening.

On the same maner shal the people of the lād also do theyz wozshyp before the Lozde, without thys dooze vpon the Sabbothes and new mones. This is now the burntoffrynge,that ỹ pzince shall bzyng vnto the Lozd vpon ỹ sabboth:syxe lambes without blemysh, & a ram without blemish,and an Ephah for a meateoffering,with ỹ ram. As for the lābes,he mate geue as many meteoffrynges to them,as he wil,& an Hen of oyle to an Ephah. In the daye of the newe monethe,it shalbe a yong bullocke wythout blemyshe, syxe lambes & a ram also without blemysh. With ỹ bullocke he shal geue an Ephah,and with the ram an Ephah also for a meteoffering:but to the lābes,what he mate come by. And euer an Hen of oile to an Ephah. When the pzince commeth he shal go vnder the dooze pozche, and euen there departe forth agayne. But whē the people of the lād come before the Lozd in the hye solempne fest,as many as come in by the nozth dooze to do wozshyp, shal go out agayne at the south dooze. And they ỹ com in at ỹ south Dooze, shall goo Forth agayne at the Nozth dooze.

There

There shal none go oute at the doze where he cam in, but shal go fozth tyght ouer on the other syde, and the pzynce
D shal go in and out amonge them.

Upon the solempne and hye feaste dayes, thys shalbe the meatoffcryng:
An Ephah to a bullock & an Ephah to a ram/and to the lambes: as many as he wil, but euer an hin of otle to an Ephah.
Now when the pzynce bzyngeth a burnt offerynge oz an healthe offcrynge wyth a fre wyll vnto the Lozde, the east doze shalbe opened vnto hym, that he may do wyth hys burnt and healthofferynges/as he doth vpō the Sabboth, and when he goeth fozth, ỹ doze shal be shutt after hym agayne. He shal daylye bzynge vnto the Lozd a lambe of a yere old wout blemysh foz a burnt offryng: thys shall he do euery mozninge. And foz a meateofferynge he shal geue the syxte parte of an Epha/and the thirde parte of an Hin of oyle (to mynngle wyth the cakes) euery mouminng. Yet hys shalbe a daylye meatofferynge vnto the Lozde foz an euer lastynge ozdynaunce: and thus shall the lambe, the meatofferynge & oyle be geuē euery mozninge, foz a daylye burntoffe rynge.

Mozeouer, thus saith the Lozd god:
If the pzynce geue a gyfte vnto eny of hys sōnes, then shal it be hys sōnes herit tage petpetuall/that he maye possesse it.
But If he wil geue one of hys seruaun tes some of hys heretage, it shal be hys to the fre yeare, & thē to returne agayne vnto the pzynce: foz his heretage shalbe hys sonnes only. The pzynce also shall take none of the peoples enherytaunce/ner put them from theyr possessyon: but to hys owne sonnes shal he geue his pos sessyon, that my people be not scatred a-bzode, but that euery man maye haue his owne.

And he bzought me thozow the in-traunce at the side of the doze to the haby tacion of the Sanctuari, that belongeth to the pzestes & stode towarde the nozth, and beholde, there was a place vpon the West syde, then sayde he vnto me: This is ỹ place, where the pzestes shal dyght ỹ trespase and synoffrynges, and bake the meatofferings: that they nede not beare them in to the out warde courte, and so to vnhalow the people.

So he bzought me into the vttermost courte, rounde aboute all the foure cozners. Behold in euery corner of the foze courte/theare was yet a lytle courte.
Ye in al the foure corners of the court,
there was made a lytle courte of xl. cu-bites longe/and .xxx. cubites bzoade.

These foure lytle Courtes were of one lyke measure, and there wente a rygge wall round about them al foure vnder the whyche there were harthes made rounde aboute. Then sayde he vnto me: Thys is the kytchyn/where ỹ mynisters of the house shall dyght the slayne offrynges of the people.

¶ The vysions of the water that come oute of the temple: The coastes of the lande of pzomes, and ỹ dyuision therof by trybes.

The .xlvii. Chapter.

After thys he bzought me a-gayne before the doze of the house: & behold/ther gushed A oute waters from vnder the posts of the house eastward (foz the house stode towarde the easte) ỹ ranne downe vpon the ryght syde of the house, whych lyeth to the aultar Southwarde. Then caryed he me oute of ỹ nozth doze, and bzought me fozth theare rounde about by the vttemost doze that turneth eastwarde. Beholde, there came fozth the water vpon the tyght syde.

Nowe whan the man that had the mete-rod in hys hand went vnto the east doze, he measured a .M. Cubytes, and then he bzought me thozow ỹ water, euē to the ā cles: so he measured yet a thousand, and bzoughte me thozowe the water agayne vnto the knees: yeat measured he a thou sande, and bzought me thozow the water vnto the loynes. After thys he measured a thousand agayne / then was it suche a ryuer, that I might not wade thozow it:
The water was so depe, that it was nede full to haue swymmed/foz it myghte not be waded ouer. And he sayde vnto me:
hast thou sene thys/O thou sonne of mā ād wyth that, he bzought me to the ryuer banck agayne.

Now when I came there/there stode many trees vpon either syde of the ryuer bancke. Then sayde he vnto me: Thys water that floweth out toward ✳ the east and runneth downe into the playnefelde

commeth into the Sea: and from the Sea it runneth oute, and maketh the waters whole. Yea al that lyue and moue, wherunto thys ryuer commeth/ shall recouer. And there thys water cõmeth/ there shalbe muche fysh. For all that cõmeth to thys water, shalbe lusty and whole. By thys ryuer shall the fyshers stande from Engaddi, vnto Eneglaim, and there spreade out theyr nettes: for there shall be greate heapes of fysh, lyke as in the mayne sea. As for hys clape and pyttes/ they shall not be whole, for whyche it shalbe occupyed for salt.

By thys ryuer vpon both the sydes of the shore/ there shall growe all maner of fruteful trees, whose leaues shal not fall of, nether shall theyr frute perysche: but euer be rype at theyr monethes, for theyr water runneth out of theyr sanctuarye. Hys fruyte is good to eate, and his leafe profitable for medicine. Thus sayth the Lorde God: Let thys be the G border, wherin ye shall diuyde the land vnto the xii. tribes of Israell/ wyth the lyne. Part it indifferently vnto one as vnto another of the which lãd I swore vnto youre fathers, that it shoulde fall to youre enheritaunce.

Thys is the border of the land vpõ the north side/ from the mayn sea, as mẽ go to Zadada: namely Hemath, Berotha Sabarim: from the borders of Damascus and Hemath vnto Hazar Tichon, and there lieth vpon the coastes of Heueram, Thus the borders from the sea forthe, shalbe Hazar/ euen the border of damascus the north, and the borders of Hemath, that is the north parte.

The east syde shall ye measure from Hauetan and Damascus, from Galaad and the Lande of Israell by Jordane and so forth: frõ the sea coste/ that lyeth eastwarde: and thys is the east part.

The southsyde is, from Thamar forth to ỹ waters of strife vnto Cades, the ryuer, to the mayne sea: and that is the south parte.

The west parte: namely the greatte sea from the borders therof tyl a man come vnto Hemath: Thys is the Weste parte.

Thys lande shall ye haue amonge you, accordinge to the tribes of Israell: and deuide it to be an heritage for you, and for the straũgers that dwell amõg you/ and begette chylderen. For ye shal take them amonge the chylderen of Israell/ lyke as though they were of your owne housholde and countre: and they shal haue heritage wyth you amõg the chylderẽ of Israell.

Loke in what tribe the straunger dwelleth, in the same tribe shall ye geue hi hys heritage, sayeth the Lord God.

¶ The lottes of the xii. tribes. The partes of the possession of the prestes and of the temple, of the Leuites, of the citie, of the prynce, are reherced. The lottes of the other tribes. The gates of the cytie.

¶ The. xlviii. Chapter

A

These are the names of the Tribes that lye vppon the northeside, by the waye of Hetlon, tyll thou commeste vnto hemath and Hazar Enam, the borders of Damascus towar the north beside Hemath: Dan shall haue hys porcion frõ the east quarters vnto the west. Upon the borders of Dã from the east tyde vnto the weste, shall Asser haue hys porcion. Upon the borders of Asser from the caste parte vnto the west shal nepthali haue his porciõ.

Upon the bordes of Nephthali frõ the East quarter vnto the West/ shall Manasses haue his porcyon Upõ the borders of Manasses from the east sid B vnto the west, shal Ephraim haue hys porcyõ. Upon the borders of Ephraim from the east parte vnto the west, shall Ruben haue his porcyon. Upon the borders of Ruben from the east quarter vnto the west shal Juda haue his porcyon: Upon the borders of Juda from ỹ east parte vnto the west, ye shal set aside one porcyon. xxv. M. metrod des long & brode (lyke as another porcion from the east syde vnto the west) wherin the sanctuary shall stande.

As for the porcion, that ye shal separate out for the lord, it shalbe xxv. M longe and x. M brode. Which seperated holy porcyon shal belong vnto these: namely to the prestes, toward the north xxv. M and toward the west x M brode, toward the east x M brode also/ & toward the south xxv. M long, wherin the Sanctuary of ỹ lord shall stande. Yee this same place shalbe the prestes

Eze.xliii.d.& xlvii.x

prestes, that are of the children of Sadoch, ād haue kept my holy ordinaūce which went not astraye in the errour of the children of Israel, lyke as ỹ Leuites are gone astray: and this separated pece that they haue of the land shal be the moste holy, harde vpon the borders of the leuites. And nexte vnto ỹ prestes, shal the Leuites haue. xxv M long & x M brode. This shalbe on euery syde. xxv M longe, and x M brode. Of this porcyon they shal sel nothyng nor make any permutacīō therof, lest the cheke of the land fal vnto other, for it is halowed vnto the Lord:

The other .v M after the bredeth ỹ lyeth by ỹ. xxv M. shalbe cōmō: it shal belong to the cytee ād to the suburbes for habitacyons/ and the cytte shal stād in the middeste therof. Let this be the measure toward the north parte. v C & xiiii M toward the south parte v C ād iiii M toward the east parte v C & iiii M toward the west part v C and. iiii thousand.

The suburbes hard vpon the citie shal haue toward the north L and ii C toward the south. L. and. ii. C. toward ỹ east L and ii C, toward the west also L and two C. As for the residue of the length, that lyeth hard vpon the separated holy groūd: namely x thousand toward the east, and x M towarde the west, nexte vnto the holy porcyon: it & the increase therof shal serue for their meat, that laboure in the cytye. They that laboure for the welth of the cytye, shal maintepne thys also, out of what tribe so euer they be in Israel.

Al ỹ is spoken of the xxv M longe and xxv M brode on the foure partes, ỹ shall ye put asyde for the separated porcyon of the cytye. The residue vpon both ỹ sydes of the Sanctuary, ād for the possessyon of the cytye. The residue vpon both the sydes of the Sanctuarye and possession of the cytye shal belong to the prince, before the place of the xxv M vnto the east ende/ and before the place of the .xxv. M west ward vnto the borders of the cytie: this shal be the princes porcion. This shalbe ỹ holy place/ and the house of the Sanctuary shal stande in the middest.

Moreouer from ỹ Leuytes and the cyttes possession that lye in the middes of the princes parte: loke what remayneth betwyxt the borders of Juda and the border of Ben Jamyn, it shalbe the Princes.

Now of the other tribes

From the east parte vnto the weste shall Ben Jamyn haue hys porcyon. Upon the borders of Ben Jamyn from the east syde vnto the west/ shall symeō haue his porcyon. Upon the borders of Simeon frō ỹ east parte vnto the west shall Izakar haue hys porcion. Upon the borders of Izakar from the Easte syde vnto the west/ shall zabulon haue hys porcyon. Upon the borders of zabulon from the east part vnto the west shall Gad haue hys porcion. Upon ỹ borders of Gad southward, the coastes shall reach from Thamar forth vnto ỹ waters of stryfe to Cades, and to the floude, euen vnto the mayne sea

This is the lande wyth hys porcions whych ye shall distrybute vnto ỹ tribes of Israell sayth the Lorde God Thus wyde shall the cyte reache: vpon the north parte. v C. ād. iiii. M. measures. The portes of the cytie shall haue ỹ names of the trybes of Israell, The portes of the northe syde: one Ruben/ another Juda, the thyrde Leuy.

Upon the east syde, v. C. and. iiii. M. measures wt thre portes: ỹ one Joseph another ben Jamin, the thyrde Dan. Upon the southsyde. v. C. and. iiii. M. measures wyth the thre portes, the one Simeon, another Izakar, the thyrde Sabulon. And vpō the west syde. v. C and. iiii. M. measures, wyth three portes also, the one Gad, another Asser, the thyrde Nephtaly. Thus shall it haue xviii. M. measures round aboute.

And from that tyme forth, the name of the Citye shall be: the Lorde is there.

The ende of the prophecye of Ezechyell.

Eze.xliii.d.& xlvii.x

prestes, that are of the children of Sadoch, ād haue kept my holy ordinaūce which went not astraye in the errour of the children of Israel, lyke as ỹ Leuites are gone astray: and this separated pece that they haue of the land shal be the moste holy, harde vpon the borders of the leuites. And nexte vnto ỹ prestes, shal the Leuites haue. xxv M long & x M brode. This shalbe on euery syde. xxv M longe, and x M brode. Of this porcyon they shal sel nothyng nor make any permutacīō therof, lest the cheke of the land fal vnto other, for it is halowed vnto the Lord:

The other .v M after the bredeth ỹ lyeth by ỹ. xxv M. shalbe cōmō: it shal belong to the cytee ād to the suburbes for habitacyons/ and the cytte shal stād in the middeste therof. Let this be the measure toward the north parte. v C & xiiii M toward the south parte v C ād iiii M toward the east parte v C & iiii M toward the west part v C and. iiii thousand.

The suburbes hard vpon the citie shal haue toward the north L and ii C toward the south. L. and. ii. C. toward ỹ east L and ii C, toward the west also L and two C. As for the residue of the length, that lyeth hard vpon the separated holy groūd: namely x thousand toward the east, and x M towarde the west, nexte vnto the holy porcyon: it & the increase therof shal serue for their meat, that laboure in the cytye. They that laboure for the welth of the cytye, shal maintepne thys also, out of what tribe so euer they be in Israel.

Al ỹ is spoken of the xxv M longe and xxv M brode on the foure partes, ỹ shall ye put asyde for the separated porcyon of the cytye. The residue vpon both ỹ sydes of the Sanctuary, ād for the possessyon of the cytye. The residue vpon both the sydes of the Sanctuarye and possession of the cytye shal belong to the prince, before the place of the xxv M vnto the east ende/ and before the place of the .xxv. M west ward vnto the borders of the cytie: this shal be the princes porcion. This shalbe ỹ holy place/ and the house of the Sanctuary shal stande in the middest.

Moreouer from ỹ Leuytes and the cyttes possession that lye in the middes of the princes parte: loke what remayneth betwyxt the borders of Juda and the border of Ben Jamyn, it shalbe the Princes.

Now of the other tribes

From the east parte vnto the weste shall Ben Jamyn haue hys porcyon. Upon the borders of Ben Jamyn from the east syde vnto the west/ shall symeō haue his porcyon. Upon the borders of Simeon frō ỹ east parte vnto the west shall Izakar haue hys porcion. Upon the borders of Izakar from the Easte syde vnto the west/ shall zabulon haue hys porcyon. Upon the borders of zabulon from the east part vnto the west shall Gad haue hys porcion. Upon ỹ borders of Gad southward, the coastes shall reach from Thamar forth vnto ỹ waters of stryfe to Cades, and to the floude, euen vnto the mayne sea

This is the lande wyth hys porcions whych ye shall distrybute vnto ỹ tribes of Israell sayth the Lorde God Thus wyde shall the cyte reache: vpon the north parte. v C. ād. iiii. M. measures. The portes of the cytie shall haue ỹ names of the trybes of Israell, The portes of the northe syde: one Ruben/ another Juda, the thyrde Leuy.

Upon the east syde, v. C. and. iiii. M. measures wt thre portes: ỹ one Joseph another ben Jamin, the thyrde Dan. Upon the southsyde. v. C. and. iiii. M. measures wyth the thre portes, the one Simeon, another Izakar, the thyrde Sabulon. And vpō the west syde. v. C and. iiii. M. measures, wyth three portes also, the one Gad, another Asser, the thyrde Nephtaly. Thus shall it haue xviii. M. measures round aboute.

And from that tyme forth, the name of the Citye shall be: the Lorde is there.

The ende of the prophecye of Ezechyell.

¶ The Boke of

The Prophete Daniel.

The prophete sheweth the captiuitie of Jehoakym kyng of Juda. Of the sonnes that wer in captiuitee the kyng commaundeth to chose whych of thē should be taught the learnyng and language of the Caldes They are allowed the kynges kedyng. Danyel abstei nethfrom th emeate of the kyng of Babylon, The sciences instruction of these Chyldren.

The fyrst Chapter.

A 4 kin. Re. 24. a 11. Pa. xxxvi

IN the thyrde yeare of the raygne of Jehoakim kyng of Juda/came Nabuchodonosor kynge of Babylō vnto Jerusalem, and besieged it: & lord delyuered Jeoakim ỹ king of Juda into hys Hande wythe Certayne ornamentes of the house of god whiche he caryed awaye vnto the lande of Sēnar, to the house of hys god, and ther he brought them into hys goddes treasurye. And the kyng spake vnto Aphanaz ỹ chef chamberlayne, that he should bring hym certayne of the chyldren of Israel that were come of the kynges sede, and of princes, yong spryngaldes wythout any blemysh, but fayre and welfauored instruct in all wysdome, connynge and vnderstanding, which were able to stād in the kynges palace, to rede & to learne for to speake Caldeish.

B Unto these the kynge appoynted a certaynē porcyon of hys owne meate, & of the wyne whych he dranck hym selfe so to norysshe them thre yeare, that afterwarde they might stand before the kyng. Amonge these nowe were certaine of the chyldren of Juda: namely Daniel, Ananias, Misael ād Azarias. Unto these ỹ chefe chamberlayn gaue other names, and called Daniel, Balthasar: Ananias Sidrach: Misael, Misach, and Asarias Abdenago. But daniel was at apointe wyth hym selfe, that he woulde not be defyled, thorow the kynges meate/nor the wyne which he dronck. And thys he desyred of the chefe chamberlayn/least he shoulde defyle hym selfe. So God gaue Daniell fauoure and grace before the cheafe Chamberlayne that he saide vnto him. I am afrayed of my Lord the kyng, which haue appoynted you your meate and drinck: lest he spie your faces to be worse lykig thē ỹ other Spryngaldes of youre age, and so yee shal make me lose my headde vnto the kynge.

Then Daniel answered Melassar, whom the chefe champerlayne had set ouer Daniel, Ananias, Misael and Azarias, and sayde: O proue but ten dates with thy seruauntes, and let vs haue potage to eate/ & water to drinck then loke vpon oure faces, and theirs/ that eate of the kynges meate. And as thou seist, so deale with thy seruaūtes, So he consēted to them in this matter and proued them. x dayes. And after ỹ ten dates, their faces were better lykig and fatter, then al the yong spryngaldes which eate of the kinges meate.

Thus Melassar toke awaye their meate and wyne, and gaue thē potage therfor. God gaue now these foure spryngaldes conning and lernig in al scripture and wysdome: But vnto Daniel spectally, he gaue vnderstanding of all vysions and dreames. Now when the time was expired, that the king had appoynted to bring in these yong spryngaldes vnto him: the chefe chāberlaine brought them befor Nabuchodonosor, and the kyng communed with thē. But amōg al thē were found none suche as Daniel, Ananias, Misael, and Azarias: Therfore stod they before the kyng which, in all wysdome and matters of vnderstanding, that he enquired of thē founde them ten tymes better, then al the sothsaiers and charmers, that were in all his realme. And Daniel abode stil, vnto the fyrst yeare of king Cyrus

¶ The dreame of Nabuchodonosor. He calleth vn to hym sothsayers, and requyreth of them both the dreame and the interpretatiō therof. They answere that they can not shew it. The kyng commaundeth al the wyse mē of Babylon to be slayne. Daniel requyreth tyme to solute the question. The lord openeth ỹ mystery vnto Daniel. Daniel is brought vn to ỹ king, & sheweth him his dreame & the interpretacion therof. Of the euerlastinge kyngdom of Christ. The stone, Christ. Daniel is exalted & promoted of the kyng.

¶ The.ii. Chapter.

IN the second yere of ỹ raigne of Nabuchodonosor, hadde Nabuchodonosor a dreame, where thorow his spryte was vexed, & his slepe brake frō hi

A Iob, vii. b daniel. iiii. a

Then

Then the kynge commaunded to call to gether al the sothsayers, charmers, wytches & Caldees, for to shewe ỹ kyng hys dreame. So they came/and stode before the kyng. And the kyng sayd vnto them. I haue dreamed a dreame, and my spyrite was so troubled ther wyth, that I haue clene forgotten, what I dreamed. Upon thys, the Caldees answered the kynge in the Syryans speach: :* O kynge, God saue thy lyfe for euer. Shew thy seruaũtes the dreame, and we shall shewe thee/ what it meaneth. The kynge gaue the Caldees theyr answere/and sayd: It is gone fro me. Yf ye wyl not make me vnderstande the dreame wyth the interpretacyon therof, ye shal die, & youre houses shalbe pyrsed. But yf ye tell the dreame and the meaning therof, ye shall haue of me giftes, rewardes and greate honoure only shew me the dreame and the sygnyfycacyon of it. They answered agayne, and sayde: the kynge must shewe hys seruauntes the dreame, and so shall we de-B clare what it meaneth. Then the kynge answered sayinge: I perceaue of a trueth that ye do but prolonge the tyme: for so muche as ye se the thyng is gone fro me. Therfore ye wyl not tel me the dreame al ye shal haue al one iudgement. But ye fayne and dyssemble wyth vayne wordes whyche ye speake before me, to put of the tyme. Therfore tell me the dreame/& so shal I know yf ye can shewe me what it meaneth. Upõthys the caldees gaue answere before the kyng/and sayd, there is no man vpon earth that can tel the thig, whych the kyng speaketh of, yea, ther is neyther kyng/ Prynce nor Lorde, that euer asked suche thinges at a sothsayer charmer or Caldeer; for it is a verye harde matter, that the kyng requyreth. Neither is there any, that can certyfye the kynge therof, except the Goddes, whose dwelling is not among the crea-
C tures.

For the whych cause the kyng was wroth wyth greate indygnacyon, and commaunded to destroye all the wyse men at Babylon: and the proclamacyõ wente forth, that the wyse men shoulde be slayne. They sought also to slaye Danyel with hys companyons.

Then daniel enquired Aryoch ỹ kinges Stewarde, of the iudgement & sentence that was gone forth alredy to kyll suche as were wyse at Babylon. He answered and sayde vnto Aryoch beynge then the kynges debytee: Wo hy hath the kyng proclamed so cruell a sentence? So Aryoch tolde Daniel the matter. Upon thys, wente Danyel vp, and desyred the kynge, that he myght haue leysoure, to shew the kynge the interpretacyon: and then came he home agayne and shewed the thynge vnto Ananyas, Mysael and Asaryas hys companyõs: ỹ they should beseche the God of heauen for grace in thys secret, that Danyell & hys felowes wyth other suche as wer wyse in Babylõ perysshed not. Then was the mystery shewed vnto Danyel in a vysyon by nyght. And Danyel praysed the god of heauen. Danyel also cryed loude, & sayed O that ỹ name of God might be praised for euer & euer/for wysdome & strength are hys owne: he chaungeth the tymes and ages: he putteth downe kynges, he setteth vp kynges: he geueth wysdome vnto the wyse, and vnderstandynge to those that vnderstande, he openeth the deepe secretes/he knoweth the thynge ỹ lyeth in darcknesse, for ỹ lyght dwelleth wyth hym. I thanke thee, and prayse thee (O thou God of my fathers) that thou hast lent me wysdome and strength, and hast shewed me the thynge, that we desyred of thee/ for thou haste opened the kynges matter vnto me. D

Upon thys went Danyel in vnto Aryoch, whom the kinge had ordened to E destroye the wyse at Babylon: He went vnto hym, and sayd: destroye not suche as are wyse in Babylon, but bringe me in vnto the kynge, and I shal shewe the kynge the interpretatyon. Then Arioch brought Daniel in to the king in all the haste, and sayd vnto him: I haue found a man amonge the presoners of Juda that shall shewe the kynge the interpretacyon. Then answered the kynge and sayde vnto Danyel whose name was Balthasar: Art thou he that canst shewe me the dreame whych I haue seene and the interpretacyõ therof? Danyel answered the kynge to hys face and sayde: As for thys secrete for the whych the kynge maketh inquisycion: yt is nether the

wyse

wyse, the sorcerer, the charmer or the de-uell coniurer, that can certyfye the kyng of it. Only God in heauen can open secretes, & he it is, that sheweth the kynge Nabu chodonosor, what is for to com in the latt er dayes.

E Thy dreame/and that whych thou hast sene in thyne head vpon thy bed is thys: O kynge, thou dydest cast in thy mynde, what shulde come herafter: So he that is the opener of misteries, telleth thee/what is for to come. As for me, this secrete is not shewed me, for anye Wysdom that I haue, more the eny other lyuyng: but only that I myght shewe the kynge the interpretacyon. and that he myght know the thoughtes of his awne harte. Thou kynge sawest, and beholde:
there stode before the a greate Image, whose fygure was maruelous greate, & hys vysage brymme. The Image head was of fyne gold, hys breast and armes of syluer, hys body and loynes were of copper, hys legges were of yron, hys fete were parte of yron/and parte of earth.

Math. xxi. c
Luke xx. b

Thys thou sawest, tyll the tyme that (wyth out eny handes) there was hewen of a stone whych smote the Image vpon
the fete, that were both of yron & earthe and brake them to pouder: then was the yron, the earth/the copper, the siluer and golde broken altogether in peaces: and be came like the chaffe of corne, that the wynde bloweth away from the somer floures that they can no more be found.
But the stone that smote the Image, became a greate mountayne/whych fulfyl leth the whole earth. This is the dreame
And now wyl we shewe before the kyng what it meaneth.

F Wantel. v, d

O kynge, thou art a kynge of kynges. For the god of heauē hath geuē thee a kyngdome, ryches/ strength and mastly: & hath delyuered the al thynges that are amonge the chyldren of men, ỹ beastes of the feld/& the foules vnder the heauē/& geuē thee dominyō ouer thē al.
Thou art that golden head. After thee there shal arise another kyngdom, which shall be lesse then thyne. The thyrde kyngdom shalbe lyke copper, and haue dominacyon in all landes. The fourth kyngdome shall be as stronge as yron.
For lyke as yron broseth and breaketh all thynges: Yea, euen as yron beateth euerye thynge downe, so shall it beate downe and destroye.

Where as thou sawest the fete and toes/parte of earth and parte of yron:
that is a diuyded kyngdome, whych neuertheles shall haue some of the yron grounde myxte with it, for so moch as thou hast sene the yron myxte wyth the claye.

The toes of the fete that were parte of yron and parte of claye, sygnyfyeth:
that it shalbe a kyngdome, partely strōg and partely weake. And where as thou sawest yron myxte wyth claye: they shal mingle thē selues wyth the sede of symple People / and yet not continue one wyth another lyke as yron wyll not be souldered wyth a potsherde.

In the dayes of these kynges, shall G
the God of heauē set vp an euerlastyng kyngdome whych shall not perysh, and hys kyngdome shall not be geuen ouer to āother people: yea ỹ same shal breake and destroye all these kyngdomes, but it shall endure for euer.

And where as thou sawest, that wi-out any handes there was cut out of ỹ mount a stone which brake the yron, ỹ copper, the earth/the syluer and golde in peaces: by that hath the greate god shewed the kynge, what wyll come after this. This is a trew dreame, and ỹ inter pretacion of it is suter.

Then the kyng Nabuchodonosor fel downe vpon his face, and bowed him selfe vnto Dantel, and commaun ded ỹ they should offer meatofferinges and swete odoures vnto hym: The kyng answeared Dantell and sayde:
yea of a truth your god, is a god aboue all goddes, a Lorde aboue al kynges and an opener of secretes, seinge that thou cāst discouer thys mystery. So ỹ king made danyell a greate man, and gaue hym manye and great gyftes:
& made hym ruler of al the countrees of Babylon, and lord of al the nobles ỹ were at Babylon: Now Danyel entrea ted ỹ king for Sydrach Mysach & Ab-denago, so ỹ he made them rulers ouer all ỹ offices in the lande of Babylon.
But Dantell him selfe remayned styll in the courte by the king.

The

¶ The kyng setteth vp a goulden Image, which he cõmaundeth to be worshyped. Sydrach, Misach ād Abdenago ar accused, because they dispysed ꝑ kings cõmaundement. They are brought vnto ꝑ kinge, & commaunded to worshyp the Image. They refuse to do it, and are put into a burnyng ouē. By beleue in god they ar delyuered from the fyre. Nabuchodonosor confesseth the power of god after, ꝑ syght of the myracle.

The. iii. Chapter.

NAbuchodonosor the kyng caused a golden Image to be made, which was. ix cubytes hye, and syxe cubytes thycke. This he made to be set vp in the feilde of *Dura, in ꝑ lande of Babylon, and sent oute to gather together ꝑ dukes, lordes & nobles, ꝑ iudges & officers/debtyes and shreues, with al the rulers of the land: that they might come to the dedycatyon of the Image which Nabuchodonosor ꝑ the kyng had set vp. So the dukes, lordes and nobles, the iudges and officers/debytes and shreues with all the rulers of the land, gathered them together, and came vnto the ded yeatig of ꝑ Image/that Nabuchodonosor the king had set vp.

B Now when they stode before the ymage, which Nabuchodonosor set vp, ꝑ bedel cryed out with al hys myght: O ye people, kinredes and tonges to you be it sayde: that when ye heare ꝑ noyse of the trompetes/which shalbe blowen with the harpes, shawmes, Psalteries, Symphonies and all maner of Musick: ye kal downe and worshyp ꝑ golden Image, that Nabuchodonosor the kyng hath set vp. Whoso then falleth not downe and boweth hym selfe, shall euen ꝑ same houre be cast into an hote burnyng ouen. Therfore, when all the folckes herde the noyse of the trompets that were Blowen, wythe the Harpes, shawmes/Psalteries, Symphonies & all kynd of Melody: then al the people, kynreddes and nacyons fel downe, ād bowed them selues vnto thē goulden Image, ꝑ Nabuchodonosor the kyng had set vp.

C Now were there certaine men of the Caldees/that wente euen then and accused the Iewes, and sayde vnto the kyng Nabuchodonosor: O King/god saue thy lyfe for euer.

Thou beyng kyng hast geuen a commaundemente / that all men when they heare ꝑ noyse of the trompettes, harpes, shawmes, psalteries, simphonyes & al ꝑ other melodyes: shall fall downe and bowe them selues towarde the golden Image: who so then fall not downe and worshyppe not, that he shuld be cast into an hote burnyng ouen. Now are there certeyne Iewes, whome thou hast set ouer the officers of the land of Babylon namely, Sidrach, Mysaech ād Abdenago. These men (O kynge) regarde not thy commaundemente/yea they wyl not serue thy goddes nor bowe them selues to the golden Image that thou hast set vp.

D Then Nabuchodonosor in a cruell wrath and displeasure, cõmaunded that Sydrach, Mysach & Abdenago should be brought vnto hym. So these men were brought before the kynge. Then Nabuchodonosor spake vnto them and sayd: what? O Sydrach Mysach and Abdenago, wyl not ye serue my goddes nor bowe youre selues to the golden Image that I haue set vp? well be redy hereafter, whē ye heare the noyse of the Trompettes Blowe wythe the Harpes, shawmes, psalteries, simphonyes & al ꝑ other melodyes: that ye fall downe/ and worshyppe the Image whych I haue made. But if ye worshyppe it not, ye shal be cast immediatly into ā hote burnyng ouen Let se, what God is there ꝑ maye deliuer you out of my handes. Sidrach Mysaech and Abdenago answered the kyng, & sayde: O Nabuchodonosor we ought not to consente vnto thee in thys matter/for why: our God whom we serue, is able to kepe vs from the hote burnyng ouen (O kyng and can right wel deliuer vsout of thi hādes. And though he wyll not yet shalt thou knowe (O kyng) that we wyl not serue thi goddes ner do reuerence to the Image, whyche thou hast set vp. Thē was Nabuchodonosor full of indygnacyon, so that the countenaunce of his face chaunged vpon Sydrach, Mysach, and Abdenago.

Therfore he charged and commaunded, that the ouen should be made seuen tymes hoter thē it was wonte to be: and spake vnto the Strongest Worthyes that were in hys Hooste for to bynde

Sydrach

The prophecy

Sidzach, Misach and Abednago, and to caste theym into the hote burnynge ouen.

So these men wer bounde in their cotes, hosē, shewes witthehetr other garmentis / and cast into the hote burnig ouen: for the kynges commaundemēt was so strate, and the ouen was exceadyng hote. As for the men that put in Sydzach, Misach and Abdenago the flāme of the fyre destroyed them. And these thre mē Sydzah / Misah and Abdenago, fel downe in the hote burnig ouen, being fast bounde. Then Nabuchodonosor the kyng marueled, & stod vp in al hatst: he spake vnto hys counsel, and sayde: dyd not ye caste these thre men bound into the fyre? They answered, and sayde vnto the kyng: Yea O kyng. He answered and sayde: lo for al that, yet do I se foure mē goyng lowse in the myddest of the fyre, and nothig corrupte: & the fourth is lyke an angel to loke vpō. Upō this went Nabuchodonosor vnto ỹ mouth of the hote burnyng ouen: he spake also / and sayd: O Sydzach / Misach and Abdenago, ye seruauntes of the hye God: go forth, & come hyther. And so Sidzach, Misach, and Abednago went out of the fyre.

Then the dukes lordes and nobles, ād the kinges councel came together to se these men / vpon whom the fyre had no maner of power in their bodyes: In so much that the very heare of their head was not burnte, and their clothes vnchaunged: Yea there was no smel of fyre fele vpon them. Then spake Nabuchodonosor, and sayd: Blessed be the god of Sidzach, Misach and Abdenago: which hath sent hys angell, and defended his seruauntes, that put their trust in him: that haue altered the kynges commaundement: And ieopardet their bodyes ther vpon: rather thē they wolde serue or worshyp any other god, excepte their owne god only. Therfore I wil commaund, that al people & kynreders and tunges / whyche speake any blaspheimy against the god of Sidzach, Misach, and Abdenago, shal dye, and their houses shalbe pyfed: Because, there is no god that maie saue, as this. So the kyng promoted Sidzach, Myschach, and Abdenago, in the Lande of Babilon.

¶ Nabuchodonosor dzemeth againe, Daniel interpretethit. Nabuchodonosor is put out of his reime and eateth with beastes, He confesseth the power of god and is restored into his kyngdome.

¶ The iiii. Chaptre.

NAbuchodonosor kyng vnto al people, kinreddes and tunges that dwel vpō the whole erth: peace be multiplied amōg you. I thought it good to shew the tokens and meruelous workes, that the hye God hathe wrought vpon me. O how greate are his tokens / and howe myghty are hys wonders? His kingdome is an euerlastynge kyngdome, and his power lasteth for euer and euer. A

I Nabuchodnosor being at rest in mine house, & florysshing in my palace, sawe a dzeame, which made me afrated: and the thoughtes that I had vpon my bed with the visions of mine head, troubled me. Therfore I out a cōmyssion / that al they which were of wisdō at Babilō shuld be brought before me, to tel me ỹ interpretatiō of the dzeame: so ther came the southsayers, charmers Caldees & conjurers of deuels to whō I told ỹ dzeame but what it betokened, they couldē not shewe me: tyl at ỹ laste, there came one Daniel (otherwyse called Balthasary, accordinge to the name of my god) whych hath ỹ spryte of the holy Goddes / in hym: to whome I tolde the dzeame, sayeng: O Balthasar, thou Prince of Southsayers: For so muche as I knowe, that thou haste the spryte of the holy Goddes and no Secrete is hyd from the: tell me therfor, what the vysion of my dreame (that I haue sene maye signify. I sawe a visiō in my head vpon my bed: and beholde, there stode a tree vpon the grounde, whych was very hye greate and myghtye: the heygth reached vnto the heauen, & the breadth extended to all the endes of the earthe: hys leaues wer faier, he had very much frute, so that euery man had enoughto eate therin. B

The beastes of the felde had shadowes vnder it and ỹ foules of the ayze dwelt in the bowes therof. Shortly al
C creatures fed of it. I sawe in my heade a vysyon vpon my bed: and behold, *a watcher cam downe from heauen, and cried myghtely/saiyng. Hewe downe the tree, breake of hys braunches shake of hys leaues and scattre his fruyte abroade: that all the beastes maye gett them awaye from vnder hym, and the foules from hys braunches. Neuerthe les leaue the grounde of hys tote styll in the earth, and bynde him vppon the playne felde/with chaynes of yron and stele. Wyth the dewe of heauen shal he be wette, and he shall haue his parte in the herbes of the grounde with other wylde beastes.

That mans herte of hys shalbe taken frō hi, & a beastes hert shalbe geuē him, tyll seuen yeares be come and gon vpon hym.

D Thys crand of the watcher, is a cō maundement grounded ād sought out in the councel of him that is moost holy: to lerne men for to vnderstand, that the hyghest hath power ouer the kyngdoms of men, and geueth them, to whō it lyketh hym, and bryngeth the verye outcastes of men ouer them. Thys is the dreame, that I kynge Nabuchodonosor haue sene. Therfore O Balthazar, tell thou me what it signifyeth: for so moche as all the wyse men of my kingdome are not able to shewe me/what it meaneth. But thou canst do it, for the spryte of the holy Goddes is in thee.

Then Daniell (whose name was E Balthasar) held hys peace by the space of an houre & hys thoughtes troubled hym, so the kinge spake and sayde: O Balthasar, let nether the dreame nor ỹ interpretacyō therof feare thee. Balthasar answered saiyng. O my Lorde this dreame happen to thyne ennemyes, and the interpretacyon to thyne aduersaries, As for the tree that ỹ sawest whych was so great and myghti, whose heigh reached vnto the heauen & hys breadth vnto all the woorlde whose leaues were fayre, and the fruite muche: vnder the whych the beastes of the feld had theyr habitation and vpon whose braunches the foules of the ayer dyd syt.

Euen thou (O kynge) art the tre/great and stronge. Thy greatnesse increaseth, ād reacheth vnto the heauen, so doth thy power to the endes of the earth. But where as the kynge sawe a watcher euen an holye aungell/that came downe from heauen, and sayde: hew downe the tre/ād destroye it: yet leaue the grouud of the rote in the earth: and bynde hym vpon ỹ playne feld wyth chaynes of yron & stele: He shall be wet wyth the dew of heauen, and hys parte shal be wyth the bestes of the feld, tyll seuen yeares be come and gone vpon hym: thys (O kynge) is the interpretacyon, yea it is the very deuyse of hym, that is hyest of all, & it toucheth F my lorde the kynge.

Thou shalt be cast oute fro imen and thy dwellynge shalbe wyth the beastes of the felde: *wyth grasse shalt thou be fed lyke an ore. Thou must be wet wyth the dew of the heauen: yea seuen yeares shall come, & go vpō thee, tyl thou know that the hiest hath power vpon the kingdoines of men, and geueth thē to whom he lyst. Moreouer, where as it was sayde that the rote of the tree shulde be left stil in the grounde: it betokeneth, that thy kyngdom shal remaine whole vnto thee after thou hast lerned to know, that the power commeth from heauen. Wherfor O kyng/be content wyth my counsell, that thou mayest lowse thy synnes with eyghtiousnesse, and thine offences with mercy to poze people: for suche thynges shal prolonge thy peace.

Iob. xiiii. d; Dunie. v. a.

Daniell. iii. c; Iere. xxvii. d

All these thynges touche the Kynge G Nabuchodonosor.

So after. xii. monethes, the kyng walked vp and downe in the palace of ỹ kyngdom of Babylon, and sayde: This is the greate cyte of Babylon, whych I my self (wyth my power & strength) haue made a kynges courte, for the honour of my maiestye. Whyle these wordes were yet in ỹ kynges mouth there fel a voice from heauen saiynge: O kyng Nabuchodonosor to thee be it spoken: Thy kyngdome shal departe from thee/ thou shalt be cast out of mens company: thy dwellyng shalbe wyth the beastes of the felde/so that thou shalt eate grasse lyke as an ore tyll seuen yeares be come and gone ouer thee. Euen euen vntyl thou knowest, that the hiest hath power vpō the kingdomes of mē and that he mate geue them, vnto whō it pleaseth him. The very same houre was this matter fulfylled vpon Nabuchodonosor: so that he was cast out of mens company, and eate grasse lyke an oxe. Hys body was wet with the dewe of heauen, tyll his heares were as greate as Aegles fethers, & his nayles lyke byrdes clawes.

G When this tyme was past, I Nabuchodonosor lyfte vp myne eyes vnto heauen, and myne vnderstandynge was restoared vnto me agayne. Then gaue I thankes vnto the hyghest. I magnyfied and praysed hym that liueth for euermore, whose power endureth alwaye, and his kyngdome me frō one generacyon to another: in comparyson of whome all theye that dwell vpon the earthe, are to be reprooued as Dunte. iii, f. nothing.

He handleth accordyng to his wil among the powers of heauē, and amōg Psal. cxxxv the inhabytours of the earth: and ther is none that maye resyst hys hande/or saye what dost thou? At the same tyme Job, xlii, b, was myne vnderstandyng geuen me agayne, and I was restoared to the honoure of my kyngdom, to my dygnitee and to myne owne shappe agayne. My grete estates and Princes sought vnto me, and I was set in my kyngdō agayne, so that I had yet greate worshyppe.

Then dyd I Nabuchodonosor/ loue, magnyfie and prayse the kyng of heauen: for all hys worckes are trew, and hys wayes right. As for those that go on proudly, he is able to bynge thē downe.

¶ Balthazar king of Babylon, abusig the vessels of the tēple, seeth an hande wrytyng in the wall The sothe saiers called of the king, can not expoūd the wrytyng Daniel is called, which redeth it, and interpreteth it also. Balthasar beig slayne, Darius succedeth in his rowme.

¶ The. v. Chapter.

A KYnge Balthasar made a greate bācket to his thousand Lordes: wyth al these thousande he made greate chere, and when he was dron ken with wyne, he cōmaunded to bryge hym the golden and syluer vessells/ whyche hys father Nabuchodonosor had taken oute of the temple at Jerusalem: that the kyng and hys lordes wyth hys quene ād cōcubines might drynke therout. 1. Par. xxv.

So they brought the golden vessel, that was taken out of the temple of the Lordes house at Jerusalem. Then the kyng ād hys lordes with hys quene and concubynes droncke out of them: They dronck wyne, and praysed their Idoles of gold syluer, copper/ yrō, wod B and stone.

In the very same houre there appered fyngers/ as it hadde bene a mans hand wrytyng, ryght ouer agaynst the candelstyck vpon the playne wall in ỹ kynges palace: and the kyng sawe the palme of the hand that wrote. Then chaunged the kyng his countenaunce Jeremy, l. and his thoughtes troubled hym, so ỹ ỹ ioyntes of hys body shoke, and hys knes smote one agaynst another: Daniel. ii. Wherfore the kig cried mightely, that they should bryng hym the chamers, Caldees and conturers of deuels. The kynge spake also to the wise men of Babylon and sayd: who so can rede thys wrytynge, & shewe me the playne meanynge thereof, shalbe clothed with purple, haue a chayne of golde aboute hys neck and rule the thyrd part of my kyngdome.

Upon thys, came all the kynges wyse men: but they coulde neyther reade the wrytinge, nor shew the kyng what it signified. Then was ỹ King sore afraid in so muche, that hys colour chaūged, & his Lordes were sore vexed. So by reason of thys matter, that had happened to the kinge and hys Lords, the quene C went vp her selfe into the bancket house and spake vnto the kinge, saynge, O kinge/ God saue thy life for euer: Let not the thoughtes trouble thee, and let not thy countenaunce be chaunged. For why: there is a man in thy kingdō that hath the holye spirite of the holye goddes within hym/ as it was seene in thy fathers dayes.

He hath vnderstandynge and wysdōe lyke the Goddes. Yea the kyng Nabuchodonosor thy father made thys man

chefe

cheke of the sothsayers, charmers / Cal = des and deuelconyurers : Because that such an aboundaunt spyte, knowledge. and wysdome to expounde dreames, to open secretes, to declare harde doubtes) was founde in hym. yea euen in Daniel whom the kyng named Balthazar. Let thys same Danyel be sente for/ and he shall tell, what it meaneth.

Then was Danyel brought before the kynge. So the kynge spake vnto Danyel, & sayde: Art thou that Danyel, one of the presoners of Juda, whom my father the kinge brought out of Jewry I haue heard speake of thee, that thou hast the spyte of the holy goddes, experyence and vnderstandyng , and that there hath bene greate wysdome founde in thee. Now haue ther bene brought me wyse and cōnynge charmers/ to reade thys wrytyng, and to shew me the meanynge therof: But they coulde not tell me, what hys matter signyfied. Then heard I saye, that thou canst expounde darcke thynges & declare hard doubtes. Well than, Yf thou canst reade thys wrytynge, and shew me the meanynge therof/ thou shalt be clothed with purple haue a chayne of golde aboute thy necke and rule the toyrde parte of my kyngdō

Danyell answered, and sayde before the kyng: As for thy rewardes, kepe thē to thy self/ or geue thy ryche gyftes to an other, yet not the lesse I wyl rede the wry tyng vnto the king/ & shew him the inter pretacion thereof. O kynge, God the highest gaue vnto Nabuchodonosor thy father, the dignitee of a king, w worshyp and honor: so that all people, kynreddes and tonges stode in awe and feare of hi by reason of the hygh estate, ꝑ he had let hym. For whye, he slewe whome he wold, he smote whome it pleased hym. Agayne whome he wolde he set vp: and whoom he lust, he put downe. But because hys hart was so proude and hys stomack set so fast vnto wylfulnesse he was deposed from hys kynglytrone/ and hys maiestye wast aken from hym.

He was shut out from amonge men, hys harte was lyke a beastes herte, and hys dwellyng was wyth the wylde asses, he was faine to eate grasse like an oxe, and hys body was wet wyth the dewe of the Heauen tyll he knewe, that the hyghest had power vpō ꝑ kyngdomes of men, and setteth ouer them/ whome he lyst.

And thou his sonne (O Balthasar) for all thys / hast not submytted thyne hart, though ꝑ knewest al these thinges but haste Magnyfyed thy selfe aboue the Lorde of heauen, so that the vessels of hys house were brought before thee that thou, and thy Lordes, wyth thy queue and concubines myghte drincke wyne therout: And hast praysed the Idoles of syluer and golde / copper and yron, of woodde and stone. As for the God in whose hād consisteth thy breath and all thy wayes, thou hast not loued hym.

Therfore is the palme of thys hād sent hether from hym, to token vp this writing. And this is the scripture: that is wrytē vpō it: Mane, Thetel, phares Now the interpretacyon of the thyng is thys: Mane/ God hath numbred the kyngdome, and brought it to an ende: Thetel, thou art weyed in the balaūce, and arte founde to lyght. Phares/ thy kindome is dealte in partes/ and geuē to the Medes and perses.

Then commaunded Balthasar, to clothe Danyell wyth purple / to hange a cheyne of golde about his necke, and to make a Proclamation concernynge him: that he shoulde be the ruler of the third parte of his kingdom. The very same night was Balthazar the kinge of the Caldees slayne, and Darius out of Medea toke in the kingdome, being lxii. yeares of age.

Danyell is made ruler ouer the Lordes. The Imagi nacion of an acte agaynst Daniell. The proclamaci on of the acte wherof Daniel is accused vnto the kig as a transgressoure. He is put into a denne of lyons by the commaundement of the kynge. He is delyue red by fayth in God. Daniels accusers are put vnto the lyons to be torne in sonder. Darius by the pro= clamation of a decree, magnifyeth the god of Da nyell

The.vi. Chapter.

A

THpleased Darius to set ouer hys kyngdome/an. C,and.xx.
Lordes/which should be in al
hys kyngdõe aboute.Aboue Eze.xviii.b these he set thre Prynces(of whom Danyel was one,that the Lordes myght geue accomptes vnto thẽ, and the Jere.xlii. kyng to be vndysceased.

But Daniel exceded al these Pryces and Lordes,for the spryte of God was plenteous in hym/so that the kyng was mynded to set hi ouer the whole realme.
Wherfore the Prynces & lordes sought to pycke out in Dainyell some quarell agaynst the kyngdome: yet coulde they fynde none occasyon nor faute vpõ hym
For why:he was so faythfull,that there was no blame nor dyshonesty founde in hym.

Then sayde these men: we wyl get
B no quatel agaynst thys Daniel,excepte it be in the lawe of hys Gõd.Upon this wente the princes and lordes together vnto the kynge/ and sayde thus vnto hym:kyng Darius, God saue thy lyfe for euer.All the great estates of ỹ realme as the Prynces, Dukes , Senatours & Judges,are determed to put out a com maundement of the kyng,and to make a sure statute:namely,that who so desyreth any petycyon either of any god or man( wyth in thys.xxx,dates, excepte it be õly of thee,O kyng the same person may be cast in to the lyons denne.Wherfore,O kyng/confyrme thou thys statute, and make a wrytynge:that the thyng which the Medes and Perses haue ordened be not altered nor broken.

So Darius made the wrytynge, and confyrmed it. Now whẽ Danyel vnder stode that the wrytynge was made, he wente in to hys house:and the wyndo= wes of hys hal toward Jerusalem stod= open. There kneled he downe vpon his knees,thre tymes a daye: there he made his petycyon,and praised hys God like as hys maner was to do a fore tyme.

Then these men made searche, and C founde Danyel mãkynge hys petycyon and prayinge vnto hys God. So they came to the kyng/and spake before him concernyng hys commaũdemẽt saying:
O kyng/hast thou not subscrybed the statute,that wyth in.xxx. dayes who so requireth thys petition of any gõd or man but onely of thy selfe,O kyng he shalbe cast into thedenne of the liõs
The kynge answered/and sayde: yea it is true.It muste be as a lawe of the Medes and Perses,that maye not bee broken.

Then answered they,and sayde vn, to the kynge:Danyell one of the pry= soners of Juda, O kynge/regardeth neyther thee nor thy statute ,that thou haste made,but maketh hys petycyon three tymes a day.Whẽ the king herd these wordes/he was sore greued , and wold haue excused Daniel to delyuer hym and putte of the matter vnto the sũne went downe to the intent that he might saue him.

These men perceauing the kinges minde,saide vnto hym:knowe this O D king,that the lawe of the Medes and Perses is,that the commaundement & statute whiche the kyng maketh,may not be altered. Then the kynge bad them bringe Danyel/and they cast hi into the lions denne

The kinge also spake vnto daniell and saide:thy GOD whome thou al=
waye seruest,euen he shall defend thee
And there was brought a stone,& laid vpon the hole,of the denne. Thys the kinge sealed with hys owne ryng, and wyth the signet of hys Pryces:
that the Kinges Commaundemente concerninge Daniel should not be bro ken,

So the kynge wente into his palace,and kepte him sober all night/so that there was no table spred before hym,nether could he take any slepe.
But betimes inthe mourninge,at the breake of the day,the king arose, and E wente in all haste vnto the denne of ỹ lions.

Now as he cam nygh vnto ỹ denne
he cried withe a pitifull Voice vnto Daniel,yea the king spake,ād said vn to Daniell:O Daniell thou seruaunt of the liuing god?is not thy god(whõ thou alwayes seruest) able to delyuer thee from the lions? Daniell sayed vnto the kinge: O kinge/God saue thy lyfe for euer.My God hath sente hys aungels,which hath shut the liõs mouthes

mouthes, so that they myght not hurt me. For why? mine vngyltines is foūd out before hym. And as for thee/O kīg I neuer offended thee.

nota the Dystaunce of Daniels gouth

Then was the kīng exceading glad, and commaunded to take Daniel out of the denne. So Daniel was brought out of the denne, and no maner of hurt was founde vpon him. For he put his trust in his God. And as for those men which had accused Daniel, the kynge commaunded to bring thē/and to cast them in the lions denne: them, their children and their wiues. So the Lyons had the mastry of them, and brake all their bones a sunder/or euer they came at the grounde.

After this, wrote kīng Darius vnto al people, kynreddes, and tounges that dwelt i allādes: Peace be multiplied vnto you. My cōmaūdemēt is, in al my dompynyon & kingdome, y men feare ād stand in awe of Daniels God.

Hester iiij Daniel xiiij

For he is the lyuyng god, which abideth euer: his kingdom shal not fail and hys power is euerlastyng. It is he that delyuereth, and saueth: he doth wonders and maruelous workes, in heauen and in earth: he hath preserued Daniel from the power of the Lyons.

Daniel, iii, c

Thys Daniel prospered in the reygne of Darius and Cyrus of Perlya.

Daniel xiiii, c viii, c

¶ Avisiō of, iiii. bestes is shewed vnto Daniel. The vysyō is interpreted of iiii. kigdomes of y worlde. Of the power & increase of Antichrist. Of the euerlastynge kyngdome of Christe.

The. vii. Chapter.

A In the fyrste yeare of Balthazar kyng of Babylō, saw Daniel a dreame, & a vysyon was in hys head vpon hys bedde. Which dreame he wrot, and y summe of the matter is thys: Daniell spake and sayd: I sawe in my visyō by nyght, and beholde: the foure windes of the heauē stroue vpō the sea/& foure great beastes cam vp from the sea one vnlyke another.

B The first was a lyon, and yet had he Aegles wynges. I sawe, that hys wynges were pluckte from him/ and he taken awaye from the earth: y he stod vpon hys fete as a mā, and that ther was geuē him a mans hart.

Beholde/the seconde beaste was lyke a beer/and stode vpon the one syde. Amonge hys teeth in hys mouth he had iii. greate longe teeth, and it was sayde vnto hym: Aryse, eate vp, muche flesshe. Then I loked, and behold, there was an other lyke vnto a leoparde: thys had wynges as a foule, euen foure vpō the backe. Thys beast had foure heades, & there was power geuen him. After thys I sawe in a vysyon by night, and behold, the fourth beast was grymme and horrible, and maruelous stronge. It hadd greate yron teeth, it deuoured and destroied, and stamped the residue vnder his fete. It was farre vnlyke y other beastes that were before it: for yt had ten hornes, whereof I toke good hede. C

And beholde, there came vp among them another lyke horne, before whom there wer thre of y first hornes pluckte awaye. Beholde this horne had eyes lyke a man, and a mouth speaking presumtuous thinges I loked tyl the seates were prepared, and tyll the olde aged sat hī downe. His clothing was as white as snow, & the heares of his head lyke the pure wolle. His trone was lyke the fyrye flame, and his wheles as the burnyng fyre. There drewe forth a fyrye streame ād went out from him. A thousande tymes a thousand serued him. & M. times ten thousand stode before hi The iudgment was set, and the bokes opened. Then toke I heed thervnto, because of the voyce of the proude wordes/which that horne spake. I beheld tyl the beast was slaine, and hys body destroyed, and geuen ouer to be brent i the fire. D

As for the power of the other beastes also, it was taken awaye, but their liues were prolonged for a tyme and season. I sawe in a vysyon by nyght, and behold ther cam one in the cloudes of heauen lyke the sonne of a mā/which went vnto the olde aged before, whom they brought him. Then gaue he him power and dygnytee regall that all people tribes & tonges should serue hym. His power is an euerlastyng power, which shal neuer be put downe: and hys kigdom endureth vncorrupt.

My herte was vexed/ and I Daniell had a troubled spryte within me, and ỹ vysyons of my head made me afrayed, tyl I gat me vnto one of thē that stode by, to know ỹ trueth, concernig all these thynges. So he tolde me, and made me vnderstand ỹ interpretaciō of these thynges.

D These foure greate beastes, are foure kynges, whyche shall aryse oure of the earth. These shal take in the kyngdom of the sayntes of the most hyest/ & possesse it styll moze and moze for a longe realō. After thys I requyred dyligētly to knowe the truth, concernig ỹ fourth beast wych was so farre vnlyke the other beastees/ and so horryble: whose teeth were of Yron, and his nayles of brasse: whych deuoured and destroyed, and stamped the residue vnder his fete I desyred also to knowe the trueth, as touchyng the ten hoznes that he had vpon his head/ and this other whyche came vp afterwarde, before whose face E there fel downe thze: which hozne had eyes and a mouth that spake presumptuous thynges, and loked with a grimmer vysage then his felowes. I beheld and the same hozne made battel against the sayntes, ye and gat the vyctozy of them: vntyl the tyme that the old aged cam: that the iudgement was geuen to the chefeste Saynctes and tyll the tyme/ that the saintes had the kyngdō in possession. He gaue me this answere That fourthbeaste shalbe the fourth kingdome vpon earth: it shalbe moze then all other kingdomes / it shall deuoure, treade downe, and destroye all other landes.

The ten hoznes, are ten kinges, ỹ shal aryse out of that kyngdome after whō there shal stād vp another whych shalbe greater then the fyrst. He shall subdue thze kinges, and shal speake wozdes agaynst the hyest of all: he shal destroy the sayntes of the möst hiest and thynke, that he may chaung times ond lawes. They shalbe geuen vnder hys power, vntyll a time, two tymes, and halfe a tyme.

F But the iudgment shalbe kept, so that his power shalbe taken from him for he shal be destroyed/ and perysh at the last. As for the kyngdom: power and all myghte that is vnder the heauen: it shalbe geuen to the holy people of the moost hyest/ whose kingdom is euerlasting, yea al powers shall serue and obeye him. Thus farre extend the wozdes. Neuertheles I Daniel was so vexed in my thoughtes, that my countenaunce chaunged, but the wozdes I kepte styl in my hart.

¶ A vysyon of a stryke betwene a rāme & an hegoat The vnderstanding of the vysiō is of the battel betwene the king of Persia and the kynge of the Grecyans, Of the shameles kyng Antichryst.

¶ The. viii. Chapter.

A IN the thyrde yeare of the raygne of king Balthazar there appered a vysyō vnto me Daniel, after that I had seane the fyrste I sawe in a vision (and when I sawe it, I was at Sulis in the chefe cytee/ which lyeth in the land of Elam) and in the vysiō, me thought I was by the ryuer of Ulai.

Then I loked vp, and sawe: and beholde there stode before the ryuer/ a ramme, whyche hadde hoznes: And these hoznes were hyghe, but one was hier thē another, and the hyest cāe vp last. I sawe ỹ this rāme pushed wyth hys hoznes, agaynst the west, agaynst the nozth, and against the south so that no beastes might stand before him, noz defende them from his power but he dyd as him listed, & waxed greatly. I toke hede vnto this, and then cāe there an he goate from the weste ouer the whole earthe / and touched not the grounde.

This goate had a maruelous goodly hozne be twyxte his eyes/ and came B vnto the ramme, that had the two hoznes (whom I had seue a foze by the ryuer side) and ranne fearcely vpō him wyth his myght. I sawe hym drawe neygh vnto the rāme being very fearce vpon hym: yea he gaue hi such a stroke that he brake his two hoznes: Neyther had the ramme so much strength as to stand before him: but he cast him doune troden him vnder hys fete: and no man was able to delyuer the ramme out of his power.

The

C The goate wared exceadynge great and when he was at the strongest hys greate hozne was bzoken allo. Then grewe ther other four suche lyke in the steade/towarde the.iiii. wyndes of the heauen. Yea, out of one of the least of these hoznes, there cam vp yet another hozne, which waxed maruelous great; towarde the south/towarde the east, & towarde the fayze pleasaunt lande. It grewe vp to the hoost of heauen where= of it dyd caste some downe to ygrounde and of the starres allo, and trode them vnder fete.

Yea, it grewe vp vnto the pzynce of the host/krō whō the dayly offerynge was taken, and the place of hys Sanc= tuary casten downe. And a certayn ceas= son was geuen vnto it agaynste the dayly offer ynge (because of wycked= nes) y it myght cast downe the verytee to the grounde, and so to pzospere in all thynges, that it wente aboute.

D Upon this, I herd one of the saintes speakynge, whych sayncte sayde vnto one that asked this questyon: How longe shall this vysyon of the dayly sacryfice and of the wastyng abhomy= nacyon endure: that the Sanctuary & the power shal so be troden vnder fete, And he answered him: Unto the eue= nynge and the moznynge, euen two thousande and thze Hundzeth dayes: Then shall the Sanctuarye be clensed agayne.

Now when I Daniell had sene this vysyon/and sought foz the vnder standynge of it: beholde, there stode be= foze me a thynge lyke vnto a man. And I heard a mans voyce in the ryuer of Ulay, whych cryed/and sayde: O Ga= bzyel, make this man vnderstande the vysyon. So he came, and stode by me. But I was afrayed at his commynge and fell downe vpon my face.

E Then sayd he vnto me: O thou sōne of man, marcke well, foz in the last time shall this vysyon be fulfylled.

Now as he was speakynge vnto me/ I waxed kayntelo that I suncke downe to the grounde: But he toke hold vpō me, and set me vp agayne, sayynge: Beholde, I wyll shew thee, what shal happen in the last wzath: foz in y time appoynted it shalbe fulfylled

The ramme whiche thou sawest wh the two hoznes, is the kyng of the Me des ād Perses: but the goote is y king of Gzeke land: the greate hozne y stode betwyxt his eyes/that is the pzincipal kynge. But where as it bzake, & foure other roose vp in the stead: it sygnyfi= eth/that out of this people shal stande vp foure kyngdoms/but not so migh= tye as it.

F After these kyngdomes (whyle vn godlynes is a growing) ther shal aryse a kyng of an vnshamefast face, whiche shalbe wise in darck speakynges.

He shalbe myghtie and strong, but not in his owne strength. He shal destroye aboue measure, and al that he goeth about shal pzospere: he shal slaie the strong and holy people. And thoz row his craftynes, falshed shall pzos= pere in his hand: his hart shalbe pzoud and many one shall be put to death in his welthynes. He shal stād vp agaīst the Pzynce of pzynces, but he shall be destroyed without hande. And thys vy sīō that is shewed vnto thee, is as sure as the euening and the mozning. Ther foze wzyte thou vp thys syghte/ foz it wilbe longe, oz it come to passe.

Upō thys was I Daniel very faint so that I laye sicke certaine dayes: but when I rose vp, I went about the kin ges busynes, and marueled at y vysiō neuertheless no man knew of it.

C Daniell desyzeth to haue that perfozmed of God wyych he had pzomysed concernynge the returne of the people from their bannyshement in Babilon. A true confession. Daniels prayer is herde. Gabziel y Angel expounded vnto hym the vysion of the ler. weakes. The anoynting of Chzist. The buyldynge againe of Jerusalem vnder Nehemiah The deathe of Chzist. The castyng out of the wycked Jewes

C The.xi. Chapter.

IN the fyzste peare of Dari us the sonne of Ahasuerus which was of the sede of y Medes, & was made kyng ouer the realme of the Cal dees: yet euen in the fyzste peare of his raigne, I Danyel desyzed to knowe y yeatlye numbze out of the bokes, wher of the Lozde spake vnto Jeremye the Pzophete: that Jerusalem shoulde lye waste.lxx.yeares: and I turned me vnto God the Lorde/for to praye and make myne intercessyon/with fastig, sack clothe and ashes. I prayed before the Lorde my God, and knowledged, sayinge:

O Lorde, thou greate and fearfull god thou that kepeste couenaunt and mercy with them, which loue thee, and do thy commaundementes: We haue synned, we haue offended, we haue ben dysobedyēt and gone back/ye we haue departed from all thy preceptes & iudgmentes.

We wolde neuer folow thy seruaūtes the prophetes, ỹ spake in thy name to oure Kynges and prynces, to oure forefathers/and to al the people of the lande. O Lord, righteousnes belōgeth vnto thee, vnto vs pertayneth nothig but open shame; as it is come to passe thys daye vnto euery man of Juda/& to them that dwel at Jerusalem: Yea vnto al Israell, whether they be farre or nye: thorow out al landes: wherin ỹ hast strawed them, because of the offences that they had done agaynste thee. Yea O Lorde/vnto vs, to our kinges and Rynces, to oure Forefathers: euen to vs al, that haue offended thee, belongeth vpon shame. But vnto the O Lord our God, pertayneth mercy & forgeuenes. As for vs, we are gone backe from him, and haue not obeyed the voice of the Lord our god/to walk in his lawes, which he layde before vs by his seruauntes the Prophetes/ye al Israell haue transgressed, and gone backe from the lawe, so that they haue not herkened vnto thy voyce.

Wherfore the curse and othe that is wryten in the law of Moyses the seruaunt of god (agaynst whom we haue offended) is poured vpon vs. And he hath performed his wordes, which he spake agaynste vs, and agaynste oure iudges that iudged vs: to bringe vpon vs suche a greate plage, as neuer was vnder heauen, lyke as it is nowe come to passe in Jerusalem. Yea, al this plage, as it is wrytten in the lawe of Moyses/is come vpon vs.

Yet made we not oure prayer before the Lorde oure God, that we myght turne agayne from oure wyckednesse, and to be lerned in thy veryte. Therfore hath ỹ Lorde made haste, to bringe thys plage vpon vs: for the Lord oure God is righteous, in al hys workes whych he doth: for why? we would not herken vnto his voyce.

And now O Lorde oure God, thou that wyth a mightie hande hast brought thy people oute of Egypte, to gett thy self a name, whych remayneth thys day/ we haue synned O Lord/and done wyckedly agaynst all thy ryghtuousnes: yea let thy worthlull displeasure be turned away (I beseech ỹ) frō thy cite Jerusalem thy holy hyll. And why? for oure synnes sake, and for the wickednesse of oure fore fathers is Jerusalē & thy people abhorred/of al them that are aboute vs. Now therfore, O oure God, heare the prayer of thy seruaunt, and hys intercessyon. O let thy Face shyne ouer thy Sanctuary, that lyeth waste.

O my God, enclyne thine eare, and herken (at the leest for thyne owne sake) e pē thyne eyes: beholde how we be desolated ye & the cytye also, whych is called after thy name: for we do not cast our praiers before thee in our owne ryghtuousnes no but only in thy greate mercyes. O Lord heare, O forgeue Lord: O Lord cōsidre. Tarye not ouer long: but for thine owne sake do it, O my God, for thy cytee and thy people is called after thy name.

As I was yet speakynge at my prayers, knowledging myne owne sines and the synnes of my people, makyng so myne intercessyon before the Lorde my God for the holy hilles sake of my God:

Yea, whyle I was yet speakyng in my prayer, beholde, the man Gabryel (whom I had sene afore in the vysiō) came flyīg to me and touched me aboute ỹ offeringe tyme in the euenynge. He informed me and spake vnto me: O Daniel (sayd he) I am now come to make the vnderstand it: For as soone as thou begannest to make thy prayer, it was so deuysed, and therfore am I come to shew thee. And why? For thou art a man greately beloued.

Wherfore ponder the matter well, that that thou mayeſt lerne, to vnderſtande the vyſyon. Lxx. *wekes are determined ouer thy people, ād ouer the holy citie: that the wickednes mate be conſumed, that the ſynne maye haue an ende, that the offence maye be reconcyled, and to bryng in euerlaſting ryghtuouſnes/to fulfyl the vyſions and the Prophetes, and to anoint the mooſt holy one. Vnderſtande this then, and marke it wel: that from the time it ſhalbe concluded to go & repayre Jeruſalē agayne/vnto Chriſt (or the anoynted) prynce: there ſhalbe ſeuen wekes. Then ſhal the ſtretes and walles be bulded agayne lxii. wekes, but with harde troublous tyme. After theſe. lxii. wekes, ſhal chriſt

G be ſlayne, and they ſhall haue no pleaſure in hym. Then ſhal there come a people with the Prynce, and deſtroye ỹ cytie and the Sanctuary: and his end ſhal come as the water floud. But the deſolatyon ſhal contynue tyl the ende of the battayl.

He ſhall make a ſtrong bond with many, for the ſpace of a weke: and whē ỹ weke is half gone, he ſhal put doune the ſlayne and meateoffrynge.

And in the temple there ſhalbe an abhominable deſolacyon/tyll it haue deſtroyed all. And it is concluded, that thys waſtyng ſhall contynue vnto the ende.

The notes.

*A weke is here taken for ſeuen yeare, as in Leuitic xxv. Wherfore the lxx. wekes are foure. C. and. xx. yeares.

¶ There appeareth vnto Daniell a man clothed in lynen which ſheweth hym wherfore he is ſente.

¶ The. x. Chapter.

A IN the thyrde yeare of kynge Cirus of Perſia, ther was ſhewed vnto Daniell (otherwyſe called Balthaſar) a matter, ye a true matter, but it is yet a long tyme vnto it. He vnderſtoode the matter wel, and perceaued what the vyſyon was. At the ſame tyme, I Daniel mourned for the ſpace of thre weakes, ſo that I had no luſte to eate bread: as for flech and wyne there came none in my mouth: No, I dyd not ones annoynt my ſelf, tyl the whole three wekes were out.

Upon the xxiiii. day of the fyrſt mo-neth, I was by the great flood called Tigrys. I lyfte vp myne eyes, and loked/and beholde a man clothed in lynen/whoſe loynes were gyrded vp with fyne gold of Araby/his body was like the Chryſolyte ſton, hys face (to loke vpon) was lyke lyghtenynge, hys eyes as the flāme of fyre, hys armes and feate were lyke fayre glyſterynge metal, but B the voyce of hys wordes was lyke the voyce of a multitude.

I Daniel alone ſawe thys vyſion, the men that were with me, ſawe it not: but a greate fearefulneſſe fel vpon thē ſo that they fled away & hyd thē ſelues. I was left there my ſelfe alone/& ſawe thys greate vyſyon ſo longe tyll there remayned no more ſtrength wythin me yea I loſt my coloure cleane. I waſted awaye and my ſtrength was gone. Yet herde I the voyce of hys wordes: and as ſone as I hearde it, faintneſſe came vppon me/ and I fell downe flat to the ground vpon my face.

And behold an hand touched me, which ſet me vp vpon my knees and vpon the palmes of my handes ſaying vnto me O Daniel, thou wel beloued man: take good hed of the wordes that I ſhal ſay vnto thee, and ſtand ryght vp/for vnto thee am I now ſente. And when he had ſaid theſe wordes, I ſtode vp tremblig Then ſayde he vnto me: feare not Daniell: for whyſence the fyrſt daye that thou ſet thyne herte to vnderſtand, and dyddeſt chaſten thy ſelfe before thy god thy wordes haue bene heard.

And I had come vnto thee C when thou begānеſt to ſpeake had not the Prynce ouer the kyngdome of the Perſes wythſtande me xxi dayes. But lo Michael one of the cheke Prynces, came to helpe me, hym haue I left by the kyng of Perſya/and am comme to ſhew thee what ſhall happen vnto thy people in the latter dayes. For it wil be lange yet or the vyſion be fulfilled.

Now when he hadde ſpoken theſe wordes vnto me/I caſt doun my head to the ground and held my tong. Behold there touched my lyppes one very lyke vnto a man. Then opened I my mouth: And ſayde vnto hym that ſtoode before me: O my lorde, my ioyntes are louſed to

The Prophecy

in the vysion, & ther is no more strēght wythin me How maye my Lordes seruaunt then talke wyth my Lorde? Seyng there is no strenght in me/ so y I cannot take my breath. Vppon thys ther touched me agayne one muche like a man, and comforted me sayeng: O thou man so well beloued/feare not: be content, take a good heart vnto thee/ād be strōge. So when he hadde spoken vnto me, I recouered and sayde: speake on my Lorde, for thou hast refreshed me Then sayde he: Knowest thou wherfore I am come vnto thee? Now wyll I go agayne to fyght wyth the prynce of the Perses. As sone as I goo forthe/lo, the Prynce of Grekelande shall come. Nevertheles, I wyll shewe thee the thynge that is fast noted in y scripture of truth And as for all ponder Matters, there is none that helpeth me in thē, But Michaell youre prynce.

¶ Prophecy of the kynges of Persia. Of the kingdome of Grece. Of the kyngdom of Egypt, and of the bonde therof, and of the battell wyth the kingdome of Syria. Of the Jewes that flye vnto the Kynge of Egipte, whome Antiochus the Kyng of Siria persecuteth, which figureth vnto vs Antichryste. The pryde of Antiochus.

❧ The .xi. Chapter

A And in the fyrst yeare of Darius of Medea, I stode by hym to comfort hym, and to strengthe hym, and now wyl I shewe thee the truethe.

Beholde, there shall stande vp yet three kynges in Persia, but the fourth shalbe farre rycher then they all. And when he is in the cheafest power of hys ryches/ he shall prouoke euery man agaynst the realme of Grekeland. Than shal there aryse yet a myghtye kyng that shal rule wyth great dominion and do what him lyst, and as sone as hys kyngdome commeth vp, yt shalbe destroyed and diuyded toward the foure wyndes of the heauen. They that come after hym shal not haue suche power and domynyon as he but hys kyngdome shalbe scattered, yea euen amonge other then those. And the kynge of the southe shalbe myghtyer, B then hys other Prynces. Agaynste hym there shall one make hym selfe stronge & shal rule hys dominiō wt gret power But after certayne yeares, they shalbe ioyned togethet, ād the kynges daughter of the south shal come to the kyng of the Northe, for to make frendshyppe, but she shall not obtayne the power of that arme, neither shal she be able to endure thorow his myght: but she, and such as brought her (yea ād he that begat her, and cōforted her for his tyme) shalbe delyuered vp. Out of the braunches of her roote, there shall one C stande vp in hys steade: whyche wyth power of armes shall go thorow the kynges land of the north/ and handle hym accordyng to his strength. As for their Idols ād princes, wt their costly Jewels of goulde and syluer, he shall carry thē awaye captiues into Egypte, and he shall preuayle agaynst the king of the north certayne yeares. And whē he is come into the kynges realme of y south/ he shalbe fayne to turne agaie into hys awne lande. Wherfore hys sonnes shalbe displeased, & shal gather together a mighty greate hoost of people: and one of them shal come/ and go thorow lyke a water flowed: then shal he returne, and go forth with defyynge and boastynge vnto his awne lande.

D Then the king of the south shalbe angry, and shall come forth to fight agaynst the kyng of the north: yea he shal brynge a greate multytude of people together, and a greate heape shalbe geuen into his hande: these shal he cary away with greate pryd, for so muche as he hath cast downe so many thousādes, neuertheles he shal not preuaile. For the kynge of y north shall gather of the new) a greater heape of people then afore, and cō forth (after a certayne tyme and yeares) with a mighty hoste and exceadynge greate good.

At the same tyme ther shal many stande vp agaynste the Kynge of the south, so that the wicked chyldrē of thy people also shall exalte them selues (to fulfyll the vysyon) and then fall. So y king of the north shal com to late lege and to take the strong fenced cytyes.

And the power of them of the south, E shall not be able to abide him, and the best men of the people shal not be so strong as to resist hi. Shortly, when he cōmeth he shal hādle hi as he lyst & no mā shalbe so hardi as to stād against hi

He

He shall stande in the pleasaunt coū-trye, whych throw hym shalbe destroyed
He shall set hys face wythall hys power to obtayne hys kyngdom, and to be lyke
it. Yea that shal he do, and geue hym vn to the daughters among wemen, to destroye hym. But he shal fayle, nether shal he obteyne hys purpose. After thys shal he set hys face vnto the Isles, & take many of them. A prynce shall stoppe hym, to do hym a shame, besyde the confusion ỹ els shall come vnto hym. Thus shall he turne agayne to hys owne lande, stōble and fall / and be no more founde: so he that came vpon hym, and dyd hym vio lence, shall stande in hys place, and haue a pleasaunt kyngdomme, and after fewe dayes he shalbe destroyed, & that neyther in wrath nor in battail. In hys steade there shall arise a vyle person, not holdē worthy of a kynges dygnyty: thys shal come in craftely / and obtayne the kyngdome wyth fayre wordes: he shall fyght agaynste the armes of the myghtye (and destroy them) yea & agaynst the prince of the couenaunt,

So after that he hath taken truce w̄ hym, he shall handle deceatfully: that he maye get vp, and ouercome hym wyth a small flocke: and so wyth craftines to get hym to the fattest place of the lande and to deale otherwyse then ether hys fa thers or graundfathers dyd. For he shal destroye the thyng / that they had robbed and spoyled / yea and all theyr substaūce Imaginynge Thoughtes agaynste the strounge holdes / and that for a tyme.
Hys power and herte shalbe styrred vp wyth a great armye a gaynste the kynge of the south, where throw the kynge of the south shalbe moued then vnto battell wyth a greate and myghtye hooste also Neuertheles he shal not be able to stand for they shall conspyre agaynst hym. Ye they that eate of hys meate shal hurte hi so that hys hoost shall fall / and many be slayne downe.

These two kynges shalbe mynded to do myschefe and talke of dysceyte at one table but they shal not prospere: for why the ende shal not come yet, vnto the tyme appoynted. Then shall he go hom agayn into hys owne lande wyth greate good, and set hys harte agaynst the holy coue uenaut, he shalbe busy agaynste it / and then returne home. At the tyme appoyn ted he shal come agayne, and go toward the south: So shal it happen otherwyse then at the fyrste, yet ones agayne And why? the shyppes of Cythym shall come vpon hym / that he man be smit ten and turne again: that he maye take idignation against the cōuenaut of holy nes to medle agaynste yt. Yea he shall turne hym and drawe suche vnto hym / as leaue the holy couenaunt.

He shall set myghty men to vnhalow the sanctuary of strengthe, to put downe the dayly offerynge, and to set vppe the abhomynable desolation. And suche as breake the couenaunt shall he flatter w̄ fayre wordes. But the peple ỹwyl know theyr God, shall haue the ouerhande ād prosper. Those also that haue vnderstā ding amonge the people shall enfourme ỹ multitude and for a long season, they shalbe persecuted wythe swearde, wythe fyer, wyth captyuitye and wythe the ta-kyng away of theyr Goddes. Now whē they fall they shalbe set vp wyth a lytell helpe: but many shall cleue vnto theym faynedly.

Yea some of those whych haue vnderstandyng shallbe persecuted also ỹ they maye be tryed, purifyed and clensed, til the tyme be oute for there is yet another tyme appoynted. The kynge shall doo what hym lyst [he shall] exalte and magnyfye hym selfe agaynst al, that is God Yea, he shal speake marueilous thynges agaynst the God of all goddes, wherin he shall prospeare / so long tyl the wrath be fulfylled / for the conclusyon is deuy sed already. He shal not regarde the god of hys fathers, but hys lust shalbe vpon wemen: Yea, he shal not care for any god for he shall magnifye hym selfe aboue
all. In hys place shal he worshipp the mighty Idoles and the god whom hys fathers knewe not / shall he honor wyth golde and syluer, with precious stones and pleasaunt Jewels.

This shall he do, seking helpe and soccour at the mighty Idols & strāge goddes. Suche as will receaue him, and take him for god he shalgeue the great

reate wooꝛshyppe and power: yea and make them Looꝛdes of the multytude, & geue them the lande wyth rewardes.

In the latter tyme, shall the kynge of the Southe stryue wythe hym: and the kynge of the Noꝛthe in lyke maner shal comme agaynste hym wyth Charettes, hoꝛsmen & wt a greate nauy of shyppes He shall come into the Landes, destroye and go thoꝛowe: he shall entre also into the fayze pleasaunt lande. Many cyties and coũttes shal decaye, excepte Edom/ Moab/and the best of the Chylderen of Ammon, whyche shall escape from hys hande. He shall stretch foꝛth hys handes vpon the countries & the land of Egypt Apocal,xvii, shal not escape him. Foꝛ thoꝛow hys goyng in, he shall haue dompnion ouer the treasures of syluer and golde, and ouer all the pꝛecious Jewels of Egypte, Lybia and Ethiopya. Neuertheless the tydynges out of the east ād the noꝛth shall trouble hym: foꝛ the whych cause he shal go foꝛthe to destroye and curse a greate multytude. The tẽtes of his palace shal be pytcht betwixte the two seas, vppon ỹ hyll of the noble sanctuarye, foꝛ he shall Apocal,xi come to the ende of it, and then shall no man helpe hym.

¶ He pꝛophecieth the reꝛurrection of ỹ dead. The darckenes of the pꝛopecy of Daniell.

¶ The.xii. Chapter.

A Job,v C iCoꝛy:xv:c THe tyme wyl come also, that the great pꝛynce Mychael, whych standeth on thy peoples syde, shal aryse vp: foꝛ there shall come a tyme of trouble, suche as neuer was: sens there be gamme to be any people, vnto that same tyme. Then shall thy people be delyuered, yea al those that be founde wꝛyttẽ in the boke. Many of them that slepe in the dust of the earth, shall awake: some to the euerlasting lyfe, some to perpetual shame and repꝛofe. The wyse (suche as haue taught other) shall glyster as ỹ shynyng of heauen and/those that haue Instructe the Multytude vnto Godlynesse, shalbe as the starres, woꝛlde wythout ende.

B And thou O Danyel/shutte vp these woꝛdes and seale the boke tyll the laste tyme. Many shal go about here & there and then shal knowledge encrease. So Ỹ Danyell loked, & beholde, there stode other two one vpon this shoꝛe of the water, the other vppon yonder syde.

And one of them sayde vnto him whych was clothed in lynen/ and stodde aboue vpon the waters of the floude: How lõg shal it be to the ende of these wonderous woꝛckes?

C Then herde I the man wyth the lyne clothes whych stode aboue vpon the waters of the flouder when he helde vp hys Apoca,x. ryght and lefte hande vnto Heauen, and sware by hĩ whych lyueth foꝛ euer: that it shall tary foꝛ a tyme, twoo tymes and halfe a tyme, and when the power of the holy people is cleane scattered abꝛoade, then shall all these thynges be fulfylled. Apo,xi,e:xiic

I hearde it well, but I vnderstode it not. Then sayde I: O my Looꝛde what shal happen after that? He answered: go thy waye Daniell/foꝛ these woꝛdes shal be closed vp, and sealed, tyll the laste tyme: and many shalbe purifyed, clensed and tryed. But the vngodlye shall lyue wyckedlye, and (those wycked (as manye of them as they be) shall haue no vnderstandynge. As foꝛ suche as haue vnderstandyng, they shall regard it. And from the tyme foꝛthe that the daylye offringe shalbe put downe, and the abhominable desolatiõ set vp, there shalbe a thousandet twoo hundꝛed .xc. dayes.

O well is hym/that wayteth and comꝛ meth.
to the thousand .iic:
¶ and xxxv, dayes. Go thou thy way now,
tyll yt be ended,
take thy rest and byde
in thy lot/tyll the dayes haue an ende.

¶ The ende of the Pꝛophecy of Danyel.

The

¶ The Boke of the Prophete Oseas.

¶ The tyme wherin Oseas prophecyed. Oseas by takīg an harlot to his wife, signifieth ỹ Idolatry of the people. The destructiō of ỹ offspring of Jehu, and of the Israelytes, is prophecyed.

¶ The fyrst Chapter.

THis is the worde of the Lorde, that came vnto Oseas the sonne of Beery, in ỹ dayes of Oseas, Joathan / Abas & Jezekiah kynges of Juda: and in ỹ tyme of Jeroboam the sonne of Joas kyng of Israel.

Fyrst, when the Lorde spake vnto Oseas he sayde vnto hym: Go thy waye, take an harlot to thy wyfe / and get children by her: for the lande hath committed greate whordome agaynst the Lorde. So he wente, and toke[a]* Gomer the Daughter of[b]* Deblaim: which conceaued / and brought forth a sonne. And the Lorde sayde vnto hi: Cal hys name[c]* Israel, for I wyll shortlye auenge the bloude of Israel vpon the house of Jehu, and wyl bring the kigdome of the house of Israel to an end. Then wyl I breake the bow of Israel, in the valleye of Israel.

She conceaued yet agayne / and bare a daughter. And he saide vnto hi: Cal her name[d]* Loruhamah (that ys / not obtaynīng mercy) for I wyll haue no pyte vpon the house of Israell, but forget them, and put them cleane out of remembraunce. Neuertheles I wyll haue mercy vpon the house of Juda, & wyl saue them, euen thorow the Lorde their god. But I wyll not delyuer thē thorow any bowe, swearde, batel, horse or horsmen.

Now when she had weaned Loruhamah / she conceaued againe, ād bare a sonne. Then saide he: cal his name. e* Loammy. For whyche are not my people, therfore wyl not I be yours. And thoughe the numbre of the children of Israel be as the sande of the sea, which can neyther be measured nor tolde: yet in the place where it is sayde vnto thē, ye be not my people: euen there shal yt be thus reported of them: they be ỹ childrē of the lyuing God. Then shal the chyldren of Juda and the childrē of Israel be gathered together againe / ād chose thē selues one head, and then departe out of the lande: for greate shalbe the date of Israel.

The notes.

a* That is, cōsummacion because the kyngdom of Israel and Juda should shortly be consumed.
b* That is, grayle of kygges: because of the greate delycyousnes and voluptuousnes ỹ Juda and Israel wer in, c* That is the lead of God.
d* That is, hauyng no marcy.
e* That is, not my people.
¶ The people is called to repentaunce.

¶ The.ii. Chapter.

TEl your brethren, that they are my people: & your sistrē ỹ they haue optayned mercy As for youre[a]* mother, ye shal chyd wt her / & reproue her: for she is not my wife, nether am I hur husbande, vnlesse she put away her whordome out of my syght / ād her aduoutry from her brestes.

Lest no I shall strype her naked, and set her euen as she came into the worlde: yea I shal lay her waste, and make her lyke a wyldernesse, & slay her for thirst. I shal hāue no pyte also vpō her children / for they be the chylderen of fornicacion.

Their mother hath broken her wedlocke, and shee that bare them, is come to confusyon. For she sayde: I wyll go after my louers / that geue me my water and my bread, my wolle and flaxe, my oyle and my dryncke. But I will hedg her away with thornes, and stop it, that she shall not fynde her foteste pes: and though she runne after her louers, yet shall she not get thē, she seke thē / but not find them. Then shal she saye: well, I will go turne againe to my, firste husbande, for at that time was I better at ease, then now. But this wolde she not knowe / where as I yet gaue her corne, wine, oyle, syluer and golde, which she hath hanged vpon Baall.

Wherfore now wil I go take my corne and wyne again in their season, and ta[k]e againe my woll and my flaxe whyche I gaue her, to couer her shame.

And

And now wyll I discouer her foolysh-nesse, euen in the syght of her louers/and no mã shall delyuer her out of my handes. Moreouer/ I wyl take awaye al her myrth, her holy dayes/ her newemones, her Sabbothes and al her solempne feastes. I wyl destroye her vynyardes ād figge trees, though she sai eth: lo, here are my rewardes that my louers haue geuen me. I wyl make yt a wodde / and the wylde beastes shall eate it vp. I wyl punysh her also for ỹ dayes of Baal, wherin she censed him decking him with her earinges & cheyne:
when she folowed her louers/ and forgat me, sayeth the Lord.

Eze. xvii. b

Ioh. Dayes take away Jere. xiii.

nota

Wherfore behold I wyll cal her a gaine, bring her into a wyldernes, and speake frendely vnto her. There wyl I geue her, her vynyardes agayne, yea & the valley of Achor also to shewe her hope and comfort. Then shal she singe there as in the tyme of her youth/ and lyke as in the daye when she came out of the land of Egypt. Then (saieth the Lord) she shal saye vnto me: O my hus band and shal cal me nomore Baal: for I wil take away those names of Baal from her mouth, yea she shal neuer remembre their names any more. Then wyl I make a couenaunt with theym, with the wilde beastes, with the foules of the ayre/ and with euery thing ỹ cre peth vpon the earth.

G

Is for bowe, swearde, and batell/ I wyl destroy suche out of the land, and wyl make them to slepe safely. Thus wyl I mary thee vnto myne owne selfe for euermore: yea euen to my selfe wil
I mary thee, in rightuousnes, in equy tee/ in louyng kyndnesse and mercy.
In fayth also wyll I mary thee vnto my selfe, and thou shalt know the Lord.
At the same time wyl I shew my selfe frēdly and gracious vnto the heauēs, saieth the Lord: and the heauens shall helpe the earth/ and the earthe shall helpe the corne, wine and oyle/ ād they shal helpe Israell. I will sowe theym vpon earthe, for a sede to myne owne selfe, and will haue mercy vpon her, that was without mercy.

And to theym whyche were not my people, I wyll saye: Thou arte my people. And he shal saye: thou arte my God.

The notes.

a * Mother here sygnifyeth the Synagoge of the Iewes, or the church or congregation of the people as in Esay. l. a

¶ Of the loue of god toward the people.

¶ The. iii. Chapter.

Then saide the Lorde to me: Go yet thy waye and bow an aduouterous woman, whom thy neighboure lo-ueth, as the Lord doth the childzen of Israel: how be it they haue respect to straunge goddes, and loue ỹ wine kannes. So I gat her for xv siluerlinges, and for an Homer and an half of barlie, & saide vnto her: Thou shalt bide with me a longe season, but se that thou playest not the harlot, and Loke thou wedle wyth none other man, and then wyll I kepe my selfe for thee.

A

Thus the childzen of Israel shal sit a greate whyle without kig & prince without offering and aultar, without prest and reuelation. But afterwarde shal the childzen of Israel conuerte & seke the Lorde their God, and Da-uid their king: & in ỹ latter dayes they shal worshyp the Lorde, and his louig kyndnes.

B

¶ A cõplaint agaīst ỹ people & ỹ prestes of Israell

¶ The. iiii. Chapter

Heare the word of the Lord
O ye childzē of Israel: For the Lord muste punish thē that dwel in the lād. And why? ther is no faithfulnes there is no mercy/ ther is no knoweledg of God in the lande: but swearynge, lyeng, man slaughter, theft, and aduou try haue gotten the ouer hand, and one bloudgiltines foloweth an other.
Therfore shal ỹ lād be in amiserable case and all they that dwell therein, shall mourne. The beastes in the felde, the foules in the ayre, and the fysshes in ỹ sea shal dye. Yet is there none that will chasten nor reproue another: the prestes which shoulde reforme other men, are become lyke the people.

Inota the lorde must punysh for that there is no fayth ne knoweledge of god in the lande

Therfore stumblest thou in the day tyme

[nota] the prestes which shoulde reforme other, are become lyke the people

Therfore stomblest thou i ỹ daye time and the prophet with thee i the night. I wyll bring thy mother to sylence, ād why: my people perysche/ because they haue no knowledge. Seyng then that thou hast refused vnderstanding ther fore wyl I refuse thee also: so that thou shalt nomore be my prest. And forso muche as thou hast forgotten the lawe of thy God, I wyll also forget thy chyldren. The more they increased in the multytude, the more they synned agaynst me, therfore wyl I chaunge their honoure into shame. They eate vp the synnes of my people, and corage them in their wyckednesse. Thus the prest is become lyke the people. Wherfore I wyl punysh them for their wycked wayes, ād reward them accordynge to their awne ymagynacyons. They shall eate/ād not haue ynough: They haue[a]* vsed whordome/ therfor shall they not prospere: ād why: they haue forsaken the Lorde/ and not regarded him.

Whordom, wyne and dronckennesse take the harte awaye. My people aske counsayl at their stockes, their staf must tell them. For an whoorysh mynde hath deceaued them/ so that they cōmytte fornycacyon agaynst their God. They make sacrifyces vpon the hye mountaynes, and burne theyr incense vpon the hylles, yea amonge the okes, groues ād bushes, for there are good shadowes. Therfore youre daughters are become harlottes, and youre spouses haue broke theyr wedlocke. I wyll not punysh your daughters for beynge defyled, and your brydes that be come whores: seyng the fathers them selues haue medled wyth harlottes/ and offered wyth vnthryftes: but the people that wyl not vnderstande must be punyshed.

Though thou[b]* Israel art disposed to playe the harlot, yet shuldest not thou haue offended, O Iuda: thou shuldest not haue runne to Galgal, nor haue gone vp to Bethauen nor haue sworne, ỹ lord lyueth. For Israel is gone backd lyke a wanton cowe. The Lord therfore shal make her fede, as the lambe that goeth a straye. And where as Ephrayim is becōe partaker of Idols/ wel, let hī go. Theyr Drōckennes hath putt them backe, and brought them to whordom.

Their rulers loue rewardes, bring (say they) to their owne shame. A winde shal take hold of their fethers, ād they shall be confounded in their offrynges.

The notes.

a* To vse whordom or fornicatyon thorow out ỹ prophetes, is, to take another god thē the true god & to serue images or to beleue in them.

b* Israell and Ephraim, for the moost part in the Prophetes are taken for the .x. trybes, Psal lxxviii.b. Ye reade in the .iii. of the kynges .xii. ek that x. trybes folowed Ieroboan, where as only Iuda & Beniamin abode by Rehoboam, Those .x. trybes are cōmonly called Israel in the Prophetes: & Beniamin is rekened with Iuda.

¶ Agaynst the Prestes & rulers of Israel. The help of man can do nothyng against god.

¶ The .v. Chapter.

Ye prestes: heare this/ take hede, O thou housholde of Israel: geue eare/ O thou kyngly house: for this punischment wyl come vpon you/ that are become a snare vnto Mizphah, and a spred net vnto the mounte of Tabor. They kyll sacrifices by hepes, *to begyle the people therwith: therfore wyll I punysh them all. I know Ephraim wel ynough, and Israel is not hid fro me: for Ephraim is become an harlot: and Israel is defiled

They are not mynded to turne vnto their God, for they haue an whorysche hearte, so that they can not knowe the Lorde.

But the pryde of Israell wyll be rewarded him in hys face, yea both Israel and Ephraim shal fall for their wickednes, and Iuda with them also. They shal come with their shepe and bullockes to seke the Lorde, but they shal not fynd him, for he is gone from them. As for the lord, they haue refused him and brought vp bastard chyldren a moneth therfore shal deuoure theym with their portions. Blowe wyth the shawmes at Gabea/ and with the trōpet i Ramah. Cry out at Bethauē vpō pōsyde of Ben Iamyn. In the tyme of the plage shal Ephraim be layde waste therfore dyd I faithfully warne the trybes of Israel. Yet are the princes of Iuda become lyke them, that remoue the lādemarkes, therfore wyl I poure out my wrath vpon them lyke water. Ephraim is oppressed, and can haue no ryght of the lawe: for why: they fo-lowe the doctrynes of men. Therfore wyl I be vnto Ephraim as a moth, ād to the house of Juda as a caterpiller.

D iiii.Re.xvi.b Deu,xxviii.b

When Ephraim sawe his sycknes and Juda his dysease: Ephraim went vnto Assur, and sent vnto kyng Jareb: yet could not he help you, nor ease you of your payne. I am vnto Ephraym as a Lyon, and as a lyons whelpe to the house of Juda. Eue I/ I wyl spoile thē and go my wate. I wyll take them wt me, and no man shal rescue them. I wil go/ & returne to my place, til they waxe faynt, and seke me.

¶ Affliccyō causeth a man to retourne to god. The wyckednes of the Prestes.

¶ The. vi. Chapter.

In theire aduersytee they shal seke me/ and saie: come let vs turne agayne to the Lord: for he hath smytten vs, and he shall heale vs: He hath wounded vs/ and he shal bid vs vp agayne: a *after two dayes shal he quicken vs, in the thyrd daye he shal rayse vs vp, so that we shal lyue in hys syght. Then shal we haue vnderstandyng & endeuoure ourselues to know the Lorde. He shal go forth as the spryng of the day/ & come vnto vs as ỹ euenyng and mornyng rayne vpon ỹ earthe.

A Jod.v.b

O Ephraim/ what shal I do vnto thee? O Juda, how shal I entreate thee? seynge your loue is lyke a morning cloud and lyke a dewe that goeth early away Therfore haue I cut downe the Prophetes, and let them be slayne for my wordes sake: so that thy punishmente shal come to lyght. For I haue pleasure in louyng kyndnes/ and not in offeryng: yea in the knowledge of God, more then in burnt sacrifice. But euen lyke as Adam dyd, so haue they broken my couenaunt, and set me at naught.

B

Galaad is a cite of wyckedd doers, of malycious People and bloudshedders. The multytude of the Prestes is lyke an heape of theues, murtherars & blod thurstye: for they haue wrought abhomynacyon. Horryble thinges haue I sene in the house of Israel, there playeth Ephraim the harlot, and Israell is defyled: but Juda shall haue an haruest for himself/ whē I returne the captyuytye of my people.

¶

The notes:

a* After two dayes shall he quicken vs, and in the thyrd daye shall he rayse vs vp, &c. That is, for a certen space wyll he afflict and trouble vs but he wyll heale vs agayne and restoare vs to soundnes The thyrde daye that is wythoute longe delaye or long tarryaunce.

¶ Of the vyces and wantonnes of the people.

¶ The. vii. Chapter

When I vndertake to make Israell whole, then the vngracyousnesse of Ephraim and the wickednes of Samaria commethe to lyghte, then go they aboute wyth lyes. At home they be theues, and wythout, they fall to robbyng, they consyder not in theyr hertes that I remembre all theyre wyckednes. They go about wyth theyr owne inuencions/ but I se them wel ynough. They make the kyng and the princes, to haue pleasure in theyr wyckednesse and lyes. All these burne in aduoutery, as it were an ouen that the baker heateth/ whē he hath lefte kneadynge/ tyll the dowe be- B leueneth: Euē so goeth it thys day with oure Kynges and Prynces, for they be gyn to be wod dronke through wyne: they vse familyarytye wyth suche as deceiue them. They, wyth the ymagynacyon of theyr herte are lyke an ouen: theyr sleape is all the nyght lyke the slepe of a baker, in the morning is he as hote as ỹ flāme of fyre: they at altogether as hote as an ouen.

They haue deuoured theyr owne iudges: all theyre Kynges are fallen: yet is thet none of them that calleth vpon me Therfor must Ephraim be myxte amōg the Heathen. Ephraim is become lyke a cake, that no Man turneth: straungers haue deuoured hys strēght. yet he regardeth it not: he waxeth full of gray heares, yet wyl he not know it. and the pryde of Israel is cast down before theyr face, Ose.vii.a yet wyll they not turne to the Lord their God, nor seke hym for all thys.

C

Nota gray heares

Ephraym is lyke a doue, that is beguyled, and hath no harte. Now call they vpon the Egyptians, nowe goo they to the Assyryans: but whyle they be going here and there, I shall spreade my nette ouer them & draw them downe as the foules of the ayre, and accordynge as they haue bene warned/ so wyll I punysh them. Ose.vii.e

woo be vnto them, for they haue forsaken me. They must be destroyed, for they haue set me at naught. I am he that haue redemed them and yet they dissemble wyth me. They call not vpon me wt theyr hertes/ but lye houlynge vpō their beddes/ where as they coine together it is but for meate and drynke, ād me wyll they not obey. I haue taght thē, & defēd their arme, yet do they ymagyn mischefe agaynst me. They turne themselues but not a right. and are become as a broken bowe. Theyr princes shal be slaine with the swerde for the malyce of theyr tūges suche blasphempes haue they lerned i the lande of Egypte.

¶ The destruccyon of Juda and Israel, be cause of their Idolatrie.

¶ The.viii. Chapter.

A SEt the horne to thy mouth/ and blowe: get the swyftlye as an Aegle, vnto the house of the Lorde, for they haue broken my couenaunt and transgresed my lawe. Israell can saye vn to me: thou art my god, we knowe thee: but he hath refused the thynge that is good, therfor shall the enemy folowe vp on hym. They haue ordened kynges, but not thorow me: they haue made prynces and I must not knowe of it. Of theyr syluer and golde haue they made them Im ages, to bringe they in selues to destructyon. Thy calf, O Samarya, shalbe taken awaie, for my wroth ful idygnacio is gone forth against thee. How long will it be, or they can be clensed? For the calfe came from Israel, the worcke man made it/ therfore can it be no God, but euen to a spyders webbe shall the Calfe of Samarya be turned.a* They haue sowne wynde/ therfore shall they reape a storme

B Theyr sede shall beare no corne. there shall no mele be made of theyr increase: though they reape yet shall straungers deuoure it vp. Israell shal perysh, the Gentiles shall intreate hym as a foule vessell. Synce they went vp to the Assyryans, they are become lyke a wilde asse in the deserte.

Ephrayin geueth rewardes to get louers, therfor are they scatred amōg the heathen there wil I gather them vp They shall soone be weery e of the burthen of kynges and Prynces. Ephraim hath made many aultars to do wyckednes: therfore shall the aultars turne to hys synne. Thoughe I shewe them my lawe neuer so much, they counte it but straunge doctryne. Where as they doo sacrifice/ offeryng the flesh and eating it: the lorde wyll haue no pleasure therin but wyll remembre theyr wickednes ād punysh their synnes. Israell turneth againe into Egipte they haue forgotten him that made thē they build churches, ād Juda maketh many strōg cities: therfore wyll I sende a fyre into their cytes and it shall consume theyre places.

The Notes.

a* That is, They haue geuen themselues to vayne and tryflynge thynges, therfore shall they falle into great trouble and Ieopardy. To sowe wynde is as much to say among the Hebrues, as to labour in vai and to lose the labour.

¶ Of the hunger and captiuitie of Israel

The. ix. Chapter.

DO not thou trymphe, O Israell, make no bostinge more then the Heathen, for thou hast commyted aduoutry agaynst thy God: straūg rewardes hast thou loued more thē al the corne flowres. Therfore shal they no more enioye the corne flowres & wynepresses, and their swete wyne shal fayle them. They wyl not dwel in the Lordes lande, but Ephraim turneth a gayne into Egypt, and eateth vnclene thynges amonge the Assirians. They powre out no wyne for a drinckoffering vnto the Lord nether geue they hī their slayne offerynges: but they be vnto thē as mourners meates, wherein all they that eate them, are defyled. For ỹ bred that they haue suche lust vntō, shal not come into the house of the lord. What wyll ye do then in the a* solempne dayes/ and in the feast of the lorde? lo, they shal get them away for the destrucciō, Egypte shall receaue them, and Noph shal bury them.

B The nettels shall ouergrowe their pleasaunt goodes, and burres shalbe i their tabernacles. Be ye sure (O Israel)

the tyme of vysytatiō is com/the dates of recompensyng are at hande. As for the Prophete, ye holde him for a foole: and hym that is riche in the spyrete, for a mad man: so greate is your wickednes and malyce. Ephraim hath made hym selfe a watchman of my god, a Prophet that is becom a snare to do hurt in euery strete, and abhominacyō in the house of hys God: They be gone to farre, and haue destroyed them selues, like as they did afore time at Gabaa. Therfore ther wickednes shalbe remembred, and their synnes punyshed.

I fonde Israel lyke grapes in the wyldernes/and sawe their fathers as the fyrst fygges in the top of the fyg tre But they are gone to Baall Peor/and rūne awaye fro me to that shameful Idoll, and are become as abhominable as their louers. Ephraim[b]*flyeth like a byrde, so shal their glory also. In so much, that they shall neyther be gette) conceaue nor beare children. And though they bringe vp anye, yet wil I make[the] childles among me. Yea wo shal come to them, when I departe frō them. Ephraim (as me thinke) is planted in welthynes, lyke as Tyrus, but now must she bringe her owne childre forth to the manslayer.

O Lorde ȳ shalt geue them: what shalt thou geue them? geue them an vnfruitful wombe ād drye breastes. All their wyckednes is done at Galgall, there do I abhorre them. For the vngracyousnes of their owne inuencyons, I wyl dryue them out of my house. I wyl loue the nomore, for al their princes are vnfaythful. Ephraim is hewen doune their rote is dryed vp so that they shal bringe nomore fruite: yea and though they bring forth any, yet wyll I slaye/ euē the best beloued frute of their body My god shal cast them awaye, for they haue not bene obediēt vnto hī, therfore shall they go astraye among ȳ Heathē.

The Notes.

a* The scripture here calleth the solempne daye & the feast of the Lord, the tyme, of the lordes vēgaūce because that therin the power of god shewed it self in that he suffered the Assyrians to take his people prysoners. Alyke thyng ye haue Sophony. i. b ¶ Against Israel and his Idoles.

¶ The. x. Chapter.

Israel was a goodly vyne but he hath brought forth vnprofitable frute: yea, & more frute he had, the more aultars he made, the more good I dyd to their lande/ the more frendshyp shewed they to their ymages Their herte is dyuided, therfore wyll they be destroyed. The lord shal breake downe their Images, he shall destroye their aultars. Then shall they saye: we haue no kynge, for whye? we haue not feared the Lorde. And what shall then the kyng do to vs? They cōmune together, and sweare vayne othes: they bee confederate together, therfore groweth their punishement as the wedes in the forowes of the lande.

They that dwel in Samaria haue worshyped the calfe of Bethauen: therfore shal the people mourne ouer them yea and the preastes also, that in theyr welthynesse retoyced wyth thē: & whyle it shall passe away from them. It shal be brought to the Assirias for a Present vnto kynge Jareb. Ephraym shall receaue full punishemente: Israell shall be confounded for hys owne ymmagynacions. Samaria wyth hys kyng shal vanysh awaye/as the scōme in the water. The high places of Auē wher Israel do sine/shalbe cast doune thystels & thornes shal grow vpō their aultars: Then shal they say to the moūtaynes: couer vs, & to the hylles: fal vpon vs.

O Israell thou hast synned as Gabaa dyd afore tyme/where they remayned: shoulde not the battayll then come vpon the wycked chylderen: as wel as vpon the Gabaonites: I wyll chasten them, euen after myne owne desyre, the people shalbe gathered together ouer them/when I punysh them for theyre greate wyckednes. Ephraym was vnto me, as a Cowe that is vsed to goo to plowe, therfore I loued hym/ and fell vpon hys fayre necke: I dyd proue Ephrai, Iuda Plowed, and Jacob played the husbandman, that they might sowe vnto ryghteousnes/and reape the frutes of weldoynge that they myght plowe vp their fresh land, & seke ȳ Lorde, tyl he came and lerned thē ryghtuousnes.

But now* they haue plowed them wyckednesse wyckednesse, therfore shall they reape synne, and eate the frute of lyes. Seig thou puttest thy confydence in thyne owne wayes, and leanest to the multytude of thy worthyes: there shal grow a sedycyon amonge the people. All my stronge cyties shalbe layde wast / euen as Salmana was destroyed wyth his kamplears, thorow him that was auēged of Arbel, in the date of battel, wher the mother perished with her chylozen Euen so shal it go with you (O Bethel) because of your malycious wickednes. Lyke as the morowyng goeth awaye, so shal the kynge of Israel passe.

The Notes.

a* That is. They haue geuen to them selues all ỹ naught is.

¶ Agaynst the vnkyndnes of Israel

¶ The.xi. Chapter.

A

Exo, iii.b
xx.b,

WHen Israel was yonge, I loued hym: and called him my sonne out of the lād of Egypt. But the more they were called, the more they went backe, offeryng vnto Idoles, and cenſinge Images. I lerned Ephraime to go, and bare thē in myne armes, but they regarded not me, that wold haue helped them I led them with cozdes of frendshyppe, and with bandes of loue. I was euen he that layed the yock vpō their neckes. I gaue them their fodder my selfe, that they shauld not go agaīe into Egypt. And now is Assur their kynge. For they wolde not turne vnto me. Therfore shal the sweard begynne i their cyties, the stozs that they haue laied vp, shalbe destroied and eaten: ād

B that because of their owne ymaginacyons. My people hath no lust to turne vnto me / their prophetes laye the yock vpon them, but they ease theym not of their burthen.

Gro, xxxii.b.
iii. Reg, xii, e
iiii, Re, xvi, c

What greate thynges haue I gīuē thee, O Ephraim: how faithfully haue I defēded thee, O Israel: haue I delt with thee as with Adama: or haue I entreated thee lyke Seboim: No / my hart is otherwyse minded. Yea my mercy is to fertuēt, therfore haue I not turned me to destroy Ephzaim in my wzoth ful displeasure. For I am god & no mā / I am euen that holy one i the middest of thee, though I came not wīn ỹ citee

The Lorde roareth like a lyon, that they maye folowe hym: yea as a Lyon roareth he: that they may be afrayd lyke the chylderen of the sea that they may be scattered away from Egipt, as mē scarre byrdes, and frayed awaye (as doues vse to be) from the Assirians lande: and that because I wolde haue them tary at home sayeth the Lorde. But Ephzaim goeth about me wyth lyes, and the houle of Israell dyssembleth. Onely Juda holdeth hym with God, and wyth the true holye thynges.

¶ Agaynst the vayne trust of the people.

¶ The.xii. Chapter.

A

EPhraym kepeth the ayze ād followeth after ỹ east wynde: he is euer encreasynge lyes and destruction. They be confederate wyth the Assiryans, theyr oyle is caryed into Egypt: the Lorde hath a cource to hold wyth Juda ād wyl punysh Jacob. After theyr owne wayes, and accozdyng to theyr owne inuencyons shall he recompense them. He toke his brother by the hele when he was yet in hys mothers wombe, and in hys strength he wzestled with God. He stroue wyth the Aungel, and gatt the victozye so that he prayed and desyzed hym. He founde hym at Bethell, & there he talked wd vs. Yea the lozd god of hostes, euen ỹ Lorde hym selfe remembzed hym. Then

B turne to thy god, kepe mercy and equitie and hope styll in thy God. But the marchaunt hath a false weyght in hys hande he hath a pleasure to occuppye extoztyon. Ephzaym thynketh thus: Tush, I am ryche, I haue good ynough: In all my worckes shall not one faute be founde / that I haue offended. Yet am I the lozd thy GOD, euen as when I brought thee oute of the land of Egypte / and set thee in thy tentes, and as in the hygh feest dayes.

Gene, xxv. a Gene, xxxii: d
Gene: xxx d, d

I haue spoken thozowe the Prophetes / and shewed dyuerse vysions, and declared my selfe by the mynistracyon of ỹ Prophets, but at Galaad is the abhominacyon / they are fallen to vanitye. At

C Galgal they haue slayne Oxen: and as manye heapes of stonnes as they had in their land fozowes: so many aultars haue

Samaria they made. Jacob fled into the land of Syria/and Israel serued for a wife, and for a wyfe he kepte shepe.

By a prophet the Lord brought the out of Egipt and by a Prophet he was serued the. But Ephraim hath prouoked him todisplesure thorow his abhominacions, therfore shal his bloude be poured vpon him selfe/and the lord hys God shall reward hym hys blasphemyes.

¶ Of the abhominations of Israel.

¶ The.xiii. Chapter.

A Esay.xlvi,a Ezech,xvi,b Ose.iiii,b Ose.viii.a,

THe abhomynatiō of Ephraim is come also into Israel. He is gone backe to Baal/ therfore must he dye. And nowe they synne more and more: of their syluer/ they make them molten Immages/like the Idols of ỹ Heathen/and yet al is nothyng but the worcke of the crafteſman. Notwithstāding they preache of the same: who so wyl kysse the calues, offreth to men. Therfore they shal be as the morning cloud, & as the dew that early passeth a waye, & like as dust ỹ ỹ wynd taketh a B waie from the floze, & as smoke ỹ goeth out of the chymney.

I am the lord thy god: which brought thee out of the land of Egipt: that thou Exo,xx,a shuldest know no God but me onely, & that thou shuldest haue no Sauioure but only me. I take diligent hede of ỹ Esay,xliii.a Deut.x.ii.b in the wildernes that dry lande. But when they were welfed & had ynough they waxed proude, & forgat me. Therfore wyl I be vnto them as a lyon, and as a Leopard in the waye to the Assiryans. I wyl come vpō thē as a she beer that is robbed of her welpes, and I wil breake their stubburne harte of theirs.

There wyll I deuoure theym as a lyon: Yea the wylde Beastes shall teare them.

O Israel, thou doest but destroye thy selfe. In me only is thy helpe. Where are thy kynges now, that should helpe thee
C in al thy cyties? Yea and thy iudges of whom thou saydest: geue me a king ād princes. wel, I gaue thee a king in my wrathe, and in my displeasure wyll I take him from thee agayne.

The wickednesse of Ephraim is bounde together, and his synne lyeth hyd. Therfore shall sorowes come vpon hym as vpon a woman that trauayleth. An vndyscrete sone is he: for he consydreth not, that he shuld not haue bene able to haue endured in the tyme of hys byrth, had not I defened hym from the graue/ and delyuered hym from death.

O death, I wil be thy death: O hell D
I will be thy stynge. Yet can I se no cōforte: for when he is now the goodlyest amonge the brethren, the East wynde (euen the wynde of the Lord) shall come downe from the wyldernesse/ and drye vp hys condytes, and dryncke vp hys welles: he shall spoyle the treasure of all pleasaunt vessels.

As for Samaria, they shalbe made waste, and why? they are dysobedient vnto theyr God. They shall perysh wyth ỹ swerde, theyr chyldren shalbe slayne/ād theyr wemen great wyth chylde shallbe rypte vp.

¶ The destruction of Samaria.

¶ The.xiiii. Chapter.

A Iere.xviii.a Ezech,xviii.a xxxiii,c, iii.Reg,xii,a

O Israel/turne thee now vnto the Lorde thy God, for thou hast taken a greate fall thorow thy wyckednesse. Take these wordes with you, whē ye turne to the Lord, and saye vnto hi: O forgeue vs all oure sines, receaue vs graciously, and then wyl we offre the * bullockes of our lippes vnto thee. Assur shalbe nomore oure helper, neither wyl we ryde vpon horses eny more. As for ỹ B worckes of oure handes, we wyl nomore call vpon them: For it is thou that art oure God, thou shewest euer mercy vnto the fatherlesse. ¶ yf they wold do this nota
D (yf they wold do this) I should heale should heale theyr sores: yea, wyth all my herte wolde I loue theym: so that my wrath shoulde cleane be turned awaye from thē. Yea, I wold be vnto Israel as the dewe/ and he shulde growe as the lylye, and hys rote shoulde breake oute as Libanus. Hys braunches should spreade out abrode, ād be as fayre as the olyue tre, and smell as Libanus. They that dwel vnder hys G shadowe, shuld come agayne, and growe vp as the corne, ād flowrysh as the vyne:

be

he shoulde haue as good a name/as the wyne of Libanus.

O Ephraym, what haue I to do w̄ Idoles anye more? I wyll graciously heare hym, and leade hym forth. I wyll be vnto thee as a greene fyre tre, vpon me shalt thou fynde thy frute. Who so is wyse, shall vnderstande thys: and he that is tyght instructed, wyl regarde it. For the wayes of the Lorde are tyghtuous, suche as be godly wyl walke in thē. As for the wycked / they wyll stomble therin.

¶ The ende of the prophecye of Oseas.

The Boke of Joell the prophete.

¶ A prophecy agaynst the Iewes. He exhorteth ỹ priestes to prayer and fastyng for the mysery that was commynge at hande.

¶ The.i. Chapter.

THys is the worde of the Lord that came vnto Joel the sonne of Phatuel: Heare O ye elders: ponder thys well, all ye that dwell in the lande, if euer there happened suche a thyng in youre dayes, or in the dayes of youre fathers. Tell your chyldren of it/ & let them shewe it vnto theyr Chyldren, and so they to Certifye theyr posterytie therof. Loke what the Caterpiller hath left, that hath the greshopper eaten vp: what the greshopper left, that hath the locuste eaten vp: and what the locust hath left, ỹ hath the blastyng consumed. Wake vp ye Dronckardes, and wepe: mourne all ye Wyne suppers, because of youre swete wyne, for it shalbee taken away from youre mouthe. Yea, a myghtie ād an vnnumerable people shal come vp into my lande/ these haue teeth lyke the teeth of lyons, and chaft bones lyke the lyonesses. They shall make my vyneyarde waste, they shal pyl of the barkes of my fygge trees/ stryppe them bare, cast them awaye/ and make the braunches whyte.

Make thy mone as a wyfe doth that gyrdeth her self with sack, because of her bryde groome. For the meate and drynckoffryng shalbe taken away frō ỹ house of ỹ Lord: & the prestes the lordes ministers shall mourne. The feld shal be wasted, the land shalbe in a miserable case: for ỹ corne shalbe destroyed, ỹ swete wyne shal come to confusyon, & the oyle vtterly desolate. The housbande men and the wyne gardeners shall loke pyteously and make lamentacyon for the wheate, wyne and barely/ and because ỹ harueste vpō the feld is so clene destroyed. The grape gatheters shall make greate mone, wh en the vyneyard and fygetrees be so vtterly wasted. Yea, all the pomgarnettes/ palmetrees, apletres, and the other trees of the felde shall wyther awaye. Thus the mery cheare of ỹ chyldren of menne shall come to confusyon.

Gyrde you, and make your mone/ Ye prestes: mourne ye mynystres of the aultar: goo youre waye in, and slepe in sack cloth, O ye offycers of my God: for the meate and drynkeofferyng shalbe taken awaye from the house of your god. Proclayme a fastynge, call the congregacyon, gather the elders and all the inhabyters of the land together in the house of the Lord your God, and crye vnto ỹ Lorde: alas, alas, for thys daye. And why? the day of the Lorde is at hande, and commeth as a destroier from the almyghtye. Shal not the meates be takē awaye before oure Eyes, the myrth also and ioye from the house of our God? The sede shall perysh in the grounde ỹ grauers shal lye waste/ ỹ floores shalbe brokē doune, for ỹ corne shalbe destroied O what a syghynge make the cattel? ỹ bullockes are very cruel lykig, because they haue no pasture: and the shepe are stampshed awaye.

O Lord, to thee wyll I crye: for the fyre hath cōsumed the goodly pastures of the wildernesse/ and the flāme hath brent vp al the trees of the felde. Yea, ỹ wylde beastes crye also vnto thee: for the water ryuers are dryed vp and the fire hath consumed the pastures of the wildernes.

A

B Deuter.xi.d

C

Nota proclaymo ō fastyng Joel.ii.d for fastyng & commaundy

he shoulde haue as good a name/as the wyne of Libanus.

O Ephraym, what haue I to do w̄ Idoles anye more? I wyll graciously heare hym, and leade hym forth. I wyll be vnto thee as a greene fyre tre, vpon me shalt thou fynde thy frute. Who so is wyse, shall vnderstande thys: and he that is tyght instructed, wyl regarde it. For the wayes of the Lorde are tyghtuous, suche as be godly wyl walke in thē. As for the wycked / they wyll stomble therin.

¶ The ende of the prophecye of Oseas.

The Boke of Joell the prophete.

¶ A prophecy agaynst the Iewes. He exhorteth ỹ priestes to prayer and fastyng for the mysery that was commynge at hande.

¶ The.i. Chapter.

THys is the worde of the Lord that came vnto Joel the sonne of Phatuel: Heare O ye elders: ponder thys well, all ye that dwell in the lande, if euer there happened suche a thyng in youre dayes, or in the dayes of youre fathers. Tell your chyldren of it/ & let them shewe it vnto theyr Chyldren, and so they to Certifye theyr posterytie therof. Loke what the Caterpiller hath left, that hath the greshopper eaten vp: what the greshopper left, that hath the locuste eaten vp: and what the locust hath left, ỹ hath the blastyng consumed. Wake vp ye Dronckardes, and wepe: mourne all ye Wyne suppers, because of youre swete wyne, for it shalbee taken away from youre mouthe. Yea, a myghtie ād an vnnumerable people shal come vp into my lande/ these haue teeth lyke the teeth of lyons, and chaft bones lyke the lyonesses. They shall make my vyneyarde waste, they shal pyl of the barkes of my fygge trees/ stryppe them bare, cast them awaye/ and make the braunches whyte.

Make thy mone as a wyfe doth that gyrdeth her self with sack, because of her bryde groome. For the meate and drynckoffryng shalbe taken away frō ỹ house of ỹ Lord: & the prestes the lordes ministers shall mourne. The feld shal be wasted, the land shalbe in a miserable case: for ỹ corne shalbe destroyed, ỹ swete wyne shal come to confusyon, & the oyle vtterly desolate. The housbande men and the wyne gardeners shall loke pyteously and make lamentacyon for the wheate, wyne and barely/ and because ỹ harueste vpō the feld is so clene destroyed. The grape gatheters shall make greate mone, wh en the vyneyard and fygetrees be so vtterly wasted. Yea, all the pomgarnettes/ palmetrees, apletres, and the other trees of the felde shall wyther awaye. Thus the mery cheare of ỹ chyldren of menne shall come to confusyon.

Gyrde you, and make your mone/ Ye prestes: mourne ye mynystres of the aultar: goo youre waye in, and slepe in sack cloth, O ye offycers of my God: for the meate and drynkeofferyng shalbe taken awaye from the house of your god. Proclayme a fastynge, call the congregacyon, gather the elders and all the inhabyters of the land together in the house of the Lord your God, and crye vnto ỹ Lorde: alas, alas, for thys daye. And why? the day of the Lorde is at hande, and commeth as a destroier from the almyghtye. Shal not the meates be takē awaye before oure Eyes, the myrth also and ioye from the house of our God? The sede shall perysh in the grounde ỹ grauers shal lye waste/ ỹ floores shalbe brokē doune, for ỹ corne shalbe destroied O what a syghynge make the cattel? ỹ bullockes are very cruel lykig, because they haue no pasture: and the shepe are stampshed awaye.

O Lord, to thee wyll I crye: for the fyre hath cōsumed the goodly pastures of the wildernesse/ and the flāme hath brent vp al the trees of the felde. Yea, ỹ wylde beastes crye also vnto thee: for the water ryuers are dryed vp and the fire hath consumed the pastures of the wildernes.

A

B Deuter.xi.d

C

Nota proclaymo ō fastyng Joel.ii.d for fastyng & commaundy

The Prophecy

The notes.

S. Hierome sayth in the prologe of Ose, that those prophetes whych shewe not the tyme of their prophecy ord prophetye in the tyme of the prophete that standeth next before them, whych declareth the tyme of hys prophecy.

The prophecyeth the commynge and cruelte of theyr enemyes. An exhortacion to moue them to conuerte.

The.ii. Chapter

A Blow out the trompet in Sion, and cry out vpō my holy hyll that al suche as dwel in the lande maie tremble at it: for the daye of the Lord cōmethe, and is harde at hande: a darcke daye, a glomyng daye, a cloudy daye. yea and a stormy daye, lyke as the morning spredeth out vpon the hylles: Namely, a great ād myghty people: suche as haue not bene sens the begynnynge, neither shall be after them for euermore. Before hym shall be a consumynge fyre, and behynde hym a burnyng flāme. The lande shalbe as a garden of pleasure before hi, but behynde hym shal it be a very waste wyldernesse and there is no mā, that shal scape hym. They are to loke vpon/ lyke barded horses/ and runne lyke horse mē. They skyppe vp vpon the hylles, as it were the sound of charettes: as the flāme of fire that consumeth the strawe, and as a myghtye people redy to the battayll.

The folke shalbe afrayed of hym: all faces shall be as blacke as a pot. These shall runne lyke gyauntes, and leape ouer the walles lyke mē of warre. Euery man in hys goyng shall kepe his araye, and not goo oute of hys Path. There shall not one dryue another/ but eche shall kepe hys owne waye. They shal breake in at the wyndowes, and not be hurte. They shal come in to the cytye, and runne vpon the walles. They shall clyme vp vpon the houses and skyppe in at the wyndowes lyke a theefe. The earth shall quake before hym, yea, the heauens shalbe moued: The Sunne and Moone shal be darckened and the starres shal wythdrawe theyr shyne.

The Lorde shall shewe hys voyce before hys hoost for, his hoost is greate, stronge and myghtye to fulfyll hys commaundement. Thys is that greate and maruelous fearfull day of the lord. And who is able to abyde it?

Now therfore sayeth the Lordes Turne you vnto me with al your hartes wyth fastyng, weppyng and mournynge, rente your hertes, and not your clothes. Turne you vnto the Lorde youre God, for he is gracyous and mercyfull/ long sufferyng and of greate compassyon: ād redy to pardone wyckednes. Then (no doute) he also shall turne, and forgyue: after hys chastenyng/ he shal let your increase remayne/ for Meate and dryncke offeryinges vnto the Lorde youre God. Blowe out wyth the Trompet in Sion proclayme a fastyng, cal the congregacion/ād gather the people together, warne the congregacion, gather the elders, brig the chyldren/ and suckelynges together. Let the brydegrom go forth of hys chāber/ and the bryde out of her closet. Let the prestes serue the lorde, betwixte the porch and the aultar/ weppyng and sayenge: be fauourable, O lorde be fauourable vnto thy people: let not thine heretage be brought to suche confusyon, lest the Heathē be lordes therof. Wherfore should they say amōge the Heathē, where is now their God?

Then shal the lord be gelous ouer his land, and spare his people: yea the lorde shall answere/ and saye vnto hys people: Behold/ I wyl sende you corne wyne, and ople, so that ye shal haue plēnte of them: and I wyll nomore geue you ouer to be a reprofe among ỹ Heathen. Agayn/ as for hī of the North/ I shal dryue him far from you: ād shutte him out in to a dryte and wast land/ his face towarde the east sea/ and his hynder partes towarde the vttermost sea. The stynche of him shal go vp, and his fylthy corrupcyon shal fal vpon him selfe because he hath dealt so proudly. Feare not (O land) but be glad ād reioyse, for the lorde wyll do greate thynges.

Be not ye afrayed nether (O ye beestes of the felde) for ỹ pastures shalbe grene and the trees shal beare their frute: the fygfygge trees & vineyardes shall geue theyr increase.

Be glad then (O ye chyldren of Sion) and reyoyce in the Lorde youre God, for he hath geuen you a teacher of ryghtousnes / and he it is that shal sende you downe showers of rayne / early and late in the fyrst moneth: so that the graners shalbe full of corne and the presses plenteous in wyne and oyle. And as for the yeares that the grasshopper, locuste, blastynge and caterpyller (my greate hoost whych I sent amonge you) haue eaten vp, I shal restore them to you againe: so that ye shall haue ynough to eate, and be satysfyed: and prayse the Name of the Lorde youre God, that so marueilously hath dealte wyth you.

And my people shall neuer be confounded any more. Ye shall knowe / that I am in the myddest of Israel, and that I am your God: yea, and that there is none other, and my people shall no more be brought to confusyon.

After thys, wyl I poure out my spyrite vpon all flesh: and your sonnes ād your daughters shall prophecy: your olde mē shall dreame *dreames, and youre yōge men shall se vysyons: yea in those dayes I wil poure out my spyrite vpon seruauntes and maydens. I wyll shewe wonders in heauen aboue, and tokēs in the earth beneth, bloude and fyre, ād the vapoure of smoke. The sunne shalbe turned into darckenesse / and the moone into bloude: before the greate and notable Daye of the Lorde come. And the tyme shal come: that whosoeuer calleth on the name of ỹ Lorde, shalbe saued. For vpon the mount Syon and at Ierusalem, there shalbe a saluacyon / lyke as the lord hath promysed: yea and amonge the other remnaūt, whom the Lorde shall call.

The notes.

*Vnder stand. true, as did Daniel and other. This prophecye ye haue also Act. ii, c.

¶ Of the iudgement of God agaynst the enemyes of his people,

¶ The iii. Chapter.

FOr take hede: in those dayes and at the same tyme / when I turne agayne the captyuitee of Iuda and Ierusalē I shall gather all people together / and bryng thē in the valley of Iosaphat, & there wyll I reason wᵗ them because of my people and herytayge of Israell: whoome they haue scattered about in the nacions and parted my lād ye & they haue cast lottes for my people, the yonge men haue they set in the bordel house and sold the Dāsels for wine that they myght haue to drynke. Thou Tirus and Sydon and all ye borders of the Phylistins, What haue ye to dō with me: Will ye dekye me: well / yf ye wyll nedes dekye me: I shall recompence you euen vpon youre heade and that ryght shortely, for ye haue taken away my syluer and gold, my fayre and goodly Jewels, and brought them into your goddes houses. The chyldrē also of Iuda and Ierusalem haue ye solde vnto the Grekes, that ye might bringe them farre from the borders of their owne contrees.

Beholde therfore, I will raise them out of the place, where ye haue sold thē & will reward you euē vpon your head Youre sonnes & youre doughters wyll I sel thorow the handes of the childrē of Iuda & so they shal geue thē forth to sel vnto thē of Saba a peple of a farr cōtre, for the Lord him selfe hath sayde it. Crye out these thinges among the Gētyles / proclayme warre, wake vp the gyauntes, let them drawe nye, let thē come vp al the lusty warryours of thē, make you swerdes of youre plowshares, and spades of your sycles and sythes. Let the weake man saye, I am stronge. Muster you / and come all ye Heathen roūde about: gather you together, thet shal the lord laye al the gyauntes to ỹ grounde. Let the people aryse, and get thē to the valley of Iosaphat: for there will I sit, and iudge al Heathen, roūd about. Laie to your sythes, for the haruest is rype: come, get you doune, the wynepresse is ful, yea the wide presses rūne ouer, for their wickednes is waxen greate. In ỹ valley appointed, ther shall be many / many people: for the daye of the Lorde is nye in the valleye appointed. The sunne and moone shalbe darckened, and the starres shall withdrawe their lyght. The Lord shal roore out of Syon / and crye out of Ierusalem, that the heauens and the erth shall quake withall.

Bur

fygge trees & vineyardes shall geue theyr increase.

Be glad then (O ye chyldren of Sion) and reyoyce in the Lorde youre God, for he hath geuen you a teacher of ryghtousnes / and he it is that shal sende you downe showers of rayne / early and late in the fyrst moneth: so that the graners shalbe full of corne and the presses plenteous in wyne and oyle. And as for the yeares that the grasshopper, locuste, blastynge and caterpyller (my greate hoost whych I sent amonge you) haue eaten vp, I shal restore them to you againe: so that ye shall haue ynough to eate, and be satysfyed: and prayse the Name of the Lorde youre God, that so marueilously hath dealte wyth you.

And my people shall neuer be confounded any more. Ye shall knowe / that I am in the myddest of Israel, and that I am your God: yea, and that there is none other, and my people shall no more be brought to confusyon.

After thys, wyl I poure out my spyrite vpon all flesh: and your sonnes ād your daughters shall prophecy: your olde mē shall dreame *dreames, and youre yōge men shall se vysyons: yea in those dayes I wil poure out my spyrite vpon seruauntes and maydens. I wyll shewe wonders in heauen aboue, and tokēs in the earth beneth, bloude and fyre, ād the vapoure of smoke. The sunne shalbe turned into darckenesse / and the moone into bloude: before the greate and notable Daye of the Lorde come. And the tyme shal come: that whosoeuer calleth on the name of ỹ Lorde, shalbe saued. For vpon the mount Syon and at Ierusalem, there shalbe a saluacyon / lyke as the lord hath promysed: yea and amonge the other remnaūt, whom the Lorde shall call.

The notes.

*Vnder stand. true, as did Daniel and other. This prophecye ye haue also Act. ii, c.

¶ Of the iudgement of God agaynst the enemyes of his people,

¶ The iii. Chapter.

FOr take hede: in those dayes and at the same tyme / when I turne agayne the captyuitee of Iuda and Ierusalē I shall gather all people together / and bryng thē in the valley of Iosaphat, & there wyll I reason wᵗ them because of my people and herytayge of Israell: whoome they haue scattered about in the nacions and parted my lād ye & they haue cast lottes for my people, the yonge men haue they set in the bordel house and sold the Dāsels for wine that they myght haue to drynke. Thou Tirus and Sydon and all ye borders of the Phylistins, What haue ye to dō with me: Will ye dekye me: well / yf ye wyll nedes dekye me: I shall recompence you euen vpon youre heade and that ryght shortely, for ye haue taken away my syluer and gold, my fayre and goodly Jewels, and brought them into your goddes houses. The chyldrē also of Iuda and Ierusalem haue ye solde vnto the Grekes, that ye might bringe them farre from the borders of their owne contrees.

Beholde therfore, I will raise them out of the place, where ye haue sold thē & will reward you euē vpon your head Youre sonnes & youre doughters wyll I sel thorow the handes of the childrē of Iuda & so they shal geue thē forth to sel vnto thē of Saba a peple of a farr cōtre, for the Lord him selfe hath sayde it. Crye out these thinges among the Gētyles / proclayme warre, wake vp the gyauntes, let them drawe nye, let thē come vp al the lusty warryours of thē, make you swerdes of youre plowshares, and spades of your sycles and sythes. Let the weake man saye, I am stronge. Muster you / and come all ye Heathen roūde about: gather you together, thet shal the lord laye al the gyauntes to ỹ grounde. Let the people aryse, and get thē to the valley of Iosaphat: for there will I sit, and iudge al Heathen, roūd about. Laie to your sythes, for the haruest is rype: come, get you doune, the wynepresse is ful, yea the wide presses rūne ouer, for their wickednes is waxen greate. In ỹ valley appointed, ther shall be many / many people: for the daye of the Lorde is nye in the valleye appointed. The sunne and moone shalbe darckened, and the starres shall withdrawe their lyght. The Lord shal roore out of Syon / and crye out of Ierusalem, that the heauens and the erth shall quake withall.

Bur

The Prophecy

But the Lorde shall be a defence vnto his owne people, & a refuge for the chyldren of Israell. Thus shal ye knowe, that I the Lord your God dwell vpon my holy mount of Syon. Then shal Jerusalē be holy, & there shal no straūgers go thorow her any more. Thē shal the mouūtaynes droppe swete wyne, ād the hylles shal flowe with mylcke. All the ryuers of Juda shall haue waters ynoughe, and out of the Lordes house there shal flow a spryng, to water the broke of Sittim: but Egipt shalbe laid waste, and Edom shalbe desolate: because they haue dealte so cruelly with the children of Juda, and shed innocēt bloud in their lande. Agayne, Juda shalbe inhabited for euermore, and Jerusalem from generacyon to generacyon: for I wyll not leaue theyr bloude vnauenged. And the Lorde shal dwell in Sion.

¶ The ende of the prophecy of Joel.

¶ The Boke of the Prophet Amos.

¶ The tyme of the Prophecy of Amos. The word of the Lord agaynst Azah, Agaynst Tyre, agaynste Edom, and agaynst the sonne of Ammon.

¶ The fyrst Chapter.

Utt. We. xvi. b

THese are ye sermons that wer shewed vnto Amos (whyche was one of the shepardes at Thecua) vpon Israell, in ye tyme of Osiah kyng of Juda, and in ye tyme of Jeroboam the sonne of Joab kynge of Israell, two yeare before the earth quake. And he sayd: The Lorde shal roote out of Sion, and shewe hys voyce from Jerusalem: so that the pastures of the shepardes shall be in a myserable case, and the tope of Carmel dryed vp. Thus sayeth the Lorde: For thre and foure wickednesses of Damascus, I wyll not spare her: because they haue throshed Galaad with yron flailes: But I wyl send a fyre into the house of Hazael, the same shal consume the palaces of Benadab.

Thus wyl I breake the barres of Damascus, and rote out the inhabiters frō the felde of Auen, and him that holdeth the sceptre out of the pleasaunte house, so that the people shalbe dryuen out of fayre Syria, sayeth the Lorde. Thus sayeth the Lorde: for thre and foure wickednesses of Gaza I wyl not spare her because they make ỹ prisoners yet more captyue and haue dryuen theym into the lande of Edom. Therfore wyll I sende a fyre into the walles of Gaza whych shall deuoure her houses. I wyl rote out them that dwell at Asdod and hym that holdeth the scepter of Ascalon and stretche out myne hande ouer Accaron that the remnaunte of the phylystines, shall perysh, sayth the Lorde.

Thus sayth the Lorde: For thre and foure wyckednesses of the citie of Tire I wyll not spare her: because they haue encreased the captiuitee of the Edomytes ād haue not remembred the brotherly conueaunte. Therfore wyll I sende a fyre into the walles of Tyre that shal consume her palaces.

Thus sayth the Lord, for thre and foure wyckednesses of Edom I wyl not spare hym / because he persecuted hys brother wyth the swerde, destroyed hys mothers wombe, bare hatred very longe, and so kepte indignacion alwaye by hī Therfore wyl I sende a fyre into Theman / whych shall deuoure the palaces of Bosra.

Thus sayth the Lorde: For thre ād foure wyckednesses of the chyldren of Ammon I wyl not spare them: because they rypte vp the wemen greate wythe chylde in Galaad, to make the borders of theyr landes the wyder. Therfore I wyll kyndle a fyre in the walles of Rabbath that shall consume her palaces with a great crye in the day of Battel, in tempest and in the day of storme so ỹ theyr kynge shall go into captiuitye he and hys prynces together, sayeth the Lorde.

¶ Agaynst Moab Juda, and Israell.

¶ The.ii. Chapter.

THus sayth the Lorde: For three and foure wyckednesses of Moab I wil not spare hym: because he brent the bones of the kynge of Edom to asshes Therfore wyl I send a fyre into Moab whych

The Prophecy

But the Lorde shall be a defence vnto his owne people, & a refuge for the chyldren of Israell. Thus shal ye knowe, that I the Lord your God dwell vpon my holy mount of Syon. Then shal Jerusalē be holy, & there shal no straūgers go thorow her any more. Thē shal the mouūtaynes droppe swete wyne, ād the hylles shal flowe with mylcke. All the ryuers of Juda shall haue waters ynoughe, and out of the Lordes house there shal flow a spryng, to water the broke of Sittim: but Egipt shalbe laid waste, and Edom shalbe desolate: because they haue dealte so cruelly with the children of Juda, and shed innocēt bloud in their lande. Agayne, Juda shalbe inhabited for euermore, and Jerusalem from generacyon to generacyon: for I wyll not leaue theyr bloude vnauenged. And the Lorde shal dwell in Sion.

¶ The ende of the prophecy of Joel.

¶ The Boke of the Prophet Amos.

¶ The tyme of the Prophecy of Amos. The word of the Lord agaynst Azah, Agaynst Tyre, agaynste Edom, and agaynst the sonne of Ammon.

¶ The fyrst Chapter.

Utt. We. xvi. b

THese are ye sermons that wer shewed vnto Amos (whyche was one of the shepardes at Thecua) vpon Israell, in ye tyme of Osiah kyng of Juda, and in ye tyme of Jeroboam the sonne of Joab kynge of Israell, two yeare before the earth quake. And he sayd: The Lorde shal roote out of Sion, and shewe hys voyce from Jerusalem: so that the pastures of the shepardes shall be in a myserable case, and the tope of Carmel dryed vp. Thus sayeth the Lorde: For thre and foure wickednesses of Damascus, I wyll not spare her: because they haue throshed Galaad with yron flailes: But I wyl send a fyre into the house of Hazael, the same shal consume the palaces of Benadab.

Thus wyl I breake the barres of Damascus, and rote out the inhabiters frō the felde of Auen, and him that holdeth the sceptre out of the pleasaunte house, so that the people shalbe dryuen out of fayre Syria, sayeth the Lorde. Thus sayeth the Lorde: for thre and foure wickednesses of Gaza I wyl not spare her because they make ỹ prisoners yet more captyue and haue dryuen theym into the lande of Edom. Therfore wyll I sende a fyre into the walles of Gaza whych shall deuoure her houses. I wyl rote out them that dwell at Asdod and hym that holdeth the scepter of Ascalon and stretche out myne hande ouer Accaron that the remnaunte of the phylystines, shall perysh, sayth the Lorde.

Thus sayth the Lorde: For thre and foure wyckednesses of the citie of Tire I wyll not spare her: because they haue encreased the captiuitee of the Edomytes ād haue not remembred the brotherly conueaunte. Therfore wyll I sende a fyre into the walles of Tyre that shal consume her palaces.

Thus sayth the Lord, for thre and foure wyckednesses of Edom I wyl not spare hym / because he persecuted hys brother wyth the swerde, destroyed hys mothers wombe, bare hatred very longe, and so kepte indignacion alwaye by hī Therfore wyl I sende a fyre into Theman / whych shall deuoure the palaces of Bosra.

Thus sayth the Lorde: For thre ād foure wyckednesses of the chyldren of Ammon I wyl not spare them: because they rypte vp the wemen greate wythe chylde in Galaad, to make the borders of theyr landes the wyder. Therfore I wyll kyndle a fyre in the walles of Rabbath that shall consume her palaces with a great crye in the day of Battel, in tempest and in the day of storme so ỹ theyr kynge shall go into captiuitye he and hys prynces together, sayeth the Lorde.

¶ Agaynst Moab Juda, and Israell.

¶ The.ii. Chapter.

THus sayth the Lorde: For three and foure wyckednesses of Moab I wil not spare hym: because he brent the bones of the kynge of Edom to asshes Therfore wyl I send a fyre into Moab whych

whych shall consume the palaces of Caryoth: so that Moab shal perysh wyth a noyse and the sounde of a shawme.
B wyll rote out the iudge frō amonge thē and slaye al hys prynces wyth hī, sayeth the Lorde. Thus sayeth the Lorde: for thre and foure wyckednesses of Juda, I wyll not spare hym: because he hath cast a syde the lawe of the Lorde / and not kepte hys commaundementes: for wyth They wolde nedes be deceaued wyth the lyes, that theyr forefathers folowed.
Therfore will I sende a fyre into Juda whych shall consume the palaces of Jerusalem.

Thus sayeth the Lorde: For thre & foure wyckednesses of Israel, I wil not spare hym: because he hath sold the rygh teous for money and the pore for shues.
C They treade vpon poore mens heades / in the dust of the earth / and croke the wayes of the meke. The sonne and the father go to the harlot, to dishonoure my holy name, they a*lye besyde euery aultar vpon clothes taken to pledge / ād in the house of theyr goddes they drynke the wyne of the oppressed. Yet destroyed I the Amorite before theym, that was as hye as the Cedre trees, ād as stronge as the okes: notwyth standyng I destroyed hys frute from aboue and his roote from vnder.

Agayne: I brought you out of the lande of Egypte, and led you xl. yeares thorow the wyldernesse, that Yee myght haue the Ammorytes land in possessyon I raysed vp Prophetes amonge youre chyldren / and abstayners amonge youre yonge men. Is it not so, O ye chyldren of Israel, sayeth the Lorde? But ye gaue the abstayners wyne to drynke, yea yee commaūded the prophetes, saying: Prophecy not. Beholde / I will crashe you in sonder, lyke as a waine crasheth, that is full of sheaues: so that the swyfte shall not escape, nether the stronge be able to do eny thynge: no, the gyaunte shall not saue hys owne lyfe. The archer shall not abyde, and the Swyfte of foote shall not escape. The horsman shall not saue hys lyfe, and he that is as manly of stomack as a gyaunte, shall in that daye be fayne to Runne hys waye naked, Sayeth the Lorde.

The Notes.

a* To lye besyde euery hyl aulter vpon clothes taken to pledge, is, to serue their Idoles of goodes taken by extorcyon from the poore.

The reproueth the house of Israel of wickednes.

The.iii. Chapter.

HEare, what the Lord speaketh vnto you (O ye chyldren of Israel) namely, vnto all the trybes, whome I brought out of Egypt, and sayd: you only haue I excepted from al the generacyons of the earth: therfore wil I visit you in al your wickednesses
A May twayne walcke togethrr except they be agreed amonge them selues?
Doth a lyon roare in the wodde, except he haue a pray? Or crieth a lītes whelp out of his denne, except he haue gottē somthyng? doth a byrde fall in a snare vpon the earth, where no fouler is? Taketh a man hys snare vp from the grounde, afore he catch somwhat? Cry they out Alarum with the trompet in a cytye, and the people not afrayed? Commeth there anye plage in a cytie wythout it be the Lordes doynge?
Now dothe the Lorde God no maner of thynge, but he telleth hys secretes before vnto hys seruauntes the prophetes.
B When a lyon roareth, who wyll not be afrayed? Seyng then that the Lorde God hym selfe speaketh / who wyll not * Pro pheresye

* o'reckans Prophecy

Preache in the palaces at Asdod / and in the palaces of the lande of Egypte and saye: gather you together vppon the mountaynes of Samarya, so shall ye see greate murther and vyolent oppressyon amonge them, for why? they regarde not the thynge that is ryght, sayth the Lord: they gather together euel gotten goodds and laye vp robbery in theyr Houses.

Therfore thus sayth the Lorde God: This lande shalbe troubled and beseged rounde about: thy strengt shalbe plucte from thee: and thy palaces robed. Thus sayeth the Lorde: lyke as an hyrdeman taketh two legges or a pece of an eare out of the lyons mouth: Euen so the chyldren
C of Israell (that dwell in Samarya / hauing theyr couches in the corner ād their beddes at Damascus) shalbe plucked away.

Heare

whych shall consume the palaces of Caryoth: so that Moab shal perysh wyth a noyse and the sounde of a shawme.
B wyll rote out the iudge frō amonge thē and slaye al hys prynces wyth hī, sayeth the Lorde. Thus sayeth the Lorde: for thre and foure wyckednesses of Juda, I wyll not spare hym: because he hath cast a syde the lawe of the Lorde / and not kepte hys commaundementes: for wyth They wolde nedes be deceaued wyth the lyes, that theyr forefathers folowed.
Therfore will I sende a fyre into Juda whych shall consume the palaces of Jerusalem.

Thus sayeth the Lorde: For thre & foure wyckednesses of Israel, I wil not spare hym: because he hath sold the rygh teous for money and the pore for shues.
C They treade vpon poore mens heades / in the dust of the earth / and croke the wayes of the meke. The sonne and the father go to the harlot, to dishonoure my holy name, they a*lye besyde euery aultar vpon clothes taken to pledge / ād in the house of theyr goddes they drynke the wyne of the oppressed. Yet destroyed I the Amorite before theym, that was as hye as the Cedre trees, ād as stronge as the okes: notwyth standyng I destroyed hys frute from aboue and his roote from vnder.

Agayne: I brought you out of the lande of Egypte, and led you xl. yeares thorow the wyldernesse, that Yee myght haue the Ammorytes land in possessyon I raysed vp Prophetes amonge youre chyldren / and abstayners amonge youre yonge men. Is it not so, O ye chyldren of Israel, sayeth the Lorde? But ye gaue the abstayners wyne to drynke, yea yee commaūded the prophetes, saying: Prophecy not. Beholde / I will crashe you in sonder, lyke as a waine crasheth, that is full of sheaues: so that the swyfte shall not escape, nether the stronge be able to do eny thynge: no, the gyaunte shall not saue hys owne lyfe. The archer shall not abyde, and the Swyfte of foote shall not escape. The horsman shall not saue hys lyfe, and he that is as manly of stomack as a gyaunte, shall in that daye be fayne to Runne hys waye naked, Sayeth the Lorde.

The Notes.

a* To lye besyde euery hyl aulter vpon clothes taken to pledge, is, to serue their Idoles of goodes taken by extorcyon from the poore.

The reproueth the house of Israel of wickednes.

The.iii. Chapter.

HEare, what the Lord speaketh vnto you (O ye chyldren of Israel) namely, vnto all the trybes, whome I brought out of Egypt, and sayd: you only haue I excepted from al the generacyons of the earth: therfore wil I visit you in al your wickednesses
A May twayne walcke togethrr except they be agreed amonge them selues?
Doth a lyon roare in the wodde, except he haue a pray? Or crieth a lītes whelp out of his denne, except he haue gottē somthyng? doth a byrde fall in a snare vpon the earth, where no fouler is? Taketh a man hys snare vp from the grounde, afore he catch somwhat? Cry they out Alarum with the trompet in a cytye, and the people not afrayed? Commeth there anye plage in a cytie wythout it be the Lordes doynge?
Now dothe the Lorde God no maner of thynge, but he telleth hys secretes before vnto hys seruauntes the prophetes.
B When a lyon roareth, who wyll not be afrayed? Seyng then that the Lorde God hym selfe speaketh / who wyll not * Pro pheresye

* o'reckans Prophecy

Preache in the palaces at Asdod / and in the palaces of the lande of Egypte and saye: gather you together vppon the mountaynes of Samarya, so shall ye see greate murther and vyolent oppressyon amonge them, for why? they regarde not the thynge that is ryght, sayth the Lord: they gather together euel gotten goodds and laye vp robbery in theyr Houses.

Therfore thus sayth the Lorde God: This lande shalbe troubled and beseged rounde aboute: thy strengt shalbe plucte from thee: and thy palaces robed. Thus sayeth the Lorde: lyke as an hyrdeman taketh two legges or a pece of an eare out of the lyons mouth: Euen so the chyldren
C of Israell (that dwell in Samarya / hauing theyr couches in the corner ād their beddes at Damascus) shalbe plucked away.

Heare

iiii.Re,xvi, xvii. Heare, and beare recorde in the house of Jacob(sayeth the Lorde God of hostes) that when I begyn to vysyt the wickednesse of Israel/ I will vysyt the aultars at Bethell also: so that the hornes of the aultar shalbe broken of/ and fall to the grounde.

As for the wynter house and somer house, I will smyte them downe: and the houses of Ivery, yea, & many other houses shall perysh, and be destroyed, sayeth the Lorde.

¶ Agaynst the gouernors of Samarya.

¶ The.iiii. Chapter

A O Heare this word* ye fat kine/ that be vpon the hyl of Samarya: Ye that doo poore men wronge, and oppresse the nedy: ye that saye to youre Lordes: bryng hyther, let vs dryncke. Therfore the Lorde hath sworne by his holynesse: The dates shal come vpon you, that ye shal B be lyfte vp vpon speares/ and youre posterytye caryed awaye in fyschers panyers. Ye shall gett you oute at the gappes one after another, and in Armon shal ye be cast awaye, sayeth the Lorde.

Iosue.xvi.a iii.Reg.xii.c Ose.iiii,c. Ose.ix.c,xii. B Ye came to Bethel for to worke vn gracyousnes/ and haue increased your synnes at Galgall: ye brought your sacrifyces in the mornynge, and youre tythes vnto the thyrd daye. Ye made a thanck offeryng of leuen/ ye promysed fre wyl offerynges, and proclaymed thē. Suche lust had ye, O ye Chyldren of Israell, sayth the Lord God. Therfore haue I geuen you ydlenes in al youre cyties and scarsenes of bread in al your places, yet wyll ye not turne vnto me sayeth the Lorde. When there were but thre monethes vnto the haruest/ I wythelde the rayne from you, yea I rayned vpon one cytie and not vpon an other, one pece of C grounde was moystured wythe Rayne and the grounde that I rayned not vpō, was drye. Wherfore two, yea/ thre cytyes came vnto one todryncke water: but they were not satysfyed, yet wyll ye not turne vnto me sayeth the Lord.

I haue smytten you wyth drouthe ād blastīg, and loke how many orchardes, vyne yardes, fygge trees & olyuetrees ye had: the caterpyller hath eaten them vp. But yet wyll ye not turne vnto me, saith the Lord. Pestylence haue I sent amōg you: as I dyd in Egypte: your yonge mē haue I slayne wyth the swerde, & caused your horses to be taken captyue. I made the stynckynge sauoure of youre tentes to come vp into your nosthrels: Yet wyl ye not turne vnto me, sayeth the Lord. Exodi.ix

Some of you haue I ouerthrowē, as I ouerthrew Sodō & Gomor: so ỹ ye were as a brande plucked out of the fyre. Yet wyl ye not turn vnto me, sayth the Lord. Gene.xix.b. ii.Peter.ii.b

D Therfore thus wyl I handle thee agayn (O Israel) yea euen thus wyll I handle thee. Make thee readye then to mete thy God, O Israell. For lo, he maketh ỹ mountaynes, he ordeneth the wynde, he sheweth man what he is about to do: he maketh the morynge and the darcknes, he treadeth vppon the hygh places of the earth: the Lorde God of Hoostes is hys name.

The Notes.

a* By these fat kyne are vnderstande the ryche rulers of the worlde. Psalm.xxii.b.

¶ A complaynte of the captiuytie of Israel.

¶ The.v. Chapter.

A Heare thys woorde O ye house of Israel, and why: I muste make thys moone for you: The Vyrgyn Israell shall fall: and neuer ryse vp agayne, she shalbe cast downe vppon her owne grounde/ and no man shall healpe her vp. For thus sayeth the Lorde God: Where as ther dwelt a thousand in one cytie, there shalbe left scarse an hundred therein: and wher there dwelt an C. ther shall scarse ten be left for the house of Israell. Neuertheles thus sayeth the Lord vnto the house of Israel: Seke after me and ye shall lyue, but seke not after Bethell. Come not at Galgal, and go not to Berlsaba: for Galgal shalbe caryed away captiue, and Bethel shal com to naught. Seke the Lorde that ye maye lyue: least the house of Joseph be brente wyth fyre and consumed, and least there be none to quenche Bethel.

Ye turne the lawe to wormwood, and cast downe ryghtuousnes vnto ỹ grou̇d.

The

iiii.Re,xvi, xvii. Heare, and beare recorde in the house of Jacob(sayeth the Lorde God of hostes) that when I begyn to vysyt the wickednesse of Israel/ I will vysyt the aultars at Bethell also: so that the hornes of the aultar shalbe broken of/ and fall to the grounde.

As for the wynter house and somer house, I will smyte them downe: and the houses of Ivery, yea, & many other houses shall perysh, and be destroyed, sayeth the Lorde.

¶ Agaynst the gouernors of Samarya.

¶ The.iiii. Chapter

A O Heare this word* ye fat kine/ that be vpon the hyl of Samarya: Ye that doo poore men wronge, and oppresse the nedy: ye that saye to youre Lordes: bryng hyther, let vs dryncke. Therfore the Lorde hath sworne by his holynesse: The dates shal come vpon you, that ye shal B be lyfte vp vpon speares/ and youre posterytye caryed awaye in fyschers panyers. Ye shall gett you oute at the gappes one after another, and in Armon shal ye be cast awaye, sayeth the Lorde.

Iosue.xvi.a iii.Reg.xii.c Ose.iiii,c. Ose.ix.c,xii. B Ye came to Bethel for to worke vn gracyousnes/ and haue increased your synnes at Galgall: ye brought your sacrifyces in the mornynge, and youre tythes vnto the thyrd daye. Ye made a thanck offeryng of leuen/ ye promysed fre wyl offerynges, and proclaymed thē. Suche lust had ye, O ye Chyldren of Israell, sayth the Lord God. Therfore haue I geuen you ydlenes in al youre cyties and scarsenes of bread in al your places, yet wyll ye not turne vnto me sayeth the Lorde. When there were but thre monethes vnto the haruest/ I wythelde the rayne from you, yea I rayned vpon one cytie and not vpon an other, one pece of C grounde was moystured wythe Rayne and the grounde that I rayned not vpō, was drye. Wherfore two, yea/ thre cytyes came vnto one todryncke water: but they were not satysfyed, yet wyll ye not turne vnto me sayeth the Lord.

I haue smytten you wyth drouthe ād blastīg, and loke how many orchardes, vyne yardes, fygge trees & olyuetrees ye had: the caterpyller hath eaten them vp. But yet wyll ye not turne vnto me, saith the Lord. Pestylence haue I sent amōg you: as I dyd in Egypte: your yonge mē haue I slayne wyth the swerde, & caused your horses to be taken captyue. I made the stynckynge sauoure of youre tentes to come vp into your nosthrels: Yet wyl ye not turne vnto me, sayeth the Lord. Exodi.ix

Some of you haue I ouerthrowē, as I ouerthrew Sodō & Gomor: so ỹ ye were as a brande plucked out of the fyre. Yet wyl ye not turn vnto me, sayth the Lord. Gene.xix.b. ii.Peter.ii.b

D Therfore thus wyl I handle thee agayn (O Israel) yea euen thus wyll I handle thee. Make thee readye then to mete thy God, O Israell. For lo, he maketh ỹ mountaynes, he ordeneth the wynde, he sheweth man what he is about to do: he maketh the morynge and the darcknes, he treadeth vppon the hygh places of the earth: the Lorde God of Hoostes is hys name.

The Notes.

a* By these fat kyne are vnderstande the ryche rulers of the worlde. Psalm.xxii.b.

¶ A complaynte of the captiuytie of Israel.

¶ The.v. Chapter.

A Heare thys woorde O ye house of Israel, and why: I muste make thys moone for you: The Vyrgyn Israell shall fall: and neuer ryse vp agayne, she shalbe cast downe vppon her owne grounde/ and no man shall healpe her vp. For thus sayeth the Lorde God: Where as ther dwelt a thousand in one cytie, there shalbe left scarse an hundred therein: and wher there dwelt an C. ther shall scarse ten be left for the house of Israell. Neuertheles thus sayeth the Lord vnto the house of Israel: Seke after me and ye shall lyue, but seke not after Bethell. Come not at Galgal, and go not to Berlsaba: for Galgal shalbe caryed away captiue, and Bethel shal com to naught. Seke the Lorde that ye maye lyue: least the house of Joseph be brente wyth fyre and consumed, and least there be none to quenche Bethel.

Ye turne the lawe to wormwood, and cast downe ryghtuousnes vnto ỹ grou̇d.

The

The Lorde maketh the bestia res ād the Dyons, he turneth the nyght into daye, and of the daye he maketh darcknesse. He calleth the waters of the sea, and poureth them out vpon the playne grounde. The Lord is his name. He rayseth destruccyon vpon the myghty people, and bryngeth downe the stronge holde: but they owe him euel wyll, that reproueth them openly: and who so telleth them ỹ playne trueth, they abhorre hym. For so muche then as ye oppresse ỹ poore, ād robbe hym of his best substaunce: therfor/ whet as ye haue buylded houses of square stone/ ye shal not dwell in them. Marueious pleasaunt Vyneyardes shall ye Plante, but the wyne of them shal ye not dryncke: and why: as for ỹ multitude of youre wyckednesses and your stout Synnes, I knowe them rightwell. Enemyes ar ye of the ryghtous/ ye take rewardes, ye oppresse the poore in iudgement. Therfor the wyse muste nowe be kayne to holde his tounge, so wycked a tyme is it. Seke after the thynge that is good & not euell, so shall ye lyue: yea the Lord God of hostes shall be wyth you, accordyng to your own desire. Hate the euel and loue the good, set vp right agayn in the poorte: & (no doubte) the Lorde GOD of Hoostes shall be Mercyfull vnto ỹ remnaūt of Joseph. If not (sayth the Lorde God/ the God of hostes) ther shal be mournyng in al stretes yea they shall saye in euery strete: alas alas. They shall call ỹ housbandman to lamentacyon, & such as can mourne to mourynynge. In al vyneyardes ther shall be heuinesse, for I wyl i comme amonge you, sayeth the Lord. Woo be vnto them that desyre the dayeof the Lorde. Wherfor wolde ye haue it: As for the daye of the Lorde, it shalbe darcke and not cleare: Yea lyke as when a mā runneth from a Lion and a Beere meeteth with him: or when he cōmeth into the house/ and leaneth his hand vpon the wall, a serpent byteth hym. Shall not the daye of the Lorde be darcke, ād not cleare: shall it not be cloudy, ād no shyne in it:

I hate ād abhorre your holydayes and where as ye cense me when ye come together/ I wyl not accepte it. And though ye offre me brentoffrynges & meatoffrynges, yet haue I no pleasure therin. As for your fat thākoffrynges I wyll not loke vppon them. Away wyth that noyse of thy songes, I wyll not heare thy plaies of musicke: but let that equyte flow as ỹ water, and ryghtuousnesse as a myghtye streame. O ye house of Israel/ gaue ye me offrynges and sacrifices those. xl. yeares longe in the wyldernesse: yet haue ye sette vp tabernacles to youre Moloch and Images of your Idoles, yea and the star of your God Rempha/ figures whych ye made to worshyppe them. Therfore wyll I cause you be carryed awaye beyonde Damascus, sayth the LORD/ whose name is the God of hostes.

Agaynst the prynces of Israel lyuing in pleasures.

¶ The. vi. Chapter.

Woo be to the proude welthy In Syon, to suche as thynke them so sure vpon ỹ mount of Samaria: which holde themselues for the best of the worlde and rule the house of Israel, euen as they list. Go vnto Calne and se: and frō thence get you to Hemath the greate cytie, ād so go downe to Gath of the Philistines: be they better at ease then these kyngdomes, or the border of their lande wyder then yours: Ye are taken out for the euel daye: euen ye that sit in the stole of wylfulnes. Ye that lye vpon beddes of Iuery, and vse youe wantonnes vpon your couches: ye that eate ỹ best lambes of the flocke, and the fattest calues of the drouc: ye that synge to the lute, and in playynge of instrumentes cōpare youre selues vntoo Dauid ye that drynke wine out of goblettes, and anoint youre selues wyth the beste oyle, but no man is sory for Josephes hurte. Therfor nowe shal ye be the fyrste of them, ỹ shal be led awaye Captyue/ and the Lustye Chere of the wylfull shall come to an ende.

The Lorde God hath swore euen by hym selfe (sayeth the Lorde God of

The Lorde maketh the bestia res ād the Dyons, he turneth the nyght into daye, and of the daye he maketh darcknesse. He calleth the waters of the sea, and poureth them out vpon the playne grounde. The Lord is his name. He rayseth destruccyon vpon the myghty people, and bryngeth downe the stronge holde: but they owe him euel wyll, that reproueth them openly: and who so telleth them ỹ playne trueth, they abhorre hym. For so muche then as ye oppresse ỹ poore, ād robbe hym of his best substaunce: therfor/ whet as ye haue buylded houses of square stone/ ye shal not dwell in them. Marueious pleasaunt Vyneyardes shall ye Plante, but the wyne of them shal ye not dryncke: and why: as for ỹ multitude of youre wyckednesses and your stout Synnes, I knowe them rightwell. Enemyes ar ye of the ryghtous/ ye take rewardes, ye oppresse the poore in iudgement. Therfor the wyse muste nowe be kayne to holde his tounge, so wycked a tyme is it. Seke after the thynge that is good & not euell, so shall ye lyue: yea the Lord God of hostes shall be wyth you, accordyng to your own desire. Hate the euel and loue the good, set vp right agayn in the poorte: & (no doubte) the Lorde GOD of Hoostes shall be Mercyfull vnto ỹ remnaūt of Joseph. If not (sayth the Lorde God/ the God of hostes) ther shal be mournyng in al stretes yea they shall saye in euery strete: alas alas. They shall call ỹ housbandman to lamentacyon, & such as can mourne to mourynynge. In al vyneyardes ther shall be heuinesse, for I wyl i comme amonge you, sayeth the Lord. Woo be vnto them that desyre the dayeof the Lorde. Wherfor wolde ye haue it: As for the daye of the Lorde, it shalbe darcke and not cleare: Yea lyke as when a mā runneth from a Lion and a Beere meeteth with him: or when he cōmeth into the house/ and leaneth his hand vpon the wall, a serpent byteth hym. Shall not the daye of the Lorde be darcke, ād not cleare: shall it not be cloudy, ād no shyne in it:

I hate ād abhorre your holydayes and where as ye cense me when ye come together/ I wyl not accepte it. And though ye offre me brentoffrynges & meatoffrynges, yet haue I no pleasure therin. As for your fat thākoffrynges I wyll not loke vppon them. Away wyth that noyse of thy songes, I wyll not heare thy plaies of musicke: but let that equyte flow as ỹ water, and ryghtuousnesse as a myghtye streame. O ye house of Israel/ gaue ye me offrynges and sacrifices those. xl. yeares longe in the wyldernesse: yet haue ye sette vp tabernacles to youre Moloch and Images of your Idoles, yea and the star of your God Rempha/ figures whych ye made to worshyppe them. Therfore wyll I cause you be carryed awaye beyonde Damascus, sayth the LORD/ whose name is the God of hostes.

Agaynst the prynces of Israel lyuing in pleasures.

¶ The. vi. Chapter.

Woo be to the proude welthy In Syon, to suche as thynke them so sure vpon ỹ mount of Samaria: which holde themselues for the best of the worlde and rule the house of Israel, euen as they list. Go vnto Calne and se: and frō thence get you to Hemath the greate cytie, ād so go downe to Gath of the Philistines: be they better at ease then these kyngdomes, or the border of their lande wyder then yours: Ye are taken out for the euel daye: euen ye that sit in the stole of wylfulnes. Ye that lye vpon beddes of Iuery, and vse youe wantonnes vpon your couches: ye that eate ỹ best lambes of the flocke, and the fattest calues of the drouc: ye that synge to the lute, and in playynge of instrumentes cōpare youre selues vntoo Dauid ye that drynke wine out of goblettes, and anoint youre selues wyth the beste oyle, but no man is sory for Josephes hurte. Therfor nowe shal ye be the fyrste of them, ỹ shal be led awaye Captyue/ and the Lustye Chere of the wylfull shall come to an ende.

The Lorde God hath swore euen by hym selfe (sayeth the Lorde God of houses) I hate the pride of Jacob/ and I abhorre his palaces: and I wyl geue ouer the citie, wyth al that is therin: so that though there remayne ten men in one house, they shall dye. So they? nexte kynsfolckes and the dead burters shal take them, and cary awaye they? bones and saye vnto hym that is in the vnnermer house: is there yet eny mo by thee? And he shal answere: they ar al gone, holde thy tunge (shall he saye) for they wo uld not remembre the name of the Lorde.

The prophecy

Beholde the Lorde is mynded to smyte the greate houses, so that they G shall decaye, and the lytle houses, that they shal cleue a sunder. Who can rüne with horses, or plowe with oxen vpon the herde rockes of stone? For why? ye haue *turned true iudgment in to bitternesse, ād the frute of ryghtuousnesse into wormwod: Yea euē ye, that reioyse in vayne thynges: ye that saye: haue not we obtayned hornes in oure awne strength? Wel, take hede/ O ye house of Israel, sayeth the Lord God of hostes: I wyll bringe a people vpō you, which shall troubl e you, from the waye that goeth toward Hemath/ vnto the broke in the medowe.

*nota iudgment turned to wormwod

Of the captyuytie of Israel and Juda

The. vii. Chapter.

A THe Lorde God shewed me suche a vysion: behold, there stod on that made grashoppers/ euen when the corne was shutynge forth/ after the kyng had clypped his shepe. Now when they vnderfe to eate vp all the grene thynges in the lande, I sayde: O Lorde God, be mercyful, I beseche thee: who shulde els helpe vp Jacob? that is brought so lowe? So the lorde was gracyous therein, and the Lorde sayde? wel/ it shal not be.

Agayne, the Lorde shewed me thys vision: beholde, the Lorde God called the fyre to punysh withall, and it deuoured the great depe: yea it consumed a parte all redy. Then sayde I: O Lorde God holde thyne hande: for who shulde els helpe vp Jacob that is brought so lowe? So the Lord was mercyful therin, and the Lord god sayd: well, it shall not be.

Moreouer, he shewed me this vi- B sion: beholde, the Lorde stode vpon a plastered wal and a ? masons *trowel in hys hande: And the Lorde saide vnto me Amos, what seyst thou? I ānswered a masōs trowel. Thē said ? lord: beholde/ I wyll laye the trowell amonge my people of Israell, and wyl nomore ouer see them, but the hye hyl chapels of Isaac must be layed waste and the churches of Israell made desolate. ād as for the house of Jeroboam, I wyll stande vp agaynst it with the swerde. Vpon thys sent Amasyah the preest to Bethel vnto Jeroboam the kynge of Israel, saynge: Amos maketh the house of Israel to rebel agaynst thee/ the lande can not awaye with hys wordes. For Amos sayeth, Jeroboam shal dye wyth the swerde, and Israell shall be led awaye captyue out of theyr owne lande. And Amasyah said vnto Amos Gett thee hence (thou that canst se so well) and fle in to the lande of Juda: gett thee there thy lyuing, ād prophecy there, and prophecy nomore at Bethel for it is the kynges chapell, and the kynges courte.

Amos ānswered and saydē to Amasiah As for me I am neyther prophete, nor C Prophetes sonne, but a keper of Cateli Now as I was breakyng downe molberyes and goyng after the catel, the lord toke me, and sayd vnto me: Go thy way and prophecy vnto my people of Israell And therfore, heare thou now the word of the Lord: Thou saiest: prophecy not a gaynst Israell, and speake nothynge a gaynst the house of Isaac.

Wherfore thus sayeth the Lorde: Thy wife shalbe defiled in the cytie, thy sonnes and daughters shalbe slayne with ? swerde, and thy lande shalbe measured out with the lyne. Thou thy selfe shalte dye in an vnclene land, and Israel shal be dryuen out of his owne countre.

The. viii. Chapter.

Agaynst the rulers of Israel. The Lorde sweareth that he wyl fulfill the thynges whiche he hath determined against Israel houses) I hate the pride of Jacob/ and I abhorre his palaces: and I wyl geue ouer the citie, wyth al that is therin: so that though there remayne ten men in one house, they shall dye. So they? nexte kynsfolckes and the dead burters shal take them, and cary awaye they? bones and saye vnto hym that is in the vnnermer house: is there yet eny mo by thee? And he shal answere: they ar al gone, holde thy tunge (shall he saye) for they wo uld not remembre the name of the Lorde.

The

The prophecy

Beholde the Lorde is mynded to smyte the greate houses, so that they G shall decaye, and the lytle houses, that they shal cleue a sunder. Who can rüne with horses, or plowe with oxen vpon the herde rockes of stone? For why? ye haue *turned true iudgment in to bitternesse, ād the frute of ryghtuousnesse into wormwod: Yea euē ye, that reioyse in vayne thynges: ye that saye: haue not we obtayned hornes in oure awne strength? Wel, take hede/ O ye house of Israel, sayeth the Lord God of hostes: I wyll bringe a people vpō you, which shall troubl e you, from the waye that goeth toward Hemath/ vnto the broke in the medowe.

*nota iudgment turned to wormwod

Of the captyuytie of Israel and Juda

The. vii. Chapter.

A THe Lorde God shewed me suche a vysion: behold, there stod on that made grashoppers/ euen when the corne was shutynge forth/ after the kyng had clypped his shepe. Now when they vnderfe to eate vp all the grene thynges in the lande, I sayde: O Lorde God, be mercyful, I beseche thee: who shulde els helpe vp Jacob? that is brought so lowe? So the lorde was gracyous therein, and the Lorde sayde? wel/ it shal not be.

Agayne, the Lorde shewed me thys vision: beholde, the Lorde God called the fyre to punysh withall, and it deuoured the great depe: yea it consumed a parte all redy. Then sayde I: O Lorde God holde thyne hande: for who shulde els helpe vp Jacob that is brought so lowe? So the Lord was mercyful therin, and the Lord god sayd: well, it shall not be.

Moreouer, he shewed me this vi- B sion: beholde, the Lorde stode vpon a plastered wal and a ? masons *trowel in hys hande: And the Lorde saide vnto me Amos, what seyst thou? I ānswered a masōs trowel. Thē said ? lord: beholde/ I wyll laye the trowell amonge my people of Israell, and wyl nomore ouer see them, but the hye hyl chapels of Isaac must be layed waste and the churches of Israell made desolate. ād as for the house of Jeroboam, I wyll stande vp agaynst it with the swerde. Vpon thys sent Amasyah the preest to Bethel vnto Jeroboam the kynge of Israel, saynge: Amos maketh the house of Israel to rebel agaynst thee/ the lande can not awaye with hys wordes. For Amos sayeth, Jeroboam shal dye wyth the swerde, and Israell shall be led awaye captyue out of theyr owne lande. And Amasyah said vnto Amos Gett thee hence (thou that canst se so well) and fle in to the lande of Juda: gett thee there thy lyuing, ād prophecy there, and prophecy nomore at Bethel for it is the kynges chapell, and the kynges courte.

Amos ānswered and saydē to Amasiah As for me I am neyther prophete, nor C Prophetes sonne, but a keper of Cateli Now as I was breakyng downe molberyes and goyng after the catel, the lord toke me, and sayd vnto me: Go thy way and prophecy vnto my people of Israell And therfore, heare thou now the word of the Lord: Thou saiest: prophecy not a gaynst Israell, and speake nothynge a gaynst the house of Isaac.

Wherfore thus sayeth the Lorde: Thy wife shalbe defiled in the cytie, thy sonnes and daughters shalbe slayne with ? swerde, and thy lande shalbe measured out with the lyne. Thou thy selfe shalte dye in an vnclene land, and Israel shal be dryuen out of his owne countre.

The. viii. Chapter.

Agaynst the rulers of Israel. The Lorde sweareth that he wyl fulfill the thynges whiche he hath determined against Israel

The

THe Lorde God shewed me thys vysyon: and beholde/ there was a maunde wyth sommer frute. And he saide: Amos, what seyst thou? I answered: a maunde wyth sommer frute Then sayde the Lorde vnto me: the ende commeth vpon my people of Israel, I wyll nomore ouerse them. In that daye shall the songes of the temple be turned into sorow, sayth the Lord God. Many dead bodyes shall ly ein euery place, and be cast forth secretly. Heare thys, O yee that oppresse the poore, and destroye the nedy in the lande, saynge: When wyll the new moneth be gone, that we maye sell vytale, and the Sabboth, that we maye haue scarcenesse of corne: to make the busshel lesse, and the Sycle greater: We shall set vp false wayghtes/ that we maye get the poore vnder vs wyth their money, and the nedy also for shues: ye let vs sell the chaffe for corne.

The Lorde hath sworne agaynst the pryde of Jacob: these workes of theyrs wyl I neuer forget. Shall not the land tremble/ and all they that dwell theryn/ mourne for this? Shal not their destruc tyon com vpon thē lyke a water streame and flowe ouer them/ as the floude of Egypte? At the same tyme (sayeth the lord god) I shal cause the Sunne to go downe at none, & the lande to be darcke in the cleare daye. Your high feastes wyl I turne to sorowe, and youre songes to mournynge: I wyll bryng sacke clothe vpon all backes, & baldenes vpon euery heade: yea / suche a mournynge wyll I sende them, as is made vpon an only begotten sonne/ and they shall haue a miserable Ende.

Beholde, the tyme cōmeth (sayeth ỹ Lorde God) ỹ I shall send an hūger into ỹ earth: not the hūger of breade, nor the thyrste of water: but an hunger to heare the woorde of the Lorde. So ỹ they shal go from the one Sea to the other/ yea, from the north vnto the easte, runnynge aboute to seke the woorde of the Lorde, and shall not finde it. In that tyme, shall the fayre Uirgins and The ponge men perysshe for thyrste. Yea, euen they ỹ sweare in ỹ offence of Samaria, and saye: as truly as thy God lyueth at Dā, and as truly as thy God liueth at Bersaba, These shal fall, and neuer ryse vp agayne.

¶ Threatenynges agaynst Israel. No man can escape the hande of God.

¶ The.ix. Chapter.

I Sawe the Lorde standyng vpō the aulter, and he sayd smyte the doore cheke/ that ỹ postes maye shake wythall. For their couetousnesse shall fall vpon all their heades, & they ỹ posterytee shalbe slayn with the swerd. They shal not fle awaye, there shal not one of them escape, nor be delyuered. Though they were buryed in the hell/ my hande shal fetch them from thence: though they clymme vp to heauen, yet shall I cast them downe: though they hyde thē selues vpō ỹ toppe of Carmel, yet shall I seke them out/ and bryng them from thence: Though they crepe downe fro my syght in to the depe of ỹ sea/ I shall commaunde the serpente/ euen ther to byte them.

If they go awaye before theyr enemies into captiuitee, then shall I commaūd the swerde there to slaye them.

Thus wyll I set myne eyes vppon them, for their harme and not for their welth. For whē the Lord God of hostes toucheth a lande/ it consumeth awaye/ and all they that dwell therin/ must nedes mourn. And why? theyr destructiō shall aryse as euerye streame and rūne ouer them, as the floude in Egypte. He that hath hys dwellyng in heauē/ and groundeth hys tabernacle in the erth he that calleth the waters of ỹ sea and poureth them oute vpon the plaine grounde: his name is the Lorde. O ye children of Israell, are ye not vnto me, euē as the Moryans, saith ỹ lord/ haue not I brought Israel out of the lande of Egypte, the Philistines, from Capthor/ and the cyrians from Cyre? Beholde, the eyes of the Lord are vpō the

THe Lorde God shewed me thys vysyon: and beholde/ there was a maunde wyth sommer frute. And he saide: Amos, what seyst thou? I answered: a maunde wyth sommer frute Then sayde the Lorde vnto me: the ende commeth vpon my people of Israel, I wyll nomore ouerse them. In that daye shall the songes of the temple be turned into sorow, sayth the Lord God. Many dead bodyes shall ly ein euery place, and be cast forth secretly. Heare thys, O yee that oppresse the poore, and destroye the nedy in the lande, saynge: When wyll the new moneth be gone, that we maye sell vytale, and the Sabboth, that we maye haue scarcenesse of corne: to make the bussbel lesse, and the Sycle greater: We shall set vp false wayghtes/ that we maye get the poore vnder vs wyth their money, and the nedy also for shues: ye let vs sell the chaffe for corne.

The Lorde hath sworne agaynst the pryde of Jacob: these workes of theyrs wyl I neuer forget. Shall not the land tremble/ and all they that dwell theryn/ mourne for this? Shal not their destruc tyon com vpon thē lyke a water streame and flowe ouer them/ as the floude of Egypte? At the same tyme (sayeth the lord god) I shal cause the Sunne to go downe at none, & the lande to be darcke in the cleare daye. Your high feastes wyl I turne to sorowe, and youre songes to mournynge: I wyll bryng sacke clothe vpon all backes, & baldenes vpon euery heade: yea / suche a mournynge wyll I sende them, as is made vpon an only begotten sonne/ and they shall haue a miserable Ende.

Beholde, the tyme cōmeth (sayeth ỹ Lorde God) ỹ I shall send an hūger into ỹ earth: not the hūger of breade, nor the thyrste of water: but an hunger to heare the woorde of the Lorde. So ỹ they shal go from the one Sea to the other/ yea, from the north vnto the easte, runnynge aboute to seke the woorde of the Lorde, and shall not finde it. In that tyme, shall the fayre Uirgins and The ponge men perysshe for thyrste. Yea, euen they ỹ sweare in ỹ offence of Samaria, and saye: as truly as thy God lyueth at Dā, and as truly as thy God liueth at Bersaba, These shal fall, and neuer ryse vp agayne.

¶ Threatenynges agaynst Israel. No man can escape the hande of God.

¶ The.ix. Chapter.

I Sawe the Lorde standyng vpō the aulter, and he sayd smyte the doore cheke/ that ỹ postes maye shake wythall. For their couetousnesse shall fall vpon all their heades, & they ỹ posterytee shalbe slayn with the swerd. They shal not fle awaye, there shal not one of them escape, nor be delyuered. Though they were buryed in the hell/ my hande shal fetch them from thence: though they clymme vp to heauen, yet shall I cast them downe: though they hyde thē selues vpō ỹ toppe of Carmel, yet shall I seke them out/ and bryng them from thence: Though they crepe downe fro my syght in to the depe of ỹ sea/ I shall commaunde the serpente/ euen ther to byte them.

If they go awaye before theyr enemies into captiuitee, then shall I commaūd the swerde there to slaye them.

Thus wyll I set myne eyes vppon them, for their harme and not for their welth. For whē the Lord God of hostes toucheth a lande/ it consumeth awaye/ and all they that dwell therin/ must nedes mourn. And whyle theyr destructiō shall aryse as euerye streame and rūne ouer them, as the floude in Egypte. He that hath hys dwellyng in heauē/ and groundeth hys tabernacle in the erth he that calleth the waters of ỹ sea and poureth them oute vpon the plaine grounde: his name is the Lorde. O ye children of Israell, are ye not vnto me, euē as the Moryans, saith ỹ lord/ haue not I brought Israel out of the lande of Egypte, the Philistines, from Caphtor/ and the cyrians from Cyre? Beholde, the eyes of the Lord are vpō the

THe Lorde God shewed me thys vysyon: and beholde/ there was a maunde wyth sommer frute. And he saide: Amos, what seyst thou? I answered: a maunde wyth sommer frute Then sayde the Lorde vnto me: the ende commeth vpon my people of Israel, I wyll nomore ouerse them. In that daye shall the songes of the temple be turned into sorow, sayth the Lord God. Many dead bodyes shall ly ein euery place, and be cast forth secretly. Heare thys, O yee that oppresse the poore, and destroye the nedy in the lande, saynge: When wyll the new moneth be gone, that we maye sell vytale, and the Sabboth, that we maye haue scarcenesse of corne: to make the busshel lesse, and the Sycle greater: We shall set vp false wayghtes/ that we maye get the poore vnder vs wyth their money, and the nedy also for shues: ye let vs sell the chaffe for corne.

The Lorde hath sworne agaynst the pryde of Jacob: these workes of theyrs wyl I neuer forget. Shall not the land tremble/ and all they that dwell theryn/ mourne for this? Shal not their destruc tyon com vpon thē lyke a water streame and flowe ouer them/ as the floude of Egypte? At the same tyme (sayeth the lord god) I shal cause the Sunne to go downe at none, & the lande to be darcke in the cleare daye. Your high feastes wyl I turne to sorowe, and youre songes to mournynge: I wyll bryng sacke clothe vpon all backes, & baldenes vpon euery heade: yea / suche a mournynge wyll I sende them, as is made vpon an only begotten sonne/ and they shall haue a miserable Ende.

Beholde, the tyme cōmeth (sayeth ỹ Lorde God) ỹ I shall send an hūger into ỹ earth: not the hūger of breade, nor the thyrste of water: but an hunger to heare the woorde of the Lorde. So ỹ they shal go from the one Sea to the other/ yea, from the north vnto the easte, runnynge aboute to seke the woorde of the Lorde, and shall not finde it. In that tyme, shall the fayre Uirgins and The ponge men perysshe for thyrste. Yea, euen they ỹ sweare in ỹ offence of Samaria, and saye: as truly as thy God lyueth at Dā, and as truly as thy God liueth at Bersaba, These shal fall, and neuer ryse vp agayne.

¶ Threatenynges agaynst Israel. No man can escape the hande of God.

¶ The.ix. Chapter.

I Sawe the Lorde standyng vpō the aulter, and he sayd smyte the doore cheke/ that ỹ postes maye shake wythall. For their couetousnesse shall fall vpon all their heades, & they ỹ posterytee shalbe slayn with the swerd. They shal not fle awaye, there shal not one of them escape, nor be delyuered. Though they were buryed in the hell/ my hande shal fetch them from thence: though they clymme vp to heauen, yet shall I cast them downe: though they hyde thē selues vpō ỹ toppe of Carmel, yet shall I seke them out/ and bryng them from thence: Though they crepe downe fro my syght in to the depe of ỹ sea/ I shall commaunde the serpente/ euen ther to byte them.

If they go awaye before theyr enemies into captiuitee, then shall I commaūd the swerde there to slaye them.

Thus wyll I set myne eyes vppon them, for their harme and not for their welth. For whē the Lord God of hostes toucheth a lande/ it consumeth awaye/ and all they that dwell therin/ must nedes mourn. And why? theyr destructiō shall aryse as euerye streame and rūne ouer them, as the floude in Egypte. He that hath hys dwellyng in heauē/ and groundeth hys tabernacle in the erth he that calleth the waters of ỹ sea and poureth them oute vpon the plaine grounde: his name is the Lorde. O ye children of Israell, are ye not vnto me, euē as the Moryans, saith ỹ lord/ haue not I brought Israel out of the lande of Egypte, the Philistines, from Capthor/ and the cyrians from Cyre? Beholde, the eyes of the Lord are vpō the

Edom
Niniue.

The prophecy ¶ The boke of

The Prophete Abdy.

Agaynst Edom, ād the trust that they had in riches.

THys is the vysyon that was shewed vnto Abdy: Thus hath the Lord god spokē vpō Edom: We haue herde of the Lord that there is an Embassage sent amonge the Heathen: Up, let vs arise, & fyght agaīst them. Beholde, I wyl make thee small amonge the Heathen/so that thou shalt be vtterly despised. The pryde of thine herte hath lyft thee vp/ thou that dwellest in the strong holdes of stones, and hast made the an hye seate: Thou sayeste in thyne herte: who shall cast me downe to the grounde? But though thou wentest vp as hye as the Aegle, and madest thy nest aboue amonge the starres: yet wolde I pluck thee downe from thence Yf the theues and robbers com to thee by nyght, thou takyng thy rest: should they not steale tyl they had ynough? Yf the grape gatherers com vpon thee wold they not leaue thee some grapes? But how shal they rype Esau, and seke out his treasures?

Yea, the men that were swore vnto thee, shal dryue thee out of the borders of thyne owne lande. They that be now at one with thee shal dysceaue thee and ouercome thee: Euē they yͭ eate thy bred shall betray thee/or euer thou perceaue it. Shal not I at the same tyme destroy the wyse Men of Edome / and those that haue vnderstandyng frō the mouīt of Esau? Thy gyauntes (O Theman) shalbe afrayed, for thorow yͤ slaughter they shalbe all ouerthrowne vpon the mount of Esau. Shame shall come vpon thee, for yͤ malice that thou shewedst to thy brother Jacob: yea, for euermore shalt thou perysh, and that because of the tyme / when Thou dyddeste set thy Selfe agaynste HYM: Euen when

Note

I saye that Edom is Rome

A

B

C

D

E

F

G

Yet I wyll not vterly destroye ỹ house of Jacob, sayeth the Lorde.

For lo, this I prompse: though I shyfte the house of Israel amonge all nacyons (lyke as they vse to shyft in a syue) yet shall not the smallest grauell stones fall vpon the earth: But al the wycked doers of my people, that saye: Tush, the plage is not so nye, to come so hastely vpon vs: those shall perysh wyth the swerde. At that tyme wyll I buyld agayn the tabernacle of Dauid that is fallen downe, and hedge vp his gappes: ād loke what is brokē, I shal repayre it: Yea: I shal buylde it agaīe/ as it was a forre tyme, that they maye possesse the remnant of Edom/yea and al suche people as call vpon my name wyth them, sayeth the Lorde, whych doth these thynges.

Beholde, the tyme commeth (saieth the Lorde) that the plowman shal ouer take the mower, & the treader of grapes him that soweth sede. The mountaines shall dropp swete wyne, and the hilles shall be frutefull, and I wyll turne the captiuyte of my people of Israell: they shal repayre the waste cytyes, and haue them in possessyon: they shal plant vine yardes/ād drynke the wyne therof: they shall make gardens, and enioye the frutes of them.

And I wyll plante them vpon theyr owne grounde, so that I wyll neuer rote them out agayne from theyr landes whych I haue geuen them, sayeth the Lorde thy God.

Note
Euen they that dwell there

¶ The ende of the prophecy of Amos.

Edom
Niniue.

The prophecy ¶ The boke of

The Prophete Abdy.

Agaynst Edom, ād the trust that they had in riches.

THys is the vysyon that was shewed vnto Abdy: Thus hath the Lord god spokē vpō Edom: We haue herde of the Lord that there is an Embassage sent amonge the Heathen: Up, let vs arise, & fyght agaīst them. Beholde, I wyl make thee small amonge the Heathen/so that thou shalt be vtterly despised. The pryde of thine herte hath lyft thee vp/ thou that dwellest in the strong holdes of stones, and hast made the an hye seate: Thou sayeste in thyne herte: who shall cast me downe to the grounde? But though thou wentest vp as hye as the Aegle, and madest thy nest aboue amonge the starres: yet wolde I pluck thee downe from thence Yf the theues and robbers com to thee by nyght, thou takyng thy rest: should they not steale tyl they had ynough? Yf the grape gatherers com vpon thee wold they not leaue thee some grapes? But how shal they rype Esau, and seke out his treasures?

Yea, the men that were swore vnto thee, shal dryue thee out of the borders of thyne owne lande. They that be now at one with thee shal dysceaue thee and ouercome thee: Euē they yͭ eate thy bred shall betray thee/or euer thou perceaue it. Shal not I at the same tyme destroy the wyse Men of Edome / and those that haue vnderstandyng frō the mouīt of Esau? Thy gyauntes (O Theman) shalbe afrayed, for thorow yͤ slaughter they shalbe all ouerthrowne vpon the mount of Esau. Shame shall come vpon thee, for yͤ malice that thou shewedst to thy brother Jacob: yea, for euermore shalt thou perysh, and that because of the tyme / when Thou dyddeste set thy Selfe agaynste HYM: Euen when

Note

I saye that Edom is Rome

A

B

C

D

E

F

G

Yet I wyll not vterly destroye ỹ house of Jacob, sayeth the Lorde.

For lo, this I prompse: though I shyfte the house of Israel amonge all nacyons (lyke as they vse to shyft in a syue) yet shall not the smallest grauell stones fall vpon the earth: But al the wycked doers of my people, that saye: Tush, the plage is not so nye, to come so hastely vpon vs: those shall perysh wyth the swerde. At that tyme wyll I buyld agayn the tabernacle of Dauid that is fallen downe, and hedge vp his gappes: ād loke what is brokē, I shal repayre it: Yea: I shal buylde it agaīe/ as it was a forre tyme, that they maye possesse the remnant of Edom/yea and al suche people as call vpon my name wyth them, sayeth the Lorde, whych doth these thynges.

Beholde, the tyme commeth (saieth the Lorde) that the plowman shal ouer take the mower, & the treader of grapes him that soweth sede. The mountaines shall dropp swete wyne, and the hilles shall be frutefull, and I wyll turne the captiuyte of my people of Israell: they shal repayre the waste cytyes, and haue them in possessyon: they shal plant vine yardes/ād drynke the wyne therof: they shall make gardens, and enioye the frutes of them.

And I wyll plante them vpon theyr owne grounde, so that I wyll neuer rote them out agayne from theyr landes whych I haue geuen them, sayeth the Lorde thy God.

Note
Euen they that dwell there

¶ The ende of the prophecy of Amos.

Edom
Niniue.

The prophecy ¶ The boke of

The Prophete Abdy.

Agaynst Edom, ād the trust that they had in riches.

THys is the vysyon that was shewed vnto Abdy: Thus hath the Lord god spokē vpō Edom: We haue herde of the Lord that there is an Embassage sent amonge the Heathen: Up, let vs arise, & fyght agaīst them. Beholde, I wyl make thee small amonge the Heathen/so that thou shalt be vtterly despised. The pryde of thine herte hath lyft thee vp/ thou that dwellest in the strong holdes of stones, and hast made the an hye seate: Thou sayeste in thyne herte: who shall cast me downe to the grounde? But though thou wentest vp as hye as the Aegle, and madest thy nest aboue amonge the starres: yet wolde I pluck thee downe from thence Yf the theues and robbers com to thee by nyght, thou takyng thy rest: should they not steale tyl they had ynough? Yf the grape gatherers com vpon thee wold they not leaue thee some grapes? But how shal they rype Esau, and seke out his treasures?

Yea, the men that were swore vnto thee, shal dryue thee out of the borders of thyne owne lande. They that be now at one with thee shal dysceaue thee and ouercome thee: Euē they yͭ eate thy bred shall betray thee/or euer thou perceaue it. Shal not I at the same tyme destroy the wyse Men of Edome / and those that haue vnderstandyng frō the mouīt of Esau? Thy gyauntes (O Theman) shalbe afrayed, for thorow yͤ slaughter they shalbe all ouerthrowne vpon the mount of Esau. Shame shall come vpon thee, for yͤ malice that thou shewedst to thy brother Jacob: yea, for euermore shalt thou perysh, and that because of the tyme / when Thou dyddeste set thy Selfe agaynste HYM: Euen when

Note

I saye that Edom is Rome

A

B

C

D

E

F

G

Yet I wyll not vterly destroye ỹ house of Jacob, sayeth the Lorde.

For lo, this I prompse: though I shyfte the house of Israel amonge all nacyons (lyke as they vse to shyft in a syue) yet shall not the smallest grauell stones fall vpon the earth: But al the wycked doers of my people, that saye: Tush, the plage is not so nye, to come so hastely vpon vs: those shall perysh wyth the swerde. At that tyme wyll I buyld agayn the tabernacle of Dauid that is fallen downe, and hedge vp his gappes: ād loke what is brokē, I shal repayre it: Yea: I shal buylde it agaīe/ as it was a forre tyme, that they maye possesse the remnant of Edom/yea and al suche people as call vpon my name wyth them, sayeth the Lorde, whych doth these thynges.

Beholde, the tyme commeth (saieth the Lorde) that the plowman shal ouer take the mower, & the treader of grapes him that soweth sede. The mountaines shall dropp swete wyne, and the hilles shall be frutefull, and I wyll turne the captiuyte of my people of Israell: they shal repayre the waste cytyes, and haue them in possessyon: they shal plant vine yardes/ād drynke the wyne therof: they shall make gardens, and enioye the frutes of them.

And I wyll plante them vpon theyr owne grounde, so that I wyll neuer rote them out agayne from theyr landes whych I haue geuen them, sayeth the Lorde thy God.

Note
Euen they that dwell there

¶ The ende of the prophecy of Amos.

when the enemyes caryed awaye hys hooste/and when the aleaunts came in at hys poztes,and caste lottes vpon Jerusalem, and thou thy selfe waste as one of them.

Thou shalt nomoze se the daye of thy bzother,thou shalt nomoze beholde the tyme of his captiuitee: thou shalt no moze reyoyse ouer the chyldzen of Juda in the daye of theyr destruccyon, thou shalt tryumphe nomoze in the tyme of theyz troble. Thou shalt no moze coin in at the gates of my people in the tyme of theyz decaye. thou shalt not se theyz myserty in the daye of theyr fall.

F Thou shalt sende out noman agaīst theyr hoste in ỹ daye of theyz aduersytee neyther shalte thou stand waytynge anymoze at the cozners of the stretes, to murther suche as are fled, oz to take them pzesoners that remayne in the daye of their trouble. Foz the day of the Lozd is hard by vpon all the Heathen. Lyke as thou hast done, so shalt thou be dealte wythal, yea, ỹ shalt be rewarded euen vpō thyne head. Foz lyke wyse as ye haue dronckē vpon myne holy hyll, so shall al Heathen dzyncke contynually: yea dzyncke shall they, and swalowe vp, so that ye shalbe/ as though ye had neuer bene.

But vpon the mount Syon, there shal a remnaūt escape: these shalbe holy and the house of Jacob shal possesse euē those, that had them selues afoze in possessyon. Moreouer, the house of Jacob shalbe a fyze, ỹ house of Joseph a flāme, and the house of Esau shalbe the stra we: G.
wyhych they shal kyndle and consume, so that nothynge shalbe left of the house of Esau, foz the Lozde hym selfe hath sayde it. They of ỹ South shal haue the moūt of Esau in possessyon: & loke what lyeth vpon the grounde, that shal the Philistines haue: the playne feldes shal Ephzaī and Samary a possesse: and the mountaines of Galaad shal Ben Jamī haue. And this host shalbe the chyldzen of Israels pzesoners. Now, what so lyeth frō a* Canaan vnto b* Zareptah and in c* Sepharad, that shalbe vnder the subiectyō of Jerusalem: and the cytyes of ỹ south shal enheret it. Thus they that escape vppon the Hyll of Sion, shal goo vp to punysh the mount of Esau/and the kyngdome shallbe the Lozdes.

The Notes.

a* Almany after the Hebr.
b* That is fraunce.
c* That is spayne.

GG.iii.

¶ The ende of the booke of the Prophecy of abdy

when the enemyes caryed awaye hys hooste/and when the aleaunts came in at hys poztes,and caste lottes vpon Jerusalem, and thou thy selfe waste as one of them.

Thou shalt nomoze se the daye of thy bzother,thou shalt nomoze beholde the tyme of his captiuitee: thou shalt no moze reyoyse ouer the chyldzen of Juda in the daye of theyr destruccyon, thou shalt tryumphe nomoze in the tyme of theyz troble. Thou shalt no moze coin in at the gates of my people in the tyme of theyz decaye. thou shalt not se theyz myserty in the daye of theyr fall.

F Thou shalt sende out noman agaīst theyr hoste in ỹ daye of theyz aduersytee neyther shalte thou stand waytynge anymoze at the cozners of the stretes, to murther suche as are fled, oz to take them pzesoners that remayne in the daye of their trouble. Foz the day of the Lozd is hard by vpon all the Heathen. Lyke as thou hast done, so shalt thou be dealte wythal, yea, ỹ shalt be rewarded euen vpō thyne head. Foz lyke wyse as ye haue dronckē vpon myne holy hyll, so shall al Heathen dzyncke contynually: yea dzyncke shall they, and swalowe vp, so that ye shalbe/ as though ye had neuer bene.

But vpon the mount Syon, there shal a remnaūt escape: these shalbe holy and the house of Jacob shal possesse euē those, that had them selues afoze in possessyon. Moreouer, the house of Jacob shalbe a fyze, ỹ house of Joseph a flāme, and the house of Esau shalbe the stra we: G.
wyhych they shal kyndle and consume, so that nothynge shalbe left of the house of Esau, foz the Lozde hym selfe hath sayde it. They of ỹ South shal haue the moūt of Esau in possessyon: & loke what lyeth vpon the grounde, that shal the Philistines haue: the playne feldes shal Ephzaī and Samary a possesse: and the mountaines of Galaad shal Ben Jamī haue. And this host shalbe the chyldzen of Israels pzesoners. Now, what so lyeth frō a* Canaan vnto b* Zareptah and in c* Sepharad, that shalbe vnder the subiectyō of Jerusalem: and the cytyes of ỹ south shal enheret it. Thus they that escape vppon the Hyll of Sion, shal goo vp to punysh the mount of Esau/and the kyngdome shallbe the Lozdes.

The Notes.

a* Almany after the Hebr.
b* That is fraunce.
c* That is spayne.

GG.iii.

¶ The ende of the booke of the Prophecy of abdy

when the enemyes caryed awaye hys hooste/and when the aleaunts came in at hys poztes,and caste lottes vpon Jerusalem, and thou thy selfe waste as one of them.

Thou shalt nomoze se the daye of thy bzother,thou shalt nomoze beholde the tyme of his captiuitee: thou shalt no moze reyoyse ouer the chyldzen of Juda in the daye of theyr destruccyon, thou shalt tryumphe nomoze in the tyme of theyz troble. Thou shalt no moze coin in at the gates of my people in the tyme of theyz decaye. thou shalt not se theyz myserty in the daye of theyr fall.

F Thou shalt sende out noman agaīst theyr hoste in ỹ daye of theyz aduersytee neyther shalte thou stand waytynge anymoze at the cozners of the stretes, to murther suche as are fled, oz to take them pzesoners that remayne in the daye of their trouble. Foz the day of the Lozd is hard by vpon all the Heathen. Lyke as thou hast done, so shalt thou be dealte wythal, yea, ỹ shalt be rewarded euen vpō thyne head. Foz lyke wyse as ye haue dronckē vpon myne holy hyll, so shall al Heathen dzyncke contynually: yea dzyncke shall they, and swalowe vp, so that ye shalbe/ as though ye had neuer bene.

But vpon the mount Syon, there shal a remnaūt escape: these shalbe holy and the house of Jacob shal possesse euē those, that had them selues afoze in possessyon. Moreouer, the house of Jacob shalbe a fyze, ỹ house of Joseph a flāme, and the house of Esau shalbe the stra we: G.
wyhych they shal kyndle and consume, so that nothynge shalbe left of the house of Esau, foz the Lozde hym selfe hath sayde it. They of ỹ South shal haue the moūt of Esau in possessyon: & loke what lyeth vpon the grounde, that shal the Philistines haue: the playne feldes shal Ephzaī and Samary a possesse: and the mountaines of Galaad shal Ben Jamī haue. And this host shalbe the chyldzen of Israels pzesoners. Now, what so lyeth frō a* Canaan vnto b* Zareptah and in c* Sepharad, that shalbe vnder the subiectyō of Jerusalem: and the cytyes of ỹ south shal enheret it. Thus they that escape vppon the Hyll of Sion, shal goo vp to punysh the mount of Esau/and the kyngdome shallbe the Lozdes.

The Notes.

a* Almany after the Hebr.
b* That is fraunce.
c* That is spayne.

GG.iii.

¶ The ende of the booke of the Prophecy of abdy

The Prologe
¶ The Prophete Jonas wyth

An introduccyon before, teachinge to vnderstande hym and the ryghte vse also of all the scrypture, and why it was wrytten, and what is therin to be sought: and shewynge where wyth the scrypture is locked vp, that he which readeth it can not vnderstande it, though he study therin neuer so muche: and agaīne with what keyes it is so opened, that the reader can be stopped out vv no subtelte or false doctryne of man, from the true sence and vnderstandinge therof.

WM. T. vnto the Christen reader.

S the enuyous philistines stopped the welles of Abraham and filled them vp with earth, to put the memoryall out of mynde, to the entente that they myght chalenge the grounde: euen so the fleshlye minded ypocrytes stoppe vp the vaynes of lyfe whiche are in the scrypture, vv the earth of their tradicyons, false similitudes and lienge allegoryes: & that of lyke zeale to make the scripture their owne possession and marchaundise: & so shutt vp the kyngdome of heauen which is gods worde, neither entrynge in themselues nor sufferyng them that vvoulde.

¶ The scripture hath a body without, and within a soule, spryte and lyfe. It hath without, a barcke, a shel, and as it were an hard bone for the fleshly minded to gnaw vpon. And within it hath pith, corne, mary and al swetenes for gods electe vvyche he hath chosen, to geue them his spirite, and to wryte hys lawe and the fayth of his sonne in their hertes.

¶ The scripture conteyneth .iii. thynges in it: fyrst the lawe to condempne al flesshe: secondarely the gospel, that is to saye, promises of mercye for all that repente and knowledge their synne at the preachynge of the lawe, and consente in their hertes that the lawe is good, and submyt them selues to be scolers to learne to kepe ꝑ lawe and to lerne to beleue the mercy that is promysed them: and thyrdly the storyes and lyues of those scolers, bothe what chaunces forturned theym, and also by what meanes their scolemaster taught them and made them perfecte, and howe he tryed the true from the false.

¶ When the ypocrites came to the lawe, they put gloses to, and make nomore of it then of a worldly lawe which is satisfyed with the outward work and which a turke maye also fulfyl. When yet Gods lawe neuer ceaseth to cōdempne a man vntyll it be wrytten in hys harte and vntyll he kepe it naturally without cōpulsion and al other respecte, saue onely of pure loue to god and hys neighboure as he naturally eateth when he is an hongred, without cōpulsion and all other respect, saue to slake hys longer only.

¶ And when they came to the Gospel, there they mingle their leuen and say, god now receaueth vs no more to mercye, but of mercye receaueth vs to penaunce, ꝑ is to wete, holy dedes that make them fett belies and vs their captiues, both i soules body. And yet they faine their Idole the pope so merciful ꝑ if ꝑ make a litle money glister i hys Baalames eyes that is nether penaunce nor purgatory nor any fastig at al but to fle to Heauē as swifte as a thought and at the twinklinge of an eye.

¶ And the liues storyes and gestes of men which are contayned in the bible, they reade as thinges nomore pertayning vnto them, then a tale of Robyn hode, and as thinges they wot not wherto the serue, saue, to faine false descāt and iugling allegoryes, to stablish their kyngdome withal. And on of ꝑ chefest and fleshliest study they haue, is to magnifye ꝑ laynes aboue measure & aboue ꝑ truth & vv their poetry to make thē greter thē euer god made thē. And if they fide any infirmite or sinne ascryued vnto saynes ꝑ they excuse vv al diligēce, diminishyng ꝑ glory of the mercye of God & robbyng wretched synners of all their comfort, & thynche therby to flatter

The Prologe
¶ The Prophete Jonas wyth

An introduccyon before, teachinge to vnderstande hym and the ryghte vse also of all the scrypture, and why it was wrytten, and what is therin to be sought: and shewynge where wyth the scrypture is locked vp, that he which readeth it can not vnderstande it, though he study therin neuer so muche: and agaīne with what keyes it is so opened, that the reader can be stopped out vv no subtelte or false doctryne of man, from the true sence and vnderstandinge therof.

WM. T. vnto the Christen reader.

S the enuyous philistines stopped the welles of Abraham and filled them vp with earth, to put the memoryall out of mynde, to the entente that they myght chalenge the grounde: euen so the fleshlye minded ypocrytes stoppe vp the vaynes of lyfe whiche are in the scrypture, vv the earth of their tradicyons, false similitudes and lienge allegoryes: & that of lyke zeale to make the scripture their owne possession and marchaundise: & so shutt vp the kyngdome of heauen which is gods worde, neither entrynge in themselues nor sufferyng them that vvoulde.

¶ The scripture hath a body without, and within a soule, spryte and lyfe. It hath without, a barcke, a shel, and as it were an hard bone for the fleshly minded to gnaw vpon. And within it hath pith, corne, mary and al swetenes for gods electe vvyche he hath chosen, to geue them his spirite, and to wryte hys lawe and the fayth of his sonne in their hertes.

¶ The scripture conteyneth .iii. thynges in it: fyrst the lawe to condempne al flesshe: secondarely the gospel, that is to saye, promises of mercye for all that repente and knowledge their synne at the preachynge of the lawe, and consente in their hertes that the lawe is good, and submyt them selues to be scolers to learne to kepe ꝑ lawe and to lerne to beleue the mercy that is promysed them: and thyrdly the storyes and lyues of those scolers, bothe what chaunces forturned theym, and also by what meanes their scolemaster taught them and made them perfecte, and howe he tryed the true from the false.

¶ When the ypocrites came to the lawe, they put gloses to, and make nomore of it then of a worldly lawe which is satisfyed with the outward work and which a turke maye also fulfyl. When yet Gods lawe neuer ceaseth to cōdempne a man vntyll it be wrytten in hys harte and vntyll he kepe it naturally without cōpulsion and al other respecte, saue onely of pure loue to god and hys neighboure as he naturally eateth when he is an hongred, without cōpulsion and all other respect, saue to slake hys longer only.

¶ And when they came to the Gospel, there they mingle their leuen and say, god now receaueth vs no more to mercye, but of mercye receaueth vs to penaunce, ꝑ is to wete, holy dedes that make them fett belies and vs their captiues, both i soules body. And yet they faine their Idole the pope so merciful ꝑ if ꝑ make a litle money glister i hys Baalames eyes that is nether penaunce nor purgatory nor any fastig at al but to fle to Heauē as swifte as a thought and at the twinklinge of an eye.

¶ And the liues storyes and gestes of men which are contayned in the bible, they reade as thinges nomore pertayning vnto them, then a tale of Robyn hode, and as thinges they wot not wherto the serue, saue, to faine false descāt and iugling allegoryes, to stablish their kyngdome withal. And on of ꝑ chefest and fleshliest study they haue, is to magnifye ꝑ laynes aboue measure & aboue ꝑ truth & vv their poetry to make thē greter thē euer god made thē. And if they fide any infirmite or sinne ascryued vnto saynes ꝑ they excuse vv al diligēce, diminishyng ꝑ glory of the mercye of God & robbyng wretched synners of all their comfort, & thynche therby to flat-

ter

der the sayntes/and to obteyne theyr fauour, & to make specyall aduocates of the euen as a man would obteyne the fauour of worldly tyrauntes as they also fame the sayntes muche more cruell then euer was any heathen man ād more wrekefull and vengeable, then the poetes fayne theyr goddes or theyr furyes p tormēt
the soules in hell. yf theyr clyens be not fasted & ther Jmages visited & saluted wt a pater noster (whiche prayer only our lyppes be acquaynted wt, our hertes vnderstandinge none at all) and worshipped with a candel/ and that offeryng of our de uocion in the place which they haue chosen to heare the supplicacions and meke peticions of theyr clyentes theryn

☞ But thou reader thinke of the law of God how that it is altogether spirituall and so spirituall that it is neuer fulfylled wyth dedes or worckes, vntyl they flow out of thyne hert wyth as greate loue toward thy neyghbour, for no deseruynges of hys yea though he be thyne enemy as Chryst loued thee and dyd for thee, for no desceruynge of thyne but euen when thou waste hys Ennemye. And in the meane tyme, throughout all our infancy and chyldehode in Chryst tyll we be growen vp into perfecte men in the full knowelege of Chryst and full loue of Chryst agayne and of our neyghbours for hys sake, after the ensample of hys loue to vs, remem-
F bre that the fulfyllynge of the lawe is a fast fayth in Chrystes bloud coupled wyth our profession and submytting our selues to lerne to do better.

☞ And of the Gospell or promyses whych thou metest in the scrypture, beleue fast that God wyll fulfyll them vnto thee and that vnto the vttermost iote, at the repentaunce of thyne herte, when thou turnest to hym and forsakest euell, euen of hys goodnes and fatherly mercye vnto thee, and not for thy flatterynge hym wyth ypocrityth worckes of thyne owne fayneynge. So that a fast fayth onely wythout respecte of all worckes, in the forgeuenes both of the synne whych we dyd in time of ignorance wyth lust & consent to synne, and also of al the sinnes whych we do by chaunce & of frayltie, after that we are come to knowelege and haue professed ye lawe oute of oure hertes. And all dedes serue onelye for to helpe our neibours and to tame our flesh that we fall not to synne agayne, and to exercyse our soules in vertue, and not to make satisfaction to Godwarde for the Synne that is ones paste.

☞ And all other storyes of the Byble, wythoute exception, are the practysynge of the lawe of the Gospell and are true and faythfull ensamples and sure earnest that God wyll euer so deale wyth vs, as he dyd wyth them, in all ymyntyes, in all temptacyons and in all lyke cases and chaunces. Wherin ye se on the one syde how fatherly and tenderly and wyth all compassyon GOD entreateth hys electe whych submytte them selues as scollers, to learne to walcke in the wayes of hys lawes and to kepe them of loue. If they forgat them selues at a tyme and were astraye, he sought them out and fet them agayn wyth all mercye. If they fell and hurte them selues he healed them agayne wyth all compassyon and tendernes of herte, he hath oft brought great trybulacyon and aduersytee vpon hys electe: but all of fatherly loue onely to teache them and to make them se theyr owne hertes and the synnes that there laye hydde, that they myght afterward feale hys mercy.
For hys mercye wayted vpon them, to rydde them out agayne as soone as they were learned and come to the knowledge of theyr owne Hertes: so that he neuer cast man awaye, how depe soeuer he had synned saue them onely whych had first cast the yocke of hys lawes from theyr neckes, wyth vtter dekpāñce and malyce of herte. Wyth ensamples how comfortable are they for vs when we be fallen into synne and God is com vpon vs wyth a scourge, that we dispeare not, but repent wyth full hope of mercye after the ensamples of mercy that are gone before. And therfore they were wrytten for oure learynge, as testyfyeth Paule Roma. xv. to comforte vs that we myght the better put oure hope and truste in God when we see howe mercyfull he hath bene in tymes paste vnto our weake bretheren that are gone before, in all theyr aduersities, neade, temptacions, yea, and horryble synnes into whych they nowe and then fall.

And

der the sayntes/and to obteyne theyr fauour, & to make specyall aduocates of the euen as a man would obteyne the fauour of worldly tyrauntes as they also fame
the sayntes muche more cruell then euer was any heathen man ād more wreke-
full and vengeable, then the poetes fayne theyr goddes or theyr furyes p tormēt
the soules in hell. yf theyr clyens be not fasted & ther Jmages visited & saluted wt
a pater noster (whiche prayer only our lyppes be acquaynted wt, our hertes vnderstandinge none at all) and worshipped with a candel/ and that offeryng of our de uocion in the place which they haue chosen to heare the supplicacions and meke
peticions of theyr clyentes theryn

☞ But thou reader thinke of the law of God how that it is altogether spirituall
and so spirituall that it is neuer fulfylled wyth dedes or worckes, vntyl they flow out of thyne hert wyth as greate loue toward thy neyghbour, for no deseruynges
of hys yea though he be thyne enemy as Chryst loued thee and dyd for thee, for no desceruynge of thyne but euen when thou waste hys Ennemye. And in the meane tyme, throughout all our infancy and chyldehode in Chryst tyll we be growen vp into perfecte men in the full knowelege of Chryst and full loue of Chryst agayne and of our neyghbours for hys sake, after the ensample of hys loue to vs, remem-
F bre that the fulfyllynge of the lawe is a fast fayth in Chrystes bloud coupled wyth our profession and submytting our selues to lerne to do better.

☞ And of the Gospell or promyses whych thou metest in the scrypture, beleue fast that God wyll fulfyll them vnto thee and that vnto the vttermost iote, at the repentaunce of thyne herte, when thou turnest to hym and forsakest euell, euen of hys goodnes and fatherly mercye vnto thee, and not for thy flatterynge hym wyth ypocrityth worckes of thyne owne fayneynge. So that a fast fayth onely wythout respecte of all worckes, in the forgeuenes both of the synne whych we dyd in time of ignorance wyth lust & consent to synne, and also of al the sinnes whych we do by chaunce & of frayltie, after that we are come to knowelege and haue professed ye lawe oute of oure hertes. And all dedes serue onelye for to helpe our neibours
and to tame our flesh that we fall not to synne agayne, and to exercyse our soules
in vertue, and not to make satisfaction to Godwarde for the Synne that is ones paste.

☞ And all other storyes of the Byble, wythoute exception, are the practysynge
of the lawe of the Gospell and are true and faythfull ensamples and sure earnest that God wyll euer so deale wyth vs, as he dyd wyth them, in all ymyntyes, in all temptacyons and in all lyke cases and chaunces. Wherin ye se on the one syde
how fatherly and tenderly and wyth all compassyon GOD entreateth hys electe
whych submytte them selues as scollers, to learne to walcke in the wayes of hys lawes and to kepe them of loue. If they forgat them selues at a tyme and were astraye, he sought them out and fet them agayn wyth all mercye. If they fell and hurte them selues he healed them agayne wyth all compassyon and tendernes of herte, he hath oft brought great trybulacyon and aduersytee vpon hys electe: but all of fatherly loue onely to teache them and to make them se theyr owne hertes and the synnes that there laye hydde, that they myght afterward feale hys mercy.
For hys mercye wayted vpon them, to rydde them out agayne as soone as they were learned and come to the knowledge of theyr owne Hertes: so that he neuer cast man awaye, how depe soeuer he had synned saue them onely whych had first cast the yocke of hys lawes from theyr neckes, wyth vtter dekpāñce and malyce of herte. Wyth ensamples how comfortable are they for vs when we be fallen into synne and God is com vpon vs wyth a scourge, that we dispeare not, but repent wyth full hope of mercye after the ensamples of mercy that are gone before. And therfore they were wrytten for oure learynge, as testyfyeth Paule Roma. xv. to comforte vs that we myght the better put oure hope and truste in God when we see howe mercyfull he hath bene in tymes paste vnto our weake bretheren that are gone before, in all theyr aduersities, neade, temptacions, yea, and horryble synnes into whych they nowe and then fall.

And

¶ And on ỹ other side, ye se how they that hardened their hertes and synned of malice and refused mercye that was offered them, and had no power to repente perysshed at the latter ende with all confusyon and shame mercylessely.
Whych ensamples are very good and necessary, to kepe vs in awe and drede in tyme of prosperyte as thou mayest se by Paul. 1. Cor. 1 that we abyde i ỹ feare of God, and war not wylde & fal to vanities and so synne and prouoke God ād bringe wrath vpon vs.
¶ And thyrdly ye se in that practise, how as god is mercyful and longsuffering, euen so were al his true prophetes and preachers, berig the infirmyties of their weake brethren and their owne wronges and iniuries with al pacyence & longsuferynge, neuer casting any of them of their backes, vntyll they synned against the holy goost, malyciously persecuting the open and manyfest trouth: contrarye vnto the ensample of the Pope, which in synning agaynst God, and to quēche the truth of hys holy spirytye, is euer cheke captayne and trompetblower, to set o ther a worcke, and seketh only hys owne fredom, lybertee, priuylege, welth, prosperyte/prokyte/pleasure, pastyme, honoure and glory, with the bondage, thraldome, captiuyte, myserie, wretchydnes and vyle subiectyon of hys brethren: and in hys owne cause is so feruent, so stykke & cruel, that he wyl not sufferr one word spoken against hys false maiesty, wyly inuencyons and suglyng ypocrisy to be vnauenged, though al chrystendom should be set together by the eares: & should cost, he cared not how many hundred thousand their lyues.
Now that thou mayest reade Jonas fruitfully, & not as a poetes fable, but as an oblygation betwene God and thy soule/as an earnest pennye geuen thee of God/that he wyll helpe thee in tyme of nede, yf thou turne to hym, and as the worde of God the onely fode and lyfe of thy Soule, thys marke and note. Fyrst counte Jonas the frend of God, and a man chosen of God to testify hys name vnto the world, but yet a yong scoller, weake and rude, after the fashtō of the Apostles: whyle Chryst was yet wyth thē bodyly. Wherby, though Christ taught them euer to be meke and to humble them selues, yet oft strode amonge them selues, who shoulde be greatest. The sonnes of zebede woulde syt the one on the ryght hande of Chryst/and the other on the left. They wolde pray that fyre myght descend from heauen, and consume the Samaritanes.
¶ When Chryste asked: who say men that I am? Peter answered/thou art the sonne of the liuing God, as though Peter had bene as perfect as an aūgel. But immediatly after, when Chryst preached vnto them of hys deathe and passion, Peter was angrye, and rebuked Christe, and thought earnestly, that he had raued and not wyste what he sayde: as at another tyme, when Chryst was so feruent in healynge of the people/that he had no leysure to eate, they wente oute to holde hym, supposyng that he had bene beside hym selfe. And one that caste out Deuelles in Chrystes name, they forbad, because he wayted not on them, so glorious were they yet.
¶ And though Chryste taughte alwaye to forgeue, yet Peter after long goyng to schole, asked whether men shoulde forgeue. vii. tymes, thynckyng that vii. times had bene to muche. And at the laste souper, Peter woulde haue dyed wythe Chryste, but yet within fewe houres after, he denyed hym both cowardlye and shamefully: and after the same maner, though he had so longe herd that no mā myght aduenge hym selfe, but rather turne the other cheeke too, then to smyte agayne: yet when Chryste was in takynge, Peter asked whether it were laweful to smyte with the swearde, and tarryed none answere, but layed on rashely.
So that/though when we come fyrste vnto the knowledg of the trueth, and the peace is made betwene god and vs, and we loue hys lawes and beleue and trust in hym, as in oure fatherland haue good hertes vnto him, and be borne a newe the spirite: yet we ar but children and yonge scolers, weake and feble/and muste haue leysure to grow in the spryte, in knowledg, loue and in the dedes therof, as

younge

¶ And on ỹ other side, ye se how they that hardened their hertes and synned of malice and refused mercye that was offered them, and had no power to repente perysshed at the latter ende with all confusyon and shame mercylessely.
Whych ensamples are very good and necessary, to kepe vs in awe and drede in tyme of prosperyte as thou mayest se by Paul. 1. Cor. 1 that we abyde i ỹ feare of God, and war not wylde & fal to vanities and so synne and prouoke God ād bringe wrath vpon vs.
¶ And thyrdly ye se in that practise, how as god is mercyful and longsuffering, euen so were al his true prophetes and preachers, berig the infirmyties of their weake brethren and their owne wronges and iniuries with al pacyence & longsuferynge, neuer casting any of them of their backes, vntyll they synned against the holy goost, malyciously persecuting the open and manyfest trouth: contrarye vnto the ensample of the Pope, which in synning agaynst God, and to quēche the truth of hys holy spirytye, is euer cheke captayne and trompetblower, to set o ther a worcke, and seketh only hys owne fredom, lybertee, priuylege, welth, prosperyte/prokyte/pleasure, pastyme, honoure and glory, with the bondage, thraldome, captiuyte, myserie, wretchydnes and vyle subiectyon of hys brethren: and in hys owne cause is so feruent, so stykke & cruel, that he wyl not sufferr one word spoken against hys false maiesty, wyly inuencyons and suglyng ypocrisy to be vnauenged, though al chrystendom should be set together by the eares: & should cost, he cared not how many hundred thousand their lyues.
Now that thou mayest reade Jonas fruitfully, & not as a poetes fable, but as an oblygation betwene God and thy soule/as an earnest pennye geuen thee of God/that he wyll helpe thee in tyme of nede, yf thou turne to hym, and as the worde of God the onely fode and lyfe of thy Soule, thys marke and note. Fyrst counte Jonas the frend of God, and a man chosen of God to testify hys name vnto the world, but yet a yong scoller, weake and rude, after the fashtō of the Apostles: whyle Chryst was yet wyth thē bodyly. Wherby, though Christ taught them euer to be meke and to humble them selues, yet oft strode amonge them selues, who shoulde be greatest. The sonnes of zebede woulde syt the one on the ryght hande of Chryst/and the other on the left. They wolde pray that fyre myght descend from heauen, and consume the Samaritanes.
¶ When Chryste asked: who say men that I am? Peter answered/thou art the sonne of the liuing God, as though Peter had bene as perfect as an aūgel. But immediatly after, when Chryst preached vnto them of hys deathe and passion, Peter was angrye, and rebuked Christe, and thought earnestly, that he had raued and not wyste what he sayde: as at another tyme, when Chryst was so feruent in healynge of the people/that he had no leysure to eate, they wente oute to holde hym, supposyng that he had bene beside hym selfe. And one that caste out Deuelles in Chrystes name, they forbad, because he wayted not on them, so glorious were they yet.
¶ And though Chryste taughte alwaye to forgeue, yet Peter after long goyng to schole, asked whether men shoulde forgeue. vii. tymes, thynckyng that vii. times had bene to muche. And at the laste souper, Peter woulde haue dyed wythe Chryste, but yet within fewe houres after, he denyed hym both cowardlye and shamefully: and after the same maner, though he had so longe herd that no mā myght aduenge hym selfe, but rather turne the other cheeke too, then to smyte agayne: yet when Chryste was in takynge, Peter asked whether it were laweful to smyte with the swearde, and tarryed none answere, but layed on rashely.
So that/though when we come fyrste vnto the knowledg of the trueth, and the peace is made betwene god and vs, and we loue hys lawes and beleue and trust in hym, as in oure fatherland haue good hertes vnto him, and be borne a newe the spirite: yet we ar but children and yonge scolers, weake and feble/and muste haue leysure to grow in the spryte, in knowledg, loue and in the dedes therof, as

younge

ȳ̃ge chylderen muſt haue tyme to growe in theyr bodyes.

And God oure father and ſcholemaſter feadeth vs and teacheth vs accordyng vnto the capacitee of oure ſtomackes and maketh vs to growe and ware perfect and fyneth vs, and tryeth vs as gold in the fyre of temptacions and trybulaciõs. As Moyſes wytneſſeth Deutero. viii. ſaiynge: Remembre all the waye by whych the Lorde thy God caryed thee, thys. xl. yeares in the wylderneſſe, to humble thee, and to tempte or proue thee, that it myght be knowen what were in thyne harte. He brought thee into aduerſytye and made thee an hungred and then fedde thee wyth Manna, whych neyther thou, nor yet thy fathers euer knewe of, to teach thee that a man lyueth not by breade onely, but by al that proceadeth out of the mouth of God. For the promyſes of God are lyke vnto all that cleaue vnto them, muche more then is bread and bodyly ſubſtaunce: as the iourneye of the chylderen of Iſraell oute of Egypte into the lande promyſed them, miniſtreth the notable enſamples, and that aboundauntly as doth al the reſt of the byble alſo. Howe be it, it is impoſſible for fleſh to beleue and to truſt in the trueth of gods promyſes, vntyll he haue lerned it in muche trybulacion, after that God hath delyuered hym out therof agayne.

¶ God therfore to teache Jonas, and to ſhewe hym hys owne harte/ and to make hym perfecte, and to inſtructe vs alſo by hys enſample, ſent hym out of the lande of Iſrael, where he was a Prophete, to go among the heathen People, and to the greateſt and myghtyeſt citye of the woorlde then, called Niniue: to preache that wythin. xl. Dayes they ſhoulde all peryſhe for theyr Synnes, and that the Cytie ſhoulde be ouerthrowen. Which meſſage the frewyll of Jonas, had as muche power to do as the weakeſt harted woman in the worlde hathe power, yf ſhe were commaunded to leape into a tobbe of lyuing Snakes and Adders: as happelye, if God had commaunded Sara to haue ſacrificed her ſonne Iſaac, as he dyd Abraham, ſhe woulde haue diſputed wyth hym yer ſhe hadde done it, for though ſhe were ſtronge ynough, yet many an holy Sayute, coulde not haue found in theyre hartes, but wolde haue dyſobeyed and haue runne awaye from the preſence of that commaundement of god w Jonas, if they had bene ſo ſtrongly tempted.

For Jonas thought on this maner: lo, I am here a prophet vnto Gods people yͤ Iſraelites. Which though they haue gods worde teſtyfied vnto them dayly, yet diſpice it & worſhyp God vnder the likenes of calues and after all maner facions ſaue after hys owne worde, & therfore are of al nacions the worſte and moſte worthy of puniſhment. And yet god for yͤ loue of fewe that are amonge them, ād for hys names ſake, ſpareth them and defendeth them. Now then ſhoulde god take ſo cruel vengaunce on ſo greate a multitude of them to whome his name was neuer preached to, and therfore are not the tenth parte ſo euel as theſe: If I ſhall therfore go preache, ſo ſhal I lye, and ſhame my ſelfe, and god therto ād make thē yͤ more to dyſpyſe GOD, and ſett the leſſe by hym, and to be the more cruel vnto hys people.

And vpon that imagynacyon, he fled from the face or preſence of god: that is, out of the contre where god was worſhypped in, and from perſecutynge of Gods cõmaundement, and thought, I wyl get me another waye amonge the heathen people and be nomore a prophet, but lyue at reſt, and out of al combraunce. Neuertheles the God of al mercy which careth for hys electe chyldren, and turneth al vnto good to them/ and ſmyteth them, to heale them agayn, and killeth them, to make them alyue agayne, and playeth with theym (as a father dothe ſomtyme wyth hys yong ignoraunt chyldren) ād tempteth them, and proueth them, to make thē ſe their owne hertes prouided for Jonas, how al thinges ſhoulde be.

¶ When Jonas was entred into the ſhyppe he layd hym down to ſlepe & to take hys reſte, that is, hys conſcience was toſſed betwene the commaundment of God/ whyche ſente hym to Nynyue, and hys fleſhlye wyſdome, that dyſſuaded and

counſayled

ȳ̃ge chylderen muſt haue tyme to growe in theyr bodyes.

And God oure father and ſcholemaſter feadeth vs and teacheth vs accordyng vnto the capacitee of oure ſtomackes and maketh vs to growe and ware perfect and fyneth vs, and tryeth vs as gold in the fyre of temptacions and trybulaciõs. As Moyſes wytneſſeth Deutero. viii. ſaiynge: Remembre all the waye by whych the Lorde thy God caryed thee, thys. xl. yeares in the wylderneſſe, to humble thee, and to tempte or proue thee, that it myght be knowen what were in thyne harte. He brought thee into aduerſytye and made thee an hungred and then fedde thee wyth Manna, whych neyther thou, nor yet thy fathers euer knewe of, to teach thee that a man lyueth not by breade onely, but by al that proceadeth out of the mouth of God. For the promyſes of God are lyke vnto all that cleaue vnto them, muche more then is bread and bodyly ſubſtaunce: as the iourneye of the chylderen of Iſraell oute of Egypte into the lande promyſed them, miniſtreth the notable enſamples, and that aboundauntly as doth al the reſt of the byble alſo. Howe be it, it is impoſſible for fleſh to beleue and to truſt in the trueth of gods promyſes, vntyll he haue lerned it in muche trybulacion, after that God hath delyuered hym out therof agayne.

¶ God therfore to teache Jonas, and to ſhewe hym hys owne harte/ and to make hym perfecte, and to inſtructe vs alſo by hys enſample, ſent hym out of the lande of Iſrael, where he was a Prophete, to go among the heathen People, and to the greateſt and myghtyeſt citye of the woorlde then, called Niniue: to preache that wythin. xl. Dayes they ſhoulde all peryſhe for theyr Synnes, and that the Cytie ſhoulde be ouerthrowen. Which meſſage the frewyll of Jonas, had as muche power to do as the weakeſt harted woman in the worlde hathe power, yf ſhe were commaunded to leape into a tobbe of lyuing Snakes and Adders: as happelye, if God had commaunded Sara to haue ſacrificed her ſonne Iſaac, as he dyd Abraham, ſhe woulde haue diſputed wyth hym yer ſhe hadde done it, for though ſhe were ſtronge ynough, yet many an holy Sayute, coulde not haue found in theyre hartes, but wolde haue dyſobeyed and haue runne awaye from the preſence of that commaundement of god w Jonas, if they had bene ſo ſtrongly tempted.

For Jonas thought on this maner: lo, I am here a prophet vnto Gods people yͤ Iſraelites. Which though they haue gods worde teſtyfied vnto them dayly, yet diſpice it & worſhyp God vnder the likenes of calues and after all maner facions ſaue after hys owne worde, & therfore are of al nacions the worſte and moſte worthy of puniſhment. And yet god for yͤ loue of fewe that are amonge them, ād for hys names ſake, ſpareth them and defendeth them. How then ſhoulde god take ſo cruel vengaunce on ſo greate a multitude of them to whome his name was neuer preached to, and therfore are not the tenth parte ſo euel as theſe: If I ſhall therfore go preache, ſo ſhal I lye, and ſhame my ſelfe, and god therto ād make thē yͤ more to dyſpyſe GOD, and ſett the leſſe by hym, and to be the more cruel vnto hys people.

And vpon that imagynacyon, he fled from the face or preſence of god: that is, out of the contre where god was worſhypped in, and from perſecutynge of Gods cõmaundement, and thought, I wyl get me another waye amonge the heathen people and be nomore a prophet, but lyue at reſt, and out of al combraunce. Neuertheles the God of al mercy which careth for hys electe chyldren, and turneth al vnto good to them/ and ſmyteth them, to heale them agayn, and killeth them, to make them alyue agayne, and playeth with theym (as a father dothe ſomtyme wyth hys yong ignoraunt chyldren) ād tempteth them, and proueth them, to make thē ſe their owne hertes prouided for Jonas, how al thinges ſhoulde be.

¶ When Jonas was entred into the ſhyppe he layd hym down to ſlepe & to take hys reſte, that is, hys conſcience was toſſed betwene the commaundment of God/ whyche ſente hym to Nynyue, and hys fleſhlye wyſdome, that dyſſuaded and

counſayled

counseled hym the contrary and at the last prevailed against the commaundement and carted hym another waye, as a shepe caught betwene.ii. streames/ and as poetes fayne the mother of Meliager to be betwene diuers affections, while to aduenge hir brothers death, she sought to slaye her owne sonne. Whereupon for very parne and tediousnes, he laye downe to slepe, for to put the commaundement which so gnew and freate his conscience, out of minde, as the nature of al wycked is when they haue synned a good, to seke the al meanes with riot, reuell and pastyme / to dryue the remembraunce of sine out of their thoughtes or as Adam dyd, to couer their Nakednesse wyth aprones of pope holye workes.

But God awoke hym oute of hys dreame, and sett hys Synnes before hys face.

¶ For when the Lott had caught Jonas, then be sure that hys synnes came to remembraunce agayne, and that hys conscyence raged no lesse then the waues of the sea. And then he thoughte that he onelye was a Synner ād the Heathen that were in the shyppe none in respecte of hym, and thought also, as verely as he was fled from God, that as verely God had cast hym awaye. For the sight of the rodde, maketh the naturall chylde not onelye to see and to knowledge hys faute, but also to, forget al hys fathers olde mercye and kyndnes. And thē he confessed his sinne openly, aud had yet rather perysshe alone, then that the other shoulde haue perysshed wyth hym for hys sake: and so of very desperacion to haue lyued any lenger, bad cast hym into the sea betymes, except they would be lost also.

¶ To speake of lottes, how farre forth they are lawful, is a lyght question. Fyrst to vse them for the brekyng of stryfe, as when parteners, theyr gooddes as equal ly diuided as they can, take eucrye man hys parte by lot, to auoyde all suspycyon of disceptfulnes, and as the Apostles in the fyrst of the actes, when they sought an other to succede Judas the traytoure, .ii. persons were present, then to breake stryfe and to satisfye all partyes, dyd caste lottes, whether shoulde be admitted, exprynge God to temper them and to take whoome he knewe mooste mete, seynge they wyst not whether to preferre, or happely could not al agre. Another, is lawful and in all lyke cases. But to abuse them vnto the tempting of God, ād to compell hym therewyth to vtter thynges wherof we stande in doubte, when we haue no cōmaundemente of hym so to do as these heathen here dyd, though God turned it vnto hys glorye, can not be but euell.

¶ The heathen shipmen astonyed at the syght of the miracle, feared God prayed to hym, offered sacrifyce and vowed vowes. And I doute not, but that some of thē, or happely all, came therby vnto the true knowledge and true worshyppyng of God, were wōne to god i their soules. And thus god which is infinite mercyfull in al hys wayes, wrought their soules health' out of the infirmitie of Jonas, euen of his god wyll and purpose, and loue, wherwith he loued them before the worlde was made, and not of chaunce, as it appeareth vnto the eyes of the ignoraunt.

And that Jonas was .iii. dayes and .iii. nyghtes in the belye of hys fyshe: we cannot therby proue vnto the Jewes and infydels or vnto any mā, that christ must therfore dye and be buried and ryse agayne. But wee vse the ensample and lykenesse to strength the faythe of the weake. For he that beleueth the one can not dout i the other: in as much as the hande of god was no lesse mightye i preseruing Jonas alyue agaynst al natural possibilitee and in delyuerynge hym safe oute of hys fysh, then in reysynge vp Chryste agayne out of hys sepulchre. And we maye describe the power and vertue of the resurrecyon therby/ as Christ him selfe boweth the symilytude thereto Mat. xii sayenge vnto the Jewes, that cam about hi and desired a signe or a wonder from heauen to certyfy them that he was christ: thys euel & wedlocke breakyng nacyon (which breake the wedlocke of fayth wher vñ they be maried vnto god, and beleue in their false worckes) seke a signe, but ther shal no signe be geuē thē saue ỹ sygne of the prophet Jonas: for as Jonas was .iii. dayes .iii. nyghtes in the belye of the whale, euen so shall the sonne of man be: iii

dayes

counseled hym the contrary and at the last prevailed against the commaundement and carted hym another waye, as a shepe caught betwene.ii. streames/ and as poetes fayne the mother of Meliager to be betwene diuers affections, while to aduenge hir brothers death, she sought to slaye her owne sonne. Whereupon for very parne and tediousnes, he laye downe to slepe, for to put the commaundement which so gnew and freate his conscience, out of minde, as the nature of al wycked is when they haue synned a good, to seke the al meanes with riot, reuell and pastyme / to dryue the remembraunce of sine out of their thoughtes or as Adam dyd, to couer their Nakednesse wyth aprones of pope holye workes.

But God awoke hym oute of hys dreame, and sett hys Synnes before hys face.

¶ For when the Lott had caught Jonas, then be sure that hys synnes came to remembraunce agayne, and that hys conscyence raged no lesse then the waues of the sea. And then he thoughte that he onelye was a Synner ād the Heathen that were in the shyppe none in respecte of hym, and thought also, as verely as he was fled from God, that as verely God had cast hym awaye. For the sight of the rodde, maketh the naturall chylde not onelye to see and to knowledge hys faute, but also to, forget al hys fathers olde mercye and kyndnes. And thē he confessed his sinne openly, aud had yet rather perysshe alone, then that the other shoulde haue perysshed wyth hym for hys sake: and so of very desperacion to haue lyued any lenger, bad cast hym into the sea betymes, except they would be lost also.

¶ To speake of lottes, how farre forth they are lawful, is a lyght question. Fyrst to vse them for the brekyng of stryfe, as when parteners, theyr gooddes as equal ly diuided as they can, take eucrye man hys parte by lot, to auoyde all suspycyon of disceptfulnes, and as the Apostles in the fyrst of the actes, when they sought an other to succede Judas the traytoure, .ii. persons were present, then to breake stryfe and to satisfye all partyes, dyd caste lottes, whether shoulde be admitted, exprynge God to temper them and to take whoome he knewe mooste mete, seynge they wyst not whether to preferre, or happely could not al agre. Another, is lawful and in all lyke cases. But to abuse them vnto the tempting of God, ād to compell hym therewyth to vtter thynges wherof we stande in doubte, when we haue no cōmaundemente of hym so to do as these heathen here dyd, though God turned it vnto hys glorye, can not be but euell.

¶ The heathen shipmen astonyed at the syght of the miracle, feared God prayed to hym, offered sacrifyce and vowed vowes. And I doute not, but that some of thē, or happely all, came therby vnto the true knowledge and true worshyppyng of God, were wōne to god i their soules. And thus god which is infinite mercyfull in al hys wayes, wrought their soules health' out of the infirmitie of Jonas, euen of his god wyll and purpose, and loue, wherwith he loued them before the worlde was made, and not of chaunce, as it appeareth vnto the eyes of the ignoraunt.

And that Jonas was .iii. dayes and .iii. nyghtes in the belye of hys fyshe: we cannot therby proue vnto the Jewes and infydels or vnto any mā, that christ must therfore dye and be buried and ryse agayne. But wee vse the ensample and lykenesse to strength the faythe of the weake. For he that beleueth the one can not dout i the other: in as much as the hande of god was no lesse mightye i preseruing Jonas alyue agaynst al natural possibilitee and in delyuerynge hym safe oute of hys fysh, then in reysynge vp Chryste agayne out of hys sepulchre. And we maye describe the power and vertue of the resurrecyon therby/ as Christ him selfe boweth the symilytude thereto Mat. xii sayenge vnto the Jewes, that cam about hi and desired a signe or a wonder from heauen to certyfy them that he was christ: thys euel & wedlocke breakyng nacyon (which breake the wedlocke of fayth wher vñ they be maried vnto god, and beleue in their false worckes) seke a signe, but ther shal no signe be geuē thē saue ỹ sygne of the prophet Jonas: for as Jonas was .iii. dayes .iii. nyghtes in the belye of the whale, euen so shall the sonne of man be: iii

dayes

dayes and .iii. nyghtes in the herte of the erthe. Which was a watch word as we saye, and a sharpe threatenyng vnto the Jewes and as muche to saye as thus / ye harde herted Jewes seke a signe: loo, thys shalbe youre sygne, as Jonas was reysed out of the sepulchre of his fishe and then sent vnto the Niniuites to preache ꝑ they shoulde perysh / euen so shal I ryse agayne out of my sepulchre, and come ād preache repentaunce vnto you. Se therfore when ye se that signe that ye repent or els ye shal surely perysh & not escape. For though the infirmiteys which ye now se in my flesh be a let vnto youre faythes, ye shal yet then be without excuse, when ye se so greate a myracle and so greate power of god shed out vpon you. And so Christe came agayne after the resurrection in hys spyrite ād preched repētaūce vnto them, by the mouth of his apostles and disciples, and with miracles of ꝑ holy goost. And al that repented not perysshed shortly after & were for the most part slain w̄ swerd and the rest caryed away captiue into al quarters of the worlde for an ensā ple, as ye se vnto this daye.

¶ And in lyke maner, sens the worlde begaune, whersoeuer repentaunce was offered and not receaued, there god toke cruel vengaunce immediatly: as ye se in the floud of Noe in the ouerthrowynge of Sodom and Gomor & al the contre aboute and as ye se of Egypt, of the Amorytes, Cananites, and afterwarde of the very Israelites and then at the last of the Jewes to, and of the Assyrians and Babylonias and so throughout al the impercs of the worlde.

¶ Gyldas preached repentaunce vnto the olde Brittaynes, that inhabited eglād, they repented not, and therfore God sent in theyr enmyes vpon them on euery side and destroyed them vp and gaue the lande vnto other nacios. And greate vēgaūce hath bene taken in ꝑ lande for sinne syns that tyme.

¶ Wicleffe preached repentaunce vnto oure fathers not longe sens: they repented not: for their hartes were indurate and their eyes blinded with their own pope holye ryghtuousnesse, wherewythe they hadde made their soules gaye agaynste the receauing agayne of thē wycked spirite that bryngeth .vii. worse then hymselfe wyth hym, and maketh the latter ende worse then the begynnynge, for in opē sines, there is hope of repentaūce, but in holy ypocrysy none at al. But what folowed: they slewe theyr tru and ryght kynge and set vp .iii. wronge kynges arowe, vnder whych all the noble bloude was slayne vp and halfe the commōs therto, what in Fraunce, and what wyth theyr owne swerde, in fyghtinge amonge them selues for the crowne, and the cityes and townes decayed, and the lande brought halfe in to a wylderneſſe in respecte of that it was before.

☞ And now Chryst to preache repentaunce is rysen yet ones agayne oute of hys sepulchre in whych the pope had buryed hym and kepte hym downe wyth hys pyllers and pollares and al disguisynges of ypocrysy, wyth gyle, wyles and falshede and wyth the swerd of al pryuces, whych he had blynded wyth hys false marchaūdyse. And as I doubte not of the Ensamples that are paste soo am I sure that greate wrath wyll followe, excepte repentaunce turne it backe agayne, and ceasse it.

☞ When Jonas had ben in the fyshes bely a space, and the rage of hys conscience was somewhat quieted and swaged, and he come to hym selfe agayne, and had receaued a lytle hope: the qualmes and panges of desperacyon whyche wente ouer hys hert, halfe ouercome, he prayed, as he maketh mencion in the text, saiyng: Jonas prayed vnto the Lorde hys God oute of the belly of the fysh. But the wordes of that prayer, are not here set. The prayer that here stādeth in ꝑ text is the prayer of prayse & thanckesgeuyng / whych he prayed and wrote, when he was escaped ād past all ieopardy.

☞ In the ende of whyche prayer he sayethe, I wyll sacrifyce wyth the voyce of thanckesgeuynge and paye that I haue vowed, that sauyng commeth of the lord. For verely to confesse out of the herte, that all benefytes come of God, euen oute of the goodnesse of hys mercye, and not deseruinge of our dedes, is the onely sacry-

fyce

